The local heathen Chinee rather more than holds his own in some respects and many of the children of the better class of Mongolians have attended school to some purpose, despite the social-restriction law under which the labor. The other day a California stereomatron, just returned from a three-years' tour abroad, advertised for a first-class cook, whereupon an intelligent-looking pigtail applied for the position.

"Whatee you namee, John?" asked the lady in that peculiar baby talk supposed to be adapted to infants and other foreigners.

"Wan Lee."

"You sabe least thirklee, Wan?" lisped the lady.

The Chinaman knit his brows and shook his head.

"Oh! dear me!" said the tourist to her imported maid, in what is known here as Mills Seminary—and abroad as restaurant—French; "what am I to do? I can't make him understand."

"It is very unfortunate," said the Chinaman, reflectively. "I see you don't speak French very well, and besides that Chinese and English are the only languages I know."

He was not engaged.—San Francisco Post.

Copied By Request.

The poor, harassed victim had been in the chair a long time. The barber had talked with a fiendish industry, a sardonic smile pervading his features, while he shaved with a degree of deliberation heretofore supposed to be embodied in the adage in which the wills of the gods have been starving for so many moments.

At last the victim's eyes closed, his muscles relaxed, and he fell into the corner of the chair in a convulsion heap. The barber was smiling the smile of a victor, when the object of his malignity suddenly sprang to a sitting position, at the risk of having his neck sliced, and exclaimed:

"Barber, what day of the month is it?"

"The eighth, sah."

"And what day was it when I came in here?"

THE JOURNAL

BY CHAS. J. STRANG.

CHARLEVOIX, - - MICHIGAN.

NEWS CONDENSED.

Concise Record of the Week.

EASTERN.

The rail-mill of Lackawanna Iron Works at Scranton, Pa., valued at $250,000, was destroyed by fire, and the blooming-mill suffer a great damage.

While insane from the use of intoxicants at Newark, N. J., Mrs. Lucy Gilchrist decapitated her six-months-old babe with an ax.

The disaster in New York City a few weeks ago when twenty-one corpses of the Hoddinsdale building traps now been lost found by one to Brooklyn with a still more fearful loss of life. A factory which was propped up because it was insecure suddenly collapsed when it was filled with working people. The added its terrors to the damage caused by the falling walls, and the result was the death of a large number of operatives and the maiming of all I more.

In a mission-current billiard gamm at New York, two men defeated Sisson, 500 to 416.

A jury in New York acquitted Richard Sliort of an attempt to murder Capt. Phelan, of Kansas City.

George W. Tripp, 79 years old, of Freeville, N. Y., hanged himself on being informed that his wife, whose age is 78, had a convict and could not free.

WESTERN.

Nearly 1,000 striking quarrymen assembled at the depot in Lemont, Ill., on the 6th inst., with the attention of capturing any mills that should arrive. Deputy Sheriff Porter ordered them to disperse. Adjutant General Vance soon put in an appearance from Joliet with four companies. As they charged up the main street with fixed bayonets the men hooted and threw stones, and one striker was stabbed. Further up the street a shower of rocks caused a detachment to fire a volley, two rioters being killed. Col. Bennett commanded the charge. Ten mounted two-seaters are requested to have been wounded, and eighteen officers or private were hurt by stones thrown by the rioters.

Nearly five hundred shop-hands employed by the Denver and Rio Grande Road, at Denver and Salida struck because the discharge of objectionable foremen.

A disease, the symptoms of which are severe coughing, choking, and bleeding at the nose, is killing off horses rapidly in the northern portion of Shelby County, Illinois.

For the month of April the Chicago and Northwestern Road earned $1,935,000, and the Milwaukee and St. Paul $1,525,000. In the first instance this was a slight increase and in the latter a small decrease from the showing made for the corresponding month last year.

The Coroner of Cook County, Ill., on attempting to hold an inquest at Lemont on the bodies of the men shot by the militia, found that Gov. Beinetz would permit none of his men to leave camp to give testimony. Gov. Oglesby was advised of the situation, and replied that he doubted whether the officers or soldiers could be forced to act as witnesses.

Gen. Irvin McDowell died in San Francisco, in his 68th year, from disease of the stomach. He graduated at West Point in 1838, served in the Mexican war, and at the close of the rebellion was promoted to Major-General in the regular army.

Capt. Couch has removed his Oklahoma raiders from Arkansas City to Chilewell, on account of better wood and grass.

In a case brought in Kansas against the Rock Island Road, the Federal Supreme Court has decided that a State has a right to regulate railroads within the boundaries of any reservation set apart for the exclusive use of the United States.

The Missouri authorities have complied with the first request of Gov. Oglesby to recommend competent inspectors to certify to the condition of healthy cattle coming through or from Missouri into Illinois.

The winter wheat acreage in Kansas this year, officially reported, was 52 per cent. of last year's area, 27 per cent. of the crop seem being killed. This leaves only 1,115,000 acres, the product from which is expected to reach but 52 per cent. of last season's yield.

At Benito, New Mexico, Martin Nelson, killed Dr. William H. Flynn, late of Boston, and then shot dead M. S. Mayhury, his wife and three children, and also a neighbor who came to the house alarmed by the shooting. A guard surrounded the residence, but Nelson had escaped, and escaped the watchers, shooting one of them dead. He was then killed himself. It is supposed that he was insane.

SOUTHERN.

The capital of West Virginia has been removed from Wheeling to Charleston.

A boiler-explosion at the Tremont Hotel, in Galveston, Tex., shattered the building, demolished three houses, killed four people outright, and badly wounded several others.

At a mass meeting of the Kentucky distillers at Lexington it was resolved for the balance of the season to restrict production to actual demand.

Illinois day was observed at the New Orleans Exposition by exercises in Music Hall. The exhibit made by the Prairie State is a highly creditable one, and is in thorough order.

WASHINGTON.

The debt statement issued the 1st inst. (according to the old form) shows the decrease of the public debt during the month of April to be $5,464,596, as follows:

Decrease of gold since June 30, 1884	$38,973,529
Cash in the Treasury	400,482,000
Gold certificates outstanding	103,489,269
Silver certificates outstanding	141,967,000
Certificates of deposit outstanding	24,695,000
Refunding certificates outstanding	14,000
Legal tenders outstanding	346,681,016
National currency (not included in amount estimated as lost or destroyed)	6,960,913

The following is a recapitulation of the debt statement (new form):

Interest-bearing debt—
Bonds at 4 per cent	$250,000,000
Bonds at 4½ per cent	737,705,300
Bonds at 5 per cent	1,065,086,000
Refunding certificates at 4 per cent	10,281,000
Navy pension fund at 4 per cent	14,000,000
Pacific Railroad bonds at 6 per cent	64,623,512
Principal	$1,366,575,812
Interest	9,476,225
Total	$1,376,052,037
Debt on which interest has ceased since maturity—
Principal	$4,746,680
Interest	38,250
Total	$4,784,930
Debt bearing no interest—
Old demand and legal-tender notes	$346,681,016
Fractional currency	15,866,001
Silver certificates	127,231,000
Gold certificates	103,489,269
Certificates of deposit	24,695,000
Outstanding but not destroyed	6,960,913
Total debt	$1,029,703,865
Interest	9,515,155
Total	$1,039,219,020
Less cash items available—
Reserve fund	167,399,117
Total debt, less available cash items	1,871,819,905
Net cash in the Treasury	79,957,422
Debt less cash in Treasury, April 1, 1885	1,791,862,483
Debt less cash in Treasury April 1, 1884	1,752,503,184
Increase of debt during the month	39,359,299
Decrease of debt during the month	4,837,323

Net cash in Treasury available for redemption of debt—
Gold held for gold certificates actually outstanding	$103,489,269
Silver dollars held for certificates of deposit actually outstanding	109,443,985
U. S. notes held for certificates of deposit actually outstanding	15,000,000
Gold held for national bank and trust funds	7,248,436
Fractional currency	3,518
Total available for reduction of debt	$235,211,417
Reserve fund held for redemption of U. S. notes, act Jan. 14, 1882	100,000,000
Unavailable for reduction of the debt—
Fractional silver coin	$38,744,038
Minor coin	2,213,663
	40,957,706
Cash held for certificates issued and not outstanding—
Gold and silver bullion	60,866,448
Net cash balance on hand	34,387,264
Total cash in the Treasury as shown by the Treasurer's general account	$466,932,366
Reconciliation, May 1, 1885—
Total debt, old form	$1,884,367,371
Increase of debt—
Public debt outstanding	$ 64,623,512
Accrued interest thereon	1,226,430
Minor coin and fractional currency	825,348
	$ 65,925,242

LATER NEWS ITEMS.

Pendjeh is said to be occupied by a small force of Russians, with four guns. The Telegraph line is completed to a point some three one hundred miles beyond Askabad.

Mrs. Weldon, a vocalist, has been awarded $20,000 in a suit for damages and breach of contract against Lumnal, the manager.

Joseph Smith, who testified against the mormons of Cavendish and Eaton in Ohio, was seen alive and believed to be living in Indian, called his life in Kansas by passe assassinator.

At a special meeting of the English Parliament, the Irish Home Rule bill definitely decided to begin the partial evacuation of the Soudan. For the present, however, single forces will be retained at Suakin and Wadi Halfa.

According to the 117th annual report of the New York Chamber of Commerce the imports of the entire country during 1884 increased $70,728,888, while the falling off in exports reached $76,987,753. During the same period the coin and bullion imported was increased by $7,594,416, and the exports were augmented to the amount of $16,686,551.

The report says the present year has opened favorably, that the balance of trade is in our favor, and the excess of exports over imports of merchandise for the first quarter is $49,683,661.

Dispatches from Winnipeg now admit that Capt. Otter was deceived in his attempt with the Indian forces and at Chief Poundmaker's reserve. Some accounts of the fight say "the right north and east of here is full of hostiles. In fact, all the Indians west of Battleford are in war paint. The settlers have all fled. John Watkins Law and Albert Harrison, both from Ontario, were killed by Big Bear's band over a week ago. Their wives and the wives of the two unfortunate men are prisoners. Scouts from the northeast settlement bring the first news of the Frenchtown, Little Child, and all other places are on the warpath. A number of half-breeds are directing them. There is a perfect panic in the Elbow district. Scores of homesteads have been burned. A courier brings news of the capture of four white women by Big Bear's band, including the wives of two missionaries. All are being frightfully maltreated."

Two of the Columbian rebel leaders who were responsible for the recent troubles on the Isthmus of Panama were tried by court martial and hanged.

S. W. Tallmadge, the Milwaukee crop-reader, now intimates the Chicago Inter-Ocean crop reports excessive, and says the result will depend on the weather. The reports are very encouraging, however, the condition of the winter wheat and rye is very encouraging, and notwithstanding the recent reversed warm weather has given the plant a better appearance, no improvement can be reported in the promise of the crop. On the contrary, the good weather has developed a number of serious damage by winter killing and other causes. Advices from large areas in winter-wheat producing States have been growing up and down to date and other gains. The decrease in area and abandonment by "winter-killing" seems to be general in all the winter wheat States with but one exception, that of Michigan. That State reports had a slight decrease in acreage sown, and no winter-killing whatever, or damage of other kind. With this one exception the loss to the winter wheat States is the greatest ever known, and will prove a serious disaster to all the States that depend largely upon their wheat product.

THE MARKETS.

NEW YORK.

BEEVES	$6.00	@ 6.80
WHEAT—No. 2 Spring	.82	@ .83
No. 2 Red	.84	@ .85
CORN—No. 2	.58	@ .59
OATS—Mixed	.37	@ .38
PORK—New Mess	12.50	@ 12.75
LARD	7.25	@ 7.30
CHICAGO.
BEEVES—Choice to Prime Steers	5.70	@ 6.00
Fair to Good Shipping	4.75	@ 5.25
Medium	4.15	@ 4.35
HOGS	3.75	@ 4.00
FLOUR—Fancy Red Winter Ex.	4.00	@ 5.00
Fancy White Do Do	4.00	@ 5.00
WHEAT—No. 2 Red	.77	@ .78
CORN—No. 2	.47	@ .48
OATS—No. 2	.26	@ .27
RYE—No. 2	.56	@ .59
BARLEY—No. 2	.60	@ .62
BUTTER—Choice Creamery	21	@ 22
Choice Dairy	16	@ 17
CHEESE—Full Cream	10	@ 11
Skimmed Flat	3	@ 5
EGGS—Fresh	12	@ 13
POTATOES—Choice, per bu	40	@ 46
PORK	12.00	@ 12.25
LARD	6.50	@ 7.00
MILWAUKEE.
WHEAT—No. 2	.77	@ .78
CORN—No. 2	.46	@ .47
OATS—No. 2	.26	@ .27
RYE—No. 1	.56	@ .57
PORK—Mess	11.00	@11.25
TOLEDO.
WHEAT—No. 2 Red	.80	@ .81
CORN—No. 2	.48	@ .49
OATS—Mixed	.25	@ .26
RYE—No. 2	.56	@ .57
BARLEY—No. 2	.60	@ .62
PORK—Mess	11.50	@12.00
DETROIT.
WHEAT—No. 1 White	3.85	@ 4.00
CORN—Mixed	.48	@ .49
OATS—No. 2 White	.31	@ .32
RYE—No. 2	.56	@ .57
BARLEY	1.00	@13.00
ST. LOUIS.
WHEAT—No. 2 Red	1.02	@ 1.03
CORN—Mixed	.44	@ .45
OATS—Mixed	.25	@ .26
RYE—No. 2	.56	@ .57
HAY—Prairie	11.50	@11.50
PORK	11.50	@12.00
CINCINNATI.
WHEAT—No. 2 Red	1.00	@ 1.05
CORN	.53	@ .54
OATS—Mixed	.29	@ .30
RYE—No. 2 Mixed	.57	@ .58
PORK	11.50	@12.00
DETROIT.
WHEAT—No. 1 White	3.85	@ 4.00
CORN—Mixed	.48	@ .49
OATS—No. 2 White	.31	@ .32
RYE—No. 2	.56	@ .57
BARLEY	1.00	@13.00
INDIANAPOLIS
WHEAT—No. 1 Red	1.00	@ 1.05
CORN—Mixed	.44	@ .45
OATS—Mixed	.25	@ .26
EAST LIBERTY.
CATTLE—Best	5.25	@ 5.50
Fair	4.75	@ 5.00
Common	4.25	@ 4.50
HOGS	4.25	@ 4.50
SHEEP	4.00	@ 5.00

CHICAGO WHOLE MARKET.

Dressed Beef—Steers, 5½ @ 6½c; cows, 4½ @ 5½c; hindquarters, 6½ @ 8½c; forequarters, 3½ @ 4½c. Veal—Common to prime, 5 @ 8½c. Mutton—Common to prime, 5 @ 6½c. Lamb—Common to prime, 6 @ 8½c. Poultry—Turkeys, 12 @ 14c; chickens, 12 @ 14c; ducks, 12 @ 14c; geese, 7 @ 8c. Game—Prairie chickens, $3.00 @ $3.25 per doz; quail, $1.75 @ $2.00 per doz; rabbits, $1.00 @ $1.25 per doz; wild turkeys, 10 @ 12c. Oysters—Counts, 40 @ 50c; extras, 35 @ 40c; stews, 35 @ 40c per qt. Fish—Pickerel, 4 @ 5c; pickled pickerel, $4.50 @ $5.00 per bbl; pickled perch, $3.50 @ $4.00 per bbl; smoked white, 12 @ 14c; smoked bass, 12 @ 14c; smoked pickerel, 12 @ 14c; smoked pickerel, 12 @ 14c; smoked pickerel

THE JOURNAL.

BY CHAS. J. STRANG.

CHARLEVOIX, - - MICHIGAN.

Little drops of printer's ink
A little type "displayed,"
Make one merchant princes
With all their big parade.

Little bits of stinginess—
Discarding printer's ink,
"Busts" the nun of business,
And sees his credit sink.

Notes and News.

The keel for a new tug will be laid at Bay City next week. It will be 92 feet long, 19½ feet beam, and 9½ feet hold.

Manistee granted forty-nine saloon licenses at one meeting of the council. Evidently a good field for temperance work.

The Catholic Total Abstinence Union of America is only fourteen years old, and numbers over forty thousand members.

The New York World has raised nearly $40,000 for "Liberty Enlightening the World," and yet the World goes right on enlightening the world at the rate of a million copies a week.

Capt. Jamas Davidson, the Bay City ship-builder, has taken a contract to build for Eddy Bros. & Co. of Bay City a schooner to cost $15,000, of the following dimensions: Keel, 200 feet; beam, 37 feet; hold, 15 feet.—[Inland Marine.

Hon. A. P. Swineford, of the Marquette Mining Journal, has been appointed governor of Alaska. The state press generally pronounce it a fitting appointment; recognizing Mr. Swineford's eminent abilities as a mining expert, and calculated to develop the best interests and resources of that far off territory.

Lansing, Mich., May 11.—The house to-day passed to a third reading the bill to pay state bounty of $100 to all soldiers who served in the army from Michigan during the rebellion, and who have not been paid state bounty. The amount is to be distributed over three years, the payment to be provided for this session. The bill provides for the expenditure of upward of $2,000,000.

The whiskey bottle and the wine bottle have almost entirely disappeared from the pastors of the ladies, and it is only fair to say that no young woman who sets any high valuation at her own self-respect, or upon the good character of the young men who call upon her, will turn her home into a gin mill and offer, perhaps, the first glass to a young man, whose future may be that of a hopeless drunkard.—Chicago News.

Dr. Mary Walker.

Speaking of the Mexican pensioners and those entitled to them calls to mind an incident at the door of the House recently. Dr. Mary Walker was pacing about the door in a new pair of pants and silk hat, cracking jokes with the doorkeepers and waiting for some member to come out to whom she had sent a card, when she chanced to ask about the Pension bill and make some reference to the Mexican pension matter. "By the way, Doctor," said one of the Tammany braves who happened to be on duty at the door just at that hour, "by the way, Doctor, you were engaged in the Mexican war, were you not?" There was a roar of laughter from the crowd that had gathered as it always does gather where Dr. Mary Walker is to be seen, and for a moment the "Doctor" seemed to be non-plussed, for, of course, the Mexican veterans are counted pretty aged. Rallying in a moment, however, she joined in the laugh, and as it subsided bowed with mock dignity to the joker, thanking him for the compliment. "Think you for the compliment," she said, "for it argues that I must have been extremely good looking to look as well as I now do at the age which all Mexican pensioners have reached." It is a pretty cold day when Dr. Mary is effectually "bluffed," she is always in the thickest of the crowd, always feeling best when she is most stirred at, and ready to joke with anybody who jokes, or fight anybody who wants a fight. She picks up rather a precarious living, practicing medicine a little, working a few claims through the departments or through Congress, doing various sorts of jobs, men's work mostly, and seems to be quite content, on the average, with her lot.

"Opened by Mistake."

"There has been a mistake—a dreadful mistake," she said as she called at the chief clerk's window in the Postoffice yesterday.

"What is the matter, ma'am?"

"Why, I called here on Saturday for a letter."

"And I hope you got one."

"Yes, sir. My husband is in Buffalo, you know, and I've been expecting a letter from him every day for a fortnight. He was to send me some money, you know, and I was on my last shilling when I got that letter."

"Well?"

"Well, sir, I hurried right home and opened the letter and out fell a dollar bill. Just think of a loving husband sending his loving wife a dollar bill with which to run the house and preserve her station in society for a whole month!"

"But you put the money in your pocket and burned the letter."

"Oh, no sir! I threw the bill into the fire and set out to read the letter. It started off with: 'Dear Madam,' and then I began to suspect something, as my husband always call me his angel. And then it went on to say: 'So you want a bangle, eh? Well, take the inclosed and jingle down town and bangle your old head off and be hanged to you!' Oh, sir, I nearly fainted!"

"Well?"

"Well, I looked down at the signature, and it was signed 'Slosh.' Then I saw, sir, that it couldn't be from my husband at all, for it was written from Chicago, while he is in Buffalo. It was addressed to my name, but it couldn't have been for me.

The clerk received the letter and carefully scanned the envelope, and she handed him a dollar with the remark:

"Put it in the letter, sir, and write on the envelope: 'Opened by mistake—dreadful mistake—but the opener won't give it away. If you can think of anything else to soothe the poor woman, put it on, too."

"Yes, I will."

"For I know exactly how she'll feel about it, and I know if my husband should tell me to bangle my old head off and jingle around I wouldn't have any one know it for a million dollars. Dear me! but I'm so sorry, and it was such a mistake—dreadful mistake!"—Detroit Free Press.

Juvenile Mortality.

Of 1,000,000 children ushered into life there are 150,000 taken away by the end of the first year. Twelve months later 65,000 more will have followed. At the end of the third year the number living will be diminished by 28,000 more. Each year of the decade following will make its inroads upon the ranks, but less serious in amount, till the thirteenth year will call for less than 4,000. Those remaining will fall out by twos and threes till the end of the forty-fifth year, when it will be found that in the intervening period about 500,000 have succumbed to the hardships of the way. At the end of sixty years 576,000 gray-haired veterans would still be keeping step with the duties of the passing days. Eighty years would see 57,000 remaining, with strength impaired and steps growing feeble. At the end of ninety-five years but 22 would linger in the darkening path, and these would be rapidly thinned till in the 100th year the last survivor of the million would disappear, and join the ranks of his predecessors in the great host of the majority.—Pittsburg Dispatch.

Worse Than Heathen

Are those parents who allow their children to suffer with worms when 25 cents will buy a box of Parmelee's Santanine Worm Candies which will immediately cure the child and remove the worms by dissolving them. Do you know the symptoms? Peevish moods, sudden starting in sleep, bad breath, great desire for food day and night. Be wise and leave nothing to regret. Price 25 cents per box.

Sold by Dr. G. W. Crouter, Charlevoix, and Crouter & Harris, Ironton.

Clear and Beautiful.

After using Hamilton's Oriental Balm, the skin will have a fresh, clear and beautiful appearance. Entirely free from tan, Freckles, and all blemishes. It is so perfectly harmless that it cannot fail to please the most fastidious. We recommend it to all ladies. Price 50 cents per bottle.

Sold by Dr. G. W. Crouter, Charlevoix, and Crouter & Harris, Ironton.

Word of the first Attack

Of any disease and you need never fear a dangerous condition. If those who are troubled with dyspepsia, headache, dizziness, pains in side and back, constipation, excessive flow of urine, insatiable thirst, lack of circulation of the blood, would use Parmelee's Dyspepsia, Diabetes, Kidney and Liver Cure they would not be in constant fear of sickness, for they not only cure diabetes, Bright's disease, &c., but prevent them by removing the first symptoms. Large bottles $1.00.

Sold by Dr. G. W. Crouter, Charlevoix, and Crouter & Harris, Ironton.

Drive Dull Care Away.

Be cheerful, be pleasant, be happy, be healthy. Health is wealth. Dr. Parmelee's Blood Purifier, it acts upon liver and kidneys, it regulates the bowels and purifies the blood, it acts upon the digestion, it carries off the old blood and makes new, and is acquiring a great reputation for the cure of scrofulous affections, boils, pimples, ulcers, and all skin diseases. $1.00 per bottle.

Sold by Dr. G. W. Crouter, Charlevoix, and Crouter & Harris, Ironton.

The Chicago Daily News

Has the Largest Daily Circulation in America.

Its issue for the year 1884 averaged 125,128 copies daily, and it is now regularly printing over 150,000 papers a day.

The magnitude of this unequaled circulation is best appreciated when it is said that it exceeds the circulations of all other Chicago dailies combined. Taking from the three standard newspaper directories—Ayer & Son's Annual, Rowell's Directory and Hubbard's Directory—the quotations which most nearly represent the actual circulations of the Chicago press, the following diagram correctly illustrates their relative positions as to extent of circulation.

From these figures it appears that the circulation of THE CHICAGO DAILY NEWS exceeds the combined circulations of all the other Chicago dailies by 19,873 copies daily. The reason for this phenomenal success are obvious: is a complete newspaper in all its details, and is the only Cent paper in the West that possesses this first essential to a complete news service. In addition, it has its own private wires (by lease from the Western Union Telegraph Co.) connecting its Chicago office with New York and Washington, at both of which points it has its own news bureaus. THE CHICAGO DAILY NEWS gains AT ALL THE MASS.

THE CHICAGO DAILY NEWS

It is an independent paper. It recognizes the utility of political parties as means for the accomplishment of proper ends, but it declines to regard any more party as a fit subject for unquestioning adoration. It solicits the patronage of intelligent, thoughtful, honest people, who love country more than party.

THE CHICAGO DAILY NEWS

is a "Short and to the point" paper. It believes that newspaper reading is but an incident of the day, not its chief business. It accordingly leaves to the "blanket sheets" the monopoly of tiresome and worthless amplification. It seeks to say all that the reader should care to read, and to say it in the shortest possible manner. It is a daily paper for busy people.

It is a clean paper. fit for the family circle. It is a cheap paper—2 cents per day, 12 cents per week, 50 cents per month, $6.00 per year. Sold by all news dealers throughout the United States and Canada.

Where the facilities of a daily mail are not enjoyed THE CHICAGO WEEKLY NEWS is recommended as the next best. It is large 8 page, 64 column paper, care fully made up to meet all the varying needs of the family circle. It is the largest "dollar weekly" in America. It is equal to the best.

Bryant Weed, Agent Charlevoix.

Notice of Dissolution.

Notice is hereby given that the partnership heretofore existing between W. J. Armstrong and W. J. Spangenberg under the style and firm of Armstrong & Spangenberg, doing business in the village of Charlevoix, is this day dissolved by mutual consent. All accounts will be left with T. E. Chamberlin, at the old stand, for settlement.

Dated May 2, 1885. W. J. ARMSTRONG,
W. C. SPANGENBURG.

I offer FOR SALE, for Cash or Time,

TIMBER LAND,

The S. W. ¼ of S. E. ¼, Sec. 12, T. 33, R. 8 W., in Charlevoix County, NEAR IRONTON.

No Incumbrance. Title Perfect.

Address J. T. GIBBS,
Box 81, Dearborn, Mich.

Do You Know

THAT

LORILLARD'S CLIMAX PLUG TOBACCO

with the Tag: Blue Lent Fine Cut Chewing; Navy Plug Cut; Jet; Nil; Bird's-eye, and Velvet snuffs are the best and cheapest, quality considered.

Charlevoix and East Jordan.

STEAMER GAZELLE—Capt. Robert O'Neil.

Morning—Leave Charlevoix, 6.30, arrive East Jordan 8.30, leave East Jordan, 9.00, arrive Charlevoix 11.00. Afternoon—Leave Charlevoix 3.00, arrive East Jordan 4.00, leave East Jordan 4.30, arrive Charlevoix 6.30. Stopping at intermediate points.

Steamer CLARA BELLE—Capt. Mel. Thomson.

Morning—Leave East Jordan 7.00, arrive Charlevoix 9.00, leave Charlevoix 9.30, arrive East Jordan 11.30. Afternoon—Leave East Jordan 1.30, arrive Charlevoix 3.30, leave Charlevoix 4.00, arrive East Jordan 6.00. Stopping at intermediate points.

Harbor Springs, Petoskey, Charlevoix and East Jordan.

STEAMER THOMAS PRIANT.

CAPT. E. VANDERMULEN.

Morning—Leave Harbor Springs 7.00, Petoskey 8.00, Charlevoix 9.30, arrive East Jordan 11.30. Afternoon—Leave East Jordan 1.30, Charlevoix 4.00, Petoskey 5.30, arrive Harbor Springs 6.00.

Close connections at Petoskey with G. R. & I. R. trains north and south.

A PRESENT.

Our readers for 12 cents in postage stamps will send a package of valuable sample goods of very book agents, will receive free a Steel Finely Potter Engraving of all our Presidents including Cleveland, size 22x28, worth $4.00; Address Globe Pub. Co., Chicago, Ill.

GET THE BEST

If your neighbors want a clean, handsome, weekly newspaper giving all the news, and which comes to your door from 52 to 104 times every week and costs only 25 cents for this paper three months, 50 cents for four months, 75 cents for six months, $1.00 per year. Address

The Charlevoix Journal,
CHARLEVOIX, MICH.

Good Goods and Low Prices

ARE

BOUND TO WIN

If you don't believe it, come and see my SPRING STOCK. You will see that I am up to the times in styles, and have as fine an assortment of MEN'S, YOUTH'S and CHILDREN'S SUITS, as you will find in any City. I defy any House to show any nicer line of NECK WEAR and

Furnishing Goods.

My aim is to HOLD THE CLOTHING TRADE, by carrying a Large Stock so I can please you all. PRICES TALK. Come and see my Large Spring Stock before buying elsewhere.

GEO. W. MILLER.

Hannah, Lay & Co.'s Pleasure Steamers,

SEASON OF 1885.

CITY OF GRAND RAPIDS.
CAPT. O. E. WILLSON.

Going North every morning—Leave Traverse City 7.00, Northport 9.20, Norwood 11.00, Charlevoix 12.00, Petoskey 1.35, arrive at Harbor Springs 1.45.

Going South every afternoon—Leave Harbor Springs 2.00, Petoskey 2.20, Charlevoix 4.00, Norwood 5.00, Northport 6.30, arrive at Traverse City 8.00.

T. S. FAXTON,
CAPT. A. G. ALDRICH.

Going South every morning—Leave Harbor Springs 7.00, Petoskey 8.00, Charlevoix 9.45, Torch Lake 11.00, arrive Traverse City 2.30.

Going North every afternoon—Leave Traverse City 3.00, Torch Lake 5.45, Charlevoix 7.45, Petoskey 9.15, arrive Harbor Springs 9.45.

GOOD CONNECTIONS will be made at Traverse City and Petoskey with both day and night trains on the G. R. & I. R. R. also on Sunday mornings between the CITY OF TRAVERSE from Chicago and the CITY OF GRAND RAPIDS going north, and on Wednesday evenings between the T. S. FAXTON going south, and the CITY OF TRAVERSE to Chicago.

The Charlevoix Improvement Association.

OFFICERS.

President—Byron M. Cutcheon.
First Vice President—O. A. Smith.
Second Vice President—Robert Miller.
Recording Secretary—Chas. J. Strang.
Financial Secretary—H. Suffield.
Treasurer—Albert E. Mason.

STANDING COMMITTEES.

Executive Committee—J. Mile Eaton, A. D. Cruickshank, and J. L. Hurd.
Correspondence Committee—H. Lee Addington, W. A. Brown, and C. V. Cook.
Reception Committee—R. W. Mayne, L. D. Rapp, Holloway, M. J. Sinclair, E. Cooper, Geo. W. Crouter, B. M. Miller, S. M. See, W. C. Newman, E. M. Clark, H. Bergan.

OBJECTS.

To aid and encourage the establishment of manufacturing enterprises in Charlevoix, and to advance the material growth and prosperity of Charlevoix and vicinity.

REGULAR MEETINGS.

At Charlevoix Village Hall on the Second Monday of each month, at 7.30 p. m.

CORRESPONDENCE SOLICITED.

STATE OF MICHIGAN—Thirteenth Judicial Circuit—In Chancery. Sylvester L. Keiper, complainant, vs. Mary E. Keiper, defendant. Suit pending in the Circuit Court for the County of Charlevoix, in Chancery, at Charlevoix, on the 20th day of March A. D. 1885. In this cause it appearing from affidavit on file that the defendant, Salmer H. Keiper, is not a resident of this State, but is a resident of Michigan, as we know, and that process for her appearance has been duly issued and that the same could not be served for the reason that he could not be found in this State. On motion of K. L. Corbett, solicitor for complainant, It is ordered that defendant enter his appearance in said cause on or before four months from the date of this order; and that within twenty days the complainant cause an order to be published in the Charlevoix Journal, a newspaper printed, published and circulated in said county, said publication to be continued therein, once each week for six weeks in succession.

FRANK E. FORD,
Circuit Court Commissioner,
Charlevoix Co., Mich.

K. L. CORBETT,
Solicitor for Complainant. 90-96

$100 REWARD

FOR

Every Ounce of Adulteration

IN THE

U. G. Soap

The Great 5c Cake,

Made only by

GOWANS & STOVER,

BUFFALO, N. Y.

For Sale by all First-class Grocers.

THOROUGHBRED

POULTRY

One hundred per cent more profitable than common fowls. Send for Circulars of best Asiatic, Ferr pens, and American breeds.

EGGS FOR HATCHING CHEAP

Address CLEMENT J. STUART,
Dowagiac, Mich.

OUR CLUBBING LIST.

For the convenience of those desiring a greater amount of general news, miscellany, stories, etc., than we can give in the JOURNAL, we have made arrangements for clubbing with the papers named below. Those rates are about one-half the regular rate if each subscriber deals direct with the office of publication. To get the benefit of these rates it is necessary that all arrangements on the JOURNAL be paid to date of subscription, and the price named paid in Cash for one year in advance:

Publishers's price.	Price with the Journal.
1 50 Detroit Weekly Free Press	$2 00
1 50 Detroit Weekly Tribune	2 00
2 Detroit Post	2 50
1 00 Chicago Weekly Herald	1 75
1 00 Chicago Weekly News	1 75
1 50 The Cottage Hearth (monthly)	2 25

Sample Copies furnished on application.

THE JOURNAL.

Charlevoix, Mich., May 14, 1885.

Provision Market.

Retail prices to consumers, corrected every Saturday evening, by FERRIMAN, EMREY & CO.

Beef—Dressed, $5.00, $5.50, and $6.00.
Pork—Dressed, per cwt., bolted $2.00; unbolted $1.75.
Hams, per lb., boiled 22@22c; loose 22@24.
Lard, per lb., 12@10c.
Shoulders, per lb., 8@7c.
Tallow, per lb., 4@5c.
Mutton, per cwt., $4.00.
Chickens, per cwt., $1.00.
Turkeys, per lb., 10c.
Ducks, per lb., $0.00@1.25.
Geese, per lb. 7@8c.
Butter, per lb., 20@25c.
Eggs, per doz., 16c.
Lard, per lb. 12@c.
Potatoes, per bu., Old Salt Side, 10c.
Onions, per bu., 50c.
Apples, per bu., 50c.
Cabbages, per doz., $1.00.
Beans, per bu., Medium, $1.50.
Beans, per bu., Pea, $1.50.
Flour, per bbl., $5.00@5.50.
Wheat, per bu., Red, 80c.
Wheat, per bu., White, 80c.
Oats, per bu., 35c.
Corn, per bu., 40c.
Rye, per bu., 50c.
Barley, per bu., 60c.
Wood, per cord, $3.00.
Hides—Green, 5c.
Hides—Cured, 6c.
Hides—Dry, 8c.
Calf Skins, 8c.
Pelts, 40@50c.
Tallow, 3@4c.
Wool, 25@30c.
Wool, Unwashed, 15@18c.
Wool, Fine, 20@25c.
Wool, Extra Fine, 30@35c.
Wool, Coarse, 20@25c.
Wool, Extra Coarse, 25@30c.
Wool, Fine Merino, 20@25c.
Wool, Coarse Merino, 20@25c.
Wool, Extra Fine Merino, 25@30c.
Wool, Extra Coarse Merino

RUSSIA AND INDIA.

Comprehensive Account of the Russian Advance in Central Asia, by Eugene Schuyler.

England Under the Necessity of Insisting Upon a Delineation of the Afghan Boundary.

A Map Showing the Seat of the Threatened War and the Contiguous Country.

Mr. Eugene Schuyler, late United States Minister to Turkey—than whom no man in America, probably, is better posted in European politics—contributes to the Chicago Times a valuable and interesting paper upon the Anglo-Russian dispute, the important portion of which we reproduce below. It will well repay perusal:

At a moment when peace and war seem to be in the balance, it is natural to inquire what causes have brought about the crisis. What is Russia's object in advancing her outposts approaching India? What does she desire to obtain or abandon? Why is Russia so much more powerful than she was in the Crimean war?

In order to understand the causes of events and to form a correct opinion as to probable operations in the near future, some, the general causes must be known, the present dispute over the Zulfikar Pass.

The Russians of Russia in Asia have been marked by the peculiarity that they have never attacked in the Crimea in the sixteenth century, or Siberia and Turkestan in the nineteenth, but in the center of the Empire, whose actions include the most continuous aggressive movement and particular intention on their part of fulfilling a plan of conquest, which they have carried out in the process, perhaps, unknown to themselves. This continued through the whole of the beginning of the sixteenth century, from Ivan the Terrible, through almost thirty years ago, it continued to move forward on the Dnieper, and in the southern frontier of Siberia into the steppes, the Russians, in the sixteenth century, had reached Astrakhan, and in the nineteenth, had reached Tashkent and Tiflis, and had completely closed up the occupation of Samarcand. After this Russia was completely Asiatic, with Asia on every side, and the Russian Empire was, since Peter, a world, and India has always been the ideal of the Muscovites, overmastering against the Chinese. All this was done without much system and without orders from the Government at St. Petersburg. It was never possible to carry out any plan, and every fresh advance with the accompanying acquisitions of territory and revenue, was hailed with great joy at St. Petersburg, and used in consequence of the desire of Tsarin. At a time when war with Turkey seemed inevitable, Russia resolved to advance in a different direction, and to take a step toward the goal of her ambition, and where, where, where, where, and already been taken in the gate the wide Turcomans tribes, partly with the intention, now for the first time avowed or avowable,

PINE LAKE IRON COMPANY

Ironton, Mich.,

Are Full in all kinds of General Merchandise.

I have purchased the Meat business of Armstrong & Co., and will continue at the old stand, with the freshest and best goods in the market.

T. E. CHAMBERLIN.

GARLAND STOVES AND RANGES — KEEP YOUR EYE ON THE Right Place

For Bargains in Hardware.

Iron, Cutlery, Tin ware, Stoves, Implements, Fixtures, Pumps, Grindstones, Wagons, Buggies, Carts, Wheelbarrows, Refrigerators, Doors, Sash.

PAINTS Oils, Varnishes, Putty, Glass, Fence wire, Farm bells, Guns, Ammunition, Spoons, Forks, LAMPS, Baskets, Measures, Tubs, Wooden ware, Rope, Fishermen's Supplies, and Ship chandlery, Job and Tin work.

L. D. BARTHOLOMEW & CO.

Come and See our New and Handsome Stock of Stationery. Remember, we carry the largest stock of

Drugs and Patent Medicines

In Charlevoix county.

Every Article Warranted as Represented.

We Solicit a Share of your Favors.

O. B. Weed & Co., Druggists, Opera Block.

HURRAH for GOOD TIMES

Everything Booming

AT E. M. CLARK'S

Where he has a Lively Trade in

Dry Goods, Groceries, Boots and Shoes, Clothing, &c.

When you get the blues, just call around and see with what dispatch everything is done, where Pork, Eggs, Butter, &c., is taken in exchange for Goods.

E. M. Clark

COOPER & COOPER

Furniture and Undertakers' Goods

CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN.

McCABE'S Livery and Hack Line

DRAYING TO ORDER.

Passengers, Baggage, etc., delivered to all Boats, Hotels, or any part of the City.

AT

McCabe's Livery Barn,

CHARLEVOIX, MICH. 43

WM. J. STEVENSON, HORSE-SHOEING,

Wagon Shop,

BLACKSMITHING, ETC.

Heavy Wagons on hand and made to order. I guarantee my work to be with wagons of the best material, and to WARRANT ALL WORK. Call and examine before buying elsewhere.

SHOP ONE BLOCK WEST OF CARPENTER, BARTHOLOMEW & CO.'S STORE, CHARLEVOIX.

☞ The OSBORNE MOWING MACHINE on hand and for sale. 42

Temperance Column.

Conducted by a Committee of the W. C. T. U.

Officers of the Society.

President—Mrs. C. V. Cook.
First Vice President—Mrs. L. E. Allen.
Second Vice President—Mrs. J. C. Gallinger.
Third Vice President—Mrs. Dr. W. Van Aiken.
Corresponding Secretary—Mrs. D. C. Loveday.
Recording Secretary—Mrs. R. Sallisbl.
Treasurer—Mrs. C. J. Strang.

Temperate Drinking.

At a certain town meeting in Pennsylvania, the question came up whether any persons should be licensed to sell rum. The clergyman, the deacon, the physician, strange it may now appear, all favored it. One man only spoke against it, because of the mischief it did. The question was about to be put, when there arose from one corner of the room a miserable woman. She was thinly clad, and her appearance indicated the utmost wretchedness, and that her mortal career was almost closed. After a moment's silence, and all eyes being fixed upon her, she stretched her attenuated body to its utmost height, and then her long arms to their greatest length, and raising her voice to a shrill pitch, she called on all to look upon her.

"Yes!" she said, "look upon me, and then hear me. All that the last speaker has said relative to temperate drinking, as being the father of drunkenness, is true. All practice, all experience, declares its truth. All drinking of alcoholic poison, as a beverage in health, is excess. Look upon me! You all know me, or once did. You all know I was once the mistress of the best farm in the town; you all know, too, I had one of the best—the most devoted—of husbands. You all know I had fine, noble hearted, industrious boys. Where are they now? Doctor, where are they now? You all know they lie in a row, side by side, in yonder church-yard; all—every one of them filling the drunkard's grave! They were all led to believe that temperate drinking was safe—that excess alone ought to be avoided; and they never acknowledged excess. They quoted you, and you, and you (pointing with her shred of a finger to the minister, deacon and doctor as authority.) They thought themselves safe under such teachers. But I saw the gradual change coming over my family and its prospects with horror. I felt we were to be over whelmed in one common ruin. I tried to ward off the blow; I tried to break the spell, the delusive spell, in which the benefits of temperate drinking had involved my husband and sons. I begged, I prayed; but the odds were against me.

"The minister said the poison that was destroying my husband and boys was a good creature of God; the deacon who sits under the pulpit there and took our farm to pay his rum bills, sold them the poison; the doctor said a little was good, and the excess only ought to be avoided. My poor husband and my dear boys fell into the snare; and they could not escape; and, one after another, were conveyed to the sorrowful grave of the drunkard. Now look at me again. You probably see me for the last time. My sands have almost run. I have dragged my exhausted frame from my present home—your poor house—to warn you all; to warn you, deacon! to warn you, false teachers of God's Word!" And with her arms flung high and her tall form stretched to its utmost, and her voice raised to an unearthly pitch, she exclaimed: "I shall soon stand before the judgment seat of God. I shall meet you there, you false guides, and be a witness against you all!"

The miserable woman vanished. A dead silence pervaded the assembly. The minister, the deacon and physician hung their heads; and when the President of the meeting put the question: "Shall any licenses be granted for the sale of spirituous liquors?" the unanimous response was: "No!"—(Memoir of George N. Briggs, late ex. Governor of Massachusetts.

Temperance includes the timely use of that which is to used, and the timely letting alone of that which is to be let alone. Temperance always involves total abstinence from some things. It is sheer nonsense to claim, as some do, that temperance implies the actual use of everything in moderation; that to be temperate one must indulge moderately in strychnine and laudanum and whisky and wine and turpentine.—H. Clay Trumble.

J. MILO EATON,

DEALER IN

Real Estate

OF ALL KINDS.

Houses and Lots for Sale

IN THE MOST DESIRABLE PARTS OF CHARLEVOIX.

WILD LANDS AND IMPROVED FARMS

FOR SALE IN ALL PARTS OF THE COUNTY.

Abstracts of Title Furnished on Short Notice.

Represents the

Best Insurance Companies.

OFFICE ON BRIDGE STREET. ESTABLISHED IN 1873.

Charlevoix, Mich., Harbor and Summer Resorts.

The above is a geographically correct view (though containing but a small portion of the buildings) of Charlevoix, Mich., a village of over twelve hundred inhabitants, rapidly growing in favor and reputation as one of the most delightful Summer Resorts and safest harbors in northern Michigan. Several lines of steamers concentrate here, connecting at all hours of the day with surrounding towns, fishing streams, picnic parks, and other places of interest, health or pleasure. Unequaled inducements are also offered the permanent settler who desires to invest his capital in manufacturing enterprises where it will bring the best results. The resources of the county are being developed so as to bring the richest returns. For any other information regarding the village or surroundings, address

THE CHARLEVOIX JOURNAL

CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN.

The JOURNAL is an eight-page newspaper, devoted to the material growth and prosperity of Charlevoix county in general, and Charlevoix village in particular. Published weekly for one year. Sample copies free.

CHAS. J. STRANG, Publisher.

Grand Rapids & Indiana R. R.

Time Table in effect October, 1884.

GOING NORTH.

STATIONS.	No 1	No. 3	No. 5	No. 7
Cincinnati, lv	.....	7 40am	7 15pm	.....
Richmond	2 00pm	10 30	10 00	.....
Winchester	3 53	11 26	11 06	.....
Ridgeville	4 11	11 37	11 21	.....
Fort Wayne, ar	6 00	2 25pm	1 50am	.....
Fort Wayne, lv	.....	2 35	2 50	9 00am
Kendallville	.....	3 02	3 32	9 24
Sturgis	.....	3 45	4 22	10 00
Vicksburg	.....	4 02	4 41	10 32
Kalamazoo, ar	.....	4 32	5 12	11 10am
Kalamazoo, lv	.....	4 50	5 16	11 20am
G'd Rapids, ar	.....	8 45	8 30	3 55
G'd Rapids, lv	2 10am	9 00	10 25	5 00
G'd R & W ar	2 30	11 15	10 45	5 20
Howard City	4 47	1 35	12 41	6 26
Big Rapids	5 45	2 26	1 46	7 32
Reed City, ar	10 17	11 59	1 40	8 56
Cadillac, ar	11 25	1 06am	3 25	10 05
Traverse City	.....	5 15	5 45	.....
Walton	.....	7 11	7 37	.....
Traverse City, lv	.....	7 15	8 45	.....
Kalkaska, ar	.....	8 41	9 40	.....
Manistee	.....	3 43	5 41	.....
Cedar Falls	.....	4 00	5 58	.....
Pleasanton	.....	4 10	6 08	.....
Harlowe City	.....	5 00	7 20	.....
Harlowe City, lv	.....	5 05	7 30	.....
Blackman City	.....	5 06pm	9 18	.....

GOING SOUTH.

STATIONS.	No. 2	No. 4	No. 6	No. 8
Blackman City	.....	.....	6 00am	3 30pm
Harlowe springs	.....	.....	6 50	7 00
Harlowe City	.....	.....	7 05	7 20am
Bepne Falls	.....	.....	8 10	3 02
Manistee	.....	.....	8 30	3 45
Kalkaska	.....	.....	9 41	5 41
Traverse City, lv	.....	.....	9 00	.....
Walton	.....	.....	10 35	4 10am
Cadillac, ar	.....	.....	11 25	5 40
Cadillac, lv	.....	3 30pm	11 35	6 00
Reed City, ar	.....	4 39	1 00pm	7 26
Big Rapids	.....	5 12	1 34	7 56
Howard City	.....	6 08	2 29	8 47
G'd R & W ar	.....	7 23	3 40	10 05
G'd Rapids, lv	.....	7 40	4 05	10 25
G'd R & I ar	5 00am	.....	9 30	11 35
Kalamazoo, ar	6 35	.....	6 30	1 00pm
Kalamazoo, lv	6 50	.....	6 50	1 20pm
Vicksburg	7 28	.....	7 36	2 02
Sturgis	7 52	.....	8 16	2 39
Kendallville	11 33	.....	9 56	4 41
Fort Wayne, ar	12 10pm	.....	10 40	5 55
Fort Wayne, lv	12 20	9 00am	10 50	.....
Ridgeville	1 11	9 44	11 44	.....
Winchester	3 30	8 16	2 03	.....
Richmond, ar	4 25	8 53	2 55	.....
Cincinnati, ar	7 40pm	12 00pm	7 30am	.....

C. L. LOCKWOOD, G. P. Agent.
Grand Rapids, Mich.

Nimrod

Plug Tobacco.

Sold by all Grocers and Tobacco Dealers. Noted for its Excellent Chew, Delicious Flavor, and Cheesy Cut. This Tobacco is Manufactured of Finest Leaf, Purest Sweetening. "Everybody Chews Nimrod." Send for Samples.

S. W. VENABLE & CO.

6m3 Petersburg, Va.

ERRORS OF YOUTH.

A GENTLEMAN who suffered for years from Nervous Debility, PREMATURE DECAY, and all the effects of youthful indiscretion, will for the sake of suffering humanity, send free to all who need it, the recipe and direction for making the simple remedy by which he was cured. Sufferers wishing to profit by the advertiser's experience can do so by addressing in perfect confidence, JOHN B. ODGEN, 42 Cedar St., New York.

TO CONSUMPTIVES.

The advertiser having been permanently cured of that dread disease, Consumption, by a simple remedy, is anxious to make known to his fellow sufferers the means of cure. To those who desire it he will send a copy of the prescription used, free, with the directions for preparing and using the same which they will find a sure CURE for Coughs, Colds, Consumption, Asthma, Bronchitis, &c. Parties wishing the Prescription will please address, Rev. E. A. WILSON, 59 Penn St., Williamsburgh, N. Y.

ISLAND HOME Stock Farm,

Crosse Ile, Wayne Co., Mich.

SAVAGE & FARNUM, Proprietors.

Female No. 2020 O.H.B.

—IMPORTED—

Percheron Horse

All stock selected from the get of sires of the noted importations of Messrs. Cogniard & French and Anderson and Banks.

ISLAND HOME

is beautifully situated at the head of navigation in the Detroit River, yet miles below the City, is accessible by railroad and steamboat, and is not familiar with the location may call at the City Campus Building, and as escort a stranger to them to the farm. Send for catalogue. Address, SAVAGE & FARNUM, Detroit, Mich.

ERRORS OF YOUTH

and MANHOOD. One who has suffered all the misery from the dreadful and destructive self abuse, and is anxious to relieve his fellow sufferers from the same misery and ruin of self cure, will mail free a simple, but invaluable remedy, which he found by accidentally discovered, speedily cured nervous debility, involuntary losses, nightly emissions, loss of the genitive organs, self delay, diffidence, impotence and all the long train of evils arising from indiscretion and indulgence of a private nature, an easy and effectual treatment is in the reach of all, and he hopes all will avail themselves of it. Address in confidence, J. W. FINKS, 78 Fulton Street, New York.

Established Fifty-Five Years.

RAVEN & BACON

—NOW—

RAVEN PIANOS,

12 East 15th Street, New York.

BUY FROM THE MANUFACTURERS AND SAVE 40 PER CENT.

These Pianos are made from the best materials, by the best workmen, and have the Capacity, Elasticity, and Endurance of Tone which only the Finest Pianos possess. Warerooms for the Sale of Pianos only. Factory not connected therewith. Pianos sent on trial. Catalogue before purchasing elsewhere. Pianos sent to any Market in the United States or Canada. Catalogue before purchasing elsewhere.

No. 1, Upright or Square, $350, worth $500
No. 2, " " 400, " 600
No. 3, " " 500, " 750

ALL THE OCTAVES.

THE CHARLEVOIX JOURNAL.

NUMBER 97. CHARLEVOIX, MICH.: THURSDAY, MAY 21, 1885. $1.50 PER YEAR.

THE JOURNAL

is published every Thursday morning,

BY CHAS. J. STRANG.

Office over T. D. Smith's grocery,

CHARLEVOIX, - - MICHIGAN

ENTERED AT THE POSTOFFICE AT CHARLEVOIX, MICH., AS SECOND-CLASS MATTER.

BUSINESS DIRECTORY.

ATTORNEYS.

COOPERSMITH & CURTIS, Attorneys at Law. Practice in Antrim, Charlevoix, Emmet and Cheboygan Counties. Special attention given to PATENT SOLICITING. Petoskey, Mich.

HURD & CYR, Attorneys at Law, Real Estate and Loan Agents. Lake st., east of postoffice, Petoskey, Mich.

FRED W. MAYNE, Attorney and Counselor at Law. Claims promptly prosecuted in Emmet county. DELEAN'S.

H. A. JORDAN, Attorney and Counselor at Law. Office on Lake St., Boyne City, Mich.

J. L. SEVERENS, Attorney at Law and Judge of Probate of Emmet Co., Petoskey, Mich.

J. MILO EATON, Attorney at Law, Charlevoix, Mich.

NORTON, KENT & MARTIN, Attorneys at Law. Office opposite U. S. Hotel, Boyne City, Mich.

OLIVER P. MONROE, Attorney at Law and Notary Public. Office in Masonic Block, Commissioner, Western District, East Jordan, Mich.

W. S. MORRIS, Attorney and Solicitor, East Jordan. Admiralty a Specialty.

W. A. WHITE, Attorney at Law, Boyne City, Mich.

CHURCHES.

FIRST CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH.—Sabbath services at 10:30 a.m. and 7:00 p.m. Sunday school at close of morning service. Prayer meeting every Thursday evening at 7:00 o'clock. P. G. VAN ALSBURG, pastor.

METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH.—Sunday services at 10:30 A. M. and 7:00 P. M. Sunday school at close of morning service. Prayer and praise meeting Thursday evening at 7. T. T. TORRANCE, pastor.

FIRE DEPARTMENT.

CHARLEVOIX HOOK AND HEAVY FIRE COMPANY meets every Saturday night, at engine hall. R. F. DUNKS, Secretary.

HOMEOPATHIC PHARMACY.

HOMEOPATHIC Homeopathic Medicines, Books, Supplies, etc., EAST PORTLAND, MICH.

PHYSICIANS.

L. A. VARNUM, M. D., Office at his residence.

L. H. COOK, M. D., Physician and Surgeon. Office in Dr. Cook's Drug Store, Charlevoix, Mich.

S. C. GRAVES, M. D. Office and residence on Bridge St., Charlevoix, Mich.

W. F. PHELPS, M. D., Surgeon and Homeopathic Physician, Jamesville, Mich.

REAL ESTATE AGENTS.

HORACE W. BARSHA, Notary Public, Real Estate, Loan and Insurance Agt., Charlevoix, Mich.

SECRET SOCIETIES.

G. A. R. Harker Post No. 195, meets second and fourth Mondays in each month, at Odd Fellows' Hall.

I. O. O. F. Charlevoix Lodge No. 357, meets every Tuesday evening, in Odd Fellows' Hall.

I. O. O. F. Round Lake Lodge No. 390, meets every Wednesday evening, in their Hall.

K. O. T. M.—Round Tent, No. 168, meets second and fourth Wednesdays in each month, at Odd Fellows' Hall.

I. O. L.—True Blues, No. 127, meet Saturday on or before full moon in Odd Fellows' Hall.

MACCABEES.—Charlevoix Lodge No. 56, meets every Tuesday on or before full moon. Hall over Strang's.

WELL DIGGING.

FRANK DUDA, Charlevoix, Mich., will attend promptly to all work in the line of well digging, driven building, pump repairing, well drilling, cellar building, and similar work. E-

O. W. SMITH,

ELECTRO-PLATER,

Manufacturing Jeweler and Lapidist.

Plating, plating in Gold and Silver. Any article in the jewelry line made to order. AGATES AND JASPERS cut to order.

Picture Frames Cheap

I can frame pictures cheaper than ever before, as I have no rent to pay. I will send over at my house on Clinton street, four doors west of school house.

O. I. WHEAT.

Money to Loan

On sums of $100 and upwards, at reasonable rates of interest, on improved real estate security.

H. C. Miley,

Boyne City.

W. B. MAGAR. H. C. MAGAR.

Wagar Bros.

Wholesale and Retail dealers in Tobacco, Cigars and Smokers' Articles. Also a full line of Confectionery, Fruits, Canned Goods, etc. First door west of Bridge Street House, Charlevoix, Mich.

A FEW FACTS CONCERNING

Dr. CROUTER'S

BAKING POWDER

Or Quick Yeast.

If you use it you will never have yellow biscuit.
If you use it your biscuit will never taste of Soda.
It contains no alum, and is absolutely free from any thing of a deleterious nature.
It is made from PURE GRAPE CREAM OF TARTAR and NOT from the Common Cream of Tartar of the shops.
It is always fresh and will never disappoint you.

Directions for using furnished with every package.

Price 40 Cents per Pound.

Manufactured and Sold only by

Dr. GEO. W. CROUTER,

Chemist and Druggist,

BRIDGE STREET, CHARLEVOIX, MICH.

Come and See our Immense Stock of

BOOTS AND SHOES.

FOX & MILLER.

BRIDGE STREET HOUSE,

ROBERT MILLER, Proprietor,

Charlevoix, Michigan.

This house is centrally located, and its accommodations unequaled. The tables supplied with the best the market affords. Only sample room of any hotel in town.

COMMERCIAL HOUSE

D. B. JERRUE, Proprietor.

East Jordan, Michigan.

Entirely refurnished and refitted. First-class Sample Room for agents. Good Stable in connection with the house.

FOUNTAIN CITY HOUSE,

RICHARD COVENS, Proprietor.

Charlevoix, - Michigan.

Fine location in town, giving good view of lake and grounds. Express office, and head quarters for Petoskey and Elk Rapids Stages. Good sample room for commercial travelers. Sabbath trade.

PINE LAKE HOUSE,

A. J. HALL, Proprietor.

Boyne City, Michigan.

This house is finely located on the Boyne river, close by the Depot. All trains stop at the door, and it is kept open all night for the accommodation of the traveling public.

PIONEER HOUSE,

A. B. NOYES, Proprietor.

Ironton - Michigan.

Every convenience for the traveling public.

1 offer FOR SALE, for Cash or Time,

TIMBER LAND,

The N W ¼ of S E ¼ Sec. 19, T 33, R 8 W, in Charlevoix County, MAIN BONTON.

No Incumbrance. Title Perfect.

Address J. T. GIBSON, Box 95, Dearborn, Mich.

Do You Know

THAT

LORILLARD'S CLIMAX PLUG TOBACCO

with Red Tin Tag, Rose-Leaf Fine Cut Chewing, Navy Cigarettes, and Black, Brown, and Yellow Snuffs, are the best, and cheapest, quality, considered?

THOROUGHBRED

POULTRY

One hundred very cool nests specially fitted for setting hens. Send for circular. Best Asiatic, European, and American breeds.

EGGS FOR HATCHING CHEAP

Address CLEMENT A. STRANG, Douglas, Mich.

THE FAIR

Offers Dry Goods, Clothing, Carpets, a good Paper, lots of Hardware, Stoves, and a good pick Outof Soap, the other things. On the first round counter are 200 articles that I want and need. Then step in the 15 cent counter and search for many necessary articles of Household use, then step to the 10 cent counter and examine a lot for less money, and if you don't find something a barn door, can find a lot for 5 cents.

Worse Than Heathen

Are those parents who allow their children to suffer with worms when 25 cents will buy a box of Parmelee's Vermifuge Worm Candies which will immediately cure the child and remove the worms by dissolving them. Do you know the symptoms? Feverish ness, sudden starting in sleep, bad breath, great desire for food day and night. Be wise and leave nothing to regret. Price 25 cents per box.

Sold by Dr. G. W. Crouter, Charlevoix, and Crouter & Harris, Ironton.

Clear and Beautiful.

After using Hamilton's Oriental Balm, the skin will have a fresh, clear and beautiful appearance. Entirely free from tan, Freckles, and all blemishes. It is so perfectly harmless that it cannot fail to please the most fastidious. We recommend it to all ladies. Price 50 cents per bottle.

Sold by Dr. G. W. Crouter, Charlevoix, and Crouter & Harris, Ironton.

Ward off the first Attack

Of any disease and you need never fear a dangerous condition. If those who are troubled with dyspepsia, headache, dizziness, pains in side and back, constipation, excessive flow of urine, insatiable thirst, lack of circulation of the blood, would use Parmelee's Vegetable Pills, Diabetes, Kidney and Liver Cure they would not be in constant fear of sickness, for they act only cure diabetes, Bright's disease, &c., but prevent them by removing the first symptoms. Large bottles $1.00.

Sold by Dr. G. W. Crouter, Charlevoix, and Crouter & Harris, Ironton.

Drive Dull Care Away.

Be cheerful, be pleasant, be happy, be healthy. Health is wealth. Use Parmelee's Blood Purifier, it acts upon the liver and kidneys, it regulates the bowels and purifies the blood, it acts upon the digestion, it carries off the old blood and makes new, and is acquiring a great reputation for the cure of scrofulous affection, boils, pimples, ulcers, and all skin diseases. $1.00 per bottle.

Sold by Dr. G. W. Crouter, Charlevoix, and Crouter & Harris, Ironton.

MORTGAGE NOTES kept on hand, printed to order on short notice at this office.

Build up the Country.

The Petoskey Record mentions at some length the organization of the Charlevoix Improvement Association, and spurs up their own society to do something, closing with the following valuable suggestion:

As supplementary to our article urging a re-organization of our business men's association, we call attention to a recent issue of the Grand Rapids Democrat wherein the statement is made that over 4,000 emigrants from Canada were landed in Port Huron, between October and January, all bound for the Huron peninsula. Four years ago we drove all over the counties of Huron and Sanilac and found the interior between the shores of Lake Huron and Saginaw to contain immense tracts of unimproved land. To-day the greater portion of those lands are occupied by a hardy class of emigrants with sufficient means to open up and improve their farms. How does it come? The question is peculiarly pertinent to Cheboygan, Petoskey and Charlevoix, all of which are away ahead of the country on account of the immense acreage of wild land in the three counties. The tide of emigration was turned toward the Huron peninsula by the concerted action of the shore towns; Lexington, Port Sanilac, Sand Beach, Grindstone City, Port Austin, Caseville and Sebewaing, and the county seat—Bad Axe. These villages contributed to a general fund for advertising purposes, and an immense edition of an advertising sheet was published setting forth the advantages of the peninsula, and illustrated with fine views of the villages, public building, large business blocks, and private residences. The enterprise received a generous boom from all the papers in the state, and many thousands of their advertising sheets were scattered in Canada. It cost several hundred dollars, but is paying an enormous return on the investment to every town on the peninsula. Why not do that same thing here?

Let the get one business men's association in working order, enter into cordial arrangements with our neighbors and give Charlevoix, Emmet and Cheboygan counties a boom this year.

Heavy Losses by Fire.

Last week northern Michigan was again scourged by fire, and Charlevoix county came in for a full share. On all sides of Pine Lake, and especially bordering on the south arm, the flames raged furiously, destroying many thousand cords of wood, besides fences, farm buildings, houses, etc.

Among the losers are the following: W. S. Stripp, 5,000 cords shipping wood, and 3,000 cords furnace wood.

Pine Lake iron Co., 3,500 cords furnace wood.

Henry Pervish lost a quantity of wood and his house and barn, saving nothing but the clothes on his back.

Five other families were burned out, whose names we have not learned.

Blakeley's school house, near East port, was burned, and in Banks the fire raged unmercifully near to Gaynes & Nash's mill, but was checked in time to prevent serious loss.

FIRE NOTES.

Fire catch in the roof of the house occupied by Archie Crawn, on the north side, last Saturday, but was extinguished without serious damage.

The barns of Wm. Shapton of Norwood, and A. E. Struthers, of Hayes, burned last Saturday.

Fires raged in the woods north and south of us last Saturday.

Clean Yards.

D. Sherwood is putting a large amount of work on his lot and front yard, and when his house is built he will have a very pretty place. Although it is now surrounded by a wire fence, a hedge has been started, which will, in time, add much to the beauty of the lot. Every nook and corner in his garden receives the same careful attention.

Mrs. Spaulsberry is having her front yard graded this week. A large three story flower bed is built directly in front of the house, with a large letter S next to the street. The beds are raised six or eight inches, with cobble stone border to hold the earth in place. When the seed is well started, and the flowers are in bloom, she will have a very pretty place.

This is labor requiring artistic taste and skill, and adds immensely to the beauty of the town and the value of the property. We shall probably have occasion to refer to others during the course of the season.

Improvements at Boyne.

Lewis hall, Boyne, is occupied regularly by three societies, with more coming in the immediate future. It is fitted up with stage and other conveniences for small traveling shows, as well as conventions, etc.

A. J. Beardsley is building a two story brick block adjoining the Lewis block, Boyne, to be occupied below by a stock of boots, shoes and dry goods, and the upper story to be fitted up for offices.

On the south of the Lewis block, Lewis & Beardsley expect to build another two-story brick, making altogether a very substantial block of stores.

The Statesman recommends sowing wild rice around our lakes, to encourage the growth of ducks.

A Lodge of Knights of Labor was organized at Boyne Monday evening, with 33 members.

Phil. Bashow has added a new Peerless job press, 10x15, to his job printing outfit.

Serious Shooting.

One day this week, while entertaining some friends shooting at a mark with a revolver, Dan Journe, of East Jordan, received a bullet in his left breast which has prostrated him, and some fears are expressed that it may prove fatal. He was some distance from the tree on which the mark was placed, and various theories are expressed as to the true cause, some approaching to believe that the ball struck something and glanced, while others claim that he must have received the ball direct from the revolver. On making an examination, the physicians failed to find the bullet.

Council Proceedings.

A committee was appointed at the council last Thursday to establish a dock line on Round Lake.

A cistern with a capacity of 500 barrels, to be walled with stone, was ordered built on the grounds adjoining the village hall.

An ordinance was adopted prohibiting the running at large of horses and mules in the village.

Burgess.

The wife of Chauncy Howe, Jr., of Hayes, was buried in the Charlevoix cemetery last Thursday. She leaves a baby about four months old.

Alex Ross lost a horse last week.

Supervisor Burgess is taking the assessment and his saw mill is idle. It will resume again in a few days.

New Grocery.

Cooper Bros., Oliver and James, are this week fitting up the rooms in the opera block formerly occupied by W. J. Orser, merchant tailor, and are putting in a stock of groceries, provisions, etc. They will confine themselves to this line of goods, and will no doubt receive a fair proportion of the trade.

Certificates Granted.

The following persons were granted third grade certificates at the last examination: Isaac Vance, Carrie Porter, and Herbert J. Whelan, of East Jordan; Will Pearson, Springvale; and Nellie M. Barnett, of Carpenter. James G. Bryant, of Boyne Falls, second grade.

Public Telephone Stations.

Appointments for the line from Ironton to Boyne have been made as follows: At Sweet's mill, G. C. Sweet; at East Jordan, D. C. Loveday; at Dwight's Landing, D. G. Haight; at Boyne, W. J. Lewis.

THE JOURNAL

BY CHAS. J. STRANG.

CHARLEVOIX, - - MICHIGAN.

NEWS CONDENSED.

Concise Record of the Week.

EASTERN.

The total imports of merchandise at New York during the week amounted to over $6,500,000, and of dry goods to nearly $1,500,000.

Charles Lehman, aged 72, and his wife, aged 71, were found dead in their rooms in New York. The couple had taken paris green. Extreme poverty is supposed to be the cause of the suicide.

Ex-Gov. Gilbert C. Walker, of Virginia, died in New York, at the age of 55.

Before the Languages Club, at New York, David Ingley Field made an argument against the prevailing curiosity in regard to dreams.

Robert T. Lincoln witnessed the cremation of the body of Maj. Byford, of the ordnance corps, at Gettysburg, Pa.

Owing to the anti-pool-selling law the Coney Island Jockey Club will not hereafter use this name.

Russian flour of very fine quality, to the amount of 2,000 sacks, was offered on the New York Produce Exchange at $6 per barrel.

The creditors of J. H. Osgood & Co., the Boston publishers, held a meeting, at which the liabilities of the firm were reported at $325,000, and assets at $77,000.

Gen. Grant's condition was reported in the New York dispatches of the 11th last. as less favorable than for some time past. A hypodermic injection of five drops of morphine failed to neutralize the intense pain in his throat, which was swollen and sore.

WESTERN.

William Wright, who served in the regular army and has been a cowboy in Texas, has been arrested for the recent train robbery near Harrisburg, Ind. His photograph was promptly identified by Peter Weber, the baggagemaster whose lie so nearly murdered Wright was captured in Terre Haute.

Chicago telegram: The price of hay has already advanced to a high figure in this market as a direct consequence of the unseasonably cold weather. The grasses as well as the cereals are languishing for want of a little sunshine. Crop reports from home represent that the recent cold weather did little or no damage to the growing wheat in that section. The strawberry crop in Southern Illinois has been badly injured by the recent bad weather.

Nathan Perry Payne, ex-Mayor of Cleveland, died, and son of the present Senator from this Indian.

Dwight Bros. & Co., Chicago paper dealers, have made an assignment. Their liabilities are about $85,000; assets, $50,000.

St. Louis and Pittsburgh capitalists have decided upon the erection at Bellefontaine, Ohio, of a $40,000 mill for the manufacture of lemonade seed.

A dispatch from Terre Haute, Ind., announces the insolvency of the Cabinet organ of Terre Haute, whose liabilities are $40,000, chiefly in unpaid daily issues. The Vigo County Court appointed J. E. Stimson receiver. Loss of membership alone caused the collapse.

Mrs. Catherine Main has just died at Kalamazoo, Mich., aged 104.

Three of the Italians under arrest at Chicago for assaulting an the Crime reporter have made a written confession describing the manner in which they strangled their victim for his money at No. 32 Tilden avenue and then shipped the body to Pittsburg, where it was discovered. The confessions are said to be complete enough to hang all three.

A revolver ingeniously affixed to a window at Tyro, Miss., fatally shot a tramp who attempted to push entrance to the window by.

John Nenegilhor shot his wife near Springfield, Ohio, because she refused to return to his home, and then shot himself, dying in an hour. Mrs. Nenegilhor is badly wounded in the head, but there are hopes of her recovery.

Gen. Phil Sheridan was thrown from his horse at Los Angeles, Cal., and seriously injured. Nothing dangerous, however, is anticipated.

The Western Nail and Iron Association reaffirmed their card rate at their meeting at Columbus, and adjourned to meet at Cincinnati the 27th inst.

Fire swept away the large brewery of Michael Brand, in the northwestern section of Chicago. The building was erected in 1877, and had a frontage of 200 feet on Eaton avenue, extending 100 feet back to the river. Over 225 feet of this was totally destroyed. The brewery building was valued at $200,000, and the estimated loss on it is $150,000. The loss on other buildings and stock will amount to $150,000, on which no loss will fall on the neighborhood of $250,000, with no insurance, the firm carrying its own risks.

A despatch from Cheyenne Agency, Indian Territory, says: "Twenty seven teamsters' wagons, each partially loaded with Indian supplies from Arkansas city, have gone into the territory to receive their goods, and then moved on into Oklahoma district, where they have located claims and commenced farming operations. The teamsters are contrabaned and have sent word to the camps in the vicinity of Caldwell that the coast is again clear for another raid. Some of their number openly boasted that they had outwitted the authorities. Each of the twenty-seven wagons contained from two to three more. They went from Cheyenne Agency directly down the Cimarron River by Camp Russell, which has just been vacated by the troops ordered to the northwest."

SOUTHERN.

Moses Harris, the Hot Springs editor who was expelled from the town last year by a citizens' committee, lounged and in the Federal court for $20,000 damages. A jury has just awarded him $1,250.

A tornado at Gadsden, Ala., blew over a mill, giving three persons fatal injuries.

A colored man named Jordan was lynched at Greenadan, Ala., for an outrage on a farmer's daughter.

The interstate drill at Mobile closed with a lively skirmish between western companies. The prizes first for the best drilled soldier was awarded to Corporal Talbot, of the Chickasaw Guards, of Memphis. The Houston (Texas) Light Guards took the honors in the two-field contest.

An affray between a party of negroes over a game of dominoes, at Wallhamville, Ala., resulted in the killing of five of the black sports and the wounding of four others. Armed with pistols and razors, they simply cut the worst of figures.

Andrew J. Johnson, the noted outlaw of Jeff County, Kentucky, by his wife lodged a building in Louisville, and killed Thomas Napley and Josiah Hankins and his daughter as they returned from church.

Jim Pike, Cumberland Kentucky, Frank Stratton exterminated Mount that's a shaping with his sister, and in the conflict Stratton was fatally stabbed, and Pike mortally shot.

WESTERN.

William Wright, who served in the regular army and has been a cowboy in Texas, has been arrested for the recent train robbery near Harrisburg, Ind. The photograph was promptly identified by Peter Weber, the baggagemaster whose lie so nearly murdered Wright was captured in Terre Haute.

Chicago telegram: The price of hay has already advanced to a high figure in this market as a direct consequence of the unseasonably cold weather. The grasses as well as the cereals are languishing for want of a little sunshine. Crop reports from home represent that the recent cold weather did little or no damage to the growing wheat in that section. The strawberry crop in Southern Illinois has been badly injured by the recent bad weather.

Nathan Perry Payne, ex-Mayor of Cleveland, died, and son of the present Senator from this Indian.

Dwight Bros. & Co., Chicago paper dealers, have made an assignment. Their liabilities are about $85,000; assets, $50,000.

St. Louis and Pittsburgh capitalists have decided upon the erection at Bellefontaine, Ohio, of a $40,000 mill for the manufacture of lemonade seed.

A dispatch from Terre Haute, Ind., announces the insolvency of the Cabinet organ of Terre Haute, whose liabilities are $40,000, chiefly in unpaid daily issues. The Vigo County Court appointed J. E. Stimson receiver. Loss of membership alone caused the collapse.

Mrs. Catherine Main has just died at Kalamazoo, Mich., aged 104.

Three of the Italians under arrest at Chicago for assaulting an the Crime reporter have made a written confession describing the manner in which they strangled their victim for his money at No. 32 Tilden avenue and then shipped the body to Pittsburg, where it was discovered. The confessions are said to be complete enough to hang all three.

A revolver ingeniously affixed to a window at Tyro, Miss., fatally shot a tramp who attempted to push entrance to the window by.

John Nenegilhor shot his wife near Springfield, Ohio, because she refused to return to his home, and then shot himself, dying in an hour. Mrs. Nenegilhor is badly wounded in the head, but there are hopes of her recovery.

Gen. Phil Sheridan was thrown from his horse at Los Angeles, Cal., and seriously injured. Nothing dangerous, however, is anticipated.

The Western Nail and Iron Association reaffirmed their card rate at their meeting at Columbus, and adjourned to meet at Cincinnati the 27th inst.

Fire swept away the large brewery of Michael Brand, in the northwestern section of Chicago. The building was erected in 1877, and had a frontage of 200 feet on Eaton avenue, extending 100 feet back to the river. Over 225 feet of this was totally destroyed. The brewery building was valued at $200,000, and the estimated loss on it is $150,000. The loss on other buildings and stock will amount to $150,000, on which no loss will fall on the neighborhood of $250,000, with no insurance, the firm carrying its own risks.

A despatch from Cheyenne Agency, Indian Territory, says: "Twenty seven teamsters' wagons, each partially loaded with Indian supplies from Arkansas city, have gone into the territory to receive their goods, and then moved on into Oklahoma district, where they have located claims and commenced farming operations. The teamsters are contrabaned and have sent word to the camps in the vicinity of Caldwell that the coast is again clear for another raid. Some of their number openly boasted that they had outwitted the authorities. Each of the twenty-seven wagons contained from two to Steam Vessels for the Third District. To be Inducters of Internal Revenue: George L. Spear, for the district of Vermont; Thomas E. Hasbrook, for the district of Missouri (Sixth District); Edward A. Hazlet, for the Twenty-third District of Pennsylvania; Edward C. Wall, for the First District of Wisconsin; Hugh Kennedy, for the Fifth District of New Jersey. To be Postmasters: Joseph A. Ashby, at Raleigh, N. C., vice John Nichols, commission expired; James C. Vaughn, at Lee Mass., Iowa, vice E. M. Emery, resigned; John McWilliams, at Gettysburg, Pa., vice E. G. Purkapile, commission expired; Hackes W. Hinton, at Indiana, Ind., declined the Pension mission.

The President has appointed Col. John M. Wilson, of the corps of engineers, to be Commissioner of Public Buildings and Grounds for the District of Columbia. Col. Wilson relieves Col. A. F. Rockwell.

The President has appointed the following Presidential postmasters: Harvey T. Sollers, at Bowie, Md.; Wm. A. Jones, Fresno, resigned; Albert C. Snyder, at Hagerstown (Md.), Wy. T., vice John W. Jones, resigned; George W. Evans, at Cheyenne, N. D., vice Henry Hagle, resigned; Henry Kingsley, at Johnstown, N. Y., vice P. S. Clark, resigned; W. H. Collingsworth, at Hillsboro, Ala., vice G. K. Gillespie, commission expired; Jacob Wolfe, at Lynchburg, Va., vice W. L. Ewing, commission expired; Jacob Vanderpool, at Hackensack, N. J., vice W. H. Browne, commission expired; Charles Hilton, at Beckinbridge, N. J., vice Robert Hedding, Jr., commission expired.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Large orders for goods are being sent from Mexico to the United states, which is the result of visits from American salesmen.

Legal decisions: The Indiana Supreme court affirmed the validity of the law compelling the closing of saloons from 11 p. m. to 5 a. m. The Iowa Supreme Court decided that the law under which the governor appointed Andrew Rennen was constitutional. Judge Seaver dissents, and Judge Beck did not sit in the case. Attorneys claim that the decision does not settle the point whether the governor's season was valid, and Mr. Rennen intends to push his quo warranto proceedings. Judge Dyer sends a decision at Iowa Judmes affirming the validity of the mechanic mortgage lien law. The Burlington, Cedar Rapids and Northern Road, failing in foreclosure under the mortgage. The defendants may redeem after a master has determined the proper amount to be paid, which will exceed, it is thought $1,000,000.

There are 2,525 working lodges of the Knights of Honor in the United States, with a membership of 131,085. The deaths during the past year numbered 1,609, and the assessments for death benefits amounted to $2,595,581.

The steamship Celtic, which reached New York from Liverpool, reported the other day, spent sixty hours fighting her way through a tremendous array of icebergs and floating icefields off the island of Newfoundland. The sea was filled seen as far as the eye could reach with ice floes and icebergs in all directions. In searching for a passage, the vessel slowly glided by numerous peaks from 200 to 400 feet in height, that looked in the distance like immense islands. The steamer got within once in the entire edge of the ice, and did not get free till nightfall. Captain Cook, one of the officers of the Allan steamer Caspian, who, fighting his way through the ice, came close to the Celtic and exchanged signals. The captain says he counted fifty-two icebergs in sight at one time, and passed eighty-five in an hour, which the Celtic was throughout. Captain Cook put the range of his icebergs at 150 to the third day, 80 to 100 feet, which they were reached, and the icebergs were left behind.

Batouche was captured by Middleton's troops at the point of the bayonet, the Canadians losing six killed and wounded, and seven prisoners held by the Indians were rescued. It is now believed the redcoats will disperse in bands throughout the Saskatchewan country, and that Riel will escape into American territory.

FOREIGN.

The first Governor of the Congo State is to be Col. Francis de Winton, and not Henry M. Stanley.

A dispatch from Madrid announces the arrival there of Sir Peter Lumsden, who is en route for England. Col. Stewart and another British officer will go to Herat on the purpose of examining the fortifications and giving the Ameer any needed advice in regard thereto.

By an avalanche in Iceland last month fifteen dwellings and their inhabitants were swept into the sea, and twenty persons drowned. The avalanche destroyed by fire Reikjavik. The loss in one village alone reached $20,000.

Cholera is creeping great havoc among the British and Egyptian troops in the Soudan.

M. de Freycinet announces that the French have no intention of abandoning the Madagascar expedition.

The American residents of Paris, through Mr. Morton, presented the municipality with a reduced cast of the Bartholdi statue of Liberty. Prefect Hebrard in reply to Morton expressed thanks for the gift. The affair was followed by a breakfast given by Mr. Morton in honor of the sculptor.

A riot occurred in Trafalgar Square, London, during the presence of a meeting which had been called to make a demonstration against the Government's bucket prosecute to increase the duty on spirits and beer. The police were routed, and the mob, which originally gathered about the Nelson monument, made an attack on the Stimson Club and took possession of Northumberland avenue. The disturbance lasted several hours.

LATER NEWS ITEMS.

Amid great excitement the Illinois Legislature, on Thursday, May 14, voted ten times for a successor to Gen. Logan as United States Senator. After, on two successive ballots, receiving the entire support of his party, Col. Morrison, the Democratic caucus nominee, withdrew, and Judge Lawler Tree became the favorite. He received ten votes, and lacked only one vote of an election.

The Grand Jury at Chicago has found true bills against the five Anarchists charged with the murder of Policeman Degan. Spies and Fielden were indicted simply as accessories; the other three, Ottando, Schwab, and Azzaro being indicted as principals. The accusation was one of the most diabolish ever perpetrated in Chicago, for there was no element of passion or revenge in it. The murder was planned weeks before the commemoration, and the unoffending victim was taken at such a distance that he had not even heard of the meeting. Speaking himself among friends, he accepted a proposition of a policeman friends to be allowed to the scene at so Tilden avenue, where all were was quiet, there in the chair, a score or so, already present, who slipped over his head, the two rods were seized by friends (Schwab and Ottwand Azzaro, and while they pulled the cord Gilmer drew behind the chair holding the poor, struggling wretch's head to give the rope full play. In a few minutes Carne was dead, and his body was then packed in a trunk addressed to Schwab and Ottando immediately afterward, and shipped to Pittsburgh.

The Agricultural Department has sent out a statistical bulletin embracing a statement of wages paid to farm laborers in all parts of the country based upon wheat harvesting, the statistician of the department, believes its be entirely trustworthy. Rates: Eastern States, $25.30; Middle States, $23.19; Southern States, $11.57; Western States, $22.25; California, $48.25. The amount of labor seeking employment in agriculture at the present time is unusually large, yet there are many localities in almost every section of the country in which there is more or less complaint of scarcity. The report closes with the practical suggestion that in the manufacturing towns and cities offices be opened either by the labor unions or by benevolent citizens through which communication may be opened between unemployed city workmen and farmers needing help, so that responsible and worthy city laborers may have the means of making known his true character, instead of starting out on foot at a venture, subject to the risk of being mistaken for a professional tramp.

Public Printer Rounds, says a Washington dispatch, is followed by high pressure counsel authority that he will be indictment at the end of his term, one year hence, and even then he may escape conviction.

London dispatch: "A dispatch from Tientsin to the Daily Telegraph says that the people of Afghanistan report that Russia will occupy the defeat of the Afghans by the Russians to prevent any further loss of Russian losses. The dispatch also says that Russian force is based upon and represents Russian rule in Penjdeh. Ind Granville is remaining silent in the matter in regard to Russia's proposal on the new Russo-Afghan frontier."

Because of the frequency of assaults committed upon the soldiers in the streets of all sizes, the military patrols have been armed with rifles. This has intensified the hostility of the people against the soldiers, but it is hoped and numerous say they will petition the Government to recall the order wearing the swords.

THE MARKETS.

NEW YORK.
LIVERPOOL.....	6 3/8	6 5/8
WHEAT—No. 1 White	4.50	@ 5.00
No. 2 Red.....	1.00	@ 1.01
CORN—No. 2 Red.....	1.03	@ 1.04
OATS—Mixed.....	1.03	@ 1.04
PORK—New Mess.....	12.50	@12.75
LARD.....	7.75	@ 7.80
CHICAGO.
BEEVES—Choice to Prime Steers	5.50	@ 5.75
Fair to Good Shipping Steers	4.75	@ 5.20
Medium.....	4.25	@ 4.50
Butchers' Stock.....	2.25	@ 4.00
Feeders.....	3.00	@ 3.50
Stockers.....	2.50	@ 3.00
FLOUR—Extra Red Winter Ex.	4.50	@ 5.00
Extra White Winter Ex.	4.50	@ 5.00
WHEAT—No. 2 Spring.....	.97	@ .98
No. 3 Spring.....	.93	@ .94
No. 2 Red.....	.97	@ .98
CORN—No. 2.....	.34	@ .34½
OATS—No. 2.....	.25	@ .25½
No. 3.....	.24	@ .24½
RYE—No. 2.....	.57	@ .58
BUTTER—Choice Creamery.....	.21	@ .23
Choice Dairy.....	.16	@ .17
CHEESE—Full Cream Flats.....	.09	@ .09½
Full Cream Cheddars.....	.09	@ .09½
EGGS—Strictly Fresh.....	.12	@ .12½
PORK—Mess.....	12.00	@12.25
LARD.....	6.75	@ 6.80
ST. LOUIS.
WHEAT—No. 2 Red.....	.96	@ .96½
CORN—No. 2.....	.36	@ .36½
OATS—No. 2.....	.25	@ .25½
RYE—No. 2.....	.57	@ .58
PORK—Mess.....	12.00	@12.25
MILWAUKEE.
WHEAT—No. 2	.97	@ .98
No. 3	.93	@ .94
CORN—No. 3	.34	@ .34½
OATS—No. 2	.25	@ .25½
RYE—No. 1	.57	@ .58
BARLEY—No. 2	.72	@ .73
PORK—Mess	12.00	@12.50
DETROIT.
WHEAT—No. 1 White	5.00	@5.00
No. 2 Red	1.01½	@1.01½
CORN—No. 2 Yellow	.34	@ .34
OATS—No. 2 White	.25	@ .25
BARLEY—No. 2	1.00	@1.05
INDIANAPOLIS.
WHEAT—No. 2 Red	1.00	@ 1.01
CORN—Mixed	.33	@ .33½
OATS—Mixed	.25	@ .25½
EAST LIBERTY.
CATTLE—Best	5.35	@ 5.60
Fair	4.75	@ 5.00
Common	4.25	@ 4.50
HOGS	4.75	@ 5.00
SHEEP	4.75	@ 5.00

CHICAGO WOOL MARKET.

[Reported by Seymour Hall & Co., Chicago, 111 Monroe street.] Fine Wool—Fine Delaine Wool—Fine Delaine Wool—Fine Dela

THE JOURNAL.

BY CHAS. J. STRANG.

CHARLEVOIX, - - - MICHIGAN.

Notes and News.

John A. Logan was elected U. S. Senator by the Illinois legislature on Tuesday, after a struggle of nearly five months.

M. T. Woodruff, late of the Ypsilanti, will start a democratic weekly paper in Detroit about July 1st, to be called The Michigan State Democrat.

If it is but a small sacrifice for you to give up sparkling wine, do it for the sake of others; if it is a great sacrifice, do it for your own.—Rev. J. May.

In the window of a Cincinnati saloon is a stuffed cockroach coiled up in a whiskey jug and wreathed in flowers. The proprietor evidently has a correct view of the "illness of things."—[Union Signal.

We observe that the Tribune has a warm side for John Roach and the Dolphin. As a matter of fact, the Dolphin is the last wriggling survivor of the spawn of the great Republican octopus. Let the Dolphin wriggle.—[N. Y. World.

Capt. Chas. E. Kirkland, the well known wrecking master, does not believe that Friday is an unlucky day. He signed the contract for raising the wrecked steamer E. & P. M. No. 1 on Friday, got her up on Friday, and delivered her at Milwaukee on Friday.

One of New York's most famous physicians, Dr. Wilbur Parker, made the astounding statement that one-third of deaths are the result, directly or indirectly, of the use of alcohol, and that, in the last thirty-eight years, 100,000 have died of its use in that city.

Miss Elizabeth Cleveland, the President's sister, is "lecturer on national history" in Elmira Female College, and the New York Evangelist says: "The country might congratulate itself upon having so intelligent and public-spirited Christian woman in the White House."

The city of Jamestown, N. Y., gave $65,000 for manufacturing enterprises two years ago, and in less than five years after establishment, they paid back in taxes alone, more money than they received in bonuses. The town doubled in population in ten years and although hard times has affected all business, the prospects at this time in that city are better than in most of towns with less manufacturing interests.

One lawyer in Toledo boasts that he owns 134 saloons, and that he controls the votes of the nominal proprietors and whatever of influence they may have. Counting the saloon keepers alone and those whose votes can be controlled by liberally subsidized rum, he believes he can elect any man he may safely be nominated at running a voting power equal to 400 citizens engaged in other kinds of trade. The brewer makes politics as much a part of his business as he does the purchase of hops and malt, or whatever be substitutes for them, while the other kind of citizen merely votes himself. It is so vast a power as to be dangerous in the hands of men employed in the most reputable business in the hands of men engaged as they are it is something intolerable.—Toledo Blade.

Spring wheat is selling at 99 cents per bushel, while patent flour sells at $6 per barrel. A person who deals in both articles says that it takes four bushels of wheat to make a barrel of flour, while the offal pays for the milling. This would make a barrel of spring wheat flour now selling at $6 cost to the miller but $1.99. The question is, to whom does this profit of $3.40 per barrel go? It can scarcely be to the owners of the patent process, as that is a foreign invention which had been quite a length of time in use in Hungary before it was brought to the United States. Another monopoly feature of our flour manufacture is that much of the flour made in mills in Minnesota is sold cheaper in England than in the United States, on the same principle that copper mined on Lake Superior is sold cheaper in Liverpool than in New York, to the great detriment of United States manufacturers of copper utensils.—Chicago News.

Lord Beaconfield used to lift his jeweled finger and point across the Atlantic and say: "No American city is well governed." I believe that is true of our twelve largest cities now, each having more than 200,000 inhabitants: Boston, New York, Brooklyn, Philadelphia, Baltimore and Washington, here on the Atlantic slope; Cleveland, Cincinnati, Chicago, St. Louis, New Orleans in the Mississippi valley, and San Francisco on the Pacific slope. It is very nearly true of Pittsburg, Buffalo, Toledo and Detroit, which are just under 200,000. It is becoming true of cities of the size of Worcester, Springfield, Hartford, New Haven, Albany. Into what are we drifting when nearly a quarter of our population live in great cities, and when municipal government is a hissing and a byword with us already? You need spell the whiskey rings of their political power, or they will not only corrupt your homes but undermine the possibility of safe government under universal suffrage in great cities.—Joseph Cook.

Indispensable Requisites for Success.

P. T. Barnum writes as follows of a subject of which he is fully competent to speak:

Whatever you do, do it with all your might. Work at it early and late, in season and out of season, not leaving a stone unturned, and never deferring for an hour that which can and should be done now. The old proverb is full of truth and meaning, "Whatever is worth doing at all, is worth doing well." Many a man acquires a fortune by doing his business thoroughly, while his neighbor remains poor for life, because he only half does his. Ambition, energy, industry and perseverance are indispensable requisites for success in business.

GLEANINGS.

The gathering and curing of sumac is a big industry in Virginia.

The value of landed estates in England is rapidly depreciating.

Rice birds are canned and shipped from Georgia to Northern markets.

Girls, as the Governor of North Carolina said to the Governor of South Carolina, It is a long time between kisses.

An English firm has begun the manufacture of sacks and barrels of steel. They are lighter than wood and more durable.

Twelve wagon loads of letters and papers are delivered daily at the Capitol for members of the House of Representatives.

Infants born on midway days among the tribes of Madagascar live beyond death but over their bodies and are then buried alive.

The international roller skating rinks have been built in the United States within the past two years. The number of broken necks is not recorded.

Attention, you manly young fellow! Speak rebel to your mother, she loves you dearly! Scorn your foe. Keep your politeness for others.—Christian Advocate.

Eugenie, ex-Empress of France, is highly esteemed by the people of Farnborough, on the estate of which town she is often seen afoot, not only shopping but on errands of charity.

A vampire bat was recently captured at Lewis Station, El Dorado County, the wings of which when extended measured twenty-one and a half inches, its head a tail two inches in length, like a rat's.

If a cent be placed on the first square of a chess board and continually doubled the amount after the sixty-four squares have been covered will be more money than the world contains at the world passes.

Ex-Michigan perjury trial it came out that the witness had replied his friend instead of the rightful owner, and in the hurry of getting the money confused the names, if they are fresh to begin with, ought to keep good for a long time.

Chauncey Depew said in the Nineteenth Century Club at New York the other evening that he once asked a Knickerbocker Club man which he would prefer, to be a Washington, a Wellington, a Shakspeare, or to be invited to the cotillion, and the club man promptly replied: "To be invited to the cotillion, of course—it gives one caste socially."

Late reports from the Sandwich Islands are that the white inhabitants are thoroughly excited over the increase of leprosy. The natives and half-breed women contract the disease most frequently, but native escapes. Local physicians claim to have discovered leprosy microbes, and will try vaccinating them as a preventive of the terrible disease.

For using the word "National" on his business sign at Atlanta, Ga., suit has been brought against C. C. Nelson, who is a money dealer, for $50,000—the sum total of $50 a day since he began business—that being the penalty, under the United States statutes, for banking or bankers using the word "National" unless authorized by Congress. The informer claims half of the money.

Lord Frederick Hamilton, recently an attache of the British Legation at Buenos Ayres, says: "The average character of the Argentine Republic. He says its government is one of the very worst in the world. There is the pigeon but not the reality of liberty, and justice is practically sold, after, quite accurately to the side with the longest purse. The judges are openly bought, and there is a state of tyranny and despotism in disputable Russia."

A Mass. Court stenographer is said to be an entire stranger. Commissioners appointed on behalf of the New Orleans Exposition have followed the beaten track in the field, and round their official headquarters there are the usual crowds of drivers, drawn by one mule and followed by three cleaners, will do the work of forty pairs of human hands. The picking mechanic finger-pick only the fully-blown cotton. The pickers are employed. The fiber thus plucked is automatically bagged.

In Northern Siberia, if a young native desires to marry, he goes to the father of the girl of his choice and a price is agreed upon, one-half of which is then paid down. The prospective son-in-law at once takes up his residence with the family of his lady love, and works with them a year. If at the end of a year he still desires to marry the girl, he can pay the other half, and they are married on the next visit of the priest. If he does not want to marry he need not, and simply loses the half he paid at the start.

Harding in New Orleans.

The antique and the modern seem to be beautifully blended in the New Orleans Exposition building, name. Family lies, says a letter, is a delightful year either to the Northern traveler whom social exigencies which interest people and circles. It is an odd combination of the bicycle of the past and the necessities of the present. The coffee urn is an elegant piece of family silver, the sugar bowl is of pottery and red twenty cents. Your tastes—imitably never—serves to emphasize odd shades, and her grandmother's almanacs. There are picturesque dams in the drawing-room carpet, but the reserved furniture cost $1,500. Dinner is a much more elaborate affair than with us, and consists largely of dishes of which our partakers with that deliberation strongly nibbles never fail to inspire in the breast of the alien. The other day I was invited to partake of broiled "bird brains," said the dusky Phyllis at my elbow, tossing an look defiant, with a recent grin that made me love her on the spot.

Good Goods and Low Prices

ARE

BOUND TO WIN

If you don't believe it, come and see my SPRING STOCK. You will see that I am up to the times in styles, and have as fine an assortment of MEN'S, YOUTH'S and CHILDREN'S SUITS, as you will find in any City. I defy any House to show any nicer line of NECK WEAR and

Furnishing Goods.

My aim is to HOLD THE CLOTHING TRADE, by carrying a Large Stock so I can please you all. PRICES TALK. Come and see my Large Spring Stock before buying elsewhere.

GEO. W. MILLER.

BANK OF CHARLEVOIX

Receives Deposits, offers TEN CENTS AND UPWARD Without Security, Deposits Money and Sells Exchange Payable in Any City in the United States.

REASONS.—First we have Silver in Bond to protect our depositors. Second, we have Stockholders liable to protect our depositors. All security to depositors. Stockholders are individually responsible for double the amount of stock held, and that is further secured by a mortgage on a large amount of real estate. Third, we are under the supervision of the State Banking Department. Fourth, we are in business and will stay in business. Fifth, we are Bankers, and will do your Banking Business in a Banking way.

BROWN & CO.

Photographs!

I have located in

New Photograph Gallery

OVER

UPRIGHT, EMREY & & CO.'S STORE

And am prepared to do

All Kinds of Photographic Work,

From the

Miniature Picture to Life Size

Any Old Picture Copied and Enlarged.

Satisfaction Guaranteed.

DAVE BRADISER,
Charlevoix, Mich.

NEW GOODS

MILLINERY

Fancy Goods,

Dress Making, Stamping, &c.

GIVE ME A CALL.

MISS L. SPAULDING.

WM. J. STEVENSON,
HORSE-SHOEING.

Wagon Shop,

BLACKSMITHING, ETC.

Heavy Wagons on hand and made to order. I manufacture among wagons, of the best material, and WARRANT ALL WORK. Call and examine my shop before ordering elsewhere.

SHOP ONE BLOCK WEST OF CARPENTER, BARNHOLDTOWN & OR'S STORE, CHARLEVOIX

THE SINGER NEW DROP MOVING MACHINE on hand and for sale.

TO CONSUMPTIVES.

The advertiser having been permanently cured of that dread disease, Consumption, by a simple remedy, is desirous to make known to his fellow-sufferers the means of cure. To all who desire it, he will send a copy of the prescription used, (free) with the directions for preparing and using the same which they will find a sure cure for Coughs, Colds, Consumption, Asthma, Bronchitis, &c. Parties wishing the prescription will please address, REV. E. A. WILSON, 154 Penn St., Williamsburgh, N. Y.

Well-Digging.

JOHN SHRIER
Charlevoix, Mich.,

is prepared to do all work in the line of well-digging, curbing, building, pump repairing, well drilling, and well work.

ERRORS OF YOUTH.

A GENTLEMAN who suffered for years from Nervous Debility, Premature Decay, and all the effects of youthful indiscretion, will for the sake of suffering humanity, send free to all who need it, the recipe and direction for making the simple remedy by which he was cured. Sufferers who desire to profit by the advertiser's experience can do so by addressing, in perfect confidence, JOHN B. OGDEN, 42 Cedar St., New York.

The Charlevoix Improvement Association.

OFFICERS.

President—Byron M. Cutcheon.
First Vice President—W. L. Smith.
Second Vice President—Robert Miner.
Recording Secretary—Chas. J. Strang.
Financial Secretary—R. Sidlebb.
Treasurer—Lloyd E. Mason.

STANDING COMMITTEES.

Executive Committee—Miss Eaton, A. D. Cronkhright, and J. L. Hurd.
Committee on Conventions—H. L. Giddings, W. A. Gow, and C. V. Cox.
Committee on Entertainment—J. W. Wayne, L. D. Harbaugh, W. A. Rockman, E. Calvert, Geo. W. Gruner, S. W. Miller, S. M. See, W. C. Newman, E. M. Clark, H. Beldon.

OBJECTS.

To aid and encourage the establishment of manufacturing enterprises in Charlevoix, and to promote the material growth and prosperity of Charlevoix and vicinity.

MEETING.

At Charlevoix Village, Hall on the Second Monday in each month, at 7:30 p. m.

CORRESPONDENCE SOLICITED.

Provision Market.

Subjects to customers, corrected every week by the following firms:

Pork, per bbl., $9.50@$10, and $6@$7.

Lard, 9@10c per pail, in bbl $6@6, selected.

Hams, per lb., fully sugar, from $22@24.

Shoulders, $5@6.

Fresh pork, per cwt., $4@6.

Beef, per cwt., $3@6.

Mutton, per cwt., 4@5.

Veal, per cwt., 4@5.

Chickens, per lb., 10@12c.

Turkeys, per lb., 10@12c.

Ducks, per lb., 10c.

Geese, per lb., 10c.

Butter, per lb., 15@18c.

Eggs, per doz., 10c.

Potatoes, per bu., 40@50c.

Onions, per bu., 50c.

Beans, per bu., 1@1.25 bbl's, 60c.

Apples, per bu., 25@30c.

Cabbages, per doz., $1@1.50.

Turnips, per bu., 20c.

Beets, per bu., 20c.

Carrots, per bu., 20c.

Parsnips, per bu., 20c.

Dried Apples, per lb., 5@6c.

Dried Pears, per lb., 5@6c.

Dried Peaches, per lb., 5@6c.

Dried Plums, per lb., 5@6c.

Dried Pits, per lb., 3@4c.

Flour, Per Bbl.—Best Patent, $5.50; Second Patent, $5; Best Bakers', $4.50; Second Bakers', $4; Graham, $4; Rye, $3.50; Buckwheat, $3.50.

Feed, Per Cwt.—Fine Middlings, $1.50; Coarse Middlings, $1.40; Cracked Wheat, 3c per lb; Coarse Meal, $1.40; Fine Meal, $1.40; Rye, $1.25; Screenings, $1.

Grain, Per Bu.—Wheat, White, 90c; Red, 90c; Corn, 50c; Oats, 35c; Barley, $1.50; Beans, $1.50@2; Potatoes, 40@50c.

Dressed Pork, 6@7c.

Hides, Per lb.—Green, 2c; Cured, 3c; Calf Skins, 6@8c.

Tallow, Per lb.—Rough, 2c; Rendered, 4c.

Wool, Per lb.—Unwashed, 15@18c; Washed, 25@28c.

Wood, Per Cord.—Hard, $3.50@4; Soft, $3@3.50.

Shingles, Per M.—Cedar, $2.50@3; Pine, $2@2.50.

Lath, Per M.—Cedar, $2.50; Pine, $2.

Salt, Per Bbl.—Fine, $1.50; Coarse, $1.

Fish, Per Bbl.—No. 1 Trout, $5; No. 2 Trout, $4; No. 1 Herring, $5; No. 2 Herring, $4.

Fish, Per Lb.—Smoked Herring, 5c; Smoked Trout, 5c; Smoked Bass, 5c; Smoked Pickerel, 5c; Smoked Pike, 5c; Smoked Perch, 5c; Smoked Whitefish, 5c; Smoked Sturgeon, 5c; Smoked Ciscoes, 5c; Smoked Chub, 5c; Smoked Eels

THE TAX LAW.

Recent Opinions of the Supreme Justices Given in Full.

A Matter of Great Interest and Importance to the People.

How the Judges Are Divided on the Constitutionality.

The opinions of the Justices of the Supreme Court in the matter of the Wayne County taxes were filed in Detroit by the Supreme Court on Oct. 1, and, owing to the case being from Clinton County, the Sanilac Michigan Chronicle, of the 10th, prints the opinions in full, as of the utmost interest and importance, not only to Wayne County, but to the people of the State. The opinions of the Justices are as follows:

JUSTICE COOLEY.

When the case of the Iron Cliffs Company was decided I expressed my opinion emphatically, if not so much that the judgment then rendered by a divided court, would be reversed, as that the Circuit Judges as law, and followed by this court as a precedent until it should be overruled by a majority of this court. I have always supposed that was the proper course, and I still think it is the proper course, and that it is first and last of administration of justice that proper means be resorted to for ascertaining what is the law. Such a division of the court is liable to occur at any time; and there are no consequences which, in connection with the uncertainty, or further connection with the course of decisions, need be dreaded. I have not thought the decision of a court should be considered in any sense division if the judges concurred in the result, and because, if, therefore, a decision should issue to be carried by a Circuit Judge to some other court, regarded as special, and under our Constitution, which expressly confines the jurisdiction of every court which is designated, and limits each department to exercise any jurisdiction not given to the other, or to exercise officially named ones, every decision would become executive action. And if at any time, by special consideration in the way of judicial decisions it must be by the process of law, which, when applied to courts, enables them to confine their decisions to the cases where the methods contrary to the Constitution are brought before them, the only lively item we possess for the conclusion that this proceeding is not due to the fact that either executive or judicial. If the judgment here is held not equitable, then it is in law so, and because the court presently whose judgment is another Court was left before. Finality is the result of the decision of the Supreme Court of the United States in refusing to treat the Court of Claims as a judicial body until its judgments were made final is an illustration of this point. In the case of Ex parte Milligan, in the same manner and in this case, the delay the power of the Legislature by which it was created, for a third session, if it had been had will not have now discuss the question, as it had been "time on time of three consecutive days not be spoken upon, and on not delay by the General Assembly." Yet, in the case of Ex parte Milligan, the question was not decided by the Supreme Court of the United States, because the Legislature had not been in session for the three days, and the decision was not made.

PINE LAKE IRON COMPANY

Ironton, Mich.,

Are Full in all kinds of General Merchandise.

I have purchased the Meat business of Armstrong & Co., and will continue at the old stand, with the freshest and best goods in the market.

T. E. CHAMBERLIN.

GARLAND STOVES AND RANGES — KEEP YOUR — ON THE Right Place

For Bargains in Hardware,

Iron, Cutlery, Tin ware, Stoves, Implements, Fixtures, Pumps, Grindstones, Wagons, Buggies, Carts, Wheelbarrows, Refrigerators, Doors, Sash,

PAINTS Oils, Varnishes, Putty, Glass, Fence wire, Farm bells, Carpenter's tools, Notions, Fishing tackle, Revolvers, Guns, Ammunition, Spoons, Forks, LAMPS, Baskets, Measures, Tubs, Wooden ware, Rope, Fishermen's Supplies, and Ship chandlery. Job and Tin work.

L. D. BARTHOLOMEW & CO.

Come and See our New and Handsome Stock of Stationery. Remember, we carry the largest stock of

Drugs and Patent Medicines

In Charlevoix county.

Every Article Warranted as Represented.

We Solicit a Share of your Favors.

O. B. Weed & Co., Druggists, Opera Block.

HURRAH for GOOD TIMES

Everything Booming

AT E. M. CLARK'S

Where he has a Lively Trade in

Dry Goods, Groceries, Boots and Shoes, Clothing, &c.

When you get the blues, just call around and see with what dispatch everything is done, where Pork, Eggs, Butter, &c., is taken in exchange for Goods.

E. M. Clark

Charlevoix, Mich., Harbor and Steamer Resorts.

The above is a geographically correct view (though wearing but a small portion of the loveliness of Charlevoix, Mich., a village of over twelve hundred inhabitants, rapidly growing in favor and reputation as one of the most delightful Summer Resorts and school homes in northern Michigan. Several leading steamers concentrate here, numerous at all hours of the day with all surrounding towns, fishing streams, picnic parties, and other places of interest, health, and pleasure. Unexcelled improvements are also offered the permanent settler who desires to invest his capital in manufacturing enterprises where it will bring the best results. The resources of the county are being developed as fast as to bring the richest returns. For any other information regarding the village or surroundings, address

THE CHARLEVOIX JOURNAL

CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN.

The JOURNAL is an eight-page newspaper, devoted to the material growth and prosperity of Charlevoix county in general, and Charlevoix, Mich., in particular. Issued weekly at 50 per year. Sample copies free.

CHAS. J. STRANG, Publisher.

Temperance Column.

Conducted by a Committee of the W. C. T. U.

Officers of the Society.

President—Mrs. C. V. Peck.
First Vice President—Mrs. L. E. Allen.
Second Vice President—Mrs. J. T. Hidings.
Third Vice President—Mrs. C. F. Van Ashen.
Corresponding Secretary—Mrs. D. C. Leveck.
Recording Secretary—Mrs. E. Smiley.
Treasurer—Mrs. C. J. Strang.

STRONG DRINK.

I've canvassed the city and country,
And visited mansions and dales;
I've found by the side of the drunkard,
And heard the poor mother's wails;
I've seen him fall down in the gutter,
I've lifted him out of the street,
I've seen him bent up by the bitter,
His last and most terrible foe.

The nation that runs is a blessing,
Your temperance people advise;
Strong drink is a curse to our nation,
And more to be dreaded than war.
The office of liquor and whiskey,
Tobacco, old cider and wine,
Are surely in sound computation,
And cannot be brought into line.

Old Bourbon is man's paneen,
It hempers the heat and the cold,
It sets the a-burn on depression,
And makes a man cheery and bold.
A man when disordered by whiskey
Is strongly inclined with zeal,
He'll bless you, he'll curse you, or kill you,
Just as he may happen to feel.

Intemperance peoples our prisons,
Imposes great burdens to bear;
It temporal losses introduces
And drives many souls to despair.
It makes men thoughtless and wicked,
And keeps him away from the Lord;
Its footsteps are tending to Hades,
Adorn it its fearful reward.

Oh, parents, look well to your children
And show them the follies of youth,
Help them to shun every falsehood,
And point them to honor the truth.
The serpent is coiled in your threshold,
All ready to spring on your boy,
And soon the sad wail may escape you,
The demon has fastened his prey.

What manner this nasty commodity?
This possible wastile—away?
It may—it is—a poison—a venom,
While ever the people shall say.
Come out from your old toiling places
And work with a diligent hand,
To purify the town with your colors,
And march with the temperance band.

Better Than a Fortune.

"So you are the young lady that's teaching my children not to taste of cider, beer, or wine?" asked William Benson, a notorious hard drinker, as he met the village school ma'am on the way to her boarding place.

"Exactly," replied Mrs. Elton, a fragile little blonde, "and I wish I could not only teach the children how pernicious and wrong the practice is, but also the older people."

"Why, you don't think wine is it? Then you've got ahead of Sol Paul. He ordered Timothy to take a little wine for his stomach's sake, and other infirmities. "Didn't you say to that, Mrs. Elton?" "Why I responded the lottery-wife, I wouldn't object to wines. I'ud recommends it, myself."

"You wouldn't, hey? Well, where's the difference?—wine is wine; you can't deny that."

"But, Mr. Benson, there is all the difference in the world between ancient and modern wine. One is the pure juice of the grape, drank as seen as expressed; the other, even when not doctored with chemicals is kept fermenting and rotting till all its virtues are destroyed. You wouldn't think of rotten apples or peaches, why should you of rotten sugar—for that's just what alcohol is."

"Pshaw! now, you temperance folks are shrewd; but how do you know little wine isn't rotted sugar, as you call it? You can't prove that it is not just like cane."

"Yes I can, and by the bible, too. We read in the old testament of the cupbearer taking the cup in hand, pressing the grapes into the cup, and give it immediately to Pharoah. The Egyptians drank no fermented wine, because they thought it produced an evil spirit, but they did not object to the juice of the grape, taken as soon as expressed."

After a few more questions by Benson, and a few exhortations by Mrs. Elton, the farmer slowly wended his way homeward, muttering, "Well, well, it may be as she says. Anyhow, I'll not object to her teaching the children. Wish somebody had explained it to me when I was a boy —I would have been better than a fortune."

A man very much intoxicated was taken to the station house. Why did you not bail him out? inquired a by-stander of a friend. "Bale him out?" exclaimed the other. "Why, you couldn't pump him out!"

Three fourths of the "drunks" in our police courts are drunk on beer.—Cincinnati Commercial.

J. MILO EATON,

DEALER IN

Real Estate

OF ALL KINDS.

Houses and Lots for Sale

IN THE MOST DESIRABLE PARTS OF CHARLEVOIX.

WILD LANDS AND IMPROVED FARMS

FOR SALE IN ALL PARTS OF THE COUNTY.

Abstracts of Title Furnished on Short Notice.

Represents the

Best Insurance Companies

OFFICE ON BRIDGE STREET. ESTABLISHED IN 1873.

Charlevoix and East Jordan.

Steamer GAZELLE—Capt. Robert O'Neil.

Morning—Leave Charlevoix 8.30, arrive East Jordan 9.30. Leave East Jordan 9.45, arrive Charlevoix 10.45. Afternoon—Leave Charlevoix 4.30, arrive East Jordan 5.30, leave East Jordan 5.45, arrive Charlevoix 6.30. Stopping at intermediate points.

Steamer CLARA BELLE—Capt. Mel. Thompson.

Morning—Leave East Jordan 7.00 arrive Charlevoix 8.00, leave Charlevoix 8.30, arrive East Jordan 9.30. Afternoon—Leave East Jordan 1.30, arrive Charlevoix 2.30, leave Charlevoix 3.00, arrive East Jordan 4.00. Stopping at intermediate points.

Harbor Springs, Petoskey, Charlevoix and East Jordan.

STEAMER THOMAS PHANT.

Capt. R. VanDenburg.

Morning—Leave Harbor Springs 7.00, Petoskey 7.30, Charlevoix 8.30, arrive East Jordan 10.30. Afternoon—Leave East Jordan 2.30, Charlevoix 3.30, Petoskey 5.30, arrive Harbor Springs 6.00.

Connections at Petoskey with G. R. & I. R. R. Trains, north and south.

Hannah, Lay & Co.'s Pleasure Steamers,

SEASON OF 1885.

CITY OF GRAND RAPIDS.

Capt. O. E. Wilcox.

Going North every morning—Leave Traverse City 7.00, Northport 9, Norwood 11.00, Charlevoix 1, Petoskey 1.30, arrive at Harbor Springs 3.45.

Returning—Leave Harbor Springs 10.00 a. m., Petoskey 10.45, Charlevoix 11.45, Norwood 3.30, Northport 4.30, arrive at Traverse City 6.30.

T. S. PAXTON.

Capt. T. G. Allen.

Going North every morning—Leave Harbor Springs 7.00, Petoskey 7.30, Charlevoix 8.30, arrive Northport 9.30, Norwood 10.30, Traverse City 1.30.

Returning—Leave Traverse City 2.30, Northport 4.30, Norwood 5.30, Charlevoix 6.30, Petoskey 7.30, arrive Harbor Springs 8.00.

GOOD CONNECTIONS will be made at Traverse City and Petoskey with both day and night trains on the G. R. & I. R. R., and on Monday evenings between the CITY or TRAVERSE from Chicago, and on Wednesday evenings between the CITY or TRAVERSE from Milwaukee, and on Saturday evenings between the T. S. PAXTON going south, and the CITY on Traverse City route.

Grand Rapids & Indiana R. R.

Time Table in effect June 29, 1884.

GOING NORTH.

STATIONS.	No. 1	No. 3	No. 5	No. 7
Chicago (Lv.)	...	12 00am	7 15pm	...
Michigan City	2 30am	2 50 "	9 40 "	...
Niles	3 55 "	4 15 "	11 00 "	...
Dowagiac	4 26 "	4 46 "	11 40 "	...
Vicksburg	4 40 "	5 00pm	11 50 "	...
Schoolcraft	...	5 17 "	12 07am	1 00am
Augusta	...	5 26 "	12 15 "	10 51
Kalamazoo	...	5 40 "	12 30 "	10 37
Battle Creek	...	6 00 "	12 52 "	10 16
Marshall	...	6 16 "	1 12 "	9 59
Albion	...	6 30 "	1 29 "	9 44
Jackson	7 20am	7 00 "	2 05 "	9 00
Ann Arbor	7 50 "	7 35 "	2 45 "	8 30
Howard City	8 47 "	10 36 "	12 00am	5 41
Big Rapids	9 20 "	11 15 "	12 40 "	5 00
Reed City	9 47 "	11 56 "	1 20 "	...
Cadillac	10 35 "	12 40am	2 10 "	10 05
Traverse City	1 30pm	3 20 "	4 30 "	...
Petoskey	2 11 "	4 04 "	5 15 "	...
Bay View	...	4 10 "	5 20 "	...
Cheboygan	3 40 "	5 45 "	7 00 "	...
Mackinaw City	4 10 "	6 15 "	7 30 "	...
Newberry	8 40 "	10 45 "	12 00mn	...
Marquette	9 05 "	11 10 "	12 25am	...
Munising	9 45 "	11 50 "	1 05 "	...
Seney	10 45 "	12 50pm	2 05 "	...
Germfask	11 20 "	1 25 "	2 40 "	...
Shingleton	11 40 "	1 45 "	3 00 "	...
Trout Lake	12 05am	2 10 "	3 25 "	...
Newberry	12 40 "	2 45 "	4 00 "	...
Pine Lake	1 10 "	3 15 "	4 30 "	...
Ironton	1 25 "	3 30 "	4 45 "	...
Bessemer	1 45 "	3 50 "	5 05 "	...
Ironwood	1 55 "	4 00 "	5 15 "	...
Hurons	2 10 "	4 15 "	5 30 "	...
Wakefield	2 25 "	4 30 "	5 45 "	...
Bessemer Junct.	2 40 "	4 45 "	6 00 "	...
Pelkie	3 05 "	5 10 "	6 25 "	...
Baraga	3 35 "	5 40 "	6 55 "	...
Arnheim	3 50 "	5 55 "	7 10 "	...
Houghton	4 05 "	6 10 "	7 25 "	...
Hancock	4 15 "	6 20 "	7 35 "	...
Calumet	4 30 "	6 35 "	7 50 "	...

GOING SOUTH.

STATIONS.	No. 2	No. 4	No. 6	No. 8
Chicago (Lv.)	...	9 00am	9 00pm	9 00pm
Michigan City	...	10 40 "	10 40 "	10 40 "
Niles	...	11 30 "	11 30 "	11 30 "
Dowagiac	...	12 12 "	12 05 "	12 05 "
Vicksburg	...	12 24 "	12 17 "	12 17 "
Schoolcraft	...	12 34 "	12 27 "	12 27 "
Augusta	...	12 43 "	12 36 "	12 36 "
Kalamazoo	5 50am	12 57 "	12 50 "	12 50 "
Battle Creek	6 15 "	1 19pm	1 12 "	1 12 "
Marshall	6 32 "	1 36 "	1 29 "	1 29 "
Albion	6 47 "	1 51 "	1 44 "	1 44 "
Jackson	7 25 "	2 30 "	2 20 "	2 20 "
Ann Arbor	8 00 "	3 10 "	3 00 "	3 00 "
Howard City	9 17 "	4 35 "	4 25 "	4 25 "
Big Rapids	9 55 "	5 15 "	5 05 "	5 05 "
Reed City	10 20 "	5 45 "	5 35 "	5 35 "
Cadillac	11 05 "	6 35 "	6 25 "	6 25 "
Traverse City	...	8 50 "	8 40 "	8 40 "
Petoskey	12 45pm	9 35 "	9 25 "	9 25 "
Bay View	12 50 "	9 40 "	9 30 "	9 30 "
Cheboygan	1 45 "	10 35 "	10 25 "	10 25 "
Mackinaw City	2 15 "	11 05 "	10 55 "	10 55 "
Newberry	7 40 "	2 35am	2 25am	2 25am
Marquette	8 05 "	3 00 "	2 50 "	2 50 "
Munising	8 45 "	3 40 "	3 30 "	3 30 "
Seney	9 45 "	4 40 "	4 30 "	4 30 "
Germfask	10 20 "	5 15 "	5 05 "	5 05 "
Shingleton	10 40 "	5 35 "	5 25 "	5 25 "
Trout Lake	11 05 "	6 00 "	5 50 "	5 50 "
Newberry	11 40 "	6 35 "	6 25 "	6 25 "
Pine Lake	12 10mn	7 05 "	6 55 "	6 55 "
Ironton	12 25am	7 20 "	7 10 "	7 10 "
Bessemer	12 45 "	7 40 "	7 30 "	7 30 "
Ironwood	12 55 "	7 50 "	7 40 "	7 40 "
Hurons	1 10 "	8 05 "	7 55 "	7 55 "
Wakefield	1 25 "	8 20 "	8 10 "	8 10 "
Bessemer Junct.	1 40 "	8 35 "	8 25 "	8 25 "
Pelkie	2 05 "	9 00 "	8 50 "	8 50 "
Baraga	2 35 "	9 30 "	9 20 "	9 20 "
Arnheim	2 50 "	9 45 "	9 35 "	9 35 "
Houghton	3 05 "	10 00 "	9 50 "	9 50 "
Hancock	3 15 "	10 10 "	10 00 "	10 00 "
Calumet	3 30 "	10 25 "	10 15 "	10 15 "

THE HOWE MACHINE CO.

AT THE FRONT.

OUR LATEST SUCCESS.

An Entirely New

Easy Running Sewing Machine

The Most Room under the Arm.
The Best Self-Setting Needle.
The Largest Bobbin.
The Finest Shuttle in the World.
The Most Perfect Tension.
The Most Reliable Feed.
The Most Perfect Takeup.
The Best Bobbin Winder.

SIMPLE, STRONG, DURABLE & HANDSOME.

Runs Rapidly, Very Light, Very Smooth and without Vibration.

Before you purchase, please examine our NEW HOME at the office of MRS. M. LATHROP, Agt., Conway.

ISLAND HOME Stock Farm,

Croton Ho, Wayne Co., Ill.

SAVAGE & FARNUM, Proprietors.

Patents in 20th cent.

—IMPORTED—

Percheron Horses

All stock warranted from the best strains of established reputation and registered in French and American stud books.

ISLAND HOME

Is beautifully situated in the heart of Grand Prairie, on the Ohio River, six miles below the City of Mt. Vernon, Ind., and twenty miles above Evansville, Ind., and is accessible by rail and steamboat. Visitors will be met at Mt. Vernon, Ind., and at Croton, Ill., by conveyance if notified of the time they intend to come. Send for catalogue. Address, SAVAGE & FARNUM, Croton, Ills.

ERRORS OF YOUTH

and MANHOOD, that who has suffered from the effects of youthful indiscretion, will send free of charge, and in a sealed envelope, to any man who requests it, a recipe that will cure him of nervous debility, premature decay, impotency, lost manhood, etc. I desire to send the recipe to those who are suffering from the consequences of the ignorance, and prejudice of quacks, that this recipe is the only one that will cure impotency and all nervous ailments. Address in confidence, A. W. TEMPLETON, Detroit, Mich.

Established Fifty-Five Years.

NEW

RAVEN & BACON

RAVEN PIANOS,

23 East 14th Street, New York.

BUY FROM THE MANUFACTURERS AND SAVE 50 PER CENT.

These Pianos are made from the best materials in the best way. They have Received Highest Honors and First-class Medals at the Centennial, Paris, Sydney, Forty Years. Every instrument warranted five years and fully equal to any first-class piano made. Illustrated Catalogue, with price lists, sent free on application. Pianos sent on trial. Catalogue before buying elsewhere.

No. 1, Cyclinder Square, grand, scale, $600
No. 2, " " 550
No. 3, " " 450

ALL 7-8 OCTAVES.

RUPTURE Cured by our Antiseptic Treatment. Sufferers should write for Pamphlet. Dr. Sanden's Sanitarium, 1151 Broadway, New York.

A PRESENT.

Our readers for 12 months in package containing 5 lbs. Best Tea and a supply of our famous Lion Coffee, which is universally admired for its fine flavor, strength and purity. Agents wanted everywhere. Large profits and steady trade. Only house in the country sell Tea and Coffee only. Write for circular and terms. Address, THE GREAT ATLANTIC & PACIFIC TEA CO., 33 Vesey St., New York.

PIMPLES.

I will mail (free) to any person who describes their case, a receipt for a simple vegetable remedy that will remove the pimples, leaving the skin soft, clear and beautiful, also instructions for producing a luxuriant growth of hair on a bald head or beardless face. Address, Inclosing a 3c. stamp, BOX 3, CANADA & CO., 52 Hicks St., L. I., N. Y.

THE CHARLEVOIX JOURNAL.

NUMBER 93. CHARLEVOIX, MICH.: THURSDAY, MAY 28, 1885. $1.50 PER YEAR.

THE JOURNAL

is published every Thursday morning,

BY CHAS. J. STRANG.

office over T. D. Smith's grocery,

CHARLEVOIX, - - MICHIGAN

ENTERED AT THE POSTOFFICE AT CHARLEVOIX, MICH. AS SECOND-CLASS MATTER.

BUSINESS DIRECTORY.

ATTORNEYS.

ARTHUR E. MARTIN, Attorney at Law, Boyne City, Mich. Collections promptly attended to.

BOSANKO & CREBE, Attorneys at Law, Office in Editors' Block, Charlevoix, Mich. Practice Admiralty a Specialty.

GEORGE BOSANKO. C. J. CREBE.

DEXTER CHASE, Attorney at Law, Real Estate and Loan Agents. Lake st., east of postoffice, Petoskey, Mich.

DREW, WAYNE, Attorney and Counselor at Law. Office on Lake st., Boyne City, Mich. COLLECTIONS promptly attended to.

H. J. JERSEY, Attorney and Counselor at Law. Office on Lake st., Boyne City, Mich.

J. L. NORBERY, Attorney at Law and Justice of the Peace, in Emmet Co., Feb. Any, Mich.

J. HIDAYOUN, Attorney at Law, Charlevoix, Mich.

VARNUM & KENT, Attorneys at Law, Boyne City and East Jordan. W. A. Nettleton, Boyne City. A. A. Kent, East Jordan.

WM. E. WISNER, Attorney at law and United States Circuit Court Commissioner, Water Street, East Jordan, Mich.

W. S. MOORE, Attorney and Solicitor, East Jordan. Admiralty a Specialty.

A. S. ARMSTRONG, Attorney at Law, Boyne City, Mich.

CHURCHES.

FIRST CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH—Sunday services at 10.30 a. m. and 7.30 p. m. Sunday School at close of morning service. Prayer meeting every Thursday evening at 7.00 o'clock. F. E. VAN ACKEN, pastor.

METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH—Sunday services at 10.30 a. m. and 7 p. m. Sunday School at close of morning service. Prayer and praise meeting Thursday evening at 7. T. Dowkes, pastor.

FIRE DEPARTMENT.

CHARLEVOIX FIRE ENGINE AND HOSE COMPANY meet every Saturday night at Engine hall. H. F. BEEBER, Secretary.

HOMEOPATHIC PHARMACY.

E. GETTEL Homeopathic Medicines, Books, Sponges, Soaps, etc., Charlevoix, Mich.

PHYSICIANS.

J. A. COLLINS, M. D., Office at the Eagle hotel.

L. GUNN, M. D., Physician and Surgeon. Office in the Lewis block, Charlevoix, Mich.

W. M. PENNIMAN, M. D., Surgeon and Homeopathic Physician, Charlevoix, Mich.

REAL ESTATE AGENTS.

BORGMAN & BAUMHA, Notary Public, Real Estate, Loan and Insurance Agents, Charlevoix, Mich.

SECRET SOCIETIES.

A. O. U. W.—Harbor Post No. 192, meets second Monday in each month, at Odd Fellows' hall.

I. O. O. F.—Charlevoix Lodge No. 327, meets every Friday evening, at Odd Fellows' hall.

I. O. G. T.—Round Lake Lodge No. 795 meets every Wednesday evening, in their hall.

K. O. T. M.—Beacon Tent No. 108 meets second and fourth Tuesday of each month, at Odd Fellows' hall.

L. O. T. M.—Bee Hive No. 107, meets every Saturday evening, in Odd Fellows' hall.

R. T. of G. C.—Charlevoix Lodge No. 207 meets every other Saturday evening, at Odd Fellows' hall.

WELL DIGGING.

FRANK DUFOE, Charlevoix, Mich., will attend promptly to all work in the line of well digging, repairing, pumps repairing, well curbing, and building, and similar work. 43

O. W. SMITH,

ELECTRO-PLATER,

Manufacturing Jeweler and Lapidist.

Electro-plating in Gold and Silver. Any articles manufactured to order. AGATES AND JEWELS fitted to order.

Picture Frames Cheap

I am frame pictures cheaper than ever before, and have no rent to pay. Call and see for yourself. Opposite Clinton street, four doors west of school house.

O. I. WHEAT.

Money to Loan

On sums of $500 and upwards, at reasonable rates of interest, on approved real estate security.

H. C. Miley,

Boyne City.

H. C. WAGAR.

W. R. WAGAR.

Wagar Bros.

Wholesale and Retail dealers in Tobacco, Cigars and Snuffs. Pipes, And Temperance Drinks. Sign of the Big Indian, Bridge Street, Charlevoix, Mich.

A FEW FACTS CONCERNING

Dr. CROUTER'S

BAKING POWDER

Or Quick Yeast.

If you use it you will never have yellow biscuit.
If you use it your biscuit will never taste of soda.
It contains no alum, and is absolutely free from anything of a deleterious nature.
It is made from PURE GRAPE CREAM OF TARTAR and NOT from the Common Creams of Tartar of the shops.
It is always fresh and will never disappoint you.

Directions for using furnished with every package.

Price 40 Cents per Pound.

Manufactured and Sold only by

Dr. GEO. W. CROUTER,

Chemist and Druggist,

BRIDGE STREET, CHARLEVOIX, MICH.

Come and See our Immense Stock of

BOOTS AND SHOES.

FOX & MILLER.

BRIDGE STREET HOUSE.

ROBERT MILLER, Proprietor,

Charlevoix, Michigan.

This house is centrally located, and its accommodations excellent. The table supplied with the best the market affords. Only sample room in Charlevoix.

COMMERCIAL HOUSE

D. R. JEBBUTT, Proprietor.

East Jordan, Michigan.

Entirely retouch and refurnished. First-class Sample Room for agents. Good Stable in Connection with the House.

FOUNTAIN CITY HOUSE,

RICHARD COOPER, Proprietor.

Charlevoix, - Michigan

Finest location in town, giving good view of lakes and resorts. Express office, and headquarters for Petoskey and Elk Rapids Stages. Good sample room for commercial travelers adjoining hotel.

PINE LAKE HOUSE,

A. J. HALL Proprietor.

Boyne City, Michigan.

This house is finely located on the Boyne River, at the head of Pine Lake. It is large and commodious, and is well adapted to the entertainment of the traveling public.

PIONEER HOUSE,

A. B. NOYES, Proprietor.

Ironton Michigan.

Every convenience for the traveling public.

I offer FOR SALE, for Cash or Time,

TIMBER LAND.

The N W ¼ of S E ¼, Sec. 15, T. 32, R 8 W, in Charlevoix County, NEAR IRONTON.

No Incumbrance. Title Perfect.

Address J. T. GIBSON, Box 83, Dearborn, Mich.

Do You Know

THAT

LORILLARD'S CLIMAX PLUG TOBACCO

Still Has The Tag, Bone Lead Plate and Stamps; Sun's Clippings, and Black, Brown, and Yellow Snuffs are the best and cheapest, quality considered.

THOROUGHBRED POULTRY

Eggs for Hatching Cheap

Address CLEMENT J. JENNINGS, Dowagiac, Mich.

THE FAIR

Offers 800 pieces on five cent counter. A good picture frame, Jet of Hologram, Mirror, Fancy Goods, Jewelry, Soap, the other things. On the ten cent counter, Ladies' Fancy Comb, Comb and Brush, Pair clips to the 5 cent counter, and many hundreds more, necessary articles of Household Goods. Last but not least to the 25 cent counter where a lady for her basket, and the farmer when making a horse shoe, can find what they need.

Worse Than Heathen

Are those parents who allow their children to suffer with worms when 25 cents will buy a box of Parmelee's Santonine Worm Candies which will immediately cure the child and remove the worms by dissolving them. Do you know the symptoms? Peevishness, sudden starting in sleep, bad breath, great desire for food day and night. Be wise and leave nothing to regret. Price 25 cents per box.

Sold by Dr. G. W. Crouter, Charlevoix, and Crouter & Harris, Ironton.

Ward off the first Attack

Of any disease and you need never fear a dangerous condition. If those who are troubled with dyspepsia, headache, dizziness, pains in side and back, constipation, excessive flow of urine, insatiable thirst, lack of circulation of the blood, would use Parmelee's Dyspepsia, Diabetes, Kidney and Liver Cure they would not be in constant fear of sickness, for they not only cure diabetes, Bright's disease, &c., but prevent them by removing the first symptoms. Large bottles $1.00.

Sold by Dr. G. W. Crouter, Charlevoix, and Crouter & Harris, Ironton.

Drive Dull Care Away.

Be cheerful, be pleasant, be happy, be healthy. Health is wealth. Use Parmelee's Blood Purifier. It stimulates liver and kidneys, it regulates the bowels and purifies the blood, it acts upon the digestion, it carries off the old blood and makes new, and is acquiring a great reputation for the cure of scrofulous affection, boils, pimples, ulcers, and all skin diseases. $1.00 per bottle.

Sold by Dr. G. W. Crouter, Charlevoix, and Crouter & Harris, Ironton.

MORTGAGE FORMS now on hand, printed to order on short notice at this office.

BOARD OF SUPERVISORS.

Proceedings of Special Meeting, May 21st.

Board met pursuant to call, with the following supervisors present:

Bear Lake—E. C. Plettenpiece.
Boyne Valley—Wm. Nelson.
Chandler—A. P. Housley.
Charlevoix—Oscar Upright.
Evangeline—H. A. Jersey.
Eveline—Ava Smith.
Hayes—E. H. Burgess.
Hudson—Jas. McKibbin.
Marion—John Ward.
Melrose—Joseph B. Jordan.
Norwood—Wm. Harris.
Resort—C. J. Wooden.
South Arm—J. A. Kent.
Springvale—A. W. Abley.
Wilson—Geo. W. Bailey.

On motion of Mr. Jersey, Mr. Housley was elected temporary chairman.

An informal ballot for permanent chairman resulted as follows: Plettenpiece 12, Ward 1, Harris 1, Jersey 1. On motion of Mr. Kent, the ballot was made formal, and Mr. Plettenpiece was declared elected.

A motion to take a recess of 30 minutes to allow the chairman to appoint committees, was amended to include a special committee to canvass votes on county seat removal, and adopted.

After recess the chairman made the following appointments:

Equalization—Ward, Housley, Jersey, Bailey and Kent.

Settling with County Superintendents of Poor—Burgess, Harris, and Abbey.

Claims—Burgess, Bailey, and Nelson.

To Settle with County Treasurer—Jordan, Upright, and Harris.

Roads, Bridges, and Dams—Wooden, McKibbin, and Smith.

Printing—Upright, Housley, and Nelson.

Ways and Means—Kent, Bailey, and Wooden.

Apportionment—Jersey, Smith, and Abbey.

Insurance—Nelson, Ward, and Upright.

Rejected and Charged-back Taxes—Harris, Burgess, and McKibbin.

Special Committee to Canvass the County Seat Vote—Kent, Upright, and Jordan.

On motion the board adjourned to 8 o'clock A. M. May 22d.

Quorum present, minutes read and approved.

Chairman Plettenpiece introduced Mr. Plowman, of the Detroit Safe Co., who made some remarks relative to back pay on the safe purchased of the company.

On motion of Mr. Housley, the claim was referred to the committee on claims.

The special committee to canvass the votes on county seat removal reported the votes in detail by township (the same as heretofore published in the Journal); also recommending that the returns of Bear Lake, Boyne Valley, Eveline, Resort, and Springvale be referred back for correction and completion on account of informalities and irregularities. The report was adopted.

After a recess of 20 minutes, the committee on claims made their report, which was adopted, except the bill of the Sheriff of Emmet county, which was referred back to be identized and presented at the next session of the board.

On motion of Mr. Ward, a committee of three was appointed to report on rewriting the index of mortgages. The chair appointed Messrs Upright, Jersey, and Harris.

Mr. Kent offered the following resolution, which was adopted:

Whereas, At the recent election, upon the question of the removal of the county seat, the question, although as yet undetermined, seems to have carried in favor of such removal.

Therefore it is Resolved, that a committee be appointed to proceed to South Arm and ascertain what buildings can be procured for offices and court room, and that the register of deeds and county clerk be requested to accompany such committee, and to give such information and advice as they may deem advisable in regard to the requirements of their respective offices, and that the said committee ascertain what arrangement can be made for the removal of the records and property, and report upon these matters at the next meeting of this board.

The chair appointed Messrs. Kent, Jersey, and Housley.

The clerk was instructed to notify the clerks of the townships of Bear Lake, Boyne Valley, Eveline, and Resort, to send in amended returns relative to removal of county seat, together with certificates of inspectors, such returns to be made before June 10th.

At the afternoon session, the committee on rewriting index of mortgages reported recommending that the register of deeds rewrite the same. Adopted.

On motion of Mr. Harris, the register was instructed to procure a book and copy the old index, $50 to be paid for the copying.

Per diem and mileage of the board were allowed as follows:

Geo. W. Bailey, $9.00, Jas. McKibbin $12.00, H. A. Jersey $9.00, E. C. Plettenpiece $12.24, Oscar Upright $6.12, Jas. Jordan $10.50, A. W. Abley $11.34, Jas. A. Kent $7.92, Wm. Harris $9.67, John Ward 9.80, Ava Smith $7.08, C. J. Wooden $9.00, E. H. Burgess $6.72, A. P. Housley $10.44, Wm. Nelson $8.20.

On motion the board adjourned to June 11th, at 1 o'clock P. M.

Bay Springs.

Born—to Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Loud, a daughter.

The forests are clad in spring costumes.

Mrs. C. D. Plumber who has been a great sufferer for sometime is able to sit up. She has gained rapidly during the few days that Dr. J. Sunderlin has been treating her.

A Lodge of Knights of Labor was organized at the Bay Springs school house on Monday evening, the 18th, with 23 members. They have made arrangements with Wm. J. Lewis to hold their meetings during the ensuing year in Lewis' hall at Boyne.

D. F. Bettes, A. C. Loud and S. Woodward have gone to work at the Pine Lake Co. mills.

The schooner Fleet-wing is loading lumber for Chicago at the Boise dock.

The schooner Elisha of Milwaukee is loading R. R. Perkins' wood at Chapman's dock.

Trout Fishers, Take Notice.

D. D. Hughes, a well-known Grand Rapids attorney, will doubtless take a taps line along with him the next time he whips a Kalkaska county stream for trout. He brought in a goodly number of the speckled beauties one day this week, some of which were as large as sardines, but most of them little fellows that fell far below the six-inch standard required by law. John H. Fink, a traveling man, and also an enthusiastic sportsman, became indignant over such wholesale slaughter of infant fish, and entered a complaint against Mr. Hughes, and had him brought before Esq. Ramsey, who fined him $10.00. Without doubt the above law is often violated, and perhaps this example made of a prominent attorney will cause people to remember that the law forbids you to keep, after catching, brook trout less than six inches in length.—[Kalkaska Leader.

The Elk Rapids Pilgrim's Fish Lies.

B. W. Goodsell, of Chicago, caught 50 trout at Yuba Thursday.

Ben. Yalomstein and C. A. Newton caught 58 trout at Yuba the 17th.

On the 17th Harry and Will Briggs and Dick Pascoe caught 81 trout at Yuba and Williamsburg.

Jim Mitchell caught 4 pounds and 9 ounces of speckled trout below the saw mill Monday. There were five fish.

OTHER FISH TALES.

The Sporting Editor of the Bellaire Breeze has caught 784 pounds of fish so far this season.

THE JOURNAL

BY CHAS. J. STRANG,

CHARLEVOIX, - - MICHIGAN.

NEWS CONDENSED.

Concise Record of the Week.

EASTERN.

"Gen. Grant was bright and cheerful yesterday," says a New York dispatch of May 18, "having slept well the previous night. Col. Fred Grant carried to the publishers' office a large package of new manuscript and revised proofs which had been corrected by his father."

The creditors of J. R. Osgood & Co., Boston publishers, had the trick tribunal to be $478,000, all of which was contracted in the honest prosecution of business.

Prof. E. Odlum, 53 years old, jumped from the Brooklyn bridge, 135 feet to the river beneath, striking the water on his side, when he intended to alight feet first. Dead Bugins, who with others, was in a tug waiting the event, jumped overboard and secured the Professor, who spoke but a few words before he expired. It had been the ambition of the deceased to jump from the bridge.

Hon. T. T. Frelinghuysen, late Secretary of State, died last week at his residence in Newark, N. J., aged 68 years. Mr. Frelinghuysen had been ill for two or three months, and his demise was not unexpected.

Louis Francis, a Frenchman, was arrested at New York while carrying a tag which contained the remains of his mistress, Selina Pelot, whom he is alleged to have strangled. Francis states that he found her dead, and being unable to give his lady Christian burial had decided to throw it in the river, and was carrying out his purpose when suspected by a policeman. It is known that the couple quarreled frequently, and that recently he had her in a brutal manner. The body of the woman was covered with blows, and marks of finger-nails were on her throat.

Robert E. Odlum broke five rules in leaping from the Brooklyn Bridge, and his heart was fatally affected by the force with which he struck the water. His companion James Hagerty, has been lodged in jail for his part in the tragedy.

WESTERN.

Alexander Stavast and John Vannewport were drowned in the river at Des Moines, Ia., while bathing.

The Illinois Central is accused of intentions to build and operate a new line to St. Paul.

Rudolph, the finest Hereford bull in the world, property of the Wyoming Hereford Assoc ation, died at Cheyenne after a necessary surgical operation in which a tumor of sixty-five pounds was taken from him. He was valued at $12,000.

The Governor of Missouri has forwarded to Secretary Hayard the necessary papers for the extradition of W. H. L. Nye well, the perpetrator o. the trunk murder, and recommended Detective James Tracy and a policeman named Frank R. O'Neil as agents of the State to bring the criminal back from New Zealand.

Great destruction has been wrought by forest fires in sections of Wisconsin. In Brown county one village at Black Creek, Mill Center, Flintville, and Little Suamico all suffered severely. All through the three counties of Brown, Oconto, and Shawano the damage is growing timber, both plus and hardwood, and to the fencing of farms, has been great. Much property has been destroyed in the shape of piles of wood, posts, ties, and poles, and many farms are left unprotected against roaming cattle, just as the busy planting season is at hand. Losses have destroyed the town of Greenville, Mich., with a large amount of lumber, leaving twenty-five families homeless. Parsons's mill, at Cedar Lake, and $10,000 worth of lumber, belonging to W. N. Nelson, were burned. A loss of $100,000 was the result of a conflagration at Pauld, Ind., which nearly destroyed the town. The extensive flouring mill of Gordon, Hacker & Co., at Sparta, Ill., valued at $30,000, was burned.

The first coal mine started at Streator, Ill., since the long strike, has a force of forty men at work at o ces per ton.

A huge gasometer at the corner of Second and Convent streets, St. Louis, Mo., exploded, killing two men and severely injuring a third.

Alex. Hibbard, the young Milwaukee who swallowed a trade dollar some weeks ago, has the coin in his stomach still, but is in good health.

Mrs. Margaret M. Cooley, of Mitchell, D. T., and Mrs. Rebecca Varnum, of Decatur, Wis., sisters, and both appearing with babies in their arms, were sentenced at Madison, Wis., to two years each in the penitentiary for perjury.

An Austrian quarryman was found in a dying condition in a freight car at Joliet, with his nose and lips cut off and his tongue hanging by a few shreds of flesh. The malefactors is alleged to be the work of strikers.

Several hundred men and boys at Sacramento, Cal., invaded the Sixth Street Church, where an all-night prayer meeting was being held by the Salvation Army, wrecked the windows and pews, and assaulted the recruits with such brutality that the entire police force was called out.

Pinkerton's detectives are looking for a gang of ingenious swindlers who have visited a large number of banks in this country and in Canada by the presentation of forged letters of credit. One Chicago bank is said to have suffered to the extent of $7,000.

The Hessian fly has greatly damaged the wheat crop in southern California.

SOUTHERN.

In a melee at Hickory Grove Church, near Jacksonville, Fla., growing out of a political quarrel, William Langford was shot and killed by his brother. Congee family wounded. Tom Langford and the three West brothers were badly injured.

A story comes from Key West, Fla., of the wholesale kidnaping of United States citizens by a railroad company in Guatemala. Sixty-seven men were coaxed aboard a vessel in September last, at New Orleans, and taken to Puerto Barrios, Guatemala, where they were put to work on a railway, one of the victims escaped in January, and has just landed in this country. He reports that several hundred men were entrapped in a similar manner and taken to twenty Americans. The work was slavery, and the men died like sheep.

A dreadful triple tragedy is reported from Paris, Texas. Samuel P. Holmes, a wealthy farmer, disguised as a large, powerful man, 50 years, and possessed of a violent temper, entered the residence of his wife, from whom he had been some months separated. He immediately began a murderous attack upon her with a tomahawk. She was alone in the room when attacked, but defended herself bravely, the whole premises ringing loudly for help. Her sister, Mrs. W. J. Tapley, and Prof. J. W. Newman hastened to her assistance. As Prof. Newman entered the room Holmes sprang from the prostrate body of his wife and attacked him, stabbing him several times, killing him in the end. The murderer then ran down his sister-in-law, Mrs. Tapley, and threw his victim into a neighbor's house, and, after inflicting horrible wounds, from which she died in a short time.

By a vote of 203 to 153 the Commercial Convention at Atlanta, Ga., decided that public interests require the enactment of a uniform bankruptcy law. The convention also adopted a resolution that Congress should pass laws for reciprocity with all foreign nations.

WASHINGTON.

Secretary of the Interior Lamar has appointed the following named persons as special agents of the Bureau of Labor:

Charles E. Judd, of Colorado; Jonas Libby, of New York; Elgin L. E. Gould, of Maryland; Henry C. Wilson, of New Jersey; William H. Stinson, of New Hampshire; James Izod, of Massachusetts; Arthur B. Woodford, of Connecticut; J. H. Cowgill, of Delaware; H. L. Brown, of Pennsylvania; George Fox, of Pennsylvania; James T. C. Gillam, of Ohio; William Maxwell, of Ohio; Burgess W. Browning, of Maryland; William C. Troubson, of South Carolina; Henry Newman, of Missouri; Henry Jones, of Georgia; Silenus O. Ward, of New Jersey.

It is learned that in making these appointments the Secretary acted without consult ng the party affiliations of the persons to be appointed, and they were selected without respect to any theories they might entertain on vexed economic questions. The districts to which these appointees are to be assigned have not been fully determined.

Several days ago a delegation from the Order of Good Templars of the District of Columbia called on the President and left with him a written address urging him to make different inquiry as to the personal habits and associations of the persons he should appoint to offices in the District. In reply to the address the President said:

I read your address late last night with great interest. It is something tangible, and if all who stand ready to use anyone have any habits worth a cent to be reformed. The temperance people are good people and friends of her and of me. Before I left New York I determined to give the District a good government; but there are many could this claim that I am somewhere else. I do not know what to do. But you come with clear statements of what I will do further on."

In dealing with currency sent by national banks to the redemption agency, Treasurer Jordan proposes to restore to circulation such as is found to be in good condition, thus saving the pressure upon the Bureau of Engraving and Printing.

Washington telegram: "The failure of the Dolphin," says an old Government contractor, "will be a very serious matter for John Roach, for it will mean his permanent retirement. It is not generally known, but there is a rule applying to all kinds of Government work, providing that where a man has once failed to fulfill a contract he is barred from ever receiving another contract. The Government keeps a roll of what firms and individ ials failed, and in the instances for one of these to bid on Government work means the fact that he is on the list cannot hopeless to be overlooked."

POLITICAL.

The President has appointed the following Postmasters: Except in the two cases named the present incumbents have either resigned or their commissions have expired:

Albert S. Pace, at Hoolton, Mo.; Paul B. La Rue, at Palatka, Fla.; Jacob R. Udell, at Tarrytown, N. Y.; Michael W. Corbett, at Aurora, Ill.; Silas Bell, at Mount Sterling, Ky.; Charles A. H. Dupont, suspended on the report of the Postmaster General that he was incompetent; James H. Watson, at Mayfield, Ky.; Thomas H. Cooke, at Victoria, Tex.; William H. Bates, at Bolton, Tex.; James E. Pounds, at Lebanon, Ind.; George W. Cooper, at Greenfield, Ind.; R. J. Compton, at Bedford, Ind.; Charles A. Dowden, at Otsego, Mich.; Marshall T. Mason, at Union City, Mich.; William Stearns, at Afton, Mich.; Curtis Hood, at Mendota, Ill.; Samuel De Hart Austin, at Tama City, Iowa; Joe F. J. M. Wunser, suspended on the report of an inspector, showing the Postmaster to be a person in charge of an orphanage, and indubitably used postal funds to make up the deficit in his money-order fund; Norman E. Ives, at Madison, Iowa; George S. Winters, at Ida Grove, Iowa; Owen A. Snider, at Anthony, Kas.; J. P. De Jarnette, at Chetopa, Kas.; Gottlieb Carter, at Suburban, Kas.; George H. Timmons, at Waterville, Kas.; Eugene Bancroft, at Mankato, Kas., vice J. D. Vance, office becoming Presidential; J. C. Morgan, at Topeka, Kas.; Matthew D. Crew, at Pueblo, Col.; Milton H. Hunt ress, at Breckenridge, Col.

The President has also made the following appointments

To be Collectors of Internal Revenue: Jas. F. Robinson, for the Seventh District of Kentucky; Charles H. Kinsbrow, for the District of Rhode Island; John Graw, for the District of West Virginia; George M. Hume, for the Fourth District of Virginia; Andrew L. Elliott, for the Second District of Virginia; Samuel Shotz, for the Fifth District of New Jersey.

To be Collectors of Customs: Joseph V. Hurley, for the District of Key West, Fla.; W. E. Bates, for the District of Norfolk and Portsmouth, Va.; Richard E. Cumpby, for the District of Georgetown, D. C.

On the one hundred and twentieth ballot, after a contest lasting four months, the Illinois legislature elected Hon. John A. Logan to the seat in the Senate of the United States. Every member of the Legislature was present. The Democrats declined to assume the call, and the Republicans quickly recorded 151 votes for their candidate. Representative Springer making a protest. When the absentees were called for every Democrat voted for Lambert Tree, some of them changed their votes to Charles B. Farwell, but no Republican followed suit. At the end of two hours the speaker announced the election of Gen. Logan, no votes having been recorded for Lambert Tree. Senator Logan received dispatches from Republican friends in all parts of the country congratulating him upon his victory, some of them conveying the prediction that he would be the next Republican nominee for President. When President Cleveland was informed of Senator Logan's election he expressed congratulations. It is said that President-elect Garfield felt not a little relieved at the result, for it was a foregone conclusion that the first Senatorial election would be the most bitterly contested one of the session, and the President-elect was exceedingly desirous of interfering in a struggle in which the prospects of his participation was uncertain, and which he never regarded as likely to result in victory.

Frank H. Pierce, of New Hampshire, has been appointed Consul at Matamoras, vice Jared Sparks, suspended.

Senator Sherman has written to a Cincinnati journal that he has concluded to permit the use of his name in the Senatorial contest, and will continue his canvass vigorously.

Commodore Temkin has prohibited political discussions in the Navy Yard at Norfolk, and threatens to dismiss any employe taking a conspicuous part in campaign work.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Two companies of the Sixth Cavalry have been ordered out from Fort Hays, New Mexico, to protect the Lits Valley settlers against the raiding Apaches.

More trouble is imparted from Conception Bay, Newfoundland, between the Orangemen and Roman Catholics. Several persons have been injured, houses have been attacked, and property thrown into the sea.

General Grant has written the dedication for his forthcoming work. It runs as follows: "To the officers and men engaged in the War of the Rebellion, and also those engaged in the War in Mexico, these volumes are dedicated. U. S. GRANT."

The entry at the bow of H. M. S. Gerona, in which Paul Boyton, the swimmer, attached a torpedo while the vessel lay in New York harbor, has been given forty-five days' imprisonment, and Boyton has been also permitted Boyton and his companions to escape, in order to avoid arrest. The gunner in the case will probably be sent to the Admiralty in London.

Advices from Central America report that "after five hours' sanguinary fighting at the town of Armenia, in Salvador, the insurgents in any crushed the revolutionists, and captured large quantities of arms and cannon. The revolutionists are led by Member. The arms and guns captured were supplied by Guatemala. Many prisoners were taken. It is believed outbreaks are to follow, and all pursuit of the retreating insurgents."

A Battleford dispatch reports: "Gros Ventre's braves are still hovering about the Swift Current trail, and are frequently met by loiterers for supplies. These Indians have become very bold, and have at times even approached the barracks. An attack is strongly expected from the Gros Ventres. The military have made vigorous preparations for receiving the redskins. Big Bear's and Poundmaker's braves have left the reserve, form a body of twelve hundred Indians, well armed, and fully provisioned. There are half breeds with the Indians."

A Quebec dispatch says: "Riel's capture and his confession to doing all inside here, and little else is talked of in public or private. The French Canadians, to a man, say that he must be insane, and that the extreme sentence of the law will be unusually severe. The French Canadians, to a man, say that he must be insane, and that the extreme sentence of the law will be unusually severe. The French Canadians are somewhat sanguine, but the Protestant majority are of the contrary opinion, and which is generally regarded as likely to result in victory.

Frank H. Pierce, of New Hampshire, has been appointed Consul at Matamoras, vice Jared Sparks, suspended.

LATER NEWS ITEMS.

In a quarrel at New Straitsville, Ohio, Albert Guest shot Marshal Henry Amerfatally, another brother from Guest's revolver mortally wounding a boy. A mob broke into the prison at night, took Guest out, hanged him, and riddled his body with bullets. Masked men to the number of 100 forced the jail at Hunter, Miss., and took out and hanged a colored railroad laborer for an assault on a white woman.

Four robbers were caught in a store at Burton, Ohio, and in the ensuing fight one of the burglars was killed, a citizen fatally wounded, and another slightly hurt. The robbers escaped, carrying off $2,000.

The New York Medical Record of May 21, says under the caption, "The Condition of Gen. Grant":

During the past week Gen. Grant has been in a comparatively comfortable condition. His sickness has felt amount of sleep, taken his nourishment without difficulty, and is quite free from pain. At the consultation of May 15, Dr. Sam Shrady, and Douglas Sanderson, it was found the swelling under the angle of the jaw on the right side had increased in size; that the glands were still the dentated and deeply fixed; also that there was a tendency toward diffused infiltration into the adjoining tissues of the upper and anterior part of the neck. This was consequently some rigidity of the jaws, preventing the widest opening of the mouth, thus a somewhat free view with the examination of the fauces. The pulmonary complaint was somewhat easier, but the cough was still very troublesome. No change had been noted in the appearance of the right vocal cords, nor in those of the posterior part of the pharynx. The alteration on the right side of the tone of the tongue showed a tendency to extend backward, was more excavated, and had an elevated and indurated border. At the examination on Wednesday, made by Drs. Douglas and Shrady, the local conditions were found to be unchanged.

Secretary Cope, of the American Iron and Steel Association, in a review of the commercial situation, after alluding to the belief that a transfer of the Presidency from one political party to the other would create a commercial revulsion, says:

With the dread of the assumption of a restrictive policy by the new national administration happily dispelled, with the domestic market very largely in the hands of home producers, so that imports are exceeded in value by exports; with our currency on a gold basis, so that no unsettling of values is to be apprehended from that quarter; with no political excitement disturbing the minds of the people, and with a majority of business in the country favorable to the Republican party in favor of protection, the manufacturers of the country have yet to be in a position to take instant advantage of any favorable change in the condition of business. Has this change may be expected about we are unable to explain, but it may be very much nearer at hand than is now supposed.

A dispatch from Calgary, in the Northwest Territory, reports that Gen. Steele's advance guard, on the way to Fort Pitt, met the Indians and lost several men in a skirmish. Old things express the opinion that the trouble is spreading, and that all the Indians in the country will be in some mischief. "The claim is made that Louis Riel is an American citizen, having taken out naturalization papers in Montana, where he lived prior to the election of 1872, being, it is asserted, an active Republican worker.

President Cleveland has appointed R. M. T. Hunter Collector of Customs in the district of Tappahannock, Virginia. Five Postmasters in that State were suspended for partisan work. Mrs. Long was reappointed Postmaster at Charlottesville, at the request of Gens. Hancock, Ewry, and Pickbugh Lee.

JUMPED TO HIS DEATH.

Professor Odlum Plunges from Brooklyn Bridge to the Waters of East River, and Is Taken Out Dead.

[New York telegram.]

A crowd left the New York entrance of the Brooklyn bridge and was engaged in the usual pastime of watching the people passing on the railway. Suddenly a man leaped from the railing. It was a leap for life, the man in question having taken some long strides to accelerate the force of his momentum. Some of the crowd thought the man was a young man a covered woman, and a few ladies fainted. The man leaped feet first, and quickly disappeared from view. Some thought he had jumped for a bet, others that he was insane, and others that he was a desperate character who had committed a crime and was trying to escape. The man had disappeared from view, and another minute hung. The crowd quickly recorded 151 votes for their candidate. Representative Springer making a protest. When the absentees were called for every Democrat voted for Lambert Tree, some of them changed their votes to Charles B. Farwell, but no Republican followed suit. At the end of two hours the speaker announced the election of Gen. Logan, no votes having been recorded for Lambert Tree. Senator Logan received dispatches from Republican friends in all parts of the country congratulating him upon his victory, some of them conveying the prediction that he would be the next Republican nominee for President. When President Cleveland was informed of Senator Logan's election he expressed congratulations. It is said that President-elect Garfield felt not a little relieved at the result, for it was a foregone conclusion that the first Senatorial election would be the most bitterly contested one of the session, and the President-elect was exceedingly desirous of interfering in a struggle in which the prospects of his participation was uncertain, and which he never regarded as likely to result in victory.

Frank H. Pierce, of New Hampshire, has been appointed Consul at Matamoras, vice Jared Sparks, suspended.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Two companies of the Sixth Cavalry have been ordered out from Fort Hays, New Mexico, to protect the Lits Valley settlers against the raiding Apaches.

More trouble is imparted from Conception Bay, Newfoundland, between the Orangemen and Roman Catholics. Several persons have been injured, houses have been attacked, and property thrown into the sea.

General Grant has written the dedication for his forthcoming work. It runs as follows: "To the officers and men engaged in the War of the Rebellion, and also those engaged in the War in Mexico, these volumes are dedicated. U. S. GRANT."

The entry at the bow of H. M. S. Gerona, in which Paul Boyton, the swimmer, attached a torpedo while the vessel lay in New York harbor, has been given forty-five days' imprisonment, and Boyton has been also permitted Boyton and his companions to escape, in order to avoid arrest. The gunner in the case will probably be sent to the Admiralty in London.

Advices from Central America report that "after five hours' sanguinary fighting at the town of Armenia, in Salvador, the insurgents in any crushed the revolutionists, and captured large quantities of arms and cannon. The revolutionists are led by Member. The arms and guns captured were supplied by Guatemala. Many prisoners were taken. It is believed outbreaks are to follow, and all pursuit of the retreating insurgents."

A Battleford dispatch reports: "Gros Ventre's braves are still hovering about the Swift Current trail, and are frequently met by loiterers for supplies. These Indians have become very bold, and have at times even approached the barracks. An attack is strongly expected from the Gros Ventres. The military have made vigorous preparations for receiving the redskins. Big Bear's and Poundmaker's braves have left the reserve, form a body of twelve hundred Indians, well armed, and fully provisioned. There are half breeds with the Indians."

A Quebec dispatch says: "Riel's capture and his confession to doing all inside here, and little else is talked of in public or private. The French Canadians, to a man, say that he must be insane, and that the extreme sentence of the law will be unusually severe. The French Canadians, to a man, say that he must be insane, and that the extreme sentence of the law will be unusually severe. The French Canadians are somewhat sanguine, but the Protestant majority are of the contrary opinion, and which is generally regarded as likely to result in victory.

Frank H. Pierce, of New Hampshire, has been appointed Consul at Matamoras, vice Jared Sparks, suspended.

FOREIGN.

John Bright, in answer to a letter from an American friend asking if England would secure to the rights of protection, writes as follows: "Not until the United States returns to Free Trade." The present outlook, however, is its foreign policy. The Turks and Liberals are equally blamable for the hasty policy of setting the millions to the military expense while trade is depressed for the poor are totally impoverished.

The British occupation of the Soudan began on the 21st of May. Gen. Wolseley has sailed for England.

The mohair mills of Mitchell Brothers, at Bradford, England, valued at $1,000,000, were destroyed by fire.

Some valuable pictures on exhibition in the Royal Academy, at London, were found to have been cut and mutilated in a manner demonstrating any malicious motives.

A fire in Berlin consumed the roof and attic of a palace once occupied by Frederick the Great, and latterly used as a museum. The relics and works of art were taken out in a damaged condition.

A sentry at the Upper Castle powder magazine at Chatham, England, was found dead at his post with a bullet hole through his body. It was at first thought that he had been assassinated by some one who contemplated an attempt to blow up the magazine, but an examination of the case convinced the doctors that the man had committed suicide.

THE MARKETS.

NEW YORK.
LIVER'S—
Beeves—Nat. 1 Head	$7.50	@8.00
Texas—Fat, 2 Head	5.00	@5.50
Sheep—Nat. 2 Head	5.00	@5.50
Hogs—Nat. 1 Head	7.00	@7.50
Pork—New Mess	12.50	@14.00
Lard	8.00	@8.50
CHICAGO.
BEEVES—Choice to Extra	5.50	@7.00
Good to Choice	4.75	@5.50
Medium	4.25	@4.50
Hogs	4.75	@5.00
FLOUR—Patent Red Winter Ex	8.00	@8.25
Patent Spring Wheat Ex	8.00	@8.25
Winter Ext. No. 2 Spring	.00	@ .00
CORN—No. 2	.48	@ .49
OATS—No. 2	.34	@ .34½
RYE—No. 2	.80	@ .81
BUTTER—Choice Creamery	.25	@ .26
Choice Dairy	.19	@ .20
CHEESE—Full Cream	.09	@ .09½
EGGS—Fresh	.12½	@ .13
POTATOES—Choice, per bu	.40	@ .45
Common	.25	@ .30
LARD	8.30	@ 8.40
TOLEDO.
WHEAT—No. 2 Red	.99	@ .99½
CORN—No. 2	.52	@ .52½
OATS—No. 2	.34	@ .34½
MILWAUKEE.
WHEAT—No. 1	.96	@ .99
CORN—No. 2	.48	@ .49
OATS—No. 2	.33	@ .34
BARLEY—No. 2	.67	@ .68
RYE—No. 1	.79	@ .80
ST. LOUIS.
WHEAT—No. 2 Red	1.06	@1.07
CORN—Mixed	.47	@ .48
OATS—Mixed	.32	@ .32½
RYE	.77	@ .78
HAY—Prairie	10.00	@10.50
PORK—Mess	12.75	@13.00
CINCINNATI.
WHEAT—Red	.99	@1.00
CORN—Mixed	.52	@ .52½
OATS—No. 2 Fall	.35	@ .35½
RYE—No. 2	.80	@ .81
DETROIT.
WHEAT—No. 1 White	1.02	@1.02½
CORN—Mixed	.52	@ .52½
OATS—No. 2 White	.35	@ .35½
RYE—No. 2	.80	@ .81
INDIANAPOLIS.
WHEAT—No. 2 Red	1.04	@1.05
CORN—Mixed	.47	@ .48
OATS—No. 2	.34	@ .34½
EAST LIBERTY.
CATTLE—Best	4.75	@5.00
Fair	4.50	@4.60
Common	4.25	@4.50
HOGS	5.00	@5.25
SHEEP	4.50	@5.00

CHICAGO WOOL MARKET.

Prices of Fleeces—Fine Delaine, 28@29c; Fine Unwashed Merino, 19@20c; Fine Washed Merino, 28@30c; Fine Washed Delaine, 30@32c; Coarse Washed Delaine, 28@30c; Coarse Unwashed Merino, 19@20c; Low Medium, 28@30c; Low Medium, 26@28c.

Total receipts for week, 93,285 lbs; and since January 1, 1,026,000 lbs. Trade is much confined, for manufacturers are still in a position to take instant advantage of any favorable change in the condition of business. Has this change may be expected about we are unable to explain, but it may be very much nearer at hand than is now supposed.

A dispatch from Calgary, in the Northwest Territory, reports that Gen. Steele's advance guard, on the way to Fort Pitt, met the Indians and lost several men in a skirmish. Old things express the opinion that the trouble is spreading, and that all the Indians in the country will be in some mischief. "The claim is made that Louis Riel is an American citizen, having taken out naturalization papers in Montana, where he lived prior to the election of 1872, being, it is asserted, an active Republican worker.

Presentation to Christendom of the Revised Version of the Old Testament.

Eminent Biblical Scholars and the Best Hebraists Finish a Noble Work.

Great Care Taken to Preserve the Language of King James' Translators.

The first copy of the complete new version of the Holy Bible was presented to Queen Victoria on Friday, the 13th of May, and midnight of that day copies were delivered to the London press for comment. The Committee of Revision was appointed by the Established Church Convocation the 6th of May, 1870. Of the seventeen members then appointed only six survive. The revisers sat alternately in London and Westminster, and the work was carried over in session three times. The first time was devoted to a careful consideration of the Old Testament, the second with the Apocrypha, and the third with the New Testament. The Revisers also consulted the Revisers of Scotland, Ireland, and the United States, and the results of their labors were submitted to the Convocation of the Church of England. The Revised Version was based on the Hebrew text of the Old Testament, and on the Greek text of the New Testament, as received by

THE JOURNAL.

BY CHAS. J. STRANG.

CHARLEVOIX, - MICHIGAN.

Cleveland and His Sister.

When Miss Cleveland left Washington two weeks ago, the harpies who have never enough to snatch at an excuse for defaming the present chief magistrate, were quick to charge that there had been a difference between brother and sister that rendered her retirement from the white house permanent. Miss Cleveland, it was said, had entered her brother's household with a clear and express understanding that nothing in its conduct should transgress her well known temperance principles. This alleged compact, it was said, he had broken by permitting the use of liquor at the white house on social occasions. Being a woman of determination as well as convictions, her withdrawal naturally followed his breach of faith. All this pretty piece of malicious gossip is now exploded by the announcement that Miss Cleveland, after taking a much needed rest, will return to Washington this week "and resume her duties as the first lady of the public." All accounts from Washington agree that there appears to be the utmost confidence and cordiality between the president and his sister. They enjoy each the utmost liberty and independence of opinion upon various questions besides that of temperance, and each respects the convictions of the other. The strong bond of sympathy between them is their strong common sense. While Miss Cleveland is mistress of the white house there is no danger that its social life will offend the moral sense of the nation. In the reply of President Cleveland to an address from the Order of Good Templars of the District of Columbia, he shows that in his own way he is as sincere a friend of temperance as is his sister, who is an acknowledged leader in the cause. So far as close observers can discover the only danger from intemperance that threatens the white house during this administration is that of overwork. In conscientious devotion to the tasks set before them by their ideas of duty, the Clevelands appear to be brother and sister indeed—friends and rivals.—[Chicago Daily News.

Notes and News.

The hall crouting the county of Sumner was killed in the Senate last Thursday.

The Chicago Poultry Keeper, a monthly periodical started in a field already well supplied, has reached the enormous circulation of 100,000 subscribers. This is a success seldom equaled.

The International Printer is a monthly, devoted as its name indicates, No. 1 of which is a good specimen of work, and contains much interesting and valuable matter. Published by A. M. Dewey & Co., Detroit.

The latest republican prohibition bur in Kansas, which clothed the county attorneys with unlimited power over witnesses and allowed them heavy fees of $25 on each count on the conviction of a beer or liquor seller, has been declared unconstitutional. The court decides that a law which gives a prosecuting officer judicial powers and tempts him to unusual vindictiveness of prosecution by rewards for conviction is not only opposed to the constitution but to justice.—[Kalamazoo Gazette.

ADDITIONAL LOCAL.

Shipments.

The following are the clearances from the port of Charlevoix as reported for the week ending Wednesday evening:

21—Schr. Sea Gem, 3,000 cedar posts, T. H. Smith, to Milwaukee.
22—Schr. Michigan, 1,100 bushels potatoes, H. Bornister to Chicago.
23—Schr. Shiloquin, 305 cords wood, U. H. Dwyer to Chicago.
23—Schr. Southwest, 130 cords wood, S. H. Fish, to Detroit.
23—Schr. Starkey, 175 cords wood, E. H. Clark to Milwaukee.
23—Schr. Jessie Smith, 17,000 cubic feet rock elm lumber, Drake & Watt to Kingston.
23—Schr. Lafville, 130 cords wood, C. Harp to Milwaukee.
23—Schr. M. Mueller, 6,000 cedar posts, Upright, Emrey & Co., to Chicago.
23—Schr. Evening Star, 100,000 feet hardwood lumber, A. W. Ashland, to Chicago.
23—Schr. Ina Mahoe, 130 cords wood, Ransom Sons, to Milwaukee.
23—Schr. Narragansett, 4,000 posts 150 cords wood, Pine Lake Iron Co., to Chicago.
23—Schr. Ameriden, 250,000 feet hemlock lumber, Gleason & Porter, to Chicago.
26—Schr. John Schnette, 280,000 feet hardwood lumber, Gleason & Porter, to Chicago.
26—Schr. Chris. Grover, 120 cords wood, J. A. Bland, to Milwaukee.
26—Schr. Mocking Bird, 3,000 ties, Upright, Emrey & Co., to Racine.
26—Schr. John Ruler, 3,000 ties, Upright, Emrey & Co., to Racine.
27—Schr. Cassady, 130 cords wood, W. S. Schipp, to Milwaukee.
27—Schr. Hercules, 3,500 cedar posts, A. Fox, to Milwaukee.
28—Schr. M. Capron, 125 cords wood, Upright, Emrey & Co. to Milwaukee.
28—Schr. Cleveland, 300,000 feet hardwood lumber, Tilloney to Chicago.

Real Estate Transfers.

The following is a list of transfers of real estate in Charlevoix county, as recorded in the office of register of deeds, for the week ending Tuesday evening:

Henry Willis and wife to Charlie Scultz, w frl ¼ of n ½, 4-33w, $600.

Aaron W. Abbey to Sylvia J. Abbey, 25 rods x 40 rods of n w ¼ ¼, 16-31 4, $200.

Jas. H. Lyons and wife to Henry J. Young, lot 28, village of Charlevoix, $75.

Amanda J. Bachelder and wife to Arthur A. Watkins, lot 30, village of Charlevoix, $50.

Arthur A. Watkins to Jacob Weimer, lot 16, village of Charlevoix, $100.

F. A. Mesick to C. Marshall, lots 8 and 9, blk 2, village of Norwood, $100.

Wm. E. Cochrane and wife to Thomas J. McDowell, s ½ of s e ¼ of n ½, 28-35, $225.

A. McGibbon to Jas. McGibbon, w ½ of s e ¼, 24-34-7, $200.

State of Michigan to Alfred Bimbock, n ½ of s ½ of s w ¼, 8-32-4, Patent.

State of Michigan to A. McGibbon, w ½ of s e ¼ of s w ¼, 24-34-7, Patent.

Wm. Marten and wife to Township of Chandler, lot on s e corner of n ½ ¼, 4-30-1, $5.

Decoration Day.

PROCLAMATION BY THE GOVERNOR.

Whereas, The Thirtieth day of May is a holiday set apart by law for the commemoration of patriotic deeds;

Therefore, I, Russel A. Alger, Governor of Michigan, do call upon all citizens of the State to express anew their unending gratitude for the services of the survivors of our army and navy.

And I invite all survivors of the Grand Army of the Republic, all soldiers and sailors of the late war, the State Troops, and all civic societies, to do honor to the memory of those who survived only to the last foe, by parades and exercises appropriate to Decoration Day.

Done at the Capitol this, the 20th day of May, 1885.

[L. S.] RUSSEL A. ALGER.

By the Governor:

HARRY A. COVANT,
Secretary of State.

Circuit Court Proceedings.

Carnesky v. Powers et al., assumpsit; judgment for plaintiff $2,721 and costs.

Pierce v. Mabie; motion for extending time to take testimony granted.

People v. Conner; embezzlement; nolle pros.

Gilsters v. G. R. & I. R. R. Co.; assps.; judgment for plaintiff $1500 and costs.

Thomas v. Mesick; assumpsit; discontinued.

Chrisman v. Bacon; replevin; verdict for defendant.

Hoagsteden v. Sawtelle; replevin; continued.

Gove v. G. R. & I. R. R. Co.; motion for order allowing defendant to appeal, argued and submitted.

Smith v. Cox; assumpsit; jury out.

James Roberts v. Township of Charlevoix; on trial.

Wife-Selling in Olden Times.

The Alamat Regiere, in 1869 gave an account of a singular wife sale. Joseph Dawson, a farmer, after a married life of three years, finding that the union was unhappy agreed with his wife to separate, selling upon the premises in question the property belonging to each, and by parting with her, the husband hereby legally released, he remarks Carlisle and by the bailiffs assistance the sale. At noon the auction commenced in the presence of a large number of persons, the wife a spruce lady dressed of about two and twenty years of age, being placed on a large oak chair, with a halter of straw round her neck. Thomson then acted as clerk as follows:

"Gentlemen, I have to offer to your notice my wife, Mary Anne Thomson, otherwise Williams, whom I mean to sell to the highest and fairest bidder. Gentlemen, it is her wish, as well as mine, to part for ever. She has been to me only a hasty serpent. I took her for my comfort and the good of my home, but she became my tormentor, although, of course, a right business and a daily devil. Gentlemen, I speak truth from my heart when I say may God deliver us from troublesome wives and frolicsome vermin! Avoid them as you would a mad dog, a roaring bull, a boiled pilot, chicken cholera, Mount Etna or any other southerly thing in nature. Now, I have shown you the dark side of my wife, and told you of her faults and failings, I will introduce the bright and sunny side of her, and explain her good qualities and goodness. She can read, write and talk, sew, she can laugh and weep, with the same ease that you could take a glass of ale from tubrigs. She can make butter and sold the milk she can sing Moore's melodies, and play her frills and cape she cannot make rum, gin or whisky, but she is a good judge of the quality from long experience in tasting them. I therefore offer her with all her perfections and imperfections for the sum of fifty shillings."

The sequel of the story is that after walking about an hour, Thomson knocked down the "lot" to one Henry Mears for twenty shillings and a Newfoundland dog, and the parties separated, being mutually pleased with their bargain.—All the Year Round.

Certain doctors insist that hydrophobia is simply a disease entirely of the imagination.

Good Goods and Low Prices
ARE
BOUND TO WIN

If you don't believe it, come and see my SPRING STOCK. You will see that I am up to the times in styles, and have an assortment of MEN'S, YOUTH'S and CHILDREN'S SUITS, as you will find in any City. I defy any House to show any nicer line of NECK WEAR and

Furnishing Goods.

My aim is to HOLD THE CLOTHING TRADE, by carrying a Large Stock so I can please you all. PRICES TALK. Come and see my Large Spring Stock before buying elsewhere.

GEO. W. MILLER.

Summer Boarders.
Mrs. M. P. Burns

Has her house well supplied with choicest summer boarders, and will be prepared to receive more. Her house is one that is appreciated by the lakers and nearly the whole village. Terms reasonable. Corner Clinton Street and the Park.

CHANCERY SALE.

STATE OF MICHIGAN,
The Circuit Court for the County of Charlevoix, In Chancery.

Edwin Shaw, complainant vs. William T. Aldridge, Hiram E. Gallup, Robert Ermer, Nathan Ermer, Jr., Nathan Ermer, defendants.

Notice is hereby given that in pursuance of a decree of the said Circuit Court, made in said above entitled cause on the 14th day of February, 1885, that I shall sell at public auction, to the highest bidder, at the front door of the Village Hall, in the Village of Charlevoix, County of Charlevoix, State of Michigan, on the 17th day of July, 1885, at one o'clock in the afternoon of said day, the following described lands in said decree mentioned, viz: Lot number five (5), all another lot (unknown), in township thirty three (33) north of range nine (9) west, lot number twenty (20), twenty (20) acres, lot number twenty (20), twenty (20) acres, lot number twenty (20), twenty (20) acres

FINDING A SITUATION.

BY MANDA L. CROCKER.

"That girl will have to go; she's old enough to earn her own living if she ever intends to. I'll confess to your mother dief I took her in, but that did not signify that I was going to keep her forever. I've done a good part by the thankless chit in the last ten years, and I've made up my mind not to be bothered with her any longer."

Mrs. Lucinda Maynard brushed back a few silvered hairs which had fallen unceremoniously into her face, and leaned back in her ample chair, watching furtively the countenance of her husband, who sat opposite her on the broad, chintz-covered lounge.

"I don't know, Lucinda; 'seems to me 'twould be kind o' hard to send her adrift at present. She is only sixteen this coming winter, and sort o' frail; so quiet and white-faced, you know," and the husband ended deprecatingly.

He had said his little say, feeling, that with his wife his words had but little weight; for ever since marriage had made them one, he had been aware that she was the one, and he and his views constituted a mere matrimonial cipher.

"Frail, fudge! Josiah Maynard; that's always your way of putting things. I am all but out of patience with you. Just as if I didn't know natural-born slowness and inherited laziness from diseases. I am old enough to know that the grass will always have a chance to grow under Mage Lovell's feet, so you need not think to spur your clarity nails in her behalf. No, sir. I've settled it to-day. There are our cows to look after; Eleanor is to be fitted out for boarding-school, and Agnes must have the Steinway you promised her over a year ago; so counting up what we owe our own children, there isn't much to throw away on Mage Lovell, I can tell you."

"But she helps you in the kitchen and dairy a great deal, Lucinda, and I imagine you will miss her often; 'seems to me I should."

"Tush! I will not grieve, nor have to wait on her slow motions, either," and the callous-hearted woman indulged in a hard, creaking laugh as she folded her hands and rocked to and fro complacently.

Josiah Maynard heaved a deep sigh, and leaned back against the easement. He knew his broad acres and beautiful home were sufficient for the wants and fancies of all, and his pitying heart yearned toward the quiet orphaned niece who had grown like a pale flower from her hitherto sunless home. His heart ached at the prospect of seeing Margaret Lovell, his dead sister's child, thrived out on the charities of an unkind world. He shut his eyes and gave himself up to certain plans concerning Margaret.

The door opening out on the piazza was ajar, and, had Lucinda Maynard noticed it, she might have seen a scared white face and wild eyes, just visible in the gathering twilight; while with bated breath Margaret Lovell caught every word of the conversation between her aunt and uncle.

Margaret was on the point of entering when the first sentences alluded to fell, stunning in its effect, on her ear; then she drew back and remained motionless until the cruel closing sentence had gone to her heart like a knife; and then, retracing her steps stealthily, she disappeared in the shadows.

The evening wind blew coldly from the gates of the sunset across the unmowed fields, and moaned around the gables of the Maynard homestead, and the desolate-hearted girl shivered and walked on, for she did not wish to go in now; she was not wanted. No; Aunt Lucinda said she "must go." Where should she go? She did not know, and wondered in a vague, frightened way what it all meant.

Uncle Josiah went out shortly afterward to lock the barn, and found Margaret standing by the gate.

"She's going to send me away, there! Oh, Uncle Joe!" and her slender fingers closed tightly over his arm. He started as if a Derringer had been suddenly thrust in his face with murderous intent.

"You heard her then, Maggie?"

"Yes; what have I done to vex her so? I really cannot comprehend. I've tried hard to please you all, but it seems aunt is not pleased. She has been hard on me lately, but I thought maybe she was tired, or worried over Cousin Eleanor's going off to school. Did she ever talk like this before, Uncle Joe?"

"Yes, child; yet I never thought she was in earnest until now. It almost breaks my heart to think of it—to not see you around any more, Maggie; it's like a funeral—like a funeral." He paused and stroked her head, fondly. "Maybe she was tired, or worried o' er Cousin Eleanor's going off to school. Did she ever talk like this before, Uncle Joe?"

"Yes, child; yet I never thought she was in earnest until now. It almost breaks my heart to think of it—to not see you around any more, Maggie; it's like a funeral—like a funeral." He paused and stroked her head, fondly. "Maybe she will relent," he added, presently.

"No, she will not," answered the girl, with a sob, "and I could not stay where I am not wanted, any way, even if she never urged my going again. But where can I go? I don't know anybody. Oh, I wish mother had not died, or that I might have died with her! I wonder why God lets things go on this way?"

"Be still, Maggie; don't question our Father's ways. I cannot answer your question, dear; but it will all come right in the end, if we only put our trust in Him. Don't ever forget that, Maggie; God's ways are always for the best.

"I suppose so; but now I am walking in the shadows, and the future is very dark. I really do not see where I am to go."

"Let me think," said her uncle, wiping the suspicious moisture from his eyes with his handkerchief.

Margaret guessed at her uncle's trains, although the deepening twilight obscured his countenance.

"Let me see," he continued, "there's your Aunt Lucinda's step-brother, Cyril Belknap. You remember him, Maggie? Well, he is as different as can be from your aunt. Now it strikes me that he would like to have you make your home in his great big house. He is a bachelor, and no one lives with him excepting his cousin, the housekeeper, and a servant or so. Besides, he said when your mother died that 'if you had been a little older Lucinda wouldn't have got you.' Yet now he's a great big heart, Cyril has, and he is generous to a fault. Yes, Maggie, it strikes me that this is the second home in the world for you—seeing you have to leave me, though God knows there's an abundance here. But I suppose your aunt would object to your going there; she would not be anxious for you to find favor with Uncle Cyril."

"Why, Uncle Joe?"

"Oh, reason enough. She sort of hankers after his elegant property, and thinks maybe he might make her lord and master, if she tries hard enough. Ha, ha! I guess I know the ins and outs of her heart. Of course he's no more relation to them than to you—no relative of any of you, in fact—but she has her anticipations."

But Aunt Lucinda did not object. Her mind was too full of the present for a thought of the future.

Although several weeks elapsed after this conversation and decided action of Lucinda Maynard's, still Margaret had no home. There were the holidays, and the work, and company, consequently Mag could not be spared until after Christmas were gone by; "but one cold bright morning in January Uncle Joe drove Margaret to the station in his sleigh, and, putting a purse of money into her trembling hand, bade her good-by, and saw her off with genuine tears.

Down over the hill sweet little sleigh-goers, whirling the snow in little spiral clouds hither and thither, while the flaring sunset betokened a cold, windy night. The dry leaves rustled and whirled off by twos and threes from the scrub oaks struggling along the solitary road from the lonely little station at the crossing to the interior. Down over the hill, also, but not in such a flurry, came Margaret, carrying a heavy basket, and looking anxiously ahead of her down into the valley, expecting to see her Uncle Cyril there.

Yes, there it was; away in the distance, with the sunset gleaming on its panes and fretted eaves, stood Cyril Belknap's home, half hidden by a dozen or more great pine trees, whose sable branches caught the rising wind and lashed each other savagely.

"Great enough for home was Uncle Cyril's house," and Margaret took a better hold of the big basket and descended into the winding valley road.

On and on she pressed, with benumbed and aching feet, thought it was a mile to Uncle Cyril's, when in reality it was nearly two. But how should she know, having never been over the road before? Uncle would have met her at the train, of course, but she was coming unannounced; she preferred to do; somehow she had not the courage to let him know she was coming in the way she was—homeless, and an alien in fact, had he not told her it was "a couple of miles, perhaps, to the Belknap place," and she thought she might walk that far and carry her baggage. When the gray-haired conductor helped her down with the tremendous basket, at the desolate little station of Dexter, he noticed her pale, thin face, and wondered what a starved-looking young lady could want to be set down in such a place, without any conveyance, and when she started off with her unwieldly burden, he shut the carriage door with a hasty, soothing, "God Lord, and no one to meet her even."

Poor Margaret. Life's clouds had never exhibited to her eager vision much of their silver lining. Orphaned in her babyhood, she had clung to Aunt Lucinda; now she had cast her off "to find a situation," she said. "Big enough to do for herself," well, maybe she was. Now what would Uncle Cyril think? Perhaps he would think as Aunt Lucinda, and send her adrift also. She remembered him as a tall, handsome man, with a pleasant laugh and musical voice, when she saw him last.

All day long the thunder of the train had made her nervous, and to get out into the crisp air once more seemed like getting a new lease of liberty. She was not well to the close, heated air of the coaches, but she was used to walking in the cold, she this adventure of evening—Christmas was coming by way "but one cold bright morning in January Uncle Joe drove Margaret to the station in his sleigh, and, putting a purse of money into her trembling hand, bade her good-by, and saw her off with genuine tears.

Down over the hill sweet little sleigh-goers, whirling the snow in little spiral clouds hither and thither, while the flaring sunset betokened a cold, windy night. The dry leaves rustled and whirled off by twos and threes from the scrub oaks struggling along the solitary road from the lonely little station at the crossing to the interior. Down over the hill, also, but not in such a flurry, came Margaret, carrying a heavy basket, and looking anxiously ahead of her down into the valley, expecting to see her Uncle Cyril there.

Yes, there it was; away in the distance, with the sunset gleaming on its panes and fretted eaves, stood Cyril Belknap's home, half hidden by a dozen or more great pine trees, whose sable branches caught the rising wind and lashed each other savagely.

"Great enough for home was Uncle Cyril's house," and Margaret took a better hold of the big basket and descended into the winding valley road.

On and on she pressed, with benumbed and aching feet, thought it was a mile to Uncle Cyril's, when in reality it was nearly two. But how should she know, having never been over the road before? Uncle would have met her at the train, of course, but she was coming unannounced; she preferred to do; somehow she had not the courage to let him know she was coming in the way she was—homeless, and an alien in fact, had he not told her it was "a couple of miles, perhaps, to the Belknap place," and she thought she might walk that far and carry her baggage. When the gray-haired conductor helped her down with the tremendous basket, at the desolate little station of Dexter, he noticed her pale, thin face, and wondered what a starved-looking young lady could want to be set down in such a place, without any conveyance, and when she started off with her unwieldly burden, he shut the carriage door with a hasty, soothing, "God Lord, and no one to meet her even."

Poor Margaret. Life's clouds had never exhibited to her eager vision much of their silver lining. Orphaned in her babyhood, she had clung to Aunt Lucinda; now she had cast her off "to find a situation," she said. "Big enough to do for herself," well, maybe she was. Now what would Uncle Cyril think? Perhaps he would think as Aunt Lucinda, and send her adrift also. She remembered him as a tall, handsome man, with a pleasant laugh and musical voice, when she saw him last.

All day long the thunder of the train had made her nervous, and to get out into the crisp air once more seemed like getting a new lease of liberty. She was not well to the close, heated air of the coaches, but she was used to walking in the cold, she this adventure of evening—Christmas were gone by way "that one cold bright morning in January Uncle Joe drove Margaret to the station in his sleigh, and, putting a purse of money into her trembling hand, bade her good-by, and saw her off with genuine tears.

Down over the hill sweet little sleigh-goers, whirling the snow in little spiral clouds hither and thither, while the flaring sunset betokened a cold, windy night. The dry leaves rustled and whirled off by twos and threes from the scrub oaks struggling along the solitary road from the lonely little station at the crossing to the interior. Down over the hill, also, but not in such a flurry, came Margaret, carrying a heavy basket, and looking anxiously ahead of her down into the valley, expecting to see her Uncle Cyril there.

Yes, there it was; away in the distance, with the sunset gleaming on its panes and fretted eaves, stood Cyril Belknap's home, half hidden by a dozen or more great pine trees, whose sable branches caught the rising wind and lashed each other savagely.

"Great enough for home was Uncle Cyril's house," and Margaret took a better hold of the big basket and descended into the winding valley road.

On and on she pressed, with benumbed and aching feet, thought it was a mile to Uncle Cyril's, when in reality it was nearly two. But how should she know, having never been over the road before? Uncle would have met her at the train, of course, but she was coming unannounced; she preferred to do; somehow she had not the courage to let him know she was coming in the way she was—homeless, and an alien in fact, had he not told her it was "a couple of miles, perhaps, to the Belknap place," and she thought she might walk that far and carry her baggage. When the gray-haired conductor helped her down with the tremendous basket, at the desolate little station of Dexter, he noticed her pale, thin face, and wondered what a starved-looking young lady could want to be set down in such a place, without any conveyance, and when she started off with her unwieldly burden, he shut the carriage door with a hasty, soothing, "God Lord, and no one to meet her even."

Poor Margaret. Life's clouds had never exhibited to her eager vision much of their silver lining. Orphaned in her babyhood, she had clung to Aunt Lucinda; now she had cast her off "to find a situation," she said. "Big enough to do for herself," well, maybe she was. Now what would Uncle Cyril think? Perhaps he would think as Aunt Lucinda, and send her adrift also. She remembered him as a tall, handsome man, with a pleasant laugh and musical voice, when she saw him last.

All day long the thunder of the train had made her nervous, and to get out into the crisp air once more seemed like getting a new lease of liberty. She was not well to the close, heated air of the coaches, but she was used to walking in the cold, she this adventure of evening—Christmas were gone by way "that one cold bright morning in January Uncle Joe drove Margaret to the station in his sleigh, and, putting a purse of money into her trembling hand, bade her good-by, and saw her off with genuine tears.

Down over the hill sweet little sleigh-goers, whirling the snow in little spiral clouds hither and thither, while the flaring sunset betokened a cold, windy night. The dry leaves rustled and whirled off by twos and threes from the scrub oaks struggling along the solitary road from the lonely little station at the crossing to the interior. Down over the hill, also, but not in such a flurry, came Margaret, carrying a heavy basket, and looking anxiously ahead of her down into the valley, expecting to see her Uncle Cyril there.

Yes, there it was; away in the distance, with the sunset gleaming on its panes and fretted eaves, stood Cyril Belknap's home, half hidden by a dozen or more great pine trees, whose sable branches caught the rising wind and lashed each other savagely.

"Great enough for home was Uncle Cyril's house," and Margaret took a better hold of the big basket and descended into the winding valley road.

On and on she pressed, with benumbed and aching feet, thought it was a mile to Uncle Cyril's, when in reality it was nearly two. But how should she know, having never been over the road before? Uncle would have met her at the train, of course, but she was coming unannounced; she preferred to do; somehow she had not the courage to let him know she was coming in the way she was—homeless, and an alien in fact, had he not told her it was "a couple of miles, perhaps, to the Belknap place," and she thought she might walk that far and carry her baggage. When the gray-haired conductor helped her down with the tremendous basket, at the desolate little station of Dexter, he noticed her pale, thin face, and wondered what a starved-looking young lady could want to be set down in such a place, without any conveyance, and when she started off with her unwieldly burden, he shut the carriage door with a hasty, soothing, "God Lord, and no one to meet her even."

Poor Margaret. Life's clouds had never exhibited to her eager vision much of their silver lining. Orphaned in her babyhood, she had clung to Aunt Lucinda; now she had cast her off "to find a situation," she said. "Big enough to do for herself," well, maybe she was. Now what would Uncle Cyril think? Perhaps he would think as Aunt Lucinda, and send her adrift also. She remembered him as a tall, handsome man, with a pleasant laugh and musical voice, when she saw him last.

All day long the thunder of the train had made her nervous, and to get out into the crisp air once more seemed like getting a new lease of liberty. She was not well to the close, heated air of the coaches, but she was used to walking in the cold, she this adventure of evening—Christmas were gone by way

---

An Englishman and a German.

Not long ago I chanced to be speaking with a Prussian gentleman about the ill-feeling which existed at that time between his country and Russia, which seemed likely enough to culminate in hostilities. He assured me that the ill-feeling was entirely on the Russian side.

"We have nothing against them," he declared, "and we want nothing from them; but they are angry with us, and that is easily explained. They cannot get on without us; they are obliged to employ our people everywhere instead of their own, and they are furious because they have to acknowledge the superiority of the German intellect." I remarked that the superiority of the German intellect was manifest; whereupon he shrugged his shoulders quickly, and asserted in the well-known Prussian fashion, as who would say, "Could any one be such a fool as to doubt it?"

I went on to observe that in philosophy, science, and music Germany led mankind. He agreed with me, and added: "Also in the art of war."

"The Germans," I proceeded, "are the best educated people in the world," I was replied: "No doubt."

"And they are the pleasantest company."

"Certainly," answered he, "that is so."

"And what adds much to the attractiveness of their conversation," I continued, "is their delicate wit and keen perception of irony." I ventured to add, that I had made this outrageous speech to a man of shoes and looked down at my plate. I might never to have said it, and indeed I would not have said it if I had not had my mind in it I became irresistible. But there was no occasion for alarm. When I raised my eyes to my neighbor's face I found it irradiated with smiles. He laid his hand on my arm quite affectionately.

"What you say is certainly true," he cried; "but do you know you are the first stranger I have ever met who has had the sense to discover it!" And he then explained to me that the Germans were absurdly considered by Frenchmen and other superficial observers to be a rather dull-witted and heavy race. Now I really do not see how any one is to help being a nation that is so happily self-complacent.—Cornhill.

The Boiling Lake of Dominica.

Imagine into the infernal caldron that lies before us nothing that we are standing here at the mouth of a still active volcano. The basin of the lake lies in the midst of a deep, steeply descending cup, the crater, to which two streams enter, the one, a cascade of the streams brings cold chalybeate water, and must by the basin to unite with its warm effluent; the other, bringing warm water, empties into the boiling lake. On the side opposite the crater gaps an opening in the wall which permits the escape of the lake. It is of quite recent origin, for it dates only from the catastrophe of 1880, in which the whole side of the cone was strived. Previous to this time the area of the lake was about three times as great as it is now, when its diameter is only about forty-five paces. In the center of the basin is a pyramid growing from a mound of black mud, which, when we approved it, spouted to a height of some fifteen or twenty feet. Other channels have grown in a height of from sixty to a hundred feet in the interior of the mud-heap of the crater

PINE LAKE IRON COMPANY

Ironton, Mich.,

Are Full in all kinds of General Merchandise.

I have purchased the Meat business of Armstrong & Co., and will continue at the old stand, with the freshest and best goods in the market.

T. E. CHAMBERLIN.

GARLAND STOVES & RANGES — KEEP YOUR EYE ON THE Right Place

For Bargains in Hardware,

Iron, Cutlery, Tin ware, Stoves, Implements, Fixtures, Pumps, Grindstones, Wagons, Buggies, Carts, Wheelbarrows, Refrigerators, Doors, Sash,

PAINTS Oils, Varnishes, Putty, Glass, Fence wire, Farm bells, Carpenter's tools, Notions, Fishing tackle, Revolvers, Guns, Ammunition, Spoons, Forks, LAMPS, Baskets, Measures, Tubs, Wooden ware, Rope, Fisherman's Supplies, and Ship chandlery, Job and Tin work.

L. D. BARTHOLOMEW & CO.

Come and See our New and Handsome Stock of Stationery. Remember, we carry the largest stock of

Drugs and Patent Medicines

In Charlevoix county.

Every Article Warranted as Represented.

We Solicit a Share of your Favors.

O. B. Weed & Co., Druggists, Opera Block.

HURRAH for GOOD TIMES

Everything Booming

AT E. M. CLARK'S

Where he has a Lively Trade in

Dry Goods, Groceries, Boots and Shoes, Clothing, &c.

When you get the blues, just call around and see with what dispatch everything is done, where Pork, Eggs, Butter, &c., is taken in exchange for Goods.

E. M. Clark

Charlevoix, Mich., Harbor and Summer Resorts.

The above is a geographically correct view though containing but a small portion of the buildings of Charlevoix, Mich., a village of over twelve hundred inhabitants, rapidly growing in favor and reputation as one of the most delightful Summer Resorts and safest harbors in northern Michigan. Several lines of steamers concentrate here, connecting at all hours of the day with all sure-sailing boats, fishing steamers, pleasure parties, and other places of interest, health, and pleasure. The social behaviorists are also offered the convenient shelter who desire to indulge his capital in manufacturing enterprises where it will bring the best results. The resources of the county are being developed so as to bring the richest returns. For any other information regarding the village or surroundings, address

THE CHARLEVOIX JOURNAL

CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN.

The JOURNAL is an eight-page newspaper, devoted to the material growth and prosperity of Charlevoix county in general, and Charlevoix village in particular. Published weekly at $1.50 per year. Sample copies free. CHAS. J. STRANG, Publisher.

Temperance Column.

Conducted by a Committee of the W. C. T. U.

Officers of the society.

President—Mrs. C. T. Cook.
First Vice President—Mrs. L. E. Allen.
Second Vice President—Mrs. J. T. Billings.
Third Vice President—Mrs. C. F. Van Auken.
Corresponding Secretary—Mrs. D. C. Loveday.
Recording Secretary—Mrs. R. Suffield.
Treasurer—Mrs. C. J. Strang.

Ye bold me break my fiery chain,
Arise, and be a man again,
When every street with snares is spread,
And acts of sin where er I tread.
No, I need rum as I did saw,
The seeds of sin bring crops of woe;
But with my latest breath I'll crave
That ye will try the boys to save.

These bloodshed eyes were once so bright
This sin-cooled heart was glad and light;
But by the wine-cup's ruddy glow
I traced a path to shame and woe.
A captive to my galling chain,
I've tried to rise, but tried in vain;
The cup allures and then destroys,
Oh, from its thraldom save the boys!

Take from your streets those traps of hell
Into whose gilded snares I fell;
Oh! freeman, from those foul decoys,
Arise and vote to safe the boys.
Ans ye who licensure men to trade
In dreams dim chains and then degrade,
Before you hear the cry, "Too late!"
Oh! save the boys from my sad fate!

To the Boys.

Water is the strongest drink. It drives mills; it is the drink of lions and horses. Samson never drank anything else. Let young men be teetalers if only for economy's sake. The beer money will soon build a house. If what goes into the mash tub went into the kneading trough, families would be better fed, and better taught. If what is spent in waste was only saved for a rainy day, work houses would never be built. The man who spends his money with the publican, and thinks the landlord's bow and "How do you do, my good fellow" mean true respect, is a perfect simpleton. We don't light fires for the lering's comfort, but to roast him. Men do not keep pet houses for the lubber's good; if they do, they certainly miss their aim. Why, then, should people drink for the good of the house? If I spend my money for the good of any house, let it be my own, not a landlord's. It is a bad well into which you must pour water; and the beer house is a bad friend, because it takes your all and leaves you nothing but headaches.

He who calls those his friends who let him sit by the hour together, is ignorant, very ignorant. Why are lions and tigers and eagles and vultures are birds of prey, and why do so many put themselves within the power of their jaws and talons? Such as drink and live riotously, and wonder why their faces are so blotchy and their pockets so bare, would leave off wondering if they had two grains of wisdom. They might as well ask an elm tree for pears as to look to loose habits for health and wealth. Those who go to a public house for happiness drink a tree to find fish.—Mr. Spurgeon on Temperance.

Can It be Exaggerated?

Mr. Gough says there are many persons who talk about temperance men as being fanatics. They tell us we are rabid on the subject of temperance. Look any reformed drunkard if it is not right to be rabid against an evil that has scorched and blasted, seathed and scarred us till we carry the marks of it to the grave.

Young men sometimes have an idea that a young man can sow his wild oats and get over it. You put your hand in the hand of a giant and he crushes it. Still it may be healed and by and by in some way it may be a useful one, but it is a mutilated hand; its beauty and symetry have gone forever. We who have passed through this fire know something of this awful scourge; we know something of the terrible struggle to get out of it. I think we ought to be what they call fanatic. They tell us we exaggerate the evils of drunkenness. Do we? Let me appeal to the intelligent and ask the question, "Do we exaggerate the evil of drunkenness?" No, sir, we cannot. God never gave a man a mind capable of grasping the extent of the awful evil of drunkenness for time and for eternity.—Golden Censor.

Temperance hotels are getting more numerous than in former times. This is a fact of which we are glad. Temperance people can do more if they would, toward bringing about this result. They should supply the extent of the awful evil of drunkenness for time and for eternity.—Golden Censor.

Temperance hotels are getting more numerous than in former times. This is a fact of which we are glad. Temperance people can do more if they would, toward bringing about this result. They should supply the extent of temperance hotels wherever they can, and not pay their money in the coffers of saloon hotels.

J. MILO EATON,

DEALER IN

Real Estate

OF ALL KINDS.

Houses and Lots for Sale

IN THE MOST DESIRABLE PARTS OF CHARLEVOIX.

WILD LANDS AND IMPROVED FARMS

FOR SALE IN ALL PARTS OF THE COUNTY.

Abstracts of Title Furnished on Short Notice.

Represents the

Best Insurance Companies.

OFFICE ON BRIDGE STREET. ESTABLISHED IN 1875.

Charlevoix and East Jordan.

Steamer GAZELLE—Capt. Robert O'Neil.

Morning—Leave Charlevoix 6.30, arrive East Jordan 7.30, leave East Jordan 9.00, arrive Charlevoix 10. Afternoon—Leave Charlevoix 2.00, arrive East Jordan 3.00, leave East Jordan 4.30, arrive Charlevoix 5.30. Stopping at intermediate points.

Steamer CLARA BELLE—Capt. Mark Thompson.

Mornings—Leave East Jordan 7.00, arrive Charlevoix 8.00, leave Charlevoix 8.30, arrive East Jordan 9.30. Afternoons—Leave East Jordan 1.30, arrive Charlevoix 2.30, leave Charlevoix 3.00, arrive East Jordan 4.00. Stopping at intermediate points.

Harbor Springs, Petoskey, Charlevoix and East Jordan.

STEAMER THOMAS PRIANT.

CAPT. R. VANSWEARINGEN.

Morning—Leave Harbor Springs 7.00, Petoskey 7.30, Charlevoix 8.30, arrive East Jordan 11.30. Afternoon—Leave East Jordan 1.30, Charlevoix 2.30, arrive Petoskey 4.30, arrive Harbor Springs 5.00.

Close connections at Petoskey with G. R. & I. R. R. trains, north and south.

Hannah, Lay & Co.'s Pleasure Steamers.

SEASON OF 1885.

CITY OF GRAND RAPIDS.

CAPT. G. E. WELSER.

Going South every morning—Leave Traverse City 8.00, Northport 9.00, Leland 11.00, Frankfort 1.00, Pentwater 3.30, arrive at Harbor Springs 4.45.

Going South every afternoon—Leave Harbor Springs 2.00, Petoskey 2.30, Charlevoix 4.00, Northport 5.30, Northport 6.30, arrive at Traverse City 9.00.

T. S. FAXTON.

CAPT. A. E. ALGOOD.

Going South every morning—Leave Harbor Springs 7.00, Petoskey 7.30, Charlevoix 9.45, Town Lake 10.30, arrive Traverse City 2.30.

Going North every afternoon—Leave Traverse City, Town Lake 2.45, Charlevoix 7.45, Petoskey 8.15, arrive Harbor Springs 9.45.

GOOD CONNECTIONS will be made at Traverse City and Petoskey with the steamers of these lines on the G. R. & I. R. R. plies on Monday mornings between the CITY OF TRAVERSE from Chicago and the CITY OF CHARLEVOIX going north, and on Wednesday evenings between the same points going south, and the CITY OF TRAVERSE on Sundays.

Grand Rapids & Indiana R. R.

Time Table in effect October, 1884.

GOING NORTH.

STATIONS.	No 1	No 3	No 5	No. 7
Cincinnati, lv		7 00am	7 15pm
Richmond	2 20pm	10 30	11 00
Muncie	3 51	11 59	11 00
Marion	4 41	12 52	12 01am
Fort Wayne, ar	6 40	2 27pm	1 50am
Fort Wayne, lv		2 32	1 55	8 45am
Newcastle		3 02	2 32	9 31
Muncie		3 42	3 12	10 11
Kinsburg		3 57	3 27	10 26
Kalamazoo, ar		6 35	6 35	12 55am
Schoolcraft		6 54	6 54	1 14
Gull Prairie, ar		7 05	7 05	1 25
Otsego, ar	7 16am	7 16	7 16	1 36
Allegan, ar	7 36	7 35	7 35	1 56
Howard City	8 27	8 25	8 25	2 46
Big Rapids	9 00	9 00	9 00	3 20
Reed City, ar		9 35	9 35	3 55
Reed City, lv	10 17	11 39	1 40	8 30
Cadillac, ar	11 25	1 00am	2 10	10 05
Cadillac, lv		1 05	2 20
Walton		2 11	3 42
Traverse City, ar			4 15
Kalkaska, ar			5 40
Mancelona		3 49	5 41
Bone Falls		4 05	5 56
Petoskey, ar		5 05	7 00
Harbor Springs		5 30	7 30
Markham City		7 00am	8 10

GOING SOUTH.

STATIONS.	No 2	No 4	No. 6	No. 8
Markham City		6 00am		3 30pm
Harbor Springs		6 50		4 00
Petoskey, ar		7 30	1 20pm
Bone Falls		8 10	2 02
Mancelona		8 26	2 17
Kalkaska		9 04	3 01
Traverse City, lv		9 40	3 40
Walton		10 41	4 41pm
Cadillac, ar		11 35	5 35
Cadillac, lv		12 05pm	5 45
Reed City, ar		4 20	1 05pm	2 50
Reed City, lv	4 32	4 32	1 07	2 56
Big Rapids	5 02	5 02	1 40	3 27
Howard City	6 06	6 06	2 21	4 47
Allegan, ar	7 00	7 00	3 15	6 00
Gull Prairie, ar	7 20	7 20	3 35	6 20
Otsego, ar	7 30am	7 30	3 45	6 30
Kalamazoo, ar	8 00	8 00	4 20	7 00
Schoolcraft	8 20	8 20	4 40	7 20
Vicksburg	8 31	8 31	4 51	7 31
Kinsburg	10 23	9 18	5 29	8 25
Muncie	10 38	9 33	5 44	8 40
Fort Wayne, ar	11 10pm		10 40	9 55
Fort Wayne, lv	11 15	5 20pm	10 45pm	10 00
Marion	1 41	6 51	12 12am	11 26
Muncie	3 26	8 46	2 05
Richmond	4 15	9 35	2 54
Cincinnati, ar	7 15pm	12 30pm	7 30am

C. L. LOCKWOOD, A. J. AMOS,
General Agent. Grand Rapids, Mich.

A PRESENT.

Our readers for a short time will receive chromos to pay for mailing and wrapping, and moneys of no book agents, will receive free, a Good Finish Parlor Engraving of all our Presidents and Cabinets, size 22x28, worth $1.00. Address Elder Pub. Co., Chicago, Ill.

PIMPLES.

I will mail free the recipe for a simple vegetable remedy that will remove ALL PIMPLES, FLESH WORMS, BLACKHEADS, leaving the skin soft, clear and beautiful, and will also send receipt for a luxuriant growth of hair on a bald head or smooth face. Address, inclosing a stamp, BEN. VANDER & CO., 12 Barclay St., N. Y.

THE HOWE MACHINE CO.

AT THE FRONT.

OUR LATEST SUCCESS.

An Entirely New — High Arm.

Easy Running Sewing Machine

IT HAS

The Most Room under the Arm,
The Best Self-Setting Needle,
The Largest Bobbin,
The Easiest Shuttle to Thread,
The Most Perfect Tension,
The Most Reliable Feed,
The Most Perfect Take-up,
The Best Bobbin Winder.

IT IS

SIMPLE, STRONG, DURABLE & HANDSOME

Runs Handiest, Very Light, Very Still, and without Vibration.

Before you purchase, please examine the NEW HOWE at the office of

Mrs. M. Litney, Agt., Charlevoix

ISLAND HOME

Stock Farm,

Crosse Ile, Wayne Co., Mich.

SAVAGE & FARNUM, PROPRIETORS.

Patented No. 320,096.

—IMPORTED—

Percheron Horses.

All stock selected from the pet of sires and dams of established reputation, lately imported from French and American Studs.

ISLAND HOME

is beautifully situated at the head of Grosse Ile, the largest island in the mouth of the river, and is accessible by railroad and steamboat. Visitors not familiar with the locations may call at our office, on Campau Building, and be escorted all expenses thereto free of charge. Send for catalogue, free by mail. Address, SAVAGE & FARNUM, Detroit, Mich.

ERRORS OF YOUTH

and MANHOOD. One who has suffered all the horrors arising from the dreadful and destructive habit of self abuse, and is anxious to make known the means and way by which he was thoroughly and permanently cured, will send to his fellow sufferers the receipt or simple prescription by which he was cured, free of charge. This great remedy, unknown to society, banished brain power, nervous debility, involuntary losses, nightly emissions, loss of the greater organs, early decay of manhood, impotency and blotches on the face and body, from impurities and indiscretion—in fact, it is a sovereign remedy for all and effectual cure for self cure. Persons who prescribe this remedy are the only ones who possess the secret. Address in confidence, J. W. FINNEY, 24 Ann Street, New York.

Established Fifty-five Years.

RAVEN & BACON'S

RAVEN PIANOS,

33 East 16th Street, New York City.

BUY FROM THE MANUFACTURER AND SAVE 50 PER CENT.

Three Pianos are made from the best material obtainable, the best workmen that can be employed, and the best system of business that has proved for Fifty Years. Every piano guaranteed for Seven Years. Pianos sent to any place on trial before payment is required and freight paid both ways if not satisfactory. Look at the prices and send for Illustrated Catalogue before buying elsewhere.

No. 1, Upright or Square, $350, cash $300
No. 2, " " 300, " 270
No. 3, " " 250, " 200

ALL 7-1-2 OCTAVES.

RUPTURE CURED by the new method. Pamphlet free. Sale, secure rupture. Scale-board for hard. Dr. Marsh & Co., 251 4th Ave., New York.

THE CHARLEVOIX JOURNAL.

NUMBER 99. CHARLEVOIX, MICH.: THURSDAY, JUNE 4, 1885. $1.50 PER YEAR.

THE JOURNAL

Published every Thursday,

BY CHAS. J. STRANG.

Office on Bridge Street,

CHARLEVOIX, - - MICHIGAN

ENTERED AT THE POSTOFFICE AT CHARLEVOIX, MICH., AS SECOND-CLASS MATTER.

BUSINESS DIRECTORY.

ATTORNEYS.

ARTHUR E. MARTIN, Attorney at Law, Boyne City, Mich. Collections promptly attended to.

CRICKSHANK & GRIER, Attorneys at Law, Office "Antlers" Block, Petoskey, Mich. Practice in Admiralty a Specialty.
A. B. CRICKSHANK. C. J. GRIER.

JAMES C. CALL, Attorney at Law, Real Estate and Loan Agent, Lake St., East of postoffice, Petoskey, Mich.

FRED W. MAYNE, Attorney and Counselor, Real Estate business promptly attended to. MONEY TO LOAN.

H. A. JERSEY, Attorney and Counselor at Law. Office on Lake St., Boyne, Mich.

J. E. NEWBERRY, Attorney at Law and Judge of Probate of Emmet Co., Petoskey, Mich.

J. MILO EATON, Attorney at Law, Charlevoix, Mich.

NORTON & KEAT, Attorneys at Law, Boyne City, and East Jordan. A. Norton, Boyne City. J. A. Keat, East Jordan.

OSCAR F. WINNER, Attorney at Law and United States Circuit Court Commissioner, Western District. East Jordan, Mich.

W. N. MOORE, Attorney and Solicitor, East Jordan. Admiralty a Specialty.

A. S. GARRUTT, Attorney at Law, Boyne City, Mich.

CHURCHES.

FIRST CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH. Sunday School at 12:00 m. Preaching 7:30 p. m. Sunday School at close of morning service. Prayer meeting every Thursday evening at 7:00 o'clock. C. T. VAN AUKEN, pastor.

METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH.—Sunday services at 10:30 a. m. and 7 p. m. Sunday school at close of morning service. Prayer and praise meeting Thursday evening at 7 o'clock. J. T. HINDS, pastor.

FIRE DEPARTMENT.

CHARLEVOIX ROUGH AND READY FIRE COMPANY meet every Saturday night at the town hall. R. F. BISHOP, Secretary.

HOMEOPATHIC PHARMACY.

R. SUFFIELD, Homeopathic Medicines, Books, &c. Insurance Cases, etc., Charlevoix, Mich.

PHYSICIANS.

J. A. CARLSTEDT, M. D., Office at the Ingleside.

LEWIS MOORE, Physician and Surgeon. Office in the Lewis Block, Charlevoix, Mich.

W. J. PRESTON, M. D., Surgeon and Homeopathic Physician, Charlevoix, Mich.

REAL ESTATE AGENTS.

HORACE S. HARSHA, Notary Public, Real Estate, Loan, and Insurance Agt., Charlevoix.

SECRET SOCIETIES.

G. A. R. HARBOR POST NO. 170, meets second and fourth Monday in each month, at Odd Fellows' hall.

I. O. O. F.—Charlevoix Lodge No. 357, meets every Friday evening, at Odd Fellows' hall.

I. O. O. F.—Round Lake Lodge No. 381, meets every Wednesday evening, in their hall.

K. O. T. M.—Resort Tent, No. 157, meets second and third Thursday every month, at Odd Fellows' hall.

K. O. T. M.—Lake Tent, No. 243, meets every other Saturday evening, at Odd Fellows' hall.

MASONIC—Charlevoix Lodge No. 382, meets Tuesday on or before full moon, in Odd Fellows' hall.

WELL DIGGING.

FRANK DURGA, Charlevoix, Mich., will attend promptly to all work in the line of well digging, cistern building, stone repairing, well curbing, cellar building, and similar work. 45

O. W. SMITH,

ELECTRO-PLATER,

Manufacturing Jeweler and Lapidist.

Electroplating in Gold and Silver. Any article of jewelry made to order. ALL KINDS OF JEWELRY TO ORDER.

Picture Frames Cheap

I am frame pictures cheaper than ever before, as I have no rent to pay. Call and see me at my house on Clinton street, four doors west of school house.

O. I. WHEAT.

Money to Loan

In sums of $100 and upwards, at reasonable rates of interest, on approved real estate security.

H. C. Miley,

Boyne City.

W. M. WAGAR. G. C. WAGAR.

Wagar Bros.

Wholesale and Retail dealers in Tobacco, Cigars and Smokers' Articles. Also a full line of Confectionery, Fruits, And all manufacturers' Drinks. Shop next door west of Bridge Street House, Charlevoix, Mich.

A FEW FACTS CONCERNING

Dr. CROUTER'S

BAKING POWDER

Or Quick Yeast.

If you use it you will never have yellow biscuit.

If you use it your biscuit will never taste of soda.

It contains no alum, and is absolutely free from anything of a deleterious nature.

It is made from PURE GRAPE CREAM OF TARTAR and NOT from the Common Cream of Tartar of the shops.

It is always fresh and will never disappoint you.

Directions for using furnished with every package.

Price 40 Cents per Pound.

Manufactured and Sold only by

Dr. GEO. W. CROUTER,

Chemist and Druggist,

BRIDGE STREET, CHARLEVOIX, MICH.

Come and See our Immense Stock of

BOOTS AND SHOES.

FOX & MILLER.

BRIDGE STREET HOUSE,

ROBERT MILLER, Proprietor,

Charlevoix, Michigan.

This house is centrally located, and its accommodations excellent. The table supplied with the best the market affords. Only sample room in Charlevoix.

COMMERCIAL HOUSE

D. B. JERRIE, Proprietor.

East Jordan, Michigan.

Entirely refitted and refurnished. First-class Sample Room for agents. Good Stable in Connection with the House. 75

FOUNTAIN CITY HOUSE,

RICHARD COOPER, Proprietor.

Charlevoix, - Michigan.

Finest location in town, giving good view of lakes and resorts. Express office, and headquarters for Petoskey and Elk Rapids stages. Good sample room for commercial travelers adjoining hotel.

PINE LAKE HOUSE,

A. J. HALL, Proprietor.

Boyne City, Michigan.

This house is finely located on the Boyne river, at the head of Pine Lake. It is large and commodious and is well adapted to the entertainment of the traveling public.

PIONEER HOUSE,

A. B. NOYES, Proprietor.

Ironton Michigan.

Every convenience for the traveling public.

1 offer FOR SALE, for Cash or Time,

TIMBER LAND.

The N. W. ¼ of S. E. ¼, Sec. 19, T. 33, R. 5 W., in Charlevoix County, NEAR IRONTON.

No Incumbrance. Title Perfect.

Address J. T. GIBSON, Box 93, Evanston, Mich.

Do You Know

THAT

LORILLARD'S CLIMAX PLUG TOBACCO

with Red Tin Tag, Rose Leaf Fine Cut Chewing, and Navy Smoking, Are the Best Goods? Dealers say so, the best and cheapest, quality considered.

THOROUGHBRED

POULTRY

One hundred per cent more profit than common fowls. Send for Circulars of best Asiatic, European, and American breeds.

EGGS FOR HATCHING CHEAP

Address CLEMENT J. STRANG, Dowagiac, Mich.

THE FARM

offers bargains on five cent counter. A good Digger, box of Pills, Mirror, Ivory Tooth pick, Cake of Soap, 16 other things. On the 10 cent counter are 20 articles that young and old need. There also is the 25 cent counter and much the many necessary articles that are needed for the best the market affords. Only sample room in Charlevoix.

A Happy Family

Circle is the greatest blessing of our civilization, but such a thing is not possible when disease and death lurks on the threshold. One of the most important matters to be attended to, is that the liver and kidneys are in a healthy condition. More trouble arises from derangement of these organs than from any other cause, often resulting in diabetes, bright's disease, and other difficulties generally counted incurable. Parmelee's Dyspepsia, Diabetes, Kidney and Liver Cure will prevent and cure all these difficulties with great certainty. Large bottles $1.

Sold by Dr. G. W. Crouter, Charlevoix, and Crouter & Harris, Ironton.

Toothache.

Did you ever have a cracking, jumping, snapping, roaring and bothersome toothache, that kept the whole family in an uproar until 3 o'clock in the morning? Many have it, but all have not heard of the wonderful cures made by Hamilton's Toothache Drops which are warranted to cure in one minute. Safe yet effective. Price only 25 cents.

Sold by Dr. G. W. Crouter, Charlevoix, and Crouter & Harris, Ironton.

Get to Stand Pat

Mr. A. bought his wife one bottle of Parmelee's Blood Purifier, and now he thinks he has got himself into business, for she derived so much benefit from it that she must try another bottle or two and he permanently cured. There is no Purifier known so efficient in its workings as this. Only $1.00 per bottle.

Sold by Dr. G. W. Crouter, Charlevoix, and Crouter & Harris, Ironton.

CASH FOR FAT CATTLE,

Sheep and Hogs.

Having contracted to furnish Fresh Meats to the Charlevoix markets, this season, I will pay the highest market price for fat Cattle, Sheep, and Hogs.

A. J. McLEOD.

Charlevoix, May 28, 1885.

Protected, but Starving.

Wool and woolen goods are heavily taxed in this country. The pretense under which this is done is that if foreign manufactures can be kept out of the United States, better wages may be paid to employes of mills here. The tax on raw wool was put on, as everybody knows, for the purpose of quieting a certain percentage of the farmers, who found that the tariff cost them millions without giving them anything in return. If it can be shown that weavers do not receive as good wages as street car employes do, for instance, it must be admitted that the tax does not accomplish its object, and that the increased prices thereby by manufacturers simply go to swell the profits of capital. This can be done in a great many instances.

The great woolen mills at Passaic, N. J., employing imported labor for the most part, are now closed because even the "paupers" in their service have struck against further reductions in pay. The stories told by some of these workers show how the tariff "dignifies and ennobles labor." By working long hours some of the weavers say they were able to make $5 a week, but most of them could not make more than $3. They were paid by the piece and received five cents for each blanket. One man who had a wife and two children to support received on the last pay day a few cents less than $6 for two weeks' work. A smart girl twenty two years old who worked until 9 o'clock every night, was paid $5.85 for two weeks' work, and others working equally hard made even less.

Nothing in "free trade England," where nearly everything that working people need is cheaper than it is here, surpasses these instances in hardship. Since the tariff on woolen goods costs the people of this country millions of dollars annually, and results in such abject misery as this that some few men may make millions, why should it be continued?—[Chicago Herald.

Detroit Labor Leaf: The Alpena Labor Journal gives the following prices for the benefit of those who wish by strict industry and self-denial to carve out a fortune and a name for themselves:

"For lag drivers, 18 hours a day, $1 to $1.50; flour, $5; best butter, 30 cents; meat 16 cents; slab shanties, $4 to $7 per month."

Lumbering is a protected industry—for the employer—and one of the results of that protection is to enable him to grind down wages and charge his own prices. The people pay both ways.

Private vs. Public Advertising

The newspaper is, in every sense, the best medium for advertising; and, for a given result, it is by far the cheapest also. It reaches a far greater number of possible customers than any private announcement can; and it is more certain to receive attention. The private circular is thrown aside as a thing which people have come to regard as a bore, and which is neglected because its recipients have no time to attend to it. The newspaper is used in each day's hour of leisure, and readers find interest in reading its advertisements as well as its news, because of the variety they present and the information they convey respecting a wide diversity of interests. It may be safely estimated that an announcement made through the press is noticed by fifty readers, where, made in a private way, it would reach but one. If therefore, the same amount were expended in either case, the result would be fifty-fold better from the former method than from the latter. There are, undoubtedly, cases in which the circular is a better medium than the newspaper. But such cases are quite exceptional, and the sooner advertisers learn the folly of their present large expenditures in seeking publicity through private means, the better for their pockets and their success.—[New York Bulletin.

Prospecting for a New Line.

Traverse City, May 27.—Hon. Perry Hannah and the Managers of the Chicago & West Michigan Railroad have gone to look up the route for a line from Baldwin to this place.—[Free Press.

Clarion.

Mr. Jas. Lyman and family left Sunday night for Jackson, Mich., which will be their future home. We regret to lose them.

The bowl factory of A. K. Smith & Co. is running at full capacity. They are behind in filling orders for bowls, and are buying all the blocks they can get. We predict that their factory will prove quite an addition to the material prosperity of Clarion.

Mr. Henry Young has started a restaurant in Clarion, where the hungry may get anything they desire in the line of edibles.

Jas. R. Hass has built an addition to his hotel barn to accommate his increasing custom.

It is rumored that a new steamer will be put on Bear Lake at no distant day.

The Clarion Sunday School is in a flourishing condition. A. K. Smith, Supt.

Our friend Dan Herrington would be surprised to see the "Clarion Setters" at work. But Dan, it is a fact they have actually done two or three days' work since snow left, and it is now feared that they will, if they continue at work, attend partially to their own business.

Some talk of a barber shop in town. It is needed.

Richard Webster has moved from Chandler township to Clarion, and will work at the blacksmith business.

W. C. Niles is having shingle bolts drawn in for his shingle mill.

Miss Effie Vansen left Sunday night for Stubenville, Mich. Jim Sumner now looks forlorn.

Port Lord has replaced the hinges which he lately broke off a certain gate.

John Vansen talks of leaving Clarion. He says he will be missed and we believe it.

A. A. Watkins is putting up a large windmill (Weimer patent). If it proves as good as expected, he will go into the business extensively.

Jas R. Hass has taken the contract of moving the saw mill belonging to Hagor & Co from this place, to Springvale township.

Clarion now has a first class drug store.

Watkins will move into the house vacated by Jas. Lyman.

Burgess.

Mrs. Minier is quite sick, with two babies to care for.

Chester Howe, the aged father of our highway commissioner, is quite sick.

"Children's day" at the Maple Grove school house June 14th. Exercises commence at 2 p. m.

Geo. McRoberts and wife have moved into the Thomson house near Burgess postoffice.

Josiah Gibson is on the sick list this week.

John Brown has sowed 15 acres of spring grain on the Dr. Lewis place.

The township officers have been busy this week on the board of review and in making out road warrants.

Mr. and Mrs. Morrell Long of Evangeline, visited friends in Hayes this week.

Mrs. O. Cooper and Mrs. M. J. Webster received, last week, the announcement of the death of their father, Wm. Crataley of Fowler, Trumbull county, Ohio, on May 21st.

Whitford's saw mill has filled up his dock room and shut down for a while.

Mr. and Mrs. Cook are visiting their son, Ezra Furgeson.

Bark peeling has commenced quite lively in some places.

Pomeroy's advice to farmers: Attend church as a rest, a recreation, a chance to see your neighbors, and to get a little spiritual manure on your brain, so that you will not lose sight of spiritual things, as they are the only ones that endure forever.

THE JOURNAL

BY CHAS. J. STRANG.

CHARLEVOIX, — MICHIGAN.

NEWS CONDENSED.

Concise Record of the Week.

EASTERN.

Gen. Grant's physicians report his disease to an almost stationary condition, while his general health is excellent. He walks about the house and in the great room on various, and his daily ride in the park is a great pleasure. Home proprietors at several mountain resorts have extended invitations to the General to visit them.

Clothing manufacturers from all the leading business centers here in convention at New York and elected Julius Hammerslough, of New York, President; James McCready, of Rochester, Vice President; and Henry Hartman, of Baltimore, Secretary and Treasurer. An improved credit system was arranged and measures adopted to secure cheaper transportation for traveling salesmen and freight.

James N. Ray, confidential clerk in the New York banking house of Martin A. Ridings, has confessed to embezzlement of $56,000, which he lost in Wall street.

Willie Prentiss, of Orange, Mass., was ordered by his drunken father to shoot a cup which he held on his head, the result being the instant death of his parent.

A three-story frame tenement at Jersey City, occupied by five families, collapsed, killing three children of one family and a lad of 15. Ten persons were injured more or less seriously.

In a Philadelphia court Margaret Brooks was sentenced to four months' imprisonment for being a common scold. Her case is a remarkable one, as she is young in the face, and was given four months for contempt of court.

H. Herman Brothers' great furniture factory at New York, surrounded by tenement houses of the poorest class, was entirely destroyed by fire, the flames driving a hundred families in their nightclothes into the street. Five hundred men are rendered idle, and the total loss approximates $400,000.

WESTERN.

Forty buildings at Lansing, Ia., were destroyed by fire, the losses aggregating $100,000. A fire at Merrill, Wis., destroyed property valued at $50,000. Charles E. Smith, of Menasha, Wis., suffered the loss of $50,000 of lumber. Forest fires raged to the north and west of Tawas City, Mich., burning to the tops of the highest trees.

Near Alma, A. T., the Fourth Cavalry, under Capt Smith, engaged and routed the Sioux Medicine Bear band of Indians. Lieut. Wheaton, who was originally selected for the office, but whose comrades-in-arms were unwilling to allow the President further time to consider fitly the wishes of the residents of the district.

Fines of $50 and costs have been imposed upon Rev. W. F. Parkhurst P. T. Hastings for preaching on Boston Common without being warned by the authorities.

A vein of natural gas, with an estimated daily flow of 1,000,000 cubic feet, has been struck at Findlay, Ohio.

Ashenhurst, Roush & Co., millers and grain merchants at Manchester, Ohio, have suspended.

T. C. Whiteside and other Chicago gents have secured a license to organize the Chicago and Great Trunk Railroad company, with a capital stock of $500,000.

A verdict for $11,000 damages against the Chicago and Great Trunk Railway was rendered by Colonel Weiser, of Chicago, who was thrown out of a carriage by a locomotive two years ago, and escaped death by a miracle.

The Lumber Manufacturers' Association of the Northwest held its annual session at Eau Claire, Wis. The Secretary reported a decrease in the aggregate manufacture of 185 of 7,500,000,000 feet, and the footing is that an advance of 10 per cent. will be ordered, and that the logging season will be dispensed with. The financial affairs of the organization are in a healthy condition.

The business quarter of Medford, Wis., was nearly destroyed by fire, the loss being very heavy. Twelve buildings in ashes, Arlington valued at $75,000, were also burned.

At the meeting of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church South in Houston, Tex., forty-eight presbyteries voted in favor of omitting from the confession of Faith the provision forbidding marriage with a deceased wife's sister. Seventy voted against the amendment and thirteen did not vote at all on the question.

Dispatches from Silver City, N. M., report that "the Apaches are making broadly train through this section. It is now thought that three or four different bands are depredating and marauding in as many sections of territory. The hostilities are thought to number about 200. Four chiefs are with them—Geronimo, Naus, Nantiche, and Chihundon. The among five dead bodies of a Mexican family, consisting of a man, wife, and three children; killed five miles from town, were brought in and buried. One other is known to have been killed in the same vicinity, and one baby wounded. Numerous ranches on Bear Creek have been sacked, horses stolen, and people killed. The Indians surprised within four miles of Fort Bayard. Three troops of cavalry are now in pursuit. Three additional prospectors were killed on the road between Silver City and Lordsburg, and named Joe Bunting on Mangolon Creek. The prospectors were fired upon and killed two miles, one a child. The fight was witnessed by Bunting's partner, just coming into camp. He succeeded in hiding and escaping getting away. News has just been received of additional killing at Black Range. Duplicates from all the surrounding country are in town. Intense excitement prevails." From correspondence transmitted to the War Department to the Indian Bureau at Washington, it appears that the present outbreak was caused by whisky. The Indians manufactured large quantities of "tiswin," and became incentivated. Knowing that punishment would follow this infraction of the rules, they abandoned the reservation and went on the warpath.

LATER NEWS ITEMS.

In a log church at Sassafras Creek, Pa., a Sunday school was organized for the benefit of the mountain boatmen. Mrs. Alice Hazzard and three of her children becoming members.

The Mormons have 1,000,000 cattle feed, in one herd, in Utah.

Ashenhurst, Roush & Co., millers and grain merchants at Manchester, Ohio, have suspended.

T. C. Whiteside and other Chicago gents have secured a license to organize the Chicago and Great Trunk Railroad company, with a capital stock of $500,000.

A verdict for $11,000 damages against the Chicago and Great Trunk Railway was rendered by Colonel Weiser, of Chicago, who was thrown out of a carriage by a locomotive two years ago, and escaped death by a miracle.

The Lumber Manufacturers' Association of the Northwest held its annual session at Eau Claire, Wis. The Secretary reported a decrease in the aggregate manufacture of 185 of 7,500,000,000 feet, and the footing is that an advance of 10 per cent. will be ordered, and that the logging season will be dispensed with. The financial affairs of the organization are in a healthy condition.

The business quarter of Medford, Wis., was nearly destroyed by fire, the loss being very heavy. Twelve buildings in ashes, Arlington valued at $75,000, were also burned.

At the meeting of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church South in Houston, Tex., forty-eight presbyteries voted in favor of omitting from the confession of Faith the provision forbidding marriage with a deceased wife's sister. Seventy voted against the amendment and thirteen did not vote at all on the question.

Dispatches from Silver City, N. M., report that "the Apaches are making broadly train through this section. It is now thought that three or four different bands are depredating and marauding in as many sections of territory. The hostilities are thought to number about 200. Four chiefs are with them—Geronimo, Naus, Nantiche, and Chihundon. The among five dead bodies of a Mexican family, consisting of a man, wife, and three children; killed five miles from town, were brought in and buried. One other is known to have been killed in the same vicinity, and one baby wounded. Numerous ranches on Bear Creek have been sacked, horses stolen, and people killed. The Indians surprised within four miles of Fort Bayard. Three troops of cavalry are now in pursuit. Three additional prospectors were killed on the road between Silver City and Lordsburg, and named Joe Bunting on Mangolon Creek. The prospectors were fired upon and killed two miles, one a child. The fight was witnessed by Bunting's partner, just coming into camp. He succeeded in hiding and escaping getting away. News has just been received of additional killing at Black Range. Duplicates from all the surrounding country are in town. Intense excitement prevails." From correspondence transmitted to the War Department to the Indian Bureau at Washington, it appears that the present outbreak was caused by whisky. The Indians manufactured large quantities of "tiswin," and became incentivated. Knowing that punishment would follow this infraction of the rules, they abandoned the reservation and went on the warpath.

THE MARKETS.

NEW YORK.

BEEVES	$5.50	@7.00
Texas	4.25	@5.15
WHEAT—No. 1 Red	1.04	@1.05
No. 2 Red	1.02	@1.03
CORN—Mixed	.77	@.78
OATS—Mixed	.48	@.49
PORK—Mess	11.75	@12.25
CHICAGO.
BEEVES—Choice Butchers'	5.50	@6.00
Good Shipping	5.25	@5.35
HOGS—Live	4.75	@5.00
SHEEP—Good Mixed	4.00	@4.50
FLOUR—Choice Red Winter Ex.	5.00	@5.25
Choice White Winter Ex.	5.00	@5.25
WHEAT—No. 2 Spring	.87	@.88
No. 3 Red	.78	@.79
CORN—No. 2	.39	@.39
RYE—No. 2	.70	@.71
BARLEY—No. 2	.67	@.68
BUTTER—Choice Creamery	.17	@.18
Fair to Good	.14	@.16
CHEESE—Full Cream	.08	@.09
EGGS—Fresh Laid	.12	@.13
BACON—Clear Rib	7.62	@7.75
Clear Sides	7.87	@8.00
LARD	6.85	@6.90
TOLEDO.
WHEAT—No. 2 Red	.92	@.93
CORN—No. 2	.39	@.40
OATS—No. 2	.37	@.39
MILWAUKEE.
WHEAT—No. 2	.90	@.91
CORN—No. 2	.46	@.47
OATS—No. 2 White	.39	@.40
RYE—No. 1	.69	@.70
BARLEY—No. 2	.73	@.74
PORK—Mess	11.50	@11.75
ST. LOUIS.
WHEAT—No. 2 Red	.91	@.92
CORN—Mixed	.44	@.45
OATS—Mixed	.34	@.35
RYE—No. 1	.70	@.71
PORK—Jobbing	11.75	@12.00
CINCINNATI.
WHEAT—No. 2 Red	.95	@.96
CORN—No. 2	.50	@.51
OATS—No. 2 Fair	.40	@.41
RYE—No. 2	.74	@.75
PORK—Mess	11.50	@11.75
DETROIT.
WHEAT—No. 1 White	1.00	@1.01
CORN—No. 2 White	.45	@.46
OATS—No. 2 White	.40	@.41
RYE—No. 2	.70	@.71
INDIANAPOLIS.
WHEAT—No. 2 Red	.92	@.93
CORN—Mixed	.46	@.47
OATS—Mixed	.37	@.38
RYE	.70	@.71
CATTLE—Best	5.00	@5.50
Common	3.25	@4.00
HOGS	5.00	@5.25
SHEEP	4.00	@4.50
CHICAGO WOOL MARKET.

[Reported by SHERMAN HALL & CO., Chicago, Ill.]

Fine Unwashed Merino, 22@23c; Fine Unwashed Merino, Half-blood, 25@27c; Fine Unwashed Merino, Three-fourths Blood, 30@32c; Fine Unwashed Merino, Fine Long Clothing, 30@32c; Fine Unwashed Merino, Low Clothing, 28@30c; Coarse Unwashed Merino, 25@27c; Best quality Tub-washed, 50@52c; Fair to Good Tub-washed, 45@48c; Coarse Tub-washed, 40@42c; Extra Fine Delaine, 40@42c; Fine Delaine, 38@40c; Medium Delaine, 40@42c; Coarse Delaine, 38@40c; Low Delaine, 35@38c; Extra Fine Combing, 40@42c; Fine Combing, 38@40c; Medium Combing, 40@42c; Coarse Combing, 38@40c; Low Combing, 35@38c.

Quotations are for wool of average quality of each class. Wool in very low, and coarse grades,

APACHE HOSTILES WHIPPED.

The Savages Break Away, and Are Endeavoring to Get Into Old Mexico.

The New Mexican Indians have for several days been on the rampage, killing settlers, driving stock, and generally making things red. The outbreaks are now known to have been caused by the recent arrest of Geronimo, the celebrated Apache chief, and his band of braves, who were wanted for murder, and were being taken to the Indian Territory for safe keeping. The prisoners are now known to have been being taken to Fort Marion, Fla., instead of to the Indian Territory. A dispatch from Fort Bayard, Friday, says:

Capt. Smith, of the Sixth Cavalry, had an engagement with renegade Apaches, at Sierra Alamo, in which three Indians were killed, and three others wounded. The Sioux Medicine Bear band of Indians, with two squaws, commanded and strip Indian scouts, numbered 150 men, and left the agency unobserved by us, and joined Indian scouts from the San Carlos agency. Advanced Troop E, Sixth Cavalry, left Bayard, 45 miles from the reservation, with orders to intercept the Indians, numbering about 300 strong, at or near the agency, at which point we expected to find them. We have been out ten days, and have been in the saddle every night except two, and have had no tents nor baggage. We have had no hot meals, and have had to live on what we could carry in our haversacks. We have had no blankets, only those of the troopers, and have had to sleep on the ground. We have had no tents

THE JOURNAL.

BY CHAS. J. STRANG.

CHARLEVOIX, - - MICHIGAN.

Notes and News.

A. P. Swineford, chosen to rule over the Alaskans, has selected Wm. P. Preston, of Mackinac island, as his private secretary.

Mr. Crow, of Rogers City, is building a residence for Denny Larke. A strange freak of nature that such a bird as the crow should build a nest for a lark.

Horr, of Michigan, who has some reputation as a wit, made a brutal reference in his Union League speech, to one of the dead assassinymen at Spring field, through the election of whose successor Logan's triumph was made possible. His attempted witticism was not only coarse and offensive, but it served to call to the minds of a large party of gentlemen who were celebrating a political victory the fact that that victory was not won in a very handsome manner.—[Chicago Herald.

ADDITIONAL LOCAL.

Shipments.

The following are the clearances from the port of Charlevoix as report ed for the week ending Wednesday evening:

May 28—Schr. Col. Cook, 200 cords wood, Baker to Chicago.

28—Schr. Bessie Barwick, 17,000 cs ft rock elm timber, Drink & Watt, to Garden Island, Ont.

29—Schr. L. B. Coats, 100 cords wood, Baker to Chicago.

29—Schr. Charlotte Rhab, 170 cords wood, W. H. Downer to Chicago.

30—Schr. Young America, 200,000 feet hardwood lumber, Stoepel & Co. to Detroit.

30—Schr. W. E. Taylor, 25,000 cubic feet rock elm timber, E. L. Kelsey to Kingston.

30—Schr. Wauconda, 20,000 cubic feet rock elm timber, E. L. Kelsey to Kingston.

June 2—Schr. Z. G. Simmons, 60,000 feet lumber, and 70 cords wood, E. Anderson to Racine.

2—Schr. J. C. Bauer, 130 cords wood, John Wright to Milwaukee.

2—Schr. L. Mason, 3,500 bushels potatoes, S. S. Rice to Cleveland.

2—Schr. Jennie Weaver, 62 cords wood, J. H. Pere, to Chicago.

2—Schr. Lizzie Hyde, 125 cords wood, P. Thorp to Milwaukee.

4—Schr. F. M. Smith, 1,000 ties, John Bell to Milwaukee.

The Tennessseans Coming.

Dennstin's famous Tennessonian, the old and only Colored Concert Company which assisted in building Central Tennessee College, augmented by their superb fife and drum Band and Orchestra, will give one of their incomparable concerts in the opera house, June 12.

WHAT THE TENNESSEANS CLAIM.

That they have the best standing tenor living.

That they have the purest and sweetest colored soprano traveling.

That they have the best basso with any company.

That they have the best colored tenor traveling in America.

That the present is the best chosen and most novel program of any colored company.

That as a chorus they are unsurpassable.

That as a company they are the best.

GLEANINGS.

Miss Mollie Garfield, daughter of the late President, has entered Vassar College.

Baltimore has astonished the world by building a city hall for $250,000 less than the estimates.

Gen. Fremont's son, John C. Fremont, Jr., has become a Lieutenant in the regular army.

The Rev. F. G. Lee, author of a book of ghost stories, refers to Darwin as "the priest of dirt-worship."

A newly-married couple at Bangor were so bashful that they would not allow the event to be published in the papers.

The New York Mail and Express avers that a burlesque actress in Boston was paid $2,550 to "let a rich man's son shine."

An Umbrella Loan Association is being organized in Philadelphia, which the managers assert will prove a financial success.

There are 4,000 public libraries in the United States, containing 15,000,000 volumes, toward the support of which $3,000,000 is annually paid.

The Czar of Russia has an income of more than $8,000,000 a year. The Emperor of Austria receives $1,000,000, and the Queen of England $2,200,000.

The evil of continued appeals to the gardening power is more widespread that its abuse for political purposes ever was or is likely to be.—Philadelphia Times.

A project is announced of tunneling Mont Blanc, notwithstanding the fact that it will cost $16,000,000, take eight years' time, and be the fourth tunnel route into Italy.

The Government has now eighty-one boarding schools, seventy-one day schools and six manual labor schools for Indian education, and they are all crowded beyond their capacity.—Indianapolis News.

The naive suggestion of our correspondent to put the advertisements on the inside shows how innocent he is of the wiles of the advertising man and how far he is removed from the trials of the editor.—Unity.

A student created dismay among English examiners at Cambridge. He wrote: "The Gordian knot was a very difficult knot which Nero tied, and by means of which he kept the Empire of Rome in subjection."

There is perhaps no other interest in this country, outside of the daily press, which will be so greatly benefited in the recent reduction of ocean cable rates as will the beer and grain trades. —Northwestern Miller.

Confidence, which may be not laughly termed the life-blood of trade and manufacture, is beyond all question, reappearing in the leading departments of commercial activity throughout the United States.—Milwaukee Wisconsin.

The building of the Georgia state capitol, at Atlanta, develops the fact that granite can be quarried in Maine, brought to Savannah, and thence by rail to Atlanta at a less cost than it can be had at a quarry only sixteen miles away.

If any person who is liable to poison with poison ivy will take pure cod liver oil after being exposed to it he will feel no bad effects, and the oil will neutralize the evils of the poison if a few doses be taken even after the poison has broken out.

There is a popular and somewhat superficial notion that flogging is as necessary for boys as oxygen or copperized shoes, but the notion when examined is found to be applicable only to other people's boys.—Zanesville, O., Sunday News.

The public dread of hard times is as unreasonable as the Irishman who applied at the window of a suspected bank. He said if he "could get his money he didn't need it, but if he couldn't get it he must have it."—Geneva (Ill.) Patriot.

If the Nebraska Legislature could only regulate the rates of plumbers it would confer an everlasting favor upon a much-suffering people. Compared with plumbers' charges the extortions of railroads are as a drop of water to a bucketful.—Omaha (Neb.) Bee.

The largest nut in the world covers the circus ring of the Covent Garden Theatre. It is made of mold-velvet covered fiber, and has a soft pile four inches thick, thus making an excellent substitute for sawdust. The weight of this enormous nut is over two tons.

The difference between a dull and a lively town is generally due to the absence or presence of half a dozen live men. Some places grow by slow process and because of natural advantages. In others the advantages are compelled to succumb to a little.—Salt Lake Tribune.

Hold your tongue and your pen, my boy. Every time you are tempted to say an ungenerous word, or write an unkind line, or say a mean, ungracious thing about anybody, just stop, look ahead twenty-five years, and think how it may come back to you then.—R. J. Burdette, in Brooklyn Eagle.

One of the many paradoxes of human life is that while every man thinks education a good thing and wishes that his children may have it, there are hundreds and even thousands in every great State who neglect the free offer of it, and allow their children to grow up in ignorance.—Pittsburg Chronicle-Telegraph.

All the lee that is used in Mexico comes from the top of Popocatepetl, and is brought down the mountain on the backs of the natives and then sixty miles on the cars to the city, where it is sold at wholesale at ten cents a pound. At the bar-rooms iced drinks are very expensive, and ice is seldom seen anywhere else.

With the undoubted spread of education the American public is every day becoming more and more a reading public, and proportionately the demand for written thought in small compass on political, historical, or literary subjects to close thinkers and men of letters is steadily increasing.—Virginia University Magazine.

Where time is not concerned, London Truth asserts, a certain class of goods can be shipped from Liverpool to London most cheaply by sending them via New York, and the same authority cites a case in which 1,000 tons of rough freight were recently shipped in that way for 6s per ton, the lowest offer of the London lines being 10s per ton.

The plaintive Moorish wail, "Ay de mi, Alhama!" (Woe is me, Alhama!) uttered four centuries ago, is recalled by the earthquake which has lately pushed its destructive ground-swell through Granada, not sparing even the venerable Alhambra, or the Alhama over whose less all Moordom wrapped itself in mourning.—Chicago Times.

The total length of submarine cables is about 68,000 miles. Each cable contains an average of forty strands of wire, so that altogether there are over 2,500,000 miles of wire used in their construction, or ten times the distance from the earth to the moon. Practically all this has been laid within the last twenty-five years, the greatest part within a decade.

The lunacious lines that appear so often in print about the disappearance of the immense herds of bison from the western prairies and plains seem to ignore the fact that those regions are now occupied by millions of domestic sheep, swine, and horned cattle, far outnumbering the largest possible estimate of the former bison herds, as well as vastly exceeding them in commercial value.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

The town council movement of Hartford is in the right direction. An ordinance provides for the punishment of any person who shall deal in or in any way furnish inhabitants with "any book, pamphlet, magazine, or newspaper, or other printed paper devoted to the publication, or principally made up, of criminal news, police reports, or accounts of criminal deeds or pictures, or stories of bloodshed, lust, or crime."—Northwestern Christian Advocate.

A Motion to Amend.

One of the arrivals at the Palmer last evening was a man from Portland, Ore., who was on the train that was snowbound for three weeks. He said it was a bitter experience.

"The only jake during the entire twenty-one days," said he, "was perpetrated by an old farmer from Umatilla who baked mem enough to poison. The passengers grumbled continually. They were cold, didn't have enough to eat, wanted more whisky and tobacco, thought their blankets were too thin, swore that the railroad company wasn't trying to get them out, said that the cars were poor, the locomotives weak, the snow-plows helpless, and the trainmen medium; thought that there was no excuse for getting stuck between two stations in snow fifty-five feet deep, and many other things. After we'd been there more than two weeks pretty nigh buried in the snow we held a meeting to express our indignation. We had a lot of resolutions denouncing everybody connected with the road, the people in the neighboring towns, the management of the telegraph and the United States Government. When the secretary read them they seemed to give great satisfaction to all but the old farmer. He got up on one of the seats in the smoking car, and said:

"I move to amend that resolve document by inserting the words, 'and we further denounce the Lord Almighty for sending more snow at one time than we can take care of.'

"He seemed mighty in earnest about it, and finally we began to see the fully of the whole business and adjourned without passing any resolutions at all."—Chicago Herald.

Summer Boarders.

Mrs. M. P. Burns

Has her house now ready to receive summer boarders. LOCATION UNEXCELLED. From this house one has an unobstructed view of the lakes and nearly the whole village. Prices reasonable. Corner Clinton Street and the Park.

CHANCERY SALE.

STATE OF MICHIGAN,
The Circuit Court for the County of Charlevoix, in Chancery.

Elphonzo Sisney, complainant vs. William T. Adelle, Hiram E. Chapman, Lucent Bruce, Nathaniel J. Bruce, and John Thomas, defendants.

Notice is hereby given that in pursuance of a decree of the said Circuit Court, made in said above entitled cause on the 5th day of February, 1886, that I shall sell at public auction, to the highest bidder, at the front door of the Village Hall, in the Village and Charlevoix, County of Charlevoix, State of Michigan, (that being the place where the Circuit Court for the County of Charlevoix is held), on the 14th day of July, 1886, at one o'clock in the afternoon of said day, the following described lands to said decree pertaining, viz.: Lot number two (2), of section twenty-seven (27), in township thirty-three (33) north, of range six (6) west, containing eighteen (18) acres, more or less. Also lots number twenty (20), twenty-one (21), twenty-two (22), twenty-three (23), twenty-four (24), twenty-five (25), and lots twenty-six (26), eighteen (18), and eighteen (18), of block three (3), of the village of Spring Harbor, according to the recorded plat thereof. Also a piece of land bounded as follows, commencing in the centre of Lake street in said village of Spring Harbor, at a point directly opposite the centre line of the highway from Spring Harbor to Boyne City forty-five (45) rods, thence in a due south course into the lake, said parcel of land being a part of lot number twenty-eight (28), in section twenty-one (21), township thirty-three (33) north of range six (6) west.

Dated May 27th, 1886.

FRANK E. FOGG,
Circuit Court Commissioner,
for Charlevoix County, Michigan.

SAWYER & HIGNOY,
Solicitors for Complainant. 49-101.

C. R. BELLINGER

Has a large stock of

New Jewelry and Silverware

(GOLD AND PLATED)

Pins, Charms, and Chains,

In all the latest styles.

Watches, Clocks, and Optical Goods.

New Style of Monogram Pin just received. Sewing Machine oil kept in stock.

HENRY C. COOPER

WITH SEBA.

Furniture at Reduced Prices

To Make Room for New Stock.

A LARGE LINE OF HAMMOCKS, BABY CARRIAGES, AND TRUNKS AT COST.

TO CLOSE OUT.

PIMPLES.

I will mail the receipt for a simple home TREATMENT that will remove TAN, FRECKLES, PIMPLES and BLACKHEADS, leaving the skin soft, clear and beautiful; also instructions for producing a luxuriant growth of hair on a bald head or smooth face. Address, inclosing a 3c. stamp, REV. V. MOLES, Lock Box 3, Newburgh, N. Y.

Good Goods and Low Prices

ARE

BOUND TO WIN

If you don't believe it, come and see my SPRING STOCK. You will see that I am up to the times in styles, and have as fine an assortment of MEN'S, YOUTH'S and CHILDREN'S SUITS, as you will find in any City. I defy any House to show any nicer line of NECK WEAR and

Furnishing Goods.

My aim is to HOLD THE CLOTHING TRADE by carrying a Large Stock so I can please you all. PRICES TALK. Come and see my Large Spring Stock before buying elsewhere.

GEO. W. MILLER.

BANK OF CHARLEVOIX

Receipts issued payable at any time at Face Value. Interest payable January and July. Every year earns interest, payable January and July. Well-filled safe deposits of SAVINGS. Property held by us to protect our depositors. Paid up Capital and Surplus, $100,000. Our Bank is a State Savings Bank, or other State Banks offer no security to depositors beyond amount of stock held. Our Bank is a National Bank, and our liabilities are double the amount of our stock, besides our Surplus and Profits. Interest paid on Time Deposits. Drafts on all parts of Europe. Money to loan on approved security. Collections promptly attended to. Exchange bought and sold. Highest price paid for Gold, Silver, Coupons, Pennsylvania Bonds, Michigan Bonds, Canada Bonds, Michigan Township Bonds, Michigan County Bonds, Michigan City Bonds, Michigan School Bonds, Michigan State Bonds, Michigan Swamp Bonds, Michigan Drainage Bonds, Michigan Village Bonds, Michigan Village Water Bonds, Michigan Village Sewer Bonds, Michigan Village Improvement Bonds, Michigan Village Sidewalk Bonds, Michigan Village Street Improvement Bonds, Michigan Village Street Lighting Bonds, Michigan Village Fire Department Bonds, Michigan Village Fire Department Hose Bonds, Michigan Village Fire Department Hose Carriage Bonds, Michigan Village Fire Department Hose Carriage Ladder Bonds, Michigan Village Fire Department Hose Carriage Ladder Hook Bonds, Michigan Village Fire Department Hose Carriage Ladder Hook Hook Bonds, Michigan Village Fire Department Hose Carriage Ladder Hook Hook Hook Bonds, Michigan Village Fire Department Hose Carriage Ladder Hook Hook Hook Hook Bonds, Michigan Village Fire Department Hose Carriage Ladder Hook Hook Hook Hook Hook Bonds, Michigan Village Fire Department Hose Carriage Ladder Hook Hook Hook Hook Hook Hook Bonds, Michigan Village Fire Department Hose Carriage Ladder Hook Hook Hook Hook Hook Hook Hook Bonds, Michigan Village Fire Department Hose Carriage Ladder Hook Hook Hook Hook Hook Hook Hook Hook Bonds, Michigan Village Fire Department Hose Carriage Ladder Hook Hook Hook Hook Hook Hook Hook Hook Hook Bonds, Michigan Village Fire Department Hose Carriage Ladder Hook Hook Hook Hook Hook Hook Hook Hook Hook Hook Bonds, Michigan Village Fire Department Hose Carriage Ladder Hook Hook Hook Hook Hook Hook Hook Hook Hook Hook Hook Bonds, Michigan Village Fire Department Hose Carriage Ladder Hook Hook Hook Hook Hook Hook Hook Hook Hook Hook Hook Hook Bonds, Michigan Village Fire Department Hose Carriage Ladder Hook Hook Hook Hook Hook Hook Hook Hook Hook Hook Hook Hook Hook Bonds, Michigan Village Fire Department Hose Carriage Ladder Hook Hook Hook Hook Hook Hook Hook Hook Hook Hook Hook Hook Hook Hook Bonds, Michigan Village Fire Department Hose Carriage Ladder Hook Hook Hook Hook Hook Hook Hook Hook Hook Hook Hook Hook Hook Hook Hook Bonds, Michigan Village Fire Department Hose Carriage Ladder Hook Hook Hook Hook Hook Hook Hook Hook Hook Hook Hook Hook Hook Hook Hook Hook Bonds, Michigan Village Fire Department Hose Carriage Ladder Hook Hook Hook Hook Hook Hook Hook Hook Hook Hook Hook Hook Hook Hook Hook Hook Hook Bonds, Michigan Village Fire Department Hose Carriage Ladder Hook Hook Hook Hook Hook Hook Hook Hook Hook Hook Hook Hook Hook Hook Hook Hook Hook Hook Bonds, Michigan Village Fire Department Hose Carriage Ladder Hook Hook Hook Hook Hook Hook Hook Hook Hook Hook Hook Hook Hook Hook Hook Hook Hook Hook Hook Bonds, Michigan Village Fire Department Hose Carriage Ladder Hook

A TRUE STORY.

BY ALICE KINN.

"Where is the baby, grandmamma?"
The question came in a tone of fear
From her curly head on my knee,
Which drew, dainty, white, modled walls
And arms in a grace for fainting,
And made her so all around
Her form a piece of light and
Can anybody be found.

No sound of its merry prattle,
No form in its round body
No patter of feet pattering
No sign of it anywhere.
I'll throw in honor and castles,
The world inside the hills,
The gold in the mines and corners,
But nothing is revealed.

And the mother's face grew pallid;
Its lineaments a face grew thin;
"The child is gone to the village"
She said to her husband.
And the hot tears "Where's Rover?"
The question I cannot think
Of the old well in the orchard
Where the cattle used to drink.

"Where's Rover? I know he'd find her!
Rover?" He was there only
Then hurry away to the orchard;
And there by the moss-grown wall,
Close to the well, his lower
Hidden in a lady's tresses,
She was leaning over the well's edge
In perfect tenderness.

She stretched her little arms down,
But never held in vain
And never answered to mind the kicks
The dog bore her coat
So gentle in most thing,
Yet firm as fate, he held instead,
Tangled the little coat's watchers.
While naughty baby said:

"Here's a little girl in the water;
She does not hear me go,
Mamma, I want to help her out,
Rover, I want to help her out,
Hit Rover, he wouldn't let go,
And I don't love him. He
Away, you naughty Rover!
Oh! why are you crying so?"

The mother kissed her saying:
"Rover, you naughty Rover,
Good Rover, need you bite,
And see, he licks your hand!
Kiss Lucy! Lucy's sick him.
Lucy grandma unconscious!
Rover! He's hard to think the friend
Also the arms so fat are good."
—Lippincott's Magazine.

"THE BULL-BATS."

A Night of Adventure.

BY COMPONT MARSHALL.

The tale that I am about to relate was told me by a friend, whom, as he is still living, I will call by the name of Robert Glenn. I will tell it as he told it to me when it first happened, and when the horror of its memory was still fresh upon his mind:

It was in the autumn of the year 1862 that business connected with a firm in Columbus carried me among the mountains of a neighboring state. The evening of the night of my adventure was chilly and cheerless, and I was anxious to reach shelter before dark set in, as I had heard of various robberies that had been committed by a band of men who called themselves "The Bull-bat or Night-hawk Band."

I had taken the precaution to arm myself, and, moreover, was blessed, or cursed, with the light purse that is falsely said to be the accompaniment of a still lighter heart. Robbers are generally accredited with the keen scent and unerring instinct of that bird who lives only by death—the vulture—and so I reasoned to myself that I need fear no fear of the "Bull-Bat"—if indeed they had any existence other than in the brain of some imaginative fool.

I kept, however, a sharp look-out around me, but nothing did I see in this apparently heaven-forsaken wilderness except here and there a skeleton cow or calf munching away for dear life in the dry herbage scattered sparsely about.

A little further, though, and my vigilance was rewarded in a most delightfully unexpected way, for walking hurriedly ahead of me I discovered the form of a young woman, striding along with an athletic grace that struck admiration to my heart.

I have all my life long been a slave to the charms of the fair sex, and in these solitary regions the temptation was too great to be withstood; so, sprinting up my jaded head, I treated up alongside of her, and, lifting my hat in my most winning manner, inquired if she had dropped a handkerchief, at the same time shamelessly hailing out and displaying one of my own.

My ruse was rewarded with a keen glance from a pair of enchantingly blue eyes, and a negative answer in such pure language as surprised me, for hitherto I had only encountered a boorishness of manner and uncouthness of dialect.

I quickly followed up my advantage, and springing from my saddle, stood before her, but in hand, and inquired if she knew where I could obtain a night's lodging.

My movements had apparently frightened her, for without more ado she flung the mountain path; and I, loath to lose sight of her, followed in hot pursuit and gnawed my mustache in anger when I saw her disappear around a jutting crag, and no sign to indicate where she had gone.

However, it was no use pursuing any further, and, inwardly cursing my ill luck, I became aware that a storm was rising. Every now and then little sharp gusts of wind would blow the rain drops in my eyes and little whirlwinds of dried leaves would come sailing around me and then continue their phantom dance afar off in the gloomy dusk.

I knew that there was no danger of my horse wandering off, and so, turning his head, I sought shelter beneath a large overhanging rock that completely cut off the wind and rain. After remaining there for some time I became conscious of being very hungry, and, as there was no chance of supper, I drew out my pipe and matches and struck a light.

The light flickered for one second and then went out, but not before I had detected a small aperture in the rest of the crevice, concealed by an armful of brush thrown against it. If I had to spend the night in so unpleasant a place, why not be as comfortable as possible; and so sweeping away the brush I crept through the aperture, feeling my way as carefully as circumstances permitted.

On getting inside I again struck a light, and a host of bats came tumbling about me, and my ears rang with an infuriated by the light. I never had been able to hear the scream of the owl without recalling the old legend of Pharaoh's daughter, who was transformed into an owl, and her bitter cry:

"Oh, woe is me!
I once was a king's daughter, and sat on my father's knee;
But now I am a poor owlet, and hide in a hollow tree!"

Since that night my associations with the owl are very different and far more unpleasant.

I had always been in the habit of carrying a dark lantern in my pocket, and this I now took out and lighted, with a view to investigating the place, first taking the precaution of hanging my overcoat in front of the aperture.

I threw the beams of the lantern in front of me, and the first object that attracted my attention was a brace of birds, commonly called the bull-bat or night-hawk, cured, stretched, and nailed to the wall. At first what this meant did not dawn on me, and I simply wondered who had been the prior discoverer and what was his object, and whether he was a bird-fancier. Then I stepped forward, and nearly fell over a soft yielding object, over which I then bent and started back in horror to meet the eyes of a dead man disfended with fright glaring up at me. The thing was such a shock that cold shivers went running all over me, and I nearly lost a precipitate retreat; but curiosity overcame me, and hastily covering his face with my handkerchief to shut out the awful stare of his eyes, I again turned to look about me. There was nothing much else except a motley row of guns, knives and pistols stored away in one corner, and then turning back to the corpse I examined him to find that he had been struck a blow on the back of the head.

I surmised that he had been robbed and dragged here previously to being killed and buried.

The meaning then of the birds flaunt all over me. This was the den or hiding place of the "Bull-bat Band," and here probably they concealed their treasures; and here probably they would soon return to dispose of their booty. As I felt no desire to share his fate I concluded that instant flight would be the best manner of proving that discretion which is said to be the "better part of valor."

I took one last lingering look at the man's face, for I had no desire of leaving any trace whereby I might be identified, and then, stooping and creeping out on my hands and knees, I rushed out into the wild night as if pursued by a thousand demons, caught my horse, who was patiently waiting where I had left him, and mounting, rode I knew not whither, urged by one thought predominant, to get as far away as possible from the accursed cave of the "Bull-Bat Band."

I had ridden some distance when I perceived a faint twinkle of light not far off which, after reconnoitering, I found to proceed from a small cottage at the side of a hill.

The cottage was in a condition of ruin, and only one room seemed to be in use. I rode up boldly to the door—for one kind of companionship seemed desirable after the scene I had just left—and knocked loudly.

In a few minutes I heard slow steps and a voice grumbling in a low tone, and then the door opened and a snappish woman queriously demanded my business.

I answered that supper and a night's lodging for myself and horse was what I desired, and I was willing to pay liberally for the same.

The old woman muttered to herself the while, and disappeared in the interior of the house, and I heard voices, one incautiously sharp and clear, say, in sharp tones that sounded with a familiar ring on my ear:

"Impossible; for the lads are flying abroad to-night!"

Where I had heard that voice before I could not recall, until the remembrance of the beautiful mountain girl flashed across my mind, and I knew it was she.

Were a thousand bats flying abroad to-night I determined to stay and learn more of this fascinating creature.

In a few seconds the old woman reappeared again, and in strongest tones declared that they possessed no accommodations for strangers. I slipped a piece of money into her hand, for by experience I had learned that to be the open sesame to most hearts, and I had rightly calculated, for she walked back with a determined step, and in a few seconds, Diana, for so the old woman had called her, appeared at the door.

"You may stay," she said, coldly. "I dare not prevent you; but, if still not gone when I take a round warns me, I proceed with your journey."

"Fair lady," I said, stepping forward and grasping her hand in the gloom, "turn me not away, I beseech you; for the lads are flying about to-night!"

She held the door open with her hand, and I saw her start at my words; then she said hurriedly, and in a more guarded tone, for the old woman was approaching:

"Life is sweeter than death. Go while it still time. I am not what you think me."

"Diana," I said again, "life may be sweeter than death, but so is love sweeter than life. I will stay." And stepping within I closed the door. The old woman came up to us, and the goblin opportunity was past.

Without the rain drizzled and the wind howled cheerlessly; the old house creaked and shook as if its last hour had come, and the wild spirit of the storm was struggling to embrace it with the endless arms of space.

Within the fire crackled merrily in the huge old chimney place, and as I warmed myself by the blaze I could not thought of the dead man lying in that cave out on the mountain side, with his eyes staring open, while the wind howled and the rain beat above him, and then I wondered where would I be by morning. I thrust this question, with its ghastly possibilities, from me, and looked instead at Diana; but a vague feeling of unidefined fear was creeping over me, not even to be dissipated by the clear, symmetrical beauty of this sylvan goddess.

A simple evening meal was served up, and as its conclusion the old woman poured out a glass of spirits and offered it to me. I was on the point of drinking, but as it touched my lips, Diana, apparently by accident, struck against my arm and the glass shivered on the floor. The old woman glared fiercely at us, and without saying a word got another glass of liquor and handed it to me, and as she turned her back I thrust it dexterously into the fire. Diana had gone out of the room for a second, and when she came back she glanced at the empty glass and gave a sigh of relief, for I had been in the room, and so she stepped out on the floor I dealt him a stunning blow on the head, and with an exultant a bowl of pain he sank motionless. The bag that he carried rolled back down into the cellar and also the light, and the trap door noiselessly moved back into its place. All was now Egyptian darkness around us, darkness breathing with horror, and with a heartrending heart I drew out my matches and struck a light, and the first object on which the light flashed was the face of woman of the previous night, lying dead on the floor, upserved at the door.

Doubtless, this man, notorious at my feet, was one of the band, and had murdered her, with the intention of rendering the deed complete, with the plunder.

I pushed him with my foot and he groaned, and tying his hands together I dragged him to the trap-door, intending to open it, if possible, and let down, take out the bag he had put up, get my horse and gallop for dear life.

"This proposes but the good God disposes," and before I had finished opening the door, the clock of which I found very difficult, I heard a gallop of horse, loud voices and oaths, and several fierce-looking men burst into the room, each bearing a large torch in his hand, and each with a bullbat plume in his hat. I was seized and bound, and with curses and vows of vengeance told to prepare for death, as in ten minutes I would be dead and buried.

The man whom I had stunned here revived, and related to the fierce crew how I had killed the mother of their leader, had gathered together a bag of their treasures, which bag he offered to deposit and procure for their behoove, and, finally, on his arrival had nearly ruined him.

In vain it was that I protested; there were only shouts and curses when I endeavored to speak, and cries of "Take him away." One grim, dark man advanced from the group, and touching my arm bade me follow him.

Silently I obeyed, and as we entered a long dark passage, that from its moist, damp atmosphere I judged to be an entrance into the hill against which the old house stood, my grim captor stepped to one side and bade me walk in front of him.

Words cannot describe my feelings during that short walk to death. I resisted offering resistance as soon as I could perceive an opportunity, but what chance did an unarmed man, with his arms tied, stand against an assassin armed to the teeth? My jacket had dropped in the previous scuffle with the first robber, and even if I presented it, I would be unable to use it. I bitterly regretted that my fear of arousing attention had prevented my shooter the wretch as I watched him lamentably the trap-door! Where was Diana? How I regretted ever seeing or following her! Why should she have warned me of my danger, and be now indifferent, or have fled from me? Was there ever a trouble in this world that a woman did not cause? Or was there ever a doubt?

My thoughts were cut short; by a sudden flicker of the dying candle, home about in my fierce guard, I saw myself on the brink of a steep well. Back I threw myself with a violent force that at first staggered the man and struck the candle from his hand.

Oh, the horrors of dying in darkness! My mad struggles were becoming fainter and fainter, and, with the fine grip of my assailant's fingers on my throat, my consciousness faded away.

I knew voice first recalled my senses, and bade me get up and fine for my life. With her fire, warm fingers clasping my hand, she raised me to my feet; and, when I articulated, faintly, "Where is he?" she only gave a little laugh and pointed to the horrible well. I shuddered, and, as I looked down, I fancied I could hear the water with its unseen drip, drip.

"Come to you the rest of his victims," said she; "and long may he sleep."

"Diana," I said, taking her hand, "I thank you for your kindness to me. Why not let us go together, and leave this horrible nest of pollution?"

Diana lifted her soft blue eyes to my face for a minute, and then gave a little sigh.

"Old ties are strong," she said, "and hard to be severed, but if I do give up all and go with you—will you—promise, to—marry me?"

I hesitated for an instant; though this girl had saved my life, was she one whom I would dare to make my wife?

Her blue eyes sparkled furiously at my hesitation, and she shrugged herself

"Speak, or else I will tear you limb from limb, and cast you down into the dark hole, to keep company with your betters."

"Diana," I said again, quietly, "be calm and listen, for only on this condition shall you be my wife: and if this condition does not suit you, you may deliver me to these brutes to render as soon as possible, for as we part shall I alter or change. If you—" but she had gone, and, ere I could recover, I heard a shriek of laughter, with which the lantern in her hand shook to and fro.

"I was only trying you," she said at last, holding out her hand to me. "I will go with you, but I can never be your wife, for I am a man like yourself!"

Tearing off various articles of dress, she cast them down into the pit.

"I am the decoy duck," she said, "and there goes the duck's feathers to keep company with the duck's master."

It was a slender but well-made young man that left that morning with me before the day broke. We fled hastily and for our lives. Once we looked back, and in the gray, dim darkness of dawn we saw the mad fire-waves sweeping up to the sky, and the light of the angry flames shed a brilliancy on our tortious path. My companion looked wonderingly, and I, recalling the long and faint and faintest, and, with the fine grip of my assailant's fingers on my throat, my consciousness faded away.

I knew voice first recalled my senses, and bade me get up and fine for my life. With her fire, warm fingers clasping my hand, she raised me to my feet; and, when I articulated, faintly, "Where is he?" she only gave a little laugh and pointed to the horrible well. I shuddered, and, as I looked down, I fancied I could hear the water with its unseen drip, drip.

"Come to you the rest of his victims," said she; "and long may he sleep."

"Diana," I said, taking her hand, "I thank you for your kindness to me. Why not let us go together, and leave this horrible nest of pollution?"

Diana lifted her soft blue eyes to my face for a minute, and then gave a little sigh.

"Old ties are strong," she said, "and hard to be severed, but if I do give up all and go with you—will you—promise, to—marry me?"

I hesitated for an instant; though this girl had saved my life, was she one whom I would dare to make my wife?

Her blue eyes sparkled furiously at my hesitation, and she shrugged herself

"Speak, or else I will tear you limb from limb, and cast you down into the dark hole, to keep company with your betters."

"Diana," I said again, quietly, "be calm and listen, for only on this condition shall you be my wife: and if this condition does not suit you, you may deliver me to these brutes to render as soon as possible, for as we part shall I alter or change. If you—" but she had gone, and, ere I could recover, I heard a burst into

PINE LAKE IRON COMPANY

Ironton, Mich.,

Are Full in all kinds of General Merchandise.

I have purchased the Meat business of Armstrong & Co., and will continue at the old stand, with the freshest and best goods in the market.

T. E. CHAMBERLIN.

GARLAND STOVES & RANGES — KEEP YOUR — ON THE Right Place

For Bargains in Hardware,

Iron, Cutlery, Tin ware, Stoves, Implements, Fixtures, Pumps, Grindstones, Wagons, Buggies, Carts, Wheelbarrows, Refrigerators, Doors, Sash,

PAINTS Oils, Varnishes, Putty, Glass, Fence wire, Farm bells, Carpenter's tools, Notions, Fishing tackle, Revolvers, Guns, Ammunition, Spoons, Forks, LAMPS, Baskets, Measures, Tubs, Wooden ware, Rope, Fishermen's Supplies, and Ship chandlery, Job and Tin work.

L. D. BARTHOLOMEW & CO.

Come and See our New and Handsome Stock of Stationery. Remember, we carry the largest stock of

Drugs and Patent Medicines

In Charlevoix county.

Every Article Warranted as Represented.

We Solicit a Share of your Favors.

O. B. Weed & Co., Druggists, Opera Block.

HURRAH for GOOD TIMES

Everything Booming

AT E. M. CLARK'S

Where he has a Lively Trade in

Dry Goods, Groceries, Boots and Shoes, Clothing, &c.

When you get the blues, just call around and see with what dispatch everything is done, where Pork, Eggs, Butter, &c., is taken in exchange for Goods.

E. M. Clark

Charlevoix, Mich., Harbor and Summer Resorts.

The above is a geographically correct view (though containing but a small portion of the buildings) of Charlevoix, Mich., a village of over twelve hundred inhabitants, rapidly growing in favor and reputation as one of the most delightful Summer Resorts and safest Harbors in northern Michigan. Several lines of steamers concentrate here, connecting at all hours of the day with all surrounding towns, fishing streams, picnic parks, and other places of interest, health, and pleasure. Unequaled inducements are also offered the permanent settler who desires to invest his capital in manufacturing enterprises where it will bring the best results. The resources of the county are being developed so as to bring the richest returns. For any other information regarding the village or surroundings, address

THE CHARLEVOIX JOURNAL

CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN.

The JOURNAL is an eight-page newspaper, devoted to the material growth and prosperity of Charlevoix county in general, and Charlevoix village in particular. Published weekly, $1.50 per year. Sample copies free.

CHAS. J. STRANG, Publisher.

Temperance Column.

Conducted by a Committee of the W. C. T. U.

Officers of the Society.

President—Mrs. C. Y. Cook
First Vice President—Mrs. L. E. Allen.
Second Vice President—Mrs. J. T. Jennings.
Third Vice President—Mrs. C. F. Van Allen.
Corresponding Secretary—Mrs. D. C. Loveday.
Recording Secretary—Mrs. R. Suffold.
Treasurer—Mrs. C. J. Strang.

ONLY NOW AND THEN.

Think it no excuse, boys,
Merging into one,
That you do a wrong act
Only now and then.
Resolve to be careful,
As you go along,
If you would be manly,
Capable and strong.

Many a wretched sot, boys,
That one daily meets,
Drinking from the beer kegs,
Living in the streets,
Or at best in quarters
Worse than any pen,
Once was dressed in broadcloth,
Drinking now and then.

When you have a habit
That is wrong you know,
Knock it off at once, lads,
With a sudden blow.
Think it no excuse, boys,
Merging into one,
That you do a wrong act
Only now and then.

—Youth's Temperance Banner.

At the state meeting of the W. C. T. U., held last week at Albion, the following yearly officers were elected: President, Mrs. Lathrop, Jackson; corresponding secretary, Mrs. J. M. Wheeler, Grand Rapids; recording secretary, Mrs. P. J. Howard, Petoskey; treasurer, Mrs. C. B. Fox, Three Rivers.

A Short Sermon.

The famous Dr. Dodd was met one day upon the high road by some bacchanals and compelled by them to preach a sermon on an old stump from a text of their own choosing. They gave the little text "Malt" as his text and bade him proceed.

"Beloved" said he, "I am a little man, come at short warning to deliver a brief discourse upon a small subject, to a thin congregation, and from an unworthy pulpit. My text is 'Malt' which cannot be divided into either words or syllables, it being but one. I must therefore reduce it into letters, M-A-L-T.

"M is Moral; A is Allegorical; L is Literal; and T is Theological. The moral is set forth to touch you drunkards good manners; therefore, M, my masters; A, all of you; L, listen; T, to my text.

"The allegorical is when one thing is spoken and another is intended; the thing expressed is Malt, which you drunkards make M, your next; A, your apparel; L, your liberty, and T, your text. The literal is according to the letter; M, much; A, ale; L, little; T, thrift.

"The theological is according to the effect it produces, which I find to consist of two kinds; First, repeets this life; second, that which is to come. The effects which it produces in this world are in some M, murder; in others A, adultery; in all L, licentious lives; in many T, treason. The effects consequent in the world to come are: M, misery; A, anguish; L, lamentation; T, torment. And now, beloved, first, by way of exhortation: M, my masters; A, all of you; L, leave off tippling; or secondly, by way of combination; M, my masters; A, all of you; L, look for; T, torment.

"Now, to wind up the whole and draw to a close, take with you the character of a drunkard. A drunkard is the annoyance of modesty, the spoil of civility, his own shame, his wife's sorrow, his children's curse, his neighbor's scoff, the ale house man's benefactor, the devil's drudge, a walking swillbowl, the picture of a beast, and monster of a man."

With this extemporaneous phillipic the little man got down from his unworthy pulpit and left the paralyzed drunkards in amazement.—Chicago Inter Ocean.

Cholera

And the milder forms of bowel difficulty, dysentery, diarrhoea, &c., all come from a disordered digestion attended with pain in the stomach, cramps, colic, &c. No wise and word off these attacks by taking Hamilton's Jamaica Ginger Tonic and Pain Cure, which is a sure remedy. Never known to fail to give immediate relief. As an outward application in rheumatism, neuralgia, sciatica, sprains, lame back and side it can't be beaten. Price 25 and 50 cents.

J. MILO EATON,

DEALER IN

Real Estate

OF ALL KINDS.

Houses and Lots for Sale

IN THE MOST DESIRABLE PARTS OF CHARLEVOIX.

WILD LANDS AND IMPROVED FARMS

FOR SALE IN ALL PARTS OF THE COUNTY.

Abstracts of Title Furnished on Short Notice.

Represents the

Best Insurance Companies.

OFFICE ON BRIDGE STREET. ESTABLISHED IN 1875.

Charlevoix and East Jordan.

Steamer GAZELLE—Capt. Robert O'Neil.

Morning—Leave Charlevoix 6.30; arrive East Jordan 7.30. Leave East Jordan 8.00; arrive Charlevoix 11.00. Afternoon—Leave Charlevoix 1.00; arrive East Jordan 4.00; leave East Jordan 4.30; arrive Charlevoix 6.30. Stopping at intermediate points.

Steamer CLARA BELLE—Capt. Mel. Thompson.

Morning—Leave East Jordan 7.00, arrive Charlevoix 9.00; leave Charlevoix 9.30, arrive East Jordan 11.30. Afternoon—Leave East Jordan 1.30, arrive Charlevoix 3.30; leave Charlevoix 4.00, arrive East Jordan 6.00. Stopping at intermediate points.

Charlevoix and Boyne.

Steamer NELLIE BOOTH—Capt. Frank Cater.

Leave Charlevoix 6.30 a. m. and 1.30 p. m. Returning leave Boyne 8.30 a. m. and 3.30 p. m., carrying the U. S. mail.

Harbor Springs, Petoskey, Charlevoix and East Jordan.

STEAMER THOMAS PRIANT.

CAPT. R. VANDERHOEF.

Morning—Leave Harbor Springs 7.00, Petoskey 7.30, Charlevoix 8.30, arrive East Jordan 11.30. Afternoon—Leave East Jordan 1.30, Charlevoix 4.00, Petoskey 5.30, arrive Harbor Springs 6.00.

Close connections at Petoskey with G. R. & I. R. R. trains, north and south.

Hannah, Lay & Co.'s Pleasure Steamers,

SEASON OF 1885.

CITY OF GRAND RAPIDS.

CAPT. O. E. WILSON.

Going North every morning—Leave Traverse City 7.00, Northport 9.30, Norwood 11.00, Charlevoix 12, Petoskey 1.30, arrive at Harbor Springs 1.45.

Going South every afternoon—Leave Harbor Springs 2.00, Petoskey 2.30, Charlevoix 4.00, Norwood 5.15, Northport 6.30, arrive at Traverse City 9.00.

T. S. FAXTON,

CAPT. A. G. ALLBISCH.

Going South every morning—Leave Harbor Springs 7.00, Petoskey 8.00, Charlevoix 9.45, Torch Lake 11, arrive at Old Mission 12.30.

Going North every afternoon—Leave Traverse City 2.00, Torch Lake 3.45, Charlevoix 5.30, Petoskey 6.15, arrive Harbor Springs 7.45.

GOOD CONNECTIONS will be made at Traverse City and Petoskey with both day and night lines of the G. R. & I. R. R., also on Monday mornings between the City of Traverse from Chicago and the CITY OF GRAND RAPIDS going and on Wednesday between both the T. S. FAXTON and CITY OF GRAND RAPIDS going south, and the CITY OF TRAVERSE to Chicago.

Grand Rapids & Indiana R. R.

Time Table in effect October, 1884.

GOING NORTH.

STATIONS.	No. 1	No. 3	No. 5	No. 7
Cincinnati, lv..		7 40am	7 15pm
Richmond.....	2 20pm	10 20	12 05
Hagerstown ...	4 11	11 38	1 06
Muncie.....	4 51	12 18am	1 46
Fort Wayne, ar..	6 40	2 20am	3 30am
Fort Wayne, lv..		2 45	3 50	3 00am
Kendallville...		3 32	4 31	4 10
Sturgis.....		3 56	5 11	10 51
Vicksburg.....		4 02	5 19	10 57
Kalamazoo, lv..		4 35	5 52	11 25am
Battle Creek...		5 20	6 32	12 05pm
O'G Rapids, ar.		8 45	9 20	3 15
O'G Rapids, lv.	7 10am	9 00	10 25	3 00
DG H & M ex..	7 20	10 45	12 45	5 00
Howard City..	8 47	12 36	2 04pm	6 54
Cadillac, ar...	9 45	1 35pm	3 05	8 37
Reed City, ar..	10 17	11 30	4 40	8 36
Cadillac, ar...	11 25	1 00am	3 10	10 05
Cadillac, lv...		1 20	3 30
Walton		2 11	4 22
Traverse City, ar		4 15	8 45
Kingsley.....		2 55	5 40
Mancelona.....		3 40	6 41
Bellaire		4 45	8 41
Petoskey, ar...		5 30	9 20
Harbor Springs.		6 05	9 10
Markham City..		7 00am	9 10

GOING SOUTH.

STATIONS.	No. 2	No. 4	No. 6	No. 8
Mackinaw City.			6 00am	5 30pm
Harbor Springs.			7 30	7 00am
Petoskey, lv...			7 50	7 20am
Bayne Falls...			8 12	7 50
Mancelona.....			9 12	8 55
Kingsley.....			9 44	9 27
Traverse City, lv			10 00	9 40
Walton			10 45	4 30am
Cadillac, ar...			12 25	5 40
Cadillac, lv...	2 50pm		1 35	6 00
Reed City, lv..	4 00		1 00pm	7 26
Howard City..	5 12		2 20	8 47
O'G H & M ex..	7 25		4 25	10 45
O'G Rapids, ar.	9 40		6 45	10 25
O'G Rapids, lv.	7 00am		4 35	11 45
Battle Creek...	8 25		5 55	1 40am
Kalamazoo, lv..	9 00		6 30	2 00
Vicksburg.....	9 37		7 06	2 39
Sturgis.....	9 52		7 21	2 54
Kendallville...	11 33		8 56	4 29
Fort Wayne, ar..	12 40pm		10 45	5 35
Fort Wayne, lv..	1 00	5 30am	12 00am
Hillsdale.....	2 11	6 16	1 05
Waterloo.....	2 36	6 46	1 55
Chelsea.....	3 00	7 10	2 25
Chelsea, ar.....	3 20	7 50pm	7 30am

C. L. LOCKWOOD, G. A., Chicago.
J. C. MCMULLEN, Agent, Grand Rapids, Mich.

A PRESENT.

Our readers for 12 cents in postage stamps to pay for mailing and wrapping, will receive a box handsomely assorted samples of two high grade, well known, popular goods. Building Cleveland, city 22x28, worth $4.00. Address Alder Pub. Co., Chicago, Ill.

MORTGAGE NOTES kept on hand printed to order on short notice at this office.

OLD NEWSPAPERS FOR SALE

THE HOWE MACHINE CO.

AT THE FRONT.

OUR LATEST SUCCESS.

An Entirely New — High Arm.

Easy Running Sewing Machine

The Most Room under the Arm.
The Best Self-Setting Needle.
The Largest Bobbin.
The Easiest Shuttle to Thread.
The Most Perfect Tension.
The Most Reliable Feed.
The Most Perfect Take-up.
The Best Bobbin Winder.

SIMPLE, STRONG, DURABLE & HANDSOME

Runs Rapidly, Very Light, Very Still, and without Vibration.

Before you purchase, please examine the Howe Machine at the office of

Mrs. M. Litney, Agt., Charlevoix

ISLAND HOME Stock Farm,

Grosse Ile, Wayne Co., Mich.

LAVAGH & FARNUM, PROPRIETORS

Percherons Imported Stallion No. 2239 (1567).

IMPORTED

Percheron Horses.

All work selected from the get of sires and dams of established reputation and registered in French and American stud books.

ISLAND HOME

is beautifully situated at the head of Grosse Ile in the Detroit River, six miles below the City, and is accessible by railroad and steamboat. Visitors are always welcome and will find a welcome at Company Building, and an escort will be sent to them to the farm. Send for catalogue, free by mail. Address, LAVAGH & FARNUM, Detroit, Mich.

ERRORS OF YOUTH

and MANHOOD. One who has suffered severely for years from the effects of youthful indiscretion, and who has discovered a reliable and really effective remedy, will send free to simple prescription that will cure you of loss of memory, nervous debility, premature decay, impotency, lost manhood, etc. Address, JAS. H. KENNEDY, 78 Reade Street, New York.

Established Fifty-five Years.

RAVEN & BACON

NOW

RAVEN PIANOS,

13 East 16th Street,

New York.

BUY FROM THE MANUFACTURER AND SAVE $50 PER CENT.

These Pianos are made from the best materials, by the best mechanics, and have been tested by the best musicians for fifty years, and still stand unrivaled. Every instrument is warranted for Five Years. Illustrated Catalogue, containing valuable information, sent free. Pianos sent on 15 days' trial, freight paid, and if not satisfactory, may be returned at our expense. Pianos not sold by agents, but only from the manufacturer, at wholesale prices. Catalogues before buying elsewhere.

No. 1, Upright or Square, $550, worth $900
No. 2, " " 500, " 800
No. 3, " " 300, " 500

ALL FOR CASH.

RUPTURE CURED by our Anti-Rupture Appliance. Illustrated Pamphlet, with testimonials, free. PERRY & CO., 205 6th Ave., New York.

THE CHARLEVOIX JOURNAL.

NUMBER 100. CHARLEVOIX, MICH.: THURSDAY, JUNE 11, 1885. $1.50 PER YEAR.

THE JOURNAL

Published every Thursday,

BY CHAS. J. STRANG.

Office on Bridge Street,

CHARLEVOIX, - - MICHIGAN

ENTERED AT THE POSTOFFICE AT CHARLEVOIX, MICH., AS SECOND-CLASS MATTER.

BUSINESS DIRECTORY.

ATTORNEYS.

A. CHUBB, MARTIN, Attorney at Law, Boyne City, Mich. Collections promptly attended to.

CHUBB & SHANK & CHUBB, Attorneys at Law, Office in Dalton Block, Charlevoix, Mich. Special attention given to Probate practice. A. CHUBB, W. A. CHUBB.

HART & CALL, Attorneys at Law, Real Estate and Loan Agents. Lake st., east of post-office, Petoskey, Mich.

FRED W. WAYNE, Attorney and Counselor, Real Estate business promptly attended to. MONEY TO LOAN.

H. J. CHENEY, Attorney and Counselor at Law, Office on Lake st., Boyne City, Mich.

J. E. SLAWERRY, Attorney at Law and Judge of Probate of Emmet Co., Petoskey, Mich.

MILO EATON, Attorney at Law, Charlevoix, Mich.

WHITON & KEAT, Attorneys at Law, Boyne City, and East Jordan. Geo. A. Norton, Boyne City. J. A. Keat, East Jordan.

OSCAR F. WINSER, Attorney at Law and United States Special Court Commissioner, Real Estate Dealer. East Jordan, Mich.

W. N. MOORE, Attorney and Solicitor, East St. Louis, Admiralty a Specialty.

A. S. GARDETT, Attorney at Law, Boyne City, Mich.

CHURCHES.

FIRST CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH.—Sunday services at 10.30 a. m. and 7.00 p. m. Sunday school at close of morning service. Prayer meeting every Thursday evening at 7.00 o'clock. J. T. VAN ALLEN, pastor.

METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH.—Sunday services at 10.30 a. m. and 7 p. m. Sunday school at close of morning service. Prayer meeting Thursday evening at 7. T. Dobson, pastor.

FIRE DEPARTMENT.

CHARLEVOIX ROUGH AND READY FIRE COMPANY meet every Saturday night, at engine hall. H. F. BISSEL, Secretary.

HOMEOPATHIC PHARMACY.

CHAFFIELD, Homeopathic Medicines, Books, Sponges, Cases, etc., Charlevoix, Mich.

PHYSICIANS.

J. S. CARLETON, M. D.
Office at the Ingleside.

E. LEWIS, M. D., Physician and Surgeon, office in residence on Bridge st., Charlevoix, Mich.

W. M. PRESTON, M. D., Surgeon and Homeopathic Physician, Charlevoix, Mich.

REAL ESTATE AGENTS.

HORACE S. HARDIA, Notary Public, Real Estate, Loan, and Insurance Agt., Charlevoix.

SECRET SOCIETIES.

G. A. R. Baxter Post No. 118, meets second and fourth Saturday evenings, at Odd Fellows' hall.

I. O. O. F. Charlevoix Lodge No. 307, meets every Friday evening, at Odd Fellows' hall.

I. O. G. T. Charlevoix Lake Lodge No. 307, meets every Wednesday evening, in their hall.

K. O. T. M.—Resort Tent, No. 128, meets second and fourth Saturday evenings, at Odd Fellows' hall.

F. & A. M.—Star Blaze No. 127, meets Saturday on or before full moon, at Odd Fellows' hall.

MASONIC.—Charlevoix Lodge No. 292, meets Saturday on or before full moon. Hall over Post Office.

WELL DIGGING.

FRANK DUBOIS, Charlevoix, Mich., will attend promptly to all work in the line of well digging, cisterns, foundations, stone work, chimney building, and similar work. 6

O. W. SMITH,

ELECTRO-PLATER,

Manufacturing Jeweler and Lapidist.

Electro-plating in Gold and Silver. Any article of jewelry made to order. ALWAYS AND ALWAYS ready to order. 2

Picture Frames Cheap

I am frame pictures cheaper than ever before, as I have no rent to pay. Call and see my stock before you purchase elsewhere.

O. I. WHEAT.

Money to Loan

On sums of $500 and upwards, at reasonable rates of interest, on improved farm and real estate security.

H. C. Miley,

W. E. MAGAR. Boyne City. G. V. MAGAR.

Wagar Bros.

Wholesale and Retail dealers in Tobacco, Cigars, Confectionery, Nuts and a full line of Notions, Fruits, and Aromatic Soda Fountain. Main, West of Bridge Street House, Charlevoix, Mich.

A FEW FACTS CONCERNING

Dr. CROUTER'S

BAKING POWDER

Or Quick Yeast.

If you use it you will never have yellow biscuit. If you use it your biscuit will never taste of Soda. It contains no alum, and is absolutely free from anything of a deleterious nature.

It is made from PURE GRAPE CREAM OF TARTAR and NOT from the Common Cream of Tartar of the shops.

It is always fresh and will never disappoint you.

Directions for using furnished with every package.

Price 40 Cents per Pound.

Manufactured and Sold only by

Dr. GEO. W. CROUTER,

Chemist and Druggist,

BRIDGE STREET, CHARLEVOIX, MICH.

Come and See our Immense Stock of

BOOTS AND SHOES.

FOX & MILLER.

BRIDGE STREET HOUSE,

ROBERT MILLER, Proprietor,

Charlevoix, Michigan.

This house is evidently located, and its accommodations are adapted to the wants of the best class of market hotels. Only sample room in Charlevoix.

COMMERCIAL HOUSE

D. B. JERRUP, Proprietor.

East Jordan, Michigan.

Entirely refurbished and refurnished. Sample room for agents. Good stable in connection with the House.

FOUNTAIN CITY HOUSE,

RICHARD CARTER, Proprietor.

Charlevoix, Michigan.

Finest location in town, giving good view of lake and sunsets. Rooms large and airy, and quarters for Drummers and Tourists. Good sample room for commercial travelers adjoining hotel.

PINE LAKE HOUSE,

A. J. HALL, Proprietor.

Boyne City, Michigan.

This house is finely located on the Boyne river, at the head of Pine Lake. It is large and easy access, and is well adapted to the entertainment of the traveling public.

PIONEER HOUSE,

A. B. NOYES, Proprietor.

Ironton, Michigan.

Every convenience for the traveling public.

I offer FOR SALE, or Cash or Trade,

TIMBER LAND.

The N W ¼ of S E ¼, and the S W ¼ of S E ¼, in Charlevoix County, Mich., 80 acres in all.

No Incumbrance. Title Perfect.

Address A. T. LIBBY, Box 89, Chesterton, Mich.

Do You Know

THAT

LORILLARD'S CLIMAX PLUG TOBACCO

still Red Tin Tag; Rose Leaf Fine Cut Chewing; Navy Clippings, and Black, Brown, and Yellow Snuffs are the best and cheapest, quality considered. 26x1

THOROUGHBRED

POULTRY

One hundred per cent profit: profitable than other poultry. Send 25 cents for 100 pages of best varieties, management, and most approved methods.

EGGS FOR HATCHING CHEAP

Address CLEMENT J. STRANG, Howagiac, Mich.

WIT AND HUMOR.

Lady barbers have played out. Barbers who do not talk too much are most popular and prosperous.

Day after Christmas editorial in New York Journal. short but powerful: "Empty is the pocket-book, money's gone."

Mrs. Ingalls says that woman is a silent power in the land. That will be news to thousands of husbands.—Rosebury Advocate.

"Sweets to the sweet," snickered the dude, as he passed the young lady bearer like sugar. "Like cures like," she replied, handing him the cold veal.

A New Hampshire shoemaker makes squeaky shoes to order, and has all the work he can do. They are ordered by men who have pews near the pulpit, and plan to come in late.

"No," said an old maid, "I don't miss a husband very much. I have trained my dog to growl every time I feed him, and I have just bought a clothing-store dummy that I can scold when I feel like it."

A photographer recently acted as master of ceremonies at a friend's funeral, and, as he lifted the coffin lid for the mourners to look at the remains, whispered to the corpse: "Now, look natural." Force of habit.

Judge (to female prisoner)—"You have blinded your former lover by throwing vitriol into his eyes. What have you to say to the charge?" Prisoner—"It is quite simple, your Worship. He told me he didn't want to see me again."

A reminder: "Yacob, vhy you don't your hat got taked off when somepodies der house gome in?" "I fongot, faiter." "You fongot, eh? I give you some things vhat make you don'd fongit to remember vhat you fongot, hain it? I knock in dot heedit some, don'd fongit, vhat nefer don'd I gome agin out!"

"Ah, Mrs. Crimsonbeak," said young Miss Fussenfather, after conversing with that lady's husband at the musicale the other evening, "I've found your husband out at last. That's not a difficult thing to do," replied Mrs. Crimsonbeak, indifferently. "Come around to the house any time of night and you'll always find him out."

"What are you doing, pet?" "I am studying my Sunday-school lesson." "Is it hard?" "It's awful hard. Here's a question I can't answer. It says, 'Who was it said all men are liars?' Do you know who it was, pa?" "Yes; it was David." "David! How did he come to say that, pa?" "Well, I don't know, pet. Maybe he was running for office."

The Philadelphia Record relates this tale of Friendville: A gentleman was one day relating to a Quaker a tale of deep distress, and concluded by saying: "I could not but feel for him." "Verily, friend," replied the Quaker, "thou did right in that thou didst feel for thy neighbor; but didst thou feel in the right place—didst thou feel in thy pocket?"

"What can possibly ail you, my man?" asked a gentleman of a very dilapidated tramp who asked him for a quarter. "Are you unable to obtain a living? You look strong and healthy." "Ah, sir, I suffer from the general overproduction," replied the tramp. "What overproduction?" exclaimed the gentleman, in astonishment. "An overproduction of tramps."—Pittsburg Chronicle.

Ella Wheeler has written a poem on "The Room Beneath the Rafters," in which she says she "saw the horned come forth from its mud-walled house." Horned does I affect that style of architecture to any great extent, but whether it was a hornet or a mudlingger wasp, our sheets contain the statement that the insect had killed a room instead of her company as soon as it made its first buzz.—Lowell (Mass.) Courier.

"Ma," said Johnny, one Saturday morning, "where do good little boys go?" "To heaven, I suppose," replied ma. "I don't mean when they 're dead," answered Johnny, in a tone of disgust; "I mean do they go when they're alive?" "I don't know," remarked the mother, absently, "I suppose they stay at home with their mammas." "Well, then," Johnny, sah, I thought maybe their mammas sometimes took 'em to theatres." Johnny's father coughed out.

Excedbler.—"Yes, it is a very remarkable thing. I used to many years in the field that it is now utterly impossible for me to get a good night's rest in a bed. Time and again I have got up, gone out into the back yard, wrapped myself in my blanket, and slept like a top until morning." Ex-policeman—"My case exactly. When I want a good night's rest I have to put on my uniform and lay down on my front door-step."

Jinks—"Ah, Winkel I am glad to see you set such a good example." Winks—"In what way?" "Why, as I passed your house this morning I noticed that your sidewalk was well-sprinkled with ashes." "Oh! you see I'm bound to live next door to me. He's just the worst neighbor I ever did have, and I'm going to starve him out." "But what have the ashes to do with him?" "He's a surgeon."—Philadelphia Call.

The late Dr. Macsham used to tell of a tipsy Scotchman, making his way home on a bright Sunday morning, when the good folk were wending their way to the kirk. A little dog pilled a ribbon from the hand of a lady who was leading it, and set it run away from her, she appealed to the first passer-by, who happened to be the inebriate, asking him to whistle for her poodle. "Woman!" he retorted, with that solemnity of visage which only a Scotchman can assume: "Woman, this is no day for whistlin'!"

Poor tutor—Know ye what I do when I hunger have? Then draw I at home on my slate with chalk a white sausage. When I right severe hunger have, draw I two. Then drink I once from my mug of beer, eat a piece of bread, and rub from the sausage on the slate a piece away. Then drink I again, eat again a piece of bread, and rub again from the slate a piece of sausage away, till the last morsel away is. No picture I myself in I have the sausage really eaten. Behold you, it is all only imagination in the world.

"Hello, Sam," said a gentleman to an old negro riding along on a mule, "where did you get that bread?" "I borred 'im, in coo'se, honey; yes' didn't tink I steded 'im, did yo'?" "I wasn't sure. What did you give for him?" "I gib my note, sah, for fawty dollahs." "Your note, Sam?" "In coo'se, sah!" "Why, you'll never pay it." "Co'se I won't, boss. Yo' don't reckon dat man spects I'se gwine to pay fo' dat mule, an' pay for dat note, bedide, does yo'? No, sah, bit's ez much as dis darkey kin do to pay fo' de mule.—Cleveland Sun.

The peasants of Huntingdonshire, Eng., are proverbial for their bonhomie. One day a lady, riding through the grounds of a friend to whom she was on a visit, found the gate closed which was the outlet from the fields to the high road; a peasant boy stepped forward, and, bowing, opened the gate that she might pass. "What is your name?" asked the lady. "Tommy," said the boy, with another bow. "Ah!" replied the lady, giving him a shilling, "I see you are not a Huntingdonshire boy—you are so civil." To which the urchin rejoined, "Thee 'rt a liar, I tell 'ee."

"Father," he said, as he looked up from the paper, "there were 348 commercial failures last week." "No!" "That's what the papers say." "Great Scott!" There was silence for the next five minutes, and then the old man stuck his nose from his pipe and remarked. "Three forty-eight, eh? Just exactly what I counted on when I stopped you from going into the mercantile business and put you into a sawmill. A sawmill is something that can't fail once in fifty years, and when it does the law gives you the mill-man, and ye kin steal all the saws from the creditors."—Brill Street News.

Ferdinand Ward's Generosity.

Up in Livingston county, where the venerable father and mother of Ferdinand Ward live, one hears not a little about the ex-financier. As his backbond and youth were also spent in the Genesee valley, a good many stories are told of him, and not a little sympathy is manifested for him in his downfall. To his credit it must be said that he was liberal with his money, so far as old friends and backbiters are concerned, and a number of churches in western New York sincerely mourn the fact that they will be no more the recipient of his bounty. Among others the Presbyterian church in Dansville, of which Rev. G. K. Ward—Ferdinand's cousin—is pastor, received his check for $100, while an Episcopal church in Rochester fared much better. It was only a very short time before the crash that an aunt of Ferdinand's, a member of the church mentioned, was visiting him at his home in Brooklyn. One day she incidentally mentioned the fact that her church was in debt and sadly in need of funds, whereupon he wrote her a check for $1,000. The best part of it was that the gentlemen connected with this church were under a standing pledge that for every $100 the ladies would raise they would contribute $25 more. When Ferdinand's aunt turned in the $1,000 on the ladies' account it called for $250 from the men. They paid it, but it so nearly broke them up in Israeites—theologically speaking—that they declared the contract off, on and after that consideration.—New York Graphic.

Witty Repartee.

Ex-Mayor Edson of New York may claim credit for one of the wittest recorded repartees of the new year. The occasion was the dinner of the Lotos club to the out-going and incoming Mayors of the city. Whitelaw Reid presided. Mayor Grace sat on his right. Ex-Mayor Edson sat on his left. Two years ago their positions were exactly reversed. Grace going out of office and Edson being the new Mayor. When it came Edson's turn to speak he said:

I gladly appear in this position at the left of the President, because, for one reason, Mayor Grace and myself have only changed places this year. He sits at the right and I sit at the left. Two years ago I sat at the right and he sat at the left. [Laughter.]

The President (mild)—Two years hence you will both be left. [Laughter.]

Mr. Edson (continuing)—I venture to hope and I venture to believe that Mayor Grace will so acquit himself in the office of Mayor that two years from now he will occupy both sides of the table. [Loud applause and laughter.]

BREAKS UP A COLD IN ONE DAY.

PIMPLES.

I will mail, free the recipe for a simple vegetable cure for Pimples, Blackheads, Flesh Worms, Skin Eruptions and Blotches, leaving the skin soft, clear and beautiful; also instructions for producing a luxuriant growth of hair on a bald head or smooth face. Address, inclosing a 3c. stamp, BOX VANDALF & CO., 12 Barclay St., N. Y.

THE JOURNAL
BY CHAS. J. STRANG.
CHARLEVOIX, - MICHIGAN.

NEWS CONDENSED.

Concise Record of the Week.

EASTERN.

There has been placed on record at Pittsburgh a mortgage for $3,000,000, given by the South Pennsylvania Road on 200 miles of track.

Frank McGinire, made insane through losses by the failure of the Erie County Savings Bank, mortally shot his sister at Erie, Pa. The wrecking of this bank has resulted in a half-dozen persons becoming insanities.

Fred Grant has announced that his father will drive an auger in Central Park, as he receives no benefit therefrom.

Another indictment for grand larceny has been found against Ferdinand Ward in New York. It is alleged that just before the failure of the Marine Bank he carried off a capital of its securities.

E. S. Scott, paying teller of the Manhattan Bank of New York, who had $100,000 in greenbacks, bought a ticket for Montreal, and is known to have crossed the border.

WESTERN.

A furious wind, rain, and hail storm swept across the Northwest on the 24 inst., doing great damage to property. The storm was attended by a brilliant electric display. At Chicago a large number of houses were struck by lightning. Four people were killed and a number of others were knocked down by the electric fluid. At Canton, Dakota, a farmer was killed, and another received a fatal stroke at Wasson, Minnesota. At Monmouth, Illinois, several buildings were crushed by the wind, and the stock of traders damaged by water. The roof of the woolen factory was crushed in by the falling chimney-stack, and a barn was burned by lightning. Several citizens took refuge in their cellars during the storm, which lasted thirty minutes. At Cedar Rapids, Iowa, a span of the bridge was blown away, and glass was broken throughout the city in business.

Farmers' ponds: The Hessian fly is expected to be doing great damage to the Kansas wheat crop. Ground-squirrels are destroying the corn in some sections of Lincoln Co., Dak. Grasshopper reports from that portion are unusually numerous and voracious, making it interesting for business as well as pleasure. There are also complaints of the ravages of cutworms. Wire worms and chinch-bugs are reported as doing some damage to the corn in portions of Iowa and Illinois. The Ohio Live-Stock Commission sends out word that pleuro-pneumonia has been entirely stamped out in that State.

R. M. Reynolds, late First Auditor of the United States Treasury, killed himself at the Southern Hotel, in St. Louis, by jumping through an alcohol. He fell upon the floor of the rotunda, and was picked up dead.

In self-defense at Cincinnati, Dr. E. L. Loy shot and killed his brother-in-law, Harry Changlin. The latter, who was in a half-drunken condition, began abusing his sister, and also struck a lady visitor with a chair. Dr. Loy and the coachman attempted to get Changlin to bed, when he rushed downstairs and, securing a carving knife, threatened the Doctor, who then fired, with fatal effect. Loy was released on a $10,000 bond.

Judge Josiah McIlvaine, who was re-elected on the last inst. Judge of the Sixth Judicial District of Illinois, was found dead in his house in Joliet.

About one hundred and fifty Iowa soldiers left Chicago the other day by special train over the Baltimore and Ohio for Washington, Baltimore, Harper's Ferry, and the Shenandoah Valley.

The famous stallions Maxey Cobb and Dauntless are matched to trot for $5,000 at Cleveland on July 4.

The earnings of the St. Paul Road for May show a comparative decrease of $116,767.

The body of Mrs. Charles Sherwood, of Rockford, Ill., was conveyed to the cemetery in a delivery-wagon, almost concealed by flowers. She had often requested not to be placed in a hearse.

While taking driftwood from Pike's river at Kewaunee, Wis., Mrs. John Burgess and her daughter were drowned. Three listeners were drowned in Lake Michigan, off Chicago, by the capsizing of a boat. Two boatmen named Flinta were accidentally drowned at Lansing, Mich.

Secretary Bayard, while en route to Columbia, Mo., where he delivered the annual address before the students of the State University, was received at East St. Louis by a reception committee headed by Senator Vest, and thence escorted to the Southern Hotel at St. Louis, where he was met by Mayor Francox and a few prominent citizens, and an address of welcome delivered.

The Beaver Park reservoir, in South St. Vrain canon, near Longmont, Col., gave way the other day, causing great damage to the surrounding country. The torrent is estimated to have been 120 feet high, and rushed down the canon, carrying away bridges, houses, barns, and everything which obstructed its path, flooding the adjacent country, so far as learned no lives were lost, but the damage to crops and roadways along the lowlands is very great.

McVicker's Theater, Chicago, newly reconstructed, will be opened to the public Monday, June 29, when a new play, by John G. Freund, of New York, will be presented. The practically new theater will undoubtedly be the handsomest, safest, and most comfortable in this country. Lighted by the Edison incandescent light, and cooled in hot weather by a new system of ventilation, and at all times possessing entrances by means of the highest order, McVicker's will realize the enviable distinction has possessed for the past twenty-eight years of being the favorite amusement temple of Chicago.

After a three days' investigation the Grand Jury of Polk county, Iowa, refused to indict State Auditor Brown and his deputy, Stewart.

Judge Chapman, of Detroit, has granted a divorce to the wife of Mark Hopkins, the St. Paul millionaire, on the ground of cruelty.

Within six months the County Agent at Chicago has expended $14,000 in drawing insane persons to their homes in other States, on evidence that they had been deliberately shipped to the Garden City.

SOUTHERN.

E. P. Burchum made a fifty-mile bicycle road race at Boston in three hours and five minutes, which is the fastest time on record.

In Boston Judge Allen refused to grant a divorce to the wife of John L. Sullivan, the heavyweight, because he did not think Sullivan had been proved a gross and confirmed drunkard.

Business has been suspended by the miners and banks of Dalton, Ga., on account of the bursting Saturday of the paper of the late William Brisben. The capital and liabilities of the institution was $450,000. The city has $100,000 on deposit.

Virginia planters are being requested by certain merchants to hold back their crops of tobacco, to prevent a glut in the streets all night at Lynchburg and other prominent points, which is usual.

Mrs. James Winn, a widow, and three of her children, and Mrs. Tony Stefano were drowned at Duke's Island, near Wilmington, N. C. The children were wading in that water, and, acting beyond their depth, Mrs. Winn and Mrs. Stefano went to their rescue, when all were drowned.

Supposing that she was a witch, negroes in Etowah County, Alabama, dragged an aged colored woman from her house and after tying her to a stake, tore her literally and burned down her dwelling. Eleven of her accusers have been arrested.

Three lynchings have occurred in the State of Maryland within the last six months. The third was that of Townsend Cook, a negro, who brutally assaulted Mrs. Carrie Knott, at Mount Airy. Cook was taken out of the Westminster Jail and hanged to a tree by an armed mob, his body being riddled with bullets.

In a battle between State Rangers and Mexican robbers, on the frontier of Texas, three of the Rangers, including the officer in command, were killed.

Secretary Whitney has received a letter from ex-Secretary of the Navy Chandler, of the World's Fair at New Orleans. The total amount of claims against the exposition is $267,000, of which $215,000 is greater than the appropriation—owing a balance on the wrong side of the account of $52,218.

WASHINGTON.

A report has been rendered by the Treasury Committee on Southern Paper against the use of the disputed stamp in bank-notes. Secretary Manning has approved the report, and has continued the committee, which is composed of prominent officials in the Treasury Department, with extended powers to consider the subject of the material and execution of securities. It is said authoritatively that not another sheet of the fifty-cent stamp will be issued for purchase. A much finer paper, with a deep surface and more durable qualities, will be adopted. The bank-note of the future is much more artistic in design.

The public debt statement shows a decrease of $2,223,000 for the month of June.

POLITICAL.

Charles Denby, of Indiana, has been appointed Minister to China, and Wendell A. Anderson, of Wisconsin, Consul-General at Montreal.

President Cleveland has appointed Isaac H. Maynard, of New York, Second Comptroller of the Treasury; Albert N. Hathaway, of Connecticut, Consul at Nice; and George W. Julian, of Indiana, Surveyor-General of New Mexico.

The judicial election in Illinois drew out a very light vote, that of Chicago being about 10,000. The proposition to issue $1,000,000 bonds in Cook County is defeated by at least 6,000.

President Cleveland has appointed Charles H. Robinson, Collector of Customs at Wilmington, N. C.; John C. Bixby, Collector of Customs at New Haven, Conn.; John H. Carney, Collector of Internal Revenue for the Eighteenth District of Ohio; T. C. Brannon, Collector of Internal Revenue for the Eighth district of Kentucky. William H. Wade, of Maryland, was appointed Deputy Third Auditor of the Treasury, vice William H. Clifford, worth was commissioned postmaster at Hickman, Ky., vice Samuel F. Hall. Stephenson, of Illinois, has been appointed Commissioner

THE JOURNAL.

BY CHAS. J. STRANG.

CHARLEVOIX, - - MICHIGAN.

No Protection for Everybody.

No tariff law can be enacted which will protect everybody. Under any law passed whereby taxes are levied for the benefit of special interests there must be taxpayers as well as the beneficiaries of such taxation. It is as true of taxation as it is of mathematics that out of nothing nothing comes. The money that a tariff law transfers to the pockets of an iron manager, or a lumber manufacturer, or a coal monopolist, comes out of somebody—out of money already earned and saved by somebody engaged in a more or less profitable occupation. Herein lies its injustice. It takes good money already earned and sinks it, wholly or partially, in sustaining what it is claimed would otherwise be unprofitable industries. There is no such thing possible under any system of taxation as protecting everybody at the expense of everybody. Those who are protected must receive their protection at the expense of somebody else. When tariff laws are passed to protect manufacturers it must be at the expense of those who are not manufacturers. It is impossible to frame tariff or tax laws for the benefit of a particular class or interest without doing so at the cost of other classes and interests. When men are able to get something out of nothing, and not till then, will they be able to devise a tariff law that will make money for everybody at the expense of nobody. Men have always extended it to be a difficult matter to lift themselves over a fence by their own boot straps; but they can do this as easily as the mass of mankind can gain anything by protective tariff laws.—Jackson Patriot.

Small Comfort for Soldiers.

Michigan soldiers may as well give up all hopes of ever securing the equalization of state bounties. They were tricked into petitioning for a state soldiers' home, and that has been given them as a sop to quiet their just demands. I do not think it goes far towards discharging the obligations we owe the soldiers, but it is sufficient for a pretense. On Thursday the bill came back from the senate with a few amendments, the only important one being a deduction of $50,000 in the appropriation. Yesterday the house concurred in the amendments and by the time this is in type the bill will be a law. We shall now have another expensive and burdensome institution to support—an institution the United States ought to maintain—and the soldiers' claim will be hereafter disregarded on the ground that this institution squares the account between them and the state.—[C. S. Hampton.

Patching up the Tax Laws.

Both houses have fixed up the tax laws temporarily by adopting a new law hashed up of the laws of '69 and '82. A hard light was made by tax reformers to incorporate features in the interests of the people, the efforts of Mr. Richardson and Mr. Lincoln being deserving of special praise, but the house was determined to adopt it without amendments. One feature of the new bill is that personal property such as wood, logs, bark, ties, etc., are to be assessed where it is situated, instead of where the owners reside.—Harbor Springs Independent.

Notes and News.

Out of nine hundred and fifty five samples of French wines recently analyzed, but ninety-five were found to be genuine, the remainder being more or less adulterated with unwholesome drugs.

A temperance guild was organized in a barber shop among young men waiting to be shaved, in Troy, N. Y., by Rev. Father Dolan. He induced twenty two to sign the pledge, and the organization was formed immediately.

In redistricting the State for representatives in the legislature, the following groupings have a local interest here: Cheboygan, Emmet and Manitou make a district; Charlevoix and Antrim; Leelanaw and Benzie; Grand Traverse and Kalkaska.

Here now is a woman that has solved the civil service question, with the offensive partisan business thrown in: The postmistress at Napoleon, Mich., has just married the democrat who has the inside track as her successor.—Indianapolis Sentinel.

A man named Bread has been appointed to a Nebraska Postoffice. Now let him come over to Dubuque and chasp Postmaster Ham in a fraternal embrace. Between them a political sandwich could be mastered upon.—Peoria Transcrip.

Democrats all over the State feel jubilant over the removal of Jimmy Stone, one of the most offensive (partisans, and the substitution of the well known democrat John B. Maloney, of Detroit, as Collector of Customs for the First District. President Cleveland made no mistake in that change. Jimmy Stone now takes no interest in the shape of Cleveland's head or the size of his collar.—Big Rapids Herald.

A London temperance manifesto to workmen contains the following: In manufacturing one hundred dollars worth of liquor two dollars goes to labor. In manufacturing one hundred dollars' worth of boots and shoes, twenty-two dollars goes to labor. The money turns over by one distillery employing one hundred and fifty men would, if employed in more useful ways give work to fifteen thousand men.

The protectionists lay the flattering unction to their souls—that is to say, to their pockets—that the democrats in the House can not be induced on a "free trade bill," and that therefore, no tariff revision will behal. No one is now asking for free trade. The demand is for free trade—a removal of the tariff upon crude materials and a reduction of the duties upon the necessaries of life. Do the monopolists think the the war taxes are to stand forever? Why should the average duty be maintained at a point thirty per cent. above the revenue and protective tariff of 1861?—[Boston Herald.

The summer meeting of the Michigan Horticultural Society will convene in Frankfort, Benzie county, June 24th, in acceptance of an invitation from the Benzie Horticultural Society. The meeting will open at 10 o'clock Wednesday, June 24th, and there will be sessions in the afternoon and evening. On the morning of the 25th conveyances will take the delegates to visit fruit farms in the vicinity, and to Beaumont where all will enjoy a strawberry festival. The afternoon will be given to visiting fruit farms about Beaumont and the return to Frankfort, where the closing session will be held in the evening.

ADDITIONAL LOCAL.

Real Estate Transfers.

The following is a list of transfers of real estate in Charlevoix county, as recorded in the office of register of deeds, for the week ending Tuesday evening:

L. W. Skinner and wife to Nancy M. Peaslee, e ½ of w ½, and n w ¼ of s ½, 28-33N, $2,000.

Nellie F. Gregory to James R. Palmiter et al, lots 11 and 12, blk 4, village of South Lake, lots 1 and 2, blk 4, Nichols 1st add to village of South Lake, $2,000.

Hiram B. Chapman and wife to F. J. Meech, lot 2, blk 13, Chapman & Adolph's Bay Springs, $15.

H. B. Chapman and wife to S. H. Timberlake, lot 1, blk 7, of Chapman & Adolph add to Bay Springs, $75.

John Nicholls and wife to Beezie Greenwood, lot 12, blk 9, of Nicholls 1st add village South Lake, $80.

Lucretia H. Powers to Mary J. Powers, lots 8, 10, 11, and 12 of blk 3 village of Boyne Falls, $100.

H. B. Chapman to Wm. Harris, lot 2, blk 7, of Chapman & Adolph add to Bay Springs, $15.

Jordan M. Burtchaeser to Benjamin C. Graves, lot 103, of Upright & Burtchaeser add village of Charlevoix, $100.

Alice A. Flick to Albert Tenckenk, lot 9, blk 1, Bowers add village of South Lake, $125.

Mary J. Stone to Albert Tenckenk, lot 15, blk 11, of Stone's 2nd add village of South Lake, $75.

United States to Henry Anderson, n e ¼, 26-33-4, Pulpit.

United States to Wm. A. Wetherbee, S. W. ¼, 26-33-4, Patent.

CASH FOR

FAT CATTLE,

Sheep and Hogs.

Having contracted to furnish Fresh Meats to the Charlevoix markets, this season, I will pay the highest market price for fat Cattle, Sheep, and Hogs.

A. J. McLEOD.

Charlevoix, May 29, 1885.

GET THE BEST

If your neighbors want a clean, handsome weekly newspaper, giving all the latest and most complete news from all parts of the country, have them send 25 cents for this paper two months on trial. Regular price, 75 cents for six months, $1.50 per year, postpaid.

The Charlevoix Journal,

CHARLEVOIX, MICH.

Notice of Attachment.

STATE OF MICHIGAN, The Circuit Court for the County of Charlevoix.

N. E. Warren, }
vs. }
Notice is hereby given that on the second day of May, 1885, a writ of attachment was issued out of the Circuit Court for the county of Charlevoix, in favor of N. E. Warren, plaintiff, vs. Wm. W. Page, copartnerin doing business at the village of Charlevoix, under the firm name and style of Upright, Emrey & Co., plaintiffs, against the habits, tenements, goods and chattels, lands, tenements, rights, and credits, and effects of said defendant, Wm. W. Page, copartner in doing business, and twenty five dollars, which said writ was made returnable on the second day of June, 1885.

Dated, June 3, 1885.

CHUBBMAN & GIBBS,
Attorneys for Plaintiffs.

C. ANCERY SALE.

STATE OF MICHIGAN,
In the Circuit Court for the County of Charlevoix:

Suit in Chancery. Complainant vs. William T. Adolph, Hiram B. Chapman, Robert Bruce, Nathan Dolge, and John Doe, defendants.

Notice is hereby given that in pursuance of a decree of the said Circuit Court, made in said cause, entitled cause on the 24th day of February, 1885, that I shall sell at public auction, to the highest bidder, at the Village of Bay Springs, Village Hall, in the Village of Charlevoix, County of Charlevoix, state of Michigan, that being the place where the circuit court for the County of Charlevoix is held, on the 11th day of July, 1885, at one o'clock in the afternoon of said day, the following described lands in said decree mentioned, viz: Lots one (1), two (2), three (3), four (4), seven (7), in township thirty three (33) north of range six (6) west, containing eighteen (18) acres, more or less. Also lots number twenty one, twenty-one (21), twenty-two (22), twenty-three (23), and twenty-four (24), of block twenty, and lots three (3), seven (7), nine (9), and ten (10) of block twenty-one (21), of Chapman's Addition to block three (3), of the village of Spring Harbor, according to the recorded plat thereof. Also a piece of land bounded as follows, commencing in the center of Lake street in said village, and running thence in an easterly course on the center line of the highway to the center of the bridge, on the Pine River, thence in a due south course into Pine Lake, said parcel of land being a part of lot in section three (3), of section twenty-two (22), township thirty three (33) north of range six (6) west.

Dated May 26th, 1885.

FRANK E. JONES,
Circuit Court Commissioner,
for Charlevoix County, Michigan.

SAWYER & BISHOP,
Solicitors for Complainant. 98-101

C. R. BELLINGER

Has a large stock of

New Jewelry and Silverware

(SOLID AND PLATED)

Pins, Charms, and Chains,

In all the latest styles,

Watches, Clocks, and Optical Goods.

New Style of Monogram 75c just received.

Sewing Machine oil kept in stock.

The Chicago Daily News

Has the Largest Daily Circulation in America.

Its issue for the year 1881 averaged 155,178 copies daily, and it is now regularly printing over 170,000 papers a day.

The magnitude of this unequaled circulation is best appreciated when it is said that it exceeds the circulations of all other Chicago dailies combined. Taking from the three standard newspaper directories—Ayer & Sons Annual, Rowell's Directory and Hubbard's Directory—the estimates which most nearly represent the actual circulation of the Chicago press, the following diagram correctly illustrates their relative positions as to extent of circulation.

From these figures it appears that the circulation of The Chicago Daily News exceeds the combined circulations of all the other Chicago dailies by 19,853 copies daily. The reasons for this phenomenal success are obvious:

THE CHICAGO DAILY NEWS

is a complete newspaper in all that constitutes the best type of American journalism.

It is a member of the Associated Press, and is the only 2 cent paper in the West that possesses this first essential to a complete news service. In addition, it has its own private wire (by lease from the Western Union Telegraph Co.) connecting its Chicago office with New York and Washington, at both of which points it has its own news bureaus. THE CHICAGO DAILY NEWS prints ALL the news.

It is an independent paper. It recognizes the utility of political parties as means for the accomplishment of proper ends, but it declines to regard any mere party as a fit subject for unquestioning adoration. It enlists the patronage of intelligent, thoughtful, honest people, who love country more than party.

THE CHICAGO DAILY NEWS

asks and expects no quarter from any. It believes that newspaper reading is but an incident of the day, and its chief business. It accordingly leaves to the "blanket-sheets" the monopoly of tiresome and worthless amplification. It seeks to say all that the reader should care to read, and to say it in the shortest possible manner. It is a daily paper for busy people.

It is a clean paper, fit for the family circle. It is a cheap paper—2 cents per day, 70 cents per week, 50 cents per month, $6.00 per year. Sold by all news dealers throughout the Northwest. Mailed to any address, post paid, upon receipt of price.

Where the facilities of a daily mail are not enjoyed THE CHICAGO WEEKLY NEWS is recommended as "the next best." It is large 8 page, 64 column paper, carefully made up to meet all the varying needs of the family circle. It is the largest "dollar weekly" in America. It is equal to the best.

Good Goods and Low Prices

ARE

BOUND TO WIN

If you don't believe it, come and see my SPRING STOCK. You will see that I am up to the times in styles, and have as fine an assortment of MEN'S, YOUTH'S and CHILDREN'S SUITS, as you will find in any City. I defy any House to show any nicer line of NECK WEAR and

Furnishing Goods.

My aim is to HOLD THE CLOTHING TRADE, by carrying a Large Stock so I can please you all. PRICES TALK. Come and see my Large Spring Stock before buying elsewhere.

GEO. W. MILLER.

HENRY C. COOPER

WILL SELL

Furniture at Reduced Prices

To Make Room for New Stock

A LARGE LINE OF HAMMOCKS, BABY CARRIAGES, AND TRUNKS AT COST.

TO CLOSE OUT.

Photographs!

I have located in

New Photograph Gallery

OVER

UPRIGHT, EMREY & CO.'S STORE.

And am prepared to do

All Kinds of Photographic Work.

From the

Miniature Picture to Life Size

Any Old Picture Copied and Enlarged.

Satisfaction Guaranteed.

DAVE BRABBER,
Charlevoix, Mich.

$100 REWARD

FOR

Every Ounce of Adulteration

IN THE

U. G. Soap

The Great 5c Cake,

Made only by

GOWANS & STOVER,

BUFFALO, N. Y.

For Sale by all First-class Grocers.

Nimrod

Plug Tobacco.

Sold by all Grocers and Tobacco Dealers. Noted for its Excellent Chewing Qualities, Rich Flavor, and Cheesy Cut. This Tobacco is Manufactured of Finest Leaf, Purest Sweetening. "Everybody Chews Nimrod." Send for Samples.

B. W. VENABLE & CO.,
Petersburg, Va.

8-94

McCABE'S

Livery and Hack Line

DRAYING TO ORDER.

Passengers, Baggage, etc., delivered to all Boats, Hotels, or any part of the City.

AT

McCabe's Livery Barn,

CHARLEVOIX, MICH.

John Nicholls,

CHARLEVOIX, MICH.,

Manufacturer of and dealer in

HARDWOOD AND PINE

LUMBER

ALSO

Dressed Lumber, Our Blades

WAGON TONGUES, SHINGLES, LATH, ETC.

LUMBER SAWED AND BILLS FILLED TO ORDER.

NEW GOODS

MILLINERY

Fancy Goods,

Dress Making, Stamping, &c.

GIVE ME A CALL.

MISS L. STEAVOLDING.

WM. J. STEVENSON,

HORSE-SHOEING,

Wagon Shop,

BLACKSMITHING, ETC.

Heavy Wagons on hand and made to order. I shall keep on hand the best of stock of the best material, and WARRANT ALL WORK. Call and examine is force nothing elsewhere.

SHOP ONE BLOCK WEST OF CARPENTER, BARTHOLOMEW & CO.'S STORE, CHARLEVOIX, MICH.

☞ The OSBORNE MOWING MACHINE on hand and for sale. 13

ERRORS OF YOUTH.

A GENTLEMAN who suffered for years from Nervous Debility, Premature Decay, and all the effects of youthful indiscretion, will for the sake of suffering humanity, send free to all who need it, the recipe and direction for making the simple remedy by which he was cured. Sufferers wishing to profit by the advertiser's experience can do so by addressing in perfect confidence, JOHN B. OGDEN, 42 Cedar St., New York.

WOOD WANTED.

Two or three loads of good thick wood wanted at this office immediately.

BANK OF CHARLEVOIX

Receives deposits of TEN CENTS AND UPWARD. First class interest payable January and July. Pays interest on time deposits at the rate of FOUR PER CENT PER ANNUM SIXMONTHS. Loans money on approved security on Real Estate or Personal Property, both by her to protect our depositors. All profits after paying expenses are added to our surplus for depositors. Stockholders are personally liable for deposits beyond amount of stock owned by them, which is double the capital stock only secures their bills in circulation. Scarcely ever is a banking house with such security. Money is a banking, also with our business. Drafts on Chicago, New York, Detroit, Toronto, Milwaukee, Cleveland, Toledo, Cincinnati, Louisville, Indianapolis, St. Louis, Minneapolis, St. Paul, Portland, Oregon, San Francisco, Denver, City of Mexico, London, Dublin, Paris, Berlin, Frankfort, Antwerp, Hamburg, Copenhagen, Christiania, Stockholm, Gothenburg, Halifax, Hongkong, Yokohama, Shanghai, Calcutta, Bombay, Melbourne, Sydney, Adelaide, Auckland, Wellington, Port Chalmers, Kingston, Port Royal, Aux Cayes, Port au Prince, Gonaives, Jacmel, Port de Paix, St. Thomas, St. Jean, Basseterre, Roseau, St. Pierre, Fort de France, Point a Pitre, Belize, Truxillo, Panama, Aspinwall, Carthagena, Savanna la Mar, Colon, Santiago, Cienfuegos, Sagua, Matanzas, Havana, Nassau, Bermuda, Vera Cruz, Tampico, Mazatlan, Guaymas, Lima, Callao, Valparaiso, Rio Janeiro, Santos, Montevideo, Buenos Ayres, Rosario, Cape Town, Port Elizabeth, Durban, Mauritius, Reunion, Zanzibar, Aden, Shiraz, Beirut, Smyrna, Constantinople, Athens, Patras, Malaga, Madrid, Barcelona, Santander, Bilbao, Cadiz, Corunna, Gibraltar, Malta, Leghorn, Genoa, Milan, Venice, Florence, Palermo, Turin, Marseilles, Lyons, Havre, Bordeaux, Nantes, Lisbon, Oporto, Funchal, Reykjavik, Aalborg, Aarhuus, Odense, Zealand, Gothenburg, Malmo, Stockholm, Carlsruhe, Cologne, Leipsic, Dresden, Chemnitz, Berlin, Hamburg, Frankfort, Munich, Vienna, Pesth, Brussels, Antwerp, Rotterdam, Amsterdam, Copenhagen, Christiania, Paris, Lyons, Marseilles LIVING.

BY JOHN BOYLE O'REILLY.

To tell all day and its work and all night,
To rise for all the years to shine on things,
And breed new breeds to do no other thing
Is toiling, learning, breeding—life is this:
To myriad men, the base for man or brute.

To serve for common duty, while the brain
Is hot with high desires to be doing—
To fill the sand-grain place among the stones
That build the social wall in million measures,
Is life by leave and death by unanimous.

To live in mended peace, with stripped blood
Of sacrificial labor for a Thing Divine,
To take the darkest lane and lay it down
Beneath the crushing wheels for love of Freedom—
To love the world years of cant and toils,
And go to heaven in a fair shroud—
To see a life spark grow to a cosmos,
Is cause for found so worthy a nearly life.

For highest life of man, for work not sacrifice,
But inter-action of the forces that be!
To pass amid the hurrying crowds, and watch
The hungry things of vulgar mind
To mark the growth of lower lines of man;
To note the bending to a sordid end
Of the fine natural element called disease
Until the fixed the blood and souls of men;
To feel, the while, the pulsing throbs of hope
Of that which is innumerable, yet clean,
The beam God spares to the poorest hut;
To see with eyes of love the hard face
Never upward to the Freedom and the Truth,
And know the backward dragged by law and ignorance—
To see the beauty of the world, and hear
The cheap lamment of greed, to know abode
Of sunrisings is surmounted decay—
To know that how to live—that man is can
And rudeness is the index; that the heart
Of man is as pliant for love as hate—
To know all ends this meaning merely,
The strong of all, the right of man, the natural
Is life.

Partaking not of selfish aims, withholding not
The quiet that strengthens and the hand that helps,
Without hope and sympathizes with the restless
life,
And loves all things, and reaches arm to find
With thanks and blessings—he alone is living.
—Boston Transcript.

A PICAYUNE IN PERIL.

BY NEMO.

"My bride is the church," compassionately announced the Rev. Narcissus Fleurine, looking with fatherly tenderness upon the upturned faces of his audience.

The scene was in the lecture-room of the church of Hillsburg, to which the reverend gentleman had been recently called by the almost unanimous vote of the congregation. It is true, a few old fogies were contented with the management and ways of his predecessor, kind old Mr. Bowlsper, but they were a decided minority.

The women, dear creatures, who, although commanded to keep silent in the church, have so much enlarge, laid upon their speech at home and abroad, discussed all the pros and cons of the subject. The young ladies especially resented that Hillsburg needed an energetic person, full of vim; in short, a young man.

"For," they argued, "if in politics and the state young blood and ideas are requisite to give an impetus in the march of progress, why not also in religion?"

For once the middle-aged spinsters and widows did not echoe the forwardness of those whom they usually called "cliques of girls."

So the matter was decided. Old Mr. Bowlsper was snubbed so perseveringly that even his eyes, slow to see evil, awakened to the fact that he had worn his welcome in Hillsburg threadbare. Wounded to the heart that those whom he had loved and served through evil report and good report should now in his old age desire to be rid of him, he tendered his resignation, which having been immediately accepted he departed, sincerely mourned by a few friends, who would have been perfectly willing to jog along the narrow way, following his sure if not rapid guidance.

Being thus rid of the old love, the congregation instantly lost no time in providing itself with a new. But in desiring a new pastor it was not lack in wisdom, who could hate sin but love a sinner, himself an embodiment of every virtue, the good people of Hillsburg were unconsciously seeking a Solon and a Solomon combined.

Naturally, some time elapsed before such a one could be found. At length, however, Rev. Narcissus Fleurine was invited to occupy the pulpit so long filled by Mr. Bowlsper.

Youth, at least, he possessed. If other scarcely less important qualifications were lacking, this was not apparent to the partial eyes of his judges. Grace to a sanctimonious air and a glib tongue he united unbounded assurance, and a thorough conviction of his own superiority, mental and moral, to the common herd, which placed him comfortably beyond the arrows of adverse criticism.

Having accepted the call, in a few weeks he was domiciled at Hillsburg. Like the great Cesar, he came, he saw, he conquered. Never had there been such a stir in the parish. "Truly, a great awakening," said the sober heads of families, as their daughters foresaw the allurements of the dance and the roller-rink to drink from the Pierian spring of the Rev. Narcissus' eloquence.

The young men were not quite so enthusiastic; but, as they speedily discovered that a depressatory hint of the newcomer was sure to provoke a storm of indignation from his fair admirers, they also went over to the majority—to all appearances, at least.

Many were the innuendos made by the new parson. All were eagerly accepted. Mr. Bonspouer had been content with Sunday and semi-weekly services. This sricnt young neophyte insisted upon having a service twice daily. As heating the main building proved rather expensive, he decided to hold forth in the lecture-room adjoining the church. It was here that he made the remark which opens this veracious chronicle.

Quite often lately it had flashed across the empty vastness of his mind that the female element in his congregation largely predominated.

Could it be that devotion to the man and not the cause of religion inspired them? Perish the thought! What a misfortune to be endowed with such powers of fascination! What, should any earthly power deprive the heart devoted to a spiritual bride?

For the still hours of the night he resolved to address the question but firmly on the morrow.

"Disappointment will be better than suspense for the poor creatures," said he to himself; "I could not marry them all anyhow."

In pursuance of this intention he mounted the pulpit steps next day with Spartan resolve. The surgeon should not spare the knife.

Still, it seemed to him, there had never before been quite so many women and so few men. Young women, middle-aged women, and widows. Yes, His eyes rested with positive relief upon several nice old ladies occupying prominent seats in front.

"All men are," he thought, "the law forbids a man to marry his grand mother."

Then the cold sweat burst from every pore as he recalled the Baroness Barbara Coutts.

"My hearers," said he, quite distinctly and positively, without the formality of announcing a text; "my bride is and ever shall be the church."

Perhaps, of all the Rev. Narcissus' listeners, upon whom the thunderbolt fell heaviest, was Miss Matilda Ann Hibkbrand.

She was a lackadaisical old young lady, with a great reserve of selfishness and obstinacy, so well concealed by a veneering of gushing amiability and artless sweetness. Little had ever penetrated below the surface. In her own opinion she was nothing if not aesthetic and deeply pious, but she was also lonely, and yearned for a congenial spirit. She had a lofty indifference to the appearance of the fleshly habiliatios of the wished for spirit, which may account for her insensibility to the Rev. Narcissus' lack of personal attractions. For his gentleman was not beautiful to behold, by any means.

His bullet-head was set very straight by a long, slim neck on his square little shoulders; his pale, mayonnaitic eyes were ornamented with a decided squint; his mouth was a crease in his face, simply that and nothing more. When he was pleased, the crease widened. The Rev. Narcissus never deigned to smile. But in his pawkiness was the true inwardness of the man displayed—large, square, saturnine. Had Samson possessed such a weapon in lieu of the one mentioned by Scripture, before the gates of Gaza, it would have been no miracle that the Philistines fallen by tens of thousands.

Matilda Ann was virtuously consscious of possessing all the requisites for a minister's wife.

"But she can have been reared, so to say, in the very odor of sanctity," said her lamp, like the wise virgins, always trimmed and burning, and, moreover, set up in a conspicuous place for every one to admire." She vowed a vow to herself on the spot, that, persuasive as he left to instruct his hearers to do so, Narcissus, not woman, a convertible I make in fine clearly love," and presently meeting her eye, wasso flustered by its ominous sparkle that, overlooking the three steps which led from the floor, he fell forward, and in no other moment his pedal extremities were seen to be long enough to leave him—high in the air.

The fair Matilda was a born general. She now surveyed him, bruised and unabashed her forces to victory or death. The Rev. Narcissus felt no fear in her airless presence. Time, she was gracious and fair to look upon, but she had confided her aim, early in their acquaintance, her intention of wilfully drawing from the allurements of the world, the flesh, and the devil, and retiring into a sisterhood. Consequently he bestowed much of his valuable time upon her, somewhat to the neglect of his parishioners in general.

Her astute parents looked on approvingly at the finesse displayed by their coldness daughter, and in a sense way and not disdain to lend a helping hand.

Great was the shout of indignation of the three three score and ten females of the congregation, who each thought herself a fitting mate for the Rev. Narcissus. Wind, and they gone to the trouble of getting rid of Mr. Bonspouer, only to provide that stuck-up Matilda Ann Hibkbrand with a beau? For the angaiens feminine did not credit Miss Hibkbrand's intention of joining the sisterhood.

Redoubled were the efforts put forth to induce this most fascinating of parsons to forego the vow he had made, and while each one strove for herself, all made common cause against Matilda Ann.

The parson's self-esteem flourished in this delicate situation, and Jonah's gourd, amid among the disaffected few the "wonder gew", this one small head could carry all the thoughts upon it. He confided to his always sympathetic friend, Matilda Ann, that the only argument which he could "conscientiously urge against a life of sentimenty was, that an unmarried minister, especially if he had a taking way with him, could not devote himself as he should to the welfare of the souls of the married females of his congregation without exciting false reports, unknowingly inflicting pain upon susceptible hearts."

Miss Hibkbrand not only agreed with him, but also volunteered the advice that, since he had been created such a masterpiece, it was his bounden duty to place an impenetrable barrier between himself and the numerous aspirants for his affection.

"Either follow my example, which I shall shortly act," sighed she plaintively, "and retire from the cold world, or marry in self-defense. It would be grandly unselfish," she continued, smilingly, "for one so retrospective, so introspective, so"—here she blundered a little but brought up triumphantly—"so irrespective as yourself, to secure your lofty placis, and instead of cherishing all humanity, cherish one lovely woman. But, oh," here she sighed deeply and turned away, "that superlatively favored woman!"

The parson pondered this advice and decided to accept it. Why strive against fate? A man of his attractions and parts must marry to vanquish custom. He had been curious lately of qualms of regret that Matilda Ann's appreciative sweetness and artless grace were to be observed beneath the heavy veil of the sisterhood. Now he understood the feelings that prompted him. There was something secretly inspiring, too, in the idea. Each had been conscripted, as it were, to religion. How beautiful to unite the hearts devoted to the work of regenerating all mankind.

No doubts as to the lady's acquiescence crossed his mind. Why should they? Had she not been his slave from first and foremost among those who cried with one mouth "Great is Rev. Narcissus Picayune?"

As to choosing between himself and a sister-hood, about this time the ladies of Hillsburg, always on "hospitable thoughts intent," had conceived the idea of having a grand picnic. Accordingly arrangements were all made.

Many who had been somewhat faint-hearted in the race for the parson now rallied. Hope prepared their bonnets for the occasion, resolving to do or die. Rev. Narcissus formed a like resolve, and so did Matilda Ann. They are entangled the threads of the warp of life.

Upon arriving at the picnic grounds the parson found himself, as usual, the center of attraction. But he appear fatigued, a dozen fair hands proffered him refreshment; did he attempt a sally of wit, delighted smiles and musical laughter testified the appreciation of his auditors.

Yet, ungrateful man, he was not satisfied.

Matilda Ann, on this occasion, had not joined the crowd of worshipers. She sat apart, conversing languidly and sweetly with a strange young man.

Rev. Narcissus felt his pride clinch, while a regular John L. Sullivan spirit revealed his being. Not even the dinner, although according to the system of preachers, he consumed a Benjaminian portion thereof, restored his serenity. Matilda Ann and the stranger were still tete-a-tetaing.

Escaping from his admirers, he started for a stroll. The natty little gentleman was decidedly out of humor. Scarcely conscious of his surroundings, he walked quite briskly for a little time; however, his anger cooled. Self-approbation came to the rescue, and he quite blamed himself for being so unbelieved to the tender mercies of the sisterhood.

Filled with this idea he turned to retrace his steps—observing for the first time, as he did so, a bold, wild bull gaining near by. Now the parson had a fear for bulls equal to organized and at once manifested his dislike to taking its care and vociferating "Shoo" at the height of his voice.

Attracted by the noise the cattle lifted their heads. The bull, since a lenient survey, trotted leisurely toward the little parson, who, although some what alarmed, manfully stood his ground.

Just they confronted each other. Rev. Narcissus had great faith in the power of his voice—especially, perhaps, of late. He now knit his brows; the bull in a frown calculated to annihilate his brute nature—if, poor bull, he had had mind at all. On the contrary, he "fixed" the parson "with his glittering eye" in a style calculated to cause a fellow creature to quail, and the parson to lash his tail, paw the ground, and toss his horned head in an extremely belligerent manner.

The parson thought of Daniel saved by faith from the lions, and strove to feel secure; but the bull, continuing his hostile demonstrations, his courage fled, deep into his boots, while, to make things even, his hair rose straight up on his head.

Suddenly the bull, uttering a loud bellow, plunged toward him. Standing not upon the order of his going, the poor little parson, with a yell, took to his heels.

Rev. Narcissus' legs were short, but they fairly twinkled in the air, almost converted into wings by his terror. All the bulls of Bashan faded into insignificance in comparison with this one pursuer, whose active Texas ranger ancestry lives and wildly beating heart in him, seeking shelter and finding none, when who should appear, as a deus ex machina, but Matilda Ann!

The parson had no breath to scream a warning. At this moment, she he consulted and still fell, and—luckily for him—rolled into the ditch beside the road.

The bull passed him recklessly, attracted by the scarlet shawl in which Matilda Ann's fair form was decked.

That aesthetic young lady had her dignified languor to the winds, indeed resembling a whirlwind in her rapidity, as she rushed toward the fallen parson, and bent over him in solicitude. Not a bone was broken, it was the bull which had suffered most,

PINE LAKE IRON COMPANY

Ironton, Mich.,

Are Full in all kinds of General Merchandise.

I have purchased the Meat business of Armstrong & Co., and will continue at the old stand, with the freshest and best goods in the market.

T. E. CHAMBERLIN.

GARLAND STOVES & RANGES KEEP YOUR ON THE Right Place

For Bargains in Hardware,

Iron, Cutlery, Tin ware, Stoves, Implements, Fixtures, Pumps, Grindstones, Wagons, Buggies, Carts, Wheelbarrows, Refrigerators, Doors, Sash, PAINTS Oils, Varnishes, Putty, Glass, Fence wire, Farm bells, Carpenter's tools, Notions, Fishing tackle, Revolvers, Guns, Ammunition, Spoons, Forks, LAMPS, Baskets, Measures, Tubs, Wooden ware, Rope, Fishermen's Supplies, and Ship chandlery, Job and Tin work.

L. D. BARTHOLOMEW & CO.

Come and See our New and Handsome Stock of Stationery. Remember, we carry the largest stock of

Drugs and Patent Medicines

In Charlevoix county.

Every Article Warranted as Represented.

We Solicit a Share of your Favors.

O. B. Weed & Co., Druggists, Opera Block.

HURRAH for GOOD TIMES

Everything Booming

AT E. M. CLARK'S

Where he has a Lively Trade in

Dry Goods, Groceries, Boots and Shoes, Clothing, &c.

When you get the blues, just call around and see with what dispatch everything is done, where Pork, Eggs, Butter, &c., is taken in exchange for Goods.

E. M. Clark

Charlevoix, Mich., Harbor and Summer Resorts.

The above is a geographically correct view (though containing but a small portion of the buildings) of Charlevoix, Mich., a village of over twelve hundred inhabitants, rapidly growing in favor and reputation as one of the most delightful Summer Resorts and suited to others in northern Michigan. Several lines of steamers concentrate here, connecting at all hours of the day with all surrounding towns, fishing streams, picnic parks, and other places of interest, health, and pleasure. Unequaled inducements are also offered the permanent settler who desires to invest his capital in manufacturing enterprises where it will bring the best results. The resources of the county are being developed so as to bring the richest returns. For any other information regarding the village or surroundings, address

THE CHARLEVOIX JOURNAL

CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN.

The JOURNAL is an eight-page newspaper, devoted to the material growth and prosperity of Charlevoix county in general, and Charlevoix village in particular. Published weekly, $1.00 per year. Sample copies free.

CHAS. J. STRANG, Publisher.

Temperance Column.

Conducted by a Committee of the W. C. T. U.

Officers of the Society.

President—Mrs. C. V. Cook.
First Vice President—Mrs. L. E. Allen.
Second Vice President—Mrs. J. T. Iddings.
Third Vice President—Mrs. C. P. Van Aiken.
Corresponding Secretary—Mrs. D. C. Loveday.
Recording Secretary—Mrs. B. Sutfield.
Treasurer—Mrs. C. J. Strang.

TWO PICTURES.

MARY E. MILLER.

I.

Just out from the noisy city's din,
Away from its hurry and rush,
There's a beautiful spot we will visit to-day
And breathe of its calm, holy hush.
Here are shaded valleys and sloping hills,
Tall hemlocks and whispering pines,
The brightest of flowers, the greenest of ferns,
Dark grasses and soft drooping vines.

Here are graveled drive-ways, broad and wide,
Winding through carpets of green;
Here are narrow footpaths enticing our feet
Past lakelet, and fountain and stream:
'Tis a beautiful spot, this lonly retreat,
Where sadness and silence reign,
And the marble headstones gleaming white,
Speak of loneliness, anguish and pain.

Let us pause at this mound where a granite shaft
Towers high mid the leaves above,
A beautiful offering of fresh cut flowers
Tells of a fond parent's love.
'Tis said that each Sabbath, the whole year thro',
In sunshine or cold or storm,
Fair flowers are laid by a father's hand
O'er his darling's sleeping form.

You admire his praise, but I stop and ask,
Do we live for the spirits fleet?
Do flowers on the coffin or mossy grave
Bring peace to the silent sleeper?
Can a heart so soulingly tender and fond,
Do ever an unkind deed?
Does love for his darling prompt ever a thought
For the little ones suffering in need?

II.

"Mother, dear mother," the voice was weak,
And came from a couch of pain,
"Mother, send father come home to-night;
Shall I never see him again?"
The mother raised her drooping head,
At her darling's pleading tone,
But her only answer her lips could frame
Was a low, heart-stricken moan.

The night was wild and bitter cold—
Outside the snow fell fast,
And few, though muffled in cloak and fur,
Dared breast the wintery blast.
The streets were deserted, the alleys were dark,
The busy city was still,
But the sheltered inmates of palace homes
Scarce heeded the dark night's chill.

In one of the narrowest, darkest lanes,
Stands a hovel, lonely and mean:
And scarcely less drear than the outer wall
Is this wretched home within.
The walls are bare, and dark and bare,
The certain windows are small,
And the light burns dim on the broken stand
Casting wierd shadows o'er all.

"Mother," the pleading, childish voice
Again breaks the gloomy spell.
"Mother, I soon shall be gone from your sight,
In a beautiful home to dwell.
But oh! do not mourn and so bitterly weep
That your darling's almost home,
For brother Willie is waiting for me,
And soon, you too, will come."

"In heaven we never shall hunger more,
Nor suffer from winter's cold;
For no one cry out in sorrow or joy
Up there in the Savior's fold.
I long to see father and say good-by,
Ere I cross the river's brink,
But when I get home I'll ask the dear Lord
To save my father from drink."

All night that mother in anguish and fear,
Her lonely vigil kept,
And when morning dawned her suffering child
In dreamless silence slept.
But where was he, whose promise in youth
Should at a minor meet fate?
A place to that death, maddening cup
Whose end is but death and despair?

A devoted home and a broken heart,
To the drunkard's wretched wife,
But to him who wrought this cursed work,
A tranquil and prosperous life.
He may rear a monument, tall and fair,
And wreath it with blossom and bud,
But this terrible truth upraises from flower and stone,
Our price is the price of blood.

A saloon-keeper living in one of our large cities carries each Sabbath to the grave of his little child a bouquet of greenhouse flowers.

I hate the rum traffic. It burned my father to death after squandering his property in a rumseller. Trouble then came through sickness and poverty, and we children were thrust into the poor house, and father and mother into the asylum. Who ever knew the Rum Devil to stop until it had finished a man and landed him in hell, unless he came in contact with some of God's agents and was saved? My father was burned with his last bottle, the candle falling against his clothing while full of this accursed poison; and he was burned until the flesh dropped from the bones while he was yet alive; and mother was full of the same rum at the same time. Ah, what a scene there was in the morning. * * * The only hope I now have of my mother is to send her where rum is not so free.

[The Voice.

The Bar room as a Bank.—You deposit your money and lose it. Your time—and lose it. Your character—and lose it. Your manly independence—and lose it. Your self-control—and lose it. Your home comfort—and lose it. Your children's happiness—and lose it. Your soul—and lose it.

J. MILO EATON,

DEALER IN

Real Estate

OF ALL KINDS.

Houses and Lots for Sale

IN THE MOST DESIRABLE PARTS OF CHARLEVOIX.

WILD LANDS AND IMPROVED FARMS

FOR SALE IN ALL PARTS OF THE COUNTY.

Abstracts of Title Furnished on Short Notice.

Represents the

Best Insurance Companies.

OFFICE ON BRIDGE STREET. ESTABLISHED IN 1875.

Charlevoix and East Jordan.

Steamer GAZELLE—Capt. Robert O'Neil.

Morning—Leave Charlevoix 6.30, arrive East Jordan 8.30; leave East Jordan 9.00, arrive Charlevoix 11.00. Afternoon—Leave Charlevoix 2.00, arrive East Jordan 4.00; leave East Jordan 4.30, arrive Charlevoix 6.30. Stopping at intermediate points.

Harbor Springs, Petoskey, Charlevoix and East Jordan.

STEAMER THOMAS PRIANT.

CAPT. B. VANDERBURGH.

Morning—Leave Harbor Springs 7.00, Petoskey 7.30, Charlevoix 8.30, arrive East Jordan 11.00. Afternoon—Leave East Jordan 1.30, Charlevoix 4.00, Petoskey 5.30, arrive Harbor Springs 6.00.

Close connections at Petoskey with G. R. & I. R. R. trains, north and south.

Hannah, Lay & Co.'s Pleasure Steamers,

SEASON OF 1885.

CITY OF GRAND RAPIDS.

CAPT. O. E. WILDER.

Going North every morning—Leave Traverse City 7.00, Northport 8.30, Northwood 11.00, Charlevoix 12.30, Petoskey 1.30, arrive at Harbor Springs 4.45.

Going South every afternoon—Leave Harbor Springs 2.00, Petoskey 4.30, Charlevoix 6.00, Northwood 8.00, Northport 9.30, arrive at Traverse City 9.00.

T. S. FAXTON,

CAPT. A. G. ALDRICH.

Going South every morning—Leave Harbor Springs 7.00, Petoskey 8.00, Charlevoix 9.45, Town Lake 12.00, arrive Traverse City 2.30.

Going North every afternoon—Leave Traverse City 3.00, Town Lake 5.45, Charlevoix 7.30, Petoskey 9.15, arrive Harbor Springs 9.45.

GOOD CONNECTIONS will be made at Traverse City and Petoskey with northern and night trains of the G. R. & I. R. R., also on Monday mornings between the City of Grand Rapids from Chicago and the City of Grand Rapids going north; and on Wednesday between both the T. S. FAXTON and CITY OF GRAND RAPIDS going south, and the CITY OF TRAVERSE to Chicago.

Grand Rapids & Indiana R. R.

Time Table in effect October, 1884.

GOING NORTH.

STATIONS.	No. 1	No. 3	No. 5	No. 7
Cincinnati, lv.	.....	7 40am	7 15pm	.....
Richmond	3.20am	10 30	9 55	.....
Muncie	4 17	11 27	11 00	.....
Bridgeville	4 41	11 56	11 34	.....
Fort Wayne, ar.	6 40	1 20am	3 00am	.....
Fort Wayne, lv.	.....	2 45	7 50	8 40am
Kendallville	.....	3 02	8 07	9 21
Wolcott	.....	3 06	8 11	10 31
Kirkland	.....	4 02	8 54	11 52
Waterloo, ar.	.....	4 20	9 05	12 25pm
Waterloo, lv.	.....	4 30	7 40	1 58
Auburn, ar.	.....	5 45	8 50	3 15
Grand Rapids, lv.	7 10am	9 00	10 25	5 40
DETROIT, ar.	7 50	9 15	10 45	9 30
Ft. Wayne, ar.	9 45	10 20	1 05pm	6 55
Ft. Wayne, lv.	.....	11 28	1 05	7 57
Decatur, ar.	10 42	11 59	1 46	8 36
Decatur, lv.	.....	.....	.....	.....
Gaillie, ar.	11 25	1 48am	2 10	10 05
Gaillie, lv.	.....	1 29	3 20	.....
Walton	.....	2 11	4 12	.....
Galveston, ar.	.....	.....	5 35	.....
Galveston, lv.	.....	3 10	5 00	.....
Mannsville	.....	3 40	5 30	.....
Royal Fall	.....	4 18	6 11	.....
Peboskey, ar.	.....	5 30	7 00	.....
Harbor Springs	.....	6 05	8 10	.....
Mackinaw City	.....	7 00am	9 10	.....

GOING SOUTH.

STATIONS.	No. 2	No. 4	No. 6	No. 8
Mackinaw City	.....	.....	6 00am	3 30pm
Harbor Springs	.....	.....	7 20	4 50
Petoskey, lv.	.....	.....	7 50	1 20am
Royal Fall	.....	.....	8 40	2 02
Mannsville	.....	.....	9 12	3 05
Galveston, ar.	.....	.....	9 41	3 31
Galveston, lv.	.....	.....	9 46	3 35
Walton	.....	.....	10 25	4 10
Gaillie, ar.	.....	.....	11 05	4 30am
Gaillie, lv.	.....	3.00pm	11 35	4 40
Decatur, ar.	.....	.....	12 15	5 00
Decatur, lv.	.....	4 20	1 05pm	7 26
Fort Wayne, ar.	.....	.....	1 31	7 56
Fort Wayne, lv.	.....	5 42	1 34	8 47
DETROIT, lv.	.....	6 00	2 20	9 47
Grand Rapids, ar.	.....	7 40	4 45	10 05
Grand Rapids, lv.	7 00am	.....	5 10	11 45
Auburn, ar.	8 55	.....	6 20	1 35pm
Waterloo, ar.	9 00	.....	6 50	2 00
Waterloo, lv.	9 25	.....	7 02	2 22
Kirkland	10 23	.....	7 57	3 20
Wolcott	11 31	.....	8 36	4 44
Kendallville	.....	.....	8 40	4 55
Fort Wayne, ar.	12 41pm	.....	10 20	.....
Fort Wayne, lv.	1 00	5 25am	10 40am	.....
Bridgeville	3 11	7 36	1 33	.....
Muncie	3 36	8 16	2 55	.....
Richmond	4 25	9 17	3 05	.....
Cincinnati, ar.	7 40pm	12 30pm	7 20am	.....

C. L. LOCKWOOD, G. P. Agent, Grand Rapids, Mich.

A PRESENT.

Our readers, by 12 cents in postage stamps to pay for mailing, will receive a valuable and costly Finish Parlor Engraving of silver, gilt edged, including Christmas, size 22x28, worth $5.00. Address Elder Pub. Co., Chicago, Ill.

TO CONSUMPTIVES.

The advertiser having been permanently cured of that dread disease, Consumption, by a simple remedy, is anxious to make known to his fellow-sufferers the means of cure. To all who desire it, he will send a copy of the prescription used, (free,) with the directions for preparing and using the same which they will find a sure cure for Coughs, Colds, Consumption, Asthma, Bronchitis, &c. Persons wishing the prescription, will please address, Rev. E. A. WILSON, 194 Penn St., Williamsburgh, N. Y.

MORTGAGE NOTES kept on hand and priced to order on short notice at this office.

THE HOWE MACHINE Co.

AT THE FRONT.

OUR LATEST SUCCESS.

Easy Running Sewing Machine

IT HAS

The Most Room under the Arm.
The Best Self-Setting Needle.
The Largest Bobbin.
The Easiest Shuttle to Thread.
The Most Perfect Tension.
The Most Reliable Feed.
The Most Perfect Take-up.
The Best Bobbin Winder.

SIMPLE, STRONG, DURABLE & HANDSOME

Runs Rapidly, Very Light, Very Still, and without Vibration.

Before you purchase, please examine the NEW HOWE at the office of

Mrs. M. Litney, Agt., Charlevoix

ISLAND HOME

Stock Farm,

Grosse Ile, Wayne Co., Mich.

SAVAGE & FARNUM, PROPRIETORS

Pulaski No. 2338 (1157)

—IMPORTED—

Percheron Horses.

All stock selected from the get of sires and dams of established reputation and registered in the French and American stud books.

ISLAND HOME

Is beautifully situated on the Island of Grosse Ile in the Detroit River and only half hour from the City, and is accessible by railroad and steamboat. Visitors not familiar with the location may call at the office, 24 Campau Buildings, and an escort will accompany them to the farm. Send for catalogue, free by mail. Address, SAVAGE & FARNUM, Detroit, Mich.

ERRORS OF YOUTH

and MANHOOD. One who has suffered all the horrors arising from the dreadful and destructive vices of self abuse, and is anxious to relieve his fellow-sufferers and the unfortunate victims of ignorance, quackery and cure, will mail free a simple prescription which contains and speedy cure of loss of memory, despondency, aversion to society, dimmed vision, pimples, debility, involuntary losses, nightly emissions, vapors of the genito-urinary organs, early decay of manhood, impotence and all ill-effects resulting from excessive indulgence or exposure, or from youthful indiscretion, in any way and effective means of self cure, and where physicians fail. Experience is the best teacher. Address in confidence, M. W. FLEMING, Box 31 Cooper Street, New York.

Established Fifty-five Years.

RAVEN & BACON,

—NOW—

RAVEN PIANOS,

33 East 16th Street, Near Union Sqr.

BUY FROM THE MANUFACTURERS AND SAVE 50 PER CENT.

These Pianos are made from the best materials, finished in the best manner, and are fully equal to any Pianos made. They have been before the public for Fifty Years, have every improvement that is valuable, and the sales total nearly Half-a-million. Intending purchasers should call at the Warerooms and examine the Pianos, look at the prices and send for Illustrated Catalogue before buying elsewhere.

No. 1, Upright or Square,	$1150,	worth	$1500
No. 2, "	"	950,	" 1200
No. 3, "	"	700,	" 1000

ALL 7 1-3 OCTAVES.

RUPTURE [illegible] by our Astringent Lotion. [illegible] Send stamp for book. Frey & Co., [illegible] New York.

THE CHARLEVOIX JOURNAL.

NUMBER 101. CHARLEVOIX, MICH.: THURSDAY, JUNE 16, 1885. $1.50 PER YEAR.

THE JOURNAL
Published every Thursday,
BY CHAS. J. STRANG.
Office on Bridge Street,
CHARLEVOIX, - - MICHIGAN

ENTERED AT THE POSTOFFICE AT CHARLEVOIX, MICH., AS SECOND CLASS MATTER.

BUSINESS DIRECTORY.

ATTORNEYS.

ARTHUR F. MARTIN, Attorney at Law, Boyne City, Mich. Collections promptly attended to.

CHURCHMAN & GRIFF, Attorneys at Law, Office in Barnes' Block, Charlevoix, Mich. Practice in Admiralty a Specialty.
A. S. CHURCHMAN. C. A. GRIFF.

HART & CALL, Attorneys at Law, Real Estate and Loan Agents. Lake st., east of postoffice, Petoskey, Mich.

FRED W. MAYNE, Attorney and Counselor, Real Estate business promptly attended to. CONSULTATION FREE.

H. A. JENNY, Attorney and Counselor at Law. Office on Lake st., Boyne, Mich.

J. E. NEWBERRY, Attorney at Law and Judge of Probate of Emmet Co., Petoskey, Mich.

J. MILO BATCH, Attorney at Law, Charlevoix, Mich.

VERGON N. KENT, Attorney at Law, Boyne City and East Jordan. W. A. Smith, Boyne City. J. A. Kent, East Jordan.

OSCAR F. WISNER, Attorney at Law and United States Circuit Court Commissioner, Modern Dwellings, East Jordan, Mich.

W. S. MOORE, Attorney and Solicitor, East Jordan. Admiralty a Specialty.

A. WARRINGTON, Attorney at Law, Boyne City, Mich.

CHURCHES.

FIRST CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH.—Sunday services: Preaching at 10:30 a. m. Sunday School at 12 m. Prayer meeting every Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock. C. P. VAN ALSBURG, pastor.

METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH.—Sunday services as follows: Preaching at 10:30 a. m. Sunday school at 12 m. Class meeting at 3 p. m. Prayer and praise meeting Thursday evening at 7. J. T. HOBBS, pastor.

FIRE DEPARTMENT.

CHARLEVOIX HOUCH AND LADDER FIRE COMPANY meet every Saturday night, at the hose hall. R. F. BENDER, Secretary.

HOMEOPATHIC PHARMACY.

SHEFFIELD, Homeopathic Medicines, Books, Domestic Cures, etc., Charlevoix, Mich.

PHYSICIANS.

A. CARLSTEN, M. D. Office at the Isabelle.

L. LEWIS, M. D., Physician and Surgeon. Office in the Lewis block, Charlevoix, Mich.

W. H. PRESTON, M. D., Surgeon and Homeopathic Physician, Charlevoix, Mich.

REAL ESTATE AGENTS.

HORACE S. HARDIA, Notary Public. Real Estate, Loan, and Insurance Agt., Charlevoix.

SECRET SOCIETIES.

G. A. R.—Baxter Post, No. 198, meets second Monday in each month, at Odd Fellows' hall.

I. O. G. T.—Charlevoix Lodge, No. 827, meets every Friday evening, at Odd Fellows' hall.

I. O. O. F.—Round Lake Lodge No. 293, meets every Wednesday evening, in their hall.

K. O. T. M.—Resort Tent, No. 136, meets second and Thursday every month, at Odd Fellows' hall.

L. O. L.—Tree Blues No. 157, meet Saturday on or before full moon in Odd Fellows' hall.

MASONIC.—Charlevoix Lodge No. 262, meets Tuesday on or before full moon. Hall over postoffice.

WELL DIGGING.

FRANK HARDIA, Charlevoix, Mich., will attend promptly to all work in the line of well digging, cistern building, pump repairing, well driving, cellar building, and similar work. 45

O. W. SMITH,
ELECTROPLATER,
Manufacturing Jeweler
and Lapidist.
Electroplating in Gold and Silver. Any article of Jewelry made to order. AGATES AND JEWELS cut to order. 26

Picture Frames Cheap
I can frame pictures cheaper than ever before, as I have no rent to pay. Call and see me at my house on Clinton street, four doors west of school house.
O. I. WHEAT.

Money to Loan
On some of 40s and upwards, at reasonable rates of interest, on approved real estate security.
H. C. Miley,
Boyne City.
1-51

W. M. WAGAR. G. C. WAGAR.

Wagar Bros.
Wholesale and Retail dealers in Tobacco, Cigars and Smokers' Articles. Also a full line of Confectionery, Fruits, and Temperance Drinks. Third door west of Bridge Street House, Charlevoix, Mich.

A FEW FACTS CONCERNING
DR. CROUTER'S
BAKING POWDER
Or Quick Yeast.
If you use it you will never have yellow biscuit.
If you use it your biscuit will never taste of Soda.
It contains no alum, and is absolutely free from anything of a deleterious nature.
It is made from PURE GRAPE CREAM OF TARTAR and NOT from the Common Cream of Tartar of the shops.
It is always fresh and will never disappoint you.
Directions for using furnished with every package.
Price 40 Cents per Pound.
Manufactured and Sold only by
Dr. GEO. W. CROUTER,
Chemist and Druggist,
BRIDGE STREET, CHARLEVOIX, MICH.

Come and See our Immense Stock of
BOOTS AND SHOES.
FOX & MILLER.

BRIDGE STREET HOUSE,
ROBERT MILLER, Proprietor,
Charlevoix, Michigan.
This house is centrally located, and its accommodations excelled. The table supplied with the best the market affords. Only sample room in Charlevoix.

COMMERCIAL HOUSE
D. B. JERRIPH, Proprietor,
East Jordan, Michigan.
Entirely rebuilt and refurnished. Freshness Sample Room for agents. Good Stable in Connection with the House. 29

FOUNTAIN CITY HOUSE,
RICHARD COOPER, Proprietor.
Charlevoix, - Michigan.
Finest location in town, giving good view of lake and resorts. Express office, and headquarters for Petoskey and Elk Rapids stages. Good sample room for commercial travelers. Modernized and refurnished throughout. Rates reasonable.

PINE LAKE HOUSE,
A. J. HALL, Proprietor.
Boyne City, Michigan.
This house is finely located on the Boyne river, at the head of Pine Lake, 2½ miles and some miles, and is well adapted to the entertainment of the traveling public.

PIONEER HOUSE,
A. B. NOYES, Proprietor.
Ironton - - Michigan.
Every convenience for the traveling public.

C. R. BELLINGER
Has a large stock of
New Jewelry and Silverware
(SOLID AND PLATED)
Pins, Charms, and Chains,
In all the latest styles.
Watches, Clocks, and Optical Goods.
New Style of Monogram Pin just received.
Sewing Machine Oil kept in stock.

Well-Digging.
JOHN SHRIER
Charlevoix, Mich.
Is prepared to do all work in the line of well digging, cistern building, pump repairing, well driving, and similar work.

OLD NEWSPAPERS FOR SALE

THE FAIR. We should see the New Goods and lower-than-ever prices. Old goods marked a little lower, to vacate for new. Fancy Glassware, Hosiery, Tinware, and innumerable household articles at odd job prices.

A Happy Family
Circle is the greatest blessing of our civilization, but such a thing is not possible when disease and death lurks on the threshold. One of the most important matters to be attended to, is that the liver and kidneys are in a healthy condition. More trouble arises from derangement of these organs than from any other cause, often resulting in diabetes, bright's disease, and other difficulties generally counted incurable. Parmelee's Dyspepsia, Diabetes, Kidney and Liver Cure will prevent and cure all these difficulties with great certainty. Large bottles $1.
Sold by Dr. G. W. Crouter, Charlevoix, and Crouter & Harris, Ironton.

Cholera
And the milder forms of bowel difficulty, dysentery, diarrhoea, &c., all come from a disordered digestion attended with pain in the stomach, cramps, colic, &c. Be wise and ward off these attacks by taking Hamilton's Jamaica Ginger Tonic and Pain Cure, which is a sure remedy. Never known to fail to give immediate relief. As an outward application in rheumatism, neuralgia, sciatica, sprains, lame back and side it can't be beaten. Price 25 and 50 cents.
Sold by Dr. G. W. Crouter, Charlevoix, and Crouter & Harris, Ironton.

Toothache.
Did you ever have a cracking, jumping, stamping roaring and bother some toothache, that kept the whole family in an uproar until 3 o'clock in the morning? Many have it, but all have not heard of the wonderful cures made by Hamilton's Toothache Drops which are warranted to cure in one minute. Safe yet effective. Price only 25 cents.
Sold by Dr. G. W. Crouter, Charlevoix, and Crouter & Harris, Ironton.

☞ Now is the time your horses and cattle need attention. To prevent disease and tone up the system you will find Parmelee's Condition Powders unexcelled. Full pounds 25 cts. Sold by Dr. G. W. Crouter, Charlevoix, and Crouter & Harris, Ironton. 52-143

RUPTURE CURED by our Astringent Lotion. Safe, sure cure. Send stamp for book. Pier & Co., 901 6th Ave., New York 5

The Charlevoix Summer Resort.

In the hurry of moving last week, we did not have time to read carefully the annual handbook of the above resort. We make the following extracts from its pages, which may interest those unacquainted with our location. If those receiving this paper will, after reading, mail it to some distant friend, they may bring pleasure to others and profit to themselves.

Charlevoix is a very pretty village of about fifteen hundred inhabitants, situated some forty miles from Mackinac, and eighteen miles from Petoskey south, and sixty miles from Traverse City, north. Its west faces the waters of Lake Michigan, its east the waters of Pine Lake, while within the corporation is Round Lake, which makes a harbor for large vessels, and a pleasure ground for smaller craft. Lake Michigan is connected with Round Lake by Pine River, and Round Lake connected with Pine Lake by an artificial channel, each of these lakes and rivers being navigable by the largest steamers, the commerce of Pine Lake has grown to great proportions. The land in the vicinity of Charlevoix being formed of a series of terraces, and a point of land facing Round Lake, the channel and Pine Lake seemed to many to be most naturally adapted for the location of a pleasure resort.

* * * * * *

The beach is very pleasant, resembling the ocean beaches from its freedom of pebbles, and the water for a long distance is so shallow, it makes both a pleasant and safe bathing place for children, and is well patronized, and a tier of bathe-houses on the beach makes bathing convenient. Most of the avenues are provided with plank walks, and the Resort is connected with the village, one half mile distant, by a continuous walk. The Bayou is utilized by the Resort as a harbor for its fleet of yachts, sail and row boats. At its south side is a steamboat dock and on either shore are lines of boat houses. The larger steamboat dock is located on the channel near the Bayou, and will be a fixture as at the present time, the Government is resetting the channel in a permanent manner. The Resort at this time numbers 58 cottages, and new cottages are already in course of erection, but it is not the aim or ambition of the Resort to grow rapidly, but to add to its members those of like tastes, to those already here, and in this way we will in a few years have as handsome a Resort as any locality, for nature and location has given us all that could be desired. The sunrise views of Pine Lake, and the sunset views of Lake Michigan are unsurpassed. The cottages built in the different styles of fancy architecture and brightly painted, add to the beauty of the scene. The breezes coming in the morning from off the sweep of Pine Lake, and in the afternoon from a distance of one hundred miles, over the waters of Lake Michigan, give vigor to the body, and inserts new life into ones' system. There is no better asylum for hay fever subjects, than on this Resort; the air being pure, and the waters on two sides producing a circulation seldom found at other Resorts

* * * * * *

The facilities for reaching Charlevoix are improving yearly. One route is via Traverse City, and Hannah, Lay & Co's steamers which leave twice each day for Charlevoix. Another route is via Boyne Falls, a stage ride of six miles to Boyne City, and a steamer ride of eighteen miles on Pine Lake to Charlevoix. The Petoskey route is the favorite of many, as the steamers of all lines stopping at Charlevoix call there, making the opportunity of a visit and steamer save. Some enjoy the stage ride from Petoskey to Charlevoix, and two lines make daily round trips. Those wishing to rest over night or over one hour, will find good hotels at each of these points.

RESORT NOTES.

Chas. Swallow is repainting the Bishop cottage this week.

J. L. Sebring's new cottage will be a beauty. The walls are of V siding, which presents the same appearance both sides, and all the materials are the best.

J. P. Hart is enclosing Miss Cadkie Green's cottage this week.

H. Wade is making numerous repairs and improvements to the resort land houses.

The combination of colors on Bardeen's cottage makes it one of the most noticeable on the resort.

"Breezy Point" has a coat of bright green, with bright red trimmings, making it specially prominent in its present surroundings.

The government work in front of the resort is nearly completed, and when the new dock is finished the place will have an improved appearance.

A novelty in the construction of the Barnet cottage is the windows. The upper sash contains twenty lights 6x7, and the lower sash is a single pane, same size sash as the upper, and the window extends from floor to ceiling.

Clarion.

A good rain last Saturday.

The mill of Blood Bros. is undergoing repairs.

Mrs. Wm. Johnson who has been quite sick, is convalescing.

Whooping cough is reported prevalent in Bear Lake township.

Mrs. Levi Bender, of Resort township, died last Sunday night.

A. S. Smith & Co. want all the bowl blocks they can get. They will pay spot cash, and hope to get enough in the next month to fill back orders for bowls.

The Clarion shingle company are running their mill day and night.

Mr. A. J. Bachelier, the genial ticket agent of the G. R. & I. R. R. at this place, has completed a fine picket fence around his residence. We hope Clarion will be made a full bill station and Mr. B. retained as agent.

The G. R. & I. R. R. Co. are putting up a telegraph line from this place to their resort on Bear Lake.

Geo. Forsythe and son are cutting shingle bolts for the Clarion shingle company at Melrose, and while absent one day last week, their shanty was raided, their eatables all taken, and their beds ruined.

The action of the board of supervisors in regard to the removal of the county seat to East Jordan, and ordering another vote next spring between that place and Boyne city, meets the approval of the voters of Melrose township. We are glad to note the fidelity of our supervisor, Mr. J. B. Jordan, in this matter toward his constituents.

Vanesse says that the next time his hen is ruffled off somebody about the size of Port, will hear from him.

McRae had his hair cut by the Clarion barber last Saturday. Owing to the antiquated style Mac is not pleased, yet he says that the Clarion barber is a clipper.

Henry Young has started a meat market in connection with his restaurant.

Port Lord owns up to breaking and repairing the hinges of a certain gate, but denies that the repaired hinges were made of Ed. Tillaugh's boots.

Three teams are hauling logs for Blood Bros. mill.

Northern District Lodge.

The Northern District Lodge of Good Templars is now in session in Odd Fellows Hall, in this village. There are delegates and visiting members present from a large number of subordinate lodges in Manistee, Benzie, Grand Traverse, Antrim, and Charlevoix counties. The business sessions are, of course private, but an open meeting was held in the town hall last evening, which was attended by many of our citizens. The principal exercises were an address of welcome by Major Green, a brief response by Dr. Leach, and a rousing temperance speech by Rev. A. L. Thurston, of Boyne. Another open meeting, to be addressed by members of the order, will be held this evening, to which everybody is invited. We understand that many of the visitors, who are here for the first time, are specially pleased with Charlevoix and its surroundings.

THE JOURNAL

BY CHAS. J. STRANG.

CHARLEVOIX, - - - MICHIGAN.

NEWS CONDENSED.

Concise Record of the Week.

EASTERN.

Benjamin Helphin, a New York auctioneer, shot his wife in the head and then blew out his brains.

After the doctors had visited Gen. Grant, Sunday afternoon, they said that, as compared with a week before, there was an appreciable increase of the swelling on the throat and no apparent decrease of the uneasiness trouble in the throat.

The factory of Beckerlie & Co., Danbury, Conn., was burned, entailing a loss of $200,000.

W. T. Dorrance, for eighteen years a teller in the Providence National Bank, was arrested in that city, after confessing the embezzlement of $90,000.

William Henry, ex-business manager of the New York Herald, proposes to start a paper in opposition to the Herald and World, and claims to have $600,000 of the necessary $1,000,000 raised for the enterprise.

At New Bedford, Mass., a condemned inflammable animal carcass was killed a mercham mad at Philip D. Sleeper and then took his own life. Dogs not registered by virtue of a dog license, died that day, and was engaged by the delay to do so.

Many horses in Gloucester County, New Jersey, are dying of a superfecundity disease.

The judgments against Mrs. Delia Farrell have been paid by New York friends, and her estate at Bordentown, N. J., will not be sold as advertised.

Two more indictments were found by the Grand Jury in New York City against Ferdinand Ward and James J. Fisk, charging them with grand larceny in the first degree.

George W. Walling, New York's veteran Police Superintendent has been retired to private life, the place thus made vacant being filled by the promotion of Inspector William Carey. Mr. Walling retires on a life pension of $2,500 a year.

While suffering from delirium tremens James Jones, a saloon-keeper at Newport, R. I., blew up his place of business with powder and was horribly mangled in his debris, which was thrown in all directions, injuring half a dozen persons.

WESTERN.

Chicago notes: The police are waging a war of extermination against the gamblers. Mayor Harrison, accompanied by his family, has gone to Hot Springs. The real-estate transfers for the week, aggregated $1,626,675. The combined freight shipments for the week were 13,682 tons. The death rate for May was largely in excess of what it was a year ago. The total deaths were 1,156. The United States Grand Jury has returned indictments against witnesses in the Mackin-Gallagher case, who are charged with perjury. Sunday racing has been inaugurated at the Chicago Driving Park, and the pulpit has declared war against the desecration. Five thousand people attended the opening game of the National League base-ball season between the Chicago and St. Louis Clubs.

It is claimed that the census of Fargo, Dakota, now partly completed, will show a population of 16,000.

A destructive storm prevailed in portions of Ontario, Wisconsin, and Illinois, and hailstones of phenomenal dimensions are reported to have fallen at many places. In Vernon County, Wisconsin, the storm assumed the proportions of a cyclone. Six buildings in the little village of Victory were demolished, including two small warehouses, a church, a hotel, and the schoolhouse. Across the Mississippi River, in Minnesota, the village of New Albion was also almost totally wiped out of existence, causing a loss of $40,000. Even various points in Wisconsin, within the path of the storm, come reports of buildings being unroofed, trees uprooted, and much damage by hail. So great has been the demand for window-glass at village stores that the entire stock has been exhausted. In many places hailstones of remarkable size fell to a depth of from six to ten inches. Crops and houses were badly beaten, and many sheep and hogs were killed by hail. Considerable stock was also killed during a terrific thunder-storm following the fall of hail. At Dubuque, Iowa, many houses were blown down, and property was damaged to the extent of $30,000.

Lucinda have appeared in immense numbers in the vicinity of Albion, Ill.

Fritz Reuter, editor of a German paper at Streator, Ill., was drowned while sailing.

The Illinois Board of Agriculture have issued their report of the wheat crop in the state for the month of June, from which it appears that there has been no improvement in the condition of wheat since the 1st of April in any portion of the State. The prospects indicate that there will be less than 10,000,000 bushels of wheat harvested in Illinois the present season. The average yield of the State for a number of years has received 20,000,000 bushels. The present crop will be the poorest on record, and Illinois will doubtless for the first time have to import wheat for seed and consumption before the next harvest.

Helen M. Gougar, of woman's rights celebrity, attacked Third Auditor of the Treasury Williams in the streets at Lafayette, Ind., striking him in the face with her parasol. Williams retaliated with his cane. The affair was provoked by certain articles which appeared in Williams' paper reflecting on Mrs. Gougar's character.

The Supreme Court of Ohio has decided that the assessments paid under the Scott Supreme Law Taxes it was declared unconstitutional cannot be returned to the taxpayers, where the amount involved is about $500,000.

A dangerous counterfeit of a $2 note of the Dominion Bank of Canada has made its appearance at Detroit.

A decision has been reached by the iron manufacturers in Youngstown to go up to the steel business extensively.

Tobey Richardson and Charley Young, horse and cattle thieves, were lynched by citizens in Spokane County, Oregon.

Harlow, Spencer & Co., grain dealers at St. Louis, have made an assignment, with liabilities of $80,000 and assets estimated at $105,000.

SOUTHERN.

Secretary Whitney has received a detailed statement of the present holdings of the World's Fair at New Orleans. The total amount of claims against the exposition is $297,319, of which $215,000 is provided for by the appropriation—leaving a balance on the wrong side of the account of $82,319.

J. H. Auldenourte, redemption clerk in the Sub-Treasury at New Orleans, which charged with a deficit of $28,315, has disappeared. It is feared that the total loss will reach $50,000, but the Government is protected by the bond of the Assistant Treasurer.

James McDaniel, a Texas sluggerredder, who broke jail at San Antonio, where he was sentenced to a thirty-year imprisonment in the Huntsville Penitentiary.

Two brothers named Sam and Eli Byers, cattle thieves and murderers, were taken from jail at Bonham, Texas, by a mob, and hanged to the bailiff's tree.

The town of Suffolk, Va., was almost swept out of existence by fire. The total loss is estimated at $300,000.

A portion of the lunatic asylum at Williamsburg, Va., was burned, causing a loss of about $20,000. One female patient was burned to death, and another wandered away and was drowned in a creek.

In the case at Baltimore of Henry James, the millionaire, to restrain Robert Garrett, President of the Baltimore and Ohio, from erecting a portico in front of his mansion's house, the lawyer for Janes exception two days to the delivery of his opening argument. In closing, one of the counsel for the prosecutor expects to consume a full week, which doubtless will be taken up time or two days.

The cotton worm has appeared in alarming numbers in Texas and Indian Territory, and is constituting extensive ravages.

The remains of the late Alexander Stephens were removed last week from Atlanta to Crawfordville, Ga., and interred at Liberty Hall, the old Stephens homestead. Gen. Robert Toombs delivered an address.

WASHINGTON.

Secretary Lamar has decided that lands purchased by the United States, and transferred to the Interior Department are to be regarded as part of the public domain.

President Cleveland and his financial advisers are said to have at last hit upon a satisfactory solution of the silver question. The main features of the plan, which is to be submitted to Congress, are: To suspend the coinage of silver dollars, and to issue silver certificates (representing bullion on deposit), these certificates to be redeemable at the option of the Government in silver bullion, and to be made receivable for all dues to or from the Government and between banks. It is also suggested that the $1 and $2 greenbacks and $5 bank-notes shall be withdrawn, and that small notes shall be substituted therefor the silver dollars already coined. The Secretary of the Treasury was recently asked a present against the continued coinage of the silver dollar signed by almost every banking institution and business house in St. Louis.

Investigation has disclosed numerous cases of frauds in New Jersey, and Commissioner Black has been put in possession of the facts.

The Washington Monument at the national capital was struck by lightning the fourth night. The jar was somewhat shattered and the resulting of several stones will be necessary.

Treasury officials at Washington deny that the Treasury Department is still negotiating with the national banks to borrow gold. The financial story of the Republican has, it is claimed, removed all apprehension as to the financial situation, and has made it clear that it will not be necessary to resort to any extraordinary measures during Congress recess.

The Adjutant General of the Army has completed a list of the casualties in the Federal army during the late war. The aggregate number of deaths is shown to have been 359,528, of these 258,737 occurred among Union soldiers held as prisoners of war. The total number of troops reported as furnished by the various States under the various calls is 2,772,408. Some of the returns were duplicated, and it is estimated that the actual number was about 2,700,000.

POLITICAL.

Counsel of the National Civil-Service Leagues have submitted affidavits to the Postmaster General, charging a number of postmasters with soliciting political subscriptions. Prompt action is demanded by the League, and demanding their removal. The charges will be investigated.

President Cleveland has appointed to be United States Marshals Frederick H. Marsh, of Iowa, Ill., for the Northern District of Illinois, and Henry C. Tyler for the South-ern District of Ohio. Other appointments have been made as follows:

To Be Collector of Customs—John P. Robinson, for the District of Alexandria, Va.

To Be Collectors of Internal Revenue—James Hess, for the Fifteenth District of New York; Hezekiah Wood, for the Second District of Kentucky; Alfred C. Parkinson, for the Second District of Wisconsin; W. H. Yatlborough, for the Fourth District of North Carolina.

To Be Surveyors of Customs—John B. Vogelsang, for the port of Denver, Colo.; Addison Cole, for the port of Albany, N. Y.

To be United States Marshals—Edward M. Enslin, for the district of South Carolina; Robt. S. Kelly, for the Territory of Dakota; Jefferson Moore, for the Territory of Wyoming; Romulo Martinez, for the Territory of New Mexico.

To Be United States Attorneys—John Talbott Wilson, for the Eastern District of Virginia; Gustavus Van Horsfelt, for the Southern District of Illinois, and Anthony C. Campbell, for the Territory of Wyoming.

Receivers of Land Offices—Abraham Hall, at Mitchell City, M. T.; John E. Fitch, at Stockton, Cal.; D. K. Wiser, at Tracy, Minn.; Jas. Hill, at Beatrice, Neb., vice Wm. Seymour, resigned; O. C. Bale, at Le Center, Wis.; W. H. Fribur, at Benton, Mo.; Hugh C. Wallace, at Salt Lake City, Utah.

Hudson Bonsom, of New Mexico, to be agent for the Indians of the Pueblo Agency in New Mexico.

William A. Walker, of Wisconsin, to be agent for the Indians of the Green Bay Agency in Wisconsin.

Ex-Mayor Fox, of Philadelphia, to be Superintendent of the Mint at Philadelphia.

Robert Taylor, to be Pension Agent at Knoxville, Tenn., vice N. E. Gibson, suspended.

George E. Warner, to be Register of the Land Office at Tracy, Minn.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Base-ball is being played this season for all it is worth to almost every part of the country, and the struggle for the pennant between the clubs of the National League and American Association continues with undiminished interest. The race for championship honors among the League clubs is being contested almost every day. The New York and Chicagos are having a tip-and-tuck battle for the head, with Providence and Philadelphia following closely, while St. Louis, Buffalo, Boston, and Detroit bring up the rear. The race in the American Association are by no means so evenly matched as last year. Thus far the Western clubs have had things pretty much their own way. The championship record to date shows the St. Louis team in the front rank, closely followed by Pittsburgh, Cincinnati, and Louisville. The Metropolitans of New York, last year's champions, are away in the rear.

W. A. Daniels, a mounted inspector of Chinese, has been murdered by Apaches near Bisbee, Arizona. Public officials at Tombstone have forwarded an appeal to the President, Gen. Crook's campaign from limiting, urging vigorous operations against the raiders.

Reports submitted to the National Conference of Charities and Corrections, in session at Washington, show that the juvenile reformatories of the country represent an investment of $9,000,000, and have 15,000 inmates. Mr. Hall, of Ohio, was elected President of the conference, and E. H. White, of Illinois, a member of the executive committee.

Judge Brewer, of the United States Court, has rendered a decision holding that Joseph P. Gibbon was the original inventor of the barb-wire fence.

Francis Brannan, a half-breed lately arrived at Calgary, says that his family and those of three neighbors have been massacred by the Indians. Major Lewis and two soldiers were drowned while crossing the Saskatchewan.

The June report of the Agricultural Bureau at Washington estimates the wheat crop of the United States for this year at 500,000,000 bushels, of which 287,000,000 bushels are winter wheat. This is only about 70 per cent. of the magnificent crop of last year. The 30 per cent. decrease from last year is partially due to a great loss of acreage, large areas having been prepared by because of wind-fill, but the windfill of that remaining is very poor, the indicated average yield being less than ten bushels per acre.

FOREIGN.

The English Ministry were defeated in the House of Commons on the 8th, on their efforts to increase the duty on spirits, by a vote of 264 to 252 the budget was rejected on the second reading. Thirty-nine Parnellites and all the Conservatives voted with the majority. When the result of the division was announced Lord Randolph Churchill and Mr. Parnell jumped up on their seats and enthusiastically waved their hats, and the cheering was renewed. Mr. Gladstone, who had been leaning forward in his seat and cynically smiling, started, turned pale, and clutched his hands nervously together. The House immediately became a babel of confusion, members yelling, stamping, and waving hats, orders, and handkerchiefs. A tumultuous cheer came from the galleries, and Speaker Peel vainly banged for order. The Parnellites pointed at Gladstone and yelled, "That is the price of coercion!" "Down with Dockson Bonsor!" "Remember Myles Joyce!"

An article in the Pall Mall Gazette, supposed to be inspired by M. Lemaux of the Russian section of the Afghan-Boundary Commission, admits that the prospects of the matters in dispute between England and Russia is still unsigned, and attributes the delay to the Russian commissioner, Lieutenant Colonel Grenville.

Henry Labouchere has given notice in the House of Commons of his intention to oppose the proposed Parliamentary grant of $250,000 annuity on a marriage dowry for Princess Beatrice.

A Coptic merchant, lately arrived at Cairo from Khartoum, declares that when Gen. Gordon's head was demanded by the Mahdi the head of the Austrian consul was given him in its stead. He thinks Gordon may have escaped south.

Ex-Minister James Russell Lowell sailed from England for the United States on the 11th inst.

Gen. Lord Wolseley has been created a Knight of the Order of St. Patrick, to succeed Lord O'Hagan.

LATER NEWS ITEMS.

A number of horses have died at St. Louis from what is supposed to be epizootic meningitis, and it is feared that an epidemic will result. Seventeen animals are sick in one stable with symptoms of pleuro-pneumonia.

The tunnel on the Cincinnati Southern road, 100 miles above Chattanooga, Tenn., collapsed as a construction train was passing through. Six men are reported killed and twenty others seriously if not fatally injured.

During the progress of a negro camp meeting at Mount Zion Church, in York County, S. C., a bloody battle was fought between a crowd of country and Yorkville negroes, clubs, pistols, razors, knives, and axes being used as the implements of warfare, and a rivalry between the town and country negroes the cause. Whisky caused the fight. One negro was killed, and two fatally and not less than a score seriously wounded. The country negroes had warned their town countrymen to keep away from the meeting, and when the fight ended the town negroes were in full retreat.

The Apaches killed four soldiers in Guadalupe canyon, and a Mexican near Bisbee, Arizona, in the Whetstone mountains. The reported outbreak among the Southern Utes is denied by the Indian agent at their reservation.

"General Grant has accepted an invitation to occupy the cottage of his friend Col. Richard Morse Dwenger, near Saratoga, and will start about the 23d of June," says a New York dispatch. "The cottage on the mountain where he will pass the summer is daily visited by many curious sightseers. It is ten and a half miles from Saratoga and Chingos are driving a zig-and-tack half-hour for the head, with Providence and Philadelphia following closely, while St. Louis, Buffalo, Boston, and Detroit bring up the rear. The race in the American Association are by no means so evenly matched as last year. Thus far the Western clubs have had things pretty much their own way. The championship record to date shows the St. Louis team in the front rank, closely followed by Pittsburgh, Cincinnati, and Louisville. The Metropolitans of New York, last year's champions, are away in the rear.

W. A. Daniels, a mounted inspector of Chinese, has been murdered by Apaches near Bisbee, Arizona. Public officials at Tombstone have forwarded an appeal to the President, Gen. Crook's campaign from limiting, urging vigorous operations against raiders.

Reports submitted to the National Conference of Charities and Corrections, in session at Washington, show that the juvenile reformatories of the country represent an investment of $9,000,000, and have 15,000 inmates. M. Hall, of Ohio, was elected President of the conference, and E. H. White, of Illinois, a member of the executive committee.

Judge Brewer, of the United States Court, has rendered a decision holding that Joseph P. Gibbon was the original inventor of the barb-wire fence.

Francis Brannan, a half-breed lately arrived at Calgary, says that his family and those of three neighbors have been massacred by the Indians. Major Lewis and two soldiers were drowned while crossing the Saskatchewan.

The June report of the Agricultural Bureau at Washington estimates the wheat crop of the United States for this year at 500,000,000 bushels, of which 287,000,000 bushels are winter wheat. This is only about 70 per cent. of the magnificent crop of last year. The 30 per cent. decrease from last year is partially due to a great loss of acreage, large areas having been prepared by because of wind-fill, but the windfill of that remaining is very poor, the indicated average yield being less than ten bushels per acre.

FOREIGN.

The English Ministry were defeated in the House of Commons on the 8th, on their efforts to increase the duty on spirits, by a vote of 264 to 252 the budget was rejected on the second reading. Thirty-nine Parnellites and all the Conservatives voted with the majority. When the result of the division was announced Lord Randolph Churchill and Mr. Parnell jumped up on their seats and enthusiastically waved their hats, and the cheering was renewed. Mr. Gladstone, who had been leaning forward in his seat and cynically smiling, started, turned pale, and clutched his hands nervously together. The House immediately became a babel of confusion, members yelling, stamping, and waving hats, orders, and handkerchiefs. A tumultuous cheer came from the galleries, and Speaker Peel vainly banged for order. The Parnellites pointed at Gladstone and yelled, "That is the price of coercion!" "Down with Dockson Bonsor!" "Remember Myles Joyce!"

An article in the Pall Mall Gazette, supposed to be inspired by M. Lemaux of the Russian section of the Afghan-Boundary Commission, admits that the prospects of the matters in dispute between England and Russia is still unsigned, and attributes the delay to the Russian commissioner, Lieutenant Colonel Grenville.

Henry Labouchere has given notice in the House of Commons of his intention to oppose the proposed Parliamentary grant of $250,000 annuity on a marriage dowry for Princess Beatrice.

A Coptic merchant, lately arrived at Cairo from Khartoum, declares that when Gen. Gordon's head was demanded by the Mahdi the head of the Austrian consul was given him in its stead. He thinks Gordon may have escaped south.

Ex-Minister James Russell Lowell sailed from England for the United States on the 11th inst.

Gen. Lord Wolseley has been created a Knight of the Order of St. Patrick, to succeed Lord O'Hagan.

MICHIGAN AFFAIRS.

—A woman suffrage convention will be held at Grand Rapids Oct. 7.

—The erection of the proposed big hotel on Mackinac Island has been postponed for another season.

—A bricklayer in Detroit, named Patrick Simon, fell ninety-five feet, and returned sufficient life to be taken to the hospital.

—The Ann Arbor High School contains representatives from Mexico, Italy, Japan, and Turkey, as well as from sixteen States in the Union.

—The Ann Arbor lifeboat will complete the triangle, i. e., take in Lyn and mail Salmo, in their tours, stopping at both places.

—The distance is twenty-seven and a half miles.

—Henry Peters, a Monroe blacksmith, retired from business last week after forty-eight years of active service at the forge—sixteen in Germany and thirty-two in Monroe.

—Since the last census Houghton County has increased in population 4,898; Marquette, 6,000; Baraga, 1,000; Gogebic, 3,000; Keweenaw, 1,000; and Schoolcraft, 2,000 each; Menominee, 7,000.

—Grand Rapids papers think that the patronage which is doled out on the five dollars would make two papers happy, but none of the five seems to be self-searching enough to go for the good of the party.

—Hillsdale's Kalkaska has been blessed with three or four preachers last now has none, and the boys play ball, the band used for practice, old men go out fishing, and ladies go visiting on Sunday, making it the liveliest day in the week.

—The profiles of Rev. Rimmey, Dwi and others, the Michigan missionaries who were denied their services to Russia in case of war with England, have been declined. By instance of foreign institutions, says the Secretary of the Russian Legation, are not sufficient, and the lack of knowledge of the Russian language is still another objection.

—This is a rather long story, but, of course, a Petersburg editor wouldn't be the Chicago Tribune is said to have fallen into a pail of milk on a recent night, and next morning was found complacently seated on a rail of butter which he had churned in the fourteen quarts to get out.

—The Japanese Government wants to secure the Grand Rapids educational exhibit at the New Orleans Exposition to make room. It consists of various colored showcases full artistically, horizontally, and in almost every direction possible to describe, and is valued at $1,000. It cost $1,500. This is to be the little-more the different excerpt and lines.

—It is estimated that the loss on timber and buildings by the forest fires down Newberry will reach over $80,000. A family named Delaney, living seven miles from Trenton, are reported to have a search by neighbors is progressing. It is believed they started in to escape, and were either suffocated by the heat or smoke or succumbed to the intense heat and perished.

—Persons who propose instituting the sanitary convention which is to be held at Ypsilanti, August 10 to 14, under the auspices of the State Board of Health, can obtain circulars that will entitle them to make the trip over the trip rate from any point on the Michigan Central Railroad, and its branches, by addressing the Secretary of the convention, D. A. J. Kinne, Ypsilanti.

—Lake Manasaini was at first reported larger than Lake Superior, then as large as Huron, next as large as Lake Michigan. Now it is said to be larger than Lake Ontario. When the survey is finished it will probably be found to be about the size of Lake St. Clair. As Dr. Holt, who gave it, is a straight line, you never know these, and a lake till the surveyors get through with it.—Free Press.

—Formation of a Press Association. (Marquette special.)

A press association of the Upper Peninsula of Michigan was organized here yesterday. The association includes three editors from Wisconsin, and one from Ontario. The names of the members are given below: C. S. Osborn, Tuscaroa (Wis.) Mining News; A. F. Cook, Alex. Sutherland, Norway (Mich.) Current; R. H. Shields, Hancock (Mich.) Mining Herald; F. H. Bissel, St. Ignace Republican; R. F. Tyson, Iron Mountain (Mich.) Range; A. H. Wilson, Torch Lake (Mich.) Times; M. H. Wren, Chippewa County News; U. B. Stuart, W. E. Chandler, Chippewa County Journal; James Russell, A. P. Swineford, Marquette Daily Mining Journal; A. C. Van Duzer, Escanaba Iron Port; C. M. Lewis, Escanaba Herald; C. G. Griffin, Negaunee Herald; C. Cavanaugh, St. Ignace News; twenty-eight members in all.

Col. J. C. Van Duzer, of the Escanaba Iron Port, as the oldest journalist, was unanimously chosen President, and James Russell, of the Marquette Mining Journal, Secretary. The usual Vice Presidents and officers were elected. This is the first meeting of the kind ever held, and nearly every newspaper of this section was represented. The organization is a permanent one.

GRANT'S LIFE.

Extracts from the General's Personal Memoirs—The Interview with Lincoln.

His Peculiar Feelings Just Before the First Battle Humorously Described.

How Chattanooga Was Saved—The Wilderness Campaign—Various Other Anecdotes.

The concluding work of Gen. Grant's life—his personal memoirs, written by himself—is now practically complete, and in the hands of the publishers. There will be two volumes of the pages each. The first will contain the inside history of the war down to the surrender of Lee. Almost the entire second volume will be occupied by an autobiography of Lieut. U. S. Grant, from the time of his first entrance into the army with the events of the war at the rebellion. The text will be freely illustrated by plans and maps showing the movements of the armies on the battle-fields. Among the maps will be one of the battle of Shiloh, Hooker's fight above the clouds on Lookout Mountain, and all the subsequent movements of the great battle in the Wilderness. The capture of Atlanta, Sherman's March to the Sea, and his campaigns in Georgia, North and South Carolina, and Virginia, and the Shenandoah Valley, will be included in the text, and will be fully illustrated. The Appomattox campaign, embracing what is known as the "Lee's surrender at McLean's house, is graphically told in the text, and the surrender of Lee's army is described and finally settled. The next volume contains the history of the Mexican war, and is filled with the incidents of the war, the events of the war at the rebellion, and the subsequent campaigns, and the events of the war, the battle-fields, the thrilling events of the war, the battle-fields, the thrilling events of the war, the battle-fields, the thrilling

THE JOURNAL.

BY CHAS. J. STRANG.

CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN.

ADDITIONAL LOCAL.

Shipments.

The following are the clearances from this port of Charlevoix, as reported for the week ending Wednesday evening:

June 1—Schr. Surprise, 101 cords wood, E. M. Clark, to Milwaukee.

5—Schr. A. E. C. F. M., 120 cords wood, Lewis Hon, to Milwaukee.

5—Schr. John Bauer, 120,000 feet hardwood lumber and 100,000 cedar shingles, Pine Lake Lumber Co., and Upright, Emrey & Co.

5—Schr. America, 200,000 feet hardwood lumber, Gleason & Porter, to Chicago.

5—Schr. Mocking Bird, 3,200 ties, Upright, Emrey & Co., to Racine.

5—Schr. Sea Gull, 7,000 ties and 50 posts, T. D. Smith, to Milwaukee.

5—Schr. H. M. Sayre, 200 cords wood, Upright, Emrey & Co., to Milwaukee.

5—Schr. Flirt, 150 cords wood, C. Christian, to Milwaukee.

6—Schr. M. Capron, 120 cords wood, Upright, Emrey & Co., to Milwaukee.

6—Schr. Minnie Mueller, 3,000 ties and 4,000 posts, Upright, Emrey & Co., to Chicago.

9—Schr. John Schneider, 225 cords wood, Steele & Newton, to Milwaukee.

9—Schr. Jennie, 100 cords wood, Gunderson, to Chicago.

11—Schr. La Petite, 125 cords wood, Master to Milwaukee.

11—Schr. Narragansett, 225 cords wood, Pine Lake Iron Co., to Chicago.

12—Schr. F. M. Smith, 60 cords wood, Carpenter, Hatchmore & Co., to Milwaukee.

12—Schr. Sea Gull, 75 cords wood, E. M. Clark, to Milwaukee.

14—Schr. M. Capron, 120,000 feet hardwood lumber, D. F. Wilber, to Milwaukee.

16—Schr. America, 200,000 feet hardwood lumber, Gleason & Porter, to Chicago.

16—Schr. John Baker, 100 cords wood, Upright, Emrey & Co., to Milwaukee.

17—Schr. Stampede, 220,000 feet hardwood lumber, Pine Lake Lumber Co., to Sheboygan, Wis.

Board of Supervisors.

On last Friday morning, the resolution accepting the rooms in the Jordan River House for county offices, and Loveday Hall for a court room, was carried by a vote of 14 to 2—Hayes and Norwood dissenting. Immediately following this the board voted to submit the question of removal from East Jordan to Boyne to the people at the next spring election. Ayes—Pletcher, Sutton, Hensley, Jersey, Smith, McKinlay, Jordan, Wooden, Abbey, Bailey, 10. Nays—Upright, Burgess, West, Harris, and Kent, 5.

A motion to adjourn, to meet at East Jordan, was carried by the same vote.

Burgess.

The last sales of Triple Hook are making an excellent quality of flour.

Potato bugs and mosquitoes are getting plentiful.

Next Saturday the school board meets at the room school house to reinstitute the town.

W. C. Arnold returned home from Iosco last Friday, where he has been visiting the past three weeks. He brought with him a fine span of mares, with harness and buggy.

"Cabinet organ" at Middle Street school house last Sunday, was a great success.

Mrs. Crane is on the sick list.

Mrs. I. S. Webster, who has been on the sick list for some time is convalescing.

Books Received.

Catalogue of the Michigan Military Academy, 1885, Orchard Lake, Mich.

Cure for Piles.

Piles are frequently preceded by a sense of weight in the back, loins and lower part of the abdomen, causing the patient to suppose he has some affection of the kidneys or neighboring organs. Constipation is almost invariably present. Blind, bleeding, itching or protruding piles are symptoms of the disease. Dr. Bosanko's Pile Ointment is a preparation, producing a very decided soothing effect, allaying acute pain, removing stubborn blind, bleeding and itching piles with almost to the application of the ointment. Pile Remedy, which acts directly upon the parts affected, absorbing the tumors, allaying the intense itching, and healing a severe pain. Price 50 cents. Sold by Geo. Crosby.

A Reliable Article.

For enterprise, pluck and a desire to get such goods as will give the trade satisfaction we refer to Crosby's unrivaled Cough Syrup. Dr. Bosanko's Cough and Lung Syrup, Scrofula, Blood Poison, Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Fever, Chills, Colds and Primary Consumption. 12½ cents and $1.00. Samples free.

Keynote to Health.

Health is wealth. Wealth means happiness. The wealth made by Dr. Bosanko's Cough and Lung Syrup, the best Cough Syrup in the world. Cures Coughs, Colds, Pains in the Chest, Bronchitis and Primary Consumption. Our druggists recommend it in every case. Take no other. Price 50 cents and $1.00. Samples free. Sold by G. W. Crosby.

Notes and News.

Lansing, Mich., June 10.—The senate to day passed the senatorial apportionment bill despite every effort by the democratic members to amend it. The bill as arranged gives three members to the upper peninsula, and by arranges the districts to the greatest advantage of the republicans.

Hero worship is generous and enobling. Stage worship I desire to engarrage, but who is the hero? Is it the successful or unsuccessful man? Is success to be found in what caused his success, or the lack of it? Should we cease reverently to remember that the truest crown ever worn on this earth was a crown of thorns?—Bagot.

A recent calculation of the amount of money expended in this country for beer and whiskey has been made by the St. Louis Republicans. During the last fiscal year taxes were paid on 72,000,000 barrels of whiskey, and on 17,000,000 barrels of beer. A gallon of whiskey is said to give 100 drinks, at ten cents apiece the above quantity of whiskey would amount to $720,000,000; the beer comes to 4,216,000,000 pints, and five cents a pint makes $210,000,000. Total annually expended for beer and whiskey, $930,000,000.

Asylum Trustees.

The governor has made the following appointments for trustees of the new northern asylum for the insane at Traverse City:

For six years—Geo. A. Farr, Grand Haven, Henry H. Noble, Elk Rapids.

For four years—Thomas T. Bates, Traverse City; Joseph W. French, Three Rivers.

For two years—Alexander Chapoton, Sr., Detroit; Chas. M. Wells, Traverse City.

Soap-Eating in the Senate.

Not long ago, writes a correspondent of the Kansas City Times, Garland hit Butler pretty hard. That is to say, he got a very good one on him, and Butler laid for the senator from Arkansas. Knowing Garland's fondness for candy, he procured some caramels and also some cubes of brown soap, which, when wrapped in their tissue paper, precisely resembled to the eye the caramels. Butler knew that if he tried to put the cubes of soap off on Garland he would fail, as he, inter-wise, of course, on the alert as far as he was concerned. So Voorhees, of Indiana, who sits next to Garland, was chosen for the confederate. Said Butler to Voorhees: "Here are two genuine caramels. These others are cubes of soap. Go to your seat, lay the soap cubes on your desk, eat the genuine caramels, put your trust in providence, and say nothing." Voorhees did as he was told. Garland observed the cubes on his desk, and saw that Voorhees was eating something with an evident relish.

"Hello," said Garland. "What are you eating?"

"I've got a cold and I'm eating some candy," replied Voorhees, very much absorbed in some papers in his hands.

Garland looked at the counterfeits wistfully for a moment. "Hum," he said finally, as he picked one up. "I've got something of a cold myself," and he popped the piece of soap into his mouth. There was a crunching of his jaws and he saw he was caught. Voorhees watched him out of the tail of his eye, as did a dozen others of the old boys sitting around. Garland knew he was under fire, but he was determined not to flinch. After chewing his soap for a moment he looked up at Voorhees with the inimitable air of innocent earnestness that is characteristic of him, and softly asked: "Do you eat many of these things when you have a cold?" As Garland kept on chewing an almost imperceptible strip of lather formed on his lips. Voorhees became alarmed and went to Butler. "The fellow is actually eating that stuff. Why, it will kill him, won't it?" "No-o-o," drawled Butler, "I don't reckon anything will kill that man."

Garland was game. He finished his soap, and no man could say that he looked as if he didn't enjoy it.

A Smoking Monkey.

H. C. Burton, secretary of the Para Rubber company, lately said:

A most ingenious use of rubber is made in the Tonkin in the construction of mechanical and automatic toys. What is more amusing than this smoking monkey? He is enclosed by his owner with seven motions. He shows his mouth, winks, and pulls with much apparent enjoyment of his cigarette. Observe that he inhales the smoke and puffs it through his nose. A mere matter of internal bellows. If I wind this key up he will show his teeth and take to his heels in a way quite natural. So with this relish that helps with a most lifelike motion. My peacock steps of as a stately gait and spreads a splendid tail as he goes. Here is Hop Sing, the laundryman. Fill his mouth with cologne, press this rubber, and he expels it in a fine spray. We had a bird stormer recently which was sold for $300. The figure apparently addressed the bird with cloyingal gestures, and the bird responded with a burst of song. This rubber girl plays for day minuets at a piano when she is wound up. The value of the material for these purposes is its indestructibility.—Buffalo Express.

The Fitness of Things.

At one of the stations on a certain railway recently an anxious inquirer came to the door of of the baggage car and said; "Is there anything for me?"

After some search among boxes and trunks the baggage man rolled out a keg of whiskey.

"Anything more?" asked the wet grocer.

"Yes sir," said the baggage man, "there's a grave-stone that goes with that liquor."—[Selected.

Count, the Cost.

If a man commences to drink whiskey at the age of 21 and lives to be 70 years old, averaging one quart of whiskey a week, the total amount of money expended in this country for liquor and whiskey has been made by him, of $8,582.50.

"A Chance Acquaintance."

Frequently some of the dearest friendships of life date from chance travelling acquaintanceship. Do you remember what Dickens makes that odd piece of human nature, Miss Wade, say, when the English traders, who have been quarrelsome in that pokey little inn at Marseilles, are bidding one another good-bye, as they suppose forever? Let me quote it.

"In our course through life we shall meet the people we are meaning to meet, from many strange places and by many strange roads; and what it is set them to do to them, and what it is set them to do to us, will all be done."

To young people especially these traveling acquaintanceships often have an important significance. Just think over the number of marriages among your acquaintances which resulted from a chance meeting on a railroad train or on a steamboat. Novelists make free use of such incidents, but do they not occur in real life hundreds of times every season? A young man sits opposite a young lady in a railway car and pays her some trifling attention, or brings her a chair on the crowded deck of a steamboat. They get into conversation, and in three cases out of five, no less the consequences are as fixed as the laws of the Medes and Persians, he alters them and see her frequently during that trip. The first link has been forged in an indissoluble chain, which will inevitably draw them while in the circles of a common house and bind them in mutual love. Of course love affairs that make pleasant experiences of a journey do not always end at the altar. A sore-eyed, or at awkward blunder miscarriages, may divert a brief but ardent courtship which promised to "come to something" into a fleeting remnance of a fast fading youth. But I think these are exceptions to the rule.

Got to Stand It!

Mr. A. bought his wife one bottle of Parmelee's Blood Purifier, and now he thinks he has got himself into business, for she derived so much benefit from it that she must try another bottle or two and be permanently cured. There is no Purifier known so efficacious in its workings as this. Only $1.00 per bottle.

Sold by G. W. Crosby, Charlevoix, and Crosby & Hoagh, Ironton.

Notice of Attachment.

STATE OF MICHIGAN, } ss.
County of Charlevoix.

N. E. Warren, vs. Jacob Bauer.

Notice is hereby given that on the second day of May, 1885, a writ of attachment was issued out of the Circuit Court for the County of Charlevoix, in the suit of A. E. Upright, Isa C. Emrey, and Hale W. Emrey, copartners doing business at the village of Charlevoix, under the firm name and style of Upright, Emrey & Co., plaintiffs, against the lands, tenements, goods and chattels, moneys and effects of Norman E. Warren the defendant above named, for the sum of one hundred and twenty-five dollars, which said writ was made returnable on the second day of June, 1885.

Dated June 3, 1885.

CRUICKSHANK & GRIEE,
Attorneys for Plaintiffs.

m-955.

CHANCERY SALE.

STATE OF MICHIGAN, }
The Circuit Court for the County of Charlevoix, } ss.

Fidelia Shaw complainant vs. William T. Adams, Ann Adams, Ann Eliza Adams, Sarah Ann Adams, Philip and John Wheeler, defendants.

Notice is hereby given that in pursuance of a decree in the cause herein, made in said above entitled cause on the 26th day of February, 1885, that I shall sell at public vendue, to the highest bidder, at the front door of the Village Hall, in the village of Charlevoix, in the County of Charlevoix, State of Michigan, (this being the place where the Circuit Court for the County of Charlevoix is held), on the 10th day of July, 1885, at one o'clock in the afternoon of said day, the following described lands in said county, viz: Lots one (1), two (2), three (3), four (4), and the north 2 rods in width of lot five (5), in township three (30) north, range six (6) west, containing twenty (20) acres, more or less. Also lots number twenty-one (21), twenty-two (22), twenty-three (23), twenty-four (24), and twenty-five (25), of block twenty (20), in said village of Charlevoix, according to the recorded plat thereof. Also a piece of land bounded as follows: commencing in the center of Lake street in said village, and running thence in an east-erly course on the center line of said street, to the intersection of the center line of Bridge street, thence in a southerly course on the center line of said Bridge street, to the center line of Lake street, thence in a westerly course on the center line of said Lake street, to the place of beginning, containing one-half (½) acre, more or less.

Dated May 27th, 1885.

FRANK S. FOGG,
Circuit Court Commissioner for Charlevoix County, Michigan.

SAWYER & BRADLEY,
Solicitors for Complainant. 38-101

The Charlevoix Improvement Association.

OFFICERS.

President—Byron Sen.
First Vice President—W. A. Smith.
Second Vice President—Mrs. Jennie Miller.
Recording Secretary—Frank E. Strang.
Financial Secretary—B. Sutfels.
Treasurer—Albert E. Moore.

STANDING COMMITTEES.

Executive Committee—J. Pete Eaton, A. D. Gregersdank, and J. L. Hurd.
Corresponding Committee—H. Lee Holdins, W. A. Brown, and C. V. Cook.
Reception Committee—F. W. Stayner, L. D. Hurd-Holmes, W. J. Stevenson, D. Cooper, Geo. W. Gowans, Geo. Crosby, S. M. Smith, W. W. Wood, F. M. Clark, H. Brown.

OBJECTS.

Improvement and energetic establishment of manufacturing interests in Charlevoix, and to promote the material growth and prosperity of Charlevoix and vicinity.

MEETINGS.

At Charlevoix in Village Hall on the Second Monday of each month at 7:30 p. m.

CORRESPONDENCE SOLICITED.

Summer Boarders.

Mrs. M. P. Burns

Has her house in the street to receive summer boarders. LOCATION UNEXCELLED. From this house one has an unobstructed view of the lakes and nearly the whole village. Prices reasonable. Corner Hudson street and the Park.

GET THE BEST

If your neighbors want a clean, handsome, weekly newspaper, giving all the latest and most complete news from the county, and save from send 25 cents for this paper, two months, 50 cents for four months, 75 cents for six months, $1.00 per year. Address

The Charlevoix Journal,
CHARLEVOIX, MICH.

Good Goods and Low Prices
ARE
BOUND TO WIN

If you don't believe it, come and see my SPRING STOCK. You will see that I am up to the times in styles, and have as fine an assortment of MEN'S, YOUTH'S and CHILDREN'S SUITS, as you will find in any City. I defy any House to show any nicer line of NECK WEAR and

Furnishing Goods.

My aim is to HOLD THE CLOTHING TRADE, by carrying a Large Stock so I can please you all. PRICES TALK. Come and see my Large Spring Stock before buying elsewhere.

GEO. W. MILLER.

Furniture at Reduced Prices

To Make Room for New Stock.

A LARGE LINE OF HAMMOCKS, BABY CARRIAGES, AND TRUNKS AT COST, TO CLOSE OUT.

HENRY C. COOPER,
WILL SELL

Photographs!

I have located by

New Photograph Gallery

OVER

UPRIGHT, EMREY & CO.'S STORE,

And am prepared to do

All Kinds of Photographic Work,

From the

Miniature Picture to Life Size

Any Old Picture Copied and Enlarged.

Satisfaction Guaranteed.

DAVE BRADBEER,
Charlevoix, Mich.

BANK OF CHARLEVOIX

Receives Money on Deposit and Loans Money on Approved Security.

Pays for such deposits as follows, viz:

Ten per cent interest payable January and July.

Weekly interest equal to 4 per cent per annum.

Special interest contracted for on time deposits.

Property held for its protect our depositors. All State Savings Banks, or other State Banks offer to allow interest on deposits beyond amount of stock taken in their institution. Notwithstanding this we pay interest on deposits beyond amount of stock taken in our institution. Because, we do not do a general banking business, but devote our business to the one specialty, holding this with our own money it is foolish, and with our friends it is wrong.

BROWN & CO.

$100 REWARD

FOR

Every Ounce of Adulteration

IN THE

U. G. Soap

The Great 5c Cake,

Made only by

GOWANS & STOVER,

BUFFALO, N. Y.

For Sale by all First-class Grocers.

Nimrod

Plug Tobacco.

Sold by all Grocers and Tobacco Dealers. Notice for its Excellent Chew, Delicious Flavor, and Choice Cut. This Tobacco is Manufactured of Finest Leaf, Purest Sweetening. "Everybody Chews Nimrod." Send for Samples.

S. W. VENABLE & CO.,
Petersburg, Va.

NEW GOODS

MILLINERY

Fancy Goods,

Dress Making, Stamping, &c.

GIVE ME A CALL.

MISS L. SPAULDING.

WM. J. STEVENSON,

HORSE-SHOEING,

Wagon Shop,

BLACKSMITHING, ETC.

Heavy Wagons on hand and made to order. I keep constantly on hand a supply of the best material, and WARRANT ALL WORK. Call and examine before buying elsewhere.

SHOP ONE BLOCK WEST OF CARPENTER, BARTHOLOMEW & CO'S STORE, CHARLEVOIX.

☞ The OSBORNE MOWING MACHINE on hand and for sale.

ERRORS OF YOUTH.

A GENTLEMAN who suffered for years from Nervous Debility, Premature Decay, and all the effects of youthful indiscretion, will for the sake of suffering humanity, send free to all who need it, the recipe and direction for making the simple remedy by which he was cured. Sufferers wishing to profit by the advertiser's experience can do so by addressing in perfect confidence, JOHN B. ODGEN, 42 Cedar St., New York.

WOOD WANTED.

Two or three loads of good black wood wanted at this office immediately.

THE JOURNAL

Charlevoix, Mich., June 12, 1885.

Provision Market.

Retail prices to consumers, corrected every Wednesday evening by Emmons, Emrey & Co., general dealers:

FLOUR, per bbl., $5.50, $6.00, and $6.50.
CORN MEAL, per cwt., bolted $2.00; unbolted $1.90.
HAY, per ton, baled $20@25, loose $20.
OATS, per bu., 45@50c.
GROUND FEED, per cwt., $1.50.
BRAN, per cwt., 80c.
MIDDLINGS, per cwt., $1.00.
POTATOES, per bu., 90c.
BEANS, per bu., $1.00@1.25.
BUTTER, per lb., 16@20c.
EGGS, per doz., 13c.
LARD, per lb., 12½c.
HAMS, 12½c; Shoulders 8@10c.
SIDE PORK, by the Split Side, 8c.
SALT BEEF, 6c.
MAPLE SUGAR, 10c.
CHICKENS, per lb 16c.
KEROSENE OIL—Water White 20c.; Legal Test, 17c.
Farmers produce in good demand.

Fresh and Cured Meats.

CORRECTED BY G. W. JEFFERIES.

BEEF—Steak 12½@15c; Roast 10@12½; Stew 6@8c.
PORK—Steak 12½c; Roast 10@12½c.
MUTTON—Chops 10@12c.
SAUSAGE 10@12c.
TALLOW 6@6½.

☞ Best fresh butter at Jefferies' market.

☞ Baled hay for sale at Upright, Emrey & Co's.

☞ Extra copies of the Journal at the office, 5 cents each.

☞ Cedar and pine shingles for sale by Upright, Emrey & Co.

—All the latest styles straw hats just received. Upright, Emrey & Co.

☞ A new line of fancy glassware, glass sets, and colored wine, offered cheap for cash at Upright, Emrey & Co's.

☞ Upright, Emrey & Co. are now prepared to sign cash contracts for from ten to two thousand cords of wood, to be delivered on or before the first day of August, 1885.

Upright, Emrey & Co. sole agents Prof. Hosford's baking powder, the only baking powder made with which no shortening is needed. Try a sample bottle and be convinced.

☞ Dr. H. P. Snyder, of Traverse City, will be in town for a week or two on professional business. All who wish to consult with him, and all who are troubled with deafness, will please call upon him immediately, at the residence of Capt. T. D. Smith.

Local Notes and News.

Base ball—East Jordan 17, Boyne 60.

East Jordan is preparing to celebrate on the Fourth.

Joe Bassett lost his barn by fire last Monday.—Enterprise.

See notices of Dr. Rosanko's medicine in another column.

Geo. W. Cook has added another spring duay to his outfit.

The fish tug Gem is a late addition to our commercial interests.

Remember the Blue and Gray next week, Friday and Saturday.

A communication from South Arm arrived too late for use this week.

F. E. Fogg will soon open a law office in Lowsley's building, East Jordan.

It is reported that another large saw mill soon be located at East Jordan.

W. Kerns, of Clarion, favors us with late copies of the Macon, Ga., Messenger.

Oliver Miner, of Echo, had an ox shot in the leg recently. The leg is broken.

Milly Kanagy won the prize for the three-mile race at the rink Tuesday night.

Bark peeling has begun, and piles of that product are accumulating on our docks.

That long wished-for rain came Saturday morning and wet the ground thoroughly.

A. L. Hamill is enlarging his fruit stand near the bridge, and adding an ice cream room.

John Shrier is building a residence on the south side, across the street south of G. W. Jefferies.

Ben. and Henry Vansaw were instantly killed by lightning at Mackinac last Saturday about noon.

S. G. Isaman has about completed arrangements for moving his office store building across the Arm.

The plains were never whiter with blossoms than this spring and Indians, whites and birds will reap an abundant berry harvest soon.—[Herald.

F. E. Woodworth has added a self-heating bath tub to his barber shop.—a long step in the right direction.

Burns & Scroggie are excavating under the east end of their livery barn, and will add stable room for 25 or 30 horses.

A party of four took an involuntary bath in the old river channel last Sunday morning while getting ready for a boat ride.

A bank of ice fifteen feet high was encountered on the east side of Hog Island, Lake Michigan, this week.—[Inland Marine.

The dwelling house of Wm. Nelson, of Boyne Falls was recently burned to the ground. Most of the household effects were saved.

There will be preaching at the Black school house next Sunday at 3 o'clock. Presiding Elder Stinchcomb will be present.

According to the Progress, Charlevoix is the prettiest town in Michigan and Elk Rapids has the finest fishing grounds in the same State.

Those desiring the job of removing the county safes, furniture, records, etc., to East Jordan, will do well to see the clerk and register at once.

The handsome black and bronze sign just erected over the Journal of fice is the work of W. M. Gilbert, of East Jordan, and speaks its own merits.

T. D. Smith is building a lot of large, water tight boxes, with which he expects to float the schooner Retrieve and bring her to this port for repairs.

The Charlevoix summer resort folks have published a neat book descriptive of the place, for the purpose of drawing bigger crowds this year.—Evening News.

Lumber is on the ground for a new house on the lot west of the residence of J. Reed Emrey. It is intimated that Henry Emrey is interested in its construction.

The steamer Faxton came in Friday on her first trip. She carried an excursion party to Traverse City on Saturday, and commenced regular trips on Monday.

The Detroit Conference of the M. E. church will be held Sept. 10, and the Michigan conference at Grand Rapids, Sept. 17, Bishop Warren presiding at both conferences.

Fifty rooms are to be added to the Belvedere house at Charlevoix, at an expense of $8,000. They don't intend visitors shall suffer for lack of accommodation.—Evening News.

Preaching at the M. E. church next Saturday, at 3 o'clock, and Sunday at 10:30, it being the occasion of the quarterly meeting. Presiding Elder Stinchcomb will conduct all the services.

Geo. W. Cook has added another spring duay to his outfit.

The fish tug Gem is a late addition to our commercial interests.

Remember the Blue and Gray next week, Friday and Saturday.

A communication from South Arm arrived too late for use this week.

F. E. Fogg will soon open a law office in Lowsley's building, East Jordan.

It is reported that another large saw mill soon be located at East Jordan.

W. Kerns, of Clarion, favors us with late copies of the Macon, Ga., Messenger.

Oliver Miner, of Echo, had an ox shot in the leg recently. The leg is broken.

Milly Kanagy won the prize for the three-mile race at the rink Tuesday night.

Bark peeling has begun, and piles of that product are accumulating on our docks.

That long wished-for rain came Saturday morning and wet the ground thoroughly.

A. L. Hamill is enlarging his fruit stand near the bridge, and adding an ice cream room.

John Shrier is building a residence on the south side, across the street south of G. W. Jefferies.

Ben. and Henry Vansaw were instantly killed by lightning at Mackinac last Saturday about noon.

S. G. Isaman has about completed arrangements for moving his office store building across the Arm.

The plains were never whiter with blossoms than this spring and Indians, whites and birds will reap an abundant berry harvest soon.—[Herald.

If a fishing pole with a sort of odometer attachment that would record the exact number and weight of fish caught could be used by all Elk Rapids fishermen, we have a suspicion the Progress nim wouldn't have so many big stories to tell.—Independent.

N. G. Morgan, the Northport general dealer, wintered 10,000 bushels of potatoes and sold them just in time to realize a handsome profit. Out of the whole lot, there was a loss of only about 150 bushels. He says he finds Burbanks and White Elephants are the best keepers.—Tendesman.

Just as we go to press, we learn through Wm. Vleit that on Saturday evening June 6th, a barn belonging to Jesse Taylor, five miles northeast of Boyne Falls, was struck by lightning, killing one horse and calf and completely demolishing the barn. The loss to Mr. Taylor is about $400.—Enterprise.

The bids for heating and plumbing the asylum building at Traverse City, were opened at the meeting of the commissioners, last week. The contract for heating was let to Sam'l L. Pope & Co. Chicago, at $19,379. The contract for plumbing was let to Randel, Spencer & Co., Milwaukee at $17,829.84.

Mrs. C. M. Hager writes the Fife Lake Comet: "I see in your paper accounts of large hen's eggs, and other things to numerous to mention; but nothing about what our cows are doing for us. I have made (besides using milk in a family of four) twelve pounds of butter in six days from one half-blood Jersey cow."

The Van Raalte will give a grand excursion July 4th, from Beaver Island and Cross Village to Petoskey and Charlevoix. If our band is engaged to play at Charlevoix, all of Harbor Springs will go down to the Pine Lake town to celebrate, as there is not going to be any "doings" here this Fourth.—Harbor Springs Independent.

J. B. Carter, of Ironton, has been in town most of the week, contracting for material with which to finish his hotel near the Pine Lake Iron Co.'s store. The house will be three stories high, 62 feet front, with a wing 24x48. When completed, it will give better accommodations for the traveling public than Ironton ever before enjoyed.

Notwithstanding the claims of the "Tennesseans" of being the "original" and only true colored jubilee singers, the opinion is frequently expressed here that they lack very much of the merit possessed by the Nashville Students who sang here last year. While their music has a certain degree of merit, and they might please a community not then favored, we cannot recommend them as "the best."

Bellaire is all torn up with excitement over a prospective railroad from that point to East Jordan. Chicago parties are said to be buying land extensively along the proposed line, and real estate dealers are looking forward to a boom and big times. We hops the road may prove to be a reality, but will feel more assured of its permanency when we take our first ride over it on a pass.—[Mancelone Herald.

County clerk Thatcher wishes us to announce for the benefit of the people having business with him by mail, that although the county seat is declared removed, he has not and cannot remove until his office in East Jordan is made ready to receive the safes and records; and all mail sent there must be returned to Charlevoix. Until he does move it will be a saving of time to direct mail to Charlevoix.

It seems like folly to repair four foot sidewalk by building more the same width, as is being done on Mason street between Bridge and State streets, when six foot walk is needed and has been laid further back on the same street. As fast as new walk must be made, it should be made the proper width. LATER.—At time of going to press we learn that the width of this piece of sidewalk has been changed to six feet.

The Big Rapids Herald contains the following in regard to the coming meeting and excursion of the State and Western Michigan Press Association: "Wednesday morning, July 8th, the party will be taken on board Hannah, Lay & Co.'s steamer City of Traverse, and down the beautiful Grand Traverse bay to Charlevoix, which will be reached at noon. There will be a drive about the city and in the evening a banquet at the Fountain City house. From Charlevoix, Hannah, Lay & Co.'s steamer City of Grand Rapids, with the excursionists on board, will embark around Pine lake to Petoskey, which will be reached in time for a banquet and ball at the Arlington house."

Bank at East Jordan.

On Wednesday, Mr. W. P. Brown, of the banking firm of Brown & Co., went to East Jordan and perfected arrangements by which he will next Monday open a general banking business under his own immediate supervision, and in connection with the Bank of Charlevoix, which he intends as the beginning of a permanent banking business for that town.

This is the fulfillment of a long contemplated plan, and is in response to an urgent demand for such accommodations on the part of the people of that place.

Messrs. Brown & Co. have been here too long and are too well known to need my recommend from us. The people of East Jordan can congratulate themselves on getting such accommodating gentlemen and the through business men with whom to trust their funds.

"State's Attorney."

John Dillion, with the Walters comedy company, gave to our citizens the best of this class of entertainments ever given in Charlevoix. Mr. Dillon stands well to the front in his profession, and with this strong company to support him, those who have the privilege of witnessing the play are sure of their money's worth.

On Monday evening the company played "Swap, the Yankee," and a two-act farce. They were favored with good houses both nights.

Thirty years ago Mr. Dillon and our townsman, John Nicholls, boarded at the same house in Chicago. At that time Mr. Dillon was a clerk in a grocery store, but engaged more or less in amateur theatricals.

Base Ball Tournament.

We were a little "off" last week in the amount of the prizes for the tournament on the Fourth. The revised figures are: First prize, gold medal, $50 in money, and the championship of the Grand Traverse region. Second prize, silver medal and $25 in money. Third prize, ball and bat and $10 in money. The medals are designed to keep up a permanent interest in the game, and must be won three times in succession to become the property of the club. Only clubs belonging in counties bordering on Grand Traverse and Little Traverse bays are to be included in the contest.

Corinna Estelle Cheney.

This lady supported by the best musical talent in Charlevoix, will entertain our people next Tuesday evening (23d) at the opera house, with one of her universal concerts. Wherever she has appeared the press have given most flattering praise, and there is no reason to doubt that all who appreciate good music will be well repaid for their attendance.

The women's choir of Charlotte is making preparations to give a grand concert the last of March. She has only to name the date to make a full house. By those who have heard her she is said to be one of the finest singers Michigan has. She has recently returned from Cincinnati conservatory, where she has taken a course of music. At a public musical given in that city she was chosen from the entire conservatory as one of the solo singers. She has been a diligent, untiring student of music, and her success is due to her work and her naturally sweet voice. The Cincinnati Commercial speaks of her as one of the most charming singers in Cincinnati, her voice is a high soprano and her style is captivating."—[Jackson Star.

"Her production were eminently remarkable, full proof in fact, her learner task as a vocalist she ranks with the best in Michigan. She sings with an earnest grace seldom found in one of her years, has a sweet voice wonderfully well controlled, and her articulation is so perfect that her every word can be understood. She is certainly a charming singer and we hope to hear her again."—[Ionia County Democrat.

"This lady possesses a voice of rare sweetness."—[Lansing Republican.

Personals.

A. H. Bennett returned home Wednesday.

Ed. Newman is in Traverse City, painting.

Fred Parmeter returned home last Saturday.

Chief Petoskey died last Friday, aged two years.

N. S. Sheridan, of Clam Lake, was in town Monday.

A. D. Bradbeer shows much improvement since last week, and can now help himself around his room.

C. J. Pettibone, of Petoskey, made us a call on Wednesday.

Mrs. W. C. Rogers returned home from Muskegon last Friday.

A. H. Reeves, of the Detroit Post, canvassed this place on Monday.

J. A. Stevens has moved his family to East Jordan to reside permanently.

A. L. Kanagy returned home Sunday, and resumes his place in The Tale this week.

T. C. Hancock, of the Novelty Printing Co. Grand Rapids, was a caller on Monday.

Rev. A. C. Van Aken and family are visiting his brother, Rev. C. F. Van Aken this week.

Mrs. Dan. A. Lamont started for Saginaw on Wednesday, for a few weeks visit with friends.

Roselle Ease, editor of the Petoskey Democrat has been appointed route agent on the G. R. & I. railroad.

Messrs. Arthur and Louis Pattison arrived home Saturday. Arthur will return soon after the adjournment of the senate.

Mr. Fuller, Banker of Sheboygan, Wis., one of the witnesses in Farmer's Star and Charlotte Business case is still with Judge Jackson on the board.

C. H. Estabrook, of Eastport, made us a call on Saturday. Since leaving the stage line, he is making a success of the grocery business.

Will Boucher, who was injured by a rolling log last week, shows steady improvement, and Dr. Lee says he will make a good recovery.

J. A. Cameron, of Hope, who went west as an Oklahoma "boomer," writes from Gallaway, Texas, that he is a livery and feed barn, doubling well in business.

J. L. HURD & CO.'S

SPECIAL SALES

Still Continue.

First Invoice of Spring Dry Goods Just Received.

MAYFLOWER TEA,

Our own Importation, and Guaranteed Absolutely Pure.

J. L. HURD & CO.

Successors to Amos Fox.

All the Latest Popular

SHEET MUSIC

May be obtained of

F. G. HINES & CO.,

Druggists and Stationers.

JIM'S KIDS.

BY EUGENE FIELD.

Jim was a fisher man—so the bill
Kept his wife—and I think he was the Best in the business. Jim had no kin
Nor nothin' else but his boat and his Yaw—some men take kindly to
Jim spoke of their settlin' an' raisin' a family
Jim—he hadn't no boy—
Jim's yawl was kept in the hull on the beach
Jim—he set up in an attitude lazy—
And said he reckon he'd ketch a right fine
Jim's wife—she was a tow-headed gal—
A look jim an' silently he listened Jim—
Jim's wife—she was a tow-headed gal—
Jim's wife—she was a tow-headed gal—
Jim's wife—she was a tow-headed gal

PINE LAKE IRON COMPANY

Ironton, Mich.,

Are Full in all kinds of General Merchandise.

I have purchased the Meat business of Armstrong & Co., and will continue at the old stand, with the freshest and best goods in the market.

T. E. CHAMBERLIN.

GARLAND STOVES & RANGES — KEEP YOUR EYE ON THE Right Place

For Bargains in Hardware,

Iron, Cutlery, Tin ware, Stoves, Implements, Fixtures, Pumps, Grind Stones, Wagons, Buggies, Carts, Wheelbarrows, Refrigerators, Doors, Sash.

PAINTS Oils, Varnishes, Putty, Glass, Fence wire, Farm bells, Guns, Ammunition, Spoons, Forks, LAMPS, Baskets, Measures, Tubs, Wooden ware, Rope, Fisherman's Supplies, and Ship chandlery, Job and Tin work.

L. D. BARTHOLOMEW & CO.

Come and See our New and Handsome Stock of Stationery. Remember, we carry the largest stock of

Drugs and Patent Medicines

In Charlevoix county.

Every Article Warranted as Represented.

We Solicit a Share of your Favors.

O. B. Weed & Co., Druggists,

Opera Block.

HURRAH for GOOD TIMES

Everything Booming

AT E. M. CLARK'S

Where he has a Lively Trade in

Dry Goods, Groceries, Boots and Shoes, Clothing, &c.

When you get the blues, just call around and see with what dispatch everything is done, where Pork, Eggs, Butter, &c., is taken in exchange for Goods.

E. M. Clark

Charlevoix, Mich., Harbor and Summer Resorts.

The above is a geographically correct view (though containing but a small portion of the buildings) of Charlevoix, Mich., a village of over twelve hundred inhabitants, rapidly growing in population and also in one of the most delightful summer resorts and safest harbors in northern Michigan. Several lines of steamers connecting here, connecting at all hours of the day with all outbounding boats, fishing streams, picnic parks, and other places of interest. Health, and pleasure-seekers, tourists and sportsmen are also offered the permanent settler the choice to invest his capital in manufacturing enterprises where it will bring the best results. The resources of the county are being developed so as to bring the richest returns. For any other information regarding the village or surroundings, address

THE CHARLEVOIX JOURNAL

CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN.

THE JOURNAL is an eight-page newspaper, devoted to the material growth and prosperity of Charlevoix county in general, and Charlevoix village in particular. Published weekly, $1.50 per year. Sample copies free.

CHAS. J. STRANG, Publisher.

Temperance Column.

Conducted by a Committee of the W. C. T. U.

Officers of the Society.

President—Mrs. C. Y. Cook.
First Vice President—Mrs. L. E. Allen.
Second Vice President—Mrs. J. V. Jennings.
Third Vice President—Mrs. Dr. Van Alstine.
Corresponding Secretary—Mrs. Geo. Lawrence.
Recording Secretary—Mrs. B. Sutherland.
Treasurer—Mrs. C. J. Strang.

THE OLD RUM-SELLER.

'Twas nigh to a bar that had long been made,
Leaned a rum seller old in the liquor trade;
His work was done, and he paused to count
The receipts of the day—a large amount;
A rolle of jolly old topers was he,
And his hair was as white as the foam of the sea,
And these words came forth with the fumes of gin:
"I gather them in, I gather them in."

"I gather them in, both old and young,
To my den of death they go and come;
Some to the scaffold, some to the grave,
Some to the prison, but none I save.
Come, father, mother, daughter, and son,
All I will rain, one by one,
With my rum or whiskey, brandy or gin,
I gather them in, I gather them in."

"I gather them in to a life of shame,
I blast the fairest, honored name;
Make widows and orphans to cry and moan
At the feet of old King Alcohol's throne.
The highest or lowest, I care not which,
Will soon find their level in a common ditch.
The law protects me, and it is no sin—
I gather them in, I gather them in."

The old man ceased as he closed his till;
Soon all was dark and gloomy and still.
And I said to myself as he went to his rest,
Can it be that humanity dwells in your breast?
Man may forgive you but God never will,
Though your ill-gotten gains fest the sinister's bill.
And his voice will be heard o'er the last trumpet's din,
"Hell gathers you in, hell gathers you in."

—Catholic Temperance Advocate.

Not long since a citizen of Chicago, while on his way home from business, was attacked by two savage bulldogs and severely injured. The neighbors were so incensed that they turned out and shot one of the dogs and hung the owner, regardless of the rights of the owner. There are somewhere about 6,000 men in Chicago who are the owners of an animal as much more savage and terrible than those bulldogs as the imagination can paint and they are sending him out to destroy men and women, boys and girls all over the city. Yet they are protected by license and the kind-hearted neighbors who would interfere and stop the destruction are denounced as fanatic and cranks. An equal number of bulldogs would not do one half the damage done by the saloons, for the bulldog is honest and shows his teeth. People would avoid them until they could destroy them. The saloon destroys under the guise of friendship. It is more hypocritical, more savage and meaner in every way than the bulldog.

In connection with the International Exhibition to be held in Antwerp, Belgium, this year, arrangements are being made for the holding of an International Temperance Convention there. The National Temperance Advocate of New York expresses the hope that as many American travelers abroad as can will attend this temperance gathering, which will assemble some time in September—the exact date being not yet fixed. The Advocate adds: "Temperance counsel and testimony from Americans is most welcome and helpful to the struggling friends of temperance on the Continent.

It is an apparent mistake to suppose that the liquor business ever pays for itself, so far as society at large is concerned. Boston, for instance, receives annually half a million dollars in license fees from liquor-dealers; but it pays out for police, criminal court, almhouse and hospital expenditures, $2,324,866—which last sum is, of course, in large, very large part, expended for the restraint of criminals and support of paupers, rendered such by the liquor habit. In every city where licenses are issued, the proportion is similar.—[S. S. Times.

Intoxication seems to be a specially expensive luxury in Madagascar. An English newspaper states that the Madagascar Government imposes on any person found drunk in the district of Imerina a fine of seven oxen and seven dollars, and the introduction of any quantity of rum into the district is punishable with a fine of five oxen and five dollars—sums, of course, made much larger relatively through the poverty of the people.

A liquor seller presented his bill to the executor of a deceased customer's estate, asking, "Do you wish my bill sworn in?" "No," said the executor, "the death of the deceased is sufficient evidence that he had the liquor."

J. MILO EATON,

DEALER IN

Real Estate

OF ALL KINDS.

Houses and Lots for Sale

IN THE MOST DESIRABLE PARTS OF CHARLEVOIX.

WILD LANDS AND IMPROVED FARMS

FOR SALE IN ALL PARTS OF THE COUNTY.

Abstracts of Title Furnished on Short Notice.

OFFICE ON BRIDGE STREET. ESTABLISHED IN 1875.

Charlevoix and East Jordan.

Steamer OTTAWA, Capt. Robert Orson.

Morning—Leave Charlevoix 6:30, arrive East Jordan 8:30, leave East Jordan 8:50, arrive Charlevoix 11:00. Afternoon—Leave Charlevoix 2:00, arrive East Jordan 4:00, leave East Jordan 4:30, arrive Charlevoix 6:30. Stopping at intermediate points.

Harbor Springs, Petoskey, Charlevoix and East Jordan.

STEAMER THOMAS ST. CLAIR.
Capt. E. Vanderhoef.

Morning—Leave Harbor Springs 7:00, Petoskey 7:30, Charlevoix 8:30, arrive East Jordan 11:30. Afternoon—Leave East Jordan 1:30, Charlevoix 2:00, Petoskey 3:30, arrive Harbor Springs 4:00.

Close connections at Petoskey with G. R. & I. R. R. trains, north and south.

Hannah, Lay & Co.'s Pleasure Steamers,

SEASON OF 1885.

CITY OF GRAND RAPIDS.
Capt. O. L. Wilson.

Going North every morning—Leave Traverse City 7:00, Northport 8:30, Norwood 11:00, Charlevoix 12:00, Petoskey 1:30, arrive at Harbor Springs 1:45.

Going South every afternoon—Leave Harbor Springs 2:00, Petoskey 2:30, Charlevoix 4:00, Norwood 5:45, Northport 6:30, arrive at Traverse City 9:00.

T. S. FAXTON,
Capt. A. C. Albert.

Going South every morning—Leave Harbor Springs 7:00, Petoskey 8:00, Charlevoix 9:45, Torch Lake 12:00, arrive Traverse City 2:30.

Going North every afternoon—Leave Traverse City 4:30, Torch Lake 6:45, Charlevoix 8:30, Petoskey 9:45, arrive Harbor Springs 10.

GOOD CONNECTIONS will be made at Traverse City and Petoskey with both day and night trains on the G. R. & I. R. R. (leaves Monday mornings between the CITY OF TRAVERSE and Chicago and the CITY OF GRAND RAPIDS going south, and the CITY OF TRAVERSE to Chicago, and the CITY OF GRAND RAPIDS going south, and the CITY OF TRAVERSE to Chicago.

Grand Rapids & Indiana R. R.

Time Table in effect October, 1884.
GOING NORTH.

STATIONS.	No 1	No 3	No 5	No 7
Cincinnati, lv		7 40am	7 15pm
Richmond	5 55pm	10 20	9 55
Fort Wayne	8 40	12 20am	1 40am
Huntington	9 11	12 51	2 11
Fort Wayne, ar	9 40	12 20pm	1 50am
Auburn	9 55	1 05	2 05	6 00am
Kendallville	10 05	1 15	2 17	6 24
Ligonier	10 21	1 31	2 34	6 41
Wolcottville	10 27	1 37	2 41	6 47
LaGrange	10 35	1 45	2 51	6 55
Otsego	10 45	1 55	3 03	7 05
Plainwell	11 05	2 15	3 28	7 25
Otsego Junction	11 15	2 25	3 38	7 35
Gun Lake	11 25	2 35	3 48	7 45
Hastings	11 35	2 45	3 58	7 55
Middleville	11 45	2 55	4 08	8 05
Stanton	11 55	3 05	4 18	8 15
Ionia	12 05am	3 15	4 28	8 25
Lowell	12 25	3 35	4 48	8 45
Alpine	12 35	3 45	4 58	8 55
Rockford	12 45	3 55	5 08	9 05
Cedar Springs	12 55	4 05	5 18	9 15
Sparta	1 05	4 15	5 28	9 25
Kent City	1 15	4 25	5 38	9 35
Ashton	1 25	4 35	5 48	9 45
Big Rapids, ar	2 00	5 10	6 25	10 20

GOING SOUTH.

STATIONS.	No. 2	No. 4	No. 6	No. 8
Cincinnati, lv		6 00pm	7 30am
Richmond		8 03	9 00
Fort Wayne		9 20	10 50	2 20am
Huntington		9 50	11 20	2 50
Fort Wayne, ar		10 05	11 35	3 10
Auburn		10 20	11 50	3 25
Kendallville		10 31	12 02am	3 41
Ligonier		10 44	12 15	3 54
Wolcottville		10 51	12 22	4 01
LaGrange		10 58	12 29	4 08
Otsego		11 08	12 39	4 18
Plainwell		11 30	1 01	4 40
Otsego Junction		11 40	1 11	4 50
Gun Lake		11 50	1 21	5 00
Hastings		12 00pm	1 31	5 10
Middleville		12 10	1 41	5 20
Stanton		12 20	1 51	5 30
Ionia		12 30	2 01	5 40
Lowell		12 50	2 21	6 00
Alpine		1 00	2 31	6 10
Rockford		1 10	2 41	6 20
Cedar Springs		1 20	2 51	6 30
Sparta		1 30	3 01	6 40
Kent City		1 40	3 11	6 50
Ashton		1 50	3 21	7 00
Big Rapids, ar		2 30	4 00	7 40

C. L. LOCKWOOD, G. P. Agent.
R. RAMSDELL, Gen'l Supt., Grand Rapids, Mich.

CASH FOR

FAT CATTLE,

Sheep and Hogs.

Having contracted to furnish Fresh Meats to the Charlevoix markets, this season, I will pay the highest market price for fat Cattle, Sheep, and Hogs.

A. J. McLEOD.

Charlevoix, May 26, 1885.

PIMPLES.

I will mail (Free) the receipt for a simple vegetable remedy that will remove TAN, PIMPLES, FRECKLES and BLOTCHES, leaving the skin soft, clear and beautiful, and will cure Nervous Debility, and a luxuriant growth of hair on a bald head or smooth face. Address, inclosing a 3c. stamp, REV. NARNEE & CO., 12 Barclay St., N. Y.

THE HOWE MACHINE CO.

AT THE FRONT.

OUR LATEST SUCCESS.

An Entirely New — High Arm.

Easy Running Sewing Machine

IT HAS

The Most Round under the Arm,
The Best Self-Setting Needle,
The Largest Bobbin,
The Easiest Shuttle to Thread,
The Most Perfect Tension,
The Most Bitable Feed,
The Most Perfect Take-up,
The Best Bobbin Winder.

IT IS

SIMPLE, STRONG, DURABLE & HANDSOME

Runs Rapidly, Very Light, Very Still and without Vibration.

Before you purchase, please examine the NEW HOWE at the office of

Mrs. M. Litney, Agt., Charlevoix

ERRORS OF YOUTH

and MANHOOD. One who has suffered all the horrors arising from the dreadful and destructive habits of early self abuse, and is anxious to relieve his fellow victims and who has discovered a reliable and really sure cure of self cure, will mail free a simple prescription for the cure of premature decay, loss of manhood, nervous debility, lost vitality, impotency, lost power, without delay, involuntary losses, pimples on the face, aversion of the gentle sex, pain in the back, dimness of sight, confusion of ideas, dyspepsia, constipation, impudence and all the long train of evils arising from the imprudence and indiscretion of youth, affording to all an easy and effectual means of self cure, secretly and privately at home. Address in the best language, Address in confidence, J. H. PINNEY, 205 E. Third Street, New York.

Established Fifty-five Years.

RAVEN & BACON,

—NOW—

RAVEN PIANOS,

13 East 16th Street, New York City.

BUY FROM THE MANUFACTURER AND SAVE 50 PER CENT.

These Pianos are made from the best materials obtainable in the best manner, and have in every respect Honest and First-class, from been awarded 1st Prize Medals at the Centennial, Paris, and New York Fairs. Every piano warranted for six years, and 500 testimonials showing that they to the money's worth of honesty and excellence. Illustrated catalogue free. Call personally or address for Illustrated Catalogue before buying elsewhere.

No. 1, Upright or Square, $325, worth $500
No. 2, " " 275, " 500
No. 3, " " 300, " 600

ALL 7-1/3 OCTAVES.

Do You Know

THAT

LORILLARD'S CLIMAX PLUG TOBACCO

with Red Tin Tag, Lined Lead Foil Wrapper, Navy Clippings, and Kings Brown, and Yellow Wrapper is the best, most lasting, satisfying, and economical tobacco made?

I offer FOR SALE, for Cash or Time,

TIMBER LAND.

The N. 1/2 of S. E. 1/4, Sec. 13, T. 32 N. R. 8 W. in Charlevoix County, NEAR HESSEL.

No Incumbrance. Title Perfect.

Address J. V. GIBSON, Box 85, Dearborn, Mich.

A PRESENT.

A large medicine for 25 cents, a package sufficient to cure the worst cases, and a valuable book on Nervous Diseases, with full directions, and testimonials, sent free. Address, Dr. Shores Specific Medicine Co., 167 Jefferson Ave., Detroit, Mich.

TO CONSUMPTIVES.

The advertiser having been permanently cured of that dread disease, Consumption, by a simple remedy, is anxious to make known to his fellow sufferers the means of cure. Those who desire it, for 1 thousand years of the prescription, (name) with the directions for preparing and using the same which they will find a sure CURE for Coughs, Colds, Consumption, Asthma, Bronchitis. Parties wishing the medicine may find it a blessing. Address, Rev. E. A. WILSON, 194 Penn St., Williamsburgh, N. Y.

MORTGAGE NOTES kept on hand. Private money—Call on short notice at this office.

THE CHARLEVOIX JOURNAL.

NUMBER 102. CHARLEVOIX, MICH.: THURSDAY, JUNE 25, 1885. $1.50 PER YEAR.

THE JOURNAL

Published every Thursday,

BY CHAS J. STRANG.

Office on Bridge Street,

CHARLEVOIX, - - MICHIGAN

ENTERED AT THE POSTOFFICE AT CHARLEVOIX, MICH., AS SECOND-CLASS MATTER.

BUSINESS DIRECTORY.

ATTORNEYS.

ARTHUR E. MARTIN, Attorney at Law, Boyne City, Mich. Collections promptly attended to.

CHURCHSHANK & GRIER, Attorneys at Law. Office in Dickinson Block, Charlevoix, Mich. Practice in Probate a Specialty.
A. S. CHURCHSHANK. A. J. GRIER.

DART & CALL, Attorneys at Law, Real Estate and Loan Agents. Lake st., east of postoffice, Petoskey, Mich.

FRED W. MAYNE, Attorney and Counselor. Real Estate business promptly attended to. MONEY TO LOAN.

H. A. JERNY, Attorney and Counselor at Law. Office on Lake st., Boyne City.

J. L. NEWBERRY, Attorney at Law and Judge of Probate of Emmet Co., Petoskey, Mich.

J. MILO EATON, Attorney at Law, Charlevoix, Mich.

NORTON & KEAT, Attorneys at Law, Boyne City and East Jordan. W. A. Norton, Boyne City. J. A. Keat, East Jordan.

OSCAR F. WISNER, Attorney at Law and United States Circuit Court Commissioner, Western District. East Jordan, Mich.

W. S. MOORE, Attorney and Solicitor, East Jordan. Admiralty a Specialty.

Z. S. CARRUTT, Attorney at Law, Boyne City, Mich.

CHURCHES.

FIRST CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH.—Sunday services at 10:30 a. m. and 7:00 p. m. Sunday school at 12 m. Morning service. Prayer meeting every Thursday evening at 7:00 o'clock.
WM. VAN ALSTINE, pastor.

METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH.—Sunday services at 10:30 a. m. and 7:00 p. m. Sunday school at 12 m. Class meeting. Prayer and praise meeting Thursday evenings.
J. T. DONOVAN, pastor.

FIRE DEPARTMENT.

CHARLEVOIX HOUGH AND READY FIRE COMPANY meet every Saturday night, at the hook and ladder house.
H. F. HODGE, Secretary.

HOMEOPATHIC PHARMACY.

J. SUFFERLE, Homeopathic Medicines, Books, Pocket-books, etc., Charlevoix, Mich.

PHYSICIANS.

J. A. CARLSTEN, M. D.
Office at the Ingleside.

L. LEWIS, M. D., Physician and Surgeon, Office in the Lewis block, Charlevoix, Mich.

W. M. PRESTON, M. D., Surgeon and Homeopathic Physician, Charlevoix, Mich.

REAL ESTATE AGENTS.

HORACE S. HARMON, Notary Public, Real Estate, Loan, and Insurance Agt., Charlevoix.

SECRET SOCIETIES.

G. A. R.—Hayes Post No. 119, meets every Monday in each month, at Odd Fellows' hall.

I. O. O. F.—Charlevoix Lodge No. 207, meets every Friday evening, at Odd Fellows' hall.

I. O. O. F.—Round Lake Lodge No. 393 meets every Wednesday evening, in Herbt hall.

K. O. T. M.—Resort Tent, No. 126, meets second Thursday every month, at Odd Fellows' hall.

I. O. L. of H.—Charlevoix Hive, meets Saturday on or before full moon in Odd Fellows' hall.

MASONIC—Charlevoix Lodge No. 382, meets Wednesday on or before full moon. Hall over postoffice.

WELL DIGGING.

FRANK DURGA, Charlevoix, Mich., will attend promptly to the work in the line of well digging, cisterns building, pump repairing, well curbing, cellar building, and similar work. 43

O. W. SMITH,

ELECTRO-PLATER,

Manufacturing Jeweler and Lapidist.

Electroplating in Gold and Silver. Any article of Jewelry made to order. AGATES AND JASPERS cut to order. 29

Picture Frames Cheap

I can frame pictures cheaper than ever before, as I have no rent to pay. Call and see me at my house on Clinton street, four doors west of school house.

O. I. WHEAT.

Money to Loan

On sums of $100 and upwards, at reasonable rates of interest, on improved real estate security.

H. C. Miley,

Boyne City.

W. M. WAGAR. G. C. WAGAR.

Wagar Bros.

Wholesale and Retail dealers in Tobacco, Cigars and Smokers Articles. Also a full line of Confectionery, Fruits, and Tobaccoans Drinks. Third door west of Bridge Street House, Charlevoix, Mich.

A FEW FACTS CONCERNING

Dr. CROUTER'S

BAKING POWDER

Or Quick Yeast.

If you use it you will never have yellow biscuit.
If you use it your biscuit will never taste of Soda.
It contains no alum, and is absolutely free from anything of a deleterious nature.
It is made from PURE GRAPE CREAM OF TARTAR and NOT from the Common Cream of Tartar of the shops.
It is always fresh and will never disappoint you.

Directions for using furnished with every package.

Price 40 Cents per Pound.

Manufactured and Sold only by

Dr. GEO. W. CROUTER,

Chemist and Druggist,

BRIDGE STREET, CHARLEVOIX, MICH.

Come and See our Immense Stock of

BOOTS AND SHOES.

FOX & MILLER.

BRIDGE STREET HOUSE.

ROBERT MILLER, Proprietor,

Charlevoix, Michigan.

This house is centrally located, and its personal appointments excellent. The table supplied with the best the market affords. Only sample room in Charlevoix.

COMMERCIAL HOUSE

D. B. JERRUE, Proprietor.

East Jordan, Michigan.

Entirely refitted and refurnished. First-class Sample Room for agents. Good Stable in Connection with the House. 29

FOUNTAIN CITY HOUSE,

RICHARD COOPER, Proprietor.

Charlevoix, - Michigan.

Finest location in town, giving good view of lake and channel. Accommodations and headquarters for Petoskey and Elk Rapids Stages. Special rates rates for commercial travelers. 30 Entire home.

PINE LAKE HOUSE,

A. J. HALL, Proprietor.

Boyne City, Michigan.

This house is finely located on the Boyne river, at the head of Pine Lake. It is large and commodious, and well adapted to the entertainment of the traveling public.

PIONEER HOUSE,

A. B. NOYES, Proprietor.

Ironton, - Michigan.

Every convenience for the traveling public.

C. R. BELLINGER

Has a large stock of

New Jewelry and Silverware

(SOLID AND PLATED)

Pins, Charms, and Chains,

In all the latest styles.

Watches, Clocks, and Optical Goods.

New Style of Monogram Pin just received.
Sewing Machine Oil kept in stock.

Well-Digging.

JOHN SHRIER

Is prepared to do all work in the line of well digging, cistern building, pump repairing, well drilling, and similar work.

OLD NEWSPAPERS FOR SALE

THE FAIR. We should be pleased to see the New Goods and lower-than-ever prices. Old goods marked a little lower, to vacate for new. Fancy Glassware, Hosiery, Tinware, and innumerable household articles at cold job prices.

A Happy Family

Circle is the greatest blessing of our civilization, but such a thing is not possible when disease and death lurks on the threshold. One of the most important matters to be attended to, is that the liver and kidneys are in a healthy condition. More trouble arises from derangement of these organs than from any other cause, often resulting in diabetes, bright's disease, and other difficulties generally counted incurable. Parmelee's Dyspepsia, Diabetes, Kidney and Liver Cure will prevent and cure all these difficulties with great certainty. Large bottles $1.
Sold by Dr. G. W. Crouter, Charlevoix, and Crouter & Harris, Ironton.

Quakers

And the milder forms of bowel difficulty, dysentery, diarrhœa, &c., all come from a disordered digestion attended with pain in the stomach, cramps, colic, &c. Be wise and ward off these attacks by taking Hamilton's Jamaica Ginger Tonic and Pain Cure, which is a sure remedy. Never known to fail to give immediate relief. As an outward application in rheumatism, neuralgia, sciatica, sprains, lame back and side it can't be beat.
Price 25 and 50 cents.
Sold by Dr. G. W. Crouter, Charlevoix, and Crouter & Harris, Ironton.

Toothache.

Did you ever have a cracking, jumping, simpping, roaring and bother some toothache, that kept the whole family in an uproar until 3 o'clock in the morning? Many have it, but all have not heard of the wonderful cures made by Hamilton's Toothache Drops, which are warranted to cure in one minute. Sold yet effective. Price only 25 cents.
Sold by Dr. G. W. Crouter, Charlevoix, and Crouter & Harris, Ironton.

☞ Now is the time your horses and cattle need attention. To prevent disease and tone up the system you will find Parmelee's Condition Powders unexcelled. Full pounds 25 cts. Sold by Dr. G. W. Crouter, Charlevoix, and Crouter & Harris, Ironton. 30-tf

RUPTURE cured by our Astringent Lotion, Pad and Supporter. Cure guaranteed. Pamphlet free. Address, Dr. Sherman & Co., 1151 Broadway, New York. 5

WIT AND HUMOR.

Oh! sweet is the morning of pure wedded love,
Where joy glides exulcerous, when faith is unshaken;
Alas! that the joy should so transient prove,
That from the bright dream we must arouse day awaken.
Time brings us at last to the gall in the cup;
Life loses the glow of affection's adorning,
Where sincerity ceases as to who shall get up
And kindle the fire on a cold winter morning.

There's the girl with the smiling face,
The one with the twinkling eye,
There's the girl with stately grace,
And the girl that is modest and shy;
There's the girl with the winning air,
The girl that's cross as a bear,
There's the girl with the curly hair,
And the girl that is rather old;
There's the girl that is proud and tall,
The girl with the dimpled chin,
But the girl that beats these all
Is the girl that has got the tin.

What is the best covering for the head? demands a Western journal. Hair isn't bad.—Binghamton Republican.

Mamma—Yes, my child, we shall all know each other in Heaven. Edith—But mamma, we can scarcely believe our when some of them call, can't we?

An Ohio girl, while out riding with a young man, got out of the buggy and killed herself with a pistol. He probably persisted in driving with both hands.

"Astonishing, isn't it, how things are taxed?" said a caller. "Why, I hear lots of people talking about taxing their brains." "Yes," said Tommy, "I heard sister say our young minister was taxing his, but papa don't think so."

A Mormon editor, in a recent issue of his paper, says: "The unknown woman who was killed at this place about three months ago by the cars proves to be one of the wives of the editor of this paper." A new count appears to have revealed the fact.

"Times is so hard that I feel like boldinp up a stage," murmured a half-famished prospector. And then he added musingly, "but what 'od be the use? Nine out of ten of the folkers wouldn't have a cent, and the tenth 'od have a gun."—Denver Opinion.

A German on a steamer returning to the land of his birth informed another passenger: "America is the best country in der vorld. I had lived der more as den years und failed vive times, and seven times burnt out. Now I goes home to lif mit a fortune und my family."

"It is a standing rule of our church," said one clergyman to another, "for the sexton to wake up any man that may see sokeep." "I think," returned the other, "that it would be much better for the sexton, whenever a man goes to sleep under your preaching, to wake you up!"—Jewish Messenger.

The Topsies still exist as veritable children of Nature, if one can judge from a conversation between a philanthropist and a poor person in Atlanta: "Ever been to school?" I asked. "Now, sad do' wan't I," he replied. "Can you read?" "Nuv." "How old are you?" "Do' no." "Mav says I was born in pea time."

Mr. Jack Cass, who is considerable of a donkey in his way, had been persistently pert the other evening. Finally he said something to Miss Sharpe that was just too saucy for anything. "Why sun't you box his ears?" asked one of the girls. "I would," replied Miss Sharpe, "only I don't know where I can find a box big enough."

"How much do I owe you now?" asked the customer of the milkman, as he emptied the forced fluid into the man's pail. "For twelve quarts," answered the pump-handle agitator with emotion. "Twelve quarts, eh? Well, just chalk this one, too." "O, no," replied the man of measure, forgetting himself; "it won't stand chalking any more."

A heavy pounding on the floor above caused young Mr. Staylate to inquire of the girl on whom he was calling. "Are your folks tacking down carpets this evening?" "Oh, no," she replied, "it's only papa putting on his heaviest boots and—" "Good evening," interrupted the youth, as he dashed out of the door like a circus clown through a hoop.—New York Journal.

"You don't call on Miss G. now," "No, we've quit." "Quit! What's the difficulty?" "O, her father is too penurious." "Too penurious? Why, he has the reputation of being particularly liberal." "Perhaps he has, but he told me the other evening I'd better leave, he couldn't afford to waste shoe-leather on me. It's my private opinion that man would skin a flea for its hide and tallow."

The five-year old son of a family the other day stood watching his baby brother, who was making a great noise over having his face washed. The little fellow at length exclaimed to the baby: "You think you have got lots of trouble, but you don't know anything about it. Wait till you're big enough to get licked, and then you'll see, won't he, mamma?"—Chicago News.

Gus De Smith, while not precisely a coward, is averse to getting into any difficulty if he can avoid it. Not long since Tiff Johnson, who is a great big swaggering granger from Onion Creek, kicked Gus' dog off the sidewalk. "What would you have done that last week?" said Gus, doubtfully. "Why, couldn't I have kicked him last week?" "Because I only got him yesterday."—Texas Siftings.

Two middle-aged women, who had not seen each other for years, met the other day in the City Hall Park and embraced effusively. After they had recovered their breath one asked: "Are you married?" "Oh, yes, and have five children—my husband is a brick-carrier in West Twenty-third street. Are you married?" "Yes, indeed." "And your husband?" "He is a brick-carrier, too." "Where does he carry?" "In his hat."

"I don't see," observed Mrs. Grap, "why, when they are giving away all them offices they don't let women hold something." "They would, my dear, but the women won't do it," answered her husband. "Well, I should like to know, John Grap, what they'll let them hold?" He took his hat, looked to see that the hall door was open, and in troubling accents murmured, "Their tongue, my dear."—Boston Post.

Herr Kreutzbuber is a member of the secret police. Being on his way home after midnight, he observes on the street lamp a placard. "Ha! the scoundrels of socialists have posted a placard denouncing His Majesty," said Kreutzbuber to himself. Being determined to destroy the placard, he painfully climbs up the lamp-post, and, having secured the treasonable document, he reads: "Fresh Paint."—Fliegende Blätter.

"Papa, dear, do you know there is one place that I am constantly envying?" "And what mischief put in that, my daughter?" "It's Elizabeth," responded the ingenuous maiden. "Explain yourself, my child. My Greek education was sadly neglected." "Well, papa, Elizabeth ought to be happy, for it's in a New Jersey all the time." Ten months ago the cats proves to be one of the wives of the editor of this paper." A new count appears to have revealed the fact.

"Times is so hard that I feel like boldinp up a stage," murmured a half-famished prospector. And then he added musingly, "but what 'od be the use? Nine out of ten of the folkers wouldn't have a cent, and the tenth 'od have a gun."—Denver Opinion.

A German on a steamer returning to the land of his birth informed another passenger: "America is der best country in der vorld. I had lived der more as den years und failed vive times, and seven times burnt out. Now I goes home to lif mit a fortune und my family."

"It is a standing rule of our church," said one clergyman to another, "for the sexton to wake up any man that may see sokeep." "I think," returned the other, "that it would be much better for the sexton, whenever a man goes to sleep under your preaching, to wake you up!"—Jewish Messenger.

The Topsies still exist as veritable children of Nature, if one can judge from a conversation between a philanthropist and a poor person in Atlanta: "Ever been to school?" I asked. "Now, sad do' wan't I," he replied. "Can you read?" "Nuv." "How old are you?" "Do' no." "Mav says I was born in pea time."

Mr. Jack Cass, who is considerable of a donkey in his way, had been persistently pert the other evening. Finally he said something to Miss Sharpe that was just too saucy for anything. "Why sun't you box his ears?" asked one of the girls. "I would," replied Miss Sharpe, "only I don't know where I can find a box big enough."

"How much do I owe you now?" asked the customer of the milkman, as he emptied the forced fluid into the man's pail. "For twelve quarts," answered the pump-handle agitator with emotion. "Twelve quarts, eh? Well, just chalk this one, too." "O, no," replied the man of measure, forgetting himself; "it won't stand chalking any more."

A heavy pounding on the floor above caused young Mr. Staylate to inquire of the girl on whom he was calling. "Are your folks tacking down carpets this evening?" "Oh, no," she replied, "it's only papa putting on his heaviest boots and—" "Good evening," interrupted the youth, as he dashed out of the door like a circus clown through a hoop.—New York Journal.

"You don't call on Miss G. now." "No, we've quit." "Quit! What's the difficulty?" "O, her father is too penurious." "Too penurious? Why, he has the reputation of being particularly liberal." "Perhaps he has, but he told me the other evening I'd better leave, he couldn't afford to waste shoe-leather on me. It's my private opinion that man would skin a flea for its hide and tallow."

The five-year old son of a family the other day stood watching his baby brother, who was making a great noise over having his face washed. The little fellow at length exclaimed to the baby: "You think you have got lots of trouble, but you don't know anything about it. Wait till you're big enough to get licked, and then you'll see, won't he, mamma?"—Chicago News.

Gus De Smith, while not precisely a coward, is averse to getting into any difficulty if he can avoid it. Not long since Tiff Johnson, who is a great big swaggering granger from Onion Creek, kicked Gus' dog off the sidewalk. "What would you have done that last week?" said Gus, doubtfully. "Why, couldn't I have kicked him last week?" "Because I only got him yesterday."—Texas Siftings.

Two middle-aged women, who had not seen each other for years, met the Nail-kegs as Bee-Hives.

A Vermont correspondent of the New England Farmer writes: Bee-keeping does not call for an elaborate system. Expensive hives are not wanted; the bee is satisfied with any kind of a receptacle, box or nail-keg; and the farmer can make them himself. The mention of "nail-keg" reminds a story that is vouched for. A beekeeper placed a nail-keg on high land in an isolated part of the country. Every year for six years he "caught" a swarm of bees in the keg, and one year two swarms. The natural hive, or the hive of the wild bee, is a hollow tree. The forests have been cut away, and hollow trees are no longer abundant. The bees caught in the nail-keg were looking for a hollow tree, and not finding it were obliged to occupy what appeared to be equivalent. According to the law laid down by apiarians, the bee scouts went out to view the country and to find an abiding place, found the nail-keg long before emigration, and when the time came to separate from the parent colony led the new family direct to the new home. Not only many farmers keep bees, but others also, in fact any person in city or country. The pasturage may be better in one place than in another, but as the bee travels three to five miles, some say ten or twelve miles, it will find honey at a distance if it is not near. Bees in large cities have been very successful. The man or woman who has no land except that on which the house stands may keep bees and profit by them. Hives may be placed on roofs, on porches, in upper rooms or attics, and, in fact, in any room in the house, under certain conditions. An "observatory hive," a hive with glass sides, may be placed in the living-room, and the process of making comb, storing honey, raising and feeding the brood, and the whole economy of the wonderful worker studied by the members of the family, furnishing amusement and instruction as entertaining as it is novel and varied. This hive is placed near a window, which may be raised or lowered with holes in the lower sash. Fine wire netting shuts in the front of the hive, and prevents the bees from flying in the room.

Some ten years ago a French emigrant named Farre landed in Trujillo, Honduras, without a cent in his pocket or a second coat to cover his back. The only thing of any value which he owned was an old silver watch. He sold the watch for $4 and began life on this capital. Today he is worth a fortune and lives in fine style in Paris. He made all his money in the import and export trade of Honduras.

THE JOURNAL

BY CHAS. J. STRANG,

CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN.

NEWS CONDENSED.

Concise Record of the Week.

EASTERN.

At a meeting of white lead manufacturers at Niagara Falls it was decided to form a subsidiary oil pool, which will run the refiner must pole, and the penalties for cutting the card rates were made very heavy. This step was taken to counteract the idea of the trade, as lovers of white lead generally purchased it on the dealers "shading" of the paper of the latter announced practically a rival of the white lead card.

The first night spent by Gen. Grant in the country was a hard one for the Union veteran, and he was from his couch in the morning in a depressed condition. During the day he walked a few thousand of the cottage, and came to the brow of the mountain, returning in an exhausted state. He insisted by signs that he wanted writing paper, and then penned two letters, one being headed, "Memorandum for Mr. Fanning," the other being addressed to Dr. Douglas. In the former document he stated that he thought he was mending, and exercise instructions. Dr. Sands was hurriedly summoned from New York. It is stated that the charges of the physicians attending Ex-Gen. Grant have let to murmurs that, through private contributions their bills up to the present time have been liquidated, and that a balance of $1,500 remains due.

The steamer Inge with the Bartholdi statue on board, arrived in New York, June 17.

The extensive pork and lard packing-house of Washington Gardner's sons Philadelphia, was destroyed by fire, June 15.

The residence at Plymouth, Pa., has spent the force, and the relief committee in nonsense. Just it is need of no more funds.

The trotting stallion Majolica and Phalax have been matched for a race Aug. 28, on the New York Driving Club course, for $2,500 a side.

Chauncey Depew, of New York, has been elected President of the New York Central Railroad Company, to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Mr. James H. Rutter.

Lanston & Goodhue, cutlery manufacturers at Shelburne Falls, Mass., are perfect business, with liabilities of several hundred thousand dollars.

WESTERN.

The Utah and Wyoming Central Railroad Company, just incorporated with a capital stock of $5,000,000, will build a line to connect the Union and Northwestern extension with the Central Pacific. A line of transfer boats will be established across Great Salt Lake to avoid building around it.

Des Moines (Iowa) dispatch: "Reports sent in to the different insurance companies of Des Moines show that the damage by the late storms is heavier than first reported. In Ida, Woodbury, Monona, Crawford, Sac, and Greene Counties the loss was heavy. In and about Sioux City the damage is approximated at $120,000. In Buena Vista County a large number of farmsteads were blown from their foundations. In the western portion of the State, as far south as Pottawattamie County and the two northern tiers of counties, houses, barns, corn-cribs, fences, and hay stack were scattered all over the prairies. The Hawkeye and Stone insurance companies, of Des Moines, and the Home, of Sioux City, are the heaviest losers in the northern and western parts of the State, and the Phoenix and Continental in the southern part. An officer of the Hawkeye Company says the total loss from hail storms may aggregate $500,000, of which probably a third is covered by insurance.

George Morgan, Pete Moore, and Bill Williams, desperadoes and cattle thieves, were lynched by vigilantes at Healing, Arizona Territory.

The tenth meeting of the American Association of Nurserymen, Florists, and Seedsmen was held at Chicago, with 225 members in attendance.

The flour production of the Minneapolis mills last week was but 16,342 barrels—the smallest since the milling there reached its present proportions.

A magazine at Pueblo, Col., containing 37,000 pounds of powder and a quantity of dynamite, was exploded by a man leading a spark on the door of the magazine. The firemen was killed, his companion fatally wounded, and buildings within a radius of two miles more or less injured.

Ex-Sheriff James W. Nesmith died at Derry, Oregon, in his sixty-sixth year. His end was peaceful, and death was as if asleep in sleep. He had been in a fog breath for some time, he went having lost room impaired. He had served national from the great Democratic War Democrat and fell to the chair of the rebellion.

Uriah Hastings, an ex-Mexican war veteran and the oldest member of the Grand Army of the Republic in the United States, died at Vancouver, W. T., aged nineteen years.

The Illinois crop report for June shows that the area planted to corn this year was much larger than last season, owing, probably to the failure of the wheat crop in many parts of the State. There has been some complaint of insects this season than heretofore, and the stand of corn is very uneven, owing to the repeated replanting. Without a favorable fall for maturing the crops there will be an unusual amount of damaged corn on the market. The crop has generally been well cultivated, and since the first of June has made very satisfactory growth. The outlook, warm, which has damaged the crop in many counties of the State, has disappeared or ceased to do any damage since the first of June.

SOUTHERN.

The Randleman cotton factory in Randolph County, North Carolina, was burned. Seven hundred Lands were thrown out of employment. The loss is estimated at $100,000.

Alonzo Fugel, a skillful and noted counterfeiter, was arrested at Versailles, Ky. He is 65 years old, and was once the head of the counterfeit gang.

The wife of William E. Montgomery (Mattie Palmer), house salt at Louisville, Ky., on hearing the verdict of acquitting her husband, shot the defendant thinking that he was a white man, but has discovered that a mistake had been made in the verdict. She also petitions for the custody of their children.

Southwest Virginia is threatened with famine. The corn crop is almost exhausted, and the wheat crop is so meager that it will give little relief.

The entire Chinese collection at the New Orleans Exposition has been presented to the University of Nashville, Prof. Angell, of the university, was Minister to China several years ago.

Five Negroes at Macon, Miss., were destroyed by fire and adjoining buildings damaged, the loss reaching $80,000.

All the gambling houses in Memphis have been closed by the police.

A mulatto born in Dyer and adjacent counties, Tennessee, exhibited a bale of cotton $100,000.

Seven passengers were injured, one fatally, by the overturning of a stage coach near Abilene, Texas.

WASHINGTON.

The Government Entomologist says the periodical locusts are due this year in not less than twenty-five States of the Union.

Postmaster General Vilas says that that the postmaster will not embarrass itself with any orders from congress to others, nor collect debts a mind the clerks.

The entire force of the Agricultural Department at Washington was furloughed without pay from June 20 to July 1, the funds of the bureau being exhausted.

The prevalence of hog cholera in Nebraska, Iowa, Illinois, Ohio, Indiana, and the times experienced of similar outbreaks in other parts of the country have been made the subject of inquiry addressed to the Commissioner of Agriculture, who has been urged to make a special report appeal to determine the nature of the disease and the available means for its mitigation or suppression. In many quarters the demand for a commissioner of disease has appeared in J. Gerth, a veterinarian of Newark, N. J., proposes a trip to Nebraska and some other infected districts.

The Postmaster General has decided that white men who are members of Indian tribes are eligible for appointment as Postmasters.

The Treasury Department has decided that leakages of spirits through worm-tubes or separators are not constituted to the benefits allowed in cases of casualty.

In contracting for supplies for the Freedmen's Hospital for the next year the Secretary of the Interior has made a saving of $1,000 from the prices paid for supplies during the present year.

POLITICAL.

The President has made the following appointments:

John M. Twiggs, of California, to be Assessor of the internal revenue District at San Francisco, Cal.; Thomas Hook, to be Appraiser of Merchandise at the District of San Francisco; Joseph E. Shafer, to be an Assistant Surgeon in the navy; Thomas Curtin, of Buffalo, N. Y., to be Chief of Secret Service, in place of Col. Richard R. McMahon, of West Virginia, to be Inspector General of the Pension Bureau; Judge William Stapleton, of Colorado, was nominated for Minister of the United States Mint at Denver; Benjamin S. W. Clark and Samuel H. Taylor to be National Bank Examiners; E. C. Bassetter, of Indiana, Special Indian Agent; J. Harper, of Pennsylvania, and William S. Salter, of Iowa, to be Chiefs of Division in the Third Auditor's Office, to fill vacancies caused by resignations. Collectors of Internal Revenue—John T. McGough, for the Ninth District of Pennsylvania, with headquarters at Pittsburgh; Thomas Cox, for the Fifth District of Kentucky, George N. Davis, for the Fourth District of Michigan, Augustus L. Kinkaster for the Fourth District of Iowa, and Lewis Wilcox of Peoria, for the Fifth District of Illinois. Postmasters—C. E. Cameron, at Alta, Iowa; Jacob J. Zeller, at Ottawa, Ohio; James H. Mayes, at Danville, Ky.; John B. Lanham, at South Pittsburgh, Tenn.; Joseph H. Ellis, at Tazewell, Va.; Andrew Manley, at Seneberne, N. C.; Vice A. E. Richardson, suspended; James M. Ketcher, at Union Springs, Ala., vice J. W. Hathorne, suspended; Lewis Boyd, at Cuthbert, Ga., vice Wilson W. F. Richards, suspended; C. C. Cobbs, at Carlisle, Iowa, vice E. W. Hastings, suspended for illness at his own request; John H. Cochran, at Dallas, Texas, vice L. S. Lowman, suspended; Frank T. Fisher, at Fredericksburg, Va., vice Lawrence Taliaferro, suspended; John Finney, at Helena, Ala., vice A. L. Bailey, suspended; Valentine Dingus, at Vienna, Wis., vice Robert H. Lemon, suspended; John Warner, at Peoria, Ill., vice W. Corkle, suspended; John A. Young, at Charleston, N. C., vice W. W. Lesesne, suspended; George W. Crouch, at Concord, N. H., vice D. H. Cornell, suspended; Archibald H. Boyd, at Salisbury, N. C., vice James H. Rumsey, suspended; Orlando Humphrey, at Nyack, N. Y., vice S. L. Christie, suspended.

The Postmasters at Fredericksburg, Va., Decorah, Iowa; Wausau, Wis.; Peoria, Ill.; Charlotte, N. C.; Salisbury, N. C.; Concord, N. H.; and Dallas, Texas, were suspended for partisanship, which, remove. The Postmaster at Nyack, N. Y., was suspended because chargeable with knowledge of fraudulent practices upon the Government while he was Assistant Postmaster.

President Cleveland appointed John B. Stallo, of Ohio, to be Envoy Extraordinary and Minister Plenipotentiary to Italy; Barnes W. Hanna, of Indiana, to be Minister Resident and Consul General to the Argentine Republic; Charles A. Dougherty, of Pennsylvania, to be Secretary of Legation at Rome; William L. Alden, of New York, to be Consul General at Rome; and Pierre B. de Young, of Georgia, to be Consul General at St. Petersburg. The President has also appointed the following Consuls: George W. Savage, of New Jersey, at Belfast; Edward Campbaugh, of Pennsylvania, at Sonora; Francis B. Gaskyl, of New York, at Kingston, Jamaica; John M. Hirsh, of West Virginia, at Nagasaki; Henry Hoover, of Kansas, at Pernambuco; Richard H. Stoddard, of New York, at Athens; Theodore W. Hanna, of Connecticut, at Genoa; M. J. Newmark, of California, at Lyons; Wm. H. Moffett, of New Jersey, at Bristol; J. Monnahan, of Illinois, at Marseilles; and Walmer Johns, of Florida, at Messina. Benjamin Lanston was appointed to be Commander of the Navy, William W. Hebberge to be Lieutenant Commander, Albert Ross to be Lieutenant, John F. Bennett to be Lieutenant and Surgeon.

MISCELLANEOUS.

General Grant has been removed from New York to Mount Macgregor. The journey, accompanied by the members of the family, Dr. Douglas, Dr. Sands, and intimate friends, left the city in Mr. Vanderbilt's special car, at 9 o'clock, on the morning of June 16, and reached Saratoga Springs, the General turned a little so as to get a glimpse of the familiar spot and "cottage," and he seemed wished to say something relative to the residence of a friend, then in view, he was compelled to write what he had to say, and at Saratoga a large crowd had assembled, but order was maintained by Wheeler Post, No. 6. The party reached Mount Macgregor at 2 p. m., the last stage of the journey occupied two hours and a half in fatigue. The patient was unable to walk to the cottage, and had to be carried in a chair, and when he reached the house his speech was utterly failed him. Dr. Douglas found upon examination that the General's throat had been considerably irritated by the black lamp dust, but after this had been removed the patient rested on the piazza for a short time, and then slowly walked to his room, remarking loudly, "The doctor thinks I was worse on the journey was ended. A New York dispatch says: "There was a sudden change for the worse in Gen. Grant's condition, and physicians were kept busy for the rest of the day. The patient rested on the piazza for a short time, and then slowly walked to his room, remarking loudly, "The doctor thinks I was worse on the journey was ended."

THE JOURNAL.

BY CHAS. J. STRANG.

CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN.

Notes and News.

Escanaba is to have a new democratic paper, with Hon. John Power editor in chief.

Brewer's new paper, the Grand Rapids Herald, strikes some hard blows at the sins of society in that city.

The iron mills are knocking down to the strikers in a way that must be very gratifying to the men. It must disabuse their minds also of the superstition that the pay which they receive is the result of a tariff or any other legislation. They get just what they can compel their employers to pay, and no more, the same as most other people who work for wages.—Kalamazoo Gazette.

The Eaton Rapids Journal relates the following incident showing how Hon. M. V. Montgomery, commissioner of patents, got his name and start in the world: Col. John Montgomery, the pioneer of Montgomery plains, and who now has seen the frosts of eighty three winters, called at our office the other day and renewed his subscription to the Journal, looking twenty years younger than he is. The Colonel is uncle to Hon. M. V. Montgomery, present patent office commissioner, and tells a little incident in the early life of his esteemed nephew that may not be entirely out of place to repeat: It appears that the father of "Mart," (as the colonel calls him) contrary to the views of all the other members of his father's household, was a staunch whig—and in a time when politics ran high. No opportunity was ever lost by the father or brothers to "come a good drive" on their wayward kin. So when Martin was born, John said to William: "Now, Bill, if you will let me name that boy I will make him a present of a sheep the finest yew of my flock!" "Done!" said William: "What will you call him?" "His name," says John, "shall be Martin Van Buren!" "Jiffkins saw at once that he was sold, but said, 'I'll never go back on my word, the boy's name is Martin Van Buren! Now let's have the sheep." The sheep was turned over and kept in the family until the increase amounted to quite a flock. "In course of time," says the colonel, "the flock was sold and the money used for Mart's schooling and books; and that's where and how Mart. got his start."

ADDITIONAL LOCAL.

Northern District Lodge. I. O. G. T.

The regular quarterly meeting of the Northern District Lodge, which would have occured in May, but was deferred for the purpose of securing better facilities for transportation, was held at Charlevoix on the 17th and 18th of June. Delegates and visitors were present from fifteen subordinate lodges, located in the counties of Manistee, Benzie, Grand Traverse, Antrim and Charlevoix. Open meetings were held on the two evenings of the session. The time of private meetings not devoted to routine business, as well as that of those held in the evening, was well filled with addresses, essays, musical exercises, etc., according to a program previously arranged, and the unwritten work of the order was duly exemplified by a member selected for the purpose. The following resolutions were adopted:

WHEREAS, we recognize the truth of the adage "in union there is strength," and

WHEREAS, the whiskey interests are banded together and co-operate in all their endeavors to defeat our efforts to secure temperance legislation, alienge themselves with any organization that will aid them in their purpose, and standing aloof from all which will not submit to their domination, thus making whiskey the "shibboleth" by which they will be recognized by all political parties, therefore

Resolved, 1st, That we, as the uncompromising friends of legislation prohibiting the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquors as a beverage, will unite in any temperance work with any organization which will best serve the interest of the country and advance the temperance cause.

Resolved, 2d, That we will use every proper endeavor to make our present laws, both state and municipal, as efficient as possible

Resolutions were also adopted, thanking the Odd Fellows for the use of their hall, and the citizens and Good Templars of Charlevoix for the generous manner in which they entertained. The next meeting is to be held with Arcadia Lodge No. 489, at Burnham, on the lake shore, in Manistee county, on Wednesday and Thursday, the 12th and 13th of August. A committee, of which R. E. Newville, of Boyne City, is chairman, was appointed to arrange for excursion rates by steamer.

M. L. LEACH, Sec'y pro. tem.

Burgess.

Mr. and Mrs. Wiley, of Cheboygan, are visiting at their mother's, Mrs. Margrett Willis, and with other relatives for a short time.

Mrs. Gibson is expecting her daughter, Mrs. Leslie, next Thursday, from Louisville, Ky., on a visit.

Communion services at Ross school house last Sunday. Sermon by Rev. C. F. VanAnken. A large crowd and an interesting time.

Chas. Hamlin has returned from an excursion to Texas. Northern Michigan suits him best.

Chester Howe died June 18th, at the residence of his son, Chauncy Howe, aged 83 years. He came here from Wisconsin when it was nearly all a wilderness, and has always enjoyed excellent health until about six weeks ago, when he had a slight shock since which time he has been helpless.

Miss Lizzie Willis goes to Cheboygan with her sister, Mrs. Wiley.

Silas attendance and a stormy time at the meeting of the school board last Saturday.

Resolution of Thanks.

At a regular meeting of the Charlevoix Lodge I. O. G. T. No 927, the following resolution was adopted:

Resolved, That a vote of thanks be extended to the citizens of Charlevoix, not members of one order, for the generous manner in which they entertained the delegates of the Northern District Lodge during the recent session of the same.

Signed, W. A. ATCHISON,
B. F. BARNE,
CASS SEE,
Committee.

Blue and Gray.

Maj. Burton is here this week, rehearsing and preparing this play for presentation to our citizens on Friday and Saturday evenings. Below is the cast of characters.

Deltrick Vonderbeck, a dutch recruit, ...
Col. St. Leon, ... Capt. W. A. Atchison
Harry Pearson, ... C. W. Craine
Frank Duncan, the Guerilla Chieftain, ... C. H. Glass
John Baker, St. Leon's Overseer, affiancied to Cheriffan, ... Miss Kanser
Chas. White, Harry's friend, a Union officer, ... S. B. Thistleton
Teddy O'Connor, a Son of Old Sod, ... W. Rudson
George, Commanding Union Forces, ... H. Brooks
Col. Franklin, of U. S. Army, ... R. See
Uncle Ned, an Contraband, ... Lyman Price
General Commanding U. S. A. ..... F. A. Smith
Alex Burt, a Lieutenant of Guerrillas, G. Brown
Sam, one of the Boys of Company, ... Washburne
Maud St. Leon, a Loon Lady, daughter of St. Leon ..... Mrs. Alice Hines
Mrs. St. Leon, Wife of the Colonel, Mrs. Merritt Chittenden, a Southern Sympathizer, Prisoners, Contrabands, Etc.

TABLEAUX.

Miss Jessie Carpenter, Goddess of Liberty, Miss Angie Miller, Miss Ettie Jordan, Miss Annie McLeod, Miss Flora Nelson, Miss Celia Nicholls, Miss Lizzie Mason, Miss Maud Vanderbeck, Miss Libbie Aitchison.

Real Estate Transfers.

The following is a list of transfers of real estate in Charlevoix county, as recorded in the office of register of deeds, for two weeks ending Tuesday evening:

Leroy Babcock to Melchin Mooney, lots 31 and 34 of village of Canton, $75.

L. H. Powers to Mary Carmody, lots 11 and 12, of blk 8, 31 and 32 village of Boyne Falls, $200.

E. L. Dame to G. M. Kerry, lot 11 of blk 19, village of South Boyne, $200.

Peter Compton and wife to Henry McClounkow, n ½ ¼ of n e ¼, 13-30-8, $200.

E. H. Dixon to A. F. Bacon, com. at s w corner lot 2 blk 5, thence n. 75 ft. w 50 ft. s 25 ft. e 50 ft. to place of beginning, village of Charlevoix, $1,000.

H. H. Chapman and wife to Grant Dowdy lot 7, blk 17 of Chapman & Addis' ad Bay Springs, $85.

H. H. Chapman and wife to Wm. Cross lot 6, blk 17, of Chapman & Addis' ad Bay Springs, $85.

H. H. Chapman and wife to John Ward lot 7, blk 7, Chapman & Addis' ad to Bay Springs, $15.

Chas. Chalopkin and wife to Robert Tullock, w side of s ½ ¼ of s ¼, 13-34-8, $100.

Eva L. Lay to E. C. Burnett, e ½ ¼ of n w ¼, 11-34-7, $700.

H. H. Chapman and wife to E. C. Phillepsbaw, lot 3, blk 7, Chapman & Addis' ad Bay Springs, $15.

H. H. Chapman to C. J. Weasher, lot 4, blk 13, Chapman & Addis ad Bay Springs, $15.

A. R. Upright et al to Wm. H. Horton, lot 45, of Upright & Hulburt's ad village of Charlevoix, $300.

John P. Mason et al to Isabel MacLaine lot 6, blk 3, Mason's ad village of Charlevoix, $225.

Jas. R. Wylie and wife to Jas. E. Gallway, et al, n ½ ¼ of s ¼, 14-34-7, $200.

Pine Lake Iron Co. to Augusta E. Cater, lots 1, 2, and 3, blk 10, village of Ironton, $1,600.

Ellen S. Weed to Mary A. Weed, lot 6, blk 9, village of Charlevoix, $700.

Wm. Sutton to R. S. Way, s ½ of w ¼, lot 9, blk 6, village of South Lake, $250.

Amos Spitzer and wife to Francis J. Spitzer, s e ¼ of s w ¼, 30-34-8, $800.

Francis J. Spitzer to John Kilborn, s ½ of s w ¼, 30-34-8, $1,000.

A. R. Upright et al to John Jolliffe, lot 112 and 113, Upright & Hurlbut addition, village of Charlevoix, $250.

Shipments.

The following are the clearances from the port of Charlevoix as reported for the week ending Wednesday evening:

18—Schr. Walters, 35 cords hardwood lumber, Pine Lake Lumber Co., to Sheboygan, Wis.

19—Schr. A. B. C. F. M., 120 cords wood Upright, Emery & Co., to Milwaukee.

20—Schr. Jennie Weaver, 25 cords wood and 55 cords bark, J. H. Porter, to Chicago.

20—Schr. Active, 40 cords wood, M. Petersen, to Milwaukee.

20—Schr. John Schmette, 225 cords wood, Upright, Emery & Co., to Milwaukee.

22—Schr. O. M. Osborn, 125 cords wood, A. B. Farwell to Milwaukee.

22—Schr. Lapelle, 125 cords wood, F. Thorp to Milwaukee.

22—Schr. Gilbert Knapp, 50 cords wood and 25 cords bark, W. H. Bonner to Chicago.

22—Schr. Charlie Marshall, 120 cords wood and 120 cords bark, Gunderson & Butler to Chicago.

22—Schr. Evening Star, 120,000 feet hardwood lumber, Sheboygan Mfg. Co., 120 cords bark, A. W. Cobb, to Sheboygan, Wis.

22—Schr. F. M. Smith, 40 cords bark, Carpenter, Bartholomew & Co., to Milwaukee.

23—Schr. Seg Iron, 1,800 posts, 60 cords bark, T. B. Smith to Milwaukee.

For Keeper of Pier Light.

Now that Charlevoix harbor is to have a pier light, established by the government, it would seem but justice that the man who has done most in maintaining a light for the past five years, nearly without recompense, should have the appointment by the government to keep the light. Capt. James S. Morrin established about the first of June, 1880, and has kept ever since, the light that we now have; and has also kept a flag boom to guide vessels into the harbor. His compensation has been very small compared to the amount of work necessary to keep it in operation. The manner in which the light has been kept demonstrates Capt. Morrin's competency for the position, and the fact that the capitalists and owners of vessels sailing in and out of this port generally recommend him, is very much in his favor.

Card of Thanks.

Mrs. W. C. Mears wishes to publicly thank all who assisted in any manner in giving the concert last Tuesday evening, for the cheerfulness with which such assistance was rendered.

Proper Treatment for Coughs.

That the reader may fully understand what constitutes a good Cough and Lung Syrup, we will say that Tar and Wild Cherry is the basis of almost every cough medicine. These ingredients with several others equally as efficacious, enter into Dr. Bosanko's Cough and Lung Syrup, and we, thus making it one of the most reliable medicines on the market. Price 50 cts. and $1.00. Samples free. Sold by G. W. Crosier.

Farmers and Mechanics.

Save money and doctor bills. Believe your Mother, Wives and Sisters for a timely purchase of Dr. Bosanko's Cough and Lung Syrup, best known remedy for Coughs, Colds, Croup and Bronchial affections. To fence children of Croup or Whooping Cough, it is invaluable. Price 25 cts. 50 cts. and $1.00. Samples free. Sold by G. W. Crosier.

JAMES HEMMINGS,
Upright & Hurlbut Addition,
Charlevoix.

HOUSE PAINTER,
Calciminer,
Paper Hanger,
And Decorator.
PINE AND HARDWOOD FINISHING. GOOD WORK.

MISS L. SPAULDING,
DEALER IN
MILLINERY
AND
Fancy Goods.
Dressmaking Done in the Latest Styles.
Special attention given to
CHILDREN'S GARMENTS.
We would call the attention of the ladies to our STAMPING DEPARTMENT.
☞ We endeavor to do our work well and at Reasonable Prices. Come and see for yourself.

Summer Boarders,
Mrs. M. P. Burns
Has her house now ready to receive summer boarders. LOCATION UNEXCELLED. From her house one has an unobstructed view of the lakes and nearly the whole village. Prices reasonable. Corner Clinton Street and Bay Park.

Notice of Attachment.

STATE OF MICHIGAN, The Circuit Court for the County of Charlevoix.
A. E. Upright et al.
vs.
N. E. Warren.

Notice is hereby given that on the second day of May, 1885, a writ of attachment was issued against the goods and effects of said defendant, in favor of the suit of A. R. Upright, Hall Emery, and Hale W. Page, copartners, doing business at the village of Charlevoix, under the firm name and style of Upright, Emery & Co., plaintiffs, against the lands, tenements, goods and chattels, moneys and effects of Norman E. Warren defendant, for the sum of $[illegible] and that the same will be made returnable on the second day of June, 1885.

Dated June 3, 1885.

CHURCKHANE & GRIEM,
Attorneys for Plaintiffs.

ERRORS OF YOUTH.

A GENTLEMAN, who suffered for years from Nervous Debility, Premature Decay, and all the effects of youthful indiscretion, will for the sake of suffering humanity, send free to all who need it, the recipe and directions for making the simple remedy by which he was cured. Sufferers wishing to profit by the benevolent offer can do so by addressing in perfect confidence, JOHN B. OGDEN, 42 Cedar St., New York.

Good Goods and Low Prices
ARE
BOUND TO WIN

If you don't believe it, come and see my SPRING STOCK. You will see that I am up to the times in styles, and have as fine an assortment of MEN'S, YOUTH'S and CHILDREN'S SUITS, as you will find in any City. I defy any House to show any nicer line of NECK WEAR and

Furnishing Goods

My aim is to HOLD THE CLOTHING TRADE, by carrying a Large Stock so I can please you all. PRICES TALK. Come and see my Large Spring Stock before buying elsewhere.

GEO. W. MILLER.

HENRY C. COOPER,
WILL SELL
Furniture at Reduced Prices
To Make Room for New Stock.
A LARGE LINE OF HAMMOCKS, BABY CARRIAGES, AND TRUNKS AT COST, TO CLOSE OUT.

Photographs!
I have located my
New Photograph Gallery
OVER
UPRIGHT, EMREY & & CO. S STORE,
And am prepared to do
All Kinds of Photographic Work,
From the
Miniature Picture to Life Size
—
Any Old Picture Copied and Enlarged.
Satisfaction Guaranteed.
DAVE BRADBEER,
Charlevoix, Mich.

$100 REWARD
FOR
Every Ounce of Adulteration
IN THE
U. G. Soap
The Great 5c Cake,
Made only by
GOWANS & STOVER,
BUFFALO, N. Y.
For Sale by all Firstclass Grocers.

Nimrod
Plug Tobacco.
Sold by all Grocers and Tobacco Dealers. Noted for its Excellent Chew, Delicious Flavor, and Cheesy Cut. This Tobacco is Manufactured of Finest Leaf, Purest Sweetening "Everybody Chews Nimrod." Send for Samples.
8591 S. W. VERSABLE & CO., Petersburg, Va.

McCABE'S
Livery and Hack Line
DRAYING TO ORDER.
Passengers, Baggage, etc., delivered to all Boats, Hotels, or any part of the City.
AT
McCabe's Livery Barn,
CHARLEVOIX, MICH. 43

John Nicholls,
CHARLEVOIX, MICH.,
Manufacturer of and dealer in
HARDWOOD AND PINE
LUMBER!
ALSO
Dressed Lumber, Our Blades,
WAGON TONGUES, SHINGLES, LATH, ETC.
LUMBER SAWED AND BILLS FILLED TO ORDER.

BANK OF CHARLEVOIX
Receives deposits, PAYS SIX PER CENT. INTEREST ON TIME DEPOSITS, and TWO PER CENT. INTEREST ON SAVINGS DEPOSITS. Buys and sells Gold and Silver Coin, Government, State, County and Municipal Bonds, Coupons, Foreign Exchange, and Domestic Exchange on all the principal cities of the United States. Makes Collections on all points, and transacts a general Banking business. Interest on Time Deposits compounded every six months. Interest on Savings Deposits compounded every three months. Interest on Time Deposits payable only on the expiration of the time specified in the certificate, or on surrender of the certificate. Interest on Savings Deposits payable on demand. Money loaned only on approved security. Property held by us for safe keeping, free of charge, when not in use. Safe Deposit Boxes, in our vault, for the safe keeping of Deeds, Mortgages, Bonds, and other valuable papers, at a rate of from $1 to $5 per annum, according to size. Money to loan on Real Estate, in sums to suit borrowers, at the lowest rate of interest. Abstracts of Title to Real Estate in Charlevoix County, Michigan, furnished on application. Special attention given to the collection of Land Contracts, Notes, Drafts, Bills, Etc. Interest allowed on Deposits of $5 and upwards

THE DEAD SOUL.

BY A MATRIMON.

I dreamed such a horrible dream last night,
It was one the thought of which affright,
And would not, go from the dazzling light
Like other dreams.
For it was one of the most a curse,
Yet it shadowed forth a healthy verse,
A warning, a lesson, a hope, a hint
To some the subject.

What was that dream? Hear then I pray!
I took a walk in the cool of the day,
As the sun was sinking, down the crooked,
Rough, and narrow path, which led through
A valley to a lonely old dog,
Which, the moment I came near it,
Ran, howling, and hid from sight.
He was dead.

You, dear reader, perhaps, indeed,
Thus could walk and talk and drink and feed,
And sleep in peace and be safe and read,
And walk and write,
And yet with another, one, nevermore,
Pass into rest, which is dreamless,
And yet be as dead as the dog I saw,
Yea, dead like a stone.

Yea, as dead as the blue-shadowed stone,
With never a sign and never a sigh,
He lay—and I knew that I could not Bring him back.
And well than never let again
Thinkest thou never let again
Thy dear, dear gentle pals,
Lest they be dead and gone?
Ah, those little Dead!

And then in my pity I cried aloud,
"Oh, dear little pal, come back and rouse,
And life into away from the living crowd
Oh, mortal, forever, dear little a grave!
And yet, dear little pal, I know I have
And shall be, as dead as a stone and grave,
To some that is dead!"

—Dr. Wilde.

TODD ASHTON'S JOURNEY.

BY CLARA DIMON DAVIDSON.

On a breezy hilltop in Iowa, garnished on three sides by a crescent of ravine and wood, and looking out toward a level prairie on the north, the sleepy little village of Kirkville had stood still for half a generation, like a deserted prisoner who could not fight and would not gratify his enemies by dying. Kirkville boasted its lumber mill, its flour-mill, its well-built churches, had its commodious school building, which was newly supplied year by year with material for future extension and beautifying, for this quiet place, with its few houses always full, this gentle trusted of human life and interest, was a steady tributary to the great sea of work and thought and passion that lay beyond it. When the California fever or the Black Hills excitement were pulsing most hotly, the revival was at its flood tide, so that its contribution was proportionately small during the decade that followed.

Todd Ashton just saw the light through the small square panes of glass in the old-fashioned windows of a low wooden house in Kirkville. That very house should have his father and mother until their silent forms were laid to rest in the populous cemetery behind the Presbyterian church, and was her home up that thirteen thirty when our story begins.

Todd was born to love and to be loved. She could no more live without loving than she could breathe without air. There were few children in the village who did not pass her gate with flying mustaches, looking through the pickets with wistful eyes, longing, if the truth must be told, less for a sight of Todd's gentle face than for the delightful gram of delicious pies she was sure to other them in the shape of generous pieces of fruit cake, lumps of cookies, popcorn balls, nuts and enormous slices of white bread spread with rich gravies.

There was one subject upon which Todd was very decided for so gentle a lassie—she would not live alone. She depended upon the love, the society, and the support of her fellow beings for whatever share of happiness might live into her life. She needed a servant, too, so she told herself two years ago, but the industrious people of her native village would have been scandalized had any healthy woman in their borders presumed to indulge in such luxury without giving weight, reasons for such a course. Todd thought of all the cakes to be baked for "them sweet children," of the long hours of found to be saved if a Christmas offerings for the girls, of the socks and mittens to be knitted for the boys, and decided that the village people dare must be circumvented in some way. So she went to Mrs. Armstrong, a widow who had lost the greater part of her property through that lunatic speculation affected by the law and the lawyers, who washed for her bread—when women were forced to wash for themselves—and who rejoiced in the possession of eight children, and said, "Give your Mary to me. I will watch over her like a sister; I will feed her well and clothe her comfortably, and she shall have all the schoolin' she can get in Kirkville."

The widow sighed a little, sain same very ungrateful things about laws and lawyers, but finally ever-ented because she saw such beautiful provision for Mary. And when Todd's thirteen birthday had arrived, Mary had been with her her years, and had grown to be a comely, happy-hearted young woman as good naturedly obstinate as Todd was wonderfully yielding.

On that morning, Mary arose two hours earlier than she was wont to do, and prepared a dainty breakfast and served it in a manner altogether incomprehensible to Todd, for more reasons than one. First, this was not sweeping day; second, it was not ironing day; third, Mary had insisted upon doing a totally unprecedented amount of cleaning on the day before. So Todd gently remonstrated, reminding Mary that two long women could not possibly have brought in all that dirt that she seemed to massine herself removing. But "Mary the Obdurate" that was the name she mentally thing Todd's gentle tongue had ever uttered to call her, and she would have been shocked at herself for even that mildness had her acquaintanceship with Webster's unabridged been less limited—Mary the Obdurate refused to hear reason, only palliated her obstinacy by planting on Todd's mouth a sounding kiss that, coming as it did from rosy lips colored with the fragrant breath of enthusiasm, had, mind, to mollify whatever feeling of wrath was kindling. But when Mary entered the sitting-room, where Todd sat contemplating a pillar for some bright-eyed favorite, and rearranged the snowy curtains for the second time, and kindled the fire over that was never known to be wary, and dusted her favorite chair, that had not a speck of dust anywhere on their shining surfaces, Todd suddenly awakened to the idea that something was going to happen, and lifting her eyes, that is now writing of Mary's face might help her to determine what that something was, she as suddenly discovered that Mary was arrayed in her daintiest afternoon dress. An afternoon dress at nine in the morning! That certainly meant something, so Todd began investigations mauchsicely by inquiring:

"Are you lookin' for company?"

"Nonsense! Can't a person be decent at home?"

"Why, yes; but I always noticed that you sidebeds so some for Jane Bates—she's such a powerful hand to notice things, and tell people how white our clothes are."

"And how dusty our mantels are. She may come to-day, was I hear! Do let me brush your hair; and won't you put on your drab suit?"

"My own Sunday clothes? Why Mary, What should I wear to meetin', if I put on my everyday wear?"

"Now! You call a thing new till it's worn out. You've had that suit going on six years. Do wear it for me, please me, and I'll make some fresh cake." Coaxing Mary to do anything was a will. Mary emphasized her persuasions with another sounding kiss. So Todd donned the same dark well-preserved garments, and all this day she had not once remembered that today was the thirtieth anniversary of her conscious existence. By and by she looked out and exclaimed:

"Of all things in the world! There is Jane Beebee, sure enough, and carrying as amazin big baskets. Mad to fetch her carpet rags to sew."

Other women came with baskets, and a genuine birthday surprise party, with small gifts and a great dinner, unfolded itself to the astonished Todd. There was no one in Kirkville who had been used to hour gifts and their dinners than the admirably supplied Todd Ashton, and perhaps that was the very reason why they were so stowed upon her; it is such a very human weakness to do as did the farmer who gave to him that had much and took from him that had little.

Mary, having been previously apprised of the village intention, determined to utilize the gathering for the furtherance of a scheme of her own—her own and Mike Yelling's. Everybody knew that Mary and Mike hoped to be married. To be sure, Mary had not told everybody, but she had gone Jane Beebee, which amounted to much the same. They were only waiting for the school of education, Mike had a team and wagon, but occasional jobs came where there was better wheat to be hauled from the station to the mill nor floor to be hauled from the mill to the station, and yet the house went on eating and occupying rented stalls just as if their income in hay and corn and shelter were supplied from an inexhaustible storehouse. Poor Mike fretted in a most absurd manner and even swore a little sometimes because his accumulations of rather great so slowly, houses were so dear, and rent was so high; and the long evenings when he sat with Mary were spent in trying to plan a way out of the present difficulties and the problem of their future. Todd, of course, expected to help them, but they were not aware of her lively interest in concerning them. Mike had at last fixed upon a scheme which seemed to him full of hope. They must induce Todd to spend a year or two in travel. They would be married in her absence, and when they had saved and kept house for her while she was gone. They had never seen the scenes that in a different case would go for rent and pay it toward a home of their own, mortgaging the house for the remainder and paying it as soon as they could possibly save enough money. This was their dream. But inducing Todd to "go a journeying" was no light undertaking. She seemed as strongly rooted to the spot she grew in as the elm in her dooryard, a magnificent tree which had in all probability stood still for a century. They were not even sure that death would take her away, but felt vague apprehensions that her spared would always move quietly about in shadowy corners of the dimly lighted house. They had only occasional transcendent Todd would be immensely benefited by travel; it is so easy to believe young people know best do the thing that self-interest makes as wish them to do. Todd's health was as free as it had once been; she needed change of climate, new sights and different faces to look at. She had plenty of money; why not go and see a tour—that was what they called it—to England or Italy, or somewhere, where did and greatly matter to the lovers so that they saved a year's rent. So Mary interested a few friends in her project, and got their tongues duly wagging on the day of the birthday party. Todd, dear, unsuspecting soul, was greatly perplexed over the sudden interest in her welfare manifested by her friends. She stole away from their well meant importunities once during the evening, and was gone a half hour, and the jolly, cheerful, focus-sated company did not miss her.

Where was she?

Locked in her own room, first to shut out herself before her mirror to observe whether her figure was in the least diminishing, then to gaze upon the reflection of her face and note whether its color was fading, then to shake her dress and discover in what she thoroughly tilled it. "For," she reasoned, "I must look bad or they would never be so anxious about my health. Life is so little, so empty to me without Oliver, I feel as if I could do without him, I care not how soon it is over and ended. No, I do not care to go in search of health; but maybe I could forget away from here, where every spot and stone and house-corner reminds me of the time we passed there, was so happy together, where everyone in the church makes me remember how I watched for his coming and thought of him instead of the sermon, or how I gazed back at him when I was on my knees and should have been praying. There's not a string on my guitar that he has not touched, nor a book on my shelves that he has not handled. I can never forget him here. Do I want to forget? I do not know, but I will go away for a while. I'll might hear from him first I could go more contentedly; if I could hear that he was dead I would be glad; letter that this long-suspended period. I held but one Oliver. She moved toward him with a faint cry of recognition, for it was indeed, Oliver stood quite still, appalled by what shall say what thought? Perhaps she only then realized that the handsome woman and her numerous children had been a great disappointment to Oliver. Perhaps he had hoped to find her old chair that stood near.

"What a d'l's d'l's one of ours," said the wife; but something in her husband's face made her go after water when he asked her.

A crowd gathered about, all anxious to do something, all filled with that quick gush of sympathy that makes us less ashamed of the human race. Her face grew more and more ashen, a faintly murmured name, "Oliver," only heard by the man who loves it, and the patient lips were silent forever.

"Had one of them turns with her lives," explained Mary to the distant relative who took charge of all Todd's belongings, sent Mike and Mary to shift for themselves, burned the old note and the necktie, wondering what in the world possessed the poor dear to take such a fancy to such trash, and gave the arithmetic to an unknown cousin who was ever fond of long division. Thus are the relics most sacred to us than the tombs of our departed ones treated by careless hands.—Chicago Ledger.

Average People.

Average people are the ballast of the world. Notwithstanding their usefulness, how few people are willing to be ranked as average! How many secretly feel that they are beyond the limits of that epithet, and that their acquaintances are just behind it! How we think that they have escaped the boundary line and are classed with the remarkable people! Average is a perpetual mirage of thought, which, to them, always appears just ahead of their place into most-heads of prominence. We look at them through this mirage and unhesitatingly we believe that they are above water-line; but the moment we come near enough to see some of their attributes is plainly visible. Insignificance is never greater than when it thinks it is just above the average. Endeavoring to avoid its limitations it strays farther into the shadowy land of it supposes is the necessary malady of growth. It hings its imagined heads high and hollowly, and it is sad to see that its perpetually suffering from an excess of excentric thought, of original deed, which, always coming, never appears. Some men and women are ever on an uneasy tiptoe for worldly and ambition; they are discontented with the restrictions of time and humanity; they speak with pathos of their unfulfilled aspirations, of their weary, large-eyed gaze at society, of the hollowness of life, of the solace of "interior views," of the comfort in keeping bright diaries and interchange of misty aspirations with deep natures searching for truth. They to be and to be more than their mental and physical limitations. The women want some better mission than housework; the man something more than clerkships. So many wishes, so many disappointed souls that are sure they can also succeed in the struggle for a profession, or for one of the higher avenues of employment. A failure is attributed to any other cause than to mistaken self-estimate. The desire for advancement, irrespective of personal capabilities, is the reason for the increasing ratios of restlessness, among so many persons.—Kate Gannett Wells.

Going to the Dogs.

Husband of the (domestic-tale)—It strikes me, my dear, that the new cook is not as good as the old one.

Fashionable Wife—No, her cooking is very bad. For the last day or two Mr. Elde has been complained of great distress, and I attribute it all to her having eaten improperly cooked food. I have been very anxious for the improvement of her health, and I think that they have escaped the boundary line and are classed with the remarkable people; indulge in a perpetual mirage of thought, which, to them, always appears just ahead of their place into most-heads of prominence. We look at them through this mirage and unhesitatingly we believe that they are above water-line; but the moment we come near enough to see some of their attributes is plainly visible. Insignificance is never greater than when it thinks it is just above the average. Endeavoring to avoid its limitations it strays farther into the shadowy land of it supposes is the necessary malady of growth. It hings its imagined heads high and hollowly, and it is sad to see that its perpetually suffering from an excess of excentric thought, of original deed, which, always coming, never appears. Some men and women are ever on an uneasy tiptoe for worldly and ambition; they are discontented with the restrictions of time and humanity; they speak with pathos of their unfulfilled aspirations, of their weary, large-eyed gaze at society, of the hollowness of life, of the solace of "interior views," of the comfort in keeping bright diaries and interchange of misty aspirations with deep natures searching for truth. They to be and to be more than their mental and physical limitations. The women want some better mission than housework; the man something more than clerkships. So many wishes, so many disappointed souls that are sure they can also succeed in the struggle for a profession, or for one of the higher avenues of employment. A failure is attributed to any other cause than to mistaken self-estimate. The desire for advancement, irrespective of personal capabilities, is the reason for the increasing ratios of restlessness, among so many persons.—Kate Gannett Wells.

Opening the Books and Getting Under Way.

The books have been opened in the various departments of the Government for a trifle over three months, to Democratic inspection—not very wide, it is true, but wide enough to reveal a considerable amount of bad management and rascality on the part of employes of Republican administrations. A large amount of crookedness has been unearthed in the Navy and Interior Departments, and much of it has been published by Secretary Blaine and the Republican counsel service. Some rascals have been turned out, some shipped out, and others have committed suicide. Secretary Lamar, in the Interior Department, has put an end to the enormous raids on public lands left in progress by his predecessor, and has surprised even his friends by the vigor and success with which he has filled a position requiring large administrative abilities. Attorney General Garland has made an efficient officer of the Justice Department, and has been able to effect something in securing, through subordinates, a most careful looking after the interest of the Government. In referring to Secretary Bayard, the Baltimore Sun says that he has been more fortunate than the rest of his colleagues in having been called upon by events in South and Central America and in Germany to declare some of the principles of his views upon several large questions of policy, and in seeing the ideas he has formulated as to the attitude the United States should assume in dealing with foreign Governments cordially accepted by the entire American public, without distinction of party. His foreign policy as regards the rights of American abroad is, in fact, approved even by his opponents as a return to "the broad, noble Democratic doctrine held by William L. Marcy and enforced under the administration of Franklin Pierce." As the New York World says, "Every American citizen ought to be proud of this change in our national policy," and the Charleston News and Courier, in common with all fairly conducted journals of the country, speaks in the same vein of enthusiastic commendation. Yet no member of the Cleveland Cabinet has been more studiously ignored and misrepresented by certain leading newspapers in New York and Brooklyn. Mr. Bayard, since he entered upon his duties, has been very quiet, very perpetual, very reticent, and yet he has made a great deal of noise, and the arithmetic to an unknown cousin who was ever fond of long division. Thus are the relics most sacred to us than the tombs of our departed ones treated by careless hands.—Chicago Ledger.

Average People.

Average people are the ballast of the world. Notwithstanding their usefulness, how few people are willing to be ranked as average! How many secretly feel that they are beyond the limits of that epithet, and that their acquaintances are just behind it! How we think that they have escaped the boundary line and are classed with the remarkable people; indulge in a perpetual mirage of thought, which, to them, always appears just ahead of their place into most-heads of prominence. We look at them through this mirage and unhesitatingly we believe that they are above water-line; but the moment we come near enough to see some of their attributes is plainly visible. Insignificance is never greater than when it thinks it is just above the average. Endeavoring to avoid its limitations it strays farther into the shadowy land of it supposes is the necessary malady of growth. It hings its imagined heads high and hollowly, and it is sad to see that its perpetually suffering from an excess of excentric thought, of original deed, which, always coming, never appears. Some men and women are ever on an uneasy tiptoe for worldly and ambition; they are discontented with the restrictions of time and humanity; they speak with pathos of their unfulfilled aspirations, of their weary, large-eyed gaze at society, of the hollowness of life, of the solace of "interior views," of the comfort in keeping bright diaries and interchange of misty aspirations with deep natures searching for truth. They to be and to be more than their mental and physical limitations. The women want some better mission than housework; the man something more than clerkships. So many wishes, so many disappointed souls that are sure they can also succeed in the struggle for a profession, or for one of the higher avenues of employment. A failure is attributed to any other cause than to mistaken self-estimate. The desire for advancement, irrespective of personal capabilities, is the reason for the increasing ratios of restlessness, among so many persons.—Kate Gannett Wells.

Cabinet Changes.

It is a somewhat notable fact that, with the exception of Franklin Pierce, no President has served out his term without an unchanged Cabinet.

Washington served eight years. He had three Secretaries of State, two Secretaries of the Treasury, three Secretaries of War, three Postmasters General, three Attorneys General.

John Adams served for four years. He had two Secretaries of State, two Secretaries of the Treasury, three Secretaries of War, two Secretaries of the Navy, and two Attorneys General.

Jefferson served eight years. He had two Secretaries of War, two Postmasters General, and four Attorneys General.

Madison served for eight years. He had two Secretaries of State, four Secretaries of the Treasury, four Secretaries of War, two Secretaries of the Navy, two Postmasters General, and three Attorneys General.

Monroe served eight years, with three Secretaries of the Navy, two Postmasters General.

John Quincy Adams served for four years. He had the other Cabinet officers.

Jackson served for eight years. He had four Secretaries of State, four Secretaries of War, two Secretaries of the Navy, two Postmasters General, and three Attorneys General.

Van Buren served for four years. He had two Secretaries of the Navy, two Postmasters General, and three Attorneys General.

Harrison died a month after his inauguration, March 4, 1841.

Tyler served for nearly four years as the constitutional successor of Harrison. He had four Secretaries of State, four Secretaries of the Treasury, three Secretaries of War, three Secretaries of the Navy, two Postmasters General, and three Attorneys General.

Polk served for years. He had two Secretaries of the Navy, and three Attorneys General.

Taylor died in sixteen months, with no changes.

Fillmore served the remainder of Taylor's term as his constitutional successor. He had two Secretaries of State, two Secretaries of the Navy, and two Postmasters General.

Pierce served for four years with an unchanged Cabinet throughout his term.

Buchanan served for four years. He had two Secretaries of State, three Secretaries of the Treasury, two Secretaries of War, three Postmasters General, and two Attorneys General.

Lincoln served for four years and a few weeks. He had three Secretaries of State, three Secretaries of War, two Secretaries of the Interior, two Postmasters General, and two Attorneys General.

Johnson served nearly four years as the constitutional successor of Lincoln. He had four Secretaries of War, two Secretaries of the Navy, two Postmasters General, and three Attorneys General.

Grant served for eight years. He had two Secretaries of State, four Secretaries of War, two Secretaries of the Navy, three Secretaries of the Interior, three Postmasters General, and five Attorneys General.

Garfield held office little more than six months, and made no changes. Arthur, as the constitutional successor of Garfield, served the remainder of the term. He had two Secretaries of State, four Secretaries of the Treasury, two Secretaries of the Navy, two Postmasters General, and two Attorneys General.

Hayes held office four years. He had two Secretaries of State, two Secretaries of the Navy, and two Postmasters

PINE LAKE IRON COMPANY

Ironton, Mich.,

Are Full in all kinds of General Merchandise.

I have purchased the Meat business of Armstrong & Co., and will continue at the old stand, with the freshest and best goods in the market.

T. E. CHAMBERLIN.

GARLAND STOVES AND RANGES — KEEP YOUR EYE ON THE Right Place

For Bargains in Hardware,

Iron, Cutlery, Tin ware, Stoves, Implements, Fixtures, Pumps, Grindstones, Wagons, Buggies, Carts, Wheelbarrows, Refrigerators, Doors, Sash.

PAINTS Oils, Varnishes, Putty, Glass, Fence wire, Farm bells, Carpenter's tools, Notions, Fishing tackle, Revolvers, Guns, Ammunition, Spoons, Forks, LAMPS, Baskets, Measures, Tubs, Wooden ware, Rope, Fisherman's Supplies, and Ship chandlery, Job and Tin work.

L. D. BARTHOLOMEW & CO.

Come and See our New and Handsome Stock of Stationery. Remember, we carry the largest stock of

Drugs and Patent Medicines

In Charlevoix county.

Every Article Warranted as Represented.

We Solicit a Share of your Favors.

O. B. Weed & Co., Druggists,

Opera Block.

HURRAH for GOOD TIMES

Everything Booming

AT E. M. CLARK'S

Where he has a Lively Trade in

Dry Goods, Groceries, Boots and Shoes, Clothing, &c.

When you get the blues, just call around and see with what dispatch everything is done, where Pork, Eggs, Butter, &c., is taken in exchange for Goods.

E. M. Clark

Charlevoix, Mich., Harbor and Summer Resorts.

The above is a geographically correct view (though combining but a small portion of the buildings) of Charlevoix, Mich., a village of over twelve hundred inhabitants, rapidly growing in favor and reputation as one of the most delightful summer resorts and safest harbors in northern Michigan. Several lines of steamers convenient here, connecting at all hours of the day with all surrounding towns, lading streams, pickle works, and other places of interest, health, and pleasure. Handsome hotel accounts are also offered the permanent or visitor sojourners in leaves his capital in manufacturing or enterprising where it will bring the best results. The resources of the county are being developed so as to bring the richest returns. For full other information regarding the village or surroundings, address

THE CHARLEVOIX JOURNAL

CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN.

THE JOURNAL is an eight page newspaper, devoted to the material growth and prosperity of Charlevoix county in general, and Charlevoix village in particular. Published weekly, 104 issues per year. Sample copies free.

CHAS. J. STRANG, Publisher.

Temperance Column.

Conducted by a Committee of the W. C. T. U.

Officers of the Society.

President—Mrs. C. V. Cook.
First Vice President—Mrs. L. E. Allen.
Second Vice President—Mrs. J. T. Hidings.
Third Vice President—Mrs. C. F. Van Auken.
Corresponding Secretary—Mrs. D. C. Loveday.
Recording Secretary—Mrs. B. Suffield.
Treasurer—Mrs. C. J. Strang.

POOR DRUNKARD.

"Poor drunkard!" Twas all that the baby said,
As she looked with pitying eye
On the blasted form and filthy rags
Of the poor wretch reeling by.

"Poor drunkard!" the accents floated down
To the ear of the fallen man,
And his heart was bowed with a load of shame,
As tears from his bleared eyes ran.

"Poor drunkard!" can that be the name I bear—
Once pure as that innocent child,
Once filled with the pride of a noble heart
By the tempter unbridled?"

"Poor drunkard!" how little that child can tell
The details that her voice had uttered
In the guilty soul of that fallen man
By her sad and pitying word.

"Poor drunkard!" The crowd jeered on as he passed,
With never a thought for his woe.
Little cared they though his brain was mad,
As their different ways they go.

"Poor drunkard!" a slave to his own weak will;
With his own hand forging the chain
That binds him fast with links of fire
That can never be quenched again.

"Poor drunkard!" he cares no more for his home,
Nor friends, nor his children dear,
For the demon drink asserts his might,
And the end is drawing near.

Beer.

Against the still widely prevalent notion that fermented liquors are comparatively harmless, and are useful in driving out whiskey and other of the stronger liquors, temperance workers are sternly setting their faces. The "devil's kindling-wood," as the milder alcoholic beverages have been well called, are found to be poor material with which to put out the fires of intemperance. Says Judge Pitman, of the Massachusetts Supreme Court, in a recently published letter: "An experience of over twenty years in the administration of the criminal law, shows to me also that * * * beer * * * is as potent an incitement to crime as the more overwhelming stimulants." The last known act of a recent murderer and suicide before the double crime was committed, was to send out for beer (that "harmless" lovenge?), by which he secured enough frenzied strength to drive two sinful souls into eternity. A dissipated foreigner, of New York City, who, a short time since, after pawning every honest hold article he possessed tried to sell his daughter for a thousand dollars, was only a "beer drinker." These are wise words of an Episcopal rector and temperance worker of New York, spoken in opposition to the cheap licenses for beer shops, which has of late shown such unfortunate power in that state: "I would make beer-saloons the most expensive of all, for it is there men start to drink. It would be better for poor men and women if they could find no liquor-shop cheap enough for them."—[S. S. Times.

Lay "The fact that nearly two-thirds of all deaths from diarrhoeal diseases among children during the year occur in the months of July and August is made the leading theme in Bayuson for June, and considerable space is devoted to a comprehensive article on "Summer Complaint," with a special view to prevention. There are few subjects connected with the care of children which are of such vital importance as this, and there can be no doubt that the startling mortality of infants could be materially reduced if parents would allow themselves the full benefit of such literature as this. Of other interesting articles contained in this number of Bayuson may be mentioned "Photographing the Baby," "Creeping Aprons," "A Remedy for Sleeplessness," "Baby's First Attire," "Eating Between Meals," "Orphan Children," etc., etc. ($1.50 a year. 18 Spruce Street, New York.

Got to Stand it!

Mr. A. bought his wife one bottle of Parmelee's Blood Purifier, and now he thinks he has got himself into business, for she derived so much benefit from it that she must try another bottle or two and be permanently cured. There is no Purifier known so efficient in its workings as this. Only $1.00 per bottle.

Sold by Dr. G. W. Crouter, Charlevoix, and Crouter & Harris, Ironton.

Cure for Piles.

Piles are frequently preceded by a sense of weight in the back, loins and lower part of the abdomen, causing the patient to suppose he has some affection of the kidneys or neighboring organs. Anon there is a discharge of blood, purulent matter, mucus, membrane of the stomach, etc. A moisture, like perspiration, producing a very disagreeable itching, after getting warm in a company attendant. Blind, Bleeding and Itching Piles are the terms used to the qualification of Dr. Bosanko's Pile Remedy, which acts directly upon the parts affected, absorbing the tumors, allaying the intense itching, and effecting a permanent cure. Price 50 cents. Sold by Geo. W. Crouter. 152

J. MILO EATON,

DEALER IN

Real Estate

OF ALL KINDS.

Houses and Lots for Sale

IN THE MOST DESIRABLE PARTS OF CHARLEVOIX.

WILD LANDS AND IMPROVED FARMS

FOR SALE IN ALL PARTS OF THE COUNTY.

Abstracts of Title Furnished on Short Notice.

OFFICE ON BRIDGE STREET. ESTABLISHED IN 1875.

Charlevoix and East Jordan.

Steamer GAZELLE—Capt. Robert O'Neil.

Morning—Leave Charlevoix 6.30; arrive East Jordan 8.30, leave East Jordan 9.00; arrive Charlevoix 11.00.

Afternoon—Leave East Jordan 2.30; Charlevoix 5.00; arrive East Jordan 5.30; leave East Jordan 6.00; arrive Charlevoix 8.00. Stopping at intermediate points.

Harbor Springs, Petoskey, Charlevoix and East Jordan.

STEAMER THOMAS PRIANT.

CAPT. B. VANDENBERG.

Morning—Leave Harbor Springs 7.00; Petoskey 7.30; Charlevoix 9.30; arrive East Jordan 11.30.

Afternoon—Leave East Jordan 2.30; Charlevoix 4.00; Petoskey 5.30; arrive Harbor Springs 6.00.

Close connections at Petoskey with G. R. & I. R. R. trains, north and south.

Hannah, Lay & Co.'s Pleasure Steamers,

SEASON OF 1885.

CITY OF GRAND RAPIDS.

CAPT. O. E. WILCOXON.

Going North every morning—Leave Traverse City 7.30; Northport 8.30; Norwood 11.00; Charlevoix 12.00; Petoskey 1.00; arrive at Harbor Springs 1.45.

Going South every afternoon—Leave Harbor Springs 2.00; Petoskey 2.30; Charlevoix 4.00; Norwood 5.00; Northport 6.30; arrive at Traverse City 9.00.

T. S. FAXTON,

CAPT. A. G. ALDERTON.

Going South every morning—Leave Harbor Springs 7.00; Petoskey 8.00; Charlevoix 9.45; Torch Lake 12.00; arrive Traverse City 2.30.

Going North every afternoon—Leave Traverse City 2.00; Torch Lake 5.45; Charlevoix 7.45; Petoskey 9.15; arrive Harbor Springs 9.45.

GOOD CONNECTIONS will be made at Traverse City and Petoskey with both day and night trains on the G. R. & I. R. R. (from Mondays morning trains only from the north) and the Chicago & West Michigan Ry. (from Chicago only) and daily, and on Wednesdays between both C. S. Faxton and City of Grand Rapids going south, and the City of Traverse for Chicago.

Grand Rapids & Indiana R. R.

Time Table in effect October, 1884.

GOING NORTH.

STATIONS.	No. 1	No. 3	No. 5	No. 7
Cincinnati, lv		7 00am	11 00pm
Richmond	2 30pm	10 20	1 50
Indianapolis	4 45	12 15	4 05
Kalamazoo	8 11	3 12	7 37
Fort Wayne, ar	6 40	5 25pm	1 00am
Fort Wayne, lv		5 35	1 05	8 00am
Kendallville		5 57	1 32	8 24
Ligonier		6 07	1 42	8 34
Vanlueing		6 22	1 57	11 50
Goshen, ar		6 32	2 07	12 00pm
Goshen, lv		6 40	2 15	12 05
Old Rapids, ar		8 45	4 20	2 55
Old Rapids, lv	2 00am	9 00	4 25	3 00
Petoskey & Mackinaw	7 50	9 45	10 45	5 20
Bond Clifs, ar	3 40	10 15	11 15	6 00
Bay Shore	3 45	11 28	1 05	7 52
Bay Shore, lv	10 20		1 10	8 30
Bond Clifs, lv			1 15
Cadillac, ar	11 25	1 00am	2 10	10 05
Cadillac, lv	12	1 20	2 15
Walton		2 31	3 45
Traverse City, ar			4 15
Traverse City, lv		8 00	4 45
Mancelona		3 46	5 40
Bellaire		4 44	6 45
Bellaire, ar		5 30	7 20
Harbor Springs		6 00	8 00
Mackinaw City		7 00am	9 10

GOING SOUTH.

STATIONS.	No. 2	No. 4	No. 6	No. 8
Mackinaw City			6 00am	5 30pm
Harbor Springs			6 50	6 40
Bellaire, lv			7 20	7 20pm
Bellaire Falls			8 10	8 02
Mancelona			8 22	8 05
Kalkaska			8 41	8 41
Traverse City, lv			8 45
Walton			9 00	4 25pm
Cadillac, ar			11 35	5 40
Cadillac, lv		3 50pm	11 35	6 00
Bond Clifs, ar		4 20	1 00pm	7 00
Bond Clifs, lv			1 05
Bay Shore, lv		5 02	1 34	7 56
Bay Shore, ar		5 07	1 39	8 00
Old Rapids, lv	7 25	7 25	3 40	10 05
Old Rapids, ar	7 30	7 40	4 05	10 25
Petoskey & Mackinaw	2 00am	11 45	6 30	1 40pm
Kalamazoo, ar	8 55		6 30	1 30pm
Kalamazoo, lv	9 05		6 32	2 00
Vicksburg	9 28		7 22	2 32
Schoolcraft	9 38		7 32	2 42
Goshen, ar	10 20		8 15	3 45
Fort Wayne, ar	12 40pm		10 40	5 55
Fort Wayne, lv	1 10	5 55am	10 50pm
Ridgeville	3 11	7 56	2 33
Winchester	3 27	8 12	2 53
Richmond, ar	4 26	9 15	4 05
Cincinnati, ar	7 05pm	1 30pm	7 30am

C. L. LOCKWOOD, G. P. Agent.
GEO. HUNTINGTON, Gen'l Supt., Chicago, Ill.

CASH FOR

FAT CATTLE,

Sheep and Hogs.

Having contracted to furnish Fresh Meats to the Charlevoix markets, this season, I will pay the highest market price for fat Cattle, Sheep, and Hogs.

A. J. McLEOD.

Charlevoix, May 30, 1885.

PIMPLES.

I will mail (Free) the recipe for a simple vegetable remedy that will remove the Pimples, Blotches, Black Heads, Flesh Worms, and all skin eruptions on the face, leaving the skin soft, clear, smooth and healthy, and the cheapest and only remedy that will do the work. Address, including a 3c stamp, Mrs. V. Davis, 6 Co., 47 Hinsdale St., N. Y.

THE HOWE MACHINE CO

AT THE FRONT.

OUR LATEST SUCCESS.

An Entirely New — High Arm.

Easy Running Sewing Machine

27 YEAR

The Most Room under the Arm.
The Best Self-Setting Needle.
The Largest Bobbin.
The Easiest Shuttle to Thread.
The Most Perfect Tension.
The Most Reliable Feed.
The Best Perfect Take-up.
The Best Bobbin Winder.

SIMPLE, STRONG, DURABLE & HANDSOME

Runs Rapidly, Very Light, Very Quiet and without Vibration.

Before you purchase, please examine the NEW HOWE at the office of

Mrs. M. Litney, Agt., Charlevoix

ERRORS OF YOUTH

and MANHOOD. One who has suffered all the evils arising from the deadly and desperate habit of self abuse, and is anxious to relieve his fellow sufferers and who has discovered a reliable and tried remedy, will send free a sample prescription containing full and speedy cure of loss of memory, decay, aversion to society, impaired brain power, nervous debility, pimples on the face, premature decay of the genital organs, every decay of manhood, and impotence and all the long train of evils arising from imprudence and indiscretions of youth, affording an easy and efficacious means of self cure, perhaps physicians fail. Response to this may save. Address in confidence, J. W. FINNEY, No. 6 Canal, New York.

Established Fifty-five Years.

RAVEN & BACON

— NOW —

RAVEN PIANOS,

33 East 16th Street, New York City

BUY FROM THE MANUFACTURER AND SAVE 40 PER CENT.

These Pianos are made from the best materials in the best manner, and hold in high esteem wherever known. Their pleasant, sweet tones, elegant styles, and their durability, have been well tested during the Fifty Years, Every one guaranteed for six years and five days trial allowed. Nothing to be returned if not satisfactory. Illustrated Catalogue containing valuable information, sent free.

No. 1, Upright or Square, $550, cash $500
No. 2, " " 500, " 450
No. 3, " " 250, " 225

ALL 7 1-3 OCTAVES.

Do You Know

THAT

LORILLARD'S CLIMAX PLUG TOBACCO

still Has Top Tag, Blue and Yellow Stripe, Navy Clippings, and Black, Brown, and Yellow Shells are the best, and manufactured only by P. Lorillard.

TIMBER LAND

FOR SALE, for Cash or Time.

The N. W. ¼ of S. E. ¼, Sec. 15, T. 33 N., R. 5 W., Charlevoix County, NEAR HONSTIS

No Incumbrance. Title Perfect

Address A. T. STEBBINS,
Box 83, Dearborn, Mich.

A PRESENT.

Our readers for 12 weeks to come will stand to pay for mailing and wrapping, and send free a sample package of Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup. Health Regulator, Liver Pills and Nerve Building Pills. Good, sold by druggists, worth $1.00. Address Eclectic Publication, Chicago, Ill.

TO CONSUMPTIVES.

The advertiser having been permanently cured of that dread disease, consumption, by a simple remedy, is anxious to make known to his fellow sufferers the means of cure. Send a stamped envelope to cover the expense, and he will send, with the directions for preparing and using the same, which they will find a sure cure for Coughs, Colds, Consumption, Asthma, Bronchitis, Catarrh, Throat Affections, and Lung Complaints. Address, Rev. E. A. WILSON, Brooklyn, Williamsburgh, N. Y.

MORTGAGE NOTES kept on hand printed to order on short notice at this office.

THE CHARLEVOIX JOURNAL.

NUMBER 103. CHARLEVOIX, MICH.: THURSDAY, JULY 2, 1885. $1.50 PER YEAR.

THE JOURNAL

Published every Thursday,

BY CHAS. J. STRANG.

Office on Bridge Street,

CHARLEVOIX, - - MICHIGAN

ENTERED AT THE POSTOFFICE AT CHARLEVOIX, MICH., AS SECOND-CLASS MATTER.

BUSINESS DIRECTORY.

ATTORNEYS.

ARTHUR E. MARTIN, Attorney at Law, Boyne City, Mich. Collections promptly attended to.

CRUICKSHANK & GRIER, Attorneys at Law and Proctors in Admiralty. Office in Hutzler's Block, Detroit, Mich.

A. H. CRUICKSHANK. C. J. GRIER.

HART & CALL, Attorneys at Law, Real Estate and Loan Agents. Lake st., east of postoffice, Petoskey, Mich.

FRED W. MAYNE, Attorney and Counselor, Real Estate business promptly attended to. MONEY TO LOAN.

H. A. JENNEY, Attorney and Counselor at Law. Office on Lake St., Boyne, Mich.

J. L. NEWBERRY, Attorney at Law and Judge of Probate of Emmet Co., Petoskey, Mich.

J. MILO EATON, Attorney at Law, Charlevoix, Mich.

NORTON & KEAT, Attorneys at Law, Boyne City and East Jordan. W. A. Norton, Boyne City. J. A. Keat, East Jordan.

OSCAR F. WISNER, Attorney at Law and United States Circuit Court Commissioner, Western District. East Jordan, Mich.

W. N. MOORE, Attorney and Solicitor, East Jordan. Admiralty a Specialty.

Z. S. GARRUTT, Attorney at Law, Boyne City, Mich.

CHURCHES.

FIRST CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH.—Sunday services at 10:30 a. m. and 7:00 p. m. Sunday school at 12:00 m. Prayer meeting every Thursday evening at 7:00 o'clock. C. F. VAN AUKEN, pastor.

METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH.—Sunday services at 10:30 a. m. and 7:00 p. m. Sunday school at 12:00 m. Prayer and praise meeting Thursday evening at 7:00 o'clock. J. T. HIDINGS, pastor.

FIRE DEPARTMENT.

CHARLEVOIX HOUGH AND READY FIRE COMPANY meet every Saturday night, at the town hall. B. F. BIRRS, Secretary.

HOMEOPATHIC PHARMACY.

B. SUFFIELD, Homeopathic Medicines, Books, Domestic Cases, etc., Charlevoix, Mich.

PHYSICIANS.

J. A. CARLSTEN, M. D. Office at the Ingleside.

J. LEWIS, M. D., Physician and Surgeon. Office in the Lewis block, Charlevoix, Mich.

W. M. PERTON, M. D., Surgeon and Homeopathic Physician, Charlevoix, Mich.

REAL ESTATE AGENTS.

HORACE S. HARRIS, Notary Public, Real Estate, Loan, and Insurance Agt., Charlevoix.

SECRET SOCIETIES.

G. A. R.—Baxter Post No. 116, meets second Monday in each month, at Odd Fellows' hall.

I. O. O. F.—Charlevoix Lodge No. 307, meets every Friday evening, at Odd Fellows hall.

I. O. O. F.—Round Lake Lodge No. 393, meets every Wednesday evening, in their hall.

O. U. T. M.—Resort Tent, No. 136, meets second Thursday every month, at Odd Fellows' hall.

I. O. L.—True Blues No. 157, meet Saturday on or before full moon in Odd Fellows' hall.

MASONIC—Charlevoix Lodge No. 322, meets Tuesday on or before full moon. Hall over postoffice.

WELL DIGGING.

FRANK DURGA, Charlevoix, Mich., will attend promptly to all work in the line of well digging, cistern building, pump repairing, well driving, cellar building, and similar work. 48

The Charlevoix Improvement Association.

OFFICERS.

President—Byron Sea.
First Vice President—W. A. Smith.
Second Vice President—Robert Miller.
Recording Secretary—Chas. J. Strang.
Financial Secretary—B. Suffield.
Treasurer—Albert E. Mason.

STANDING COMMITTEES.

Executive Committee—J. Milo Eaton, A. D. Gidley, Geo. Gaskill.
Corresponding Committee—H. Lee Iddings, W. A. Brown, and C. V. Cook.
Attention Committee—F. W. Mayne, L. D. Bartholomew, M. J. Stockman, B. Cooper, Geo. W. Crouter, R. W. Miller, S. M. Bee, W. C. Newman, E. M. Clark, H. Bordas.

OBJECTS.

To aid and encourage the establishment of manufacturing enterprises in Charlevoix, and to promote the material growth and prosperity of Charlevoix and vicinity.

REGULAR MEETINGS.

Of Charlevoix Village that on the Second Monday of each month, at 7:30 p. m.

CORRESPONDENCE SOLICITED.

W. M. WAGAR. G. C. WAGAR.

Wagar Bros.

Wholesale and Retail dealers in Tobacco, Cigars And Smokers' Articles. Also a full line of Confectionery, Fruits, And Temperance Drinks. Hand door west of Bridge Street House, Charlevoix, Mich.

RUPTURE CURED by our Astringent Lotion. Sample sent free. Send stamp for book. Drs. Pierce & Co., 661 6th Ave., New York. 5

MORTGAGE NOTES kept on hand printed to order on short notice at this office.

A FEW FACTS CONCERNING

Dr. CROUTER'S

BAKING POWDER

Or Quick Yeast.

If you use it you will never have yellow biscuit.
If you use it your biscuit will never taste of Soda.
It contains no alum, and is absolutely free from anything of a deleterious nature.
It is made from PURE GRAPE CREAM OF TARTAR and NOT from the Common Cream of Tartar of the shops.
It is always fresh and will never disappoint you.

Directions for using furnished with every package.

Price 40 Cents per Pound.

Manufactured and Sold only by

Dr. GEO. W. CROUTER,

Chemist and Druggist,

BRIDGE STREET, CHARLEVOIX, MICH.

Come and See our Immense Stock of

BOOTS AND SHOES.

FOX & MILLER.

BRIDGE STREET HOUSE,

ROBERT MILLER, Proprietor.

Charlevoix, Michigan.

This house is centrally located, and its accommodations excellent. The table supplied with the best the market affords. Only sample room in Charlevoix.

COMMERCIAL HOUSE

D. B. JERRUE, Proprietor.

East Jordan, Michigan.

Entirely rebuilt and refurnished. First-class Sample Room for agents. Good Stable in Connection with the House. 23

FARMERS' HOTEL,

W. S. JOHNSON, Proprietor.

Antrim Street, near Village Hall, Charlevoix.

Location convenient for mechanics working in any of the factories on Round Lake, and for farmers coming to town. Feed stable for teams will be provided.

FOUNTAIN CITY HOUSE,

RICHARD COOPER, Proprietor.

Charlevoix, - Michigan.

Finest location in town, giving good view of lake and resorts. Express office, and hotel guide here. Sample room for commercial travelers adjoining hotel.

JORDAN RIVER HOUSE,

THATCHER & BLAIR, Proprietors.

East Jordan, Michigan.

Those having business at the county seat will find this the most convenient place to stop, and the proprietors will spare no pains to give the best satisfaction.

PINE LAKE HOUSE,

A. J. HILL, Proprietor.

Boyne City, Michigan.

This house is finely located on the Boyne river, at the head of Pine Lake. It is large and commodious, and has been added to the extent demanded by its patronage.

PIONEER HOUSE,

A. B. NOYES, Proprietor.

Ironton, Michigan.

Every convenience for the traveling public.

Well-Digging.

JOHN SHRIER

Charlevoix, Mich.

Is prepared to do all work in the line of well-digging, cistern building, pump repairing, well driving, and similar work.

OLD NEWSPAPERS FOR SALE

Base Ball Tournament.

Our boys have issued the following announcement of prizes and committees for the tournament to be held here on the Fourth.

First prize—A gold medal, $50 in money, and the championship of the Grand Traverse region.

Second prize—A silver medal and $25 in money.

Third prize—A rosewood bat and ball, and $10 in money.

Clubs from all the counties bordering on Grand Traverse and Little Traverse bays are expected to compete.

This tournament will probably bring to Charlevoix the largest crowd ever assembled in Charlevoix county, as everybody can afford to pass one day in witnessing the most interesting game known to the American people.

The reputation for good playing won by the clubs in the counties included in the tournament will insure first-class games.

COMMITTEES.

Committee on games:—W. A. Norton, Boyne City, A. L. Denel, Harbor Springs; Dan. Jerrue, East Jordan; W. M. Preston, Charlevoix; H. Lee Iddings, Charlevoix.

Committee on prizes:—W. S. Johnson, Sutton's Bay; Wm. Flannigan, Atwood; G. V. Nash, Norwood; G. W. Crouter, Charlevoix; A. D. Gruickshank, Charlevoix.

Committee of arrangements:—Amos Fox, G. W. Miller and J. Reed Emery, of Charlevoix.

The captains of all clubs present will constitute the committees on arrangement of future games for the medals.

Excursion rates on all boats.

The Wheat Crop.

Reports from the correspondents of The Detroit Free Press in all parts of the state on the condition of the wheat crop show that Michigan will be blessed with an abundant harvest. The yield in most parts of the state promises to be fully up to last year's good crop and in many sections to surpass it. The adverse reports come from Van Buren, Clinton, Washtenaw and Monroe counties, where the Hessian fly is doing serious damage. In Van Buren county from twenty to twenty five per cent. seems to have been killed by this insect, and about the same amount in Clinton county, while in Washtenaw and Monroe there will be only two thirds of a crop. In a few other localities very slight damage has been done. The harvest is two weeks late, and therefore it is not quite safe to predict positively that in quantity and quality the crop of the state will average better than last year.

Boyne Falls.

William Nelson was again visited by fiendish flames on Thursday the 19th, which consumed his granary containing 175 pounds of wool; between 20 and 30 bushels of wheat and barley. A hog-pen standing close by containing 11 hogs which weighed over 300 pounds apiece, was also consumed. Long before the fire died down the charred bodies of the hogs could be seen through the leaping flames that cooked them rapidly into not very savory dishes. It required the combined efforts of our town's people to save a large barn which stood in close proximity. The fire originated from a fire built in the yard, over which was boiling a large kettle, and when we think of the strong wind blowing and the yard strewn with straw and sticks, we wonder that a building was left on the place. The loss is estimated at about $800.—Record.

The following is the full text of a law passed at the recent legislature. It is of general interest:

Section 1. In any suits brought for the publication of a libel in any newspaper in this state the plaintiff shall recover only actual damages if it shall appear that the publication was made in good faith and did not involve a criminal charge, and in falsity was due to mistake or misapprehension of the facts, and that in the next regular issue of said newspaper after such mistake or misapprehension was brought to the knowledge of the publisher or publishers, whether before or after suit brought, a correction was published in as conspicuous a manner and place in said newspaper as was the article sued on as libelous.

Sec. 2. In any action or suit for the publication of a libel in any newspaper in this state, the plaintiff shall not be entitled to recover, in addition to actual damages, any greater sum than five thousand dollars.

Sec. 3. The words "actual damages" in the foregoing section shall be construed to include all damages the plaintiff may show he has suffered in respect to his property, business, trade, profession or occupation, and no other damages.

The Blue and Gray.

In spite of the fact that Charlevoix has been "showed to death," this entertainment drew good houses, and was in every way successful, netting the post about $20, for which the committee in charge may congratulate themselves. Maj. Burton was, of course the central figure, but home talent did their parts well. Mrs. Hines as Maud St. Leon, and F. W. Craine as Harry carried their parts especially well; and the work of Elmer Mayne as Teddy O'Connor and Lyman Price as Uncle Ned, the old darkey, frequently "brought down the house." Other members did equally well, but in less important characters. The tableaux were equal to the best we ever saw.

Maj. Burton and wife made many friends here, and if they ever come again, they may be sure of a hearty welcome.

Burgess.

Miss Bessie Long of Evangeline is visiting her Aunt, Mrs. Edna Kane.

Charles Hamlin who has been quite sick since his return from the west, is better.

School closed in district No. 4 on account of sickness among the scholars.

Dr. Lewis is now visiting this town rather oftener than common on account of so much sickness.

Mrs. Richard Cooper of Fountain City house called on friends in Hayes last Sunday.

Chattel mortgages are being foreclosed about now. Too much money in circulation.

East Jordan.

Good fishing in the intermediate lakes now.

The I. O. O. F. elected officers Thursday evening.

The stave and heading factory of H. B. Severance is nearly enclosed.

Miss Flora Wilber closed a very successful term of school in the Isaman district this week.

There will be no ball game here the Fourth and our boys will probably participate in the tournament at Charlevoix.

Webster Bros. have erected a wind mill in the rear of their jewelry store.

The Corn Crop.

The reports to the Detroit Free Press from its special correspondents show that corn is very backward, and that its chances lie all in the future. The cold weather has retarded its growth and kept it from maturing, and the cut-worms took a great deal of the early planting. But corn looks healthy and a few real warm days will bring it out all right. The acreage has been reduced, but only slightly, by farmers plowing up their fields instead of replanting.

A Mistake.

Irontonites, come to the front, and say that the gay and festive editors of the Enterprise made a mistake about the panther.

We heard uncarthly sounds, but supposed the "business management" of the Enterprise was in town canvassing for "Subs." The shot gun part of it is all straight. ,

Wild Cherry and Tar.

Every body knows the virtues of Wild Cherry as a relief and cure for any affections of the Throat, Lungs, combined with these ingredients are a very large proportion of Tar in the composition of Dr. Bosanko's Cough and Lung Syrup making it just the article you should always have in the house, for Coughs, Colds, Croup, and Bronchitis. Price 50 cents and $1.00. Samples free. Sold by G. W. Crouter. 3

THE JOURNAL

BY GEO. I. STEANS.

CHARLESTON, ILLINOIS.

NEWS CONDENSED.

Concise Record of the Week.

EASTERN.

[illegible]

Ten Thousand Dollars Premium [illegible]

Apple trees are being killed by [illegible]

Dollar Trust syndicate. News has [illegible]

Ex-Congressman Jacob Smith, of Clinton, [illegible]

Ex-Comptroller Green B. Raum [illegible]

Ex-Senator Thomas C. Platt [illegible]

Ex-President Arthur [illegible]

Three were 205 deaths in Chicago last week, average 29, for the corresponding week of last year.

An ordinance appropriating $190,000, to be used in improving the sanitary condition of the city, was passed in Brooklyn.

Heavy frosts in the lower peninsula of Michigan, injured considerable fruit in that and other growing crops.

Among the appointments of personal property in Chicago for 1885 are Marshall Field & Co., $100,000; J. V. Farwell & Co., $100,000; Potter Palmer, $100,000; Schoenhofen Brewing Co., $100,000; Chicago Gas Light and Coke Co., $200,000, and the Mercantile Trust and Deposit Co., $100,000.

The Plymouth spotted fever has broken out in Rockville, Montgomery, Ohio. Six deaths have occurred, and there is much excitement.

A bill was filed in the County Court at Chicago, June 24, on behalf of Sidney Smith as his creditor for the Mayoralty. The complainant, by its member, Gustave Schwab, charges that when Carter H. Harrison was elected in October Harrison was the grounds his Sidney Smith received about 1,000 majority, and that divers persons, who were not qualified electors, and who were not entitled to vote in the number of 800 and upward, did vote for Carter H. Harrison for Mayor in the various election districts of the First, Second, Fifth, Sixth, Seventh, Eighth, Ninth, Tenth, Seventeenth, and Eighteenth Wards, and that those illegal votes were counted by the election officers of the respective precincts for Harrison, and were included in the returns so canvassed and turned over to the aggregate vote credited to said Harrison. They were also included in the legal vote credited to Harrison had been purged from the returns, the canvass would have shown the majority of Sidney Smith to be either of Mayor of the city.

Up to date this year 3,336 Hippy Revival have been arrested in Chicago the previous aggregating 3,495.

Report that discovery of gold near Huntington, Oregon, has excited much interest on the Pacific coast.

By a runaway accident at Elgin, Ill., a daughter of John Gunn, 6 Bond was killed, her wife perhaps fatally injured, and the father Jackson Bond badly injured.

Alexander Wright, Jr., late confidential bookkeeper of A. T. Stewart & Co., furniture dealers of Chicago, for his defense, is charged with embezzling $1,000 of his employers money. He is convicted to 10 months.

The bodies of Robert H. Phillips (a crooked letter) and his wife were found in a $700 of a baloonists. Phillips, of Indianapolis, with their dreams out, the act having been perpetrated by the man in a fit of [illegible]

[illegible] of Chicago, [illegible] Lincoln, Neb., [illegible] Kansas City, Mo., [illegible] Kansas City, Mo., [illegible] Kansas City, Mo

CHARLEVOIX, MICH., JULY 9, 1885.

ADDITIONAL LOCAL.

Messrs. Thatcher & Blair have rented the Jordan River House, Elmira, and will be prepared to accommodate all who may stop with them. These gentlemen know perfectly what is demanded by experienced travelling gamers, sportsmen, and all who have business at the country seat, and will undertake to satisfy the demand. It promises to be a full season of the business of this country, and can accommodate visitors cheaply. The proprietors will be found gentlemanly hosts.

The tug Jim Morse, having in tow the schooner F. C. Leighton, cleared up and sailed with the remaining cargo of the Leighton problem, yesterday for Lake Michigan, to render assistance to the schooner J. G. Masten, ashore on the north side of Grand Traverse Island. The tug Mackinaw Point is towed down with a crew, which is transferred to the Morse, and the Morse and Bird will take charge of the wrecking job. The Master's cargo of the crew will be taken off by the Leighton.—[Free Press.

Did you ever notice how much trouble some people take to have a little pleasure? If people worked as hard to earn a dollar as they do to get an excursion half a dozen times a year and spend ten, they would find themselves looking off both financially and physically at the end of the year. People will get up before daylight in the morning, tear around all day and all the night or half that, get thirty and forty spend more money than they can afford to come home in the middle of the night alone in a fever and a cold sweat, and when they get home they can afford to come home in the middle of the night alone in a fever and a cold sweat, and when they get home they can afford to sober down and think what they did. Pretty soon, when the novelty of the excursion and battle of sale are taken from the last hours dissipation, people will get up before daylight in the morning, tear around all day and all the night or half that, get thirty and forty spend more money than they can afford to come home in the middle of the night alone in a fever and a cold sweat, and when they get home they can afford to sober down and think what they did. A party at a string concert, or a dance, or a lawn party, and an anniversary of the Sun, and the circus will take the shorter safety match the place, never from the sight of the boys. Boyne City Herald.

Shipments.

The following are the clearances from the port of Charlevoix as reported at for the week ending Wednesday evening:

Schooner Seth Nettleton, 250 cords wood, for Lake Port, Chicago, by Hitchcock.
Schooner Lizzie Mason, 300 cords wood, for Milwaukee, and 50 bbls. pickled fish, for Chicago, by Hitchcock.
Schooner Surprise, 300 cords wood, E. M. Clark, Milwaukee.
Schooner Conrad, 300 cedar posts, J. C. Gaskill, Chicago.
Schooner J. C. Power, 300 cords wood, J. C. Gaskill, Chicago.
Schooner Amazon, 150,000 feet hardwood lumber, Conway and Porter, to Chicago.
Schooner Montmorency, Lachman, Upright, Emrey & Co., to Manistee.
Schooner H. M. Nelson, 300 cedar posts, 17 cords wood, J. Lamb, Kenosha.
Schooner Active, 300 cords wood, 25 cords bark, Johnson, to Milwaukee.
Schooner Charlotte Rush, 300 cords wood, 100 cords bark, W. H. Gardner, to Chicago.
Schooner Jessie Phillips, 150,000 hardwood lumber, Pine Lake Lumber Co., to Chicago.
Schooner Lapwing, 250 cords wood, P. Thompson, to Milwaukee.
Schooner Alma Brownson, 150 cords wood, J. C. Gaskill, to Chicago.

Marvelous Increase of Appetite.

The New York Sun usually finds, on inquiry, after the theatre or opera is over, that his boy has a big midnight appetite. This physical condition is so much the result of the lapsing hours since her last regular meal, so that she then did not permit herself to eat at the usual hour. Knowing very well the discomfort of sitting for a long evening in a too-tight additionally tightened by a hearty dinner, she finds rather an effort to a waste appetite. In the nearest restaurant to the play house, however, she commences more than a physical outrage, and allows her to feed. How is this? Observe that on having a seat at the table she dismisses her cloak and remarks, and she will keep on her cloak. Pretty soon, when the effect of the oysters and bottle of ale not taken before her has hardly disappeared, she requires a change, and, if the surface indications of trembling in the muscles of her waist, the slight, but it is exceedingly real, sense of distress and an aqui comes to a little checked the mentioning complaint, even the odious, contemplation of the food. Must she eat this? A peep at a string of amusements, and the boy in her mind, and an anniversary of the Sun, and the circus will take the shorter safety match the place, never from the sight of the boys. Boyne City Herald.

THREE MARVELOUS SHOTS.

A Series of Short Stories of the Sort to Make the Trigger Finger Twitch.

[illegible]

Shipments.

[illegible]

Marvelous Increase of Appetite.

[illegible]

Cure for Piles.

[illegible]

Cottage to Rent.

[illegible]

Notice to Contractors.

[illegible]

WOOD WANTED.

[illegible]

MRS. R. TOULOUSE,
Manufacturer and Dealer in
ICE CREAM
Fruits, Confectionery,
SODA WATER LEMONADE, ZIMMER ALE, ROOT BEER, ETC.
CHARLEVOIX, MICH.

Picture Frames
Made to Order
A FINE ASSORTMENT OF MOULDINGS
To Select From.
O. I. WHEAT,
Bridge Street, Charlevoix, Mich.

Summer Boarders.
Mrs. M. P. Burns
(Late Mrs. Bishop) now ready to receive expected boarders. LOCATION UNSURPASSED. Fronting the lake and commanding a view of the Lake and Islands. Terms reasonable. Corner Bridge Street and the Park.

JAMES HEMMINGS,
Cornice & Bracket Addition,
Charlevoix.

HOUSE PAINTER,
Calciminer,
Paper Hanger,
And Decorator.
FINE AND HARDWOOD FINISHING. GOOD WORK.

MISS L. SPAULDING,
DEALER IN
MILLINERY
AND
Fancy Goods.
Dressmaking Done in the Latest Styles.
Special attention given to
CHILDREN'S GARMENTS.
We would call the attention of the Ladies to our STAMPING DEPARTMENT.
We endeavor to do our work well and at Reasonable Prices. Come and see for yourself.

C. R. BELLINGER
Has a large stock of
New Jewelry and Silverware
(SOLID AND PLATED)
Pins, Charms, and Chains,
In all the latest styles.
Watches, Clocks, and Optical Goods.
New Style of Monogram Pin just received.
Sewing Machine Oil kept in stock.

Notice of Attachment.

STATE OF MICHIGAN, The Circuit Court for the County of Charlevoix.

N. E. Warren,
vs.
[illegible]

Notice is hereby given that on the second day of July, 1885, a writ of attachment was issued by the Circuit Court for the county of Charlevoix, in favor of the plaintiff against the property of the defendant, Hiram W. Page, residing and being at the village of Charlevoix, under the firm name and style of Upright, Emrey & Co., which writ, against the lands, tenements, goods and chattels, was served upon Norman K. Winston, garnishee, and that by other indictment, National banks, State Savings Banks, or other State Banks, offer an opportunity to depositors, stockholders and creditors, and that in

OVER THE ORCHARD FENCE.

BY HARRY J. SHELMAN.

It seems to me I can't do my best in the field to-day,
I can't see, positively, using the scythe my best the new-mown hay.
As I thought I'd just sit here amongst the orchard trees,
To see which branch the grasshopper watch the hottest breeze.

Well, no! don't say I'm lazy; but I somehow wanted to sit,
To think over everything seemed sorter lonesome for once;
For many times I go around where there is hardly a kinder lounger after what I know I ought to do.

I'd scratch my name in mother's sweet apple-blossom
The Frenchman's name to know and pick the purest bud of vanilla;
It's one I suppose, perhaps, can stand upright in the lake;
The frail and delicate are made too beautiful to last.

Why, little bride in the orchard, among the other sweet flowers,
I had a girl young upon now just starts' out to form;
An' there the other-that room come tearin' across the farm,
It torpid up, while to the rest it didn't do any harm.

An' so you've been away a spell? Well, how is things in town?
Day one I'd getting done ain't but. To take it right down,
I'd've been at least. I'm glad to see you's in good order.
No! Things don't go just right with me; I wouldn't mention any why.

Oh, yes! The crop is lookin' fair. I've no right My corn runs well, an' I have got a party stand to pay;
My hay is almost made, an'—Well, yes! Betsy? Betsy's well.
She never is as hearty as she ought to be, you know.

The boys? They're in the meadow let down by Hackett mill;
As fine a piece of grass ground as I've got upon the farm.
It's spear lotse, when the grass grows up an' gets Time then is time to cut it down. It's no wish all the rest.

Of things in nature, I suppose. The harvest time, you'd say, an' I can't see a brand just why the Lord knows best, he does things to suit.
He own wise time.
An' yet it's a sinner oftentimes to finger out the cause.

Mildaby? Yes, she's doin' well; she's helpin' mother now.
About the house. A lively gal to take, or milk a cow;
An' well I'm not half the man I were ten years ago.
But the years will tell upon the best of us, you know.

Anthony? Yes, our Lizzie were the best of them all;
Our baby, only seventeen, so sweet an' fair, an' tall.
Just like a lily; always good, yet cheerful, bright, gay.
We had her in the church yard, every year, yesterday.

That's why I tell I won't no use in the field to-day;
I'm lame, couldn't swing the scythe nor toss the new-mown hay;
An' so I thought I'd jest sit here among the trees and rest.
These things come harder when we're old; but then the Lord knows best.

MRS. HACKEMUP ORDERS A JERSEY.

BY NEMO.

All things taken into consideration, matrimony had not proved to be the Elysian state which Mrs. Hackemup's virgin fancy had fondly painted, when, as the youthful (?) and unsophisticated maiden, Juliana Keziah Skiggs she had harkened to the honeyed eloquence of the accomplished Dr. Peter Columbus Hackemup. Various disagreeables between the Doctor as a lover and the Doctor as a husband had jarred terribly upon her delicately sensitive organization, while the unfilial conduct of her children, Reliance and Harry, drove the iron more deeply into her broken soul. Although in her bearing toward them she was a personification, to use her own language, of "Patience on a money maker pitying with grief," still their existing relations were at least a sort of annoyance, truthfully, while, for the most part, Belinda sneakily carried a defiantly chip on her straight young shoulders for Mrs. Hackemup's express delectation, indicating by her manner a decided will to me, lamarce which that lady dared not defy.

It was not strange, therefore, that Mrs. Hackemup, although greatly chagrined at Belinda's blindness in eloping with John Heron, the high-minded and industrious, but comparatively poor mechanic, when Greenberry Gordyn's plethoric money bags and mummified self were at her disposal, was nevertheless relieved to be rid of her step-daughter at whatever cost.

Dr. Hackemup, whose imagination had revelled in visions of Greenberry's pish, overcome by the blighting disappointment, yielded himself for a time to despair. It was then that Harry Hilberts a "thorn in the flesh" in the ingenuity with which he devised schemes for tormenting his step-mother, with the natural chivalry (?) of the average American boy, came to the rescue. Constituting himself her escort and protector on allocasions, his delicate attentions to Mrs. Hackemup were touching in the extreme, manifesting a consideration and thoughtfulness as gratifying as unexpected to the recipient.

Roller-skating being all the rage in Hawkinsville, he accompanied her to the rink, and, not satisfied with this, insisted upon teaching her to skate. If Mrs. Hackemup so terrs firm was not to the fashions eve a thing of beauty, on roller-skates she was fearful and wonderful to behold.

Blissfully unconscious that the smiles which always greeted her appearance were excited by angel hat admiration, she persevered, undaunted by falls and bruises, returning home each evening with a glowing account of her success to Dr. Hackemup. That dejected gentleman interposed no objection to this amusement. The rink was a fruitful source of revenue to him, and whenever the subject was mentioned kaleidoscopic visions of crushed skulls and broken limbs, which he hoped would alleviate upon to repair, floated with delightful certainty upon his fancy, rendering him, in consequence, most amiably abstracted.

"Come nearer to this fire," said he, blandly, to Mrs. Hackemup and Harry, as they entered his office upon returning from the rink one cold night in April. "Have you not noticed, that as you approach the caloric radiator, you become much warmer than if you keep at a distance from it? Did you observe," to his wife "that, after falling with force, you arose unscathed, Mr. Brinsed? Do I prognose your sensations correctly?"

"Yes," assented Juliana Keziah, somewhat doubtfully; "although my mouth wasn't as much affected as my elbows. There was something in the air which made the chaps among me dreadfully. I never was worried that way before. No matter how much my face was exposed, I never was pestered with chaps."

"I should opine not, indeed, madam," roared the disgusted Doctor, his transient amiability quickly disappearing before the lucid utterances of his guide into spouse.

The majority of the patrons of the rink having been reduced to the condition of helpless cripples, the manager wisely concluded to depart for fresh fields and pastures new, announcing a grand race on account, for the last of the closing evening.

Mrs. Hackemup and Harry were delighted at the prospect, but carefully concealed from the Doctor their intention of appearing on the rink.

Harry, it is true, at first felt some misgivings about this, and advised his step-mother to go simply as a spectator.

"Well," snapped she, with scorn, "you might at least suggest something more opprobrious than a decayed vegetarian, the 'White Maid of Avenue,' for instance."

"Which avenue," said Harry, innocently; "the Fourth or the Fifth?"

"I shall recommend a thorough course of standard irretion for you, Harry," replied the lady, severely. "If you were at all well read, you would know that I refer to the heroine of Scott's beautiful poem, 'The Dermon.' But," animatedly, "as I have always been an advocate for women's righteousness, I shall open by proclaim my sentiments by appearing in the Homeraug contrisse. Don't skun so, Harry. I suppose you know what I refer to—short dress, Turkey pants, and a stove-pipe hat. He will be the sneekup without being outer, and," passively, "I think it will become me. As one of my old sparks used to remark, 'It's not your face alone, Miss Juliana Keziah, which detracts, but your figgur.'"

Absorbed in the preparation of her costume, the intervening days sped rapidly by.

"I will be Moloch of all I answer," remarked Mrs. Hackemup, the night of the race, as, arrayed in the Doomera costume, she triumphantly surveyed her reflection in the mirror. "Ye gods and little fishes," what a sight was before her partial eyes!

Turning away, with a lingering glance, she enveloped her charms in a gossamer, and creeping cautiously pastdoors Hackemup's office-door, joined Harry, who was impatiently awaiting her in the yard.

"Harry," cried he, "or we will get there too late to start in the race."

No time was lost in reaching the rink or in donning the skates. The race was about to begin.

Mrs. Hackemup and Harry harrisbly took their places.

"Well, sweet the music! Off went the skaters, Juliana Keziah, clasping Harry's hand, among the foremost, but always ready to assist her fraternity

PINE LAKE IRON COMPANY

Ironton, Mich.,

Are Full in all kinds of General Merchandise.

I have purchased the Meat business of Armstrong & Co., and will continue at the old stand, with the freshest and best goods in the market.

T. E. CHAMBERLIN.

GARLAND STOVES & RANGES — KEEP YOUR — ON THE Right Place

For Bargains in Hardware,

Iron, Cutlery, Tin ware, Stoves, Implements, Fixtures, Pumps, Grindstones, Wagons, Buggies, Carts, Wheelbarrows, Refrigerators, Doors, Sash, PAINTS Oils, Varnishes, Putty, Glass, Fence wire, Farm bells, Carpenter's tools, Notions, Fishing tackle, Revolvers, Guns, Ammunition, Spoons, Forks, LAMPS, Baskets, Measures, Tubs, Wooden ware, Rope, Fishermen's Supplies, and Ship chandlery, Job and Tin work.

L. D. BARTHOLOMEW & CO.

Come and See our New and Handsome Stock of Stationery. Remember, we carry the largest stock of

Drugs and Patent Medicines

In Charlevoix county.

Every Article Warranted as Represented.

We Solicit a Share of your Favors

O. B. Weed & Co., Druggists,

Opera Block.

HURRAH for GOOD TIMES

Everything Booming

AT E. M. CLARK'S

Where he has a Lively Trade in

Dry Goods, Groceries, Boots and Shoes, Clothing, &c.

When you get the blues, just call around and see with what dispatch everything is done, where Pork, Eggs, Butter, &c., is taken in exchange for Goods.

E. M. Clark

Charlevoix, Mich., Harbor and Summer Resorts.

The above is a geographically correct view (though containing but a small portion of the buildings) of Charlevoix, Mich., a village of over twelve hundred inhabitants, rapidly growing in favor and reputation as one of the most delightful Summer Resorts and safest harbors in northern Michigan. Several lines of steamers concentrate here, connecting at all hours of the day with all surrounding towns, fishing streams, picnic parks, and other places of interest, health, and pleasure. Unequaled inducements are also offered the permanent settler who desires to invest his capital in manufacturing enterprises where it will bring the best results. The resources of the county are being developed so as to bring the richest returns. For any other information regarding the village or surroundings, address

THE CHARLEVOIX JOURNAL,

CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN.

The JOURNAL is an eight-page newspaper, devoted to the material growth and prosperity of Charlevoix county in general, and Charlevoix village in particular. Published weekly at $1.50 per year. Sample copies free.

CHAS. J. STRANG, Publisher.

Temperance Column.

Conducted by a Committee of the W. C. T. U.

Officers of the Society.

President—Mrs. C. V. Cook.
First Vice President—Mrs. L. E. Allen.
Second Vice President—Mrs. Capt. J. Hallings.
Third Vice President—Mrs. J. Vail Atkins.
Corresponding Secretary—Mrs. H. M. Arnold.
Recording Secretary—Mrs. E. Sutfin.
Treasurer—Mrs. C. J. Strang.

SATAN'S EMISSARY.

BY A VICTIM.

Behind a tattered portal screened,
There skulks the image of a man,
Whose calling but befits a fiend,
Polluting every soul he can.

He garnishes his weird retreat,
With pictured walls and sanded floor,
Enchants the air with music sweet,
While flowers perfume his treacherous door.

Fresh, evergreens adorn his gate,
The youth's unwary eye to win,
And lure allure him to a fate
Which dooms his life to woe and sin.

He marks that noble, gifted boy,
Designed to fill an honored place,
And lays his devilish decoy,
To capture, ruin and disgrace.

Astride a keg he paints a king,
Who holds aloft the tempting bowl,
But ne'er portrays the viper's sting
Which smites the unsuspecting soul.

How long shall he, thus tempting, draw
The unwary to his fatal den,
And be protected by the law
In installing youths and men?

Will justice hold as guiltless, while
We thus connive at laws that sell
Indulgences to monsters vile
To vend the "beverage of hell,"

And so disgrace the christian name,
And consent to wrath the Lord of life,
By tamely cringing neath the shame
That legalizes crime and strife?

Alas, alas! our faltering hope,
Alternate, yields and clings again,
When we survey the frightful scope
Through which the rum fiend holds his reign.

The Coming Triumph.

The temperance reform is sure to triumph. In making this statement, I do not overlook the terrible character of the evil to be overthrown. It is an evil supported by a vast money interest and by the most terrible of depraved appetites and is in the hands of the most utterly unscrupulous of men, who will resort to the meanest and vilest of measures to sustain their cause, yet shall they be overthrown and temperance shall triumph. Their weapons are falsehood, slander, bribery, the blindfoldness and midnight torch and their name is Legion and yet shall they be overthrown. God, angels, all good men and women arrayed against them and the battle is fully joined and will wax hotter until victory shall be proclaimed on the side of temperance.

It has taken more than 50 years to settle principles and get an army organized. The first principal trouble has been men have been striving to control, regulate and hold the traffic with in prescribed limits, rather than to destroy it. Very few thought of prohibition in the beginning. A very few saw the folly of licensing and attempting to regulate the practice of downright wickedness. In 1837 the writer of this wrote a series of articles, which were printed in the Auburn (N. Y.) Banner, in favor of the entire suppression of the traffic in intoxicating drinks. In 1842 he preached a sermon in the city of Lowell, Mass, on Legal Prohibition, which was published by request. But those and all like efforts can hardly be said to have produced a ripple. The temperance work went on in frantic efforts to suppress intemperance by making the traffic lawful, and by regulating it. There have been a few consistent, hard working prohibitionists for years, but the Red Ribbon host, which were then in their strength and glory, declared generally against it, and insisted upon the sufficiency of moral suasion.

But the Red Ribbon dispensation had its work to perform, and it performed it. It aroused public attention and made so much noise, that it alarmed the guilty, cowardly lawmen and they in their madness rushed into politics, and undertook to run the government as a means of self protection, and boldly declared that the party would vote for no candidate for office, who was opposed to the liquor traffic. This broke the spell, the eyes of honest temperance men were opened and they saw how vain it is to fight the liquor party, while they are allowed to hold and wield the political wand. Prohibition has been proclaimed, and the liquor party is now on the defensive, and its advocates are defending their ditch. When we consider the eternal justice of legal prohibition and note its harmony with both reason and revelation, and remember that it is involved in what God has promised to do for this world, we cannot doubt its final triumph. God is now hastening to fulfil his promise of the universal spread of the gospel, and in connection with the promise, it is said: "They shall not hurt, nor destoy in all my holy mountain." There will then be no venders of intoxicating drinks, for they hurt and destroy wherever they are found. Let temperance men take courage, and press the battle in the name of God, and victory will soon perch upon our banner.

Let venders hear God's high command,
Nor dare Jehovah's law to blink;
"Woe," he proclaims with lifted hand,
"To him who gives his neighbor drink."

We Are Anxious

That every young lady should know what a delicate and harmless beautifier is to be found in Hamilton's Oriental Balm. It is absolutely harmless, and it makes the complexion so soft and brilliant, so surely removes all tan and freckles, that one needs only to give it a trial to be convinced of its merits. Only 50 cents per bottle.

Sold by Dr. G. W. Crouter, Charlevoix, and Crouter & Harris, Ironton.

Hard Times.

While money is close, wages and prices low, everybody should be out down in every household, without the usual wood for Mothers. Send 50 cents to Dr. Bonsack's Congress Spring for a bottle of Dr. Bonsack's Congress Cough Syrup. Stops a Cough instantly, relieves Consumption, cures Croup and pain in the Chest in one night. It is just the remedy for hard times. Price 25c. and $1.00. Samples free. Sold by Geo. W. Crouter.

Charlevoix and East Jordan.

Steamer GAZELLE—Capt. Robert O'Neil.

Morning—Leave Charlevoix 8.30, arrive East Jordan 9.30, leave East Jordan 9.00, arrive Charlevoix 11.00. Afternoon—Leave Charlevoix 2.30, arrive East Jordan 4.00, leave East Jordan 4.30, arrive Charlevoix 6.00. Stopping at intermediate points.

Harbor Springs, Petoskey, Charlevoix and East Jordan.

STEAMER THOMAS FRIANT.

CAPT. R. VANDERBURG.

Morning—Leave Harbor Springs 7.00, Petoskey 8.00, Charlevoix 9.30, arrive East Jordan 11.30. Afternoon—Leave East Jordan 1.30, Charlevoix 4.00, Petoskey 5.30, arrive Harbor Springs 6.00.

Close connections at Petoskey with C. & R. I. R. R. trains, north and south.

Hannah, Lay & Co.'s Pleasure Steamers,

SEASON OF 1885.

CITY OF GRAND RAPIDS.

CAPT. O. E. WILLIAMS.

Going North every morning—Leave Traverse City 7.00, Northport 8.00, Norwood 11.00, Charlevoix 12.00, Petoskey 1.00, arrive at Harbor Springs 2.00.

Going South every afternoon—Leave Harbor Springs 2.00, Petoskey 2.30, Charlevoix 4.00, Norwood 5.00, Northport 6.30, arrive at Traverse City 9.00.

T. S. FAXON,

CAPT. A. G. ALDRICH.

Going South every morning—Leave Harbor Springs at 7.00, Petoskey 8.00, Charlevoix 9.45, Northport 11.30, arrive Traverse City 2.30.

Going North every afternoon—Leave Traverse City 9.00, Northport 10.30, Charlevoix 1.45, Petoskey 3.15, arrive Harbor Springs 4.45.

GOOD CONNECTIONS will be made at Traverse City with the Steamer Maud, with daily and tri-weekly trains of the T., A. & E. R. R.; also on Monday mornings between Traverse City and Leland, connecting with the CITY OF GRAND RAPIDS for north, and on Wednesday between Leland and L. S. & T. R. R. for the CITY OF GRAND RAPIDS for south, and the CITY OF TRAVERSE for Chicago.

Money to Loan

On sums of $500 and upwards, at reasonable rates of interest, on approved real estate securities.

H. C. Miley,

4-6-tf Boyne City.

CASH FOR

FAT CATTLE,

Sheep and Hogs.

Having contracted to furnish Fresh Meats to the Charlevoix markets, this season, I will pay the highest market price for fat Cattle, Sheep, and Hogs.

A. J. McLEOD.

Charlevoix, May 20, 1885.

J. MILO EATON,

DEALER IN

Real Estate

OF ALL KINDS.

Houses and Lots for Sale

IN THE MOST DESIRABLE PARTS OF CHARLEVOIX.

WILD LANDS AND IMPROVED FARMS

FOR SALE IN ALL PARTS OF THE COUNTY.

Abstracts of Title Furnished on Short Notice.

OFFICE ON BRIDGE STREET. ESTABLISHED IN 1875.

THE HOWE MACHINE CO.

AT THE FRONT.

OUR LATEST SUCCESS.

An Entirely New — High Arm.

Easy Running Sewing Machine

IT HAS

The Most Room under the Arm.
The Best Self-Setting Needle.
The Largest Bobbin.
The Easiest Shuttle to Thread.
The Most Perfect Tension.
The Most Reliable Feed.
The Best Perfect Take-up.
The Best Bobbin Winder.

IT IS

SIMPLE, STRONG, DURABLE & HANDSOME

Runs Rapidly, Very Light, Very Still and without Vibration.

Before you purchase, please examine the NEW HOWE at the office of

Mrs. M. Litney, Agt., Charlevoix

ERRORS OF YOUTH

and MANHOOD. One who has suffered all the horrors arising from the deadly and destructive habit of self abuse, and is anxious to make known the means by which he was cured, a relentless and truly manly self cure, will send free a simple prescription for the speedy and sure cure of loss of memory, impotency, nocturnal emissions, lost manhood, general debility, involuntary and painful urinary complaints, weakness of the genito organs, early decay, premature old age, impotence and all the long train of evils consequent upon indiscretion and indulgence of youth, including the sad and ghastly results of self cure, pimples, blotches, etc., on the face, and premature decay. Address in confidence, G. W. FLEMING, No. 41 Cedar Street, New York.

Established Fifty-five Years.

RAVEN & BACON,

22 East 16th Street, New York City.

RAVEN PIANOS,

BUY FROM THE MANUFACTURER AND SAVE 40 PER CENT.

These Pianos are made from the best material, warranted seven years, and being in every respect superior to many pianos sold at from $100 to $150 more than our price, we feel confident that after a trial of a year, if they prove not as represented, they may be returned at our expense, and the purchaser will receive back the full price paid for the instrument. Pianos of other makers taken in exchange. Call at our place and see for yourselves. Catalogue free. Mention this paper.

No. 1, Upright or Square,	$350,	worth	$600
No. 2, "	300,	"	500
No. 3, "	250,	"	400

ALL 7 1-3 OCTAVES.

A PRESENT

Our readers for its costs in postage stamps to pay for mailing and wrapping, and inclosing two 2c. stamps, will receive free a valuable French Parlor Enterprise of all our Presidents in full color, suitable for framing, given the best selling article in the world. Address Elder Pub. Co., Chicago, Ill.

Do You Know

THAT

LORILLARD'S CLIMAX PLUG TOBACCO

with Red Tin Tag; Rose Leaf Fine Cut Chewing; Snuffs, Cigarettes, and Black, Brown, and Yellow Snuffs are the best and cheapest, quality considered.

TO CONSUMPTIVES.

The advertiser having been permanently cured of the dread disease, Consumption, by a simple remedy, is anxious to make known to his fellow sufferers the secret of cure. To all who desire it, he will send a copy of the prescription used, (free) with the directions for preparing and using the same which they will find a sure Cure for Coughs, Colds, Consumption, Asthma, Bronchitis, &c. Parties wishing the Prescription will please address, Rev. W. A. Wilson, 164 Penn Ave., Williamsburg, N. Y.

ERRORS OF YOUTH.

A GENTLEMAN who suffered for years from Nervous Debility, Premature Decay, and all the effects of youthful indiscretion, will for the sake of suffering humanity, send free to all who need it, the receipt and direction for making the simple remedy by which he was cured. Address, parties wishing to profit by the advertisement, respectfully as he by advertising in this paper, JOHN B. ODGEN, 42 Cedar St., New York.

THE CHARLEVOIX JOURNAL.

NUMBER 164. CHARLEVOIX, MICH.: THURSDAY, JULY 9, 1885.—TEN PAGES. $1.50 PER YEAR.

THE JOURNAL

Published every Thursday,

BY CHAS. J. STRANG.

Office on Bridge Street,

CHARLEVOIX, - - MICHIGAN

ENTERED AT THE POST-OFFICE AT CHARLEVOIX, MICH., AS SECOND-CLASS MATTER.

BUSINESS DIRECTORY.

ATTORNEYS.

ARTHUR E. MARTIN, Attorney at Law, Boyne City, Mich., collections promptly attended to.

GEO. E. SHANK & SHERIFF, Attorneys at Law and Solicitors in Chancery. Office on Bridge St., Charlevoix, Mich.

C. A. ARTHUR, Attorney at Law, Real Estate and Insurance Agent, Lake St., east of postoffice, Petoskey, Mich.

FRED W. MAYNE, Attorney and Counselor, Real Estate Business promptly attended to. MONEY TO LOAN.

C. A. HIBBARD, Attorney and Counselor at Law. Office on Lake St., Boyne City.

E. C. NEWBERRY, Attorney at Law and Judge of Probate of Emmet Co., Petoskey, Mich.

MILO EATON, Attorney at Law, Charlevoix, Mich.

NELSON & KEAT, Attorneys at Law, Boyne City and East Jordan. W. A. Nelson, Boyne City. A. Keat, East Jordan.

OSCAR F. WINSLOW, Attorney at Law and Solicitor in Patent Cases. Unsuccessful cases a specialty. Office in Lemmon's Block, East Jordan, Mich.

W. A. MOORE, Attorney and Counselor, East Jordan. Authority a specialty.

A. J. SMITH, Attorney at Law, Boyne City, Mich.

CHURCHES.

FIRST CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH.—Sunday services at 10.30 a. m. and 7.00 p. m. Sunday school at 12 m. Prayer meeting every Thursday evening at 7.00 o'clock. C. F. VAN SCOY, pastor.

METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH.—Sunday services at 10.30 a. m. and 7.00 p. m. Sunday school at close of morning service. Prayer meeting every Thursday evening at 7. J. T. TOMKINS, pastor.

FIRE DEPARTMENT.

CHARLEVOIX HOOK AND READY FIRE COMPANY meets every Saturday evening at the hook and ladder house. E. F. BISSEL, foreman.

HOMEOPATHIC PHARMACY.

SCHUFELDT Homeopathic Medicines, Books, Domestic Cases, etc., Charlevoix, Mich.

PHYSICIANS.

A. S. CARLSTEN, M. D., Office at the Ingleside.

J. LEWIS, M. D., Physician and Surgeon. Office in the Lewis block, Charlevoix, Mich.

W. H. PETTIBONE, M. D., Surgeon and Homeopathic Physician, Charlevoix, Mich.

REAL ESTATE AGENTS.

HORACE S. HARSHA, Notary Public, Real Estate, Loan, and Insurance Agt., Charlevoix.

SECRET SOCIETIES.

G. A. R.—Baxter Post No. 119, meets second and fourth Saturdays in each month, at Odd Fellows' hall.

I. O. O. F.—Charlevoix Lodge No. 309, meets every Friday evening, at Odd Fellows' hall.

I. O. O. F.—Round Lake Lodge No. 295, meets every Wednesday evening, in their hall.

K. O. T. M.—Record Tent, No. 198, meets second and fourth Saturday evenings, at Odd Fellows' hall.

L. O. T. M.—Pine Tree, No. 132, meets Saturday on or before full moon in Odd Fellows' hall.

I. O. G. T.—Charlevoix Lodge No. 448, meets every Tuesday on or before full moon. Hall over Crouter's.

WELL DIGGING.

FRANK DUBOIS, Charlevoix, Mich., will attend promptly to all work in the line of well digging, such as digging, curbing, repairing, well driving, cellar building, and similar work. 45

The Charlevoix Improvement Association.

OFFICERS.

President—Hiram Pease.
First Vice President—W. A. Smith.
Second Vice President—Emery Miller.
Recording Secretary—Geo. J. Strang.
Financial Secretary—H. Suffrid.
Treasurer—Albert E. Mason.

STANDING COMMITTEES.

Executive Committee—J. Milo Eaton, A. D. Cook, Geo. Jerome.

Finance Committee—H. Lee Hillings, W. A. Brown, and Geo. Jerome.

Membership Committee—F. W. Mayne, L. D. Bartholomew, M. J. Strickland, E. Cooper, Geo. W. Crouter, Geo. W. Vail, S. S. Rose, W. V. Newman, J. M. Clark, H. Bergin.

OBJECTS.

To aid and encourage the establishment of manufacturing enterprises, which will give the most substantial aid to the material growth and prosperity of Charlevoix county.

REGULAR MEETINGS.

At Opera Hall, Charlevoix, on the Second Monday of each month, at 7.30 p. m.

CORRESPONDENCE SOLICITED.

W. R. WAGAR, G. C. WAGAR.

Wagar Bros.

Wholesale and Retail dealers in Tobacco, Cigars, Confectionery, Fruits, and Temperance Drinks. East side of Bridge Street House, Charlevoix, Mich.

RUPTURE CURED by our Antiseptic Lotion, Salve and Supporter. Send stamp for book Mayr & Co., 501 5th Ave., New York.

MORTGAGE NOTES kept on hand, printed to order on short notice at this office.

A FEW FACTS CONCERNING Dr. CROUTER'S BAKING POWDER Or Quick Yeast.

If you use it you will never have yellow biscuit.
If you use it your biscuit will never taste of soda.
It contains no alum, and is absolutely free from anything of a deleterious nature.
It is made from PURE GRAPE CREAM OF TARTAR and NOT from the Common Cream of Tartar of the shops.
It is always fresh and will never disappoint you.
Directions for using furnished with every package.

Price 40 Cents per Pound.

Manufactured and Sold only by

Dr. GEO. W. CROUTER,

Chemist and Druggist,

BRIDGE STREET, CHARLEVOIX, MICH.

Come and See our Immense Stock of

BOOTS AND SHOES.

FOX & MILLER.

BRIDGE STREET HOUSE,

ROBERT MILLER, Proprietor.

Charlevoix, Michigan.

This house is centrally located, and its accommodations excellent. The table supplied with the best the market affords. Only waiting-room to the depot.

COMMERCIAL HOUSE

D. B. JERRUE, Proprietor,

East Jordan, Michigan

Entirely rebuilt and refurnished. First-class Sample Rooms for agents. Good Stable in Connection with our House. 29-tf

FARMERS' HOTEL,

W. S. JOHNSON, Proprietor.

Antrim Street, near Village Hall, Charlevoix.

Location convenient for mechanics working in any of the factories on Round Lake, and to farmers coming to town. Feed stable for teams will be provided.

FOUNTAIN CITY HOUSE,

RICHARD COOVER, Proprietor.

Charlevoix, - Michigan.

Finest location in town, giving good view of lake and resorts. Express office, and boat quarters for Petoskey and Elk Rapids Stages. Sample rooms for commercial travelers adjoining office.

JORDAN RIVER HOUSE,

THAYNOR & BLAIR, Proprietors.

East Jordan, - Michigan.

These having business at the county seat will find this the most convenient place to stop, and the proprietors will do all in their power to give the best accommodations. 13-PDR SIMCOTHS.

PINE LAKE HOUSE,

A. J. HALL, Proprietor.

Boyne City, Michigan.

This house is finely located on the River river, at the head of Pine Lake. It is large and well furnished, and is well adapted to the accommodation of the traveling public.

PIONEER HOUSE,

A. B. NOYES, Proprietor.

Ironton, - Michigan.

Every convenience for the traveling public.

Well-Digging.

JOHN SHRIER

Charlevoix, Mich.,

Is prepared to do all work in the line of well-digging, such as digging, curbing, repairing, well driving, and similar work.

OLD NEWSPAPERS FOR SALE

Notice is directed in THE FAIR to big drives. Two-inch black Lace—at 5c.; two-thread regular-made hose 25c.; a superb dress suit 50c.; children's gloves (only a few) 10c.; ladies' percal long-wrist gloves 30c.; glassware and tinware 25 lower. Drive in fruit dishes at 20c.

Now is the time your horses and cattle need attention. To prevent disease and tone up the system you will find Parmelee's Condition Powders unequalled. Full pounds 35 cts. Sold by Dr. G. W. Crouter, Charlevoix, and Crouter & Harris, Ironton. 29-tf

Remember This.

Hamilton's Cerman Bitters are the best bitters made. They promote sleep and allay nervousness. They tone up and strengthen the system, without exciting the brain as do most other stimulants. They soothe to rest the jarring nerves, and develop a vigorous and joyful system. They are prepared from the purest materials and are the best medicines you can use for restoring health and strength. Try them. 50 cents per bottle.

Sold by Dr. G. W. Crouter, Charlevoix, and Crouter & Harris, Ironton.

Nature Unassisted.

The system, if given an opportunity, but very few persons find time to give nature a chance and so the blood which is the great drain for carrying away impurities, becomes so clogged with disease that unless some help is given it, the person will be afflicted by blood poisoning and suffer with pimples, boils, carbuncles, eruptions, scrofula, &c., and often die without help. Save yourself from all this suffering and loss of time by using Parmelee's Blood Purifier which prevents all diseases in the system. Large bottles $1.00.

Sold by Dr. G. W. Crouter, Charlevoix, and Crouter & Harris, Ironton.

The Household.

Dyspepsia, Indigestion and Headache seem to take the place of the three graces in many households. Dr. Bull's Sarsaparilla will drive all this away. It begins to take liberary prizes when he was only fifteen. He had a mind laden with figures, images, striking resemblances and with all the raw material out of which real poetry is manufactured, that his writings took the shape of verse as naturally as the pine tree takes the form of a pyramid or a Gothic spire. Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup was not a mode of declaring love to some country girl, nor was it a form of address to the first robin of springtime, but rather was it the vehicle

The Defective Nail.

I looked at a carpenter smiting, one day,
Some weatherboards on in a workmanlike way,
And I noticed the claws of the hammer he had To extract, at the moment before he had
And, drawing it out, threw it up with a jerk,
Took another instead and went on with his work.

"What's that for?" I asked him. "Have nails
That have grown so cheap
That you toss them away as too worthless to
"No," he answered, "it beat in the driving,
And so,
Lest it make a bad place, to the ground it may
"But while we're able," he said, with a
"For we can't pull it out, once we hammer it
In."

When the nail had been followed by one that was good,
I noticed he left it a dent in the wood—
The mark had been made by the force of the blow
That the strong force exerted the best nail to draw;
And there the depression, in eyesight quite plain
The twice painted over will doubtless remain.

So marvelous indeed, certainly still
Have been to thinking, as this blows will,
How habits, like nails, be they wrong ones or right,
Can be drawn from their places when hammered
in tight,
And, though drawn ere they sink to the head,
By their drawing, some traces on body and mind.

When a young man seeks money and nothing beside,
And, quoting Ben Franklin, his meanness to hide
Does small things for self, and with darkness
Shows the crown overhead, petty gains to command,
Tho' it end in that wealth he is anxious to wind,
He has struck a bent nail and has hammered
it in.

When a girl shows the world that she sorely thinks lose
Of her culture and conduct last gadding and dress;
When she eagerly seeks for a confab with beaux
Whose talk solely runs upon dresses and beaux—
Neglecting home duties some gossip to spin—
That nail will give trouble if once hammered
in.

When you see your neighbor's small faults through a glass
That makes them too large for the censor to pass,
And with sense of their wickedness, righteous hot,
Calls one a mote minor, the other a sot—
You are handling a nail that may crooken to
You
Like a corkscrew 'twill twist if you hammer
it in.

When a man, or his wife—sister—mother—the same
Too eagerly to blow the dull coals to a flame,
The faults of their neighbors bring closer to view
Regarding the stories they've never proved true,
Their nail has a flaw, is disingenuous and thin,
As they'll find to their cost when they hammer
it in.

Enough for the lesson. The nails that we see
Not strength boards that are pulseless, but frames that are live,
Examine them well, closely seam over into late;
Should they prove of firm metal, well-cut and quite straight,
Heedless of sneering, or clamor, or din,
Place each where it should be, and hammer it
in.

—Samuel Baxter Foster.

VICTOR HUGO.

Victor Hugo was so great that it may be said the world misses him. Earth is not to-day what it was yesterday, for Victor Hugo is not here. He belonged to all the civilized lands and individuals, and in going down into the grave he brings to all places and persons a sense of loss. The feeling of pain is modified by the thought that he remained on earth the time most possible of years, and, like the friend of Horace, "went as late as possible to heaven."

Coming into life in the beginning of one of the greatest of all centuries, Victor Hugo absorbed into his soul all the greatness of the period, and became at last not so much the form of an epoch as the personification of the modern manhood in its highest ideals. It was his good fortune to be born with unusual natural powers, to be born in such a brilliant century as France, to be the child of cultured and ambitious parents, and to make his debut in life at a time full of mighty debates and mighty conclusions. His highly sensitive mind caught the good and the power and the beauty of the surrounding scene. He lived in the midst of those debates which sum, woman, politics, liberty, art and religion which all former generations had handed over to the nineteenth circle for review and adjustment. Coming in the confusion that followed the Revolution, he was compelled to be as eclectic, and pick out his principles from a large and disorderly assemblage. Passing his youth amid all the glories of the larger Napoleon, his heart learned to beat like a drum, and his foot to step as though in some magnificent march. In politics he became a conservative liberalist, in religion a rationalized worshiper, in art a decided modern, in literature a man of flaming sentiment, in society an intense humanitarian.

His classical studies were commenced when he was only eight years old. He began to take liberary prizes when he was only fifteen. His mind was so laden with figures, images, striking resemblances and with all the raw material out of which real poetry is manufactured, that his writings took the shape of verse as naturally as the pine tree takes the form of a pyramid or a Gothic spire. Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup was not a mode of declaring love to some country girl, nor was it a form of address to the first robin of springtime, but rather was it the vehicle of such thought as was worthy of the name of wisdom or sentiment or even philosophy. By the time he had been in the world a score of years he had published a volume of odes and songs which are said to have been as popular as the "Meditations" of Lamartine.

The novel followed the poetry because the poem had not flexibility enough to fit itself to all the details of human life and its tremendous surroundings. Beautiful and powerful in verse is, it is not capable of being spread out over the whole soul of man. Scott, Dickens, Thackeray, George Eliot, could all write most excellent verse, but their survey of the world was larger than the limit of rhythm, feet and rhyme. They were compelled to pass out of the world of the verse-maker and build up "Old Mortality," "Nicholas Nickleby," "Pendennis," and "Adam Bede," in the great open air of the novelist. Thus Victor Hugo went to the novel as to the one form of literature that can contain all other forms, a literature that can accept the political ideas of a statesman, the fancy of a poet, the learning of a life-long student, the enthusiasm of a reformer, and the humanity of a Jesus Christ.

Of his early novels little is known in this country. Drama came in for a part of the great man's life, and in these works there would have been an enduring fame had not such masterpieces as "The Hunchback," "Les Misérables," and "Historiend an Crime" come along to eclipse the merit of their many predecessors.

Along whatever path, Victor Hugo moved with all the vehemence of a storm. In the average the French mind is the most intense in its feelings and opinions, but this man outdid the French. His poems, his dramas, his novels, his politics, his love and his hate, were all tropical. He had little use for the temperate zone. In religion he parted with the formal creeds, but he was as zealous in his belief in God as he was bitter in his estimate of the human treatment of the divine idea; in politics his humanity made him sympathize with the Communist as against despotic imposition; in the matter of opinion he preferred exile to compromise. He was a kind of perpetual bugle-blast, awakening the men not only of France, but of Europe, with echoes heard in America.

This ardent nature touched art in its dramatic and literary forms, and helped inaugurate an age of greater reality and independence. Educated classic, he added the boldness and taste of the present to the conceptions of the past, and so far as necessary he cut away the past to make room for the new and the better. To have the ingrafted branches bear fruit will be did not hesitate to lop off the old tree. The new fruit has perhaps fully justified the cutting which one filled so many with alarm.

Along with Lamartine, Chateaubriand, and Michelet, Victor Hugo helped lift French literature up to a strange height, not only of passion, sentiment, and fancy, but also to a delicacy of language and rhetoric which surpasses even the splendor of the Greeks and Latins. It would seem that after Chateaubriand, Lamartine and Hugo, words can offer no no additional help. Beyond these men, the lips may as well become silent, and ask the silent sighs of the soul or the peculiar eloquence of tears to go onward with the task of expression. Hugo frowned to death all the little words which strut around as conjunctions or particles. He helped inaugurate the era of a simple style, such as that which made Theophrastus Parker powerful in Boston and Tacitus powerful in Rome. Tacitus hated a conjunction, so did Julius Cæsar—the former saying, "Make Sallustio, call it pence"; the latter saying, "I came, I saw, I conquered"; the grand Hugo saying, "The shadow of an enormous right hand rest on Waterloo. It is the day of Destiny. God passed over it."

It was the nonsense of some humorists twenty years ago to make great sport of the style of the author of "Les Misérables," but as the years have worn along this merriment has ceased, to make room for a general admiration of the man who could say of Napoleon, "He vexed God"; of Fantine, "She lost gold and pearls, the pearls were in her mouth, the gold was in her hair"; of Paris, "Of fire is the heart of the world, the sorrows of the world should be the sorrows of Paris." In perhaps a modified form, the direct style of Victor Hugo will be that of the future.

Death has thus removed a most conspicuous figure. Not a perfect being like a Christ, not a symmetrical man like Goethe, not a deep man like Victor Cousin, but a grand human being: an egotist like Socrates, but also a warm and open-hearted friend, as broad in knowledge as Goethe, as dogmatic as Ruskin, as independent and angry as Carlyle, but much of the time as gentle as a mother, and as full sympathy with beggar and child. His books are full of the richest of gems, of morals, of poetry, of art, and of delude piety. It is almost certain that his works will be an inspiration to the French of to-morrow, and to many young readers and thinkers who will study this world after this generation shall have gone, like this stormbeaten old man, to its final rest.—David Swing in The Current.

Renew your subscriptions to the Journal this week.

THE JOURNAL

BY CHAS. J. STRANG.

CHARLEVOIX, - MICHIGAN.

NEWS CONDENSED.

Concise Record of the Week.

EASTERN.

An enumeration taken by the police of Lansing, N. Y., shows the population of that city to be 2,327.

Scientists declare that the obelisk in Central Park, New York, is crumbling, owing to the action of the elements, and that its destruction is only a question of time.

Snow fell in Green county, N. Y., on the last day of June.

James D. Fish, of the Marine Bank of New York, has entered upon his conviction in Auburn. He is described as the prison register as follows: "No 19654—James D. Fish, officer, misappropriating funds of a national bank, occupation, President of the Marine National Bank; age, 55; weight, 165; complexion, light; 5 feet 9 inches; received June 29, 1885."

Mount Mercregor (N. Y.) telegram: "Gen. Grant's physicians say that while his distinguished patient's life has been prolonged by the transfer to Mount Macgregor, the fact remains that he lacks strength with each succeeding day." Washington telegram: "Gen. Beale, Gen. Grant's brother-in-law, who is in Washington, said yesterday that he had received information from the family that the cancer had commenced to influence the jugular vein, and that death was a question of a few days in the opinion of the physicians."

Mrs. Lucille Yscult Dudley, who some time ago made an unsuccessful attempt to assassinate ex-Congressman Ross, has been acquitted by a New York jury on the ground that she was insane at the moment of firing the shot.

The total exports of produce from New York the last week were valued at nearly $7,000,000.

Abel Devins, of Des Moines, Iowa, a student at Cornell, was accidentally knocked from the bridge at Livermore Falls, N. H., and, falling on the rocks beneath, was killed instantly.

Edward A. and George H. Heyd, father and son, convicted at New York of defrauding the Government by illegally importing pinte-glass, have been sentenced, the son to pay $1,000 fine, and the father to be imprisoned for two years.

WESTERN.

The body of James Hayes, aged 16, was found hanging to a tree near Neola, Iowa, his hands and feet being tied. Four men who escaped from the Harrison County Jail are suspected of the crime. Great excitement prevails in the Neola district.

Reports from Durango, Col., show that the Indians who accompanied Agent Stickney to Ignacio Valley to investigate recent outrages were fired on by rancheros and twelve Indians killed. The smoke of settlers from Animas and Mancos Valley still continues. Three hundred Utes in Indian territory reservation in Western Montana, and are forming south to join the Utes on war upon the Crows and Gros Ventres.

Near Decatur, Ill., a passenger train on the Illinois Central ran into a herd of twenty cattle belonging to Oliver Logan. The train kept the track, and the locomotive was injured.

The enumeration just taken in Iowa shows the total population of the state to be 2,200,000, an increase of 66,000 in five years. The population of Des Moines and suburbs is nearly 40,000.

The Rev. Sydney H. Russell, of Woodhaven, N. Y., and William Logan, a well-known resident of Cedar Mills, Ind., committed suicide.

In a riot at the Polish Catholic Church in Toledo two men were killed and several injured. The trouble grew out of a misunderstanding about letters addressed to the congregation.

There were 242 deaths in Chicago last week, an increase of 25 for the corresponding week of last year.

Fire at Stein's brewery, at Beaver Dam, Wis., used by the Stoll family as a dwelling, caused the burning to death of three children, aged 11, 8, and 3 years.

Loyal L. Smith, a Chicagoan, who started a dry goods store at Omaha, Neb., and, by his cutting of prices and novel methods of advertising, paralyzed other dealers, has disappeared, his chief clerk, bookkeeper, cashier, and three other employes going with him, their destination being assumed to be Mexico. Checks for thousands of dollars have already been presented, and it is believed that Smith took something like $100,000 in cash with him. Two banks have been victimized for $25,000.

C. R. Mabley, a prominent Detroit merchant, is dead.

Tombstone (Arizona) telegram: A. J. Hinsche, a miner, brings news from Frontera of an engagement between Indians and whites, thirteen miles southeast of Frontera, in which thirty-six Indians and sixteen Americans were killed and several wounded. Thomas Crocker reports from San Bernardino bands, estimated on the trail from Fort Bubb to Sonora, as engagement between the entire force under Lieut. Davis and the Apaches. Sixteen Indians were killed and fifteen to twenty taken prisoners. The loss of the whites is not stated." Negales (Arizona) dispatch: "It is rumored that the Yaqui Indians have defeated Jo Nacksis, killing 400, including Gen. Garcia and wounding Gen. Lodia."

Livingstone Howland has been appointed receiver of the Toledo, Cincinnati and St. Louis Railway, vice W. J. Craig, resigned.

Lumber valued at $203,000 was destroyed by fire at Antigo, Wis. The insurance is said to be heavy.

Arthur McConnell, living near Lafayette, Ind., who was crushed to death under a hog, dressed a few minutes previously that he would be killed by a falling hog.

James Holland, for a small wager, climbed an electric light tower one hundred and twenty feet high at Indianapolis but in descending he used his grip on a rope, and falling, was fatally injured.

SOUTHERN.

At Greenville, Tenn., the jury in the case of Captain Johnson, on trial for the murder of Major Henry, returned a verdict of not guilty. The cheering of persons present in the Court House continued for several minutes.

The North, Central, and South American Exposition, the World's Fair successor, has been permanently organized at New Orleans.

The Arkansas Supreme Court has ground new trials in the famous Howard County cases, in which Henry and Sylvester Polk, brothers, were convicted of murder, the former being condemned to death.

Baltimore was visited by a rain-storm which caused $200,000 worth of damage. In consequence of the city the water flooded the basements and stood five or six feet deep on the first floor. The storm extended to the surrounding country, causing a great loss of property. A number of buildings were also struck by lightning.

A colored mob at Adams Station, Miss., lynched Ben Hois, a negro, who had killed his wife.

John Martin, one of the two escaped negroes implicated in the outrage and murder of Mrs. Hazel, at Elkhart, Texas, was taken out of the Grayson County Jail and lynched. This makes six victims of Lynch law for the murder of Mrs. Hazel.

Andre J. Dumont, ex-Naval Officer at New Orleans, a leading Republican politician, committed suicide, morning his pistol by force from his wife, and blowing out his brains. He leaves a large estate.

Eighteen horse-thieves have been hanged in Texas in two weeks, and detectives are hunting others with bloodhounds.

WASHINGTON.

Admiral Porter has designed by submission to the Government a plan for a war vessel which shall be a cross, torpedo-boat, and gunboat, and which, he claims, will also be of great speed.

The number of contested election cases before the new House of Representatives will be smaller than in any Congress for the past forty years, and will not exceed three or four.

Commissioner Sparks of the General Land office, has refused to issue patents to Western land-grant railroads or permit them to make further selections until Congress makes some action upon the question of forfeiting their grants.

A crank appeared at the White House, Washington, as "sole representative of the Irish at large."

Washington telegram: "An annual $300,000 steal has been suppressed by commissioner Sparks, who has refused to approve the surveying contracts that have been sent up from Surveyors-General where interested other hogs. Finding these contracts coming in at the rate of some $50,000 in amount annually in excess of the annual appropriations by Congress, he instituted an inquiry, which developed a surprising nonsense of submission, indicating fraud."

The national expenditures for the fiscal year ended June 30 were $260,226,096; receipts, $281,996,066, or $25,769,970 less than the expenditures. During the year 146 national banks were organized, and the charters of 531 national banks were extended twenty years.

POLITICAL.

The President last week suspended Henry C. Burchard, of Illinois, as Treasurer of the Mint, and appointed as his successor Dr. James P. Kimball, Professor of Economic Geology in the Lehigh University at Bethlehem, Pa. Following is the text of the letter of Mr. Burchard to Secretary Manning declining to resign when requested to do so:

Respectfully acknowledging your request for my resignation, I beg to state that I do not think that, I have the honor to state that, a careful consideration, I am not satisfied that duty or propriety requires me at this time to resign my office. Were any malfeasance or misconduct charged or believed to exist, I feel sure you would have done me the justice to inform me of the charge, and afford me the full opportunity of defense before dismissing my occupation. Nor do I understand from you that the request is made for any reason, but it is because you deem the relations between the Treasury Department and the new administration at the Treasury Department that you should have, in your judgment, a director in charge of this bureau. With this the case, and the intuitions of the law, it might be proper and becoming for me to place the tenure of my service at your disposal, and I should do so, if I felt that I could be when I was honored with the appointment, but permit me to say that such action would be very misleading to the public, and to the cabinet, yet in providing that the director of the Mint should be appointed by the secretary of the treasury, unless some reason of a personal character, or some fault, should be found by him to the Senate." The length of time I have served under the conditions upon which I served is authorized, and the discussion and explanation preceding the passage of the act of March 3, 1873, evinced that the office of director of the Mint should not be changed on account of a change of Secretary of the Treasury. I have no desire to be, nor pretend to be, a politician, and I hope, if I do my duty, I may be free from the charge of partisanship, or, if I am not, I hope it may be charged against me that I have served my country, although of opposite politics, continued in office under five successive Secretaries of the Treasury, and that I have done my duty, faithfully and well, which, regardless of a full term, and upon conditions which, in my opinion, I am entitled to, I am ready at any moment, when any exception to the policy of the law should even be made, which I should think, in the interests of the public, would make the duties of my position difficult or of only secondary importance.

The President has made the following appointments:

Ross S. Hatton to be Surveyor of Customs in the district of New York; Silas W. Burt, to be Naval Officer of Customs in the District of New York; James M. Allison Register of the Land Office at Spokane Falls, Washtenaw, vice J. M. Armstrong, suspended; Benjamin F. Peach Pension Agent at Boston, Mass., vice Daniel Wheeler, suspended; George A. Hosmer, of Charlestown, S. C., Special Agent of the Bureau of Labor; Hon. William L. Trenholm, who declined his appointment as Comptroller of the Currency, Assistant Treasurer for the District of Columbia; Hon. Ira Ayer, Jr., Assistant Treasurer for the District of Pearl River, Miss.; Joseph B. Gilbert to be Assistant Treasurer for the District of Apalachicola, Fla.; Receivers of Public Moneys—Joseph Wheeler, Washington Territory; Thomas Worcester at Vincennes, Ind.; Charles Ashton, Duluth, at Humboldt, Minn.; Jos. Jeffers, at Little Falls, Minn. United States Attorneys—Arthur B. Talbot, District Attorney for the District of Wisconsin, vice Hayward, suspended; M. C. Fyler, United States Attorney for the District of Nebraska, vice Dawes, suspended; Edward Wellman, United States Marshals—Hiram H. Moore, at Monticello City, Ga., Leonard H. Ross, at Sioux City, Iowa; Samuel B. Evans, at Gunnison, Iowa; Lewis S. H. Hamilton, appointed R. Hudson, at Duluth, Minn.; Jos. Lange, suspended; S. E. Hoover, at Denver, Col.; Wm. Vincent, at Lincoln, Neb.; Wm. Wise, at Marion, Ala. Supervisors of Internal Revenue—Lyle of Indiana, vice J. Frank Jones, suspended; Wm. Vose, of Illinois, vice Wm. Cullen, suspended; Alfred Wagner, of Ohio, vice J. Frank Jones, suspended. All the above suspensions have not been published.

The President has appointed William D. Bynum to be Superintendent of Inspection of steam vessels for the Ninth District. (The Ninth District includes Buffalo, N. Y.; Oswego, N. Y.; Burlington, Vt.; and Cleveland, Ohio.)

MISCELLANEOUS.

The annual camp-meeting of the Methodist Protestant Association will be held at Havana, Ill., beginning July 31, and closing Aug. 8.

French Canadians of Quebec have organized to resist the attempt to compel the debonting lilac and other half-breeds engaged in the Northwestern revolt.

At Toronto, Thomas White and Charles Hunt were convicted of uttering forged cheaper notes of the Bank of Scotland. Confessions of one of the confederates show the existence of a gang of forgers, whose members are scattered through America and in nearly every country of Europe.

At Detroit, Mich., in the application of the Hop Bitters Company of Rochester, N. Y., for a preliminary injunction against the Detroit Company of Detroit, Mich., manufacturer of German Hop Bitters, to restrain the defendants from using a similar name, bottle, and label in the sale of his bitters, the Court Justice Matthews and District Judge Brown ruled that the defendant, C. H. Warner, had a right to use the words German Hop Bitters.

During the week there were 184 business failures in the United States and Canada, a decrease of 21 as compared with the preceding week. Bradstreet's Journal, in its commercial summary, says: "From the general business center word comes that trade continues quiet and singularly free from speculative movements. Surplus funds at the banks at New York, Boston, and Chicago show no signs of growing smaller, and the demand for money at the interior has not yet equalled the expectations. The volume of general merchandise moving is made up of hand-to-mouth purchases. The latter tendency at Pittsburgh have been to some extent the best trade situation has assumed in other quarters. At Philadelphia merchants are inclined to a more confident and hopeful view of the near future, which at New York the reverse is true."

At the late battle of Santo Domingo the insurgents cut their way through Western lines.

A fire which started in a skating rink at Trenton, Ont., destroyed a block of stores, the loss reaching $75,000.

Notwithstanding the arrangements recently effected between the Government of the Dominion and the United States, Canadian fishermen assert that they will resist any attempt by Americans to fish in the waters where, serious results are apprehended should the fishermen of the two countries meet.

The business failures in the United States and Canada during the first six months of 1885 numbered 5,601, with aggregate liabilities of $74,000,000. During the corresponding period in 1884 there were 5,695 failures, with liabilities of $124,000,000.

The business failures in Canada for the past six months numbered 594, against 552 for the same time in 1884. The decrease in liabilities amounts to $5,570,000.

FOREIGN.

Lord Salisbury telegraphs Gen. Wolseley that the Government is unable, for various reasons, to continue the Soudan expedition.

It is reported from Kabool that a revolting Afghan chief has seized funds belonging to the Ameer to the amount of $5,000,000.

Smalley says that the new British cabinet is the result of a compromise between the Ministry of Salisbury and Lord Randolph Churchill. The former's party in the House of Commons is weakened by the transfer of Sir Stafford Northcote and Mr. Gibson to the House of Lords.—Earl Spencer's speech at Northampton was witnessed by great crowds of people, the knighted Secretary Kerr and Commissioner Greene in their seats within hearing of the speech. Principal Princess of Wales's success.

The revolution against Chinese rule in Chinese Tonkinese is spreading. Advices say the insurgents killed all the Chinese and native officers, and cut off communication with the interior of China.

The English Government contemplates the reoccupation of Suakim. Two million cartridges have been sent to Egypt from Woolwich.

M. Rochefort asserts that Olivier Pain was murdered by Bonaparte obtains a reward of 1,000 offered for his head by a British consul.

The British steamer Colina, wrecked near the Giant's Causeway, Ireland, will probably be a total loss.

Severe storms, attended by heavy rains, have prevailed in the Pyrenees and Perpignan.

M. Collado, the Brazilian Minister to Rome, having been detected cheating at cards, has left the city in disgrace.

LATER NEWS ITEMS.

Estimates of the coming Minnesota and Dakota wheat crop place the same at 31,000,000 and 25,000,000 bushels, respectively.

Dispatches from St. Paul intimate that the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railroad has absorbed the Eastern Dakota railroad, running from Fargo to Ortonville.

Henry Grotenhuizen, a Cincinnati druggist, has disappeared, and, on assignment, liabilities estimated at $40,000, and assets between $25,000 and $40,000.

Ralph B. Brockelis, charged with assault and intent to murder M. H. Young, proprietor of the San Francisco Chronicle, was acquitted by a jury.

The new Canadian loan has been floated in England at par.

A Chinese detectivegent has been sent to the Algoa gold-field, with orders to behead all per-ons found engaged in mining without the Emperor's permits.

Sir Peter Lumsden was entertained by Queen Victoria at a dinner at Windsor Castle, Prince Salisbury being the only other guest. The Queen has also supplemented the usual honor with an autographic letter expressing her warm admiration of Sir Peter's management of British affairs in Central Asia, and a most cordial regard.

According to the new directory of New York, the population of that city is now 1,950,000.

Fifteen Mormon missionaries arrived in New York with five hundred and fourteen converts and three hundred wives, who will settle in Utah and Mexico.

Hatch, the carsman, gave an exhibition at Newcastle-on-Tyne, walking on the water with from shoes of his own invention, in spurning as though he were walking through deep snow.

Twenty-five hundred employes of the Cleveland Rolling-Mill Company struck against a reduction of 10 per cent. in their wages. All the window-glass factories in the Pittsburgh district have shut down until September 1.

At an incendiary fire in Cleveland a mother and two children were burned to death, and a number of persons injured in leaping from windows.

The decrease of the public debt for the month of June was about $9,000,000.

Comparatively no changes were made at the beginning of the fiscal year in the State, War, and Navy Departments, and the impression obtained that they might possibly receive a dreaded yellow envelope July 1 Instance occurred as the day passed without being notified a quit.

The following appointments by the President are announced since Washington: William W. Rockhill, of Maryland, to be Secretary of the Legation of the United States at China; Charles Denby, Jr., of Indiana, to be one of the new Minister to China, to be secretary of the legation of the United States at China; Hiram Hamilton to be United States Attorney for the Southern District of New York, vice F. McMahon; Jas. H. Ward to be United States Marshal for the same district; Benjamin F. Jones, of Louisiana, to be Assistant Secretary of the Treasury; Wilmot Sanford to be Collector of Customs for the District of Mobile; Thomas Dwight, of Massachusetts, to be Commissioner of Indian Affairs; Dr. Jos. Parrish, of Iowa, to be Pension Agent at Dubuque; Jas. Lewis, of Washington, to be Governor of Alaska; Jas. Lewis, of Washington, to be Governor of Alaska; Jas. Lewis, of Washington, to be Governor of Alaska; Jas. Lewis, of Washington, to be Governor of Alaska.

KING CHOLERA.

The Epidemic Spreading in Spain—The People Dying Off by the Hundreds.

(Madrid dispatch.)

The total number of new cases of cholera reported Monday from the infected districts in Spain is 1,522, and the total number of deaths 692, being an increase of 30 per cent. in new cases and 6 per cent. in deaths over the total number officially reported Sunday.

Tidiani Spanish special to Chicago Tribune: "Dr. Ferran, accompanied by Drs. Gilner, Van Bonangem, Meulter, the latter the Rockbeck delegate, several other doctors, and the Tribune correspondent, visited the infected towns of Tortosa. They went to the sick-beds of fifteen cholera patients at the Hospital de la Caridad and to private houses. The visitors were cheered everywhere by a crowd of enthusiastic natives, who evidently regarded Dr. Ferran as the third Redeemer, the other two being according to Dr. Ferran, first, the moral savior of mankind, and Dr. Pasteur, the physician-saviour. Most of the patients are recovering. There are only two very bad cases there and hopeless. Mendicinos official statistics show the population of Tortosa, 36,000. The real population is 20,000 or 22,000. Of these the corresponding number is 9,000 inoculated, 7,500 of whom were remunerated. After minute examination of documents the correspondent finds that rich and poor of the city contend. The poor are all submitted to be vaccinated, the rich believing that the other part of the town, while the non-inoculated suffer about 1,000 cases and 500 deaths, is charity or comparatively poor, living badly, and, therefore, more liable to disease. Altogether 320 cases of cholera have been reported at Alcera. Of these 130 died and 138 recovered, while fifty-two are under treatment. The results of non-inoculated persons were 1.6, against seven inoculated and three recovered. Of the inoculated and remunerated, twenty were cured out of fifty of such category under treatment. On returning to Valencia the whole party was elated to undergo the absurd process of fumigating.

MRS. DUDLEY IS CRAZY.

The Woman Who Shot O'Donovan Rossa Was Acquitted by the Jury.

(New York telegram)

In the case of Mrs. Lucille Dudley, on trial for shooting O'Donovan Rossa, the testimony for the defense was to the effect that Mrs. Dudley was a sufferer from one of the most fearful diseases, that of getting on the witness stand and telling her whole life history, which is only the fearful source of crime and wickedness. Every that of ordinary men came to establish insanity. The prosecution offered no trader in Venice. The stranger, whose name was Tebaldo, became enamored of the lady, and, as she alleged, induced to elope with him. He had been married and had children, but claimed that he had married in haste, and that he was driven forward to marriage, and, in his disabled body he no longer felt any ardor. He said that he was a great lover of the ladies and knew how to win and keep their hearts, and that he had never had any trouble with the most formidable women, which he attributed to the fact that he was a lover of large size and handsome features. He said

THE JOURNAL

Charlevoix, Mich., July 9, 1885.

Provision Market.

[illegible]

Fresh and Cured Meats.

[illegible]

☞ The small price of 25 cts. admission charged by Fursman & Co's Great American Allied Shows, which exhibited in town yesterday is not at all commensurate with the amount of genuine whole-souled amusement that is given.—Nonin Register.

Upright, Emrey & Co. sole agents Prof. Hoefer's baking powder, the only baking powder made with which no shortening is needed. Try a sample bottle and be convinced.

☞ Upright, Emrey & Co. are now prepared to sign such contracts for from ten to two thousand cords of bark, to be delivered on or before the first day of August, 1885.

☞ Resorters can secure good rooms and good board at Mrs. Jefferies' on Bons-mile terms. Inquire at Jefferies' Market, opposite Bridge Street House.

☞ A new line of fancy glassware, glass sets, and colored ware, offered cheap for cash at Upright, Emrey & Co's.

☞ John Bell keeps on hand at all times Prof. Hoefer's celebrated Baking Powder, which requires no shortening.

☞ Butter and Eggs wanted on subscription at this office. Produce of all kinds taken at market rates.

☞ Private families are not turned with poor meats, to accommodate hotels, at Jefferies' Market.

☞ All the latest styles straw hats just received. Upright, Emrey & Co.

☞ Attorneys by Telephone promptly delivered from Jefferies' Market.

☞ Cedar and pine shingles for sale by Upright, Emrey & Co.

☞ Baled hay for sale at Upright, Emrey & Co's.

☞ Pressed Corned Beef at Jefferies' Market.

☞ Best fresh butter at Jefferies' market.

☞ Boneless Ham at Jefferies' Market.

Local Notes and News.

Volume Two.

This week completes the second year of the JOURNAL. It has not grown in size as fast as some of its friends looked for, but in these days the newspaper or business that holds its own does well. The past year has witnessed numerous hard struggles for existence, but we start the third year in much better shape than we did the second, and we here thank one and all who have so faithfully stood by us in our efforts to make a good paper.

We still live.

This week completes our second volume.

Now is the time to renew your subscription.

Bader paid, G. A. R., celebrated on Traverse City.

A large number of subscriptions expire with this number.

Hear the Petoskey pastor at the M. E. church next Sunday.

Forest Star lost out of a tree a few days ago, injuring himself quite severely.

J. T. Hart has the contract and commenced work on the McKay cottage on the "Orange Peel."

The fine grass over the street from the gas block to the postoffice was the work of Al. Washburn.

Edwin Cook remembered the printer on Tuesday a pan of fine strawberries and a mess of green peas.

Rev. G. W. Sherman will occupy the M. E. pulpit next Sunday, morning and evening. All are invited.

The annual festival of the M. E. Sunday School will be held in Inwood's grove, Wednesday evening July 15th.

The JOURNAL is a few hours late this week on account of the extra work connected with the press excursion.

Don't forget the regular meeting of the Improvement Association next Monday evening. Let the attendance be large.

The Poultry Keeper for July is at hand, well filled as usual with interesting matter. 89 Randolph street, Chicago.

The East Jordan Cornet band have the thanks of our people for their assistance at the reception of the editorial excursionists.

A dog and woodchuck fight on Bridge street, witnessed by nearly a hundred men (?) and boys, was one of the diversions of this morning.

Although East Jordan was well advertised by bills for a celebration on the Fourth, the Enterprise does not recognize the fact. What is the matter, Tom?

The Grand Rapids Democrat celebrated the Fourth by publishing the Friday and Saturday editions in red and blue ink, giving the national colors, red, white and blue.

T. E. Chamberlin has an ice box in his meat market that will freeze meat solid and keep it frozen as long as desired. Last Sunday night a cup of water froze solid clear through.

We have private information that East Jordan had a lively celebration, of which we hoped to have a full report, but up to time of going to press not one word has been received.

The house of Mr. D. H. Haines of Kalamazoo, was damaged by fire Tuesday morning. The aged grandmother of Mrs. Hames was removed to the house of F. W. Wilcox, who is here.

Ben and Mose Yahousteen and Will Moore, capsized in Grand Traverse bay, about a mile from Old Mission last Sunday, and were in the water two hours and a half before being rescued.

The Orangemen will celebrate the battle of Boyne with a parade, addresses and a ball, at East Jordan, Saturday, July 11th. The Gazelle will give an excursion from Charlevoix, leaving here at 8 a. m. Round trip tickets 50 cents.

Bernard Burns, deputy game warden of Orangemen of Michigan, received by mail last Friday a heavy medal in honor of "The Glorious Memory of King William III," from past supreme grand master Dr. B. P. Reynolds, of Chicago.

The base ball boys have ordered new uniforms and the necessary munitions of war, and expect to go to Charlevoix the 4th to look at that gold medal and $35.—Harbor Springs Independent. On July 4th they may have mother "look" at it.

A story gained circulation yesterday that a liberal supply of wedding cake had been received from the south part of the state, in which a prominent young business man was interested, but inquiry fails to produce any authority for publishing names.

In reply to the Statesman's question of the accuracy of our statement of a recent game of ball at Boyne, we would say that the information was obtained from two members of the home team, and we believed it to be correct. If wrong it is not our fault.

The Bellaire base ball club will make an effort to play at Charlevoix on the Fourth.—Charlevoix Journal. Yes, and it will not have to make much of an effort to get away with your pet club.—Bellaire Press. The modest observer.

A large number of subscriptions expire with this number.

Hear the Petoskey pastor at the M. E. church next Sunday.

Forest Star lost out of a tree a few days ago, injuring himself quite severely.

J. T. Hart has the contract and commenced work on the McKay cottage on the "Orange Peel."

The fine grass over the street from the gas block to the postoffice was the work of Al. Washburn.

TRAVERSE CITY, July 3—George Parmelee, of Old Mission, died last night. Mr. Parmelee was one of the most prominent citizens of northern Michigan and a leading fruit raiser. In 1878 he was the national candidate for congress in the ninth district and last fall was the fusion candidate for State Senator from the Grand Traverse district.

The Michigan Manufacturer is the title of a handsome monthly just issued at Grand Rapids, from the office of the Tradesman. Its aim is to deal in the same relative position to the steam users of the state that the Tradesman does to the mercantile fraternity. It is handsomely printed on fine book paper, well filled with original matter, and will make a valuable addition to the press of the state.

The third load of the night blooming cereus at W. F. Brown's opened last night, and was witnessed by over one hundred people. The fourth, and probably the last, is expected to open in about ten days. All who desire to see it, will be notified by mail on the day it is expected to open, if they will leave their names at the bank. These openings have been a rare treat to many people, and Mr. and Mrs. Brown are very generous in thus throwing open their house to all who may desire to enjoy the occasion.

Attired, worn out community, threatening weather, and numerous attractions about town, conspired to reduce the attendance at the concert last night below what had been anticipated by the managers. Not being in attendance, we can only repeat the reports of others. Next to Miss Cheney, whose singing was heartily applauded, we hear numerous compliments for the singing of Mrs. Hines, Mrs. Moore, Mrs. Kane and Mrs. Clark, with special praise of Misses Lillie Carpenter and Winnie Bartholomew,—Miss Lillie responding to an encore. Messrs. Bradbeer and Moore sang twice with their usual excellence, and Miss Cochran gave a fine piano solo.

THE BOSS SHOW COMING.

The amusement loving public will rejoice in the fact that Fursman & Co.'s Great American Allied Shows are to exhibit at Charlevoix, Saturday, July 18th.

This is the exhibition that showed to unprecedented successes in crowded houses last season, and received more favorable commendation from the press and public than perhaps any other show traveling. This year, in addition to their already large and varied entertainment they have engaged the valuable services of Neil Smith and his school of comical dogs, M'lle Madelaine, the Oriental Juggler, M'lle Toina, high wire artiste and Queen of the running globes. The celebrated D'Alton family of gymnasts and athletes, Mille Georgia, the female Simpson, and a host of other novelties, and have also added a large and comprehensive museum of living wonders, and best of all, they will use the entire exhibition for only twenty-five cents admission.—[Adv.

We Are Anxious

That every good lady should know what a delicate and harmless beautifier is to be found in Hamilton's Oriental Bloom. It is also highly medicinal and it makes the complexion so soft and brilliant, so simply removes all tan and freckles, that one needs only to give it a trial to be convinced of its merits. Only 50 cents per bottle.

Sold by Dr. G. W. Crouter, Charlevoix, and Crouter & Harris, Boyne.

Cure for Piles.

Piles are frequently preceded by a sense of weight in the back, dullness and pain of a dull nature, causing the patient to suppose he has some affection of the kidneys or neighboring organs. At times, symptoms of indigestion are present. Itching, sometimes of the most intolerable character, supervenes, rendering a portion of the body where the disease exists a perfect pandemonium. Blind, bleeding, protruding or Itching Piles yield at once to the application of Dr. Benson's Pile Remedy, which acts directly upon the parts affected, absorbing the tumors, allaying the intense itching, and giving a speedy cure. Price 50 cents. Sold by Geo. W. Crouter.

George Augustus Sols says: "Some people say that Louis Napoleon was not brave. I say that he was one of the most phlegmatic and bravest of men. He rode through the streets of Paris fully ten horses' lengths ahead of his staff, when at every window there might have been seen a man with the most imperturbable countenance and the same expression of being only half awake that I had first noticed. I saw him when, a young man, in the zenith of his power, and again after his downfall, but always there was the same semi-somnambulant-lethargic expression."

M. Vulpian has written on the anæsthetic action of the chlorohydrate de cocaïne. He states that this anæsthetic is so powerful that an injection solution of one part of salt of cocaïne and ninety-nine parts of water inserted into the eyelids produces a complete insensibility of the corner and conjunctive in the human eye.

THE GLORIOUS FOURTH.

How it was Celebrated in Charlevoix.

No finer day for a celebration could have been asked than we had in this vicinity on the Fourth. The morning was cool and dry, but toward afternoon became warm and dusty. Lem made and freezers stands sprang up all over town like mushrooms on a spring morning, and everywhere the small boy and his firecracker made his presence plainly visible.

Very early in the day people began to arrive from the surrounding country, and by eight o'clock steamers began to arrive, heavily loaded with excursionists. The Van Raalte and Faxton brought a large number from Harbor Springs and Petoskey, the Friant, Clara Belle, and North Star came from Boyne City and intermediate points, loaded down; and quite a number came down from East Jordan on the Gazelle and Nellie Reeth, notwithstanding the fact that the last place was having a lively time of her own. Before the crowds quit coming, it was estimated that at no time in her past history has Charlevoix entertained so many people on a Fourth of July celebration as were here this year.

Bridge street was decorated the entire length, some of the business places being quite elaborate. Carpenter, Bartholomew & Co. hoisted a large bunting flag upon their store building with a line of small flags from each front corner to the top of the pole. The front of the building presented a profusion of small flags and evergreen. From Carpenter's north to the bridge there was a profusion of evergreen on both sides of the street, besides flowers and flags on nearly every building. The Fountain City house, on the north side, was trimmed in good style. Perry Weed made a neat arch of evergreen and vines over the entrance to his drug store. Besides the decorations on the building, G. W. Crouter raised a pole and flags over the large telephone pole near the central office. Rosenthal and Chamberlin, on the north of Main street, and the open block on the south, seemed to vie with each other in effectiveness of display. Perhaps the largest amount of color, for the size of the building, was put on Sherwood's shoe store, although several others nearly equaled. Other houses along both sides of the street, were decorated more or less effectively. The rink was ornamented in front and inside, McCabe's back was quite completely covered with small flags. A large number of residences were tastefully decorated with flags and evergreen, but we could not take the time to traverse every street and mention each one in detail. On each resort there was also liberal effort in beautifying grounds and buildings.

THE GAMES

(As it was impossible to get the complete individual score for all the games, we present only a summary as furnished by a friend.)

The first game played was that between the Charlevoix nine and that of Harbor Springs, before a large number of people on the south grounds. The result of the game was a great surprise to the admirers of the home team who had looked forward to an easy victory for their favorites but had underrated the strength of their opponents, for Harbor Springs played a strong game, batting Upright's pitching very hard and finally came out winners by the score of 22 to 15. The feature of the game was the catching of Allen. The home team held the lead in the beginning but went to bases at critical moments thus enabling Harbor Springs to win.

SCORE BY INNINGS.

Harbor Springs	3	1	2	5	2	0	1	0	0
Charlevoix	2	2	4	2	0	0	3	0	2

batteries, Upright and Sherwood.

The game between the Bellaire and Boyne City nines was played on the north grounds near the Chicago resort and was witnessed by a large crowd. The game although loosely played and abounding in errors was at times exciting and the interest of the spectators never flagged notwithstanding the fact that the time consumed in playing the game was almost four hours. The features of the game were the strong batting of the Bellaires and the loose fielding of their opponents. At the end of the game the score stood Bellaire 50, Boyne City 34.

The game in the afternoon between the victorious Bellaires and the Charlevoix nine fresh from their unexpected defeat in the morning was witnessed on the north grounds by a large assemblage of people who came evidently expecting to see Charlevoix badly beaten by the prospective champions but who returned home agreeably disappointed, for the Charlevoix team with the recollection of the morning game still fresh in their minds played a remarkable steady game and finished by badly beating Bellaire's crack nine, a result due almost entirely to the brilliant pitching of Allen, together with the fine support accorded him by Mayne, and the careful work of the other players. The features of the games were the pitching of Allen and the fine play of Bellaire's 1st baseman.

SCORE BY INNINGS.

Charlevoix	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9
Bellaire	4	2	1	4	0	1	2	0	1
Charlevoix	0	0	4	0	1	0	0	1	0
Bellaire	3	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0

batteries, Allen and Sherwood, Cooper, Gilbert.

The game in the afternoon between Boyne City and Harbor Springs proved to be an exceedingly one-sided affair witnessed by a large crowd of people. Boyne City played a much better game than in the morning and finally won by the following score:

Boyne City	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9
Harbor Springs	0	0	1	0	1	0	1	2	0
Boyne City	0	0	1	0	1	0	1	2	0

DIAMOND DUST.

At the close of the tournament the each club had won and lost one game making them all a tie. The committee finally ordered that the clubs should again contend on the 10th of July.

The games on the south grounds in the morning and afternoon were witnessed by much larger crowds than those on the north, being more accessible and the accommodations much better.

In the afternoon game the Bellaire team was very unfortunate both of the catchers and one of the outfielders being disabled by badly bruised hands.

The base ball prizes are now on exhibition at Crouter's.

Michigan Press Excursion.

It was impossible for us to be present at the business meetings of the State and Western Michigan press association at Traverse City this week, but we succeeded in getting there in time to ride down with them on the excursion to this place.

Wednesday morning was bright and clear, with no wind to mar the pleasure of a ride by water. Hannah, Lay & Co.'s magnificent steamers City of Traverse, City of Grand Rapids, and T. S. Faxton steamed away from the docks at 8 o'clock, for Charlevoix. The three run side by side several miles, and with their profusion of flags, decorations, etc., made an excellent subject for a picture, if one could have been taken as they passed along. The Faxton stopped at Norwood, to land some passengers, after which the Faxton and Grand Rapids ran ahead to reach Charlevoix and unload in time to meet the City of Traverse and take her passengers. As near as the eye can learn, there were about 350 excursionists on the three steamers.

Arriving at Charlevoix, they were met by a committee of citizens and escorted to the opera house to listen to an address of welcome by A. D. Cruickshank, a response by C. S. Hampton, and a song by the press glee club, before going to the various hotels for dinner. In a few words, Mr. Cruickshank stated what we understood to be the object of their visit, what we had done for them in the way of entertainment, and what we should expect in return, briefly reciting the various advantages and resources of the town. Mr. Hampton, on behalf of the association, thanked the people of Charlevoix for their most generous provisions, and assured them that each individual member would show their appreciation through the columns of their respective publications. After the song, the multitude dispersed, going first to their allotted hotels for the good things there in waiting, and ample justice was done in most of about town. The various hotels entertained guests as follows: Fountain City house 105, Chicago Club 105, Bridge Street 92, Newsman 38, Belvidere 34, Shanhoe's 21. If words and actions mean anything, every one enjoyed a dinner better than this party enjoyed theirs. At the Fountain City they were served with speckled trout. Mr. Cooper had made a special effort, and had provided enough, so that every person had all they could eat, in addition to the many other good things. At the Chicago Club there were seven courses of the best in the market. At the Bridge Street Mr. Miller provided a most excellent dinner, and furnished each guest a printed bill of fare, containing also a view of Charlevoix. At each of the other houses a good substantial dinner was provided, with the best fresh meats, vegetables, and fruit to be had in the market, and all they could unanimously declared themselves entirely satisfied.

After an hour spent in viewing the town, the party boarded the steamers T. S. Faxton and City of Grand Rapids for Petoskey, the City of Traverse having returned to Traverse City.

Fraternal Calls.

The following members of the press excursion made the JOURNAL a friendly call Wednesday.

Geo. F. Nesbitt, Big Rapids Herald.
W. Vandenberg, Lansing Republican.
H. H. Hewitt, Lansing Journal.
Geo. Dawson, Charlotte Leader.
A. S. Parker, Bellevue Gazette.
C. C. Sherwood, Grand Ledge Independent.
J. W. Scott, Owosso Press.
E. Allmendinger, Ann Arbor Register.
F. S. Ackley, Williamston Enterprise.
Jas. Dowd, Shiawassee & Lee Co., Chieftain.
F. M. Barnard, Vindy Pole, Kalamazoo.
J. S. Hogan, Allegan Democrat.
J. W. Jones, St. Clair Times.
H. B. Roach, Albion Republican.
Mr. Greenslade, Battle Creek Republican.
J. Cousins and wife, Ishpeming, Mich.
M. J. Brown, Battle Creek Moon.
Geo. Swan, Opera Advertiser.
Geo. Smith, St. Joseph Republican.
A. J. Wright, South Haven Pickett.
C. C. Chase, Coopersville Democrat.
A. J. Sawyer and Geo. Chase, Eclipse.
F. Wells, Muskegon News.
E. Bissell, Bangor Advance.
Geo. Lyons, Grand Lead.
C. A. Coon, Grand Haven Herald.
J. C. Wilcox, Hart Review.
S. S. Bailey, Manistee Standard.
Ad. Lange, Cadillac Times.
J. N. Hoagsogh, Kalkaska Leader.
E. L. Sprague, Traverse Eagle.
S. S. Smith, Chase Sentinel.
Jas. E. Ward, Downington News.
B. P. Reynolds, Charlotte Republicanist.

And several others without cards, whose names are forgotten.

On the following brethren we enjoyed pleasant social chat on the trip from Traverse City to Charlevoix.

C. W. Stevens, Grand Rapids Journal.
A. McMillan, Bay City Tribune.
Frank Dwyer, Bay City Lumber Visitor.
W. W. Rowland, Bay Port Northerner.
E. A. Strickland, Flint Daily News.
H. H. Brown, Grand Rapids Morning Telegraph.
Charles M. Soper and wife, Eaton Rapids Times.
Jas. E. Bradford and wife, Vicksburg Commercial.
W. S. Brakeman, Hubbell Leader.
F. Moore, St. Clair Republican.

Personals.

J. L. Northrup, of Petoskey, was in town Friday.

Miss Addich has returned to his old place in Petoskey.

R. T. Nesbitt and wife, of Torch Lake, made a brief call Monday.

Miss Goldie Green, of Ionia, is expected to accompany Mrs. Crouter home.

W. H. Wilson, of the Harbor Springs Republican, called on us a call on the Fourth.

E. Lee Dickinson returned home this morning from a week's visit with friends in Albion.

Frank Gaskill and his family and household goods left East Jordan last Thursday morning.

Mrs. Corbett and family, of Shelbina, are visiting the family of C. E. Bellinger this week.

Misses Lizzie and Grace Waters, and Miss Bagley, of Boyne, were among our callers on the Fourth.

Jas. Pepple and family, of St. Helen, Roscommon county, are visiting relatives in Charlevoix this week.

J. H. Crouter celebrated in Petoskey, to have one day of rest where business would not be forced on him.

The Misses Williams are in their cottage, and have company in E. H. Allard, wife and daughter, of Iowa.

Mrs. S. Spaulsbury returned home from Elk Rapids last week. Miss Harris came with her for a visit with friends here.

Mrs. Fred Bump, of Petoskey, and her father, Mr. Lane, of Hillsdale, Iowa, are visiting friends here a month today.

Miss Mary E. French accompanied Mr. J. L. Northrup home to Charlevoix Wednesday night.—Bellaire Gazette.

Mrs. Gilmore, Mrs. Young and daughter, of Kent, Ohio, are visiting the family of Mr. Gilmore, Charlevoix Summer Resort.

Mr. J. T. Overbaugh and family left Tuesday for Charlevoix, where they will spend several weeks.—Kalamazoo Gazette.

E. W. Winans and wife, of Chicago, are visiting the latter's father, Capt. Chas. Ballard, Charlevoix, Mrs. Chas. Ballard and Mrs. Winans are sisters.

C. Lewis and wife, of Dayton, Lake Michigan, stopped at Norwood, to visit Mrs. Lewis' brother, H. W. Beach, whom she had not seen in several years.

Geo. A. Bradshaw returned from Charlevoix yesterday. He reports the Excursion to Boyne as a excellent affair and all doing well.—Gaylord Shaft.

Born—To Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Otis, of South Arm, a daughter. Mrs. Otis is the lady mentioned last week as having been thrown from a buggy and injured. Dr. Chisholm reports her doing as well as could be expected, and that mother and child are doing well.

District Deputy G. W. C. T. Burdick organized a lodge of Good Templars at Resort, Charlevoix county, last night, with sixteen charter members.—Bellaire Review.

Lieut. Gardner and three of his children left Friday evening for Charlevoix, Mrs. Gardner remained here with Clare, who is quite ill, but will join them as soon as he recovers.—Kalamazoo Gazette.

Mrs. U. H. Hotchkiss and Mr. Geo. H. Quimby and wife of Warren, Ohio, cousins and nephew of Henry Bennett, are visiting in Charlevoix.—Mrs. Hotchkiss for the summer, Mr. Quimby a few days on his way to the west.

Mr. A. D. Otis, whose wife was severely injured by being thrown from a buggy two weeks ago, sends the JOURNAL a call as he go to press. In speaking of the injuries and results, he expresses the belief that the recovery of his wife was due entirely to the skill of Dr. Chisholm who had the case in charge.

Andrew Carnegie's Views.

Mr. Carnegie says the idea of his being a socialist, as stated in a Pittsburg dispatch to the New York Times, is simply absurd. "I did say," he added, "that the idea of the communal brotherhood of men was the greatest conceivable; that it goes back to Christ and is part of his teachings, but modern socialism would set back the hand of time upon the dial of progress. If the socialist's idea regarding the division and distribution of wealth were carried out at 7 o'clock in the morning, it would return to its original possessors before night and the socialist would be again in the gutter. The equalization of wealth instead of being a remedy would be an aggravation of evils. The natural forces for the acquisition as well as the dispersion of wealth must be left free to act."

"How about inherited wealth?"

"I believe the day is coming when a man who leaves more than $1,000,000 at his death, except for public uses, will be regarded as not having properly acquitted himself that for which he was only the trustee."

"Have you any new ideas about cooperation in reference to the workingmen?"

"I do not believe the present mode of rewarding labor is final. So much money for so many hours work, regardless of contingencies, is not right. Payments should be made in proportion to the profits of the business."

"Why have you not adopted such a system with your employes?"

"I have always favored it, but when iron is low the men would not consider it, and when the price was high the manufacturers were satisfied, and we were the laboring men. On one hand, when iron was high, the manufacturers made ten much and the laborers but five; when iron went down they changed places, the laborers' wages were higher than the manufacturers could afford, and reduction followed, and consequent trouble. The best and only system for both capital and labor is a scale based upon ruling prices.

An Araucaria Transplanted.

When a millionaire makes up his mind to have a thing done, the execution is seldom or never delayed or impossible. This the Baron Rothschild has only lately proved. There was a magnificent araucaria in the Valley of the Aube at Cannes, which the baron had planted in the grounds of his own village on the road to Golfe Juan, there to occupy the place of honor. Negotiations were begun, and everything went smoothly, but the permission had to be obtained from the local authorities of the district to allow the giant tree to pass along their roads and over their bridges, for when the tree was extricated it proved that its weight was nearly twenty tons, which had to be conveyed on a truck weighing six tons. On proaching, however, to pay all damages done during transit to either road, bridge, or railway, the permission was given, and, like Andersen's Christmas-tree, the araucaria "was slowly dragged away." But in the present case the work was done by thirty horses, and the araucaria, hopper than the Bedros, is flourishing in its new home on the shores of the Mediterranean.—Pall Mall Gazette.

Tomatoes.

There are many tests of the greatness of our country. The tomato test is one and to be decided. Statistics published by the special journals of the grocers' trade show that the "tomato pack" in the United States for the year 1884 has been 2,021,177 cases containing 48,508,248 cans.

This is enough to supply every man, woman, and child in Great Britain and Ireland, Sweden, Norway, Holland, and Switzerland each with a can of tomatoes and have 12,567 cans left over.

Nevertheless, it has been a poor year for tomato packing. In 1883 there were packed 2,943,573 cases, containing 70,645,856 cans. This was enough to supply, besides the inhabitants of the countries above named, those also of Denmark, Belgium, Portugal, Greece, Roumania, and Servia each with a can, and have 797,989 cans left over toward the necessities of Turkey.

Yet it is scarcely three-quarters of a century since the first tomato ever grown in this country was raised from seed that was brought from Italy and planted in the garden of a gentleman in Salem, Mass.—New York Herald.

An eccentric Grand Rapids woman has a basket of pay up her street car fare with 25 gold pieces, taking no change and it said that she has no reason to complain of impudence by conductors.

General Fremont, gray as he is, again becomes a "pathfinder." He is to head a large party to survey a tract of 15,000,000 acres in Mexico, bought by large capitalists.

The Delights of Walking.

For good, honest interchange of thought and sentiment; for stiffing a man, and separating the corn from the chaff in his moral, spiritual, and social characteristics; for getting a grip stronger than ever in the way of possessing his heart, I know of nothing that can bring better occasions at wealthier chances to you than walking with him on the king's highway. You shall learn more of a man's heart, his likes and dislikes, his hobbies and idiosyncrasies, his weakness and his strength, in a day's walk than you shall be able to get by a month's rolling with him in a diligence or a postchaise. The breeze that winnows your very heart, and sends all the chaff of dark and doubtful thoughts from you, leaving the kernel of true grain white and clean, is surely an unspeakable blessing as you tread your way along the crisp and shining upland road. Then you have the bright or overshadowing sky, and gleaming cottage homes here and there, sheltered under their warm wings of thatch, curtsied over with golden stonecrop and green moss, all sprinkled daintily with crystal gems of hoary rime and frozen snow. Beyond all this, the exhilarating swing in every step you take, and the glorious joy of freedom you possess, combine to open your heart to him who throws in his lot with you for the time, and jogs along with you with ready wit and responsive repartee, keenness of division, and brightness of heart.

What a rare privilege is given to every walker on the king's highway, and through the sweet, shadowy rural lanes and meadows, threaded by silver streams and lined with willow belts, leading therefrom! And yet, how few accept with gratitude and act upon the gift which nature ever extends to them with open hands! What lovely pictures and gleams of lasting joy they who do not go afoot miss forever!—The Quiver for January.

Mrs. Leslie's Husbands.

Mrs. Frank Leslie is having a good deal of trouble with her intended husband, who calls himself the Marquis de Lenville. People who know him say he is a very creditable man, intellectually and socially. Certainly he is a worth fine-looking gentleman, but in his dress and manner he makes such a caricature of himself that he is the butt of all New York. He wears the most outlandish clothes, and seems to have a special pride in the bangs which fall over his forehead, and which he opens most of his time in trying to keep in place. He is said to be a fair writer and a genial companion. It is a wonder to most people why Mrs. Leslie, who has an abundance of practical good sense, does not inform this foreigner that he must either act and dress like a man or get out. Mrs. Leslie's has had a good deal of experience in the marrying business, having had three husbands, I believe. She married the late Frank Leslie when he was well along in years. When he popped the question to her, her reply was "what else would I marry him as soon as he had a home to take her to." He was then a boarder at one of the principal hotels. The old gentleman must have been desperately in love with her, for he endured an army of carpenters to work at once, and in less than a month the beautiful home up near Saratoga was completed. The woman, true to her word, married the publisher. She must have unusual executive ability, for when her husband died his business was $20,000 in debt. This she paid off in an incredibly short space of time, and has now a large income from her publications. She is probably above 40 years old, although she would readily pass for 35. She is altogether too sensible a woman to throw herself away on a Marquis.—Philadelphia News.

How They Vote in Germany.

A striking feature of the German municipal system is its entire independence of national politics. No issues but those arising out of municipal questions are allowed to influence the city elections. Every male inhabitant 25 years old has a right to vote on municipal questions, provided that he has his household and is not dependent on father or mother; that he has not received alms from the public funds within twelve years; that he owns a house or pursues a trade with two employes; that he pays an income tax or a class tax. Under one or another of these two conditions all industrious persons in the city are included. That all votes should count equally is regarded as unthinkable. The arrangement adopted to meet this point of view is like Valois. Citizens are divided into three classes, each of which elects one-third of the city council. To the first class are assigned as many of the largest taxpayers as pay one-third of the taxes assessed; to the second as many as is the aggregate pay the second third of the taxes assessed; to the third class belong all not included in the first and second. Each of these classes elects forty-two members of the council, to influence upon questions of finance before kept in strict equality with its tax payments. The city council of Berlin has long been conspicuous for the educational and financial standing of its members. Election to it is a great municipal honor, which the oldest men in the city aspire.—Northern Leader.

There are 1,314 students at Oberlin College. The catalogue states that young women are able to obtain both room and meals in one of the college boarding halls for $2 a week. And even those figures can be further reduced to $1.50 by any one willing to do housework for an hour or two a day.

District Deputy G. W. C. T. Burdick organized a lodge of Good Templars at Resort, Charlevoix county, last night, with sixteen charter members.—Bellaire Review.

Lieut. Gardner and three of his children left Friday evening for Charlevoix, Mrs. Gardner remained here with Clare, who is quite ill, but will join them as soon as he recovers.—Kalamazoo Gazette.

Mrs. U. H. Hotchkiss and Mr. Geo. H. Quimby and wife of Warren, Ohio, cousins and nephew of Henry Bennett, are visiting in Charlevoix.—Mrs. Hotchkiss for the summer, Mr. Quimby a few days on his way to the west.

Mr. A. D. Otis, whose wife was severely injured by being thrown from a buggy two weeks ago, sends the JOURNAL a call as he go to press. In speaking of the injuries and results, he expresses the belief that the recovery of his wife was due entirely to the skill of Dr. Chisholm who had the case in charge.

J. L. HURD & CO.'S

SPECIAL SALES

Still Continue.

First Invoice of Spring Dry Goods Just Received.

MAYFLOWER TEA,

Our own Importation, and Guaranteed Absolutely Pure.

J. L. HURD & CO.

Successors to Amos Fox.

All the Latest Popular

SHEET MUSIC

May be obtained of

F. G. HINES & CO.,

Druggists and Stationers.

This Space Belongs to

Perry Weed, Druggist,

Opera Block, Charlevoix.

Molten Lead in the Eye.

A jet of melted lead recently lodged in the eye of a Dutch workman while out doing any damage to the organ, and the case was investigated by Dr. Horner, who ascertained that the molten mass due to the lead entering in the "cephaloid state" in presence of the moisture on the surface of the eyeball. The temperature of the lead was found to be higher than 335 degrees of centigrade, which is the point at which the "cephaloid state" takes place, and hence the moisture was evaporated and formed a cushion round the lead, keeping the latter out of contact with the flesh. The phenomenon is a case similar to that of a person plunging his moist arm into melted lead with impunity.—Cassell's Magazine.

Notice of Attachment.

STATE OF MICHIGAN, } The Circuit Court for County of Charlevoix. } the County of Charlevoix.

N. E. Warren, }
vs. } In Chancery.
Wm. Ward, }

It appears by a bond given that on the second day of May, 1885, a writ of attachment was issued out of the Circuit Court for the county of Charlevoix, at the suit of A. E. Pattullo, Esq., Executor of the last will and testament of Ann Warren, late of Charlevoix, Charlevoix county, under the firm name and style of Pattullo & Kimball, and Pattullo & Jones, and Pattullo & Kimball, against the Charlotte Jones and Kimball of Newton C. Warren, for the sum of two thousand five hundred and twenty-three dollars, which said writ was made returnable on the second day of June.

Dated June 3, 1885.

CHUBSHANK & GRIER,
Attorneys for Plaintiffs.

Notice of Dissolution.

Notice is hereby given that the firm of N. E. Weed & Co., dealers in Drugs, Toilet Articles, Stationery, Fishing Tackle, etc., of Charlevoix, Mich., is dissolved by mutual consent. The business will be continued by Perry Weed, who assumes all liabilities and will collect all debts owing to said firm.

HIRAM E. WEED,
N. E. WEED.

TAKE NOTICE.

All persons indebted to the late firm of N. E. Weed & Co., will call and settle account with

PERRY WEED.

FARM FOR SALE.

The subscriber offers his farm, containing 80 acres improved, over 10 apple trees bearing good bearing, so no apples have The Gravenstein Sylvestrin, Summerset, Fall Pippin, Baldwin, Northern Spy, Russet, Jonathan and Ashley. Twenty acres of the whole cultivated. Orchard Street and the Park.

Cottage to Rent.

A well located cottage, furnished cottage on Charlevoix Summer Resort, to rent.

Apply to H. S. ABBOTT,
Charlevoix Summer Resort,
Charlevoix, Mich.

CHANCERY SALE.

STATE OF MICHIGAN, }
County of Charlevoix. }

Notice is hereby given that in pursuance of a decree of the circuit court, made in said county, at chamber, on the 20th day of February, 1885, I shall sell at public auction, to the highest bidder, on the 10th day of June, 1885, at the hour of 10 o'clock in the forenoon, at Charlevoix, State of Michigan, that is to say, at the place where the Court for said County of Charlevoix is held, on the 11th day of July, 1885, the following lands in said county, viz: The following described lands in said decree mentioned, viz: Lots one (1) and two (2) of section twenty-seven (27), and the southeast quarter of the southeast quarter (40 acres) of section twenty (20), in township thirty (30) north of range six (6) west.

Dated May 29th, 1885.

FRANK E. FOSTER,
Circuit Court Commissioner
for Charlevoix County, Michigan.

SAWYER & TENNEY,
Solicitors for Complainant. 38-104

CHANCERY SALE.

In pursuance and by virtue of an order made under the circuit court for the county of Charlevoix, in chancery, in the state of Michigan, on the twenty-eighth day of May, A. D. 1885, in a certain cause therein pending wherein Martin Ward, of Grand Rapids, and Ann Arbor, J. Hall, Sylvester J. Hall, James Van Antwerp and Livingston Van Antwerp, are complainants, and the Charlevoix Summer Resort Association, and Charlevoix Land Company, are defendants, notice is hereby given that I shall sell at public auction to the highest bidder, at the Chicago House, in said village, on the 11th day of August, A. D. 1885, at the hour of one o'clock in the afternoon, all the premises described in said decree, or so much thereof as may be necessary to raise the amount due to the said complainants, as in said decree provided, to wit: The east half of the southeast quarter of section twenty-six (26), in township thirty (30) north of range six (6) west.

Dated July 6th, A. D. 1885.

FRANK E. FOSTER,
Circuit Court Commissioner
for Charlevoix County, Michigan.

CHUBSHANK & GRIER,
Solicitors for Complainant.

MRS. R. TOULOUSE,

Manufacturer and dealer in

ICE CREAM

Fruits, Confectionery,

SODA WATER, LEMONADE, CONLEY ALE, GINGER BEER, ETC.

CHARLEVOIX, MICH.

Picture Frames

Made to Order.

A FINE ASSORTMENT OF MOULDINGS

To Select From.

O. I. WHEAT,

Bridge Street, Charlevoix, Mich.

HOW CHIDNEYS AFFECT HER.

September's listless months slowly drifting
Adrift in the eastern sky,
Casting her silvery Gossamer weaving threefold
Where frosts lie in shadows by.

The night-wind scatters perfume over the meadow
Of Dayle's honeying sweet,
And softly rustles in the fading hedges
The guard his spiders spun.

From sombber thief, from shadowy hedge and hollow
I hear the crickets cry;
It (Lady) wind the yellow of moonlit silence
Its ceaseless rise and fall.

In spring time, when the birds with lights warbling
Across the meadows dart,
I know and whistle, but laugh, tender leaden-eyed
Of hope hatch in my heart!

But as the crickets patient, dreary chanting
Speaks of death in October's days,
Hinting of Winter's approach and full fruition,
The dead leaves flutter down.

UNDER FIRE,

A True Border Story of the War.

Some time before the war a Presbyterian clergyman from New Hampshire went South with his family for the benefit of his health. He purchased a little farm in Virginia about three miles from Washington, D. C., access to which was had by the way of Georgetown and the Aqueduct Bridge. He gradually found in health, however, and had, besides his wife—Mrs. Gayes—and two girls and two boys. At the breaking out of the war in 1861, Mrs. Gayes and her elder daughter, who was about 15 years of age, took a decided stand in favor of the Union cause. It required not a little moral courage in the 19th, but there was no element of fear in the make-up of any member of the family. At first their home was within the Confederate lines, and communication with Washington was very difficult and hazardous. Mrs. Gayes was relentless, and sometimes threatened, but it availed nothing.

After the Confederate lines were driven back a few miles, in fact, fortifications were constructed around Washington for the protection of the national capital. They consisted of a chain of forts arranged in nearly a circle. The line crossed the Potomac near Chain Bridge above Georgetown, and heading thence down to Arlington Heights and some distance below, recrossing the river above Aqueduct Bridge between Long Bridge and Alexandria, and so on around until the circle was complete. Within this line, and about a mile and a half from Fort Smith, situated on a little eminence, was Mrs. Gayes' modest home, protected now from the enemy, but suffering more, perhaps, from her friends. Many regiments were encamped near by, and little by little her timber and fences and stock and crops disappeared, until there was scarcely anything left save the house and the land. Even the cordwood was missing one morning. Very frequently at night she was aroused by the beating of "the long roll," the shouting of words of command, and the tramping of regiments as they swiftly formed in line of battle to meet the expected enemy. On such occasions all the members of the family would hastily throw from one of the large second story windows which the fort was armed about a quarter of a mile away, and cause pounding or crowding toward the house, striking the ground at short intervals in its usual course, something as a stone when thrown violently upon the water skips along the surface. With a shriek like a demon it plunged through the garden, destroying everything in its path, filled the air with dust, gave two or three more skips and screeches, and finally lined over near the road. This happened once.

Come down into the cellar with me, all of you," she said, and their obedient children came down into the cellar. Eliza, the negro servant, who was alternately praying to the great "Lord" and to "Massa Gayes" to save her, she said.

"Charley, you must run up to Mr. Pierson's just as fast as you can, and ask him to go around to the fort and have the firing stopped. And you remain at Mr. Pierson's until I send for you. Don't come back. You are not afraid to go, are you?"

"No, mamma, I'm not afraid," answered the brave little fellow as he clasped his mother's hand a little tighter.

"I know you would not lie; and now as soon as the firing stops I want you to go." When it came she kissed him and said: "Now, my brave boy, go!"

She would gladly have gone herself, but she thought it best to remain that she might be with the other two children in case the house should be struck and fired. It did not take long ere Charley turned his face northward, with a little prayer and a little face was very pale as she kissed him. Away sped Charley through the garden, glancing with wonder at the deep furrows the shells had plowed, dashed the fence, and stationed to run with his night toward Mr. Pierson's house, which was half a mile distant. He had scarcely left the garden fence, however, when another shell came tearing through the shrubbery behind him and passed, and must close to the house. The boy's heart stood still for an instant, and there was cause for it. Close at the firing fragments struck near Charley, and he hitched from left with a cry of "O, mamma!" Down in the house the mother heard the cry of her wounded boy, and for a second she was kneeling by his side. It was a sad sight for a mother to see the poor child, the stream of blood with its ragged edges had stripped a great piece of flesh from the back of his ankle and laid the bone bickly searing the cord and laying bare the tendons. It was trying upon his face, and the blood was streaming the green grass where he had fallen. In a twinkling of an eye, at the moment, she removed his shoe and the fragment of stocking, and hastily bound up the wound with strips from her clothing. In this way she stanched the flow of blood and planted his foot, though she could not alleviate his pain.

"Now, Charley, I must go on to Mr. Pierson's myself, or a shell may strike the house, and then Mary and Roldy will be hurt, and I'm just sick about them, and you will not be in much danger."

"But you'll run, mamma, won't you?"

And the tears trickled down Charley's cheeks, though he tried very hard to keep them back. The tree was a large chestnut, and its gaunous trunk afforded a pretty ample protection against the shells, two of which had struck near by while Mrs. Gayes was binding up the wound. Arriving at Mr. Pierson's, she dispatched him in great haste to the fort, while she, with swift feet, returned to Charley. Becky and Betty Pierson, aged 17 and 15 years, the girlish heroines, returned with her, notwithstanding their boisterous shells. In the way they passed several negroes skulked behind stumps and stones; and Mrs. Gayes vainly begged them to follow her and assist in the removal of the wounded boy. They found Charley behind the tree, and he said, "O mamma, I'm so glad you've come back." He could not walk at all, and he was weak from pain and loss of blood. So his mother and the two girls carried him in their arms as best they could. Down to his dull, half blinded by the smoke and stunned by the awful explosions, slowly moved the strange procession. They waded the little stream in the hollow, stopping a moment to bathe Charley's face and hands, and carried their burden up the hill to Mr. Pierson's house.

By this time Mr. Pierson had reached the fort, and the firing ceased. The other children were sent for, and in a few moments the regimental surgeon and hospital steward came galloping down to express their sorrow at what had happened and to render assistance. The surgeon's proffered services were most gladly accepted. When he was ready to examine the wound, the mother said:

"Now, Charley, it will hurt you to have the wound dressed; but it must be done, and you must try and bear it. It will soon be over."

"I'll try," said Charley, "if you'll be sure, mamma, and not let my leg be cut off."

She pressed him to her heart, and assured him with loving words that there was no occasion for so serious an operation.

"Sing to me, mamma! Sing to me! Why, Charley—I—I—don't believe I can sing now," she faltered.

"You must, mamma, you must. Please sing to me just the same as you always do, and I'll keep awful still." Fort Smith has not fired a target in our field, and the fellows are firing at it. I wish I was a General. I'd put every one of them in the guard-house!"

The boy was right in his surmise, and in a few moments another missile thrown from one of the large second story windows which the fort was armed about a quarter of a mile away, and came pounding or crowding toward the house, striking the ground at short intervals in its usual course, something as a stone when thrown violently upon the water skips along the surface. With a shriek like a demon it plunged through the garden, destroying everything in its path, filled the air with dust, gave two or three more skips and screeches, and finally lined over near the road. This happened once.

Come down into the cellar with me, all of you," she said, and their obedient children came down into the cellar. Eliza, the negro servant, who was alternately praying to the great "Lord" and to "Massa Gayes" to save her, she said.

"Charley, you must run up to Mr. Pierson's just as fast as you can, and ask him to go around to the fort and have the firing stopped. And you remain at Mr. Pierson's until I send for you. Don't come back. You are not afraid to go, are you?"

"No, mamma, I'm not afraid," answered the brave little fellow as he clasped his mother's hand a little tighter.

"I know you would not lie; and now as soon as the firing stops I want you to go." When it came she kissed him and said: "Now, my brave boy, go!"

She would gladly have gone herself, but she thought it best to remain that she might be with the other two children in case the house should be struck and fired. It did not take long ere Charley turned his face northward, with a little prayer and a little face was very pale as she kissed him. Away sped Charley through the garden, glancing with wonder at the deep furrows the shells had plowed, dashed the fence, and stationed to run with his night toward Mr. Pierson's house, which was half a mile distant. He had scarcely left the garden fence, however, when another shell came tearing through the shrubbery behind him and passed, and must close to the house. The boy's heart stood still for an instant, and there was cause for it. Close at the firing fragments struck near Charley, and he hitched from left with a cry of "O, mamma!" Down in the house the mother heard the cry of her wounded boy, and for a second she was kneeling by his side. It was a sad sight for a mother to see the poor child, the stream of blood with its ragged edges had stripped a great piece of flesh from the back of his ankle and laid the bone bickly searing the cord and laying bare the tendons. It was trying upon his face, and the blood was streaming the green grass where he had fallen. In a twinkling of an eye, at the moment, she removed his shoe and the fragment of stocking, and hastily bound up the wound with strips from her clothing. In this way she stanched the flow of blood and planted his foot, though she could not alleviate his pain.

"Now, Charley, I must go on to Mr. Pierson's myself, or a shell may strike the house, and then Mary and Roldy will be hurt, and I'm just sick about them, and you will not be in much danger."

"But you'll run, mamma, won't you?"

And the tears trickled down Charley's cheeks, though he tried very hard to keep them back. The tree was a large chestnut, and its gaunous trunk afforded a pretty ample protection against the shells, two of which had struck near by while Mrs. Gayes was binding up the wound. Arriving at Mr. Pierson's, she dispatched him in great haste to the fort, while she, with swift feet, returned to Charley. Becky and Betty Pierson, aged 17 and 15 years, the girlish heroines, returned with her, notwithstanding their boisterous shells. In the way they passed several negroes skulked behind stumps and stones; and Mrs. Gayes vainly begged them to follow her and assist in the removal of the wounded boy. They found Charley behind the tree, and he said, "O mamma, I'm so glad you've come back." He could not walk at all, and he was weak from pain and loss of blood. So his mother and the two girls carried him in their arms as best they could. Down to his dull, half blinded by the smoke and stunned by the awful explosions, slowly moved the strange procession. They waded the little stream in the hollow, stopping a moment to bathe Charley's face and hands, and carried their burden up the hill to Mr. Pierson's house.

By this time Mr. Pierson had reached the fort, and the firing ceased. The other children were sent for, and in a few moments the regimental surgeon and hospital steward came galloping down to express their sorrow at what had happened and to render assistance. The surgeon's proffered services were most gladly accepted. When he was ready to examine the wound, the mother said:

"Now, Charley, it will hurt you to have the wound dressed; but it must be done, and you must try and bear it. It will soon be over."

"I'll try," said Charley, "if you'll be sure, mamma, and not let my leg be cut off."

She pressed him to her heart, and assured him with loving words that there was no occasion for so serious an operation.

"Sing to me, mamma! Sing to me! Why, Charley—I—I—don't believe I can sing now," she faltered.

"You must, mamma, you must. Please sing to me just the same as you always do, and I'll keep awful still." Fort Smith has not fired a target in our field, and the fellows are firing at it. I wish I was a General. I'd put every one of them in the guard-house!"

The boy was right in his surmise, and in a few moments another missile

HUMOR.

—JIM SMITH is a cottage built man."—"What sort of a man is that?"—"Ian man with only one story is called a cottage built man, and Jim has only got one."—Texas Siftings.

MRS. BRADLEY says "woman is a silent power in the land." All that is necessary to become convinced of the truth of this assertion is to attend a woman's rights convention or a charitable fair.—Lockwage.

ELEPHANTS are very romantic, but there would not be many of them if young men could see the girls they were going to fly with trying to make a beefsteak pudding. Lions flee before helpless nubility.—Exchange.

CONVERSATION AT EDINBURGH.

This is little Johnnie's mother,
He is not to swear or swear,
He cannot learn up-side-down;
Dreadful, ugly swear.

—Macon Messenger.

"HEY, Tommy, you really need not eat so much; you'll make yourself sick."—"Yes, I won't, mamma."—"Yes, you will, you've already eaten so much I expect you feel uncomfortable."—"No, I don't, mamma! I feel sooth."—Chicago Ledger.

AN Irishman, recently over, entered a barber shop in Main street, Dansbury, for a shave. After the barber was through he asked the customary question: "Have lev run, sir?" "No, I won't, mamma." "Yes, you will, you've already eaten so much I expect you feel uncomfortable." "No, I don't, mamma! I feh feel sooth."—Chicago Ledger.

AMERICAN HOTELS.

—Michigan leads the championship of the Union as a single manufacturing State. Even 1,849 establishments 2,584,720 are made per annum.

Upsilanti High School teachers will be a man the same best you with the exception of Prof. Vallard, who goes to Ann Arbor, and Miss Hattie McMillan, who has resigned.

—Ex-President Dingle, of Hillsdale, did a very unusual thing on Saturday in during his administration. Some of the boys had a fire in the chapel, and fined $5 and costs to his pocket.

—Adrian Johnson and John Moore left from the wind as at the Lodge gun saw in Iron Mountain. Metin was killed and Johnson fatally injured. Metin was fat, and Johnson tried to save him, with the above result.

—Christopher E. Mulder, owner of an extensive coal and petroleum business, made state in Detroit, and launches a several other towns and cities, and left Detroit, and forty-three. He leaves behind a wife and family from everywhere.

—An unknown man entered a dwelling at Gladstone city, a young woman, Miss Morgan, being the only one in at the time. After jagging her, he cut her about the face, neck and breast with a knife, inflicting probably fatal wounds, and escaped.

—Philo Wheaton, of Otisville, an old soldier, aged eighty-eight years, died Tuesday, and was buried Thursday. He had been unable for fifteen years to read with out glasses, but a few hours before he died he read a chapter from the Bible, seeing as well as when a boy.

—The announcement that a mine in Houghton county, adjacent to the Lookout and Hecla, has struck the rich conglomerate mineral which has made the fortune of the Calumet and Hecla, is received with the greatest enthusiasm by the people of the whole mining region.

—Sunday morning last a man who was at Ishpeming, Marquette county, was found in the street in a state of intoxication, and was fined $5 and costs for his pocket.

—Sunday morning last a man who was at Ishpeming, Marquette county, was found in the street in a state of intoxication, and was fined $5 and costs for his pocket.

MICHIGAN AFFAIRS.

—The Coldwater cutter factory is now working forty hands.

—Prospects for a big stave-mill being located in Ottawa are excellent.

—Subscriptions to the amount of $3,000 have been pledged toward the new Congregational church to be built at Grand Rapids.

—Saginaw City National Guards are taking steps toward being incorporated under the name of the Saginaw Military Company.

—The best-paid teacher in the Saginaw schools receives $120 per month. The poorest paid receives $40 per month. There are eighty-one teachers in all.

—At a special election July 11 the people of Schoolcraft County will vote on a proposition to expend $7,100 for a new jail and Sheriff's residence.

—The Hillsdale County woman-folk lead the "grin messenger" last year by a number of 100, and they didn't half try, either.—Kalamazoo Telegraph.

—Michigan holds the championship of the Union as a single manufacturing State. Even 1,849 establishments 2,584,720 are made per annum.

—Upsilanti High School teachers will be a man the same best you with the exception of Prof. Vallard, who goes to Ann Arbor, and Miss Hattie McMillan, who has resigned.

—Ex-President Dingle, of Hillsdale, did a very unusual thing on Saturday in during his administration. Some of the boys had a fire in the chapel, and fined $5 and costs for his pocket.

—Adrian Johnson and John Moore left from the wind as at the Lodge gun saw in Iron Mountain. Metin was killed and Johnson fatally injured. Metin was fat, and Johnson tried to save him, with the above result.

—Christopher E. Mulder, owner of an extensive coal and petroleum business, made state in Detroit, and launches a several other towns and cities, and left Detroit, and forty-three. He leaves behind a wife and family from everywhere.

—An unknown man entered a dwelling at Gladstone city, a young woman, Miss Morgan, being the only one in at the time. After jagging her, he cut her about the face, neck and breast with a knife, inflicting probably fatal wounds, and escaped.

—Philo Wheaton, of Otisville, an old soldier, aged eighty-eight years, died Tuesday, and was buried Thursday. He had been unable for fifteen years to read with out glasses, but a few hours before he died he read a chapter from the Bible, seeing as well as when a boy.

—The announcement that a mine in Houghton county, adjacent to the Lookout and Hecla, has struck the rich conglomerate mineral which has made the fortune of the Calumet and Hecla, is received with the greatest enthusiasm by the people of the whole mining region.

—Sunday morning last a man who was at Ishpeming, Marquette county, was found in the street in a state of intoxication, and was fined $5 and costs for his pocket.

—Sunday morning last a man who was at Ishpeming, Marquette county, was found in the street in a state of intoxication, and was fined $5 and costs for his pocket.

Lingering Superstitions.

A few weeks ago a young fisherman, engaged in his calling on the English coast, fell into the sea and was drowned. This occurrence, not an unusual one, would have passed unnoticed had it not been for a singular coincidence. It happened that exactly one year before to the very day the young fisherman's father came to his death in precisely the same manner. The people of the fishing village were persuaded that this was the direct act of Providence, and strongly pronounced the case on which, at a year's interval, father and son had perished, "the unlucky day" of the family.

A belief in "lucky" and "unlucky" days, indeed, survives among the less intelligent classes, not of England only, but of all countries; and this belief is prepared up by the recollection of historical events, or events which happen by chance on the same day to families or neighborhoods. Thursday was regarded as the unlucky day of the Tudor sovereigns of England, for on that day died not only Bluff King Hal himself, but Queen Edward and his two daughters, Mary and Elizabeth. If the present English royal family were superstitious, they might well regard the month of December as their unlucky day, for that was the date of the death both of Prince Albert and his Royal Highness, the Princess Alice.

It is not very long since the belief in lucky and unlucky days caused the entire folk in England to observe the following rules, which, if not superstitious seem to us, in these days of enlightenment, insane in strength and enough. It was thought, for instance, that people who were ill of a fever were sure on Sunday, Tuesday, and Thursday of the week, and that if they purchased a pewter on a Monday, it was a sign that they would soon have a relapse. Another superstition, which is, perhaps, not so insane, was that the day of the week on which the fourteenth of May fell was an unlucky day all the rest of the year; and on that day people would not get married, or do any serious business. In Northern Scotland, January and May have always been looked upon as unlucky months, during in which it would be flying in the face of an unhappy fate to get married. It is curious that, in spite of all this intelligence, persons who do not like to act down to a lucky day, or who prefer to be superstitious, or to conform upon anyserious occasion, to the lucky days.

Among the lucky signs still believed in by English rustics are the visits of strangers to the cottage, the meeting with a dock of sheep, and the finding of horseshoes; but it is very unfortunate for a man to pick up his stockings from the floor, and to meet a funeral procession at the same time.

If a person's eye itches, it is said among the country people that that person will either weep soon, or be laid in a bed. If a mind, on St. Valentine's day, on going out, meets a man before she does a woman, it is a sign that she will be married before the end of the year.

All these singular superstitions have been handed down from generation to generation, and have received additions in the long course of years. Some of them have been slowly growing in civilized, and some in barbarous, ages. Some, these superstitions grew farther and farther, and in time they will disappear, as the light of intelligence increases.

A SINGULAR BOOK.

Scintillating with Sarcasm and Brilliant with Truth.

[New York Cor. Anderson Herald Herald.]

Chap. I.—"Has Malaria" goes to Florida.
Chap. II.—"Overworked," goes to Europe.
Chap. III.—"Has Rheumatism" goes to Hot Springs.

Chap. IV. Has a row with his doctor.

The above chapters, Mr. Editor, I find in a book recently published by an unknown author. I have read a deal of sarcasm in my day, but I never read anything half so sarcasm keenly constituted. I suppose the experience portrayed is a personal one, for the author intimates as much on page 31. Let me give you a sample.

"Malaria," as it states, is the chum with which superficial physicians cover up a multitude of failings which they do not understand, and do not make care to investigate. It is very easy for such diseases as they cannot cure. When they advise their patient to travel, and he is overwhelmed, and needs rest, and is probably suffering from malaria, it is a matter of amusement or of inability, the patient goes abroad. The change is a tonic, and he comes home better. Good humor, Flesh, appetite, frequent headaches, severe colds, cramps, neuralgia, irritability, tired feeling, and general malfeasance for business are accounted in this book by starving attacks of rheumatism which Rita shows his body regardless of all other feelings.

In a chapter—In his back. Arthritis—In his joints. Rheumatism—In his muscles. Neuralgia—In his nerves. Dyspepsia—In his stomach. Nervous—In his heart. Now all he goes to the springs. He takes a tonic here, a tonic there, and at the same time he does not really want him to do so. Malaria!

Better for a few days. Relapse. After a little several days longer. He thinks cannot breathe; has pneumonia; cannot breathe; has pneumonia; cannot breathe; has pneumonia; cannot breathe; very nervous and irritable; is pale and labor; has frequent chills and fevers; suffering from nervous prostration; cannot sleep; cannot sleep; cannot sleep

PINE LAKE IRON COMPANY

Ironton, Mich.,

Are Full in all kinds of General Merchandise.

I have purchased the Meat business of Armstrong & Co., and will continue at the old stand, with the freshest and best goods in the market.

T. E. CHAMBERLIN.

Good Goods and Low Prices ARE

BOUND TO WIN

If you don't believe it, come and see my SPRING STOCK. You will see that I am up to the times in styles, and have as fine an assortment of MEN'S, YOUTH'S and CHILDREN'S SUITS, as you will find in any City. I defy any House to show any nicer line of NECK WEAR and

Furnishing Goods

My aim is to HOLD THE CLOTHING TRADE by carrying a Large Stock so I can please you all. PRICES TALK. Come and see my Large Spring Stock before buying elsewhere.

GEO. W. MILLER.

FURSMAN & CO.'S
Great American Allied Show

Museum, and Trained Animal Exposition.

THE GREATEST 25-CENT SHOW ON EARTH

AT CHARLEVOIX,

SATURDAY, JULY 18th.

Amphitheatrical entertainment will be chiefly among its best of attractions. Sir. Frank Archer, Allyn Brothers, Lavoi, Alberia, Abe Mc Shoots, Ann Shooter' School of Educated Dogs and Monkeys, the Children's delight, The Patterson Brothers, Signor Jean Atwerez, The Olson Sisters, FOUR FUNNY CLOWNS.

Chas. Carlo's Wonderful Troupe of Trained Andalusian Stallions and Pigmy Ponies. Our Museum Department will be found to be replete with the Strangest Living Marvels and Mechanical wonders, including Mille Irene, Inez Genota, the Four Long-Haired Sisters, the wonderful Illusion of Psycho, One Thousand Rare Animals and Inanimate Curiosities.

THE HAPPY FAMILY,

Consisting of a large number of Foreign and Domestic Animals living in harmony together. Prof. Marr's Silver Cornet Band will parade and perform in the afternoon exhibition, in their beautiful Chariot, through the principal streets.

Remember one ticket admits to both pavilions.

Admission 25 Cents.

Doors open at 1 and 7 p. m. daily.

THE CRAZIEST CRANK.

A Man Who Believes Himself Without a Body.

"Those who, like in view of Bryant Park, New York, and the nurses and children who daily throng its pathways, are very accustomed to see a quiet, elderly man seated by the sculptured group on the corner of Forty-second street and Fifth avenue, who gazes the long round of the wakes, unseeing every living pass by the park within his chair. Had, rain or shine he comes there regularly every morning and remains his accustomed place, saying nothing to anyone, not speaking or answering anyone.

"There is some crank," said the officer on that beat to a reporter. "I have watched him daily for the last six years almost, and have never yet found out what he means by doing it." he continued.

At the suggestion of the reporter he made up his mind then and there to inquire of the mysterious person concerning what the object was.

When the man again came round the officer was in such a position that the latter could not conveniently be reached, so with a deep sigh the man was about to retrace his steps, perhaps to be hope that the officer would soon leave the spot. Before he could do so the officer button-holed him.

"Now," said he, "I've got you on a most considerable small, "can't you tell why you go every day to these old benches? If you have any doubt that they are not made of iron or that they are firmly fixed why let me know and we will have them all taken up and hauled home."

There was no reply. The mystery only smiled pitifully on the policeman and he went on:

"I've seen you every day for years, and I think you ought to look upon me more as a friend."

The spell was broken, and in a calm, quiet tone the answer came:

"Ah, my poor, deluded mortal, you have never seen me. My soul frequents those shades" (the trees are all bare) "and duty performs the duty imposed upon it by the angel."

"What sort?

"Yes, my body is now miles within the earth's caverns, but you might have seen my soul on its daily duty if regulating the light and heat of this great planet. You have observed the manner in which I touch the iron, which is the conductor of the power which to me alone has been given. Now I touch it slightly upwards, because the enemy is subdued and nerves is shown, but in the centuries and the ages past" (the officer says about two years ago) "I struck it downwards and the angel of night had to yield."

"Well, well," murmured the officer, "I used to see you tap the ground three times, about two or three years ago, but on that day you did not touch the lamp post."

"Poor mortal, that was centuries ago. On those days the spirit of darkness revolted and my striking the earth shook it to the center and made the evil one quake with fear in his cavern.

"Where do you live?"

"Where should the soul live? Not in the earth, but in the sky, where the clouds float onward and forever, until I sound the trumpet and all will take their mortal shape again. But I must not delay, for the evil that I must conquer might gain strength, and if it should succeed what, oh, mortal, might become of you?"

Saying this he touched the lamp post lightly with an upward movement and walked off to the next one.

"Well, I never thought he was as bad as that," said the policeman. "I knew that he must have been a little bit gone in the upper story, but he is by all odds the craziest liar I ever came across."—N. Y. Mail and Express.

Repose in Conversation.

The bending quality to be cultivated, if you would have an agreeable manner in conversation, is repose. If you are restless and vehement you will be considered weak. So you must not fidget in your chair, nor run your fingers through your hair, nor crack your finger-joints, nor gesticulate like a campaign orator. All of these things are in bad form and make people wish you had sent regrets. You must avoid interrupting other talkers, and learn to control your temper, and say as little as possible about yourself. No matter how bored you may be, assume the virtue of being interested, and look pleased at any sacrifice of sincerity and self-respect. Politeness exacts that you do unto others at such times as you expect them to do unto you when your turn comes. Your language should be simple and terse, but clear and comprehensive, and free from slang. Do not seek to shine as a humorist unless you are very confident that the company is an easy one to amuse; but if another person makes such a venture it is your duty to laugh, even if his joke are so thin and flat that you long to strangle him. The amenities of social conversation do not permit the introduction of political or religious topics, for the reason that they are likely to be discussed in a calm and kind spirit. The Mentor.

The Minneapolis Evening Journal says very truly, that the American gun which would award the Marquis de Leuville a cent of damages on account of any disrepect for his title which may have been evinced, by, say, the New York Herald, ought to be banished to Patagonia. America is no place for Marquises. They should come here as men. This government was framed for the people. Some of the citizens of the East are losing their regard for Republican institutions, but they are a few leaves in the foliage of June.

J. MILO EATON,

DEALER IN

Real Estate

OF ALL KINDS.

Houses and Lots for Sale

IN THE MOST DESIRABLE PARTS OF CHARLEVOIX.

WILD LANDS AND IMPROVED FARMS

FOR SALE IN ALL PARTS OF THE COUNTY.

Abstracts of Title Furnished on Short Notice.

OFFICE ON BRIDGE STREET. ESTABLISHED IN 1874.

GARLAND STOVES & RANGES

KEEP YOUR EYE ON THE Right Place

For Bargains in Hardware,

Iron, Cutlery, Tin ware, Stoves, Implements, Fixtures, Pumps, Grindstones, Wagons, Buggies, Carts, Wheelbarrows, Refrigerators, Doors, Sash,

PAINTS Oils, Varnishes, Putty, Glass, Fence wire, Farm bells, Carpenter's tools, Notions, Fishing tackle, Revolvers, Guns, Ammunition, Spoons, Forks, LAMPS, Buckets, Measures, Tubs, Wooden ware, Rope, Fishermen's Supplies, and Ship chandlery. Job and Tin work.

L. D. BARTHOLOMEW & CO.

HENRY C. COOPER

WILL SELL

Furniture at Reduced Prices

To Make Room for New Stock.

A LARGE LINE OF HAMMOCKS, BABY CARRIAGES, AND TRUNKS AT COST, TO CLOSE OUT.

HURRAH for GOOD TIMES

Everything Booming

AT E. M. CLARK'S

Where he has a Lively Trade in

Dry Goods, Groceries, Boots and Shoes, Clothing, &c.

When you get the blues, just call around and see with what dispatch everything is done, where Pork, Eggs, Butter, &c., is taken in exchange for Goods.

E. M. Clark

Charlevoix, Mich., Harbor and Summer Resorts.

The above is a geographically correct view (though containing but a small portion of the buildings) of Charlevoix, Mich., a village of over twelve hundred inhabitants, rapidly growing in favor and reputation as one of the most delightful Summer Resorts and safest harbors in northern Michigan. Several lines of steamers concentrate here, connecting at all hours of the day with surrounding towns, filling steamers, picnic parties, and other places of interest, breathe a pleasure. Unequaled inducements are also offered the permanent settler who desires to embark his capital in manufacturing enterprises where it will bring the best results. The resources of the county are being developed so as to bring the richest returns. For any other information regarding the village or surroundings, address

THE CHARLEVOIX JOURNAL

CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN.

THE JOURNAL is an eight-page newspaper, devoted to the material growth and prosperity of Charlevoix county in general, and Charlevoix village in particular. Published weekly, 52 issues per year. Sample copies free.

CHAS. J. STRANG, Publisher.

Temperance Column.

Conducted by a Committee of the W. C. T. U.

Officers of the Society.

President—Mrs. C. V. Cook.
First Vice President—Mrs. L. E. Allen.
Second Vice President—Mrs. J. T. Eddings.
Third Vice President—Mrs. G. F. Van Aiken.
Corresponding Secretary—Mrs. H. C. Loveday.
Recording Secretary—Mrs. E. Sutfield.
Treasurer—Mrs. C. J. Strang.

BANISH ALL THE CREW.

O. K. SCHOLLAY.

Time—Auld Lang Syne.

Come, temperance bands
Throughout the lands—
Red ribbons, White and Blue,
Here finish up the work begun;
Here banish all the crew.

CHORUS—

Come, let us three to do, my friends;
Come, let us three to do!
Here banish cider, beer and rum,
Tobacco bands, too;
We've strivers long these hands to form
Of people tried and true;
To finish up the work begun,
And stop this business, too.

CHORUS—

Bring up the rear, make no deferment;
Come, John Red, White and Blue;
Come, show your self for temperance,
And do this animal rule;
O large beer we stand in fear,
Gin, rum and whiskey, too;
Come, finish well the work, now fear
To banish all the crew.

CHORUS—

The day will come—it dawneth nigh—
When "mottle the spangled blue;
We'll raise our shouted Heaven-high,
With mottle, "true to do!"

Then glory crowned from all around,
"Mottle the spangled blue,
When every heart will then resound,
You've dared the right to do!

N. F. Handy of this city, who departed for Kansas some weeks ago, is erecting a large store in the bright new town of Minneapolis in that state. In a letter written from Topeka to a Lansing friend Mr. Handy gives his opinion of the present workings of the temperance law in the state as follows:

"There are no saloons here now. The drug stores sell all there is sold legitimately in the way of liquors, and while some people still get drunk, as I suppose will always be the case, yet this treating and being treated is at an end. I regard Kansas as a safer place for boys than my state. I have yet been in. Things have greatly changed here during the past year, and there seems more of a determination on the part of the people to enforce the law. We shall know more about its practical success in 12 or 18 months hence."—[Lansing Republican.

The Union Signal, of Chicago, thus simply, aptly and truthfully contrasts the old commandment of entire prohibition, with that which generally obtains under a license of the liquor traffic: "The old commandment, 'Thou shalt not kill.' The new commandment, 'Thou shalt not kill, unless thou take out a license and give to God and that man will not kill after twelve o'clock at night and that thou will not kill any one under 21 years of age.' And so killing goes on according to law in Christian America, under the shadow of the stars and stripes, in the nineteenth century.

In the United States there are about 150,000 saloons, one tenth of them in the state of Ohio, and every one of them a nursery, more or less, of poverty and crime. No wonder that theft, robbery and murder have so largely increased that a little boy asked his father to let him have the daily paper to read about the murder and when he was asked what murder he replied, "I don't know, but every paper has a murder in it." And one and thing about the matter is that so few of the murderers are convicted. It seems to us it is time to amend our jury laws so that one man interested in the protection of criminals will not be able to secure acquittal by hanging the jury. —[Herald and Presbyter.

In Answer to Type.

No. Supreme Courts in several States have held that the type known as an interrogation-point (?) is not a legal "figure 2" in a delinquent tax-list; that a section-mark (§) will not do for a "figure 8;" and that a paragraph-mark (¶) is not permissible in place of a dollar-mark ($). In printing-offices over 500 miles from a type-foundry, however, the court sustains the use of the dagger (†), the parallel (||), the pilcrow (¶), and the double-dagger (‡) in place of the "figure 1." It may be of value to the editor in these terrible emergencies to remember that the expression "Ditto" (which, with three 120 different ways) will cover a multitude of unpaid taxes.—The Current.

LET US CONVERSE.

A Growing Tendency to Disregard Conversation—Whitlier Are We Drifting.

The voice of the scientist or of the preacher is not required to emphasize the fact that an intense desire for amusement marks the present age. For the man or woman wearied by the cares of an active life, recreation now and then is not only delightful, but healthful. The writer's purpose is neither to point out the proper kind of amusement nor to indicate the extent to which they should be indulged. On the contrary, he merely wishes to intimate that there seems to be a growing tendency on the part of many people to discourage conversation. This is apparent in some homes where a different state of things would naturally be expected. In many places it has become the fashion, when a few friends are invited in "to spend the evening," to ignore the pleasure and profit derivable from an interchange of ideas, and spend the time in playing a trivial game. Unhappily this practice is not confined to our "young people." It is natural that children should wish for amusement of a trifling character, but adults ought to be able to say with the Apostle: "When I became a man I put away childish things." The hope of the fathers is in the children. What may we expect of our young people if no effort be made to check the excessive indulgence in parlor games that are so popular at present? At the same time, something better must be provided. Indeed, one might be pardoned for fearing that in some places conversation is in danger of becoming a lost art. Hence, the question arises: "Whither are we drifting?"

In n'ne cases out of ten, on the part of those who give themselves up to nonsensical games, there will be no desire for anything of an enobling nature. If we habitually neglect to cultivate our minds, we can hope for nothing but intellectual inferiority, and inability to converse with ease and elegance. What is there more enjoyable than a brilliant, witty conversation, enlivened by an occasional pun and sparkling repartee? It is true that one all round expert in this delightful accomplishment, any more than we can all excel in any branch of learning or business; but we can, at least, use the talents that we have, whether they be one, two or five.

Though conversation, in its letter part is "the gift of a gift, and not an art, Yet much depends, as in the giver's toil, On culture and the working of the soil.

It is said that the celebrated Samuel Johnson for a long time looked upon conversation as the chief amusement. He told Sir Joshua Reynolds that he had always made it a rule to talk upon every occasion as much as he could. "He had thus obtained a mastery over his weapons which made him one of the most accomplished conversational gladiators." A great responsibility is laid upon us to improve the mind. We should ascertain its various faculties and susceptibilities, and earnestly strive to make as much progress as possible. We have the power of introspection, and should not fail to make good use of it. Of people who are negligent in this respect, it has been well said: "Thousands multiplied live and die as truly strangers to themselves as to countries of which they have heard the name, but which human foot has never trodden." A ready talker may not have any better mental ability than one who is "slow of speech," but on account of being able to express his thoughts in an intelligible and forcible style, he is looked upon as belonging to the "aristocracy of intellect," while the other is relegated to the rear, one of intellectual mediocrity.—Thomas C. B. Fraser in The Current.

Living on a Shelf.

The philosophers of the school of Henry George recognize the immorality of the exclusive house, even while advocating the nationalization of the land, and, so long as there is ownership in land, it should be the aim of society to promote, so far as possible, individual possession of an exclusive home, in order that the rich few may control the home life of the poor many, and in order that the latter may be free from the sense of domination. But as long as it is not likely that so desirable a condition can be realized the men who build houses for single families, rather than blocks of flats, are the men who are doing the best work toward the substantial growth of the city. And it follows that those who occupy these houses are doing better for themselves and the public than those who consent to live in shelves. Such progress is now making in the improvement of city transportation facilities that objections to locations on account of their remoteness are proving less and less serious, and this is one of the hopeful indications. It accordingly becomes the duty of those who have the influence in directing the minds of men to the true duties of good citizenship, to urge upon them the desirability of a multiplicity of separate homes as against the grouping of families in omnibus edifices.—The Current.

Yucatan Indian Huts.

The huts are oblong, and rounded at the corners. Some are divided in two by a partition. More generally the whole family crowd together in the single apartment. The walls are formed by putting sticks upright in the ground and filling the interstices with mud, or else with a mixture that is afterward smoothed and white-washed. The roofs are slanting and thatched, the thatch being allowed to fall to within two or three feet of the ground, to keep off wind and rain. The surface of the earth serves as flooring, since the inmates can seldom afford to have it cemented. The furniture consists of a few hammocks hung across the room—they serve as seats by day and beds by night—some low chairs, called butacas (similar in shape to some of the seats used by the Assyrians and Egyptians of old), a wooden bench on which are the grinding-stones, and an image of a saint in some corner of the room. The fireplaces—three stones placed in triangle on the floor—is there too. Chickens, dogs, pigs, and babies all frolic together in these poor houses, and appear to be tolerably happy, if not very well fed.

While every corner of the hut is crammed with rubbish, its miserable sometimes sits in the hammock swinging, as nicely as her house, making artificial flowers to adorn some wooden image of the Virgin.—Alice D. Le Plongeon, in Harper's Magazine for February.

Gov. Hill on Capital Punishment.

Gov Hill of New York in his recent message observes: "The present mode of executing criminals by hanging has come down to us from the dark ages, and it may well be questioned whether the science of the present day cannot provide a means of taking the life of such as are condemned to die in a less barbarous manner. I commend this suggestion to the consideration of the Legislature." This is a question which must more and more occupy the attention of thinkers until some practical improvement of the present system is accomplished. Hanging as a means of execution is notoriously uncertain in its operation, and the consequence of this uncertainty is that the criminal is exposed to a punishment not in his sentence, a torture which, in theory, the law has long since abolished." For either the neck may slip, or the knot may be shifted, or the fall may be insufficient, and the criminal may consequently be strangled to death. And it is to be observed that, while such strangulation may not technically violate the law, it certainly outrages its spirit. The modern theory of capital punishment rejects the idea of vengeance. Society is overshadow its highest power in the taking of human life, and nothing but the safety of the community can justify it. When therefore, the death of a man is adjudged, society is bound to carry out the sentence in the most humane manner, and that means the swiftest and most painless manner.

In effect no death which is not instantaneous in its extinction of consciousness can be declared painless, and therefore only an instantaneous form of execution ought to be accepted as fulfilling the purpose of the law and of society. There is no reason to doubt the ability of modern science to devise a mode of swift and really painless execution. Electricity would certainly furnish the means, and it is impossible to slide a duty on the part of the Legislature to take Gov. Hill's suggestion on this head into consideration, for there should not be permitted the existence of a doubt as to whether condemned criminals suffer needlessly in paying the final penalty.—New York Tribune.

Living High on a Paper of Needles.

After the battle of Chickamauga, one "war mom" found a needle-case which had belonged to some poor fellow, probably among the killed. He did not place much value upon the case, although there was a paper of some eight needles, several buttons, and a skein or two of thread, cut at random and neatly braided, so that each thread could be smoothly drawn out. He put the whole thing in his breast-pocket, and thought no more about it. But one day, while out foraging for himself and his mess, he found himself near a house where women could have prepared a fine meal of fried chicken, corn pone and buttermilk, besides a small supply to carry back to camp. But Confederate soldiers were generally as empty as their uniforms, and, in this instance, the lady of the house did not offer to give away her nice dinner. While the poor fellow was inhaling the enticing odor and feeling desperately hungry, a girl rode up to the gate on horseback, and hawled out to another girl inside the house:

"O, Cindy, I rid over to see if you couldn't lend me a needle. I broke the last one I had to-day, and pap says thar ain't nary nother to be bought in the country hereabouts."

Cindy declared she was in the same fix, and couldn't finish her new homespun dress for the same reason.

The soldier just then had an idea. He retired to a little distance, pulled out his case, and stuck two needles in the front of his jacket, then went back and offered one of them, with his best bow, to the girl on the horse. Right away the lady of the house offered to trade for the one remaining, and the result was a plentiful dinner for himself, and, in consideration of a thread or two of silk, a full bag-rock and canteen. After this our mess was well supplied, and our forager began to look sleek and fat. The secret of his success did not leak out till long afterward, when he astonished the boys by declaring that he "had been living like a fighting cock on a paper of needles and two skeins of silk."—The Bivouac.

A North Carolina woman, who discovered that a thrifty neighbor had been stolen from her was in the possession of a neighbor, went to a magistrate for the purpose of instituting legal proceedings for the recovery of her property, but the magistrate told her that the cost of lawful proceedings would be considerable, and, as the hatter had been taken from her illegally, she had better raise a sufficient crowd to go and take her back by force, and thus save expense.

Neither New Hampshire nor Rhode Island built a mile of railroad during 1884.

A SILVER MINE.

Its Alleged Discovery in Pennsylvania.

For over a century a tradition has existed among the settlers of the Wyoming Valley that the mountains on either side of the river contained silver. Various legends exist of men who have made fortunes from the soil. In 1826, one story goes, an industrious blacksmith named Andreas, who lived in Tunkhwile, across the river, some miles from Wilkesbarre, was visited by a traveling Indian, and a rare thing in those days, who asked for the loan of a digging tool, promising to pay for the loan with a piece of silver as big as the tool itself. The blacksmith lent the tool, and then, seeing the Indian taking his way up the mountain, stealthily followed and saw him dig from the hillside a quantity of silver ore. Andreas kept his secret, and obtained sufficient wealth, from his hidden mine to purchase a fine farm in Berks County. On his death-bed he told his secret to his son, who in turn derived much wealth from his mine, and handed the secret down to his son, who divulged it to one or two people. Some years ago it came to the knowledge of one Jeremiah Wonders, now living in Tunkhwille, and the proprietor of a tannery.

From that day every dollar that Wonders could scrape together went toward purchasing land on the mountain. A short time ago, being possessed of between 200 and 300 acres in the region, he told his purpose in thus purchasing to Joseph Hartle, a well-known farmer of the vicinity. The two pooled their issues and began prospecting together. Laborers were employed and the work of mining begun. The field of their operations is on the mountain, half-way up, just opposite the Coe Cave Hotel. A shaft has been sunk to a depth of sixty feet and a drift has been commenced in the side of the hill to strike the bottom. Several fine specimens of silver ore were discovered. Some pieces have been forwarded to Philadelphia for assay, and others were submitted to Dr. C. Ingham of this city, the only man in this vicinity who makes analyses of minerals. He pronounced one specimen to be genuine galena or lead ore carrying some silver, but how much of the precious metal it contained he could not tell without making an analysis, the result of which is not yet announced.

Harter says that he has encountered evidences that some persons before him have been working in the same locality. He has discovered numerous caves in his prospecting, some of which appear to be the work of human hands. A drift or tunnel has been struck, almost closed by rubbish, which has been followed many yards, and appears to lead a long way into the hillside. Another large cave has been found which appears to have been at one time the abiding place of Indians. Various kinds of rubbish have been discovered, giving unmistakable tokens of having been left by man, and a thorough examination of the place is to be made in the hope of discovering valuable Indian relics. Other traces have been found which show that miners have been at work in the vicinity in times past.

The discoveries have created much interest in the locality and in this city. There does not appear to be much doubt that silver in larger or smaller quantities exists in the mountains, but the best authorities are very skeptical as to whether it can be mined in paying quantities.—Wilkesbarre Letter to Philadelphia Press.

American candles sell on the street stands in Lucknow at from 8 cents to 12 cents apiece.

A Reliable Article.

For endorsement of a remedy to set such goods as all over the trade sell and give satisfaction, Dr. Thompson's Eye Ointment, in competition, is the most popular one. Sales always increase in the most flattering manner. Druggists, Cash, Freight and Primary Consumption. Price seventy and $100. Samples free. 1

MISS L. SPAULDING,

DEALER IN

MILLINERY

AND

Fancy Goods.

Dressmaking Done in the Latest Styles.

CHILDREN'S GARMENTS.

We would call the attention of the Ladies to our STAMPING DEPARTMENT.

☞ We endeavor to do our work well and at reasonable prices. Come and see for yourself.

JAMES HEMMINGS,

Upright & Hardist Addition, Charlevoix.

HOUSE PAINTER,

Calciminer,

Paper Hanger,

And Decorator.

PINE AND HARDWOOD FINISHING. GOOD WORK.

CASH FOR

FAT CATTLE,

Sheep and Hogs.

Having contracted to furnish Fresh Meats to the Charlevoix markets, this season, I will pay the highest market price for fat Cattle, Sheep, and Hogs.

A. J. McLEOD.

Charlevoix, May 20, 1885.

Photographs!

I have located my

New Photograph Gallery

OVER

UPRIGHT, & EMREY & & CO.'S & STORE,

And am prepared to do

All Kinds of Photographic Work,

From the

Miniature Picture to Life Size

Any Old Picture Copied and Enlarged.

Satisfaction Guaranteed.

DAVE BRADBEER,

Charlevoix, Mich.

BANK OF CHARLEVOIX

Receives deposits of TEN DOLLARS AND UPWARD. Gives per cent interest, payable January and July. Also receives deposits of SAVINGS and 3 per cent. PER ANNUM. Interest added to principal. Property held by us to protect our depositors in Real Estate. Savings Banks, or other State Banks, offer no security to their depositors. National banks are equally liable for deposits beyond the amount of their capital stock, and are subject to the control of a single individual, who is often fractious. National banks are not subject to the control of any one individual, but are controlled by a board of directors, who are responsible for the acts of the bank. Money is loaned only on the best security, and we do not specialize lending that will come over and bother the depositor. Our business is conducted so that it is foolish, and without profit, to be anything but honest. BROWN & CO.

John Nicholls,

CHARLEVOIX, MICH.,

Manufacturer of and dealer in

HARDWOOD AND PINE

LUMBER!

ALSO

Dressed Lumber, Oar Blades,

WALCH TONGUES, SHINGLES, LATH, ETC.

LUMBER SAWED AND BILLS FILLED TO ORDER.

McCABE'S
Livery and Hack Line

DRAYING TO ORDER.

Passengers, Baggage, etc., delivered to all Boats, Hotels, or any part of the City.

AT

McCabe's Livery Barn,

CHARLEVOIX, MICH. 43

WM. J. STEVENSON,

HORSE-SHOEING,

Wagon Shop,

BLACKSMITHING, ETC.

Heavy Wagons on hand and made to order. I guarantee my work equal to any wagon, of the best material, and WARRANT ALL WORK. Call and examine before buying elsewhere.

SHOP ONE BLOCK WEST OF CARPENTER, BARTHOLOMEW & CO.'S STORE, CHARLEVOIX.

☞ The CELEBRATE MOWING MACHINE on hand and for sale. 1y

C. R. BELLINGER

Has a large stock of

New Jewelry and Silverware

(SOLID AND PLATED)

Pins, Charms, and Chains,

In all the latest styles.

Watches, Clocks, and Optical Goods.

New style of Monogram Pin just received. Sewing Machine oil kept in stock.

Money to Loan

On sums of $100 and upwards, at reasonable rates of interest, on approved real estate security.

H. C. Miley,

49-tf Boyne City.

WOOD WANTED.

Two or three loads of good block wood wanted at this office immediately.

Strikes and Strikers.

When a number of men resolve to quit work for any reason, it usually is called a strike; when a number of men, seeing that the market is overstocked with the goods they manufacture, agree that a part of them shall cease their work, that the others continue and share these profits among the whole, that is called legitimate business. Competition is believed to be the life of trade, but when the said manufacturers form an association, like a combination for the purpose of safeguarding some of any consideration but their own profits, that is also regarded as a sound business proposition. The time has long since passed when any one who was a employer, because one man or a dozen, just refuse to work at the wages they believe or for any other reason. Workmen have the same right to combine for their own purposes that stores, mill or rail mines furnaces have for theirs, but they don't, by a long shot, to say that no one shall work upon the terms which they refuse. The line must be drawn somewhere. But suppose they do try endeavor to prevent others from taking their places, how is that in any way different from the position taken by manufacturers? The manufacturers of steel, iron or woolen goods first proved the importation of foreign goods, which gives them virtually the control of the American market, then they form combinations which keep the prices of the goods they make at a point utterly independent of any real competition, domestic or foreign. Has not duty fix the price of their goods but they determine what shall be the wages and the operatives they employ, and if American labor can not be obtained at these figures they go to the foreign labor markets for their supply. The men who do this, which is to say, the men who make the laws also would prevent others from taking their places, great fearfully because they are "not allowed to control their business as they see fit." The combination is looked at the other It is so wholly off for coal miners to stop employe work out of the country to raise the price of that on hand so it is for strikers to prevent other men from taking their places. The employers themselves are responsible for exactly the condition of things that compelates the labor troubles in this country. They do exactly what they complain of their employes for doing, and both are wrong. They force Americans to buy of them and pay their prices as the laborers would compel the manufacturers to work at their and wages.—[Chicago News.

Protected Iron and Unprotected Labor.

Our protective tax on manufactured iron and steel is higher than that of any other civilized nation on the globe. It ranges all the way from about 2 per cent. on the lowest to 99 per cent. on the highest articles named in the tariff schedule the average being within a fraction of 55 per cent. on the free market value of the products of iron and steel mills. As homeseekers walk, as artists consumed to since except by the farmers of the land, the tax is only 38 per cent. After enumerating all the articles that could be thought of and affixing a tax thereon, a sweeping clause is added fixing the rate on all articles not enumerated at 45 per cent. Not a thing, of which iron and steel are a component part, is allowed to escape.

One professed object of this excessive and all pervasive protective taxation, according to the oft repeated statements of protectionists, is to secure the payment of good wages to labor. "A high tariff means plenty of work at high wages" is their clap-trap cry in every political campaign. Has this pretense been realized? Far from it. At the present time about 90,000 workmen in the iron and steel industries are out of employment, of which number 20,000 are reported to be in Pennsylvania, 3,500 in West Virginia, 12,000 in Ohio, 2,000 in Indiana, 6,000 in Illinois, 2,000 in Missouri, 2,000 in Wisconsin, and 1,000 in Michigan. When it is considered that in 1880, according to the census returns, the whole number of persons engaged in the manufacture of iron and steel in all their forms from the smallest nails to the heaviest forgings, was 139,292, it will be seen how serious this suspension of labor is. About one-fifth of all the persons employed are out of work, and that too under a tariff that is enormously protective. But this illustrates, with the certainty of taxation, how efficiently the tariff protects American labor.

Labor protected by the tariff! Never was there a more arrant humbug. Why, when the protected manufacturers, a short time since were negotiating with the workmen concerning wages, the former demanded a general reduction of 10 to 15 per cent. in wages from those engaged in certain lines of production, and 25 to 50 per cent. in others the heaviest reduction being to the wages paid to skilled workers. Now the protective tax is about iron, and steel is 40 per cent. If therefore a high tariff makes high wages the steel rollers should have had cause to the least rather than the greatest reduction. The fact that a 40 per cent. reduction of wages was demanded from those engaged in manufacturing articles protected by a 40 per cent. tax further illustrates the dishonesty of the pretense that the tariff protects American labor.

The workingmen, acting through their association, proposed to accept some of the reductions but when it came to the last one-third of the wages if the steel rollers they objected. The protected manufacturers were inexorable. The unprotected laborers were thoroughly, to the number of 60,000, locked out of the iron and steel manufacturers and are now idle.

Such is the actual experience in this year of grace, of workingmen under a high tariff policy. That it is the inevitable result of restricted trade by tariff enactments there is no doubt. More tariff means less trade, and less trade means still greater hardships for workingmen. Less tariff means more trade, and more trade means better times for them.—[Jackson Patriot.

Notes and News.

Representative Hampton has written a strong letter in reply to the resolutions of Chedwagan Tribune, defending his position in regard to the proposed new county, which surround so much foul blood in that healthy last winter. There may come a time, and soon, when Mr. Hampton's constituents will give him a stronger vindication, notwithstanding the gerrymandering in reorganizing representative districts.

So far as it is apparent the policy of the Cleveland administration is distinctly a revenue policy. It is a policy of economy and retrenchment, and that necessarily means a reduction of the burdens of taxation. Republican protectionists in Congress, in order to avoid the necessity of reducing the tariff, resorted to all sorts of wild and wasteful methods of expenditure. Economy is the direct road to tariff reform.—[Jackson Patriot.

European nations are now laying off the United States in its own coin by imposing a high tariff on American products. The tariff, like highway robbery, is a cut purse game, and the hostile legislation of Germany, France and other nations will teach a lesson that will not be soon forgotten, especially by our farmers who produce the great bulk of our exportable commodities. Those who have been voting for a high protective tariff, that has fostered monopoly, provoked retaliation, and plundered the producers of our surplus products, may possibly get their eyes open. When they do they will discover that the tariff is a cut-throat as well as a cut purse game that more than one nation can from greed or malice play at.—[Jackson Patriot.

There is no use denying that the conduct of the railroads in maintaining high freights west of Chicago is today the uppermost topic from Illinois to the Rocky Mountains and from Manitoba to Texas.—Monongalia Tribune.

According to the Cleveland Herald, "the Ohio penitentiary not needs enlarged workers, an elevator and a pretty clock to make it a fashionable hotel on the American plan."

The Bank of Mercy in this country now numbers 3,350, with a membership of 270,000.

WENT IN A "JIFFY."

How a Valuable but Crushed Young Woman Left William M. Evarts' Employ.

The election of William M. Evarts as the same journal again the familiar statement of the man who made the remark that "the pen is mightier than the sword." Evarts is a jolly and fellow, very operative at times when he will do or relax his dignity, and much given to joking when not in deep observation. In the magnificent lounge-room of the Union League Club, of which he is the President, no anecdotes than his are listened to with less grave impatience, and their point, like spoilers is that, through the entirety of some long speech, the listeners are not all whether the story is to be funny or not. Such a case occurred the attention, of course, because it was the point of interest in the wagon pull in about relieve. Now the productive tax is 40 per cent. and steel is 99 per cent. If therefore a high tariff makes high wages the steel rollers should have had cause to the least rather than the greatest reduction. The fact that a 40 per cent. reduction of wages was demanded from those engaged in manufacturing articles protected by a 99 per cent. tax further illustrates the dishonesty of the pretense that the tariff protects American labor.

The workingmen, acting through their association, proposed to accept some of the reductions but when it came to the last one-third of the wages if the steel rollers they objected. The protected manufacturers were inexorable. The unprotected laborers were thoroughly, to the number of 60,000, locked out of the iron and steel manufacturers and are now idle.

Such is the actual experience in this year of grace, of workingmen under a high tariff policy. That it is the inevitable result of restricted trade by tariff enactments there is no doubt. More tariff means less trade, and less trade means still greater hardships for workingmen. Less tariff means more trade, and more trade means better times for them.—[Jackson Patriot.

Protected Iron and Unprotected Labor.

Our protective tax on manufactured iron and steel is higher than that of any other civilized nation on the globe. It ranges all the way from about 2 per cent. on the lowest to 99 per cent. on the highest articles named in the tariff schedule the average being within a fraction of 55 per cent. on the free market value of the products of iron and steel mills. As homeseekers walk, as artists consumed to since except by the farmers of the land, the tax is only 38 per cent. After enumerating all the articles that could be thought of and affixing a tax thereon, a sweeping clause is added fixing the rate on all articles not enumerated at 45 per cent. Not a thing, of which iron and steel are a component part, is allowed to escape.

One professed object of this excessive and all pervasive protective taxation, according to the oft repeated statements of protectionists, is to secure the payment of good wages to labor. "A high tariff means plenty of work at high wages" is their clap-trap cry in every political campaign. Has this pretense been realized? Far from it. At the present time about 90,000 workmen in the iron and steel industries are out of employment, of which number 20,000 are reported to be in Pennsylvania, 3,500 in West Virginia, 12,000 in Ohio, 2,000 in Indiana, 6,000 in Illinois, 2,000 in Missouri, 2,000 in Wisconsin, and 1,000 in Michigan. When it is considered that in 1880, according to the census returns, the whole number of persons engaged

Harbor Springs, Petoskey, Charlevoix and East Jordan.

STEAMER THOMAS PRIANT.

CAPT. E. VANDENBURG

Morning—Leave Harbor Springs 7:00, Petoskey 7:45, Charlevoix 8:30, arrive East Jordan 10:30. Afternoon—Leave East Jordan 1:30, Charlevoix 4:00, Petoskey 5:00, arrive Harbor Springs 5:45.

Connections made at Petoskey with G. R. & I. R. R. Trains, north and south.

Grand Rapids & Indiana R. R.

Time Table in effect June 21, 1885.

GOING NORTH.

STATIONS.	No. 1	No. 3	No. 5	No. 7
Cincinnati, Ex		7 00am	7 30pm
Richmond, Ex	6 00pm	1 30pm	10 00pm	4 40am
Fort Wayne, Ex	9 15	4 05	1 40am	7 00
Chicago, Ex	12 00m	7 00	4 35	10 20pm
Kalamazoo, Ex	2 46	9 56	6 58	2 19
G'd Rapids, Ex	3 30	10 50	7 50	3 10
G'd Rapids, Ex	11 45	11 00	7 25	6 05
Petoskey, Ex	11 44	11 00	7 25	6 05
Mackinaw City	11 00pm	11 00am	8 00	6 00
Bay Shore	2 42	3 42	10 42	10 42
Boyne City	3 45	4 45	11 45	11 45
East Jordan	3 45	4 44	10 11	11 45
Ellsworth	4 00	4 55	11 10	12 00am
Bellaire	4 50	5 45	12 00
Central Lake	4 56	5 55	12 10
Alba	5 05	6 05	12 20
Williams	5 10	6 10	12 25
Eastlake	5 15	6 15	12 30
Kewadin	5 20	6 20	12 35
Ellsworth	5 25	6 25	12 40
Intermediate	5 30	6 30	12 45
Mackinaw City	10 00pm	7 40	4 10pm

STATIONS.	No. 2	No. 4	No. 6	No. 8
Mackinaw City	8 00am	8 10am		1 00pm
Harbor Springs				4 00
Petoskey	8 47	9 05		5 00
Bay Shore	8 55	9 13		5 08
Boyne City	9 25	9 45		5 40
East Jordan	9 25	9 45		5 40
Ellsworth	9 41	9 59		5 54
Williams	9 46	10 04pm		6 00
Eastlake	9 51	10 09		6 05
Kewadin	9 56	10 14		6 10
Central Lake	10 00	10 18		6 15
Bellaire	10 05	10 23		6 20
Alba	10 15	10 33		6 30
Petoskey, Ex	2 00pm	3 45	11 05	10 17
G'd Rapids, Ex	7 00	8 00	4 00	6 00
G'd Rapids, Ex	7 45am	3 45	11 45	10pm
Kalamazoo, Ex	8 35	4 35	12 35am	10 50
Chicago, Ex	1 00pm	10 00	6 00	4 00am
Fort Wayne, Ex	4 40pm	11 00	4 45	7 00
Richmond, Ex	8 00	2 00am	7 00	10 00
Cincinnati, Ex	7 30pm	7 00am	7 00pm

C. L. LOCKWOOD, G. P. A., Grand Rapids, Mich.

The Chicago Daily News

Has the Largest Daily Circulation in America.

Its issue for the year 1884 averaged 120,178 copies daily, and it is now regularly printing over 130,000 papers a day.

The importance of this unequaled circulation is best appreciated when it is said that it exceeds the circulations of all other Chicago dailies combined. Taking from the latest annual newspaper directories—Ayer & Son's Annual, Rowell's Directory and Hubbard's Directory—the quotations which most nearly represent the actual circulations of the Chicago press, the following diagram correctly illustrates their relative positions as to extent of circulation.

From these figures it appears that the circulation of THE CHICAGO DAILY NEWS exceeds the combined circulations of all the other Chicago dailies by 12,323 copies daily. The reasons for this phenomenon are as follows:

THE CHICAGO DAILY NEWS is a complete newspaper in all that constitutes the best type of American journalism.

It is a member of the Associated Press and is the only 2-cent paper in the West that possesses this first essential to a complete news service. In addition, it leads the press with the news from the Western Union Telegraph Co., connecting by a direct office with New York and Washington, at both of which points it has its own news bureaus. THE CHICAGO DAILY NEWS prints all the news.

It is an independent paper. It recognizes the utility of political parties as means for the accomplishment of proper ends, but it declines to regard any mere party as a fit subject for unquestioning adoration. It solicits the patronage of intelligent, thoughtful, honest people, who love country more than party.

THE CHICAGO DAILY NEWS is a "select and to the point" paper. It believes that newspaper reading is but an incident of the day, not its chief business. It accordingly leaves to the "blanket sheets" the monopoly of tiresome and worthless amplification. It seeks to say all that the reader should care to read, and to say it in the shortest possible manner. It is a daily paper for busy people.

It is a clean paper, fit for the family circle. It is a cheap paper—2 cents per copy, 12 cents per week, 50 cents per month, $6.00 per year. Sold by all news dealers throughout the Northwest. Mailed to any address, post paid, upon receipt of price.

Where the facilities of a daily mail are not enjoyed THE CHICAGO WEEKLY NEWS is recommended. It is the best but it is large 8 page, 64 column paper, carefully made up to meet the varied requirements of the family circle. It is the largest "dollar weekly" in America. It is equal to the best.

GET THE BEST

If your neighbors want a clean, handsome weekly newspaper, giving all the latest and most interesting news, and the markets, they have them sent in exchange for this paper, two months, 50 cents for four months, 25 cents for one month, $1.00 per year. Address

The Charlevoix Journal,

CHARLEVOIX, MICH.

PIMPLES.

I will send Free the recipe for a simple vegetable remedy that quickly removes PIMPLES and BLOTCHES, leaving the skin soft, clear and beautiful; also instructions for producing a luxuriant growth of hair on a bald head or smooth face. Address, inclosing a 3c. stamp, REV. VANDELL & CO., 12 Barclay St., N. Y.

THE HOWE MACHINE CO.

AT THE FRONT.

OUR LATEST SUCCESS.

An Entirely New — High Arm.

Easy Running Sewing Machine

THE HOWE

The Most Room under the Arm.
The Best Self-Setting Needle.
The Largest Bobbin.
The Easiest Shuttle to Thread.
The Most Perfect Tension.
The Most Reliable Feed.
The Most Perfect Take-up.
The Best Bobbin Winder.

SIMPLE, STRONG, DURABLE & HANDSOME

Runs Rapidly, Very Light, Very Still, and without Vibration.

Before you purchase, please examine the NEW HOWE at the office of

Mrs. M. Litney, Agt., Charlevoix

ERRORS OF YOUTH

AND MANHOOD. Man who has suffered all the horrors arising from the dreadful and destructive habit of self abuse, and is anxious to recover his former vigor and manhood, discovered a reliable and really simple of cure, will send the recipe free to any fellow-sufferer. Address, enclosing stamp, name and address, JOHN H. REEVES, 161 Madison Street, New York.

Established Fifty-five Years.

RAVEN & BACON,

—NOW—

RAVEN PIANOS,

33 East 18th Street, New York City.

BUY FROM THE MANUFACTURER AND SAVE 50 PER CENT.

These Pianos are made from the best material, finished in the best manner, and fully warranted for ten years. Their Scale, Action, Tone and Style of Finish have been decided by competent judges to be unsurpassed by any Piano made. Every Piano is fully warranted for ten years, and every one is sent on trial, and if not satisfactory, the money will be refunded. Illustrated Catalogue with full description, sent free on application.

No. 1, Upright or Square, $350, worth $600
No. 2, " " 300, " 500
No. 3, " " 200, " 400

ALL 7 1-3 OCTAVES.

$100 REWARD

FOR

Every Ounce of Adulteration

IN THE

U. G. Soap

The Great 5c Cake,

Made only by

GOWANS & STOVER,

BUFFALO, N. Y.

For Sale by all First-class Grocers.

Nimrod

Plug Tobacco,

Sold by all Grocers and Tobacco Dealers. Noted for its Excellent Chew, Delicious Flavor, and Cheery Cut. This Tobacco is Manufactured of Prime Leaf, Purest Sweetening. "Everybody Chews Nimrod." Send for Sample.

S. W. VENABLE & CO.,

Petersburg, Va.

8791

A PRESENT.

Our readers for 12 cents to pay postage stamps to pay for sending and wrapping, and mention this book agents, will receive free a Sand Sample of a new and very popular Game, forming Dissected Dissected, and Dissected Sands. Address Elder Pub. Co., Chicago, Ill.

Do You Know

THAT

LORILLARD'S CLIMAX PLUG TOBACCO

Will Cut The Longest Plug? Is Sweeter, Juicier, Chewier, and Much, Brown, and Yellow Stalk are the best and richest, quality considered. 35p

TO CONSUMPTIVES.

The advertiser having been permanently cured of that dreadful disease, Consumption, by a simple remedy, is anxious to make known to his fellow sufferers the means of cure. Those who desire it, will send a copy of the prescription (free of charge) with the directions for preparing and using the same when they will find a sure Cure for Coughs, Colds, Consumption, Asthma, Bronchitis, &c. Parties desiring the prescription, will please address, Rev. E. A. WILSON, 194 Penn St., Williamsburg, N. Y.

ERRORS OF YOUTH.

A GENTLEMAN who suffered for years from Nervous Debility, Premature Decay, and all the effects of youthful indiscretion, will for the sake of suffering humanity, send free to all who need it, the recipe and directions for making the simple remedy by which he was cured. Address, inclosing stamp, to parties who may find it a benefit, JOHN H. OGDEN, 42 Cedar St., New York.

THIS PAPER may be found on file at Geo. P. Rowell & Co's Newspaper Advertising Bureau (10 Spruce St.), where advertising contracts may be made for it IN NEW YORK.

THE CHARLEVOIX JOURNAL.

NUMBER 105. CHARLEVOIX, MICH.: THURSDAY, JULY 16, 1885. $1.50 PER YEAR.

THE JOURNAL

Published every Thursday,

BY CHAS. J. STRANG.

Office on Bridge Street,

CHARLEVOIX, - - MICHIGAN

ENTERED AT THE POSTOFFICE AT CHARLEVOIX, MICH. AS SECOND-CLASS MATTER.

BUSINESS DIRECTORY.

ATTORNEYS.

WILBUR, MARTIN, Attorneys at Law, Boyne City, Mich. Prompt attention.

CROSWELL, SHANK & COHIL, Attorneys at Law Petoskey, Mich. Office in Dutton's Block. Collections.

ICE CREAM.

ICE CREAM, Strawberries, Real Estate Loan Agents. Lake St., east of postoffice, Elk Rapids, Mich.

H. A. MAYNE, Attorney and Counselor, Real Estate Agent. Prompt attention to SOLDIERS' CLAIMS.

H. A. GEISE, Attorney and Counselor at Law. Office in Park's Block, Ludington, Mich.

J. E. WEBBER, Attorney at Law and Judge of Probate, Office in Court House, Manistee, Mich.

JOHN FADDY, Attorney at Law, Charlevoix, Mich.

WILLIAM A. GRANT, Attorney at Law. Boyne City and East Jordan. W. A. Nettleton, Boyne City, Real Estate Agent.

DUANE L. WAGNER, Attorney at Law and Solicitor in Bankruptcy. Office Opposite Postoffice, East Jordan, Mich.

W. A. WOODS, Attorney and Solicitor, East Jordan, Mich. Collections a Specialty.

A. S. WOLF, Attorney at Law, Boyne City, Mich.

CHURCHES.

FIRST CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH. Sunday services at 10:30 a. m. and 7:00 p. m. Sunday School at close of morning service. Prayer-meeting every Thursday evening at 7:00 p. m. E. A. SCRANTON, pastor.

METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH.—Sunday services at 10:30 a. m. and 7 p. m. Sunday School at close of morning service. Prayer meeting Thursday evening at 7. J. T. HODGINS, pastor.

FIRE DEPARTMENT.

CHARLEVOIX HOUGH AND READY FIRE COMPANY meet every Saturday night, at 8 o'clock in Town hall. H. F. BISHOP, Secretary.

HOMEOPATHIC PHARMACY.

SCHUFELDT, Homeopathic Medicines, Books, 18 Jefferson Ave., Charlevoix, Mich.

PHYSICIANS.

J. A. CARLSTEDT, M. D. Office at the Ingleside.

J. LEWIS, M. D., Physician and Surgeon, Office in the Lewis block, Charlevoix, Mich.

W. M. PRESTON, M. D., Surgeon and Homeopathic Physician, Charlevoix, Mich.

REAL ESTATE AGENTS.

HORACE S. HARSHA, Notary Public, Real Estate, Loan, and Insurance Agt., Charlevoix.

SECRET SOCIETIES.

O. E. R. Harbor Post No. 118, meets second Monday in each month at Odd Fellows' Hall.

I. O. O. F. Charlevoix Lodge No. 367, meets every Friday evening, at Odd Fellows' Hall.

I. O. O. F. Round Lake Lodge No. 245, meets every Saturday evening, at Round Lake.

G. C. M. Round Tent, No. 126, meets second and fourth Saturdays at Odd Fellows' Hall.

R. O. L. True Blue No. 67, meet Saturday on or before each full moon. Hall over Crouter's.

M. W. O. W. Charlevoix Lodge No. 246, meets at Temperance Hall on or before full moon.

WELL DIGGING.

FRANK HUGHES, Charlevoix, Mich., will attend promptly to all work in the line of well digging, cistern building, pump repairing, well curbing, cellar building, and similar work. 45

The Charlevoix Improvement Association.

OFFICERS.

President—Byron Ross.
First Vice President—W. A. Smith.
Second Vice President—Robert Miller.
Recording Secretary—Chas. J. Strang.
Financial Secretary—Geo. Gregory.
Treasurer—Albert E. Mason.

STANDING COMMITTEES.

Executive Committee—J. Mile Eaton, A. D. Fitzgerald, and Wm. Hibbard.
Corresponding Committee—H. Lee Billings, W. A. Smith, and C. A. Cook.
Lumber Interest—T. W. Mason, L. D. Ingersoll, H. J. Scott, Jas. R. Cooper, Geo. W. Dr. J. B. S. Miller, S. M. Nye, W. C. Newman, J. M. Ross, H. Bevlan.

OBJECTS.

To aid and encourage the establishment of manufacturing enterprises in Charlevoix, and to advance the material growth and prosperity of Charlevoix and vicinity.

REGULAR MEETINGS.

At Charlevoix, Village Hall on the Third Monday evening, at 7:30 o'clock.

CORRESPONDENCE SOLICITED.

W. H. WAGAR, G. C. WAGAR.

Wagar Bros.

Wholesale and Retail dealers in Tobacco, Cigars and Smokers' Articles. Also a full line of Confectionery, Fruits, And Temperance Drinks. Corner west of Bridge Street House, Charlevoix, Mich.

RUPTURE CURED by our ANTIPAST Lotion. Sale, safe, sure. Send stamp for book and testimonials. 29 Ann Street, New York.

THIS PAPER may be found on file at Geo. P. Rowell & Co's Newspaper Advertising Bureau (10 Spruce St.), where advertising contracts may be made for it IN NEW YORK.

A FEW FACTS CONCERNING

DR. CROUTER'S

BAKING POWDER

Or Quick Yeast.

If you use it you will never have yellow biscuit.

If you use it your biscuit will never taste of Soda.

It contains no alum, and is absolutely free from anything of a deleterious nature.

It is made from PURE GRAPE CREAM OF TARTAR and NOT from the Common Cream of Tartar of the stores.

It is always fresh and will never disappoint you.

Directions for using furnished with every package.

Price 40 Cents per Pound.

Manufactured and Sold only by

Dr. GEO. W. CROUTER,

Chemist and Druggist,

BRIDGE STREET, CHARLEVOIX, MICH.

Come and See our Immense Stock of

BOOTS AND SHOES.

FOX & MILLER.

BRIDGE STREET HOUSE,

ROBERT MILLER, Proprietor,

Charlevoix, Michigan.

This house is centrally located, and its accommodations excellent. The table supplied with the best the market affords. Only sample room in Charlevoix.

COMMERCIAL HOUSE

D. H. PERRICE, Proprietor.

East Jordan, Michigan.

Entirely refitted and refurnished. First-class Sample Rooms for guests. Good Stable in Connection with the house. 32 tf

FARMERS' HOTEL,

W. S. JOHNSON, Proprietor.

Antrim Street, near Village Hall, Charlevoix.

Location convenient for merchants working in any of the factories on Round Lake, and for farmers coming to town. Good stable for teams will be provided.

FOUNTAIN CITY HOUSE.

RICHARD COOPER, Proprietor.

Charlevoix, - Michigan.

Finest location in town, giving good view of the surrounding country. Sample rooms and headquarters for Pickerel and Elk Rapids Steamboat sample rooms for commercial travelers adjoining hotel.

JORDAN RIVER HOUSE,

TRAVIDER & BLAIR, Proprietors,

East Jordan, - Michigan.

These having business at the county seat will find this the most convenient place to stop, and the proprietors will spare no pains to give the best satisfaction. HIPPING CONNECTIONS.

PINE LAKE HOUSE,

A. J. HALL, Proprietor.

Boyne City, Michigan.

This house is finely located on the Boyne river, at the head of Pine Lake. It is large and commodious, and is well adapted to the accommodation of the traveling public.

PIONEER HOUSE,

A. B. NOYES, Proprietor.

Ironton - Michigan.

Every convenience for the traveling public.

Well-Digging.

JOHN SHRIER

Charlevoix, Mich.,

is prepared to do all work in the line of well-digging, cistern building, pump repairing, well curbing, and similar work.

OLD NEWSPAPERS FOR SALE

Press Resolutions.

The following resolutions were adopted by the joint meeting of the Michigan State and Western Michigan Press Associations, at the conclusion of their excursion, at Harbor Springs, July 3, 1885:

WHEREAS, The Michigan State Press Association, and the Western Michigan Press Association have held a joint session at Traverse City, beginning July 6, 1885, and

WHEREAS, The occasion has been one of unalloyed pleasure to all of us, and of great individual benefit, therefore the task has been delegated to the undersigned to express, as adequately as we may, our obligations to those through whose great kindness and courtesy we were enabled to have so thoroughly enjoyable an experience.

RESOLVED, That we return our thanks to the managers of the several railroads of Michigan for extending to us the privilege of free passes over their lines, and for embracing, in the passes, our wives, children, sisters, and other fellow's sisters.

RESOLVED, That inasmuch as the Flint & Pere Marquette and the Grand Rapids & Indiana Railway Companies extended to us the privilege of special trains, we owe special thanks to the management of those roads; to Assistant General Manager D. Edwards and Superintendent H. C. Potter, Jr. of the first-named, road and to President W. O. Hughart, General Passenger Agent C. T. Lockwood and Master of Transportation E. Fitzgerald, of the latter road; we are under special obligations for our attention to our comfort, giving our trains their particular care and personal supervision; and while returning thanks for the kindness of these gentlemen, we assure them that each member of these associations will ever hold them in grateful remembrance.

RESOLVED, That we being ever grateful for courtesies extend by citizens in various parts of the state, but now or more so than to the citizens of Traverse City, in which the annual meeting of the association convened this year, and as a token of appreciation extend our most heartfelt thanks to the citizens of Traverse City for the grand entertainment extended, which has equaled anything of the kind in the history of this association.

RESOLVED, That it is the sense of this association that the entertainment received at the hands of Hannah, Lay & Co. be indelibly written upon the tablets of our memory, that time never may efface.

RESOLVED, That thanks be more especially tendered to Hannah, Lay & Co. for the unexpected and elegant entertainment at their fine hotel, the Park Place, and where our money would not pass current; also for the gratuitous use of their fine steamers for an excursion to Charlevoix and other points—further be it

RESOLVED, That in the hearty welcome which the citizens of Charlevoix prepared for the association, we recognize the same good will and generous disposition which has and generous disposition which has and generous disposition which has and generous disposition which has and generous disposition which has at every hand; that we extend our thanks for their kind hospitality, and express our regret that the shortness of time prevented us from enjoying all the pleasant drives and such excursions that they had so liberally arranged.

RESOLVED, That to the citizens of Petoskey we extend our thanks for their cordial reception; for the use of the Arlington Hotel Hall for our meeting; and for the elegant repast served on the occasion of our complimentary hop, so kindly extended to us.

RESOLVED, That our thanks are due to the citizens of Harbor Springs for the cordial reception given to our party, and the chance to see all the lovely scenery surrounding their beautiful village. We will have a lasting remembrance of the village, not only on account of its natural beauties, but also as being the earthly tabernacle of the irrepressible, tireless, accommodating, indefatigable, eloquent, always—unpromptly-ready, ubiquitous and popular Charles S. Hampton, to whom with Hon. L. M. Sellers, we owe so much of the general happy features of this excursion.

RESOLVED, That to the citizens of Harbor Point Resort Association we tender our thanks for the elegant entertainment given to us. We wish to have them to understand that we prefer towards them the most grateful feelings, and will point with pride to this pleasant feature of our excursion. As we traverse our way to our homes we will think of this occasion with full hearts.

RESOLVED, That to one and all, who have contributed to the multiplied and continuous enjoyment of this excursion, we hereby tender our grateful acknowledgements for favors received, and now that the trip is over, and the time has arrived for us to dispersed, we pledge ourselves, our fortunes and our sacred honors, to always be in readiness to accept any invitation to visit all of the citizens of this section of our state again whenever they telephone us; this section so favored by Providence and beautified by nature, where the health giving breezes come fresh from the kisses of the waters, bringing to the tired out worker a new lease of a hopeful future.

Birds and Their Feathers.

The best time for seeing perfect feathering is in the winter, or onward to the spring; then, after a very short honeymoon, the birds settle down to domestic drudgery with exemplary ardor, with the result that at the end of a few weeks their tail-feathers are rough and irregular, their pinions worn and ragged from constant contact with the nest in sitting; and by the time their new suit comes at midsummer they are more than ready for it. The spring, of course, is the climax of a bird's life. With scrupulous care he arranges luxuriously his feathers, all their markings answer to perfection, and many peculiarities of decoration are then and then alone displayed. The fleshy combs and protuberances become scarlet and enlarged, and any one who has not seen a pheasant or cock grouse at this season of love would be astonished at the alteration from his normal state. The cock pigeon swells that part of his body most adorned with irridescent feathers to make the grandest show in coin; and every humble finch and small bird brushes up his modest finery. It is said that not a single bright-colored feather on any bird's body is left idle or undisplayed. If birds have bright-colored tufts they raise them to their highest and fullest and abuse their heads; if bright beads, then they shake out their plumes, their eye distends, and their wattles swell; and if, as in some cases, they have large tufts of feathers falling on both sides of the head, they contrive the bewildered hen shall see all the glories of both sides at one glance, and so drag all the feathers of the far side round to the near side, making such a huge mass that the face is nearly hidden, and the projecting beak alone shows where the head must be. All this done for the hen's benefit, and it is only done when she is near; it all turns on her existence, and ceases if she be absent.—Charles Whimper in Magazine of Art.

The Neapolitan Caban.

In Naples no inhabitant of the town ever thinks of paying his cabman his legal fare. Everyone feels it would be unjust to compel him to drive from one end of the town to the other for the 8 pence he has a right to claim, and on such occasions every one gives him something extra. But for short drives the 8 pence is too much. On summer afternoons a walk through the streets is almost intolerable. You have been to see the museum or the aquarium, let us say; the walk from either to the Park Place, and where our money would not pass current; also for the gratuitous use of their fine steamers for an excursion to Charlevoix and other points—further be it

RESOLVED, That in the hearty welcome which the citizens of Charlevoix prepared for the association, we recognize the same good will and generous disposition which has and generous disposition which has and generous disposition which has and generous disposition which has and generous disposition which has at every hand; that we extend our thanks for their kind hospitality, and express our regret that the shortness of time prevented us from enjoying all the pleasant drives and such excursions that they had so liberally arranged.

RESOLVED, That to the citizens of Petoskey we extend our thanks for their cordial reception; for the use of the Arlington Hotel Hall for our meeting; and for the elegant repast served on the occasion of our complimentary hop, so kindly extended to us.

RESOLVED, That our thanks are due to the citizens of Harbor Springs for the cordial reception given to our party, and the chance to see all the lovely scenery surrounding their beautiful village. We will have a lasting remembrance of the village, not only on account of its natural beauties, but also as being the earthly tabernacle of the irrepressible, tireless, accommodating, indefatigable, eloquent, always—unpromptly-ready, ubiquitous and popular Charles S. Hampton, to whom with Hon. L. M. Sellers, we owe so much of the general happy features of this excursion.

RESOLVED, That to the citizens of Harbor Point Resort Association we tender our thanks for the elegant entertainment given to us. We wish to have them to understand that we prefer towards them the most grateful feelings, and will point with pride to this pleasant feature of our excursion. As we traverse our way to our homes we will think of this occasion with full hearts.

RESOLVED, That to one and all, who have contributed to the multiplied and continuous enjoyment of this excursion, we hereby tender our grateful acknowledgements for favors received, and now that the trip is over, and the time has arrived for us to dispersed, we pledge ourselves, our fortunes and our sacred honors, to always be in readiness to accept any invitation to

☞ The Lawrence brought in a lot of new goods for THE FAIR.

☞ Now is the time your horses and cattle need attention. To prevent disease and tone up the system you will find Parmelee's Condition Powders unrivalled. Full pounds 35 cts. Sold by Dr. G. W. Crouter, Charlevoix, and Crouter & Harris, Ironton. 29 tf

Remember This.

Hamilton's German Bitters are the best bitters made. They promote sleep and allay nervousness. They tone up and strengthen the system, without exciting the nerves as do most other stimulants. They soothe to rest the jarring nerves, and calm the irritable and jaded system. They are prepared from the purest materials and are the best medicines you can use for restoring health and strength. Try them. 50 cents per bottle.

Sold by Dr. G. W. Crouter, Charlevoix, and Crouter & Harris, Ironton.

Nature Cleanses

The system, if given an opportunity, but very few persons find time to give nature a chance and so the blood, which is the great drain for carrying away impurities, becomes so clogged with disease that unless some help is given it, the person will be afflicted by blood poisoning and suffer with pimples, boils, carbuncles, cancers, scrofula, &c., and often die without help. Save yourself from all this suffering and loss of time by using Parmelee's Blood Purifier which prevents all diseases in the system. Large bottles $1.00.

Sold by Dr. G. W. Crouter, Charlevoix, and Crouter & Harris, Ironton.

For the Household

Dyspepsia, Indigestion and Headache seem to take the place of the three graces in many households. How sad is the condition of such a family. The kidneys and liver often get deranged and perhaps the parents or even children may be suffering from diabetes, bright's disease or some kindred disease. As a preventive and a cure for all the diseased conditions of the human family no preparation equals Parmelee's Dyspepsia, Diabetes, Kidney and Liver Cure. Only $1.00 for large bottles.

Sold by Dr. G. W. Crouter, Charlevoix, and Crouter & Harris, Ironton.

Remember This.

Hamilton's German Bitters are the best bitters made. They promote sleep and allay nervousness. They tone up and strengthen the system, without exciting the nerves as do most other stimulants. They soothe to rest the jarring nerves, and calm the irritable and jaded system. They are prepared from the purest materials and are the best medicines you can use for restoring health and strength. Try them. 50 cents per bottle.

Sold by Dr. G. W. Crouter, Charlevoix, and Crouter & Harris, Ironton.

☞ The New York Nation printed in its issue of June 25 a retrospect of the twenty years of its existence which were completed with that number. The Nation was founded in July, 1865, in recognition of the new order of things which was sure to follow the end of the war and the abol

THE JOURNAL

BY CHAS. J. STRANG.

CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN.

NEWS CONDENSED.

Concise Record of the Week.

EASTERN.

Miss Rose Sidmer, dissatress of the New York Supreme court, committed suicide a week ago by jumping from her apartments in Brooklyn. Mr. Sidmer had been missing for a week, during which time it is alleged, attempts to induce him to return to his home were made.

New York insurance companies have commenced suits to recover from the Dominion Government the money collected from them under the provincial act and subsequent decisions made upon the validity of which Ottawa is now based, and they will in some instances sue officers of the company for the amount of taxes paid under protest, and cause them to be imprisoned.

Natural merchants of the Salvation Army, from Canada, have been sent to Ireland to the number of 1,000 to take charge of the Salvation Army in that country.

Four hundred and five hundred dollars are the monthly compensations of the Illinois Senators and Representatives. Chicago gives to its members a salary of $1,000 a year, and Springfield and Peoria allow $500 each. Springfield and Peoria also give members free passes.

A Boston Banker found a fully developed calcary tree in his garden and holding it up for inspection to the newspapers the Hub was profoundly astonished.

Gen. K. Chase is prominent broker on New York, and is said to be a candidate for President in case the Greenback Party shall be perpetuated anyhow.

WESTERN.

The losses by the flood in Southern Kansas are greater than at first reported, a thousand families having been made homeless.

Lawlessness threatens an island, some miles above Vicksburg in the Lafourche River, and one of the leaders, an Indian half-breed, has been arrested. The Indian, which spans that division, was the last out of the long chain, and had been left behind by the main column. Farmers all along the Lafourche have lost fruit growth, and much timber has been cut, a great deal of which was in the levees, which have caused the loss of thousands of dollars.

The hotel which finished the two miles of Grenada, Mississippi, completed its work by taking thirteen dance-houses in towns and hanging him to a tree and killing John Campbell, for whom a reward has been offered, but who was at the guard and could not be taken alive.

WASHINGTON.

A belief prevails among the diplomatic representatives of the South American Governments in Washington that Brazil is preparing for a war against one alliance, Chili and Bolivia, and that the latter Government will probably make a move upon the United States arsenal. Congress for the purpose of obtaining a decision that Bolivia, the American government is bound to protect.

The Secretary of the Interior announces that the published rates made throughout the Indian Territory, and Territories generally, are fixed by the power of the Government.

Lt.-Colonel Commissary A. E. Stevenson, of Illinois, has entered upon the duties of the office of First Assistant Postmaster General.

Department clerks in Washington, as a class, are not applying for the vacancies in the Treasury department, being fearful that they might put their place in jeopardy, should they leave the seat of Government.

The Board of Visitors to the West Point Military Academy, to be appointed from of $225,000 for improvements at that institution.

Officials of Federal courts having disregarded orders permitting cattle to be driven through the Indian reservations in Texas, claiming the right of quarantine on the ground that the cattle were infected with pleuro-pneumonia, the Secretary of the Interior has appealed to Attorney General Garland to instruct court officers to cease their opposition to the use of court-about trails.

POLITICAL.

The President has appointed the following Postmasters. The suspensions occur in two cases, were for personal misconduct and laziness, and the others for partisanship.

R. P. Pullman, at Eureka Springs, Ark.; Frank W. Havill, at Mount Carmel, Wabash County Ill.; Amos Simmons, at Lansing, Iowa; John W. Price, at Andover, Ind.; Charles H. Ward, at Oxford, Miss.; Alexander M. Dick, at Fort Scott, Kas.; John T. Kilgore, at Leavenworth, Kas.; Jacob Stotler, at Council Grove, Kas.; J. Slaughter, suspended Samuel S. Thompson, at Birmingham, Ala., vice Theodore A. Coats, resigned; George W. McMillan, at Mount Sterling, Brown County, Ill., vice Thomas Mitchell, suspended; William A. Stacy, at Brooklyn, Iowa, vice George Phillips, suspended; L. L. Maine, at Shelbyville, Ind., vice A. P. Hale, suspended; William Keough, at Fort Wayne, Ind., vice J. W. Ash, suspended; William T. Hale, at Iowa, Ind., vice George H. Rees, suspended; Jacob Stotler, at Council Grove, Kas., vice A. E. Kiser, suspended; Martin Martin, at Larned, Kas., vice Timothy Marcellus, suspended; Samuel A. Marquess, Mount Pleasant, Iowa, vice Samuel Rees, suspended; Timothy Killian, at Fairfield, Iowa, vice Jesse Rees, suspended; James D. Lore, at Somerset, Ohio, vice Ira Mitchell, suspended; Jackson L. Palmer, at Portland, Ind., vice C. H. Butler, suspended; Timothy Hawes, Jr., at Bloomfield, Mo., vice W. Hawes, suspended; Thomas J. Fortune, at St. Paul, Minn., vice Charles E. Kendall, suspended; Samuel Hodge, at Washington, O., vice L. B. Kendall, suspended; Jerome B. Powlison, at Memphis, Tenn., vice J. H. Smith, suspended; L. E. Palmer, at Yankton, Dakota, vice W. S. Brown, suspended; Charles Ziegler, at Lancaster, Pa., vice W. U. Hensel, resigned; Thomas Herbert, at Knoxville, Ca., vice D. A. Wilson, suspended.

The Iowa Greenbackers, in convention at Des Moines, nominated E. H. Gillespie of Polk County, for Lieutenant Governor, and J. W. Moore, of Davis County, for Supreme Judge. Nevertheless Independent Greenbacks, Indiana and Illinois, and Greenbackers Minnesota may stand within a few days the ones that has been grossly imposed by worst weather.

A large body of strikers leaving a mill the surrounded the mills in Newburyport, Conn., and although they made a great noise, attempted no violence or did no damage. In case of riot the police are fully prepared for effective work.

The railway agent at Kingman, Kan., reports that the drought which have been one heavy one to farmers, may be turned to blessing if Congress will remove the duty on ice. Thus a cheap article, Scandinavian, of Irish, the ice, which is now so sacred work for poor people.

The wife of John Rogers, of Hewston, Warrick County, Ind., charged of her husband's attachment to her young cousin, has gone to the home of her father, who is ever from her present in a house through.

SOUTHERN.

Up to the present time nearly one-half of the Tennessee debt of $10,000,000 has been funded at 50 cents, plus per cent interest, and the funding is going on at the rate of $1,000,000 per month. The syndicate which contracted to fund the Tennessee debt upon Governor Marks' proposition to pay the State Treasury the appropriation of the Legislature for the purpose, now appears to have failed, and the Governor has declared the contract forfeited.

A solution was raised at Baltimore on an attempt of Dennis Fitzsimmons to 2 Compagnie, grandson of Mariana Patterson, Baltimore, and Charles Bonaparte, of Baltimore, Bonaparte was severely punished, and Fitzsimmons was discharged on a charge of assault and battery.

Gen. K. Chase is prominent broker on New York, and is said to be a candidate for President in case the Greenback Party shall be perpetuated anyhow.

Gen. Lew Wallace, ex-Minister to Turkey, arrived in New York on the 10th, and is at the Metropolitan Hotel. He says that the Turkish Government is in a very unsettled condition, and that the Sultan is in fear of his life. The Sultan is said to be a very nervous man, and he is said to be very nervous, and he is said to be very nervous, and he is said to be very nervous.

Mr. Gladstone's health is said to be very good

THE JOURNAL.

BY CHAS. J. STRANG.

CHARLEVOIX - - MICHIGAN.

Notes and News

The Newspaper, Printing of Chicago, acting upon its eleventh volume, with most favorable prospects, and certainly changing its name to The Chicago Tribune.

The steamer S. J. Tilden spring a leak on Lake Michigan, Wednesday, and was towed into Beaver harbor, where she sank in 15 feet of water. She is owned by Alva Bradley, of Cleveland, and has a cargo of corn aboard.

We have made ourselves ridiculous in the mouths of Europeans, manufacturers. Europe in turn, is engaged in making a world almost rich product of American goods, produces, and also, in bearing with the manufacturer to make it, would be dependent of American enterprise.—Indianapolis Times.

The Michigan farmer who is too lazy to go to early bed and carefully to rise when the whole town up in the hope of the time to give being, and by a young man who engaged in another of the earth earthly, nor of his interests generally, but who has a reckless for the indulging of tastes. Has now scarcely work quite as well as the old one—the note comes up in 60 days past the notice.

The old tin cup, at Salt Lake, which traveled from the United States, has started on the trip up to the top of the tower on the Fourth of July, in opposition to the Mormons, who had announced it half mast, were excoriated some soldiers. As a political issue the cup is dead. After it becoming unbearable, and he must be rapidly losing the confidence of the republican organs.—Kalamazoo Gazette.

"The wealthy editors of the state are having a gorgeous time up among the lakes and mosquitoes that infest the northwest portion of the lower peninsula."—Detroit Journal. It is unfortunate, perhaps, that the writer was so poor that he could not enjoy the generous hospitality of the Travers Region, and had something besides "lakes and mosquitoes." Just trusted for a suit of clothes, come up on your pass, stay with us a month, and we will try to show you around.

The result of the agitation of the tariff question during the past three or four years by a few journals and public speakers of Michigan is gradually becoming manifest. It is well known that in the northern portion of the state, where the protected lumber and salt interests are, it was only occasionally an advocate of free trade could be found. Now, however, they are numerous, and we learn from the Cheboygan Democrat that the Bay City Press which formerly a protectionist journal has become converted to the doctrine of free trade. The Bay City World, a daily recently established by H. N. Mather, who was formerly a protectionist, is also doing efficient service in the advocacy of free trade. The Patriot welcomes these new allies to the field of labor in which it has been so long engaged, and predicts that before the next election every democratic and independent paper in the state will be enlisted in the cause.—Jackson Patriot.

A Watch With One Wheel.

A curiosity in the way of watches was showed by Mr. E. Sorbet, director of the watchmakers' school at Geneva, before the horological section of the Society of Arts. This wonder is nothing less than a watch, with one wheel, manufactured in Paris in the last century by A. H. Lepaute. The watch was presented to the National Institute in 1798, every thing is in a deplorable state, but the member of the repairing section of the school, M. Emile James, has, after many hours of labor, succeeded in reestablishing harmony between the various organs, so that it is now in going order. The prettiest wheel which gives the whole its name is seen on entering the lantern of one case and the center of the pinion of the other, it moves both beats, and is 56 mm. in diameter. It also carries two pinions, one of which receives the motive force from a barrel, and the other carries the minute wheel. The function of this great wheel is equally simple. Fixed to arbor on a little pinion on a lever operating on another destined to carry the axis of the watch, it, itself on a third lever, the lever serving to return power to the great wheel at the moment when the action ceases by the rise of the axis.

The Oregon and Washington territory is supposed men have recently organized a press association.

Relief for Tired Feet.

"Don't you often get tired walking or standing for six hours at a time?" was asked of a policeman who leaned wearily against a corner.

"It does get tiresome at times, especially during the early morning hours, when there are few persons to interfere and nothing doing."

"You get rather hardened to it, don't you?"

"Yes, I suppose we do. At first it made my feet ache terribly, but I found that was due to wearing the same pair of shoes all day. By changing my shoes two or three times a day I find that my feet are greatly relieved. Nearly every policeman keeps several pairs in constant use. When worn in that way they also last longer. No two pairs are exactly alike, and they support the feet at different points, and that is where they are helpful."—New Haven Union.

Farmers and Mechanics

Should read the Weekly Tribune. It gives you the news of the world, and the news of your own country, in a form that is easy to read and understand. It gives the best and most reliable market reports, and is in every way a good paper for the money. Only $1 per year. Sample copy free. Address, Tribune, Detroit, Mich.

REPORT OF THE CONDITION OF THE

CHARLEVOIX

Savings Bank

[illegible]

RESOURCES.

Loans and discounts	$20,536 25
Overdrafts	1,[illegible]
Banking house	1,[illegible]
Furniture and fixtures	525 00
Other real estate owned	1,[illegible]
Due from other national banks	[illegible]
Bonds and stocks	2,[illegible]
Specie	[illegible]
	$26,[illegible] 67

LIABILITIES.

Capital stock paid in	$15,000 00
Surplus fund	3,[illegible] 12
Undivided profits	[illegible]
	$26,[illegible] 67

I, FRED A. SMITH, Cashier of the above named bank, do solemnly swear that the above statement is true to the best of my knowledge and belief. FRED A. SMITH, Cashier.

Attest:
HENRY LINSLEY,
JOHN MCMILLAN,
Directors.
Charlevoix, Mich., July 15, 1885.

CHANCERY SALE.

In pursuance of the decree of sale made and entered in the circuit court for the county of Charlevoix, on the twenty-fifth day of June, A. D. 1885, in the chancery proceeding wherein Mathilda Ayers is complainant and Andrew J. Hale, Mathilda J. Hale, Lucy Ann Hale, Mahlon and Georgiana L. Lovejoy are defendants, notice is hereby given that I shall sell at public auction to the highest bidder at the front door of Lawrence's Hall in the village of Charlevoix, in the county of Charlevoix, on the 10th day of August, A. D. 1885, at 10 o'clock forenoon, the premises in said decree described, or so much thereof as may be necessary to satisfy said decree, with the costs of sale and of the solicitor of said complainant. Dated July 16, A. D. 1885.

FRANK E. FOSS,
Circuit Court Commissioner,
for Charlevoix County, Michigan.
CHURCHILL & GIBBS,
Solicitors for Complainant,
Charlevoix, Mich. 104-10

Notice of Attachment.

STATE OF MICHIGAN, The Circuit Court for the County of Charlevoix.

N. E. Warren, vs. Chas. Lewis.

Notice is hereby given that on the second day of June, 1885, a writ of attachment in the above entitled cause was duly issued against the goods and effects of said defendant, in the hands of A. E. Lovejoy, John C. Pinney, Jr., and Frank Pinney, doing business at the village of Charlevoix, under the firm name of Lovejoy & Co., and Pinney, Mills & Co., Jonas Lewis, garnishees, and that the undersigned, sheriff of said county, has taken the same into his possession, and that the said garnishees are indebted to said defendant, which will be due and payable on the 15th day of June, 1885.

CHAS. SHANK & GIBBS,
Attorneys for Plaintiff.
Dated June 2, 1885. 103-95

Notice of Dissolution.

Notice is hereby given that on the 15th day of June, 1885, the co-partnership heretofore existing between the undersigned, under the firm name of Pinney, Mills & Co., was dissolved by mutual consent, the business thereafter to be carried on by Jonas Lewis and Frank Pinney, who will collect all debts and pay all liabilities.

JONAS LEWIS,
FRANK PINNEY,
THEO. B. WEBB.
Charlevoix, Mich., June 15, 1885.

TAKE NOTICE.

All persons are forbidden to trade for the Steamer Dexter on the credit of the undersigned after this date.

JOHN MCMILLAN.
Charlevoix, Mich., June 15, 1885.

MRS. R. TOULOUSE,

ICE CREAM

Fruits, Confectionery,
SODA WATER, ICE CREAM, GINGER ALE, ROOT BEER, ETC.
CHARLEVOIX, MICH.

Picture Frames

Made to Order.
A FINE ASSORTMENT OF MOULDINGS
Kept on hand.
O. I. WHEAT,
Opposite Lewis's Store.

Money to Loan

On terms of one and upwards, at reasonable rates. Address, or inquire of
H. C. Miley,
Boyne City.

FARM FOR SALE.

One hundred acres of the best farming land, in Kearsarge township, for sale cheap. Inquire of Sophia Sumner, near Ironton, or address Box 1, Ironton, Ottawa Co., Mich.

"Facts to be Remembered."

NIMROD PLUG TOBACCO

IS THE BEST CHEW AND GREATEST SELLER. [illegible] NEVER DO HURT ANYONE BUT THE MAN THAT MAKES IT. OTHER GOODS MAKE MONEY, THIS PLUG MAKES THE MONEY. [illegible] Manufactured only by the Originators, [illegible] Petersburg, Va. For sale by all dealers generally.

S. W. VENABLE & CO.
Petersburg, Va.

CASH FOR

FAT CATTLE,

Sheep and Hogs.

Having contracted to furnish Fresh Meats to the Charlevoix markets, this season, I will pay the highest market price for fat Cattle, Sheep, and Hogs.

A. J. McLEOD.
Charlevoix, May 20, 1885.

JAMES HEMMINGS,
Painter & Master Artist,
(Formerly)

HOUSE PAINTER,

Calciminer,
Paper Hanger,
And Decorator.

PINE AND HARDWOOD FINISHING. GOOD WORK.

MISS L. SPAULDING,
DEALER IN

MILLINERY

AND

Fancy Goods.

Dressmaking Done in the Latest Styles.
Special attention given to
CHILDREN'S GARMENTS.

We would call the attention of the Ladies to our STAMPING DEPARTMENT.

☞ We endeavor to do our work well and at Reasonable Prices. Call and see for yourself.

C. R. BELLINGER
Has a large stock of
New Jewelry and Silverware
(SOLID AND PLATED)
Pins, Charms, and Chains,
In all the latest styles.
Watches, Clocks, and Optical Goods.
New style of Monogram Pin just received.
Sewing Machine Oil kept in stock.

WM. J. STEVENSON,
HORSE-SHOEING,

Wagon Shop,

BLACKSMITHING, ETC.

Heavy Wagons on hand and made to order. Repairing done on short notice, and in a workmanlike manner. All work warranted. Call and examine before buying elsewhere.

SHOP ONE BLOCK WEST OF CARPENTER, BARTHOLOMEW & CO.'S STORE, CHARLEVOIX.

☞ The OSBORNE MOWING MACHINE on hand and for sale. 12

John Nicholls,
CHARLEVOIX, MICH.
Manufacturer of and dealer in
HARDWOOD AND PINE

LUMBER!

ALSO
Dressed Lumber, Oar Blades,
WAGON TOUGHES, SHINGLES, LATH, ETC.
LUMBER SAWED AND BILLS FILLED TO ORDER.

BANK OF CHARLEVOIX

Receives deposits, collects drafts, sells exchange on Chicago and Detroit, and transacts a general Banking business.

RESOURCES.—Loans and discounts, $[illegible]; Banking house, $[illegible]; furniture and fixtures, $[illegible]; other real estate owned, $[illegible]; due from National Banks (not reserve agents), $[illegible]; due from State Banks and Bankers, $[illegible]; Bonds and stocks, $[illegible]; specie, $[illegible]; legal tender notes, $[illegible]; National Bank notes, $[illegible]; fractional currency, $[illegible]; total, $[illegible].

LIABILITIES.—Capital stock paid in, $[illegible]; surplus fund, $[illegible]; undivided profits, $[illegible]; total, $[illegible].

I, JOHN MCMILLAN, President of the above named bank, do solemnly swear that the above statement is true to the best of my knowledge and belief.

JOHN MCMILLAN, President.

Attest:
HENRY LINSLEY,
BROWN S. SUMNER,
Directors.
Charlevoix, Mich., July 15, 1885.

Good Goods and Low Prices
ARE

BOUND TO WIN

If you don't believe it, come and see my SPRING STOCK. You will see that I am up to the times in styles, and have as fine an assortment of MEN'S, YOUTH'S and CHILDREN'S SUITS, as you will find in any City. I defy any House to show any nicer line of NECK WEAR and

Furnishing Goods

My aim is to HOLD THE CLOTHING TRADE, by carrying a Large Stock so I can please you all. PRICES TALK. Come and see my Large Spring Stock before buying elsewhere.

GEO. W. MILLER.

I have purchased the Meat business of Armstrong & Co., and will continue at the old stand, with the freshest and best goods in the market.

T. E. CHAMBERLIN.

HEAR YE! HEAR YE!

I have purchased the Stock of

Drugs, Chemicals,

STATIONERY, FISHING TACKLE, ETC.

of O. B. WEED & CO., and will continue the business at the old stand. I shall aim to so conduct the business as to merit a share of your favors. When in need of anything in my line, call and examine my stock and ask my prices.

PERRY WEED, DRUGGIST,
Successor to O. B. Weed & Co.
OPERA BLOCK, CHARLEVOIX, MICH.

GARLAND STOVES AND RANGES

KEEP YOUR ON THE Right Place

For Bargains in Hardware,

Iron, Cutlery, Tin ware, Stoves, Implements, Fixtures, Pumps, Grindstones, Wagons, Buggies, Carts, Wheelbarrows, Refrigerators, Doors, Sash.
PAINTS Oils Varnishes, Putty, Glass, Fence wire, Farm bells.
Carpenter's tools, Notions, Fishing tackle, Revolvers, Guns, Ammunition, Spoons, Forks, LAMPS, Baskets, Measures, Tubs, Wooden ware, Rope, Fisherman's Supplies, and Ship chandlery, Job and Tin work.

L. D. BARTHOLOMEW & CO.

Photographs!

I have located my
New Photograph Gallery
OVER
UPRIGHT, EMREY & CO.'S STORE,
And am prepared to do
All Kinds of Photographic Work,
From the
Miniature Picture to Life Size
—
Any Old Picture Copied and Enlarged.
Satisfaction Guaranteed.
DAVE BRADBRIER,
Charlevoix, Mich.

McCABE'S
Livery and Hack Line
DRAYING TO ORDER.
Passengers, Baggage, etc., delivered to all Boats, Hotels, or any part of the City.
AT
McCabe's Livery Barn,
CHARLEVOIX, MICH. 42

Established Fifty-five Years.

RAVEN & BACON,

NEW

RAVEN PIANOS,

13 East 16th Street, New York City.

BUY FROM THE MANUFACTURER AND SAVE 50 PER CENT.

These Pianos are made from the best materials Science, Inventive Genius, and Long Experience in the Piano Business combined can produce. They have been tested by the Best Musicians and Critics for Forty Years. Every one guaranteed for six years. Warerooms open Evenings. Pianos sent on trial. Catalogues and Circulars mailed free. If you look at the pianos and read the descriptions you will buy no other. Mention this paper.

No. 1, Upright or Square,	$525,	worth $800
No. 2, " "	390,	" 500
No. 3, " "	290,	" 400

ALL 7 1/3 OCTAVE.

ERRORS OF YOUTH

and MANHOOD. One who has suffered all the horrors from Nervousness and consequent Exhaustion and Premature Decay, will for the sake of suffering humanity, send free to any address the receipt for a simple Preparation, which cured him after all else failed. Address, with stamp, NATHAN MANN, Buffalo, N. Y. 1-52

$100 REWARD

FOR

Every Ounce of Adulteration

IN THE

U. G. Soap

The Great 5c Cake,
Made only by
GOWANS & STOVER,
BUFFALO, N. Y.
For Sale by all Wholesale Grocers.

WOOD WANTED.

Two or three lengths of good black wood delivered at this office immediately.

THE JOURNAL

Charlevoix, Mich., July 16, 1885.

Provision Market.

Quotations given by responsible parties, corrected every Thursday morning, by CHAMBERLIN, EMREY & CO., provisioners:

Lard per lb., 5,5c, 6c, 6c, and 6c.
Pork, Mess, per bbl., $[illegible]
Pork, Clear, per bbl., $[illegible]
Hams, per lb., [illegible]
Shoulders, per lb., [illegible]
Tallow, per lb., [illegible]
Butter, per lb., $1 00@1 25.
Eggs, per doz., [illegible]
Potatoes, per bu., 50@60.
Apples, per bu., $1 00@1 25.
Beans, per bu., $1 00@1 25.
Beef, per lb., [illegible]
Veal, per lb., [illegible]
Lard, per lb., [illegible]
Chickens, per lb., [illegible]
Turkeys, per lb., [illegible]
Ducks, per lb., [illegible]
Geese, per lb., [illegible]
Wood, per cord, $[illegible]
Wood, per cord, $[illegible]
Wood, per cord, $[

ONLY A WOMAN'S HAIR.

After Sally's death there was found in his possession a lock of Sally's hair. On the paper containing it Hoff wrote the lines below:

"Only a woman's hair"
A soft, long curl,
Twined the knightly arm
In knightly love.

"Only a woman's hair"
Inside back fire
Lies the knight's arm
Cold on the pillow.

"Only a woman's hair"
Cut off for fever,
Lying on white brow
Thrill of the heart!

"Only a woman's hair"
Pale golden curl,
Twined with manly locks
Crumbling to dust.

"Only a woman's hair"
Who takes a life
Blind worship of Stands up the world!

"Only a woman's hair"
Was this a spell,
Dared on the midnight verge
Of hell?

"Only a woman's hair"
Yet, fancy, when
Weak worthy souls shiver
Pale at the grave,

"Only a woman's hair"
Is a talisman
"Against the fiends
Of the night.

"Only a woman's hair"
Shall be the spell
Which, in the last hour,
Shall drive me back!

"Only a woman's hair"
Was this a spell
Dared on the midnight verge
Of hell?

"Only a woman's hair"
Yet, fancy, when
Weak worthy souls shiver
Pale at the grave,

"Only a woman's hair"
Is a talisman
"Against the fiends
Of the night.

"Only a woman's hair"
Shall be the spell
Which, in the last hour,
Shall drive me back!

"Only a woman's hair"
A woman, rising on the Plain—
A woman's hair!

NED'S KEEPSAKE.

BY JOAQUIN VENNEY.

A bright-like afternoon in drawing in a little country village, nestling in the hollow among hilly ridges, quite far inland from the sea, and yet not so far but that the salt breeze of the ocean, which never ceases to blow, sometimes comes in the form of a gale, and sometimes in a breath so gentle that it just ripples the grass and stirs the tender leaves of the young trees, or, in other words, every summer, he had the pleasure of seeing a little more of the Congressman from our ward, and returned to Washington with more vigor and vitality than I could have thought it was in his frame.

Arter taking a glass each of the remarkable, restorative beverage, concocting his own bitters, and having thought meanwhile of the congressman, and Nat's revision—Nat's revision of his own—

"Now, Ned, I'm no hand at a speech myself, but I'm pretty good hand at a toast, and I'm going to give you a toast—a toast that I've been saving up for a long time. I'm going to give you a toast that I've been saving up for a long time. I'm going to give you a toast that I've been saving up for a long time. Ned, I've been to Congress myself, and I've been to the Legislature, and I've been to the Selectmen's office, and I've been to the Sunday-school, and I've been everywhere, and I've seen a good deal of the world, and I've seen a good deal of the world, and I've seen a good deal of the world, and I've seen, too, no question of anything better.

"This is a toast, Ned, that I've been saving, satisfied with her daughter's dispositions, and satisfied with her own. The general thinks slightly changes her opinion, and a little, but not much. It is the general's opinion, Ned, that the girls are the best of the family, and he keeps them in his pocket, the other at present on the stage, with an eye to business, and with which he has been relying the dangerous boys. In a word, he is anxious for something a trifle in the business.

"Margery owes a little more in the shape of the morning, perhaps, that fairly covers the ground, and leaves a little margin for some and the Southern back to the city.

"Margery owes a little more in the shape of the morning, perhaps, that fairly covers the ground, and leaves a little margin for some and the Southern back to the city.

"Margery owes a little more in the shape of the morning, perhaps, that fairly covers the ground, and leaves a little margin for some and the Southern back to the city.

"Margery owes a little more in the shape of the morning, perhaps, that fairly covers the ground, and leaves a little margin for some and the Southern back to the city.

severe attack of brain fever, which left him well in the back ground. He is a perpetual book-worm, indeed, and is, indeed, a perfectly learned man. A is a little book, long bills, short nose, pale, haggard face and light auburn hair, belonging to happy red brows that insert not over the bridge of his nose, and which rather thin unmeaning hair on his head. He is hump-backed, the result of his stooping over the day at night and imagine and running from the little nine-year brains which he occasionally possessed also. For a dry or two he has been busily engaged in a little for Ned.

He goes off his primary one to Margery and says in a husky kind of voice that is peculiar to him. "I'a agoing to ta a ma ma ma Margery ma ma ma

Temperance Column.

Conducted by a Committee of the W. C. T. U.

Officers of the Society.

President—Mrs. J. C. Cook.
Secretary—Mrs. L. P. Allen.
Second Vice President—Mrs. J. T. Hastings.
Third Vice President—Mrs. J. T. Chickey.
Corresponding Secretary—Mrs. L. Loveday.
Treasurer—Mrs. J. Sutton.

OUR WEAPONS: HUMMERS AND LEAD-HEATS NOT WANTED.

In Detroit, a few months ago, a number of prominent men, whose position and influence are all in favor of temperance, met with the director of this society.

Needed improvements or modifications were suggested.

For instance, "Let us have more and best dramas that shall drive their lessons, like nails, home."

Humorous sketches, and well conceived anecdotes.

Fund of stories. "We need fund stories" from our Highland Presbyterian ex-elder, and Scotch Presbyterian "elder" whose substance is good, but

Dry stories, lacking the vivifying spirit, which "Sunday School teachers and temperance people, sometimes are guilty of."

Temperance papers, from time to time, readable. Temperance tracts, more pithy, pointed, and lively, "more like those we see from Boston."

Pithy, stirring, yet not coarse, and low, phrases, "such as we hear in our meetings, are needed. Those first we commended, and we have strongly urged."

Let them be pure, for temperance is advanced as opposed to all vice, this time by with "Who made you?"

Not content to have doubtful, frothy "temperance lectures based above, we need higher Christian Young Men, in our cities and towns, to be instructed, disciplined and trained, and thoroughly and soundness."—Detroit Free Press.

Rum and Ruin.

The Rev. Mr. Scoresby, preacher to seamen in Liverpool, was for years the master of a whale-ship in the northern seas. He tells this story about that of which he was an eye-witness:

"A collier brig was stranded on the Yorkshire coast, and I had occasion to assist in the distressing service of rescuing a part of the crew by drawing them up a vertical cliff two or three hundred feet high, by means of a very small rope, the only material at hand. The first two men who caught hold of the rope were hauled safely up to the top; but the next after being drawn to a considerable height, slipped his hold and fell; and when the fourth ventured upon this only chance of life, the rope gave way, and he also was plunged into the foaming breakers beneath. Immediately afterward the vessel broke up, and the remnant of the ill fated crew perished before our eyes. What now is the cause of of this heartrending event? Was it stress of weather, or a contrary wind, or unavoidable accident? No such thing. Every sailor, to a man, was in a state of intoxication! The helm was intrusted to a boy ignorant of the coast. He ran the vessel upon the rock at Whitby, and one half the miserable, dissipated crew awoke to consciousness in eternity."

Seamen, as a class, are peculiarly subject, while on shore, to indulgence in drink. After the toils, hardships and danger of a voyage are passed, the temptations to the enjoyment of the unnatural exhilaration of spirits, produced by alcholic drinks, for the short time they remain on shore, is hard to resist, especially when the temptation is pressed by smiles and blandishments. Many of these "noble-hearted sons of the sea" by the grace of God resist the temptation, and flee from it and are saved. Many others fall, and after a few days on shore, spent in drinking and rioting, they are totally unfit for duty for the first day or two of their next voyage or "trip." They peril their own lives and the lives of others, by their drunken recklessness or inability. We are glad that this vice is not so prevalent as in past years. Through the influence of godly men and women who have labored among the seamen, the reform has been very great. But it is one to be done unless the sailor is willing to deny himself, and by the help of God make up his mind to be a man.

The Lessons Do Not Sting.

Referring to the newspaper item to the effect that a lady in Pennsylvania was suffering serious effects from the bite of a locust, Prof. Riley, entomologist of the department of agriculture, says: "I have handled thousands of your seventeen-year locusts and I never received any sting. I believe the locusts are incapable of doing any injury. I investigated the whole matter once and published an elaborate report. I found that a species of large wasps preyed upon the locusts, and that in every instance where an actual sting occurred it was traceable to the wasp and not to the locust.—Hickory Democrat Gazette.

A FEW WORDS TO GIRLS.

Changes of Character Between the Ages of 16 and 30 Years—Unfortunate Haste to Marry.

A lady of intelligence and observation has remarked, "I wish I could impress upon the minds of the girls that the chief end of woman is not to marry young."

If girls could only be brought to believe that their chances for a happy marriage were better after 25 than before, there would be much less misery in the world than there now is. To be sure, they might not have so many opportunities to marry after that age as before, but as they do not need to marry at a time, it is necessary that one should be satisfactory. As a girl grows older, if she thinks at all, she certainly becomes more capable of judging what would make her happy than when younger.

How many girls of 20 would think of accepting the man they would gladly have married at 18? At 20 a woman who is somewhat independent, and not over an access to marry, is much harder to please and more careful in her choice than one of 18. There is good reason for this. Her mind has improved with her years, and she now looks beyond mere appearances in judging of men. She is not to ask if this man who is so very polite in company, is really kind hearted? Do his polite actions spring from a happy, genial nature, or is his attractive demeanor put on for the occasion, and laid off at home as he lays off his coat?

A very young girl takes it for granted that men are always as she sees them in society, polite, friendly, and on their good behavior. If she marries early in life the man who happened to please her fancy, she learns to her sorrow that in nine cases out of ten a man in society and a man at home are widely different beings. Five years at that period of life produce a great change in opinions and feelings. We frequently come to detest at 25 what we admired at 18. We advance from the taffy candy and peanut age to the era of gumdrops and marron glaces, and often in later years to lose our yearnings for those dainties.

Similar changes take place in the moral and spiritual nature. Why should we feel the same toward persons in after life, when we have learned to distinguish between the false and true, the bad and good, any more than we should like dime-novels after we have become acquainted with Dickens, Thackeray and Shakspeare? How few comparatively of the school girl friendships extend into later life. How few of our companions in society do we love as well after twenty years have passed. How few even of our own brothers and sisters, in whom we do not see faults we could wish eradicated. Considering this, how is it possible for one to feel surprise when a couple who marry in their teens grow to love each other less as years roll by? When both grow alike, whether it be rapidly or slowly, backward or forward, there is some hope of their ever zoning each other with the same eyes; but when one progresses and the other retrogrades, a difference springs up between them, and in time one looks down upon the other with a feeling of superiority, perhaps unconfessed, but still there; while the other, unable to perceive the real cause of the trouble, grows at length to dislike what was once loved. And thus it happens that those who loved at 18 are indifferent at 25, and sometimes divorced at 30.

One great cause of early marriages is the pernicious habit of calling a girl who remains unmarried until 25 an "old maid." This is done by many well-meaning but thoughtless persons, who would be sorry to think that any act or expression of theirs had ever caused one an hour of misery; yet this very dread of being called an "old maid" has driven more women into marriage and lifelong misery than any other thing, excepting perhaps poverty. It is a mistake to think that single life is any less noble than marriage, especially if the spirit of discord is permitted to inflict its horrors upon a whole household.

Professor J. C. Marshall says the French have more suspension bridges than any nation on the globe. Their engineers are putting up suspension bridges everywhere, and at least one of the structures approximates to the size of the Brooklyn bridge. So numerous are such bridges in France that it is impossible to secure an accurate list of them on this side of the water.

Cure for Piles.

Piles are frequently preceded by a sense of weight in the back, loins and lower part of the abdomen, causing the patient to suppose he has some affection of the kidneys or neighboring organs. Constipation, costiveness, and a torpid state of the liver, frequently accompany the disease, etc. A moderate, like perspiration, producing a very disagreeable itching, after getting warm, is a common attendant. Blind, Bleeding and Itching Piles yield easily to the application of Dr. Boanke's Pile Remedy, which acts directly upon the part affected, absorbing the tumors, allaying the intense itching, and effecting a speedy and permanent cure. Price 50 cents. Sold by Geo. W. Crouter. 152

MILCH COWS.—Inquire of Mrs. Lyman Ward, or printed notice in another column of this paper.

MARRIAGE NOTICES.—Neat and Correct printed notices of marriages will be supplied at this office.

PIMPLES.

I will send Free the receipt for a simple VEGETABLE OIL that will remove Pimples, Flesh Worms, Skin and Scalp Diseases, leaving the skin soft, smooth and clear by one application, and the only remedy known to cure Dandruff in a short time on any person. Address, Lock Box 3, Fulton, New York.

TO CONSUMPTIVES.

The advertiser having been permanently cured of that dread disease—Consumption, by a simple remedy, is anxious to make known to his fellow-sufferers the means of cure. To all who desire it, he will send a copy of the prescription used, (free), with the direction for preparing and using the same which they will find a sure Cure for Coughs, Colds, Consumption, Asthma, Bronchitis, &c. Parties wishing the Prescription, will please address, Rev. E. A. Wilson, 154 Penn St., Williamsburgh, N. Y.

THE HOWE MACHINE CO.

AT THE FRONT.

OUR LATEST SUCCESS.

Easy Running Sewing Machine

IT HAS

The Most Room under the Arm.
The Best Self-Setting Needle.
The Largest Bobbin.
The Easiest Shuttle to Thread.
The Most Perfect Tension.
The Most Reliable Feed.
The Most Perfect Take-up.
The Best Bobbin Winder.

IT IS

SIMPLE, STRONG, DURABLE & HANDSOME

Runs Rapidly, Very Light, Very Still, and without Vibration.

Before you purchase, please examine the NEW HOWE at the office of

Mrs. M. Litney, Agt., Charlevoix

Charlevoix and East Jordan.

Steamer GAZELLE, Capt. Robert O'Neil.

Monday—Leave Charlevoix 6:00, arrive East Jordan 7:30, leave East Jordan 8:00, arrive Charlevoix 9:30.

Tuesday—Leave Charlevoix 1:30, arrive East Jordan 4:00, leave East Jordan 4:30, arrive Charlevoix 6:30. Stopping at intermediate points.

Harbor Springs, Petoskey, Charlevoix and East Jordan.

STEAMER THOMAS PRIANT.

Capt. E. Vandenburg.

Morning—Leave Harbor Springs 7:00, Petoskey 7:30, Charlevoix's at arrive East Jordan 11:00.

Afternoon—Leave East Jordan 1:00, Charlevoix 4:30, Petoskey 5:00, arrive Harbor Springs 5:30.

Close connections at Petoskey with G. R. & I. R. R. trains, north and south.

Hannah, Lay & Co.'s Pleasure Steamers,

SEASON OF 1885.

CITY OF GRAND RAPIDS.

Capt. H. E. Wilber.

Going North every morning—Leave Traverse City 7:45, Northport 8:20, Norwood 11:00, Charlevoix 12:00, Petoskey 1:30, arrive at Harbor Springs 1:45.

Going South every afternoon—Leave Harbor Springs 2:00, Petoskey 2:30, Charlevoix 4:00, Norwood 5:00, Northport 6:30, arrive at Traverse City 9:00.

T. S. FAXTON,

Capt. A. G. Allmon.

Going South every morning—Leave Harbor Springs 7:00, Petoskey 8:00, Charlevoix 9:45, Torch Lake 12:00, arrive Traverse City 2:30.

Going North every afternoon—Leave Traverse City 3:00, Torch Lake 5:45, Charlevoix 7:45, Petoskey 9:15, arrive Harbor Springs 9:45.

GOOD CONNECTIONS will be made at Traverse City and Petoskey with Daily and night trains on the G. R. & I. R. R. also on Monday afternoons between Traverse City or Torch Lake for Chicago and the CITY OF GRAND RAPIDS going South, and on Wednesday leaves both the T. S. FAXTON and CITY OF GRAND RAPIDS going north, and the CITY OF TRAVERSE for Chicago.

Grand Rapids & Indiana R. R.

Time Table in effect June 21, 1885.

GOING NORTH.

STATIONS.	No. 1	No. 3	No. 5	No. 7
Cincinnati, lv		7 00pm	7 00pm
Fort Wayne, ar	2 30pm	5 00am	1 00am	7 45am
Fort Wayne, lv	2 40pm	5 10am	1 10am	8 00am
Kalamazoo, ar	7 25am	1 50	7 00	12 20pm
Kalamazoo, lv	7 35am	1 55	7 05	12 25
Grand Rapids, ar	9 30	11 50	9 00	3 05
Grand Rapids, lv	9 40	12 00	7 00	3 05
Howard City, ar	11 05am	12 35am	8 50	4 40
Big Rapids, ar	12 15pm	1 45am	9 50	5 45
Reed City, ar	1 22	1 44	10 11	6 42
Cadillac, ar	2 35	3 42	11 15	7 40
Traverse City, ar	5 30	7 45	2 00	10 00pm
Petoskey, ar	6 45	9 00
Kalkaska, ar	5 50	4 28	12 56
Gaylord, ar	6 20	5 05	1 30
Bay View, ar	7 15	5 45	2 20
Mackinaw City, ar	7 30	6 00	2 35
Harbor Springs, ar		7 00
Mackinaw City, lv	7 00am	7 40	4 15pm

GOING SOUTH.

STATIONS.	No. 2	No. 6	No. 8	No. 4
Mackinaw City, lv	2 20pm	8 00am		1 00pm
Harbor Springs				2 50
Petoskey, lv	3 45	9 50		4 20
Bay View, lv	4 00	10 05		4 35
Gaylord, lv	4 50	10 55		5 20
Kalkaska, lv	5 15	11 19		5 42
Reed City, lv	6 20	12 22am		6 49
Cadillac, lv	7 35	12 58		8 00
Traverse City, lv	10 20	4 45	2 30pm	11 00
Howard City, lv	1 00pm	7 52	5 50	2 45
Big Rapids, lv	2 00	8 52	6 50	3 45
Reed City, lv	2 38	9 32	7 30	4 25
Grand Rapids, ar	4 10	11 05	9 00	6 05
Grand Rapids, lv	5 25	7 05	10 10	10 30am
Kalamazoo, ar	6 15	8 00	11 00	11 20
Kalamazoo, lv	6 25	8 10	1 40pm	4 05
Fort Wayne, ar	10 40	12 50	6 00	8 45
Fort Wayne, lv	1 00	12 55am	6 30am	7 50
Cincinnati, ar	7 45am	7 30am	2 30pm	7 00pm

C. L. LOCKWOOD, G. P. Agent, Grand Rapids, Mich.

ERRORS OF YOUTH.

A GENTLEMAN who suffered for years from nervous debility, premature decay, and all the effects of youthful indiscretion, will for the sake of suffering humanity, send free to any address, in a sealed envelope, the receipt and direction for making the simple remedy by which was cured. Sufferers wishing to profit by the advertiser's experience can do so by addressing in perfect confidence, JOHN B. OGDEN, 42 Cedar St., New York.

Do You Know

THAT

LORILLARD'S CLIMAX

PLUG TOBACCO

with Red Tin Tag; Rose Leaf Fine Cut Smoking; Navy Clippings, and Black, Brown, and Yellow Snuffs are the best and cheapest, quality considered. 45y1

J. MILO EATON,

DEALER IN

Real Estate

OF ALL KINDS.

Houses and Lots for Sale

IN THE MOST DESIRABLE PARTS OF CHARLEVOIX.

WILD LANDS AND IMPROVED FARMS

FOR SALE IN ALL PARTS OF THE COUNTY.

Abstracts of Title Furnished on Short Notice.

OFFICE ON BRIDGE STREET. ESTABLISHED IN 1875.

PINE LAKE IRON COMPANY

Ironton, Mich.,

Are Full in all kinds of General Merchandise.

HENRY C. COOPER

WILL SELL

Furniture at Reduced Prices

To Make Room for New Stock.

A LARGE LINE OF HAMMOCKS, BABY CARRIAGES, AND TRUNKS AT COST, TO CLOSE OUT.

HURRAH for GOOD TIMES

Everything Booming

AT E. M. CLARK'S

Where he has a Lively Trade in

Dry Goods, Groceries, Boots and Shoes, Clothing, &c.

When you get the blues, just call around and see with what dispatch everything is done, where Pork, Eggs, Butter, &c., is taken in exchange for Goods.

E. M. Clark

THE CHARLEVOIX JOURNAL.

NUMBER 106. CHARLEVOIX, MICH.: THURSDAY, JULY 23, 1885. $1.50 PER YEAR.

THE JOURNAL

Published every Thursday,

BY CHAS. J. STRANG.

CHARLEVOIX, - - MICHIGAN

ENTERED AT THE POSTOFFICE AT CHARLEVOIX, MICH., AS SECOND-CLASS MATTER.

BUSINESS DIRECTORY.

ATTORNEYS.

CHARLES MARTIN, Attorney at Law, Boyne City, Mich. Collections promptly attended to.

GEO. A. DAVIS & GIDLEY, Attorneys at Law, Petoskey, Mich. Office in Butler Block.

DELOS RUSSELL, C. A. GIDLEY.

DELOS A. ELLIS, Attorneys at Law, Real Estate and Insurance Agents, Lake St., east of Postoffice, Alma, Mich.

F. G. MAYNE, Attorney and Counselor at Law. Collections promptly attended to. CHARLEVOIX, MICH.

H. J. BENSEL, Attorney and Counselor at Law. Real Estate Agent. Petoskey, Mich.

J. A. MAWELEY, Attorney at Law and Judge of Probate, Petoskey, Mich.

J. HARRY WEAVER, Attorney at Law, Charlevoix, Mich.

GEO. A. DAVIS, Attorney at Law, Boyne City, Mich. Circuit Court Commissioner, Office in Lewis Block, East Jordan, Mich.

W. L. COCHRAN, Attorney and Solicitor, East Jordan, Mich. Collections a specialty.

A. L. LEWIS, Attorney at Law, Boyne City.

CHURCHES.

FIRST CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH.—Services every Sabbath at 10:30 a. m. and 7:00 p. m. Sabbath School at 12 m. Prayer meeting every Thursday at 7:00 p. m. T. F. VAN AKEN, pastor.

METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH.—Sunday services at 10:30 a. m. and 7 p. m. Sunday School at 12 m. Prayer meeting every Thursday evening at 7 o'clock. J. V. DARLING, pastor.

FIRE DEPARTMENT.

CHARLEVOIX HOOK AND LADDER FIRE COMPANY meet every Saturday night, at 8 o'clock. E. F. DARBY, Secretary.

HOMEOPATHIC PHARMACY.

SCHUTTELE, Homeopathic Medicines, Books, Magnetic Curescribe, Charlevoix, Mich.

PHYSICIANS.

J. A. CARLSTEN, M. D. Office at the Ingleside.

L. LEWIS, M. D., Physician and Surgeon. Office Ent to the Lewis Block, Charlevoix, Mich.

W. PRESTON, M. D., Physician and Surgeon. Office Ent to the Lewis Block, Charlevoix, Mich.

REAL ESTATE AGENTS.

DELOS A. ELLIS, Notary Public, Real Estate Agent, and Insurance Agt. Lake St.

SECRET SOCIETIES.

F. & A. M.—Charlevoix Lodge No. 356, meets Friday evening, on Old Fellows' Hall.

I. O. O. F.—Grand Lake Lodge No. 296, meets Wednesday evening, in the Hall.

K. O. T. M.—Resort Tent, No. 128, meets second and fourth Saturday evenings, in Odd Fellows' Hall.

L. O. T. M.—Pine River Nest, No. 97, meets every other Saturday evening, in Odd Fellows' Hall.

WANTED—Ginseng, Golden Seal, Pennyroyal, Beaver Root, Wintergreen, Bitter Sweet, Lady Slipper, Black cohosh, Mandrake, Ginger, Mullein, Hemlock Gum, Spruce Gum, Tamarack Gum, Balsam Gum, Balsam Fir, Hop Vine, Hop Poles, Hop Pickers, Hop Buyers, Hop Dealers, Hop Growers

THE JOURNAL

BY CHAS. J. STRANG.

CHARLEVOIX, - - - MICHIGAN.

NEWS CONDENSED.

Concise Record of the Week.

EASTERN.

A correspondent at Mount Mazeffer, writes to the Chicago Inter-Ocean a morning from Grant's case:

The fatal vicious disease of cancer has seldom developed a stranger or remarkable one that which marks the closing hours of Gen. Grant's life. Night on the mountain, on Saturday he was in a state of coma, and could not be roused sufficiently to utter a word. Sunday morning the change, apparently, had not proceeded material continued, and hopes are justified in the conclusion that general relief will follow. The doctors, however, say that this change, symptom from the disease, and that the final end of Grant's life is one of those diseases that in themselves are evidences of cancer, and yet the record of the last two days has not been made without some surprise in the physicians all conclusions. The medical summary of the case is as follows: Grant has lived much longer than the average victim of cancer, through a combination of circumstances far as is certained. All incidental inflammations cause have subsided, and upon the outside of the neck, where was swollen even with the cheek would be painful, now there is a small observer which indicates cancer in enlargement.

Benjamin Seidlitz yarn mill in West Manayunk near Philadelphia, was burned, causing a loss of $20,000.

Prof. Charles Kendall Adams, of Michigan University, has been elected President of Cornell University to succeed President White.

A fire in Liberty street, New York, was caused by an explosion of benzoline in the basement, by which five men were shockingly burned. Many persons in the upper stories narrowly escaped with their lives. The loss was $20,000.

A storm of wind, rain, hail, and lightning swept through the Allegheny valley, working havoc from Pittsburgh to Titusville. In the telegraph office at Harmarville James McFeeters was killed and Mary Hazlett dangerously injured by an electric shock. Railway tracks were endangered at many places, villages and manufactories flooded, and crops ruined. The aggregate losses are enormous.

Mrs. Jones, of Buffalo, fell into the river at Bush Island, and was carried over Niagara Falls.

A bullet from an unknown source whizzed among five women who were sitting on a doorsill in Pittsburg, wounding one fatally, and injuring two others.

The formal opening of Niagara Falls Park occurred on the 19th inst. Ex-Lieutenant Governor Dorsheimer made the presentation address, after which Governor Hill accepted the reservation on behalf of the State of New York. The Governor General of Canada sent a letter expressing regret for not being present, as did H. J. Tilden. Twenty-five thousand people were present.

WESTERN.

The reunion of the Tri-State Oil Settlers' Association of Illinois, Missouri and Iowa will be held at Keokuk Sept. 20.

A woman living near Lafayette, Ind., gave birth to a child, one-half of which is white and the other side black as a negro.

The excitement in Indian Territory is reported to be increasing, and Sioux Cheyennes are constantly on the move, stealing horses and cattle. The Indians appear to be anxious regarding the Government's intentions, and are desirous of a "big talk."

A Republican party, organized at Marion, Ind., to wreak vengeance on a negro named Wallace, indicted for criminal assault, was fired upon from the jail, and a young man named Kiley was killed. The mob then dispersed.

The Illinois Board of Agriculture is 250 sheet of information showing that the number of pigs fed in the State will be very small.

Alfred H. Ross, aged twenty-seven years, shot and killed himself and family, which is wife, Marie E. Ross, aged nineteen, at their home in Bloomville, Ind. Jealousy was the chief reason. The parties had been married only two weeks. The shooting occurred in their bedroom while they were alone.

Gov. Alger went to Bay City and Port Huron, Mich., and after investigating the situation summoned several companies of militia to those places to preserve the peace. The militiamen held a meeting and adopted resolutions expressing their determination not to treat with the agitators. Hepresentative Barry, who was arrested on warrants charging him with inciting a conspiracy and interfering with the prosecution of business, gave bail and was released. Several unsuccessful attempts to resume operations in lumber yards and salt works were made. The plant mill in the Eighteenth Ward, Cleveland, started up, but a force much less numbered than the machinery.

Present indications are that the coming crop of oats in Illinois will be the largest in the history of the State. The prospects for grain in the Northwest are improving, and the crop promises to be much larger than anticipated three weeks ago.

A semi-annual dividend of 1 per cent, payable in cash on Sept. 15, has been declared by the Illinois Central Road.

A green rose blooming among others of the usual hues was discovered the other day at Danville, Ill. A botanist says that it is a marvel of nature.

Gen. Howard, who has just returned to Fort Omaha from Salt Lake City, says the situation of affairs at that place is very threatening, and a serious outbreak between the Mormons and Gentiles is liable to occur at any moment.

Joseph Palmer, colored, was hanged at Cincinnati for the murder of William H. Kirk on December 24, 1882. William Berger, his associate in the crime, is serving a twenty-year sentence in the Ohio Penitentiary, the verdict of manslaughter in his case having been the exciting cause of the great riot of March, 1884.

Seven hundred Polish and Bohemian strikers attacked the plant mill in Cleveland, Ohio. They were met by fifty policemen, and a fight ensued, in which two policemen were hit with stones and fifty strikers badly clubbed, one perhaps fatally.

A. H. Rose, a California farmer whose indebtedness was $200,000, has filed a petition in insolvency at San Francisco. Napoleon Bonaparte, furniture dealer at No. 21 Sixth street, Chicago, has failed, with debts of $40,000 and assets of $35,000.

SOUTHERN.

The New Orleans Board of Health officially announced that there is any yellow fever in that city.

Reports that yellow fever had appeared at New Orleans are officially denied at Washington.

The Pennsylvania Railroad Company has shunted the last road to Delaware, and now practically owns all that are in or pass through the State.

Howard Cooper, colored, under sentence of death for rape, was taken from the jail at Towson, Md., by a mob and hanged to a tree. A negro, whose name is not given, was lynched for a similar crime at Oxford, Miss.

The World's Exposition plant, comprising buildings and machinery, was sold at New Orleans for $175,000, the successful bidder being supposed to represent the new Exposition Company.

James Piper was killed by Joseph Hoin in a duel in Kaufman County, Texas, growing out of a business disagreement.

James G. Winterrmith, Doorkeeper of the National House of Representatives, died at Louisville, Ky., aged 63 years.

Five murderers confined in the jail at Asheville, North Carolina, overpowered the turnkey and broke him to a cell, making their escape to the mountains.

Paymaster Groser, of the Richmond and Danville Road, went to bed in his car at Atlanta, Ga., and when he woke up, early the following morning, was being whirled over the line at the rate of forty miles an hour. He went to the platform, set the brake, and dismissed of the men on the locomotive where they were taking him. They punctuated their reply with bullets, and Mr. Groser leaped from the car. When he returned with help, half an hour later, the men had fled, leaving the safe, which contained $30,000, undisturbed. There has been one arrest on suspicion.

WASHINGTON.

Bookkeeping in the Navy Department is hereafter to be patterned after the system in use by the British Admiralty.

Lieut. Gen. Sheridan left Washington last week for Indian Territory to take charge in person of such military movements as may be necessary to keep the Cheyennes in order. President Cleveland addressed the following letter to Gen. Sheridan:

In view of the possible disturbances that may occur among the Indians in Indian Territory and the contemplated concentration of troops in that locality, I deem it desirable that you proceed at once to the location where such disturbances are most to be apprehended, and direct those movements as to the troops to be taken to prevent disorder and depredations by the Indians and as to the assembling of the troops. Your acquaintance with the Indian and the habits and motives of their leaders leads me also to request that you invite conferences with such of the Indians as may be deemed helpful or helpless toward the end any other means that may have led to disorder, and to inform yourself generally as to their condition. You are justified in assuming that the very cause of complaint will be fully examined by the authorities here, and if obvious injustice is found to exist, it will be promptly and fully and that they must be fully aware of the determination on the part of the Government to enforce their peaceful conduct, and by the whole power it has at hand to prevent and punish acts of lawlessness. Your headquarters are selected.

Fort Hare is to lose the Glasgow Consulate. It is charged that he spends all his time in London and has entirely neglected the duties of his office.

Attorney General Garland has rendered an opinion to the effect that the Government is under no obligation to accept the dispatch boat Dolphin, recently built by John Roach, and that the same already paid him for the vessel may be recovered.

A decision by Land Commissioner Sparks affirms the right of entry of lands heretofore withdrawn by the voluntary action of the General Land Office for railroad indemnity purposes where the law did not require such withdrawal. If this decision is sustained, it will restore to entry many million acres of public lands heretofore kept out of market because claimed by railroad corporations.

The deficit of the Postoffice Department for the quarter ended March 31 last was $1,035,321. It is estimated that the deficit for the present fiscal year will reach $6,000,000.

POLITICAL.

The President has made the following appointments:

William Joseph Bryant, of Scbooe, Washington Territory, to be Governor of Idaho vice Neil Peacock, Washington Territory; William C. Bird, of Washington Territory, to be Secretary of the Northern District of Florida; William H. Wilson, of Washington Territory, to be United States Attorney for the Territory of Washington; Jonathan Ellbourn, of Dublin, Colorado, to be Register of the Land Office at Pueblo, Col. Colonel of Customs—Thomas Dowling, Michigan; Wm. Wilson, Ohio; Henry W. Hubbell, for Inspector of the port of Stanford, S. C.; H. Harris Wood, for the District of Georgetown, S.C. Postmasters—Image W. Martin, at Chattanooga, Tenn., vice H. F. Grigsby, suspended; Thomas A. Van Dyke, at New London, Conn., vice Robert Vance, suspended; Wm. Ward, at Ogdensburg, N. Y., vice Jas. C. Ben at Gorham, Me., vice W. H. Best to serve error in name; Thos. Hall at Preston, Minn., vice H. B. Lloyd, commission expired; W. S. Thomasson at Gilroy, Cal., vice Jas. Hamilton, commission expired; Hall W. Flower at Ashland, Ohio, vice Wm. Cook, resigned; Jacob Van De Grift at Riverdale, Ill., vice W. Fleming, resigned; Isaac Barlow at North East, Pa., vice G. W. Davis, resigned; Frank W. Platt at Tunkhannock, Pa., vice H. W. Bardwell, resigned; Cornelius L. Barrett at Charlotte, Mich., vice F. E. Leslie, resigned.

The Key City Democratic Club, of Davenport, has declared in favor of the repeal of prohibition and in favor of a uniform license system of $500 for Iowa.

Larner B. Harrison, President of the First National Bank of Cincinnati, and a Republican has been appointed a Government Director of the Union Pacific Railway, and Adolph Guerrero Collector of Customs for Minnesota.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Riel, the leader of the half-breed rebellion in the Northwest Territory, hopes to escape through a flaw in the indictment. He claims American citizenship, but is indicted as a British subject. It is contended that he should have been indicted as a foreigner levying war against Canada.

The imports of the United States for the first seven months of the past fiscal year aggregated in value $505,205,744; exports, $540,583,853; excess of exports, $34,585,559.

The National Union of Hebrew Charities was organized at St. Louis, Mo., by delegates from Hebrew relief associations throughout the country. Kaesus Bernhelmer, of St. Louis, was elected President.

Lieutenant Commander W. H. Webb, of the United States navy, has been found guilty of drunkenness by a court-martial, which recommended his suspension from rank and duty on furlough pay for two years.

Edward Withers, a clerk in the Halifax (Nova Scotia) custom house, shot his stepdaughter and then himself. Both are dead. Withers is believed to have been demented.

The International Window-Glass Workers' Convention met at Pittsburg, with delegates present from all parts of the world.

Delegates are coming to the United States to assist from French Canadians an alliance for the defense of Riel.

The Santiago Times has caused great excitement in Ecuador, and the Government evinces a disposition to make active resistance to the demands of the United States Government.

In the recent battle in Tamalaucqua with Calderon's forces, the Columbian rebels lost three hundred killed, wounded, and prisoners.

The present season is without a precedent in the history of the lake marine, says a Chicago dispatch. Freights are completely demoralized, and there is no immediate prospect of any improvement. The situation is nicely summed up in a dispatch from Buffalo announcing that the three leading transportation companies had decided to retire fourteen steamers for which freights are restored to a paying basis. Thus some improvement in the market of rates, $1,000,000, and give employment to about 400 men.

The first annual convention of the Master House-Painters' Association of the United States and Canada, was in session at Niagara last week. The President addressed the Hebrew congregations was in session at St. Louis. They recommended the organization of a Satisfactorical Union. The Business Educators' Association of the United States met at Jacksonville, Ill. New York City was selected as the next place of meeting. The National Curling Club of America held its nineteenth annual meeting at Milwaukee, when a schedule for the coming winter was arranged. and James Stuart, of Yonkers, New York, elected President for the ensuing year. The National Letter Exchange of American was in session at White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., and the newspapers were stationed held a convention at Philadelphia.

FOREIGN.

The cholera has spread to the province of Jaen, Spain, since last week, and in Sorin there have been 30,000 cases and 15,000 deaths.

The great Munster Bank, of Cork and Dublin, has suspended payments. The liabilities amount to $5,250,000. The majority of the shareholders are ladies who are nearly dependent upon its dividends for their income.

Drouth has completely ruined the crops in the southern provinces of Russia.

Miss Florence Lawrence, daughter of Francis Lawrence, of New York, and Lord Vernon were married at London in the presence of a distinguished gathering.

Paris celebrated the anniversary of the fall of the Bastile by a grand army review, with acute sensation presented, and a parade of 10,000 schoolboys in military uniform.

The Archbishop of Canterbury, the Bishop of London, Cardinal Manning, and the Hon. Samuel Morley consented to act as a committee of inquiry made by the London Pall Mall Gazette. The investigation is now in progress. The witnesses will be examined strictly and under oath, and are expected to place all their information at the disposal of the committee. The Home Secretary has announced to the House of Commons that it was not at all desirable to execute the Pall Mall Gazette. A conference for the protection of young girls was opened in London and is the surprise of the Salvation Army. Mr. Morley, member of Parliament for Arbroth, presides.

Riotous scenes were enacted before the offices of the failed Munster Bank at Cork, Dublin, Limerick, and other Irish towns, the streets being blocked with people clamoring for their money, and the presence of squads of police being necessary to maintain order.

Rumors that the Russians had advanced in force to Zaribar Pass, and that they were treating Persian territory as their own, caused a panicky feeling on the London Stock Exchange, and a sharp decline in Russian and Egyptian securities. In the House of Commons Lord Randolph Churchill said that the Government had heard of the Russian demonstration, and that the British Minister Consul-General was ordered to Herat, upon invitation of the authorities of that city.

LATER NEWS ITEMS.

The President has appointed William T. Carrington to be Collector of Customs for the District of Tecko, Louisiana, vice J. D. Underwood, of Massachusetts, to be Consul of the United States at Glasgow; Chas. Ow Wen, to be Interpreter of the United States Consulate at Canton; Charles W. Fields, to be Superintendent of the Hot Springs, Ark.; L. D. Sale, of Michigan, to be Librarian of the Patent Office, vice Thomas Ellet, reduced; and the following named Postmasters: James H. Dobbs, at Hohenwald, Tn.; Augustus Owen, at Canton, Miss.; William A. Lewis, at Pearl, Miss.; Eugene L. Brown, at Eufaula, Ala.; Theodore W. Every, at Grinnell, Iowa; Henry A. Stark, at Red Oak, Iowa; George F. A. Kimball, at Vergennes, Vt.; Gardner A. Webber, at Cleveland, Ohio, vice H. E. Lane, suspended; Lyman W. Hollington, at Burlington, Vt., vice A. H. Tuttle, suspended.

A mass meeting at Toronto, which demanded the restriction or prohibition of Chinese immigration into the Dominion, was presided over by the Mayor of the city.

A dispatch from Rome says the Pope is employing cautious hands.

At Saragossa, Spain, a number of persons were arrested on suspicion of being political conspirators who favored the forming of a republic.

London dispatch: The Daily Telegraph says that negotiations between England and Russia regarding the Afghan frontier question have become serious. Russia appears to now show and refuses to yield to Lord Salisbury, whose tone although moderately firm, is firm. The wonderful fact concerning upon the same subject, declares that England will never condemn a second edition of the Anglo-German. The objection of the Amoer of Afghanistan to Russia's claim to a portion panel only commanding the Zulfiar Pass is supported by Lord Salisbury. Lor Salisbury's reluctance to consent to Russia's offer to submit the question to a joint commission is owing to its belief that such a course would be meaningless, and would only delay a settlement of the matter."

The web-worm is ravaging many cotton-fields in Texas.

The National Cotton Convention, in session at White Sulphur Springs, elected T. L. Avery, of New Orleans, President. A report was adopted asking congress to pass a law making commission merchants responsible for the acts of their agents.

Jeffras & Thompson, jobbers in millinery and fancy dress goods at Cincinnati, have assigned, with liabilities of about $75,000.

A package of dynamite exploded in the Denver and Rio Grande yards at Denver, wrecking an empty car and injuring two trainmen.

A tornado wrecked fifteen houses at Highmore, D. T., and completely destroyed the town of Hoskins. Property in the above cities suffered severely, and two or three persons were killed. A storm of rain, hail, and lightning visited Watertown, Wis., leveling trees and fences and inflicting considerable damage upon growing crops. Much damage was done at Brainerd, Minn., and along the line of the Northern Pacific Railroad.

The victims of the yachting disaster on Lake Minnetonka have been buried at Minneapolis. Business of all kinds was entirely suspended, and flags were hung at half-mast. The funeral procession was the largest ever seen in that city, being a mile and a half long. The streets along the route were lined with people, and fully 4,000 were at the cemetery. The bodies of ex-Mayor Rand, his wife, daughter, son, and nephew were placed in one grave, and those of Mr. Cuykendall, his wife, and daughter in another.

The Illinois Republican convention at Richmond nominated John S. Wise for Governor and H. Clinton Wood for Lieutenant Governor. Resolutions were adopted with Gen. Grant were adopted.

THE MARKETS.

NEW YORK

BEEVES	$6.35	@ 6.75
Texas	4.25	@ 4.50
FLOUR—Superfine	3.00	@ 3.25
WHEAT—No. 2 White	.97	@ .97½
WHEAT—No. 2 Red	.96	@ .96½
CORN—Mixed	.52	@ .52½
OATS—White	.32	@ .34
PORK—New Mess	11.25	@ 11.50
LARD	.06½	@ .06¾
CHICAGO
BEEVES—Choice to Prime Steers	$5.50	@ 6.00
Good Shipping	4.25	@ 5.25
Common Steers	3.00	@ 4.00
HOGS	4.35	@ 4.55
FLOUR—Fancy Red Winter Extra	3.25	@ 3.50
Fancy to Choice Spring	4.00	@ 4.50
WHEAT—No. 2 Spring	.77	@ .77½
WHEAT—No. 2 Red	.78	@ .78½
CORN—No. 2	.42	@ .42½
OATS—No. 2	.24	@ .24½
BARLEY—No. 2	.61	@ .62
BUTTER—Choice Creamery	.22	@ .23
Fine Dairy	.12	@ .13
EGGS—Fresh Western	.12½	@ .13
LARD—Prime Steam	.06½	@ .06¾
PORK—Mess	.09	@ .11
TOLEDO
WHEAT—No. 2 Red	.96	@ .96
CORN—No. 2	.42½	@ .42¾
OATS—No. 2	.24	@ .24½
MILWAUKEE
WHEAT—No. 2	.96	@ .97
CORN—No. 3	.41	@ .41½
OATS—No. 2 White	.24	@ .24½
RYE—No. 1	.57	@ .58
PORK—Mess	10.00	@10.25
ST. LOUIS
WHEAT—No. 2 Red	1.01	@ 1.05
CORN—Mixed	.42	@ .42½
OATS—Mixed	.24	@ .24½
RYE	.57	@ .58
PORK—Mess	10.25	@10.75
CINCINNATI
WHEAT—No. 2 Red	.97	@ 1.00
CORN—Mixed	.42	@ .42½
OATS—Mixed	.26	@ .26½
RYE—No. 2	.58	@ .59
PORK—Mess	10.50	@11.00
DETROIT
FLOUR	3.50	@ 4.00
WHEAT—No. 1 White	.97	@ .98½
CORN—No. 2	.42	@ .42½
OATS—No. 2 White	.26	@ .27
PORK—New Mess	11.00	@11.50
INDIANAPOLIS
WHEAT—No. 2 Red	.96	@ .97
CORN—Mixed	.42	@ .42½
OATS—No. 2	.32	@ .34
EAST LIBERTY
CATTLE—Fair	4.65	@ 4.80
Fair	4.00	@ 4.50
Common	3.50	@ 3.75
HOGS	4.60	@ 4.75
SHEEP	4.35	@ 4.70

THE CATARACT PARK.

Dedication of the Niagara Reservation to the Use of the Public.

An Immense Gathering of Citizens and State Troops in Honor of the Event.

[Niagara Falls special.]

Ninety years before saw savage a throng as was witnessed the opening of the State Park. Scattered all Western New York poured itself into the village. A score of special trains brought delegations from many States and from Canada. The word "Welcome" greeted the visitor at every turn. Bunting is displayed in every part of the village. The Union Jack, the Irish Green, and the Tricolor are mingled with the Stars and Stripes. The hotels are literally in display. The fronts of the International, Cataract, Spencer, and others are almost hidden from sight by richly-hued decorations. In front of the Cataract is a tent 80 feet long, handsomely decorated in the Canada shore show sympathetic reception.

The Reservation Commissioners met at the Cataract House at 10 a. m. There were present Commissioners Dorsheimer, Eggers, Jacobson and Green, and Secretary Rochester and Engineer Williams. The following cable dispatch was read:

LONDON, Eng., July 11.

"To the Dorsheimer, Chairman of the State of New York at Niagara Falls:

"The Commissioners Reservation society congratulates the State of New York on securing the Falls to the public."

About 11:30 a delegation representing the Canadian Commissioners drove from the Clifton side to take part in the ceremonies. It included Lieut. Gov. Robertson, of Ontario; the Hon. Oliver Mowatt, Premier of Ontario; Sir Alexander Campbell, Lieut. Col. Gzowski, Chairman of the Canadian Niagara Falls Commission; Commissioner Langmuir, and the Corporation of Toronto in a body.

The reception was full and hearty. The hotel parlors occupied by Gov. Hill, the Canadian visitors were presented to him and remained until the time arrived for the ceremony of the day.

THE OPENING CEREMONIES.

The formal opening ceremonies were held in Prospect Park, whose well-kept domain was only given over to the broken road of a public which needed police restriction, and had it not.

At 12:15 o'clock Gov. Hill, Hon. Erastus Brooks, James C. Carter, of New York, the orator of the day, and Bishop Coxe, made their appearance in the pavilion, escorted by Frederick Law Olmsted, the Prospect Park Company. They were followed by the staff of the Governor, State officials, Niagara Reservation Commissioners, and others of prominence. The commissioners, carried out according to programme, included Sam Green, who presided, the latter by military breaks from Buffalo and the Mexican Natural Band, present by special invitation. Bishop Coxe made a fine prayer for the occasion, and the Hon. Brooks, Richard Ward, President of the Park, made a long address. The formal presentation of the Park to the State was made by the Hon. William Dorsheimer Gov. Hill's speech was in his details. And the crowd a history of Niagara, and the State would undertake to care for the reservation, and wound up with memorial praise of the Commissioners, and how the law had mented on eages for the entment. The orator of the day was the Hon. James C. Carter, of New York City, a prominent lawyer, who has been active in "The Niagara Falls Legal Letter Exchange of America was in session at White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., and the newspapers were stationed held a convention at Philadelphia.

THE CROWD ASSEMBLED OVER THE FALLS.

The crowds lingered to enjoy "freedom" and fireworks. A sergeant of the guard during the parade was shot in the leg, horses from the line of march attempted to enforce them. A nonsense order attempting to ride past line, the sergeant threat has between into the horse, killing the sergeant. The sergeant was arrested. The friendly Canadian from the rear towns, pipe in mouth and girl on arm, was everywhere. The farming community of all Western New York seemed to have hitched up and driven to the village. Irrepressible Yankee Doodles in strong pieces ground. Even the Tonawanda musicians, who led the Indian delegation, gay in cambric and red feathers. All day long the throng walked the streets. The barkman, as a feature of Niagara, was wiped out of existence. The crowd was the great thing. People trooped over the bridges in endless battalions and marched shoulder to shoulder through the mesd and shady pathways of Goat Island. Farmers hitched their horses and sauntered through the shrubbery which private management had hitherto so sedulously guarded. The deep woods of the island looked as though given up to a visit from mankind. The Biddle stairway was free, as it always is, and the number of people who went toiling up and down its tedious spiral was so great that further admission was repeatedly discontinued. The Cave of the Winds cost a dollar apiece, but the lessees reaped a harvest. The inclined railway in Prospect Park was run at twenty-five cents a piece as usual. There was full lack of police supervision, and it was a constant marvel during the day that accidents were being invited. About six o'clock Leo Burke, a boy, was about to cross the first bridge to Goat Island when one of them, a Mr. McIntyre, ventured upon the dangerous planks at the edge of the pier. Turning, she called to her companion, "You're a coward! Come on!" As she spoke she lost her balance, fell into the rapids, and was swept over the American Fall.

The Mayor of Helena, M. T., is a barber, and after enjoying a "shave" at his worshipful hands a visitor went out "to look for an Alderman to black his boots."

LOST IN A FIERCE STORM.

Ten Persons Drowned by the Capsizing of a Pleasure Boat in Lake Minnetonka.

Ex-Mayor Rand, of Minneapolis, His Wife and Two Children Among the Victims.

[Minneapolis special.]

Mayor Ex-Mayor Rand, his wife, family, and a few friends started out for an excursion on Lake Minnetonka in the steam yacht Minnie Ha-Ha on the afternoon of Sunday, July 11, the steamer being in charge of Capt. Jones, who had been in the employ of the Rand family for about 10 consecutive years. The party numbered 14 in all, the Hopkins household alone numbering six, the Hopkins household alone numbering six, the Hopkins household alone numbering six

THE JOURNAL.

BY CHAS. J STRANG.

CHARLEVOIX, - - MICHIGAN

AS OTHERS SEE US.

Echoes From the Recent Press Excursion.

We give below a very few of the many favorable notices given us by the members of the recent editorial excursion. After reading this paper, send it to some distant friend.

CHARLOTTE LEADER.

The excursionists were met by a committee of citizens, and escorted to the Opera House to listen to an address of welcome by A. D. Crinkshank, a response by C. S. Hampton and the Press Song, which was composed by Major J. W. Long especially for the occasion. After the exercises in school hall the party was allotted to the several hotels and summer resorts for dinner. It was our good fortune to satisfy the inner man at the Bridge Street House, presided over by that prince of landlords, Robert Miller. We were provided with a most excellent dinner, and each guest was furnished with a bill of fare containing a list of all the good things the market affords, and a fine view of Charlevoix.

After dinner the party was shown about the beautiful city of Charlevoix which is situated on Lake Michigan, eighteen miles, nearly southwest from Petoskey, and is reached daily, both from Traverse City and Petoskey, by the steamers City of Grand Rapids and T. S. Faxton.

The town derives its name from Pierre Francois Xavier Charlevoix, one of the early French navigators and explorers, and is beautifully located at the mouth of Pine River, a short stream connecting Pine Lake with Lake Michigan. Here are located two distinct summer resorts, the Charlevoix or Baptist summer resort and the Chicago resort, the former comprising seventy five acres, situated on Pine and Round Lakes and Pine River. It comprises nearly one hundred cottages as well as a fine commodious hotel.

Across the river on the north side and situated on both of the lakes is the Chicago resort, its membership being almost entirely residents of Chicago, owning many fine cottages, a club house and hotel.

A finer or more beautiful body of water than Pine Lake is rarely found.

CHARLEVOIX HERALD.

At a little after noon Charlevoix is reached. It is situated between Lake Michigan and Round Lake, a channel connecting the two, and a bright and thrifty-looking village of from 1,200 to 1,500 inhabitants. Just beyond Round Lake is Pine Lake, one of the most beautiful sheets of inland water in northern Michigan; the two are connected by a short channel. On the south side of this channel is situated the "Charlevoix Summer Resort Company," on the north side of the channel is the "Chicago Summer Resort Company." Each one of them have a club house, cottages, music hall, and have boats and other appliances for pleasure making, and are largely attended in the summer season. At Charlevoix we were met by a committee of citizens, with a fine band, and follow to the opera house, fur with music a very fine address of welcome inflicted upon us by A. D. Crinkshank responded to and an infection to the people of Charlevoix and others by President Hampton. After the poem song, sung by the choir, the entire crowd was distributed to the Bridge House hotel, Chicago Club house and Charlevoix house, where a sumptuous dinner was served, the compliment of the generous people of Charlevoix. An excursion to Pine Lake was a part of the program, but owing to the lateness of the hour it had to be given up. The "City of Grand Rapids" just passing through the channel into Pine Lake and turning around. As the steamer passed out from Round Lake through the drawbridge, three cheers were given by the party for the beautiful Charlevoix and her hospitable people.

CHICAGO ADVOCATE.

The party arrived at Charlevoix in time for dinner. Here the citizens met them with a band and they were escorted to the opera house, where an address of welcome was delivered and a fitting response made by President Hampton, after which all were taken to where dinner was provided, and a royal repast it was. Three hundred and fifty hungry editors to strike a town was almost, if not quite as bad as a Dakota blizzard, but the good people of Charlevoix were able to cope with it in a manner not soon to be forgotten by those who participated.

* * * * * *

On Friday each train bore many homeward, while others followed along the beach gathering agates. Various parties were made up for side excursions one of which went on a fishing trip, to Bear Lake, and we were with the one which took an excursion on the trim little steamer "Thomas Friant," through Pine Lake to East Jordan, a distance of 28 miles. This is one of the most delightful excursion trips in the northern lakes. Stops were made at Charlevoix, Ironton, and East Jordan, and the trip occupied the whole day. A stop of two hours was made at East Jordan, one of the new and growing towns of this section, and a most excellent dinner was served at the Commercial hotel. The beauties of Pine Lake must be seen to be appreciated. Her deep blue waters, calm surface and shores fringed with deep green foliage are sights to be long remembered with pleasure. Capt. Vanderhoef, of the "Friant" is one of those genial gentlemen who understands how to make the trip an enjoyable one for his passengers. The "Friant" is the fastest and neatest pleasure steamer on the northern lakes.

GRAYBOY JOURNAL.

A genuine surprise was in store for the excursionists at this place, in the form of a generous and well-planned reception. After landing, the party was escorted to the public hall, headed by a band, where an eloquent address of welcome was delivered by A. D. Crinckshank. The spirit of sentiment of his remarks, however, did not partake in the least of his name; but were timely and able, creating a good impression of the man and the land some little town he represented. A highly eloquent and appropriate response was made by President Hampton of the Harbor Springs Independent. Then followed a press song, written by Major Long, the versatile and genial editor of the Mt. Pleasant Times, after which the company was assigned to the different hotels for dinner. The writer hereof, with some 70 or 80 others, satisfied the inner man at the "Fountain City House." And such a dinner! Why, it was simply immense, abounding in everything that could be desired, even to speckled trout in abundance—raised and caught especially for the occasion! E. J. Kelly of the Pontiac Bill Foster sat at the same table with the writer, and it is a positive fact that he passed his plate eleven times for trout and then got away with the usual complement of other things, with half a watermelon thrown in! Charlevoix commands a lofty position on the shores of Lake Michigan, at the entrance of Pine Lake. It is the seat of government of the county by the same name, and is a favorite summer resort, more especially for Kalamazoo and Chicago parties. The town proper has a decided air of thrift, cleanliness and enterprise. The surrounding country is said to be good farming land and it has a big future before it, as it offers rare opportunities to those seeking cheap homes. The excursionists were certainly royally entertained at Charlevoix, and it would have afforded the entire party great pleasure to have seen more of the town and the neighboring region.

BAYCLE CREEK SUNDAY MORNING CALL.

Charlevoix is situated on a little sheet of water called Round Lake, between it and the big lake, a channel connecting the two. Just beyond Round Lake, connected by a short channel, is the most beautiful sheet of inland water in Northern Michigan—Pine Lake. On the west end of Pine Lake, and south of Round Lake, is located the Charlevoix resort. Directly opposite this is the Chicago resort. The high lake bluffs present a sight of the village as you enter by boat. The best sight of Charlevoix is coming across Pine Lake from Boyne City. * * * *

At Charlevoix we were met by a committee of citizens and a fine band of music, who escorted us to the opera house, where A. D. Crinckshank delivered an address of welcome, with response by President Hampton. After the press song by the choir the hungry gang, it then being two o'clock, were escorted to the Fountain City hotel, Chicago Club house and Belvidere house, where a sumptuous dinner was served, the compliment of the generous citizens of Charlevoix.

An excursion up Pine Lake was contemplated, but was found impossible owing to the lateness of the hour. Steaming out from Round Lake, through the draw bridge into the channel, the party gave three hearty cheers for beautiful Charlevoix and her hospitable people.

MORNE COMMERCIAL.

Charlevoix is situated on the lake shore a little south of the entrance to Little Traverse Bay, and is a growing village of some 1,200 to 1,800 population, and its surroundings are fast becoming famous as summer resorts. Its harbor, which is a churning little sheet of water, large enough, however, to meet the British navy, is surrounded by bluffs, and is so completely land locked that however severe the storm outside, vessels may ride at anchor there with perfect safety. * * A party of about one hundred were escorted to the Chicago Club house, a roomy hostelry, where a magnificent dinner was provided. This Club house and its surrounding grounds and cottages belong to Chicago parties, and form a most beautiful summer resort. The situation overlooks both Charlevoix harbor and Pine Lake, a much larger sheet of water connecting with the harbor by a short and narrow strait.

ST. JOSEPH HERALD.

Beautiful resorts and cottages are seen on every hand, and everywhere can be noticed indications of thrift and enterprise. Tis a handsome little city, and no fairer place can be found within the lake-locked shores of Michigan, where a few quiet weeks can be spent by the weary pilgrim who is looking for rest and recreation. Long live pretty Charlevoix.

MARLETTE LEADER.

At Charlevoix we spent several hours in a beautiful town of 2,000 inhabitants, on the shore of Lake Michigan, and just at the foot of Pine Lake. The guests were dined at the different hotels, our party being assigned to the Shanbut house, where an elegant dinner was served, and we cannot say too much for the politeness and attention of the host.

LANSING REPUBLICAN.

Those who were so fortunate as to secure a look from the tower of the Chicago Club house witnessed a panorama not often equalled and the stop at Charlevoix will remain a bright and ever to be remembered spot in a continuously delightful excursion.

FOWLERVILLE REVIEW.

We wish to remark right here that to citizens who contemplate a change of location, Charlevoix has many natural advantages, such as cheap and fertile land, healthy atmosphere, location, etc., which it will be well to investigate before locating.

NASHVILLE NEWS.

The mean was delicious and inclined book front, to which all did justice. Charlevoix is beautifully located on Pine Lake, has a nice harbor, and many handsome residences, and our party are unanimous in voting it a bright town.

LOWELL JOURNAL.

Charlevoix is one of the very pleasant and desirable northern resorts now so famous to all pleasure seekers.

BELLEVUE GAZETTE.

Charlevoix boasts—and well she may—of her excellent harbor and her beautiful location as a summer resort.

KALAMAZOO GAZETTE.

Charlevoix is a beautiful summer resort, and the guests spent a profitable hour in viewing the scenery.

Notes and News.

The New York World has reached the enormous circulation of over a million copies a week.

The agitator must stand outside all organizations, with no bread to earn, no candidate to elect, no party to save, no object but truth to tear a question open and riddle it with light.

A writer in a Canada exchange says that if any denies that prohibition prohibits he can find "in the Iowa state prison eighty one saloon keepers who are so positive that the law prohibits that they are going to stay in gaol from six to twenty-four months to prove it."

The president's pisscutorial picnic was quite a success. He fished with an old-fashioned Jeffersonian pole and line and hooked more bass than any member of the party. That man has luck, no matter where he turns up.

The rolling mill men who are now on a strike at Cleveland are imported labourers, who took the places of strikers two years ago. When things get so bad that even an imported labourer feels it incumbent on him to strike it is not possible for them to grow much worse. The rolling mill proprietors all insist that the enormous tariff on iron is laid for the sole benefit of American working men; yet the present strikers in Cleveland are men who were brought to this country to take the places of American workingmen, and not one in 50 of them can speak the English language.—[Patriot.

Cure for Piles.

Piles are frequently preceded by a sense of weight in the back, loins and lower part of the abdomen, causing the patient to suppose he has some affection of the kidneys or neighboring organs. At times, symptoms of indigestion are present, flatulency, uneasiness of the stomach, etc. A painful, like perspiration, to be followed by a burning sensation over the whole body. It is a common attendant, blind, bleeding and itching Piles yield at once to the application of Dr. Bosanko's Pile Ointment, which acts directly upon the parts affected, absorbing the tumors, allaying the inflammation, and giving a permanent cure. Price 50 cents. Sold by Geo. W. Crouter. 52

Wild Cherry and Tar.

Every body knows the virtues of Wild Cherry and Tar, but few know that Dr. Bosanko has added the Tar to his preparation of Wild Cherry, thus imparting to it a tonic quality which makes it invaluable for Coughs, Colds, Croup, and Bronchitis. Price 50 cents and $1.00. Sample free. Sold by G. W. Crouter. 3

REPORT OF THE CONDITION
OF THE
CHARLEVOIX
Savings Bank

At Charlevoix, Mich., at the close of business Monday, July 6th, 1885, made to pursuance with section 19, 20 and 42, of Act of General Banking law, as amended in 1881.

RESOURCES.

Loans and discounts	$12,586 [illegible]
Overdrafts	1,662 [illegible]
Furniture and fixtures	1,000 00
Expense account	572 [illegible]
Cash on other banks	1,000 00
Due from other banks and bankers	2,[illegible]
Legal tender and bank notes	2,[illegible]
	$20,[illegible]

LIABILITIES.

Capital paid in	$15,000 00
Undivided profits	[illegible]
Due depositors	1,[illegible]
	$20,[illegible]

I, FRED A. SMITH, Cashier of the above named bank, do solemnly swear that the above statement is true to the best of my knowledge and belief. FRED A. SMITH, Cashier.

Subscribed and sworn to before me this 6th day of July, A. D. 1885.

OSCAR LEDROIT,
Notary Public.

Attest—Correct—
HENRY BENNETT,
A. C. LEDROIT,
JOHN NEWCOMB,

CHANCERY SALE.

In pursuance and by virtue of an order and decree of the circuit court for the county of Charlevoix, in chancery, in the state of Michigan, made and dated the twelfth day of June, A.D. 1885, in a certain cause therein pending wherein Benjamin F. Noyes is complainant and Andrew Hall, Sarah Hall, Minor Hall, Jane Hall, Ann Hall, Mary Hall, Sarah Hall, are defendants, notice is hereby given that I shall sell at public auction to the highest bidder, the following described premises, viz: All the lands of East Jordan, in the county of Charlevoix, and state of Michigan, lying south of the south line of section one (1), in township one (1) north, of range ten (10) west, on the twenty-fifth day of August, at one o'clock in the afternoon of said day, at the south door of the court house in the village of Charlevoix, in said county, of such parts of said premises as may be necessary to raise the amount due to the said complainant for principal and costs, in said decree mentioned and costs and costs of sale, which amount is the sum of one hundred and twenty dollars. In default of such sale and payment the premises will be sold at the same place on the next succeeding day (Tuesday) at one o'clock in the afternoon of said day, in accordance with the terms of said decree.

Dated July 8th, A. D. 1885.

FRANK T. FORD,
Circuit Court Commissioner,
for Charlevoix County, Michigan.
CHAPMAN & GARTER,
Solicitors for Complainant
Charlevoix, Michigan. 10-13t

Good Goods and Low Prices
ARE
BOUND TO WIN

If you don't believe it, come and see my SPRING STOCK. You will see that I am up to the times in styles, and have as fine an assortment of MEN'S, YOUTH'S and CHILDREN'S SUITS, as you will find in any City. I defy any House to show any nicer line of NECK WEAR and

Furnishing Goods

My aim is to HOLD THE CLOTHING TRADE, by carrying a Large Stock so I can please you all. PRICES TALK. Come and see my Large Spring Stock before buying elsewhere.

GEO. W. MILLER.

I have purchased the Meat business of Armstrong & Co., and will continue at the old stand, with the freshest and best goods in the market.

T. E. CHAMBERLIN.

HEAR YE! HEAR YE!
I have purchased the Stock of
Drugs, Chemicals,
STATIONERY, FISHING TACKLE, ETC.
Of O. B. WEED & CO., and will continue the business at the old stand. I shall aim to so conduct the business as to merit a share of your favors. When in need of anything in my line, call and examine my stock and ask my prices.
PERRY WEED, DRUGGIST,
Successor to O. B. Weed & Co.
OPERA BLOCK, CHARLEVOIX, MICH.

GARLAND STOVES & RANGES
KEEP YOUR STOVE ON THE Right Place
For Bargains in Hardware,
Iron, Cutlery, Tin ware, Stoves, Implements, Pictures, Pumps, Grind stones, Wagons, Buggies, Carts, Wheelbarrows, Refrigerators, Hoses, Sash.
PAINTS Oils, Varnishes, Putty, Glass, Fence wire, Farm bells, Guns, Ammunition, Spoons, Forks, LAMPS, Baskets, Measures, Tubs, Woodenware, Rope, Fishermen's Supplies, and Ship chandlery. Job and Tin work.
L. D. BARTHOLOMEW & CO.

THE JOURNAL

Charlevoix, Mich., July 23, 1885.

Provision Market.

Retail prices to consumers, corrected every Wednesday evening, by Hudson, Dunham & Co., general dealers:

Flour, per bbl, $5.50, $6.00, and $6.50.
Corn Meal, per cwt., bolted $2.00, unbolted $1.90.
Hay, per ton, baled $[illegible], loose $8[illegible].
Oats, per bu., 45c.
Corn in Ear, per cwt., $1.40@1.50.
Pork, per cwt., 8c.
Potatoes, per bu., 25c.
Beans, per bu., 90@$1.50.
Butter, per lb., 17@20c.
Eggs, per doz., 12c.
Dried Apples, per lb., 5@6c.
Honey, per lb., 10@12c.
Maple Sugar, per lb., 8@10c.
Lard, per lb., 6@7c.
Tallow, per lb., 3@4c.
Shoulders, per lb., 6c.
Hams, per lb., 10@12c.
Shoulders, per lb., 6c.
Chickens, per lb., 8@10c.
Turkeys, per lb., 8@10c.
Wool, per lb., 25@30c.
Salt Pork, per lb., 6@7c.
Wood, per cord, $3.50@4.00.
Wood, per cord, delivered, $4.00@4.50.
Shingles, per M., $2.50@3.00.
Salt, per bbl., $2.00.
Salt, per sack, 70c.
Plaster, per ton, $8.00.
Plaster, per bbl., $2.00.
Lime, per bbl., 90c.
Cement, per bbl., $2.00.
Calcined Plaster, per bbl., $2.00.
Hair, per bu., 40c.
Wheat, per bu., 80c.
Rye, per bu., 50c.
Barley, per bu., 60c.
Beans, per bu., $1.50.
Apples, per bu., 25@30c.
Apples, per bbl., $1.50@2.00.
Apples, dried, per lb., 3@4c.
Apples, evaporated, per lb., 5@6c.
Peaches, dried, per lb., 5@6c.
Peaches, canned, per doz., $1.50@2.00.
Plums, per bu., $1.00.
Plums, per lb., 5c.
Cranberries, per qt., 5c.
Cranberries, per bbl., $6.00.
Onions, per bu., 40@50c.
Onions, per bbl., $2.50.
Onions, per lb., 4c.
Cabbage, per doz., 50@75c.
Cabbage, per lb., 2c.
Turnips, per bu., 20c.
Beets, per bu., 25c.
Carrots, per bu., 25c.
Parsnips, per bu., 25c.
Pickles, per gal., 50c.
Pickles, per doz., 15c.
Tomatoes, per bu., 50c.
Tomatoes, per can, 3c.
Tomatoes, per gal., 25c.
Tomatoes, per bbl., $2.50.
Sweet Potatoes, per qt., 5c.
Sweet Potatoes, per bbl., $3.00.
Sweet Potatoes, per bu., 75c.
Sweet Potatoes, per doz., 15c.
Sweet Potatoes, per lb., 3c.
Squash, per lb., 1c.
Squash, per bbl., $1.00.
Squash, per doz., 10c.
Squash, per bu., 25c.
Squash, per ton, $10.00.
Squash, per cwt., 50c.
Squash, per lb., 1c

THE JOURNAL.

BY CHAS. J. STRANG.

CHARLEVOIX, - - MICHIGAN

AS OTHERS SEE US.

Extracts From the Recent Press Excursion.

We give below a very few of the many favorable notices given us by the members of the recent editorial excursion. After reading this paper, mail it to some distant friend.

CHARLEVOIX LEADER.

The excursionists were met by a committee of citizens, and escorted to the Opera House to listen to an address of welcome by A. D. Cruickshank, a response by C. S. Hampton and the Press Song, which was composed by Major J. W. Long especially for the occasion. After the exercises in the hall the party was allotted to the several hotels and summer resorts for dinner. It was our good fortune to satisfy the inner man at the Bridge Street House, presided over by that prince of landlords, Robert Miller. We were provided with a most excellent dinner, and each guest was furnished with a bill of fare containing a list of all the good things the market affords, and a fine view of Charlevoix.

After dinner the party was shown about the beautiful city of Charlevoix which is situated on Lake Michigan, eighteen miles, nearly southwest from Petoskey, and is reached daily, both from Traverse City and Petoskey, by the steamers City of Grand Rapids and T. S. Faxton.

The town derives its name from Pierre Francois Xavier Charlevoix, one of the early French navigators and explorers, and is beautifully located at the mouth of Pine River, a short stream connecting Pine Lake with Lake Michigan. Here are located two distinct summer resorts, the Charlevoix or Baptist summer resort and the Chicago resort, the former comprising seventy five acres, situated on Pine and Round Lakes and Pine River. It comprises nearly one hundred cottages as well as a fine commodious hotel.

Across the river on the north side and situated on both of the lakes is the Chicago resort, its membership being almost entirely residents of Chicago, owning many fine cottages, a club house and hotel.

A river or more beautiful body of water than Pine Lake is rarely found.

CHARLOTTE REPUBLICAN.

At a little after noon Charlevoix is reached. It is situated between Lake Michigan and Round Lake, a channel connecting the two, and a bright and thrifty looking village of from 1,200 to 1,500 inhabitants. Just beyond Round Lake is Pine Lake, one of the most beautiful sheets of inland water in northern Michigan; the two are connected by a short channel. On the south side of this channel is situated the "Charlevoix Summer Resort Company," on the north side of the channel is the "Chicago Summer Resort Company." Each one of them have a club house, cottages, music hall, and have boats and other appliances for pleasure making, and are largely attended in the summer season. At Charlevoix we were met by a committee of citizens, with a fine band, and taken to the opera house, for with music, a very fine address of welcome tendered upon us by A. D. Cruickshank, responded to and an infusion on the people of Charlevoix and citizens by President Hampton. After the press song, sung by the choir, the hungry crowd was distributed to the Fountain City hotel, Chicago Club house and Bridgeview house, where a sumptuous dinner was served, the enjoyment of the occasion reached a climax at Charlevoix. An excursion to Pine Lake was a part of the program, but owing to the lateness of the hour it had to be given up, the "City of Grand Rapids" had passed through the channel into Pine Lake and turn argound. As the Commodore passed out from Round Lake through the drawbridge, three cheers were given by the party for the beautiful Charlevoix and her hospitable people.

CHARLEVOIX DISPATCH.

The party arrived at Charlevoix in time for dinner. Here the citizens met them with a band and they were escorted to the opera house, where an address of welcome was delivered and a fitting response made by President Hampton, after which all were taken to where dinner was provided, and a royal repast it was. Three hundred and fifty hungry editors to strike a town was almost, if not quite as bad as a Dakota blizzard, but the good people of Charlevoix were able to cope with it in a manner not soon to be forgotten by those who participated.

* * * * *

On Friday each train bore many homeward, while others loitered along the beach gathering agates. Various parties were made up for side excursions one of which went on a fishing trip, to Bear Lake, and we were with the one which took an excursion on the trim little steamer "Thomas Friant," through Pine Lake to East Jordan, a distance of 28 miles. This is one of the most delightful excursion trips in the northern lakes. Stops were made at Charlevoix, Ironton, and East Jordan, and the trip occupied the whole day. A stop of two hours was made at East Jordan, one of the new and growing towns of this section, and a most excellent dinner was served at the Commercial hotel. The beauties of Pine Lake must be seen to be appreciated. Her deep blue waters, calm surface and shores fringed with deep green foliage are sights to be long remembered with pleasure. Capt. Vanderhoef, of the "Friant" is one of those genial gentlemen who understands how to make the trip an enjoyable one for his passengers. The "Friant" is the fastest and neatest pleasure steamer on the northern lakes.

GRAYBOY JOURNAL.

A genuine surprise was in store for the excursionists at this place, in the form of a generous and well-planned reception. After landing, the party was escorted to the public hall, headed by a band, where an address of welcome was delivered by A. D. Cruickshank. The pithy and sentiment of his remarks, however, did not partake in the least of his name; but were timely and able, creating a good impression of the man and the handsome little town he represented. A highly eloquent and appropriate response was made by President Hampton of the Harbor Springs Independent. Then followed a press song, written by Major Long, the versatile and genial editor of the Mt. Pleasant Times, after which the company was assigned to the different hotels for dinner. The writer hereof, with some 70 or 80 others, satisfied the inner man at the "Fountain City House." And such a dinner! Why, it was simply immense, abounding in everything that could be desired, even to speckled trout in abundance—raised and caught especially for the occasion! E. J. Kelly of the Pontine Bill Poster sat at the same table with the writer, and it is a positive fact that he passed his plate eleven times for trout and then got away with the usual complement of other things, with half a watermelon thrown in! Charlevoix commands a lofty position on the shores of Lake Michigan, at the entrance of Pine Lake. It is the seat of government of the county by the same name, and is a favorite summer resort, more especially for Kalamazoo and Chicago parties. The town proper has a decided air of thrift, cleanliness and enterprise. The surrounding country is said to be good farming land and it has a big future before it, as it offers rare opportunities to those seeking cheap homes. The excursionists were certainly royally entertained at Charlevoix, and it would have afforded the entire party great pleasure to have seen more of the town and the neighboring region.

LITTLE CEDAR SUNDAY MORNING EXPO.

Charlevoix is situated on a little sheet of water called Round Lake, between it and the big lake, a channel connecting the two. Just beyond Round Lake, connected by a short channel, is the most beautiful sheet of inland water in Northern Michigan—Pine Lake. On the west end of Pine Lake, and south of Round Lake, is located the Charlevoix resort. Directly opposite this is the Chicago resort. The high lake bluffs prevent a sight of the village as you enter by boat. The best sight of Charlevoix is coming across Pine Lake from Boyne City.

* * * *

At Charlevoix we were met by a committee of citizens and a fine band of music, who escorted us to the opera house, where A. D. Cruickshank delivered an address of welcome, with response by President Hampton. After the press song by the choir the hungry group, it then being two o'clock, were escorted to the Fountain City hotel, Chicago Club house and Belvidere house, where a sumptuous dinner was served, the compliment of the generous citizens of Charlevoix.

An excursion up Pine Lake was contemplated, but was found impossible owing to the lateness of the hour. Steaming out from Round Lake, through the draw bridge into the channel, the party gave three hearty cheers for beautiful Charlevoix and her hospitable people.

MONROE COMMERCIAL.

Charlevoix is situated on the lake shore a little south of the entrance to Little Traverse Bay, and is a growing village of some 1,200 to 1,500 population, and its surroundings are fast becoming famous as summer resorts. Its harbor, which is a charming little sheet of water, large enough, however to meet the British navy, is surrounded with bluffs, and is so completely land locked that however severe the storm outside, vessels may ride at anchor there with perfect safety. * * A party of about one hundred were escorted to the Chicago Club house, a roomy hostelry, where a magnificent dinner was provided. This Club house and its surrounding grounds and cottages belong to Chicago parties, and form a most beautiful summer resort. The situation overlooks both Charlevoix harbor and Pine Lake, a much larger sheet of water, connecting with the harbor by a short and narrow strait.

ST. JOSEPH REPUBLICAN.

Beautiful resorts and cottages are seen on every hand, and everywhere can be noticed indications of thrift and enterprise. This a handsome little city, and no fairer place can be found within the lake locked shore of Michigan, where a few quiet week can be spent by the weary pilgrim who is looking for rest and recreation. Long live pretty Charlevoix.

MARLETTE LEADER.

At Charlevoix we spent seven hours in a beautiful town of 2,000 inhabitants, on the shore of Lake Michigan, and just at the foot of Pine Lake. The guests were dined at the different hotels, our party being assigned to the Shaubat house, where an elegant dinner was served, and we can not say too much for the politeness and attention of the host.

LANSING REPUBLICAN.

Those who were so fortunate as to secure a look from the tower of the Chicago Club house witnessed a panorama not often equalled and the stop at Charlevoix will remain a bright and ever to be remembered spot in a continuously delightful excursion.

PETERSVILLE EXPONENT.

We wish to remark right here that to citizens who contemplate a change of location, Charlevoix has many natural advantages, such as clean and fertile land, healthy atmosphere, education, etc., which it will be well to investigate before locating.

NASHVILLE NEWS.

The menu was elaborate and included broek trout, to which all did justice. Charlevoix is beautifully located on Pine Lake, has a new harbor, and many handsome residences, and our party were unanimous in voting it a bright town.

LOWELL JOURNAL.

Charlevoix is one of the very pleasant and desirable northern resorts now so famous to all pleasure seekers.

BELLEVUE GAZETTE.

Charlevoix boasts—and well she may—of her excellent harbor and her beautiful location as a summer resort.

SARNIA TRIBUNE.

Charlevoix is a beautiful summer resort, and the guests spent a profitable hour in viewing the scenery.

Notes and News.

The New York World has reached the enormous circulation of over a million copies a week.

The senator must stand outside all organizations, with no bread to earn, no candidate to elect, no party to save, no object but truth—to tear a question open and rubble it with light.

A writer in a Canada exchange says that if any denies that prohibition prohibits he can find "in the Iowa state prison eighty one saloon keepers who are so positive that the law prohibits that they are going to stay in goal from six to twenty-four months to prove it."

The president's pecuniary picnic was quite a success. He fished with an old-fashioned Jeffersonian pole and line and hooked none bass than any member of the party. That man has luck, no matter where he turns up.

The rolling mill men who are now on a strike at Cleveland are imported laborers, who took the places of strikers two years ago. When things get so bad that even an imported laborer feels it incumbent on him to strike it is not possible for them to grow much worse. The rolling mill proprietors all insist that the enormous tariff on iron is laid for the sole benefit of American working men; yet the present strikers in Cleveland are men who were brought to this country to take the places of American workingmen, and not one in 50 of them can speak the English language.—[Patriot.

Cure for Piles.

Piles are frequently preceded by a sense of weight in the back, loins and lower part of the abdomen, causing the patient to think he has contracted cold in the lower region of the bowels. At times, symptoms of indigestion now present themselves, such as want of appetite, etc. A uneasiness the perineal body, prevailing at times, amounting to actual pain, which is much increased by sitting on hard seats. Blindness and bleeding piles are of ever frequent occurrence. If the bowels are constipated, which is of frequent occurrence, the pain in the rectum is much increased by straining to relieve the bowels. Ointments are recommended to allay the pain and promote a healthy discharge. Price 50 cents. Sold by druggists, or sent by mail on receipt of price, by Dr. Bye, Buffalo, N. Y.

THE JOURNAL

Charlevoix, Mich., July 29, 1895.

Local Notes and News.

T. E. Chamberlin has 6 new pony ad buggies.

Received—Calendar and Catalogue of Alma College, 1884-5.

The Fantons and Grand Rands now carry a band for the entertainment of their passengers.

Geo. W. Parrott, notary public, ad vertiser, the Canoe Eclipse, "plain and fancy sawing done to order."

Three hot dogs a man can appreciate, but when it comes to a good job Wood has the inside track.

The bishop will be here Sunday, Aug. 2, morning and evening, the place of holding services to be announced next week.

Mackinaw Island has been before seen when a boat was in every port this season. Visitors are arriving in swarms and hundreds are going up in all directions.

The Charlevoix Journal has started on its third year and we find it a mass of good items for consumption of Grand Traverse users. We hope it will live long.—Ida Rapids Progress.

We were not present at either of the incomes of Mr. Jeffery Bevins, but they are reported to be most interesting, and containing the most arguments of any lectures here in a long time.

Sam Thatcher expresses perfect confidence that Charlevoix will regain that lake shore cast that she plays for. He explains his confidence on the strong financial resources from that part, and by which arrived at his sense Tuesday morning.

Will Rosing was arrested, in this city, Saturday, on a charge of larceny, committed at Petoskey, some time ago, and was taken there for examination.—Charlotte Philadelphonist. Wonder if anybody in Charlevoix knows anything about the fellow?

"There was too much of a disposition on the part of a few to impose upon the liberality extended to the association. It was intended the every member would have the privilege of taking his wife, but when a few took all his neighbors wives it was a matter of a good thing."—Saranac Leader.

Fursman & Co's show was a front and was accompanied by the worst gang of swindlers that ever struck town. In its best features, it was a farce, and parts of it was grossly exciting to respectable people the contemptible scheme was to draw ladies to seats at one side, separate from the general seats, and after so long a delay, demanding an extra fee of 10 cents, thus forcing them to go out of the ladies' seats in the general seats. The affair lacked a better patronage than it deserved.

Lakeside Little Gems.

The society so entertained by the wandering away of a little child from its young surroundings, or his being separated from his parents in a crowd is made unnecessarily distressing by the fact that usually he carries with him no certain means of identification. Pa Lake has with his full name and address would be so simple a precaution that it is surprising that it is not a universal practice. Labeled our cattle, much valuable characters in the world, of sheep, coarse dog collars, and seriously rug umbrellas and baseballs, while giving hardly a passing thought to what would happen to little speechless toddlers so frequently should they stray into unknown ones or meet with some accident in the notice of strangers. In the ordinary marking of undergarments an indelible ink it would be but in more trouble to use the full name instead of initials, and on other articles a convenient place could be selected—say the inside of the collar of the coat of the child, where the full address could be kept. If every reader of Barnum's Journal adopt such a plan and recommend to others, there would be a beginning which might go far towards establishing a uniform custom in conditions of which world seems beyond question.—[Babyhood.

OPERA BLOCK, CHARLEVOIX, MICH.

GARLAND STOVES KEEP YOUR ON THE Right Place

For Bargains in Hardware,

Iron, Cutlery, Tin ware, Stoves, Implements, Fixtures, Pumps, Grindstones, Wagons, Buggies, Carts, Wheelbarrows, Refrigerators, Doors, Sash

PAINTS Carpenter's tools, Notions, Fishing tackle, Revolvers,

Guns, Ammunition, Spoons, Forks, LAMPS, Baskets, Measures, Tubs, Wooden ware, Rope, Fisherman's Supplies, and Ship chandlery, Job and Tin work.

L. D. BARTHOLOMEW & CO.

REPORT OF THE CONDITION OF THE CHARLEVOIX Savings Bank

At Charlevoix, Mich., at the close of business, July 19, 1895, made to the commissioner of banks, pursuant to Act 174 of the general banking law as amended in 1891.

RESOURCES.
Loans and discounts	$22,550
Overdrafts	1,40
Furniture and fixtures	1,000
Expense account	55
Checks on other banks	2,00
Due from other banks and bankers	3,860
Legal tender and bank notes	2,150
	$32,855
LIABILITIES.
Capital paid in	$10,000
Undivided profits	2,215
Due to depositors	20,640
	$32,855

I, FRED A. SMITH, Cashier of the above named bank, do solemnly swear that the foregoing statement is true to the best of our knowledge and belief. FRED A. SMITH, Cashier.

Subscribed and sworn to before me this 29th day of July, A. D. 1895. OSCAR E. PERRIN, Notary Public.

Attest—Correct
ALVA A. CHENEY,
JOHN W. BOYLE,

CHANCERY SALE.

In pursuance of a decree of the circuit court for the county of Charlevoix, in chancery, made on the 17th day of July, A. D. 1895, in the cause wherein Frederick A. Ayres is complainant and Andrew J. Hill, Sarah J. H. Jones, Frederick Jones, and Georgiana L. Jones, defendants, notice is hereby given that I shall sell at public auction to the highest bidder at the south door of Antrim's hotel in the village of Charlevoix in the county of Charlevoix and state of Michigan, on Friday, the twenty-second day of August, A. D. 1895, at one o'clock in the afternoon of said day, the premises in said decree mentioned, or so much thereof as may be necessary to pay the amount then due on said decree, with interest and costs, viz: Lots one (1) and two (2) in block one (1) in Jones' addition to the village of Charlevoix.

Dated July 22, 1895.

THE JOURNAL

Charlevoix, Mich., July 29, 1895.

Provision Market.

Retail prices to consumers, corrected every Wednesday evening, by Freeman Cobb & Co. general dealers:

Flour per bbl., $3.50, $3.75, and $4.25.
Pork, 7c lb. per rod., lard 7c lb.
Hay per ton, baled $10.00; loose $9.
Oats per bu., 25c.
Corn per bu. ear, 40c; shelled 50c.
Potatoes per bu., 25c.
Eggs, 10c per doz.
Butter per lb., 12c.
Chickens per lb., 10c.
Turkeys per lb., 10c.
Ducks per lb., 10c.
Geese per lb., 10c.
Apples per bu., 50c.
Onions per bu., 50c.
Beans per bu., $1.50.
Beets per bu., 25c.
Cabbage per doz., 50c.
Turnips per bu., 25c.
Carrots per bu., 25c.
Parsnips per bu., 25c.
Hides per lb., dry flint 10c, 5c.
Calf skins, 8c.
Sheepskins, 25c.
Tallow per lb., 2c.
Wool per lb., 15c.
Pelts, 25c.
Wood per cord, delivered on Water Street 2ft., Lengths 12, 16.
Partners prefer cash in good demand.

Fresh and Cured Meats.

CONSTANTLY ON HAND BY C. W. CROUTER.

Beef—Sirloin steaks, Roast, Boiling pieces, Stew meat.
Pork—Steak, Roast, Boiling.
Corned Beef—Brisket.
Bacon—Clear, Smoked.
Hams—Smoked.
Sausage—Fresh, Smoked.
Fish—Salmon, Cod, Halibut, Herring, Smoked Herring, Mackerel, Smoked Mackerel, Trout, Smoked Trout, Smoked Whitefish, Lake Herring, Smoked Herring, Bloaters, Finnan Haddie, Codfish, Pickerel, Pickerel Perch, Pickerel Pickerel, Smoked Pickerel, Pickerel Perch, Smoked Pickerel Perch, Smoked Pickerel Perch, Smoked

THE OLD BATTAN.

Hip-Ho, Hod was in another plane
Of the province of Yang-Ki-Yung,
With a wing of swans as large peppery sauce,
And, with her sweetness, a deathless tame
Sent down for our broken tongue.

Late and early, each in and late,
Her silvery voice was heard
Pushing the air with its private
With as soft tone as mingle
The sighs of her resident word.

Hip-Ho! Hod's voice her early song—
Button lib sense in short
No more even to frolicsome tun,
And mine lifeless tones then many a one
At the ten-by Stallion sort

But ever she the peevish dame
Would tun in a dragging tide
With a tenderness instrument of, much the same
In Dick's keenness, and now in mine,
As her reality so sad pride.

Dai-Tan-Yeh veiled with night and mists
In time with his mother's tongue,
And he lulled for every work of caste—
Not in the turn—with a pang of pide
That echoed through all Ki Yung.

Among the age of twelve or so
Battan in a waxen tough
And answer of a cutting blow
With a tone of pain, or sang of woe
He had howled and howled enough.

In silence for three dolesome years—
Hod lay in the sony,
Did neither with cries, nor yelds, nor tears—
Every tendrils on her pippers
Would tint of the pain he sore.

Five summer the Hume Hippo-Hot
Hod lay in the sony, Ki Yung
Battan tens and tickle edition
Of yet lots more with the hold-hot alert
Of Jack and Jill's ham.

And no more heat a gourbonet hide
In time with Hod's tangled tender;
But ah! the longest pain of the
Hod was—and all remember!
And there was peace in Yang-Ki-Yung.

Battan in a raw soft dose,
Hod in a good fine wooden cross,
Ki Yung—Yang—yes—so—
Said the Hippo-Hot, gently gently tone
Of a Battan in repose.

"Hip-Ho, Battan, Battan, I feel
That you are growing weak
Your head is hot—O mother, dear!
Hod is coming, and the neighbors wait
Our family to speak."

Age is be wept, and be, glad that she
Would try her voice once more
And let the hundred with the tired,
Ki Yung—Yang, said an—might be
Is correct as before.

With this rare sense of filial love
Battan surprised the dame,
Who, early in the morning, came to prove,
With voice like that of cooing dove,
Voice to the switch his name.

Because the youngster kissed the rod,
As sudden as surprise,
Ki Yung reviews him as a god—
This trick, sleep, beautiying fraud—
And he latched immediate, too,
—New York Ledger.

MY PRIVATE ASTRONOMER.

BY CLARENCE A. WEBSTER.

My early education was neglected, chiefly by myself, a fact which my wife, who is superior to me, mentally and morally, is not slow to keep in the foreground in a very annoying manner. She does not know how irritating she is in her efforts to improve my mind, as I have never pointed it out to her. When she commences to talk I merely walk out of the house, lighting a cigar with slow absent-mindedness, which, judging from the effect, is truly exasperating. From long experience I have discovered that conscious silence is beyond a woman's comprehension, and shuts her up in a manner only equaled by the effect on a man of an offer to let five to one closely followed by a show of money.

Although I would not care to own it, I was at length goaded into a smoking desire to shine in intellectual circles, and to be able to distinguish between the works of Emerson the minstrel and Emerson the author. But even you and me, I regard Billy as having more brains than his high-toned brother who wears books. He made more money my way; but how my wife would rave should she hear me utter such a "Philistine heresy," as "Philistine heresy" is one of her pet gags.

I commenced the intellectual improvement by buying books, those of most but not guide binding being professed. I brought home a book nearly every day, and at first my wife beamed on me at the evidence of my "renaissance" (her gag; but I think it length she came to regard it as extravagance, and unfortunately a mean suspicion that too much "intellectual pabulum" for one caused mischief affect the sealskin sacque fund.

I sought after knowledge pretty evenly, and with considerable nerve, until one day an unprincipled dealer worked off a Welsh dictionary on me, and then I shut down. I am rather liberal in my educational views, but I draw the line at Welsh dictionaries. After that I sorely fought a book, except when I had been out late with the boys, and wished to fortify my statement to the effect that I had spent the evening at our literary club and had just brought home something choice from the club library. Little things like this sometimes carry conviction when arguments fail.

I was walking along the street one fine frosty evening when a stranger accosted me, suggested by the sight of a cold and shivering curb-stone telescope fakir. I stopped in front of him in order to thoroughly grasp the idea; for with me there are scarce ones come high. With my wife it is different.

"Two cents a look. Fine view of Jupiter," remarked the sidewalk astronomer.

"Here, gimme a quarter's worth," said I, handing over the coin. The man groaned, believing me drunk and good for any amount of money. I was never more sober in my life. It was merely the idea working.

"Astronomy goes," said I.

"What?" observed the man, a little anxiously, for he was not now sure he had not have a crank on his hands.

"How much do you make a night?" I asked.

"Not enough to keep me in salt," he answered, rather savagely, for he now thought he saw in me a possible rival.

"Then I can hire you pretty cheap, for my own private use, can I?"

A shade of regret that he had not announced himself on the high road to wealth crossed his face as he commenced to haggle with me over the price of the service.

"I merely want you to give me some practical lessons in astronomy. My education is way off, and I want to get posted. Books put me to sleep. Now this is practical. It's getting right at things. I'll look through your machine, and you can give me the politics and gossip of the stars as we go along, and I will remember it just as easy as I can the record of a loss I so fired with my own eyes. You get on to my scheme?"

"I think I do."

"You can give me a starter right now. Here's a dollar for you. Now tell me all I can remember about that star you have leveled your eyeglass at."

The fellow looked and hawed and acted as though he didn't know how to begin, until I suggested his refunding the dollar. That seemed to revive him and he turned loose a deep load of information, all of which I could not believe, not being of a credulous turn of mind.

"That is the planet Jupiter," he commenced, while I nearly broke my back bending down to get a good fair chance at it. "It is the largest of the constellations and is a hundred and seventy-five thousand miles thick."

I took it in without a quaver and my astronomer seemed to enjoy it, talking with less hesitancy.

"It has four moons, which you will observe ranged around the planet like the bags around the pitcher's stand on a baseball field. They have on their world both night and day shift moons. There is enough, so that at least one can throw off light all the time without too much wear and tear on the solar system. Moonlight walks on Jupiter have lost their charm, having become so common."

I soaked in that piece of knowledge, and the astronomer brightened up still more.

"If you will observe very closely you will be able to see the planet is enveloped in a vapor and scarcely discernable nebula hypothesis."

"Hold on, say that again."

"What? Nebula hypothesis?"

"Stop her, while I get my note-book to bear on it. Just let me gather that word in, and if I don't paralyze my wife with it you may call me a horned toad."

He told me how to spell and pronounce it, and then I let him go on with the show.

"A year on the planet Jupiter is a very long time," he resumed. "It takes about as long as eleven of ours."

"Oh, come, now; you can't make me believe that!" I protested, as I let go the machine and tried to straighten out the crick in my back.

"That's what Proctor says. I don't know anything about it myself, but he makes his professional reputation on the assertion," urged my astronomer.

"It was a tough story, but Proctor has got me. I had heard my wife mention Proctor.

"Yes sir, eleven years and nearly twelve."

"Great Cæsar, but that's hard on the grangers over in Jupiter—only one crop to three Presidential elections."

"I reckon it's tiresome, but I suppose they get used to it."

"It must be pleasant for merchants when a farmer comes in and asks to get trusted, and says he will pay the harvest—in the course of eight or ten years."

"There are some disadvantages about that, and there have some advantages, too. It isn't so bad if you are the one who owes the money."

"That's so. Now give her a turn ahead."

"Some scientists assert that the inhabitants of Jupiter are human-natured."

"Say-ever, what's your name?"

"Higgins."

"Well, Higgins, I'm classed if astronomy isn't interesting. Why, it's great! It knocks a political campaign clean out. Gimme some more."

"As I was saying, some scientists, notably Herschel and La Place, assert that the inhabitants of Jupiter are transparent, while Kepler disputes this."

"I guess I'll die up with Kepler on this deal."

"But there is one thing they all agree on—that the people can call be a foot and a half high, and about four feet thick, shaped a good deal like a mud-turtle with a head on top instead of at the end. You see the force of gravitation is so great that a man built like us would be plastered right down, and wouldn't be able to stand alone unless he was several times stronger than we are. Why, it would take Richard Sullivan's back—"

"Good deal like your machine, eh?"

The planet, as I saw it, was hard to describe. It looked more like a big pile of lath with four spatters scattered it than anything I can call to mind. It appeared rather scratchy, and was speckled with some dark spots, as, also, with some white specks. I asked Higgins for a guess on the spots, but by this time, what one of the largest watermelons, and he gave an opinion to the effect that in his estimation—scientific men, he allowed, couldn't be too careful in their deductions—in his estimation it was the canvass of some big, first-class show company—the "Nice Allred London Shows," for instance, all spread out. Possibly, it included the side shows, though he didn't care to go on record about the side shows. Scientific men had to be careful. The thing looked plausible and I absorbed it.

"When I proposed having a slap at some other star, Higgins said he had a sick baby, and must hurry home. I was enthusiastic, in spite of my back, and wanted more, but Higgins waved his sick baby, so to speak, in my face, and I let him go when he promised to have a fresh star on top the next night. As I had no desire to make a lady slave of my wife, I arranged to have the unwedding scenes come off in my back-yard, and I got well started in astronomy.

Every night Higgins lugged his telescope up to my house and back again, notwithstanding my offer to keep it safely. He said he would be a fatal go when private investigations by himself. Another thing struck me as peculiar, which was that we could never find the star at a time. As soon as I suspected a sort of astronomical freezer oil, Higgins always remembered that his baby had swallowed a copper or something of that sort. I didn't believe in the about the baby, and I didn't believe Higgins had a baby. I could not, nor can I now, understand how any self-respecting baby could own Higgins for a father, or how was about the most mangy-looking cliff you I ever saw.

Notwithstanding his economy in the matter of stars we got along swimmingly. We spent every clear night and Saturn to be satisfied with that. I had a thought he had an index his invoice of planets and asteroids might run short. I found out differently later.

"I was three to see a comet," said I one night.

"I'll find you one," remarked Higgins, who was a very accommodating person. "We will have comets to morrow night."

Sure enough, he was as good as his word, and treated me to a tail as promised. It was somewhat breezy in the tail, and not exactly as I expected. I spoke to my wife about it, and she thought it was unbecoming in the final fault with the solar system. Next thing I would be talking jesuitic infidelity. I must learn not to set myself up against Copernicus, Kepler, Newton, La Place, Herschel, Lockyer, Proctor, and all those. The job lot of names she fired at me reminded me of they belonged to a hard crowd to beat, so I went out and smoked.

Although the cloudy nights came in pretty thick about that time, we made very fair progress, doing up Mars, Uranus, Neptune, Venus, the Pleiades, the Milky Way, the Lyre, the Bear, and some others. Saturn with its rings looked like a target in a shooting gallery.

Higgins had been telling me about a Frenchman named Le Verrier, who built a big cannon, and carried into a hollow in his head him self to the moon, a proceeding which would consider a trifle risky. He took a floor accident in the night, and Mrs. Higgins gaged, rounding the last quarter post without a slap, and fell on earth again all right. It's funny the newspapers didn't say anything about it. They usually do touch on such things. Well, that little story got me interested in the moon, and we fixed a date to investigate it. My wife settled on the same night for one of her symposiums, to be followed by a little procession under another and lower rule by something in the refreshment line. My wife is noted for her literary gatherings.

Higgins came around as usual, and, as his state in life disappointment at my not coming to time on astronomy, I had a waiter carry out a collar, a plate of chicken salad, and a glass of champagne. Unfortunately, the bottle was not within the reach, and Higgins was satisfied with every one on this earth, and especially grateful to the solar system. For the first time since I had known him he left his telescope on the back porch.

We got up late the next morning and my wife was cross, but brightened up when I came home from lunch.

"Jom," said she, "do you know how to run that telescope?"

"N—no—I don't know as I do. Higgins always attended to that."

She said nothing more about it and I went down town. When I returned I found the girl on her knees scrubbing a kerosene spot on the sitting room carpet, and the wreck of the telescope, dissected by my wife, lying about the floor. She grabbed me by the arm and took me to a window. There she held up a piece of dirty glass.

"What is that, do you think?" she asked, in her superior way.

"It looks like a photo negative."

"Well, it isn't, it's a lie."

"Now listen," just as if I could do anything else but listen. "That miserable astronomer, whom I told my friends was a distinguished savoyar in disguise, is nothing but a mean chump. On this piece of glass is a clumsy picture of the moon in Jack's pit. Hold it up to the sun. That light comes from moon, and this opaque part represents sky."

My face showed that I didn't understand her, and it irritated her.

"I'll tell you how it happened, but stop her while brought over with a slide up near the end, to slip this glass in, and a place beyond it for a small hanging kerosene lamp to light it up similar to a transparency. That is what you have been looking at all this time. Study it when you get home and form your opinion to the effect that in his estimation—scientific men, he allowed, couldn't be too careful in their deductions—in his estimation it was the canvass of some big, first-class show company—the "Nice Allred London Shows," for instance, all spread out. Possibly, it included the side shows, though he didn't care to go on record about the side shows. Scientific men had to be careful. The thing looked plausible and I absorbed it.

HUMOR.

HOW QUICKLY two quarts of semi-dial will expand into a peck of trouble!—Farmers' Gazette.

NO, "VARIOUS INQUIRER;" the feats of calculation performed by some of our bookkeepers do not come under the head of lodger-de-main.—Merchant Traveler.

WHAT is the difference between ascending pyrotechnics and a drunkard's story? One is a sky-rocket, and the other is a rye-socket.—Newman Independent.

THERE is more joy in the sanctum of the editor for the one lame who is kicked, than there is for the ninety and nine who remain in contact with a boot prow.—Whitehall Times.

IT is stated that Lord Tennyson never sends manuscript poetry. We are therefore led to conclude that he sends his later poems to the printer without reading them first.—Saturday Review.

"EARTH has no magic like love to hallow and bless, and heaven no joy like love's caress—except when she finds that her husband has locked up his favorite razor, and had her to cut her corns with a pair of scissors.—Pill River Advance.

OF all the distractions under the sun that perplex a man to laziness, nothing is more annoying than the thing of getting tangled up in a patent medicine advertisement that starts out with as much fascination as spearing fish by moonlight.—Chicago Ledger.

JONES—Good morning, Johnson. How are you feeling this morning? Johnson—Morgin', oh, I feel better this morning—feel first rate. Jones—Why, you looked 10 times worse than you do now the last time I saw you. Johnson—Yes, I was intoxicated to publish them.—Detroit Free Press.

THE STRAWTON THAT WAS THERE.—"You've come from the pink," said the sudden lady.

"To the youth who was on her waiting; "Yes, I've come from the pink of the morning. "To-night—do it hasty skating?"

He rubbed his spine and his face betrayed "Do I seem so stricken?"

"Well, I should say you seem to there," he said, "the attention of gravitation."

—Lowell Times.

"DAD, did you say you had worked for Father Donovan?" "Yo did, sur." "And did he approve what you did to him?" "He niver said a word agin it, sur." "That's saying a good deal, for Father Donovan wasn't the man to be silent in the presence of anything that he not his disapproval. What was the nature of the work you did for him?" "An' it pleas ye, O! was sixton of Kilrain Church an' O! dug his grave."—Boston Courier.

AMONG the Persians, if a man is caught stealing the second time his hands are cut off. In this country we should think, would be more effective in reducing the number of pick-pockets than ten years' imprisonment. Very few criminals learn to pick pockets with their feet. The punishment for the third conviction in Persia is not stated, but we suspect his head is cut off. That would cure him.—Norristown Herald.

"NO, MAM; she don' come to our house no more. Ma jawed ebbery yoo time I tell me! How long she gone? "Well, yes' bekase she's got too proud ever since she married a passenger folks now days any no." "I run! Oh, I dunno! I'm jes' as skeery lawsy! I got to be proud wid, I like to know? Why, bless ye sweet soul, honey, I'm just as proud as de pelah, an' I reckon she has to lassess on de table ev' day jes' the same as ever."—Chicago Ledger.

"I HEAR you've been writing another play, Blickins." "That's about the size of it, Bocker." "What is it like?" "Well, I tackled a tragedy this time." "A tragedy, eh? You're a bigger fool than I thought you were. Do you suppose that anything in that line from you will be liked by the public you have prodigized?" "Really, Doctor, our work is not to be liked by conflict." My tragedy will be liked by the audience, and there are always done up in mahogany and rosewood."—Detroit Journal.

THE STANDARD JOKE: TO SPEAKER.

Ar the green Alpha Delta house
Is the Delta Phi Chi Chowder and Chaunt of the slender;
Chi Chowder and Chaunt of the slender;
E is the letter, Alpha is a poetic
E is the Delta, Alpha is a poetic
Ergo, the Delta Phi Chi Chowder and Chaunt
It is the letter Alpha is a poetic
Ergo, the Delta Phi Chi Chowder and Chaunt.
At the Jersey House the Alpha Delta
Is the Jersey House's honored by the Chaunt
Is the Jersey House's honored by the Chaunt
Is the Jersey House's Chowder and Chaunt
Is the Jersey House's Chowder and Chaunt
Is the Jersey House's Chowder and Chaunt
Is the Question that's pumped in as all
Is the letter that—always and Chaunt
Is the Stovepipe, and Stovepipe is money,
Is the Jersey House's Chowder and Chaunt
Is the Jersey House's Chowder and Chaunt
Is the Verbal to be unpumped—
Is the Honor of the Jersey House's
Is the small Easter bunnet's Xpouse
Is the Jersey—that Jersey House's
Is the fancy who "shoutnuts" those jokes.
—Life.

The Mastery of a Language.

The real colloquial acquisition of any foreign language is a rarity. Dr. Walsle, in a recent work on the linguistic faculty, to be extremely rare. He thinks it only possible for a man to learn his own, and even our best linguists are so far from being at them with a proper intonation, inflection, vocal ring, pronunciation, accent, and idiomatic ease as to be able to translate from either language into the other with correct phraseology, word collocation, and idiom as epigrammatic article on the topics of the day and a serious disquisition on a problem of art or literature. Apart from the mental qualifications which must be united in one individual to enable him to readily master a foreign tongue, there is a physical character which seems to be evidently can be but very rarely overcome.

A GREAT many people prefer a second glass to a second thought.

Architecture of the Oyster.

At a meeting of the American Association for the Advancement of Science a paper was read asserting that the extreme age of an oyster is twenty years. Now I have previously demonstrated that an oyster might be in fair edible condition at the age of thirty years. Here are the shells of one of the oysters on the characters of which the statement was based. This double shell is thirty years old, and the inclosed mollusk was large and in fair condition.

Is building its shell the oyster starts with the hinge end, at the spot known as ophelogists as the umbo. A small plate or single scale now represents each valve, and that is the first season's growth. The next season a new growth or plate shoots out from underneath the first one, just as the shingles do. The oysterman call these laps, or plates, "sheets," and they claim that the number of sheets indicates the age of the oyster. They certainly do contain a record of the seasons, showing the slow growing and fast-growing seasons.

But there is often great difficulty in clearly differentiating these sheets. The record is often obliterated in places by the growth of parasites, which build their shells or tubes upon the oyster, have likened these sheets to shingles. Now, at the gable of a house these shingles may be seen edgewise. So on the one side of an oyster shell is a series of lines. This is the edgewise view of the sheets or season growths.

Another factor is this purple spot, or ear, in the interior of the shell. It is the place of attachment of the adductor muscle. Its first place of attachment was close up to the hinge. Had it shad there until the shell had become so thick, how difficult would be the task of pulling the valves together! The muscle would have to be immense to be great; for we just know that the fact that at the hinge end the valves are held by the black ligament, which is, in life, elastic, sending when the shell opens and has to be compressed when the animal draws the valves together.

So with every year's growth or elongation of the shell the mollusk moves the place of attachment of the muscle onward; that is, an advance further from the hinge. As it does so it covers up with white nacre all the remaining part of its tube in actual use at the point of attachment of the muscle. The yet can prove by eating off with nitric acid this covering, and thus expoing the whole life series of years of attachments.—Prof. Lockwood.

How Boys Rest a Satiety.

In 1862, at Helena, Ark., we were troubled a great deal with sharks in the river, which would follow the scrap with goods for which they charged the soldiers exorbitant prices as they was then at all. His remembered, we were a sort of necessary evil, but they were a great nuisance. Well, the boys soon tumbled to their game, and were generally prepared for them. Some of the boys would pay in those goods, look the ground over and wait work at each other, and there was an all fired amount of surprise on these winks, which meant business. Just half a dozen boys would go down to the wharf, and, as the goods were unloaded, they had to be left on the wharf all night; but Mr. Shark got a guard, and the goods were not generally get guard, you know; but sometimes they would. The boys would pass by those goods, look the ground over and wink

THE HOWE MACHINE CO.

AT THE FRONT.

OUR LATEST SUCCESS.

An Entirely New — High Arm.

Easy Running Sewing Machine

TO WAR

The Most Room under the Arm,
The Best Self-Setting Needle,
The Largest Bobbin,
The Easiest Shuttle to Thread,
The Most Perfect Tension,
The Best Reliable Feed,
The Most Perfect Take-up,
The Best Bobbin Winder,

TO THE

SIMPLE, STRONG, DURABLE & HANDSOME

Runs Rapidly, Very Light, Very Still, and without Vibration.

Before you purchase, please examine the NEW HOWE at the office of

Mrs. M. Litney, Agt., Charlevoix

Charlevoix and East Jordan.

Steamer ALCELLE, Capt. Robert O'Neil.

Will leave Charlevoix each way, every Lake Days, S. P. M.: East Jordan 8 00, arrive Charlevoix 10 30. Afternoon Leave Charlevoix 2 00, arrive East Jordan 4 00, leave East Jordan 4 30, arrive Charlevoix 6 30. Stopping at intermediate points.

Harbor Springs, Petoskey, Charlevoix and East Jordan.

STEAMER THOMAS PRIANT.

CAPT. B. VANDERBOOT.

Morning—Leave Harbor Springs 7 00, Petoskey 8 00, Charlevoix 9 45, arrive East Jordan 11 45. Afternoon—Leave East Jordan 12 00, Charlevoix 1 00, Petoskey 2 30, arrive Harbor Springs 4 00.

Close connections at Petoskey with G. R. & I. R. R. trains going north and south.

Hannah, Lay & Co.'s Pleasure Steamers,

SEASON OF 1885.

CITY OF GRAND RAPIDS.

CAPT. C. E. WILBUR.

Going North every morning—Leave Traverse City 7 00, Northport 7 45, arrive at Charlevoix 10 00, Petoskey 1 30, arrive at Harbor Springs 1 45.

Going South every afternoon—Leave Harbor Springs 2 00, Petoskey 2 20, Charlevoix 4 00, Northport 5 45, arrive at Traverse City 6 45.

T. S. FAXTON,

CAPT. A. G. ALDRICH.

Going South every morning—Leave Harbor Springs 7 00, Petoskey 8 00, Charlevoix 9 45, Torch Lake 10 30, arrive Traverse City 2 30.

Going North every afternoon—Leave Traverse City 2 00, Torch Lake 3 45, Charlevoix 5 45, Petoskey 6 45, arrive Harbor Springs 8 45.

CONNECTIONS will be made at Traverse City and Petoskey with railways, and night trips on the G. R. & I. R. R. will be made on Monday mornings in place of the CITY OF TRAVERSE from Chicago and the CITY OF GRAND RAPIDS going north, and on Wednesday in lieu of both the T. S. FAXTON and CITY OF GRAND RAPIDS going south, and the CITY OF TRAVERSE for Chicago.

Grand Rapids & Indiana R. R.

Time Table in effect June 21, 1885.

GOING NORTH.

STATIONS.	No. 1	No. 3	No. 5	No. 7
Cincinnati, lv.....		7 00am	7 40pm
Fort Wayne, ar.....	4 20pm	2 50am	2 20am	1 45pm
Fort Wayne, lv.....		4 30	4 50	8 05
Kalamazoo, ar.....	7 30	6 50	7 15	10 40
Kalamazoo, lv.....	7 38	8 00	8 10	8 15
Grand Rapids, ar.....	8 45	9 10	9 20	9 30
Old Mission, ar.....	11 40	11 00	1 38	5 05
Traverse City, ar.....	12 00m	11 20	1 58	5 25
Harbor Springs.....	1 45	12 45am	3 20	6 45
Big Rapids.....	7 17	7 14	8 40	2 14
Reed City, ar.....	8 22	8 14	10 11	3 16
Reed City, lv.....	8 32	8 44		3 46
Cadillac, ar.....	9 40	9 52	12 29	5 00pm
Cadillac, lv.....	9 50	10 00	12 35
Walkerville, lv.....	10 42	10 56	1 27
Shelby, lv.....	10 54	11 05	1 37
Hesse Cabin.....	11 04	11 15	1 47
Pentwater, ar.....	2 45	6 15	6 25
Mears, ar.....	3 00pm	7 30	4 15pm

GOING SOUTH.

STATIONS.	No. 2	No. 4	No. 6	No. 8
Mears, lv.....	5 20pm	8 00am		1 00pm
Hesse Cabin.....	5 37	8 25		1 17
Shelby, lv.....	5 47	8 35		1 27
Walkerville, lv.....	5 57	8 45		1 37
Cadillac, ar.....	6 24	9 03		2 04
Cadillac, lv.....	6 34	9 13		2 14
Reed City, ar.....	7 40	10 20		3 18
Reed City, lv.....	7 50	10 30		3 28
Big Rapids.....	8 40	11 18		4 08
Old Mission, ar.....	1 00pm	4 15pm		8 45
Traverse City, ar.....	1 20	4 35	10 15	9 17
Harbor Springs.....	2 45	6 10	11 40	10 40
Grand Rapids, lv.....	7 45pm	2 40	11 15	2 20pm
Kalamazoo, ar.....	9 00	4 00	12 20am	3 45
Kalamazoo, lv.....	9 10	4 10	1 00	4 05
Fort Wayne, ar.....	1 0pm	11 00	5 45am	7 45
Fort Wayne, lv.....	1 20am	11 20	6 15	8 00
Chicago, ar.....	7 00am	7 15pm	1 30	1 45pm

C. L. DE HAVEN, G. P. A., Grand Rapids, Mich.

ERRORS OF YOUTH.

A GENTLEMAN who suffered for years from Nervous Debility, Premature Decay, and all the effects of youthful indiscretion, will for the sake of suffering humanity, send free to any person who needs it, the receipt and directions for making the simple remedy by which he was cured. Address, in confidence, JOHN H. REEVES, 78 Nassau street, New York City, N. Y.

ERRORS OF YOUTH

AND MANHOOD. One who has suffered all the horrors of long from the dreadful and destructive ticket of early vice, which brought on premature decay, and all kindred weaknesses, will send free to any person who needs it, the receipt and direct for the simple remedy by which he was cured. Address, in confidence, JAMES C. FOX, 78 Nassau street, New York City, N. Y.

RUPTURE CURED by our Adhesive Lotion. Sent free to any one. Send stamp for book. Mars & Co., 205 4th Ave., New York.

Photographs!

I have leased my

New Photograph Gallery

OVER

UPRIGHT, EMREY & CO.'S STORE,

And am prepared to do

All Kinds of Photographic Work,

From the

Miniature Picture to Life Size

—

Any Old Picture Copied and Enlarged.

Satisfaction Guaranteed.

DAVE BRADBEER,
Charlevoix, Mich.

John Nicholls,

CHARLEVOIX, MICH.,

Manufacturer of and dealer in

HARDWOOD AND PINE

LUMBER!

ALSO

Dressed Lumber, Oar Blades,

WAGON TONGUES, SHINGLES, LATH, ETC.

LUMBER SAWED AND BILLS FILLED TO ORDER.

"Facts to be Remembered."

NIMROD PLUG TOBACCO

is the BEST CHEW, the GREATEST SELLER, and more cent than any other plug in the trade. It is always in good order. NEVER TOO HARD AND NEVER SMELLS. GIVES GOOD SATISFACTION, and sold in exchange with the most popular brands of Tobacco. THE NIMROD PLUG is now sold in one-half pound packages, also in the usual size of any other brand of Tobacco. For sale by all jobbers and retailers.

S. W. VENABLE & CO.
Petersburg, Va.

$100 REWARD

FOR

Every Ounce of Adulteration

IN THE

U. G. Soap

The Great 5c Cake,

Made only by

GOWANS & STOVER,

BUFFALO, N. Y.

For Sale by all Firstclass Grocers.

Established Fifty-five Years.

RAVEN & BACON,

—NOW—

RAVEN PIANOS,

13 East 16th Street, New York City,

BUY FROM THE MANUFACTURER AND SAVE 50 PER CENT.

These Pianos are made from the best material, finished in the best manner, and have uniformly received Highest Testimonials, have been awarded 1st Premium wherever exhibited for the last 50 years, and are warranted for 5 years. Illustrated and descriptive Catalogue mailed free. Pianos sent on trial, freight paid, and allowed to stand in your parlors in your own city or town, if not as represented in Catalogue before leaving manufactory.

No. 1, Upright or Square, $520, worth $800
No. 2, " " 450, " 700
No. 3, " " 390, " 600

ALL 7-1/3 OCTAVES.

TO CONSUMPTIVES.

The advertiser having been permanently cured of that dread disease, Consumption, by a simple remedy, which he now offers to his fellow sufferers, desires to make known to them the means of cure. Send him stamps, to cover cost of this generous act, and receive the prescription, with the directions for preparing and using the same which they will find a sure Cure for Coughs, Colds, Consumption, Asthma, Bronchitis, etc. Address, whom the Prescription may reach, REV. E. A. WILSON, 194 Penn St., Williamsburgh, N. Y.

A PRESENT.

Our readers for 12 cents in postage stamps to pay expenses of mailing and wrapping, one sample of our best goods, will receive free a new, beautiful, and useful article. Agents wanted. Address Elder Pub. Co., Chicago, Ill.

Do You Know

THAT

LORILLARD'S CLIMAX PLUG TOBACCO

with the Tin Tag is the best chewing? Navy Plugs, and black, brown, and Yellow Snips are the best and cheapest quality smoking. 3tu

PIMPLES.

I will send Free the receipt for a simple vegetable balm that will remove Tan, Freckles, Pimples and Blotches, leaving the skin soft, clear and beautiful; also instructions for producing a luxuriant growth of hair on a bald head or smooth face. Address, inclosing a 3c stamp, DRS. VANDER & CO., 12 Barclay St., N. Y.

THE BRIDAL VEIL.

The origin of the bride's veil has long been a matter of keen dispute, and is still an unlocked question among antiquarians. Considering the prominence which is attached to this graceful article of finery in the bridal costume in our own and other countries, one could have wished that its history had been satisfactorily settled. It has been suggested, however, that it may be a substitute for the long flowing hair which, according to Anglo-Saxon usage, formed a natural and effective veil for the bride when she made her public entry into church at the marriage ceremony. It must be remembered that this custom had a significant meaning, for, as the privilege of wearing the hair loose specially belonged to those born of free parents, so, when the newly-married Anglo-Saxon bride bound up her tresses, it denoted that she had sacrificed her freedom and was henceforth subject to her husband's authority. In the same way in Russia unmarried girls wear their hair hanging in a long, single plait, adorned with ribbons, and sometimes, especially in Little Russia, with flowers. This plait is a maiden's chief ornament, the cherished object of her care, the principal source of her girlish pride. St. Isidore of Seville tells us how women wore veils at their weddings as a sign that they must always submit themselves to their husbands, and because Rebekah, when she saw Isaac, covered herself with a veil. The bride's costume was the loose, flowing veil, which covered not only her whole face, but reached over the greater part of her body. It was intended as a symbol of submission to her husband, and at the present day is generally worn by the Jewish brides. According to another explanation the bridal veil took its origin in the Anglo-Saxon custom of performing the marriage ceremony under a square piece of cloth, held at each corner by a tall man over the bridegroom and bride. But if the bride happened to be a widow the veil was dispensed with. Mr. Layard, in his "Nineveh and Babylon," speaking of a marriage celebrated near Nineveh, at a comparatively recent period, says the parties entered into the contract before witnesses, amidst dancing and rejoicing. The following day the bride, enveloped from head to foot by a thick veil, was escorted to the house of the bridegroom, attended by her friends arrayed in their gayest robes, and accompanied by musicians. The custom, however, which ensued was not of so pleasant a character, for she was kept behind a curtain in the corner of a darkened room for three days, after which period the bridegroom was allowed to approach her. According to modern Egyptian usages, a bride is not allowed to be seen by her future husband until the completion of the marriage ceremony, and on this account she is always veiled. The day before her wedding the bride goes in state to a hall, walking under a canopy of silk, which is carried by four men. She is conveyed from head to foot in a large shawl, while on her head is placed a small crown. In Persia the bridal veil has usually been of a very elaborate kind, and seems to have formed one of the most striking and picturesque portions of the wedding costume.

Towards evening the maiden is enveloped in a long veil of scarlet or crimson silk, placed upon a horse or mule splendidly caparisoned, and conducted to her husband's house, accompanied by all her relations and a noisy band of musicians. On the way a large looking-glass is held before her by one of the maidens in attendance that this is the last time she will see herself as a virgin. Was it not from here that in the marriage ceremonies of most Oriental nations the splendor of the bridal veil has generally been carried to the most extravagant extent; due, indeed, being considered one of the most important features of the bridal costume.

The ancient Poles observed a curious marriage custom. The bride was led to the church, wearing a high silver gilt crown of large size, and preceded by her female friends in mantles and long red veils. She was made to walk three times round a fire, then to sit down and wash her feet. Her mouth was anointed with honey and her eyes blindfolded with a veil, and in this condition she was led to all the doors of the house, which she had to strike with her right foot. The visitors then threw wheat, rye, oats, barley, rice, and beans at the door, as an omen that the wife would never want any of these grains if she continued to be devoted to her religion and to her domestic duties. The veil was then removed from her eyes, and the visitors sat down to a banquet.

At an Armenian wedding the bridegroom formerly was accustomed to wear on his head a gold or silver net, or a flesh-colored gauze veil hanging down to his waist. The bride rode behind him, entirely covered with a long white veil. This she kept on during the marriage ceremony, it being only lifted up by the bridegroom at that part of the service where he publicly answered the priest's question that he would be the woman's husband. Such, then, is a brief history of the bridal veil; and the few instances we have quoted of its use in foreign countries show that the same prominence is attached to it as in our own country. Whatever, too, its origin may be, there can be no doubt that one of the principal ideas underlying it is that of submission on the part of the bride in exchanging her single for married life.

Gen. John Corse, to whom, at Alloona, Ga., Gen. Sherman sent the famous dispatch: "Hold the fort for I am coming," may be met any day in New York, rotund and reminiscent.

J. MILO EATON,

DEALER IN

Real Estate

OF ALL KINDS.

Houses and Lots for Sale

IN THE MOST DESIRABLE PARTS OF CHARLEVOIX.

WILD LANDS AND IMPROVED FARMS

FOR SALE IN ALL PARTS OF THE COUNTY.

Abstracts of Title Furnished on Short Notice.

OFFICE ON BRIDGE STREET. ESTABLISHED IN 1875

PINE LAKE IRON COMPANY

Ironton, Mich.,

Are Full in all kinds of General Merchandise.

HENRY C. COOPER

WILL SELL

Furniture at Reduced Prices

To Make Room for New Stock.

A LARGE LINE OF HAMMOCKS, BABY CARRIAGES, AND TRUNKS AT COST, TO CLOSE OUT.

HURRAH for GOOD TIMES

Everything Booming

AT E. M. CLARK'S

Where he has a Lively Trade in

Dry Goods, Groceries, Boots and Shoes, Clothing, &c.

When you get the blues, just call around and see with what dispatch everything is done, where Pork, Eggs, Butter, &c., is taken in exchange for Goods.

E. M. Clark

Charlevoix, Mich., Harbor and Summer Resorts.

The above is a geographically correct view (though containing but a small portion of the buildings) of Charlevoix, Mich., a village of over twelve hundred inhabitants, rapidly growing in favor and reputation as one of the most delightful Summer Resorts and select Health Resorts in Michigan. Several lines of steamers concentrate here, connecting at all hours of the day with surrounding towns, fishing streams, picnic parks, and other places of interest, both for business and pleasure. Unequaled inducements are also offered the permanent settler who desires to invest his capital in manufacturing enterprises where it will bring the best results. The resources of the county are being developed on an to bring the richest returns. For any other information regarding the village or surroundings, address

THE CHARLEVOIX JOURNAL

CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN.

THE JOURNAL is an eight-page newspaper, devoted to the material growth and prosperity of Charlevoix county in general, and Charlevoix village in particular. Published weekly; $1.50 a year. Sample copies free.

CHAS. J. STRANG, Publisher.

THE CHARLEVOIX JOURNAL.

NUMBER 107. CHARLEVOIX, MICH.: THURSDAY, JULY 30, 1885. $1.50 PER YEAR.

THE JOURNAL

Published every Thursday,

BY CHAS. J. STRANG.

Office on Bridge Street,

CHARLEVOIX, - - MICHIGAN

ENTERED AT THE POSTOFFICE AT CHARLEVOIX, MICH., AS SECOND-CLASS MATTER.

BUSINESS DIRECTORY.

ATTORNEYS.

A. CHRIST E. MARTIN, Attorney at Law, Bay City, Mich. Collections promptly attended to.

SHEPARD, ADAMS & FORD, Attorneys at Law and Solicitors in Admiralty. Offices in Holmes' Block, Charlevoix, Mich.

A. T. SHEPARD. W. J. ADAMS. S. J. FORD.

DART & CLAUL, Attorneys at Law, Real Estate and Loan Agents. Lake St., east of postoffice, Petoskey, Mich.

FRED W. MAYNE, Attorney and Counselor at Real Estate business promptly attended to. INSURANCE TO LOAN.

H. J. JERSEY, Attorney and Counselor at Law. Office on Lake St., Boyne, Mich.

J. E. NEWBERRY, Attorney at Law and Judge Probate of Emmet Co., Petoskey, Mich.

J. MILO EATON, Attorney at Law, Charlevoix, Mich.

WILSON & KRAY, Attorneys at Law, Boyne City and East Jordan. W. A. Norton, Boyne City. A. A. Kray, East Jordan.

WM. F. WINNER, Attorney at Law and United States Commissioner, Notary Public, East Jordan, Mich.

W. S. MOORE, Attorney and Solicitor, East Jordan. Admiralty a Specialty.

Z. S. CARRETT, Attorney at Law, Boyne City, Mich.

CHURCHES.

FIRST CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH.—Sunday services at 10.30 a. m. and 7 p. m. Sunday school at close of morning service. Prayer meeting every Thursday evening at 7.00 o'clock. C. P. TAYLOR, pastor.

METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH.—Sunday services at 10.30 a. m. and 7 p. m. Sunday school at close of morning service. Prayer and praise meeting Thursday evening at 7. J. T. DODSON, pastor.

FIRE DEPARTMENT.

CHARLEVOIX HOOK AND READY FIRE COMPANY meet every Saturday night, all the hose hall. E. F. BRIDGE, Secretary.

HOMEOPATHIC PHARMACY.

B. SUFFIELD, Homeopathic Medicines, Books, Pocket Cases, etc., Charlevoix, Mich.

PHYSICIANS.

J. N. CARISTEIN, M. D. Office at the Ingleside.

L. LEWIS, M. D., Physician and Surgeon. Office in the Lewis block, Charlevoix, Mich.

W. PRESTON, M. D., Surgeon and Homeopathic Physician, Charlevoix, Mich.

REAL ESTATE AGENTS.

HERMAN S. HARSHA, Notary Public, Real Estate, Loan, and Insurance Agt., Charlevoix.

SECRET SOCIETIES.

G. A. R.—Baxter Post No. 193, meets second Monday in each month, at Odd Fellows' hall.

I. O. O. F.—Charlevoix Lodge No. 327, meets every Friday evening, at Odd Fellows' hall.

I. O. O. F.—Round Lake Lodge No. 393 meets every Wednesday evening, in their hall.

K. O. T. M.—Record Tent, No. 128, meets second and fourth Tuesday, every month, at Odd Fellows' hall.

I. O. L.—True Illinois No. 157, meet Saturday on or before full moon in Odd Fellows' hall.

MASONIC.—Charlevoix Lodge No. 282, meets Tuesday on or before full moon. Hall over Cook's.

WELL DIGGING.

FRANK DUDDA, Charlevoix, Mich., will attend promptly to all work in the line of well digging, stone building, stone curbing, well drilling, cellar building, and shallow work. 45

W. F. BROWN, President. W. A. BROWN, Cashier.

BROWN & CO.'S

BANK OF CHARLEVOIX,

Capital, $25,000.

With superior facilities and prompt attention we have a large and growing patronage. Drafts drawn direct upon the principal cities of the world, collections receive prompt attention. Special efforts to collect doubtful claims. Interest made on real mortgages upon farm property. Good securities bought and sold. Money to loan and from all points in Europe by draft.

CORRESPONDENTS.

Chase National Bank, New York.
First National Bank, Chicago.
Merchants and Manufacturers' National Bank, Detroit.
Fifth National Bank, Grand Rapids.

The Charlevoix Improvement Association.

OFFICERS.

President—Byron Saxe.
First Vice President—W. A. Smith.
Second Vice President—Robert Miller.
Recording Secretary—Chas. J. Strang.
Financial Secretary—E. M. Suffels.
Treasurer—Albert Sherman.

STANDING COMMITTEES.

Literature Committee—J. Milo Eaton, A. D. Cornell, and A. L. Bird.
Corresponding Committee—H. Lee Billings, W. Alex. Kray, and J. Vasels.
Finance Committee—F. W. Mayne, L. L. Hayden, C. E. Stockman, R. Cooper, Geo. W. Jones, S. H. Miller, S. M. See, W. G. Newman, F. M. Cole, H. Berdan.

OBJECTS.

To aid and encourage the establishment of manufacturing enterprises in Charlevoix, and to advance the interests, and promote the growth and prosperity of Charlevoix and vicinity.

REGULAR MEETINGS.

At Charlevoix, Mich., on the First Monday of each month, at 7.30 p. m.

CORRESPONDENCE SOLICITED.

FARM FOR SALE.

One hundred acres of the best farming land, 40 acres improved, and the balance covered with heavy timber, within two miles from Charlevoix. Down here 1 mile. For further particulars inquire at this office.

A FEW FACTS CONCERNING

Dr. CROUTER'S

BAKING POWDER

Or Quick Yeast.

If you use it you will never have yellow biscuit. If you use it your biscuit will never taste of soda. It contains no alum, and is absolutely free from anything of a deleterious nature.

It is made from PURE CRAPE CREAM OF TARTAR and NOT from the Common Cream of Tartar of the shops.

It is always fresh and will never disappoint you.

Directions for using furnished with every package.

Price 40 Cents per Pound.

Manufactured and Sold only by

Dr. GEO. W. CROUTER,

Chemist and Druggist,

BRIDGE STREET, CHARLEVOIX, MICH.

Come and See our Immense Stock of

BOOTS AND SHOES.

FOX & MILLER.

BRIDGE STREET HOUSE,

ROBERT MILLER, Proprietor,

Charlevoix, Michigan.

This house is centrally located, and its accommodations conducted. The table supplied with the best the market affords. Only sample room in Charlevoix.

COMMERCIAL HOUSE

D. B. JERRUE, Proprietor.

East Jordan, Michgan.

Entirely rebuilt and refurnished. First-class Sample Rooms for agents. Good Stable in Connection with the House. 7

FARMERS' HOTEL,

W. S. JOHNSON, Proprietor.

Antrim Street, near Village Hall, Charlevoix.

Location convenient for merchants working in the factories on Round Lake, and for those coming to town. First-class for teams will be provided.

FOUNTAIN CITY HOUSE,

RICHARD COOPER, Proprietor.

Charlevoix, - Michigan.

Finest location in town, giving and view of lakes and resorts. Express office, and headquarters for Petoskey and Elk Rapids Stages. Sample room for commercial travelers adjoining hotel.

JORDAN RIVER HOUSE,

TRAUTCHEN & BLAIR, Proprietors.

East Jordan, - Michigan.

Those having business at the county seat will find this the most convenient place to stop, and the proprietors will spare no pains to give the best satisfaction. REPUBLICAN HOUSE.

PINE LAKE HOUSE,

A. J. HALL, Proprietor.

Boyne City, Michigan.

This house is finely located on the Boyne river, at the head of Pine Lake. It is large and well furnished, and we are pledged to the entire comfort of the traveling public.

PIONEER HOUSE,

A. B. NOYES, Proprietor.

Ironton - Michigan.

Every convenience for the traveling public.

Well-Digging.

JOHN SHRIER

Charlevoix, Mich.,

is prepared to do all work in the line of well digging, cistern building, stone masonry, well drilling, and similar work.

Picture Frames

Made to Order.

A FINE ASSORTMENT OF MOULDINGS

To Select From.

O. I. WHEAT,

Bridge Street, Charlevoix, Mich.

Money to Loan

On sums of $100 and upwards, at reasonable rates of interest, on approved real estate security.

H. C. Miley,

Boyne City

MISS L. SPAULDING,

DEALER IN

MILLINERY

AND

Fancy Goods.

Dressmaking Done in the Latest Styles.

Special attention given to

CHILDREN'S GARMENTS.

We would call the attention of the Ladies to our STAMPING DEPARTMENT.

☞We endeavor to do our work well and at Reasonable Prices. Come and see for yourself.

McCABE'S

Livery and Hack Line

DRAYING TO ORDER.

Passengers, Baggage, etc., delivered to all Boats, Hotels, or any part of the City.

AT

McCabe's Livery Barn,

CHARLEVOIX, MICH. 43

W. H. WAGAR. G. C. WAGAR.

Wagar Bros.

Wholesale and Retail dealers in Tobacco, Cigars and Smokers' Articles. Also a full line of Confectionery, Fruits, And Temperance Drinks. Third door west of Bridge Street House, Charlevoix, Mich.

Personals.

Mrs. Henry Wade is on the sick list.

Miss Gale, of Albion, is the guest of Mrs. L. Blanchard.

W. A. Pullen, of Ithaca, is visiting O. I. Wheat this week.

L. D. Bartholomew returned home from Ohio last Saturday.

Bishop Gillespie will occupy the M. E. pulpit next Sunday.

F. H. Barnum and Jas. Lawrence are stopping at C. V. Cook's.

Mrs. Lillenfield and daughter, of Kalamazoo, arrived on Tuesday.

Dr. J. A. B. Stone, of Kalamazoo, made us a call Tuesday morning.

Lieut. Gardner and family are on an excursion to Mackinac this week.

Mr. Lawton, of Comstock's paper house, made us a brief call on Tuesday.

Dr. William Jones of Hastings is visiting his brother in-law J. A. Hawkins.

Little May Carr is prostrated with a combination of whooping cough and scarlet fever.

Mr. John Beattie, of Bay St. Louis, Miss., a former resident here, is in town this week.

Rev. J. S. Smart, D. D., of Detroit, preached at the M. E. church in Charlevoix Sunday.

G. W. Bump, of Petoskey, and Geo. Wight, of Iowa, made us a brief call this afternoon.

A. D. Bradbeer expects to start Sunday evening for a visit with relatives in Elyria, Ohio.

Mrs. W. F. Orrell and children returned to Charlevoix, from Delaware, last Friday morning.

Mrs. Selleck and family, of Paw Paw, are stopping with Judge Mills in the Smiley cottage.

Miss Jennie Harris, of Elk Rapids, who has been visiting Mrs. Fred See, returned home Saturday.

The family of J. H. Stone, of Detroit, ex-collector of customs, arrived at the Charlevoix Resort Friday.

Mr. F. D. Waldron, traveling for the Grand Rapids Democrat, made us a pleasant call Tuesday afternoon.

Rev. J. C. VanAnken, of Northport, has accepted a call from Reed City, and will remove to that places soon.

Mr. L. R. Allen and wife, of Detroit, are visiting their brother, Lauher E. Allen, in Charlevoix this week.

Mr. Geo. Esterlee and wife, of Whitewater, Wis., are visiting their son-in-law, John Nicholls, of Charlevoix.

Messrs. P. T., J. F., R. F., and H. C. Pettibone, of Chicago, registered at the Chicago Club house on Tuesday.

Dr. and Mrs. L. H. Stone, of Kalamazoo, are guests at Blue Ball cottage, at Charlevoix.—[Kalamazoo Gazette.

Mrs. Frank Henderson and children and Mrs. Chas. S. Cobb and children left Friday for Charlevoix.—[Kalamazoo Gazette.

Rev. Dr. McCorkill, wife and daughter, of Ypsilanti, have engaged rooms at C. Y. Cook cottage, and will be here next Tuesday.

A. W. Hausner, wife and daughter, of Ypsilanti, visiting H. Berdan returned home to day. They intend to spend next season here.

Mr. W. F. Hurd, Miss Amy Hurd, and Mrs. A. L. Hurd and two children, of Chicago, arrived at the Chicago Club house Monday.

Dr. Van Tuyl, Dr. Kingsley and family, A. J. Leetch and family, and Jerome Stevenson and family, of Ypsilanti, are in the Howland cottage.

Messrs. A. B. Chapman, Jas. Lawrence, and F. H. Barnum caught 127 trout at Monroe creek Monday, the aggregate weight being 16¼ pounds.

Mr. Fred Warren, of Fowlerville, prosecuting attorney of Livingston county, and a former partner of A. D. Cruickshank, is recreating in this region this week.

Bishop Gillespie and family will stop at the Belvedere a few days, arriving Saturday afternoon. He will hold service in the M. E. church Sunday morning and evening.

Hon. Hampton Rich, of Louis, is visiting his son-in-law, Mr. J. L. Hurd. They are making a tour of the lakes for several weeks. They will remain here for three or four days.

Mrs. H. K. Wessner, of Streator, Ill., Miss Kitty Blake, of Jackson, Michigan, and Mr. Free Estes, of Mt. Pleasant, Mich., were in town last Thursday. They expect to return and make a longer stay later in the season.

A. B. Pattingill, professor of Greek, in the university, Prof. J. Pattingill, wife and daughter, and Mrs. C. J. Knowlton and two children, of Ann Arbor, arrived Tuesday, and will stop for the season in the Mather cottage.

Prof. O. B. Weed, formerly principal of our public school arrived by rail Tuesday morning from Charlevoix to join his family who have been the guests of Mrs. Weed's father, A. P. Newton, for some time. Mr. Weed is looking well and is heartily greeted by his many friends.—[Cheboygan Tribune.

Ironton.

The schooners Ralph Campbell and Jennie Weaver loaded with bark at the Ironton docks last week. The Berlie Calkins is loading this week.

A party of resorters came up from Charlevoix last week in a 'bus, but there was so much sea in the woods that they chartered the Clara Belle to take them home.

Tan bark hauling is nearly over.

General Sunday-school picnic at the Lewis school house next Friday.

The warm weather is good for hay-making, and farmers are improving it in this locality.

The health of our town is good. We have no legal, settled doctor, but we have a drug store.

It is reported that the mason work at the furnace will be completed this week. We hope to see the ore coming soon.

Rev. Mr. Wood preached at the church Sunday evening.

Hayes.

Your correspondent has been very busy for the past few weeks, making hay, digging a well, etc.

The Kane brothers have built a barn, 24x36.

Haying is nearly finished in this town.

Miss Hattie Harris is sick.

Quite a number of Hayesites contemplate attending campmeeting at Petoskey next Sunday.

The bark business is nearly closed for this year.

One of the new school districts have established a school site near Wm. Baker's.

Winter wheat is about ready to harvest.

Mr. Hale has the largest peas in town.

Shipments.

The following are the clearances from the port of Charlevoix as reported for the week ending Wednesday evening:

23—Schr. Harriet Ross 178 cords wood, M. L. Friesch, to Kenosha.

23—Schr. Cassinde, 30 cords bark, M. L. Edwards, to Chicago.

23—Schr. Sea Gem, 32 cords wood and 25 cords bark, T. D. Smith, to Milwaukee.

23—Schr. Mackinaw, 1,200 R. R. ties, 750,000 cedar shingles and 22,000 feet pine lumber, Upright, Emery & Co., to Chicago.

23—Schr. Gilbert Knapp, 20 cords bark, W. L. French, to Kenosha.

23—Schr. Active, 22 cords wood and 22 cords bark, M. Peterson, to Milwaukee.

23—Schr. E. H. Blake, 220 cords bark, Upright, Emery & Co., to Chicago.

25—Schr. Starkey, 16 cords wood and 130 cords bark, O. Anderson, to Milwaukee.

25—Schr. Jerdie Phillips, 175,000 feet hardwood lumber, Pine Lake Lumber Co., to Chicago.

27—Schr. Jennie Mullen, 200 cords bark, J. C. Schmidt, to Chicago.

27—Schr. J. C. Bauer, 135 cords wood, J. Wright, to Milwaukee.

27—Schr. Bertie Calkins, 220 cords bark, Pine Lake Iron Co., to Chicago.

28—Schr. Lapwing, 120 cords wood, P. Thorp, to Milwaukee.

28—Schr. Earle Wing, 120,000 feet lumber, John Nicholls, to Chicago.

29—Schr. Cuyahoga, 160 cords wood, P. H. Edwards, to Chicago.

29—Schr. Bert Barnes, 180 cords wood, H. Gierke, to Milwaukee.

Keynote to Health.

Health is Wealth. Wealth means happiness, money. The Keynote to Dr. Bonnifay's Cough and Lung Syrup, and Cough and Lung Syrup is the Keynote to Health. Cures Coughs, Colds, Consumption in the first stages, Bronchitis and Pulmonary Complaints. Guaranteed to give relief in every case. Take no other. Large size 50 cents and $1.00. Samples free. Sold by C. W. Crouter.

THE JOURNAL
BY CHAS. J. STRANG.
CHARLEVOIX, - MICHIGAN.

NEWS CONDENSED.

Concise Record of the Week.

EASTERN.

At Hoboken, New Jersey, John Gunn, while intoxicated, murdered his wife with a tomahawk. The couple had recently married thirty years, and had lived children. Gunn is in jail.

In an accident on the West Jersey Railroad Employes, George Murphy, who, by promotion at his post, prevented a shocking loss of life, was killed, and a number of passengers slightly injured.

Notices have been posted announcing the suspension of work throughout August of the Dixon Steam Cotton-Mills and the Massaux Valley Mills at Utica, N. Y. It is thought the suspension may continue for a longer time. Overproduction is given as one of the causes of the stoppage.

New York telegram: "John Roach's assets are said to be about $1,000,000. His liabilities have not been ascertained, but it is thought he will be able to pay them in full, and have a handsome fortune left. His legal representatives will soon have a conference with Secretary Whitney, after which it is probable that he may resume business. All his employes have been paid in full. Only a sufficient force will be retained at his yards to fulfill existing contracts."

The only son of Mrs. Paran Stevens, a senior at New York society, died at Newport.

Barnum's elephant Albert, which killed his keeper, was taken to the Bronx (N. H.) suburbs and shot, thirty-three members of a mining company flying at the beast at the same time. The remains will be sent to the Smithsonian Institution at Washington.

The exports of produce for the last week from the port of New York were valued at over $7,000,000.

The special commission sitting at Philadelphia returned a verdict that John McCullough, the tragedian, has been in lunacy for six months, but enjoys some lucid intervals. The value of his estate is placed at $64,000.

The captain of a schooner which arrived at Portland, Me., reports the capture, alive, of a veritable sea serpent which weighs about 1,200 pounds and looks something like a turtle.

WESTERN.

The reports of ravages by grasshoppers in Colorado have been exaggerated by an agent of the Department of Agriculture and found to be grossly exaggerated. Northern of the schoolboy species were found.

In a hard glove-fight near St. Paul, between Thompson, of Cleveland, and Hilary, colored, of St. Paul, five rounds were fought, when the referee gave the fight to Hilary because of Thompson's unfair work.

There will be no exposition at Cincinnati this year, because the means of that city have not determined to hold a monster lottery, patterned after the lottery fair at Saint Nicholas's Hospital.

The Governor of Minnesota issued no respite to formulate a petition to compress to take action looking to opening up the mines of the Northwest to Dakwater navigation at the earliest means to avoid the present exorbitant transportation charges.

The Dakota Central Railroad Company will begin work at once on an extension from Centerville to Pierre via Yankton. The Mineral Narrow-Gauge Railroad, extend up from Hancock to Calumet, Mich., has been sold to a New York syndicate for $300,000.

A dispatch from Centralia, Ill., states that the apple crop in that vicinity will be larger than for many years past.

Near Douglas, Kan., Mr. and Mrs. Jay Carman, the former's mother, Mrs. Jas. Carman, and Mr. and Mrs. Kouts, were drowned while fording the Walnut River in wagons.

The works of the Wells & French Car and Bridge Company, Chicago, were almost totally destroyed by fire. The blaze started in the paint room and quickly spread to the car shops and blacksmith shop, consuming twenty-four empty freight cars and twenty-five others in process of construction, besides a large quantity of seasoned hardwood lumber. The loss is estimated at $175,000, partly well covered by insurance.

A proclamation of quarantine against cattle from Illinois and other States has been issued by Gov. Dawes, of Nebraska.

Gen. Sheridan has been instructed by the Secretary of War to take such measures as may be as possible to prevent any opposition to the passage of cattle and other properties of infectious character, the trails and highways leading into and through Indian Territory.

At St. Louis five men were killed by a sandstone and two by lightning in one day.

The stockholders of the Chicago and the Union Pacific Railroad Company for June show an aggregate of 10,371 miles, which real est of 3,226 miles over the month of June last year. For six months to June 30 the total construction of land was 1,000,000 acres, and the total mount realized, $1,327,000, 42% a decrease from the corresponding period last year of 1,000,000 acres and $2,145,000.

The Sabinas coal mines, in Mexico, which have given employment to 2,0 men and are valued at $1,500,000, have been closed by a substantial strike, on a pay brought by Mines the Mexican owner, who claims the property under a Spanish grant to his wife's ancestors.

Judge T. Lyle Dickey, of the Illinois Supreme Court, died at Atlantic City, N. J., after an illness of several months. The judge was surrounded by his family. Death was caused by a complication of kidney and heart trouble.

Prof. Adams has accepted the Presidency of Cornell University.

Gov. Dawes, of Nebraska, has issued a proclamation declaring a ten days' quarantine against cattle from counties in New York, New Jersey, Delaware, Maryland, Virginia, West Virginia, Ohio, Illinois, Kansas, Tennessee, Missouri, and the districts of Columbia.

SOUTHERN.

David Ackles, colored, was lynched at Helena, Ark., for the murder of Frank Ingersol and Felicia Tennyson. At Dallas, N. C., Eaton Mills, a notorious colored desperado, was hanged in the presence of five thousand people.

J. J. Howard & Son, bankers, Cartersville, Ga., made an assignment. Their liabilities amount to $40,000.

Thomas J. Benson, an aid on the Governor's staff, was shot at Scottsboro by Miss Mary E. Rubin, aged eighteen, who claims that Benson deceived her by means of a forged marriage certificate.

There is great excitement in the village of Stepstone, Kentucky, over the killing of three men by Marshal Jerry Bailey, Dudley respondent the best union party, and his victim were identified with the liquor interest. Friends of both sides are coming, and further bloodshed is apprehended.

An El Paso, Texas, dispatch states that an eastbound train for passenger traffic was wrecked near Wallace, Texas, by striking a culvert which had been washed out by a rainstorm. Engineer Wilson, two firemen, and an extra fireman were killed, and one passenger, name unknown, had his leg crushed.

Indians are raiding the frontier in Kinney county, Texas, and are reported to have killed three Mexicans.

The old Washington Artillery Armory, at New Orleans, was set on fire by burglars, and entirely destroyed.

A mob of 150 men rode into the village of Minden, La., at midnight, and, having forced the Deputy Sheriff to admit them to the jail, riddled two colored prisoners, held for murder, with bullets.

WASHINGTON.

Ex-Senator Francis Kernan, of New York, has declined the appointment of Government Director of the Union Pacific Railroad lately offered him by the President.

At present there are 327 distilleries in operation in the United States, producing daily 1,421,000 gallons of spirits.

Secretary Manning has addressed a circular to manufacturers and others interested in the industrial arts, asking their views as to the feasibility of simplifying the tariff and substituting specific for ad valorem duties. The results of the inquiry will be laid before congress.

The report of the Chief of the Bureau of Statistics just issued shows that the number of immigrants arrived in the United States during the fiscal year ended June 30, 1885, was 395,332, being 122,011 less than the immigration during the preceding fiscal year, and 64,171 less than during the year ending June 30, 1882, the year of the greatest immigration.

The Director of the Mint has authorized the employment of supernumeraries to relieve the labor in the Adjustment Bureau of the Philadelphia Mint, eighty-four to number, from overwork. These ladies have been working from twelve to fourteen hours daily for the sake of the extra pay, but at the expense of their health.

Maj. Heuer, of the corps of engineers, has submitted his report of the progress of work on the improvement of the navigation of the Mississippi river for the past fiscal year to Gen. Newton, chief of engineers. He says: "One of the interesting facts connected with the improvement is that the full depths and widths of the channels required by law have been maintained throughout the year by Mr. Eads, and not so dredging of any kind has been required on any of the work since February, 1881. No work has been done to the passes at the head of the passes during the year."

POLITICAL.

The President has appointed the following President at Postmasters:

Charles H. Cavanagh, at Washington, N. Y.; Charles J. Waldron, at Fayette, Miss.; William B. Gilbreth, at Troy, Iowa; A. S. McCord, at Mercerville, Ohio; W. H. Norton, at Elkhart, Ind.; Alfred N. Hinds, at Salina, Kan.; Alexander Wright, at Fort City, Minn.; Alfred W. Dunn, at Ashley, Mich.; Jacob Ziegler, at Tiffin, Ohio; William G. Stewart, at Hillsboro, Ohio; J. Newell, at Danville, Ill.; Joseph Wilson, at Jewell, respondent; James W. Lyons, at Elsworth, Ind.; Wm. H. S. Bennett, suspended; Sand. Lewis, at Windsor, Ill.; Jas. Ward, at Ashley, Ill.; Jas. Pattison, at Fairfield, Ill.; Jas. Pattison, at Fairfield, Ill.; Wm. Pattison, at Fairfield, Ill.; Jas. Pattison, at Fairfield, Ill.; Jas. Pattison, at Fairfield, Ill.; Jas

THE JOURNAL.

BY CHAS. S. STRANG.

CHARLEVOIX, - - MICHIGAN.

AS OTHERS SEE US.

Echoes From the Recent Press Excursion.

EATON RAPIDS JOURNAL.

A more lovely or picturesque spot in nature is seldom found. Without rival advantages it would rival any of the towns in Northern Michigan as a resort, or a business point. We were only too sorry to leave so charming a place so soon. * * * At this point we found a former citizen of Eaton Rapids, Chas. J. Strang, of the Charlevoix Journal, who received the rudiments of his profession in the Journal office, under the management of J. R. TenEyck, nearly twenty years ago.

GRAND HAVEN HERALD.

Charlevoix is pleasantly located on Lake Michigan with two beautiful inland lakes within sight. On these lakes are located the two great summer resorts of the Chicago Club and Kalamazoo people. The town has 1800 population, two newspapers, the Sentinel and Journal. Of all places we visited while on this trip we take pleasure in saying that Charlevoix is the best summer resort on the great lakes—except Grand Haven.

ST. CLAIR REPUBLICAN.

Charlevoix lays claim to being the best adapted by nature for a summer resort of any place in this region, owing to the fact that it enjoys the advantage of two lakes, on one or the other of which the water is always still. The cottages, many of them very artistic in appearance, are arranged in terraces on the banks which rise to a height of about one hundred feet, and the whole forms a beautiful picture.

Notes and News.

The Detroit Evening Journal has a new dress and a new head,—a marked improvement.

On our inside pages will be found a rather full biographical sketch of Gen. Grant, with portraits, etc.

The Michigan State Democrat, published at Detroit, is a new candidate for public favor, and judging by the style and tone of the first number it will prove a formidable rival to some older and more pretentious journals. It contains four pages of seven columns each, and is furnished at the low price of one dollar per year.

ADDITIONAL LOCAL.

Real Estate Transfers.

The following is a list of transfers of real estate in Charlevoix county, as recorded in the office of register of deeds, for the week ending Tuesday evening:

John S. Dixon and wife to Elizabeth A. Bank, lot 2, blk 1, Dixon's addition to village of Charlevoix, $250.

Mary J. Stone to Sheldon J. Lyons, lot 4, of blk 67, of Stone's addition to village of South Lake, $200.

Isaac Way and wife to A. F. Musser, S ½ of w ½ of lot 8, blk 1, village of South Lake, $500.

Wm. M. Miller and wife to First Congregational Society of Charlevoix, lot 1, blk 3, village of Charlevoix, $800.

John S. Dixon and wife to J. Milo Eaton, s ½ lot 8, blk 11, village of Charlevoix, $100.

Will A. Stone and wife to James Swanson, s ½ lot 5, blk 5, village of South Lake, $75.

James Swanson to Jacob M. Wilson, s ½, lot 5, blk 5, village of South Lake, $250.

A. L. Boynton to L. J. Horton, w ½ of s w ¼, sec 1, 33-8.

Joseph N. Hurd and wife to H. R. Chipman, n ½ of n ½, sec. 3, 34-8.

Chas. Spencer and wife to Wm. Ritchie, lot 2 of sec 6, 33-8. 25

Will A. Stone to David Sullivan, s ½, lot 5, blk 5, village of South Lake, $75.

A. H. Vos to owen sound wire to Wm. Porter, pt of lots, outlots 101 addition to village of South Lake, $100.

Louis L. Wagoner and wife to Benjamin Campbell, lot 10, blk 5, village of South Lake, $200.

Missionary Work.

A revival goalpower in Washington lately called on Secretary Manning, and that officer was dispersed to be taken in.

"We can't do anything more toward making a nation number of you, can we?" he inquired.

"No, I reckon not, sez we, sez we, sez we, sez we, sez we. Make a bigger offer, I'll tell you why. I would like, though."

"Name it," said the prince-and-editor.

"I'd like to be appointed as a set of missionary to the heathen."

"Had a little animal our line, but where do you want to go? We may give you some help."

"If I can't very far. I'd like to be made chaplain of the house of representatives."

"And the lamps isn't republican, either," said the secretary the next day, when he was telling a friend about the interview.—Sentinel Traveler.

Why Her Lover Enlisted.

The mystery of George S. Carter's disappearance last September, says the Uxbridge, Mass., telegram to the New York World, has been cleared up by the publication of a little love story with a romantic sequel in which Carter figures as the live hero. Young Carter was engaged to a young lady living here, and preparations had been made for the nuptials. On the evening of the second day before the appointed time young Carter drove to the house of his affianced and asked her to take a ride. She made some excuse for preferring to stay at home that evening, and Carter drove off alone in a sad and dejected frame of mind. He was not satisfied with her treatment of him, and this dissatisfaction was rather heightened an hour or so later when he saw his young lady riding with another young man with whom he had not been on very good terms, and of whom he was rather jealous. He followed the young couple to know where they intended to go and learn how late they would remain together. He was satisfied that his betrothed was not true to him, and he drew his savings, amounting to $1,000, from the bank and started for New York, where he enlisted in the regular army. His departure caused a sensation, and for a long time no one could tell the cause of Carter's departure nor his destination. At length a letter came from New Mexico telling his parents that their son was a soldier. He wrote again, asking their help in getting a discharge from the army, and his anxiety was no doubt increased when he learned that his parents had been left $50,000 by the death of a relative. The war secretary has not yet replied favorably and is rather inclined to deny the petition on the ground that enlistments are very scarce.

Curiosities.

An almanac 3,000 years old, found in Egypt, is in the British Museum. It is supposed to be the oldest in the world. It was found on the body of an Egyptian, who had, doubtless, regarded it with as much reverence as he did the Egyptian Bible—"The Book of the Dead"—and, indeed, it is strongly religious in character. The days are written in red ink, and under each is a figure, followed by three characters signifying the probable state of the weather for that day. Like the other Egyptian manuscripts it is written on papyrus. It is written in columns. It is not in entirety, but was evidently torn before its owner died. It clearly established the date of the reign of Rameses the Great, but contains nothing else of value.

The Household.

Dyspepsia, Indigestion and Headache seem to take the place of the three graces in many households. How sad is the condition of such a family. The kidneys and liver often get deranged and perhaps the parents or even children may be suffering from diabetes, bright's disease or some hundred disease. As a preventive and also a cure for all the diseased conditions of the human family no prepara tion equals Parmelee's Dyspepsia, Diabetes, Kidney and Liver Cure. Only $1.00 for large bottles.

Sold by Dr. G. W. Crosier, Charlevoix, and Crosier & Harris, Ironton.

Nature Cleanses

The system, if given an opportunity, but very few persons find time to give nature a chance and so the blood, which is the great drain for carrying away impurities, becomes so clogged with disease that unless some help is given it, the person will be afflicted by blood poisoning and suffer with pimples, boils, carbuncles, eneurcs, scrofula, &c., and often die without help. Save yourself from all this suffering and loss of time by using Parmelee's Blood Purifier which prevents all diseases in the system. Large bottles $1.25.

Sold by Dr. G. W. Crosier, Charlevoix, and Crosier & Harris, Ironton.

Cure for Piles.

Piles are frequently preceded by a sense of weight in the back, loins and lower part of the abdomen, with a dull pain, sometimes but more often of the violent kind, accompanying or soon followed by all the ordinary symptoms of costiveness, flatulency, disorders of the stomach, etc. A tendency, like perspiration, preceding a very disagreeable feeling, after getting warm, with extreme irritation, followed by blotches and eruptions on the skin, are some of the results of the Piles. Dr. Parmelee's Pile Remedy, which acts directly upon the parts affected, absorbing the tumors, allaying the intense itching, and effecting a permanent cure. Price 50 cents. Sold by Geo. W. Crosier. 25

The Grand Rapids

Daily Democrat,

The Leading Newspaper of Western Michigan.

ENLARGED AND IMPROVED

Sent by mail at 50 cents per month.

C. R. BELLINGER

Has a large stock of

New Jewelry and Silverware

(SOLID AND PLATED)

Pins, Charms, and Chains,

In all the latest styles.

Watches, Clocks, and Optical Goods.

New style of Monogram Pin just received.

Sewing Machine Oil 40 cts. a bottle.

REPORT OF THE CONDITION OF THE

CHARLEVOIX Savings Bank

At Charlevoix, Mich., at the close of business on Monday, July 6th, 1885, made in pursuance with Sections 16, 17, and 37, of the general banking law, as amended in 1881.

RESOURCES.

Loans and discounts	$22,596 77
Overdrafts	32 00
Furniture and Fixtures	825 00
Due from other banks	1,457 [illegible]
Checks on other banks	1,057 [illegible]
Time Loans other banks and bankers	2,000 00
Legal tender and bank notes	2,826 00
	$32,825 67

LIABILITIES.

Capital paid in	$15,000 00
Undivided profits	3,242 17
Due depositors	14,583 50
	$32,825 67

I, FRED A. SMITH, Cashier of the Savings Bank, do solemnly swear that the above statement is true to the best of my knowledge and belief. FRED A. SMITH, Cashier.

Subscribed and sworn to before me this 7th day of July, A. D. 1885. OSCAR UPRIGHT, Notary Public.

Attest, Correct,
HENRY BENNETT,
A. E. UPRIGHT,
JOHN NICHOLLS,

CHANCERY SALE.

In pursuance of and by virtue of an order and decree of the circuit court for the county of Charlevoix, in chancery, in the state of Michigan, made and dated on the 28th day of February, A. D. 1885, in a certain cause therein pending wherein Martha A. Ayers is complainant and Mary J. Bennett, Ann Eliza Bennett, James Moss-Bennett and Livingston Bennett are defendants, notice is hereby given that I shall sell at public auction to the highest bidder at the front door of Lovesley's Hall in the village of Bay Bridge, in the county of Charlevoix and state of Michigan, said hall being the place of holding the circuit court in said county, on the 7th day, the 28th day of August, A. D. 1885, at the hour of 10 o'clock in the forenoon, all, or so much thereof as may be necessary to raise the amount due to the said complainant for principal of said mortgage, interest and costs and attorney's fees, the following described premises, viz: Lots 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12, 13, 14, 15, 16, 17, 18, 19, 20, 21, 22, 23, 24, 25, 26, 27, 28, 29, 30, 31, 32, 33, 34, 35, 36, 37, 38, 39, 40,

THE JOURNAL.

BY CHAS. J. STRANG.

CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN.

AS OTHERS SEE US.

Echoes From the Recent Press Excursion.

EATON RAPIDS JOURNAL.

A more lovely or picturesque spot in nature is seldom found. With railroad advantages it would rival any of the towns in Northern Michigan as a resort, or a business point. We were only too sorry to leave so charming a place so soon. * * * At this point we found a former citizen of Eaton Rapids, Chas. J. Strang, of the Charlevoix Journal, who received the emoluments of his profession in the Jour nal office, under the management of J. B. TenEyck, nearly twenty years ago.

GRAND HAVEN HERALD.

Charlevoix is pleasantly located on Lake Michigan with two beautiful inland lakes within sight. On these lakes are located the two great summer resorts of the Chicago Club and Kalamazoo people. The town has 1800 population, two newspapers, the Sentinel and Journal. Of all places we visited while on this trip we take pleasure in saying that Charlevoix is the best summer resort on the great lakes—except Grand Haven.

ST. CLAIR REPUBLICAN.

Charlevoix lays claim to being the best adapted by nature for a summer resort of any place in this region, owing to the fact that it enjoys the advantage of two lakes, on one or the other of which the water is always still. The cottages, many of them very artistic in appearance, are arranged in terraces on the banks which rise to a height of about one hundred feet, and the whole forms a beautiful picture.

Notes and News.

The Detroit Evening Journal has a new dress and a new head,—a marked improvement.

On our inside pages will be found a rather full biographical sketch of Gen. Grant, with portraits, etc.

The Michigan State Democrat, published at Detroit, is a new candidate for public favor, and judging by the style and tone of the first number it will prove a formidable rival to some older and more pretentious journals. It contains four pages of seven columns each, and is furnished at the low price of one dollar per year.

ADDITIONAL LOCAL.

Real Estate Transfers.

The following is a list of transfers of real estate in Charlevoix county, as recorded in the office of register of deeds, for the week ending Tuesday evening:

John S. Dixon and wife to Elizabeth A. Hook, lot 2, blk 1, Dixon's addition to village of Charlevoix, $250.

Mary A. Dixon to Sheldon J. Lyons, lot 6, of blk 41, of Stone's addition to village of South Lake, $200.

H. S. Way and wife to A. E. Mason, S ½ of W ½ of lot 3, blk 4, village of South Lake, $550.

Wm. H. Butler and wife to First Congregational Society of Charlevoix, lot 1, blk 3, village of Charlevoix, $600.

John S. Dixon and wife to J. Milo Eaton, n ½ lot 8, blk 11, village of Charlevoix, $100.

Will A. Stone and wife to James Swanson, n ½ lot 5, blk 5, village of South Lake, $75.

James Swanson to Austin M. Wilson, n ½ lot 5, blk 5, village of South Lake, $200.

H. A. Dixon to L. L. Horton, w ½ of s w ¼, 17-33-8, 40 acres.

Francis Hurd and wife to H. B. Chapman, n ½ of sw ¼, 33-34-8, 80 acres.

Chas. Scott and wife to Wm. Kitchie, lot 2 of 13-34-8, 39 acres.

Will A. Stone to Daniel Sullivan, n ½, lot 5, blk 5, village of South Lake, $75.

A. H. Vankuren and wife to Wm. H. Porter, lot 7, blk 1, Hudson's 1st addition to village of Charlevoix, $200.

Samuel Marks and wife to Benjamin Campbell, lot 10, blk 1, village of South Lake, $200.

Missionary Week.

A person of prominence in Washington issues a circular to Secretary Manning, asking that officers seem disposed to be hearsome.

"Wasn't do anything more toward making a minister of you, can you?" he inquired.

"No, I question that, as my commission seems from a higher power. I'll tell you what I would like, though."

"Name it," said the new secretary.

"I'd like to be appointed as a sort of missionary to the heathen."

"Don't a little one of our kind, but where do you want to go? We may give you some help."

"I don't very far. I'd like to be made chaplain of the house of representatives."

And the house, he's republican, adjourned and the secretary the next day, when he was telling a friend about the interview.—Detroit Tribune.

Why Her Lover Enlisted.

The mystery of George S. Carter's disappearance last September, says an Uniondale, Miss., telegram to the New York World, has been cleared up by the publication of a little love story with a romantic sequel in which Carter figures as the live hero. Young Carter was engaged to a young lady living here, and preparations had been made for the nuptials. On the evening of the second day before the appointed time young Carter drove to the home of his affianced and asked her to take a ride. She made some excuse for preferring to stay at home that evening, and Carter drove off alone in a sad and dejected frame of mind. He was not satisfied with her treatment of him, and this dissatisfaction was rather heightened an hour or so later when he saw his young lady riding with another young man with whom he had not been on very good terms, and of whom he was rather jealous. He followed the young couple to Bangor, where they intended to learn how late they would regether. He was satisfied that trouble was not true to him, drew his savings, amounting to from the bank and started for York, where he enlisted in the army. His departure caused him, and for a long time no one the cause of Carter's departure destination. At length a letter from New Mexico telling his parents their son was a soldier. It again, asking their help in g discharge from the army, and very was no doubt increased learned that his parents had $30,000 by the death of a relati war secretary has not yet repli ably and is rather inclined to d petition on the ground that cui are very scarce.

An almanac 3,000 years old, Egypt, is in the British Museum supposed to be the oldest in the It was found on the body of an man, who had, doubtless, reg with as much reverence as he Egyptian Bible—"The Book Dead"—and, indeed, it is stro religious in character. The d written in red ink, and under ea figure, followed by three charac giving the probable state of th for that day. Like the other ing manuscripts it is written o ras. It is white in columns. in its entirety, but was evident before its owner died. It clear fished the date of the reign of the Great, but contains nothing value.

The Household

Dyspepsia, Indigestion and niche seem to take the place three graces in many hom How sad is the condition of family. The kidneys and liv get deranged and perhaps the or even children may be sufferi diabetes, bright's disease or so dred disease. As a preventive so a cure for all the diseases co of the human family no p tion equals Parmelee's Ipa Diabetes, Kidney and Liver Only $1.00 for large bottles.

Sold by Dr. G. W. Crosier, Charlevoix, and Crosier & Harris, Ironton.

Nature Cleanses

The system, if given an opp ty, but very few persons find give nature a chance and so the which is the great drain for c away impurities, because so with disease that unless some given it, the person will be affl blood poisoning and suffer wit ples, boils, carbuncles, cancers ulcers, &c., and often die without Save yourself from all this st and loss of time by using Pa Blood Purifier which prevents causes in the system. Large $1.00.

Sold by Dr. G. W. Crosier, Charlevoix, and Crosier & Harris, Ironton.

Cure for Piles.

Piles are frequently preceded by a sense in the back, loins and lower pa some days or weeks, sometimes in some direction of the kidneys or urinary passages. At times, symptoms of indigestion prevail, flatulency, uneasiness of the stomach, like constipation, pro were disagreeable feelings after eating, loss of appetite attended. Hard, blind, bleeding, itching, and protruding piles. For Piles take Parmelee's Pills, which will cause the parts affected, absorbing the tumors, relieving the pain, and in most cases cure. Price 50 cents. Sold by Crosier.

The Grand Rapids

Daily Democr

The Leading Newspap Western Michigan

ENLARGED AND IMPRO

Sent by mail at 50 cer month.

C. R. BELLINGER

Has a large stock of

New Jewelry and Silverware

SOLID AND PLATED.

Pins, Charms, and Chains,

In all the latest styles

Watches, Clocks, and Optical Goods.

New stock at Hourglass Ho last received. Sewing Machine Oil kept in stock.

REPORT OF THE CONDITION OF THE

CHARLEVOIX

Savings Bank

At Charlevoix, Mich., at the close of business on Monday, July 6th, 1885, made in pursuance with Section 20, Act No. 164, of the general banking law, as amended in 1881.

RESOURCES.

Loans and discounts	$27,526 75
Overdrafts	1,461 40
Furniture and fixtures	1,000 00
Expense account	357 40
Checks on other banks	1,767 16
Due from other banks and bankers	5,656 16
Legal tender and bank notes	2,126 00
	$38,895 87

LIABILITIES.

Capital paid in	$15,000 00
Undivided profits	3,062 12
Due depositors	15,833 75
	$33,895 87

I, Pierre A. Smith, Cashier of the above named bank, do solemnly swear that the above statement is true to the best of my knowledge and belief.

PIERRE A. SMITH, Cashier.

Good Goods and Low Prices

ARE

BOUND TO WIN

If you don't believe it, come and see my SPRING STOCK. You will see that I am up to the times in styles, and have as fine an assortment of MEN'S, YOUTH'S and CHILDREN'S SUITS, as you will find in any City. I defy any House to show any nicer line of NECK WEAR and

THE JOURNAL

Charlevoix, Mich., July 30, 1885.

AS OTHERS SEE US.

Echoes From the Recent Press Excursion.

WILLIAMSTON ENTERPRISE.

At Charlevoix we were again met by citizens and house hands and escorted to the opera house and given a hearty welcome and tendered the freedom of the city, after which we were escorted to the various hotels where elegant dinners had been provided us. Prominent among the citizens of Charlevoix we found A. D. Cruickshank, formerly prosecuting attorney of Livingston county, an old acquaintance and a sterling fellow. The citizens had here arranged a program, but our time was somehow cut short and the words "all aboard" were heard far too soon to do this place anything like justice. We must say that Charlevoix is peopled by an energetic, progressive and open handed population, is a lovely little village, enjoys a most excellent harbor, and is becoming famed as a summer resort. The soil and timber round about resembles Ingham in richness and productiveness more than any we saw on our trip, and our advice would be before clearing away out west, to look at the "lay of the land" round about Charlevoix.

FOR FAR TRUE NORTHERNER.

Charlevoix was reached at two p. m. where the party disembarked for dinner. Arrangements had been made here to give the party a grand reception and banquet. The president of the State Association, C. S. Hampton, had asked the citizens of this beautiful little village that the members of the party be allowed to pay for their entertainment. As an offer was promptly returned, stating that if anything more was said about pay, the boats would not be allowed to land. Reaching the dock, the excursionists were met by a band of music and escorted to a commodious hall, where they were welcomed by Mr. Cruickshank and presented with the freedom of the city. President Hampton replied to the welcoming address in his usual happy style, after which the party was divided and, proceeding to the several elegant hotels of the village, were simultaneously entertained. With just a glimpse of the beauties of Pine Lake and the other fine scenery surrounding this beautiful resort, which is almost a paradise on earth, the party re-embarked on board the Faxton and City of Grand Rapids, and proceeded on their way to Petoskey, where they arrived at 6 o'clock p. m.

THE JOURNAL

Charlevoix, Mich., July 30, 1885.

AS OTHERS SEE US.

Echoes From the Recent Press Excursion.

WILLIAMSTON ENTERPRISE.

At Charlevoix we were again met by citizens and house hands and escorted to the opera house and given a hearty welcome and tendered the freedom of the city, after which we were escorted to the various hotels where elegant dinners had been provided us. Prominent among the citizens of Charlevoix we found A. D. Cruickshank, formerly prosecuting attorney of Livingston county, an old acquaintance and a sterling fellow. The citizens had here arranged a program, but our time was somehow cut short and the words "all aboard" were heard far too soon to do this place anything like justice. We must say that Charlevoix is peopled by an energetic, progressive and open handed population, is a lovely little village, enjoys a most excellent harbor, and is becoming famed as a summer resort. The soil and timber round about resembles Ingham in richness and productiveness more than any we saw on our trip, and our advice would be before clearing away out west, to look at the "lay of the land" round about Charlevoix.

MANCELONA HERALD.

When Charlevoix was reached, all felt that a good dinner would fit them to sing some as anything in this wide, wide world. We were met at the dock by the Charlevoix band and a large delegation of her citizens. After landing we proceeded at once to the hall, where short addresses of welcome were delivered by the village officials and replied to by members of the party. Music was next in order, after which the party broke up, a part of them going to the Fountain City House for dinner, and the balance to the Chicago Club House and to the Belvedere House, located at the resorts. It is needless to add that those half famished mortals did ample justice to the magnificent dinners sumptuously provided by the citizens of Charlevoix. This was our first visit to that beautiful village, and after carefully looking the town over, were convinced that she fully deserves her reputation of being the handsomest village in Northern Michigan. Nature has done everything for the place, and, situated as it is, we predict for our sister village of Charlevoix a bright and prosperous future.

HASTINGS DEMOCRAT.

Charlevoix was reached at noon. Here a committee and a fine band of music awaited the party, who, after a formal reception by the mayor and citizens, were escorted to the several hotels and royally entertained free of expense. With a party of some seventy others we found ourselves at the Bridge Street House, and, certainly, pleasanter quarters, more courteous treatment or attentive waiters and better fare would be hard to find.

Charlevoix is on Lake Michigan and Round Lake, and just beyond the latter and connected with it by a short channel is Pine Lake, one of the most beautiful inland lakes in Michigan. Unlike Bay Springs, Boyne City and East Jordan are the principal towns on this lake, whose waters are alive with fish. Jordan river, at the head of the South Arm, is famous for its speckled trout. Charlevoix has 1800 resident population, and its attractions as a health and pleasure resort add hundreds to these during the summer months.

CEDAR SPRINGS CLIPPER.

The writer "took in" the Fountain City, where, without enlarging, it was about as fine a spread dinner as mortal man ever sat down to. From the speckled trout, "this year's fruits, down to everything that a craving appetite, such as "Bob" Smith's, of the Ithaca Journal, could desire, was on the table. The town is handsomely located and one of the finest resorts around water. The boats left this little paradise at 4 o'clock p. m.

KALKASKA LEADER.

The committee of citizens appointed to do the honors of the town escorted the excursionists to the opera house, where short addresses of welcome and responses thereto were delivered. By this time everybody was thoroughly hungry and solicitous as to what sort of a prize the little slip of cardboard in his vest pocket with the name of a hotel on it would draw. Fate cast one lot, with a score of others at the Newman House, which though not one of the more pretentious hotels of the place furnished an abundance of good cheer and made its guests thoroughly at house. A couple of hours at Charlevoix was insufficient, everything considered, to give the visitors much of an idea as to its beauties and attractions as a summer resort, but it was amply sufficient to prove that its citizens are hospitable, whole souled and generous, and every member of the excursion was made to feel thoroughly at home.

STURGIS JOURNAL.

We arrived at this beautiful and famous pleasure resort a little after the dinner hour, but the generous hearted citizens had anticipated our manifold wants, and we sat down to a spread fit for "King, Prince or Potentate."

Charlevoix is one of the most lovely of all the Michigan summer resorts. It is beautifully situated on and surrounds Round Lake, a bright and sparkling body of water, which is connected with Lake Michigan a half mile away, by a ship canal. East of, and connected with Round Lake, is that beautiful and far famed body of water, Pine Lake. Near little pleasure steamers ply upon the waters of the lakes, and hundreds of row boats dot their mirror faces. The town is the county seat of Charlevoix county, and has a population of about 1,200. It shows activity and growth, and will, at no distant day, lay claims to other things than a pleasure resort.

MT. PLEASANT TIMES.

At noon, after a pleasant trip, we reached Charlevoix, where we landed and marched up to the Hall where we were received, after which the party went to different hotels for dinner. Our lot was cast at the Fountain City House, and oh ye gods! what a feast. We were served with speckled trout garnished with parsley and lemon, and we are ashamed to say that we ate seven of them, besides a good square meal on top. Charlevoix is beautifully situated on Grand Traverse Bay or rather on the point which separates the two Traverses. There is a fine town here, business is good, the climate fine, backed by a good farming country. We shall ever recollect Charlevoix and our short so journ there with pleasure.

CASH FOR

FAT CATTLE,

Sheep and Hogs.

Having contracted to furnish Fresh Meats to the Charlevoix markets, this season, I will pay the highest market price for fat Cattle, Sheep, and Hogs.

A. J. McLEOD.

Charlevoix, May 20, 1885.

BLACKSMITHING, ETC.

Horse Shoeing on hand and made to order. I warrant all work done by me to be first class. WAGON and WARE-OUT ALL WORK. Call and examine before buying elsewhere.

SHOP ONE BLOCK WEST OF CROSSTAKER, BARTHOLOMEW & CO'S STORE, CHARLEVOIX

☞ The CELEBRATED MOWING MACHINE on hand and for sale. ☜

PIMPLES.

I will mail FREE (sealed) to any single person who will remove any PIMPLES, Flesh Worms, Black Heads, leaving the skin soft, clear and healthy, the best treatment to produce a luxuriant growth of hair on a bald head or face, whiskers, eyebrows, eyelashes, or to stop, prevent, and cure baldness. Address, with stamp, Box 1, Vance, Cuyahoga Co., Ohio.

CHARLEVOIX, MICH.

No. 2, Upright or Square,	$250,	cash	$300
No. 2, " "	200,	"	250
No. 3, " "	200,	"	600

ALL 7 1/3 OCTAVES.

ERRORS OF YOUTH.

A GENTLEMAN who suffered for one year from Nervous Debility, Premature Decay, and all the effects of youthful indiscretion, will for the sake of suffering humanity, send free to all who need it, the receipt and direction for making the simple remedy by which he was cured. Address, in a plain envelope, to any person who may need it, NATHAN HOLMES, 44 Chatham St., New York City.

RUPTURE CURED by our Astringent Lotion and Pad, sure cure. Send stamp for book. Pierce & Co., 201 4th Ave., New York.

OLD NEWSPAPERS FOR SALE

THE JOURNAL

Charlevoix, Mich., July 30, 1885.

Provision Market.

Retail prices to consumers, corrected every Wednesday evening, by UPHOUSE, EMERY & CO. grocery dealers.

Flour, per bbl., $5.50, $6.00, and $6.49.

Pork, per lb., 5c.

Beef, per lb., boiled 10c; roast 12c.

Lard, per lb., 8@9c.

Potatoes, per bu., 30c.

Butter, per lb., 16@20.

Eggs, per doz., 16@18c.

Chickens, per lb., 12@15c.

Turkeys, per lb., 12@15c.

Ducks, per lb., 12@15c.

Geese, per lb., 12@15c.

Apples, per bu., 30c.

Onions, per bu., 50c.

Cabbages, per doz., $1.50@2.00.

Beans, per bu., $2@2.50.

Beets, per lb., 1@2c.

Carrots, per bu., 50c.

Turnips, per bu., 30c.

Parsnips, per bu., 30c.

Squash, per lb., 1@2c.

Butter, per lb., 16@20c.

Eggs, per doz., 16@18c.

CHARLEVOIX MARKET.

Hay—Old, $8 @ $9; Clover, $6 @ $7.

Wool—Fine, 30@35c; Coarse, 25@30c.

Calf Skins, 8c.

Muskrats, 5c.

Tallow, per lb, 2@4c.

Hides—Dry, Water White, 8@9c; Legal Cut, 7c.

Farmers produce in good demand.

Fresh and Cured Meats.

CORRECTED BY G. W. JEFFERIES.

Beef—Steak 12@15c; Roast 10@12½c; Stew 6@8c.

Pork—Steak 10c; Roast 10c.

Mutton—Chops 10@12c.

Veal—8@10c.

Ham—10@12½c.

Shoulders—8@10c.

Salt Pork—5@7c.

Bologna—5@7c.

Fish—Salmon, 15c; Trout, 10c; Codfish, 2 cakes, 25c; Herring, 5c per doz; Mackerel, 15@20c.

☞ Grand excursion and basket picnic under the auspices of the I. O. O. F., to be held at Horton's Bay, Saturday, August 1, 1885. The steamer Clam Belle has been chartered for the occasion. Tickets 40 cents for round trip. The public are cordially invited to participate. The boat will leave Carpenter & Rutlebonsen's dock at 7 a. m. sharp. By order of committee.

☞ Now is the time your horses need antibilious attention. To prevent disease and tone up the system you will find Parmelee's Condition Powders invaluable. Full pounds 25 cts. Sold by Dr. G. W. Crosier, Charlevoix, and Crosier & Harris, Ironton. 32-1d ☞ Boarders can secure good rooms and good board at Mrs. Jefferies' on reasonable terms. Inquire at Jefferies' Market, opposite Bridge Street House.

☞ All orders by Telephone promptly delivered from Jefferies' Market.

☞ Cedar and pine shingles for sale by Upright, Emrey & Co.

☞ Pressed Corned Beef at Jefferies' Market.

☞ Almanacs, celery at Jefferies' Market.

☞ Best fresh butter at Jefferies' market.

☞ Boneless Ham at Jefferies' Market.

Local Notes and News.

Bridge street received a partial covering of gravel last week.

Boyne City and Boyne Falls will soon "hello" to each other.

A very pleasant party was given at Music Hall Monday evening.

A barn was burned at East Jordan Sunday. Cause: small boys playing with matches.

Memorial services for Gen. Grant will be held in the M. E. church on Sunday, Aug. 9.

The Faxton is billed for an excursion to Petoskey next Sunday, leaving Dock at 9 o'clock.

Jas. Washburn is making a good substantial dock for the Charlevoix Resort Association.

There will be services at the Congregational church, next Sunday morning and evening.

On Saturday next the Daily Resorter will contain a full description of all the resorts in Northern Michigan.

Next Sunday evening Rev. C. P. Vankuren will take for the subject of his discourse: "God's voice to the Nation."

On Wednesday afternoon Dr. Curtis has caught a mess of speckled trout, the four largest weighing over one pound each.

The village will have some broken sidewalks to pay for if some of the nimble holes in the sidewalks are not repaired pretty soon.

Prof. Judson Pettingill, of the Ann Arbor high school, wife and child are visiting Saturday evening, and are stopping at the Cook cottage.

We have a little matter prepared for the entertainment of certain Harbor Springs boys, but we are advised to wait and see it up this week.

W. P. Brown is laying the brick walls of his bank block this week. They are obtained from W. H. Hoyt's brick yard, East Jordan.

A huge umbrella over the street sprinkler would be of great benefit to the driver, and give that much more advertising space to be sold.

Another scoop! The "leading news paper" failed to discover that there was a Grant memorial service in the Congregational church last Sunday morning.

The ice cream social by the ladies of the Congregational society, heretofore announced for Saturday evening, has been postponed to Wednesday evening next.

The sloop yacht, Harry Burke, of Chicago, arrived at Charlevoix Monday, having on board the Messrs. Pettibone, S. M. Moore and John Carse, all of Chicago.

The Detroit Evening Journal gave the most extended biography of Gen. Grant on the day of his death of any paper in the state received at this office. An evidence of enterprise.

Three of our subscribers who receive statements this month will please give them prompt attention, as we need every dollar that can be raised to pay for paper and new material.

H. C. Cooper intends to devote more attention to his undertaking department, than heretofore, and will add considerable to his present stock of coffins, caskets, trimmings, etc., but this will not in any way reduce his general furniture business.

If there is any law which gives the harbor master control over the speed of boats through the channel, it should be applied with force to the Morley. The captain evidently tries to "show off" every time he comes here, by running in and out at his very best speed.

The Charlevoix Journal in announcing the advent of a temperance lecturer, Luther Benson, from Indiana, says of his speeches elsewhere, that "lawyers wept and resolved to do better during these speeches." Jerusha! he must be a good one.—Cassopolis Democrat.

The Petoskey Record ridicules the work of reprinting extracts from the many favorable press notices given this region. Now, Bro. Bontecou, do you really feel that way, or is it because so little was said of Petoskey as compared with the various other places mentioned?

At the annual meeting of the Charlevoix Resort Association, held July 21st, J. L. Sebring was elected president, Kendall Brooks vice president, Geo. E. Bardeen secretary, S. A. Gilson treasurer, and H. W. Page, P. Ramsey, D. B. Merrill, O. M. Allen, I. D. Bixby, directors.

I. Stauffer, of Carpenter, has invented a grain sower with which he sowed 10 acres to timothy in 2½ hours. He is having some of them made, and farmers can get the same of him. The sower is something that will save farmers many hours work, and will prove a benefit to them.—Democrat.

An excursion party from the Charlevoix resort enjoyed a delightful ride it to Mackinac Island last week, going up by rail via Mackinac City on Wednesday, and returning from Cheboygan by the Inland Route Friday, the Friant making a special trip to get them back to the resort that evening.

Our people generally and especially those who have the care of children, cannot be too careful about the spread of contagious diseases like scarlet fever, etc. If you have occasion to go into a sick room, be sure to thoroughly disinfect your clothing before going into the presence of, or having any contact with children.

The Friant will give an excursion to the camp-meeting at Petoskey to morrow, leaving here at 3:30, tickets 50 cents; and another on Sunday from East Jordan, stopping at Dwight's landing, Stripps' dock, Ironton, and Charlevoix. Tickets from Charlevoix 50 cents, other places 75 cents. Will leave East Jordan at 7 o'clock, and Charlevoix at 8:30.

J. Milo Eaton today received a letter from Mr. Riffenburg, stating that he was ready to come here and begin the erection of the flouring mill as soon as the specifications could be returned from Indianapolis. Instructions were also given to engage two residences for the families of Mr. Riffenburg and his son. The letter also contained suggestions in regard to the purchase of material, stating that everything that could be obtained here would be.

The Daily Resorter is out again, and a neat little sheet it is—but so little, either. It is a six column folio, well printed on tinted paper, full of spicy items and choice bits of information, besides the arrivals and personals for all the leading hotels of this region. Bro. Hampton, abuse us if you will; we can't possibly stop to credit all the good things we shall clip from your columns.

The Grand Traverse Herald, after having published a very large number of the press notices favorable to that town, breaks down and compares the job to that of Mr. Partington laboring with her broom to sweep out the waves of the rising Atlantic tide as it poured into her back kitchen, and gives a list of papers with favorable notices which must be omitted, closing with, "Charge the expenses of the press excursion up to advertising account, please." It looks as if we should have to do the same thing.

Grant Memorial Service.

At the Congregational church last Sunday morning, Rev. C. P. Van Auken conducted a memorial service and addressed an audience filling the church to its full capacity.

On the wall behind the pulpit hung a large portrait of General Grant, over which was suspended two large national flags. The walls, pulpit, and furniture were heavily draped in mourning.

Several front rows of pews were filled with a delegation from Baxter post, G. A. R.

Interspersed with the prayers, readings, etc. were several memorial hymns by the choir.

Mr. Van Auken discussed Gen. Grant's life from a purely impartisan standpoint, briefly reviewing his life and dwelling on those actions and military successes which brought him so prominently before the American people. He followed him through his service as president, in his trip around the world, and to his home and private life, closing with a glowing eulogy of those elements of character which, more than all else, secured to give Grant his success in every undertaking when in the service of the people, and more than all else enshrined him as a representative American.

Rev. Mr. Dimsmore, of Bloomington, Ills., followed with some personal reminiscence, elaborating the points made by Mr. Van Auken as to his personal characteristics. Mr. Dimsmore had been with Grant in the field and in the camp, in the zenith of his political success and in private life, and knew him thoroughly. In his opinion, no man in the history of the United States had overcome so many obstacles and achieved so great success as had Grant, and no man would live longer in the hearts of the American people.

The services were listened to with marked attention throughout.

Contagious Diseases.

We desire once again to call the attention of the people to the law guarding against the spread of contagious diseases. This law has been frequently violated, causing much suffering among many who would otherwise escape. It provides that every case of any contagious disease dangerous to the public health shall be reported to the health officer, either by the householder or physician, (with a penalty of not exceeding $100 for failure,) and the board of health shall use all possible care to prevent the spread of the disease, by giving public notice of infected places, and by isolating the patient whenever deemed necessary. The utmost care should be taken to prevent the contact of patient or nurse with children, or those having charge of children, or others liable to take the disease. On a salary of ten dollars a year the health officer cannot be everywhere present, but he will furnish circular instructions for the care of the sick and the disinfection of rooms to all who apply.

We Are Anxious

That every young lady should know what a delicate and harmless beautifier is to be found in Hunt's Cuticura Balm. It is absolutely harmless, and it makes the complexion so soft and brilliant, so nicely removes all tan and freckles, that one week only to give it a trial to be convinced of its merits. Only 50 cents per bottle.

Sold by Dr. G. W. Crosier, Charlevoix, and Crosier & Harris, Ironton.

J. L. HURD & CO.'S

SPECIAL SALES

Still Continue.

First Invoice of Spring Dry Goods Just Received.

MAYFLOWER TEA,

Our own Importation, and Guaranteed Absolutely Pure.

J. L. HURD & CO.

Successors to Amos Fox.

All the Latest Popular

SHEET MUSIC

May be obtained of

F. G. HINES & CO.,

Druggists and Stationers.

Death of Mrs. Graves.

Mrs. Dr. S. C. Graves died yesterday morning at 8 o'clock, of pneumonia. She had but recently recovered from her prostration of last winter, and had come here to spend the summer quietly, hoping to get thoroughly recovered before winter, but took a severe cold on the journey to this place, which was the cause of the fatal illness. She was attended almost constantly by her father, Judge Dryden, of St. Louis, and by her husband, Dr. S. C. Graves, of Grand Rapids. At her request, the remains were taken to St. Louis for burial by the side of her mother who died last year. She leaves a father, husband, sister and little baby to mourn her death.

A WORD FROM DR. GRAVES.

PARKER HOUSE,
Charlevoix, Mich., July 30, 1885.

It is a pleasure as well as a duty for me to express, thus publicly, to my friends in Charlevoix, my deep and tender thanks for all the favors and kindnesses which they have showered upon me and mine during the late fatal illness of my wife.

Mrs. Graves was in truth, a Charlevoix lady, for some of the most important scenes in the brief but eventful drama of her young life have been enacted here and she would willingly have done for you, what you have done for her. I know that were she able, she would quickly endorse this declaration and I have no doubt but that even at this moment, from the pearly gates of Paradise, she is sailing in a sweet and welcome assent to my action.

Like a meadow lily, before the scythe of the mower, she has been cut down in her youth and beauty, and another tender, pure, stonifest and uncommonly promising bud of womanhood has rendered the earth poorer and more desolate by her departure hence. Our loss is the gain of Heaven and the angels.

May God bless you all and keep your hearts free from sorrow and full of joy for many years to come.

S. C. GRAVES.

A Pleasant Anniversary.

Last Thursday evening Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Hasbia celebrated the first anniversary of their marriage, at their residence, corner Clinton street and the park. The rooms were tastefully decorated with mosses, evergreens, etc., and were well filled with a lively party of relatives and friends. An hour was passed with social games, music, and pleasant chat, after which refreshments were served. A large number of appropriate presents, useful and ornamental, were given. The company unite in their congratulations and the wish that future anniversaries may be observed with as much success and pleasure as this.

Prof. Harvey, Legerdemain.

At opera house, Friday evening, July 31st. Read what is said of him:

Prof. Harvey is a first-class magician.—Grand Rapids Democrat.

He produced many new and wonderful feats in legerdemain in so rapid a manner as to entirely amuse his audience.—Manistee Democrat.

Prof. Harvey is master of his art. We are glad to commend him as one who does all he advertises.—Banger Reflector.

Prof. Harvey gives a good, honest entertainment, worth more than the admission price asked.—Brooklyn Exponent.

Ice Cream Social.

Last Friday evening the ladies of the Congregational society gave an ice cream social at their church, which was quite well patronized, and netted a good profit. Next Wednesday evening it is to be repeated, at which time additional tables will be provided so as to increase the accommodations when the crowd is largest.

It is worthy of note in this connection that the people of the resorts are very liberal in their patronage of this society, all of which is appreciated by the ladies.

Two Runaways—Nobody Hurt.

Last Friday evening a horse attached to a milk wagon ran down Bridge street from Wm. Ferguson's to the bridge, scattering cans and portions of the wagon along the street.

On Wednesday evening, a horse attached to Mr. Holden's coal cart, containing two young ladies, became unmanageable and ran away, throwing the ladies out, and scattering the cart in small pieces along the road.

Fortunately no one was injured.

The McGilbeny Family.

This famous musical company gave one of their unrivaled entertainments at the opera house Tuesday evening. Every chair was filled, and to say that all were delighted is putting it mild. Every child is a natural musician and the performances of every member of the company will bear the severest criticism.

Remember This.

Hamilton's Cascara Bitters are the best bitters made. They promote good and healthy appetites. They tone up and strengthen the system, without exciting the human as most other stimulants. They cleanse the purest nerves, and cleanse the impure and jaded system. They are prepared from the purest materials and are the best medicines you ever saw for restoring health and strength. Try them. 50 cents per bottle.

Sold by Dr. G. W. Crosier, Charlevoix, and Crosier & Harris, Ironton.

THE DEAD HERO.

Pen and Pencil Sketches of His Busy and Eventful Life.

Outline of His Career and Public Services from the Cradle to the Grave.

The Great Commander's Military Campaigns, from Belmont to Appomattox.

BIOGRAPHICAL.

From the Cradle to the Breaking Out of the Rebellion.

Ulysses Simpson Grant was born at Point Pleasant, Ohio, April 27, 1822. His ancestors were Scotch. In 1823 his parents removed to the village of Georgetown, Ohio, where his childhood was passed. He entered West Point Military Academy in 1839, appointed by the Hon. Thomas L. Hamer, member of Congress. His name entered was Hiram Ulysses, but the appointee, as was illustriously made out by his life, was ever thereafter known by the name he wisely chosen to bear. His childhood during his course at the academy was unchangeable. He graduated in 1843, ranking twenty-first in a class of thirty-nine, and was made a brevet second lieutenant of infantry, and assigned to the Fourteenth Infantry. Promotion to the Fourth Regiment, which he joined, followed in due course. In the summer of 1844 the regiment was ordered to Texas, to join the army of gen. Taylor. In Sept. of that year he was commissioned as a full lieutenant. He first saw blood shed at the battle of Palo Alto, and took part also in the battle of Resaca de la Palma, at Monterey, and the siege of Vera Cruz. In the last battle he was Commissioner of his regiment, but still participated in all active operations; and after the battle of Molino del Rey, such a rout, he was appointed on the field a first Lieutenant for his gallantry. Sept. 8, 1847, he fought the battle of Chapultepec, and was in the vanguard, commanding the First Brigade, at the final rush on the enemy and made a stand behind a low stone wall, from which they were driven by detachments of the Second Artillery under Capt. Brooke and the Fourth Infantry under Lieut. Longstreet, and which, with a handful of men, he rallied, after a short but unmanageable rush, thus not only to call attention to himself, Grant, Fourth Infantry, who squatted himself into safety, upon several occasions, under my own observation. Grant was brevetted Captain for his conduct at Chapultepec, to date from the battle of Molino del Rey, Sept. 8, 1847. He was retained with his regiment and was stationed first at Detroit, and then at Sackett's Harbor. In 1848 he married Miss Julia T. Dent of St. Louis, sister of one of his classmates. In 1852 he accompanied his regiment to California and Oregon, and while at Fort Vancouver, Aug. 31, 1853, he received his promotion to a first lieutenancy, and in 1854 he resigned, and removed to St. Louis, cultivating a farm near that city and engaging in business as a real estate agent. In 1859 he was employed by his father in the leather trade at Galena, Ill.

GRANT AS A SOLDIER.

His Military Campaigns from Springfield to Richmond.

U. S. Grant

1861

President Lincoln's call for troops to aid in suppressing the rebellion was made April 15, 1861, and April 19 Mr. Grant was drilling a company of volunteers at Galena, with whom he marched to Springfield, Ill., where, with Mac-Clernand, he offered him the colonelcy of the Twenty-first Illinois Regiment, of which he took command early in June and marched at once to Missouri, reporting to Gen. Pope, by whom he was assigned to duty as Colonel of Volunteers and as Mustering Officer. Aug. 7 he was promoted colonel by the President as Brigadier General of Volunteers. Aug. 8 he was transferred to Fremont's Division, Mo., and a fortnight later to Jefferson City, Mo., by direction of Fremont, he took command of the District of Southeast Missouri, with headquarters at Ironton, and at Cairo, at the mouth of the Ohio. His next movement was to seize Paducah, at the mouth of the Tennessee River, Sept. 6, and Smithland, at the mouth of the Cumberland, Sept. 2. On Nov. 7 he made a vigorous attack on the Confederate camp at Belmont. The strategic value of this place was in its protection of their camps and stores, and its embarrassment having been sent by Gen. Polk across the river, and the guns of Columbus brought to bear on the Union position. Grant was forced to retire. For the following two months he was employed in disciplining his troops, making reconnoissances, and in minor skirmishes with the enemy. Jan. 6 Grant's forces were now set on foot for an attack upon Fort Henry and Donelson, the former of which commanded the Tennessee River, and the latter the Cumberland, near the Kentucky and Tennessee line, and about twelve miles from the former. Grant started from Fort Paducah, Feb. 4 with a force of 15,000, to be added to by fleet of gun boats under Commodore Foote. Fort Henry was captured Feb. 6, its batteries having been set out of fire by the fleet before the land forces arrived. The most of the garrison had, however, escaped to Fort Donelson, a place twelve miles distant, from Grant, 17,000 of his force over, he came road, accompanied that night and Feb. 14, seconds the gunboats had come up the river to co-operate with him, began the attack upon the place, which, after a short but unmanageable resistance not until it had attracted to Lieut. Grant, Fourth Infantry, who squatted himself into safety, upon several occasions, under my own observation. Grant was brevetted Captain for his conduct at Chapultepec, to date from the battle of Molino del Rey, Sept. 8, 1847. He was retained with his regiment and was stationed first at Detroit, and then at Sackett's Harbor. In 1848 he married Miss Julia T. Dent of St. Louis, sister of one of his classmates. In 1852 he accompanied his regiment to California and Oregon, and while at Fort Vancouver, Aug. 31, 1853, he received his promotion to a first lieutenancy, and in 1854 he resigned, and removed to St. Louis, cultivating a farm near that city and engaging in business as a real estate agent. In 1859 he was employed by his father in the leather trade at Galena, Ill.

GRANT AS A SOLDIER.

His Military Campaigns from Springfield to Richmond.

U. S. Grant

1861

President Lincoln's call for troops to aid in suppressing the rebellion was made April 15, 1861, and April 19 Mr. Grant was drilling a company of volunteers at Galena, with whom he marched to Springfield, Ill., where, with Mac-Clernand, he offered him the colonelcy of the Twenty-first Illinois Regiment, of which he took command early in June and marched at once to Missouri, reporting to Gen. Pope, by whom he was assigned to duty as Colonel of Volunteers and as Mustering Officer. Aug. 7 he was promoted colonel by the President as Brigadier General of Volunteers. Aug. 8 he was transferred to Fremont's Division, Mo., and a fortnight later to Jefferson City, Mo., by direction of Fremont, he took command of the District of Southeast Missouri, with headquarters at Ironton, and at Cairo, at the mouth of the Ohio. His next movement was to seize Paducah, at the mouth of the Tennessee River, Sept. 6, and Smithland, at the mouth of the Cumberland, Sept. 2. On Nov. 7 he made a vigorous attack on the Confederate camp at Belmont. The strategic value of this place was in its protection of their camps and stores, and its embarrassment having been sent by Gen. Polk across the river, and the guns of Columbus brought to bear on the Union position. Grant was forced to retire. For the following two months he was employed in disciplining his troops, making reconnoissances, and in minor skirmishes with the enemy. Jan. 6 Grant's forces were set on foot for an attack upon Fort Henry and Donelson, the former of which commanded the Tennessee River, and the latter the Cumberland, near the Kentucky and Tennessee line, and about twelve miles from the former. Grant started from

BIRDS-EYE VIEW OF CHARLEVOIX, MICH., SHOWING HARBOR AND SUMMER RESORTS.

Charlevoix and East Jordan.

Steamer GAZELLE, Capt. Robert Irwin.

Mondays—Leave Charlevoix 6.30, arrive East Jordan 8.30, leave East Jordan 9.00, arrive Charlevoix 11.00. Afternoon—Leave Charlevoix 2.00, arrive East Jordan 4.00, leave East Jordan 4.30, arrive Charlevoix 6.30. Stopping at intermediate points.

Harbor Springs, Petoskey, Charlevoix and East Jordan.

STEAMER THOMAS FRIANT.

CAPT. E. VANDERBILT.

Morning—Leave Harbor Springs 7.00, Petoskey 8.00, Charlevoix 9.30, arrive East Jordan 11.30. Afternoon—Leave East Jordan 1.30, Charlevoix 4.00, Petoskey 5.30, arrive Harbor Springs 7.30.

Connections at Petoskey with G. R. & I. R. R. trains, north and south.

Hannah, Lay & Co.'s Pleasure Steamers,

SEASON OF 1885.

CITY OF GRAND RAPIDS.

CAPT. G. L. WILSON.

Going North every morning—Leave Traverse City 7.30, Northport 9.30, Norwood 11.00, Charlevoix 1.00, Petoskey 1.30, arrive at Harbor Springs 1.45.

Going South every afternoon—Leave Harbor Springs 2.00, Petoskey 2.30, Charlevoix 4.00, Norwood 5.00, Northport 6.30, arrive at Traverse City 9.00.

T. S. FAXTON,

CAPT. A. G. ALBERTSON.

Going South every morning—Leave Harbor Springs 7.00, Petoskey 8.00, Charlevoix 9.45, Torch Lake 12.00, arrive Traverse City 2.30.

Going North every afternoon—Leave Traverse City 3.00, Torch Lake 5.45, Charlevoix 7.45, Petoskey 9.15, arrive Harbor Springs 9.45.

GOOD CONNECTIONS will be made at Traverse City and Petoskey with both day and night trains on the G. R. & I. R. R., also on Monday mornings between the CITY OF TRAVERSE from Chicago and the CITY OF GRAND RAPIDS going south, and the CITY OF GRAND RAPIDS going north, and the CITY OF TRAVERSE for Chicago.

Grand Rapids & Indiana R. R.

Time Table in effect June 21, 1885.

GOING NORTH.

STATIONS.	No. 1	No. 3	No. 5	No. 7
Cincinnati, lv....	.....	7 00am	7 30pm	.....
Fort Wayne, ar....	6 30pm	2 50pm	1 20am	5 45am
Fort Wayne, lv....	7 05pm	3 20	1 50	6 00
Kalamazoo, lv....	12 30am	7 50	7 00	12 20pm
Kalamazoo, lv....	7 30	8 00	3 10	2 15
Grand Rapids, ar....	10 20	9 50	7 00	4 10
Grand Rapids, lv....	12 30	11 05	7 20	5 05
Big Rapids, ar....	3 40	2 45	10 25	8 05
Howard City....	4 02pm	3 08pm	8 50	8 27
Big Rapids, ...	1 47	1 14	9 40	7 14
Reed City, ar....	2 22	1 48	10 11	7 55
Reed City, lv....	2 42	.....	10 21	8 05
Cadillac, ar....	4 08	2 47	11 22	9 00pm
Cadillac, lv....	4 66	2 55	11 35	.....
Wexford....	5 56	3 46	12 26am	.....
Kalkaska, ar....	6 50	4 39	12 56	.....
Mancelona....	6 21	4 05	1 27	.....
Boyne Falls....	7 12	4 55	2 20	.....
Petoskey, ar....	7 47	5 30	2 56	.....
Harbor Springs....	.....	.....	.....	.....
Mackinaw City....	9 00pm	7 40	4 15pm	.....

GOING SOUTH.

STATIONS.	No. 2	No. 6	No. 8	No. 4.
Mackinaw City....	8 30pm	8 10am	.....	1 00pm
Harbor Springs....	.....	.....	.....	.....
Petoskey, lv....	9 17	9 25	.....	2 22
Boyne Falls....	10 23	9 59	.....	3 55
Mancelona....	10 52	10 29	.....	4 23
Alba....	11 34	11 09	.....	4 59
Walton....	12 30am	12 02pm	.....	5 55
Cadillac, ar....	12 [illegible]	12 50	.....	6 40
Cadillac, lv....	1 00	1 02	6 00am	6 50
Reed City, ar....	3 04	2 52	7 56	8 55
Reed City, lv....	.....	2 57	7 58	9 05
Howard City....	3 30	3 22	8 20	9 31
Big Rapids....	4 03	3 55	8 56	10 07
Grand Rapids, ar....	5 45	5 05	10 20	10 50
Grand Rapids, lv....	7 35am	5 30	11 05	3 00pm
Kalamazoo, ar....	9 05	7 00	12 40pm	4 45
Kalamazoo, lv....	9 15	7 10	1 00	4 55
Fort Wayne, ar....	12 40pm	11 00	.....	8 00
Fort Wayne, lv....	1 15	12 10am	3 35am	8 30
Cincinnati, ar....	7 40pm	7 25am	12 50pm	.....

E. L. LOCKWOOD, G. P. A., Grand Rapids, Mich.

ERRORS OF YOUTH

A MANHOOD. One who has suffered all the horrors from the dreadful and destructive habit of youthful errors, and is anxious to relieve his fellow victims, will be his discovered a remedy and ready means of cure, will send free a simple prescription for the cure and speedy cure of loss of memory, nightmare, emissions nocturnal, impotent brain power, nervous debility, pimples on the face, premature decay, and all the results of indiscretion, confusion of ideas, aversion to society, loss of ambition, confusion of ideas, nervous prostration, lassitude, pain in the back, etc. Address, in confidence, J. W. PINKNEY, 206 Cedar St., New York.

$100 REWARD

FOR

Every Ounce of Adulteration

IN THE

U. G. Soap

The Great 5c Cake,

GOWANS & STOVER,

BUFFALO, N. Y.

For Sale by all First-class Grocers.

TEN CENTS.

Advertisements and exceeding three lines will be inserted in this column for ten cents per week. Each additional line three cents. Displayed cards fifty cents per inch per month.

BOOK AND JOB PRINTING for Order printing at this office. The best work for the least money.

BUTTER AND EGGS wanted on subscription for the JOURNAL. Wood and produce of all kinds taken at market rates.

MORTGAGE NOTES kept on hand or printed to order on short notice at this office.

Boats to Rent.

Fine Row and Sail Boats to Rent by the Hour, Day, or Week. Boats built and repairing done; also Boats, Oars, and Fixtures for sale.

RED BOAT HOUSE,

Near Charlevoix Summer Resort.

F. W. WILCOX.

For Sale, at a Bargain.

We will sell our

Ten-Horse Power Combination Thresher,

Complete. No money need be paid down, if the required security is given. For particulars inquire of or address

CHARLES & LOREN HAMLIN,

tf Burgess P. O.

FOR SALE.

The place known as

THE BEATTIE FARM

Near McGeagh's Mill.

For particulars inquire at the office of

J. MILO EATON.

MRS. R. TOULOUSE,

Manufacturer and dealer in

ICE CREAM

Fruits, Confectionery,

SODA WATER, LEMONADE, GINGER ALE, ROOT BEER, ETC.

CHARLEVOIX, MICH.

JAMES HEMMINGS,

Upright & Harlbut Addition,

Charlevoix,

HOUSE PAINTER,

Calciminer,

Paper Hanger,

And Decorator.

PINE AND HARDWOOD FINISHING. GOOD WORK.

"Facts to be Remembered."

NIMROD PLUG TOBACCO

is the BEST(HEW, the GREATEST SELLER, and more need than any other plug in the State. It is always real order. NEVER TOO HARD OR TOO WET. IT WEARS, GIVES GOOD SATISFACTION, and is sold everywhere. NIMROD is the CHOICE OF THE CHEWER, never sold on the dollar's trade. This cement sold of any other brand of Tobacco. For sale by all jobbers and retailers.

S. W. VENABLE & CO.

Petersburg, Va.

TO CONSUMPTIVES.

The advertiser having been permanently cured of that dread disease, Consumption, by a simple remedy, is actuated to make known to his fellow-sufferers the means by which alone he hopes for a cure, and will send free of charge to any person, (gratis) with the directions for preparing and using the same which they will find a sure Cure for Coughs, Colds, Consumption, Asthma, Bronchitis, &c. Parties wishing the Prescription, free of charge, address, Rev. E. A. WILSON, 194 Penn St., Williamsburgh, N. Y.

A PRESENT.

Our readers for 12 cents in postage stamps to pay for mailing and wrapping, mail names of 20 persons who use Family Sewing Machines, and receive a Package of all our Household Including Checkbook, size 22x28, worth $1.00. Address Elder Pub. Co., Chicago, Ill.

Do You Know

THAT

LORILLARD'S CLIMAX PLUG TOBACCO

with Red Tin Tag, Fine Cut Plug Cut Smoking, Navy Clippings, and Black, Brown, and Yellow Snuffs are the best and cheapest, quality considered. 26y1

THIS PAPER may be found on file at Geo. P. Rowell & Co.'s Newspaper Advertising Bureau (10 Spruce St.), where Advertising contracts may be made for it IN NEW YORK.

Program for Grant Memorial Service, August 8th.

Recommended by Foster Post G. A. R.

Your committee respectfully submits the following program for your adoption and execution on the day of burial:

1. That all the flags of the village, and on the shipping in the harbor be displayed at half mast.

2. That the bell be tolled for half an hour commencing with the services at 3 o'clock.

3. That arrangements be made for the firing of 13 guns to commence with the ringing of the bells, then one gun every half hour until sunset.

4. That the post form at the city hall, and with reversed arms march to the park for the holding of the services, that the public be invited to join in the procession, to be under the direction of Marshal Berdan.

Order of exercises at park: 1, music by the band. 2, prayer by Rev. C. F. Van Auken. 3, music by the choir. 4, eulogy by the Hon. E. H. Green. 5, music by the choir. 6, presentation of resolutions of respect. 7, volunteer remarks by citizens. 8, music by the band. 9, benediction by Rev. J. T. Iddings. After which the post will reform and with arms at a right shoulder shift and proceed by the band playing a march will return to the city hall and be disbanded.

It is further recommended that the business men of the place be requested to close their places of business during the ceremonies, and that they drape their business places on that day, and that so far as possible all labor be suspended during the ceremonies.

WM. KANADY,
ROBERT MILLER,
DR. J. C. CARLETON,
DR. D. C. CHAMBERLAIN,
S. M. SEE,
Committee.

Base Ball Questions.

In view of the disputes arising out of the recent tournament, and to get authority on some points, Mr. H. Hall wrote to the Mirror of American Sports, asking a pledged authority on base ball, which letter and reply we publish in full:

Where I am stopping there is a base ball club, and they with three other clubs have been contesting for a prize. The Fourth of July was the day appointed for the tournament, and on that day a Mr. Glen Allen, one of the Kalamazoo boys, played with the Charlevoix team. At first he was strongly opposed by the other clubs, but was allowed to play. They ended Fourth each club a game, one won and one lost, so that the 4th of July was set for a time to decide the honors, and each club agreed to play the same men on that day as on the Fourth. Now, in violation of this, Boyne City hired two men from Grand Rapids (the battery) and came to Charlevoix, where the C. B. B. C. objected and wanted those men thrown out, which Boyne City would not allow, claiming that Allen was an outside man, and that he must be thrown out with their new recruits, of course objected to, and a general dispute arose and lasted over an hour after the time of calling game, much to the disgust of the crowd dispersed. Allen is a receiver here, and spends two or three months of the year in this place; he organized the club three years ago, and his father owns property and pays taxes in this town; while the other two men are strangers at Boyne and have no connection whatever with that town. Now, as umpire with the least particle of sand ought to have called game at the appointed hour. Even as he did not and not the game ought to be declared in favor of Charlevoix 9 to 0? Am I right or not? Answer the agreement to play the same team was binding on both sides, and under that agreement Allen was eligible to play with Charlevoix, but the two players imported by Boyne City were not eligible. The game should be declared in favor of Charlevoix 9 to 0. No questions answered by mail.

A Reliable Article.

For enterprise, pluck and a desire to get such goods as will give the large satisfaction Geo. W. Crouter, Druggist, Bridge street, has Dr. Demaris's Cough and Lung Syrup, because he has tried Medicine on the market, for Coughs, Colds, Croup and Primary Consumption. Price 50 cents and $1.00. Samples free.

J. MILO EATON,

DEALER IN

Real Estate

OF ALL KINDS.

Houses and Lots for Sale

IN THE MOST DESIRABLE PARTS OF CHARLEVOIX.

WILD LANDS AND IMPROVED FARMS

FOR SALE IN ALL PARTS OF THE COUNTY.

Abstracts of Title Furnished on Short Notice.

OFFICE ON BRIDGE STREET. ESTABLISHED IN 1875

PINE LAKE IRON COMPANY

Ironton, Mich.,

Are Full in all kinds of General Merchandise.

HENRY C. COOPER

Undertaker!

CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN.

Coffins, Caskets, and Trimmings Always in Stock.

Come and See my Stock of Furniture.

HURRAH for GOOD TIMES

Everything Booming

AT E. M. CLARK'S

Where he has a Lively Trade in

Dry Goods, Groceries, Boots and Shoes, Clothing, &c.

When you get the blues, just call around and see with what dispatch everything is done, where Pork, Eggs, Butter, &c., is taken in exchange for Goods.

E. M. Clark

THE CHARLEVOIX JOURNAL.

NUMBER 108. CHARLEVOIX, MICH.: THURSDAY, AUGUST 6, 1885. $1.50 PER YEAR.

THE JOURNAL

Published every Thursday,

BY CHAS. J. STRANG.

office on Bridge Street,

CHARLEVOIX, - - MICHIGAN

ENTERED AT THE POSTOFFICE AT CHARLEVOIX, MICH. AS SECOND-CLASS MATTER.

BUSINESS DIRECTORY.

ATTORNEYS.

ARTHUR E. MARTIN, Attorney at Law, Boyne City, Mich. Collections promptly attended to.

BUCKSHANK & GRIEB, Attorneys at Law and Practors in Admiralty. Office in Hayes' Block, Charlevoix, Mich.

J. E. BUCKSHANK. C. J. GRIEB.

HART & CALL, Attorneys at Law, Real Estate and Loan Agents, Lake St., east of postoffice, Petoskey, Mich.

EUGENE M. MAYNE, Attorney and Counselor at Law. Real Estate business promptly attended to. CONVEYANCING.

H. J. PENNY, Attorney and Counselor at Law. Office on Lake St., Boyne, Mich.

T. A. VANDERBILT, Attorney at Law and Judge of Probate of District 8, Petoskey, Mich.

EDWARD CANNON, Attorney at Law, Charlevoix, Mich.

NORTON & SEAT, Attorneys at Law, Boyne City and East Jordan. M. A. Norton, Boyne City; J. A. Seat, East Jordan.

CHAS. F. VOSNER, Attorney at Law and United States Circuit Court Commissioner, Eastern District. East Jordan, Mich.

W. S. MORSE, Attorney and Solicitor, East Jordan. Admiralty a specialty.

A. A. CARRUTH, Attorney at Law, Boyne City, Mich.

CHURCHES.

FIRST CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH.—Sunday services at 10.30 a. m. and 7.30 p. m. Sunday School at close of morning service. Prayer meeting at 7 p. m. Thursday. Rev. C. F. VAN AUKEN, pastor.

METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH.—Sunday services at 10.30 a. m. and 7 p. m. Sunday School at close of morning service. Prayer meeting Thursday evening at 7. J. T. IDDINGS, pastor.

FIRE DEPARTMENT.

CHARLEVOIX HOOK AND READY FIRE COMPANY meet every Saturday night, at 8 o'clock. R. L. BOSHER, Secretary.

HOMEOPATHIC PHARMACY.

SUPPLIED with Homeopathic Medicines, Books, Domestic Cases, etc., Charlevoix, Mich.

PHYSICIANS.

J. V. CARISHEIN, M. D. Office at the Depot.

JOHN W. K. Physician and Surgeon. Office in the Lewis Block, Charlevoix, Mich.

W. H. PERSON, M. D., Surgeon and Homeopathic Physician, Charlevoix, Mich.

REAL ESTATE AGENTS.

HART & CALL, Notary Public, Real Estate Loans, and Insurance Agt., Petoskey.

SECRET SOCIETIES.

A. O. U. W., Harbor Post No. 192, meets second Monday in each month, at Odd Fellows' hall.

I. O. O. F.—Charlevoix Lodge No. 357, meets every Friday evening, at Odd Fellows' hall.

I. O. O. F.—Round Lake Lodge No. 361 meets every Wednesday evening, in their hall.

K. O. T. M.—Resolute Tent, No. 126, meets second and third days every month, at Odd Fellows' hall.

R. O. H.—Star Hives, No. 175, meet Saturday on or before full moon in Odd Fellows' hall.

MASONIC.—Charlevoix Lodge No. 382, meets on Tuesday on or before full moon. Hall over Crouter's Drug Store.

WELL DIGGING.

FRANK HOBBS, Charlevoix, Mich., will attend to all work in the line of well digging, cistern building, pump repairing, well curbing, cellar building, and similar work. ☞

W. F. BROWN, Cashier. W. A. BROWN, Ass't Cashier.

BROWN & CO'S

BANK OF CHARLEVOIX,

Capital, $25,000.

Will receive facilities and prompt attention to a large and growing patronage. Drafts on any direct point the principal cities of the world. Collections receive prompt attention. Special attention to collections of Lumber, Grain, Wool, etc. Also to messages upon Grain, Produce, Good security and low rates of interest. Interest allowed on deposits. Drafts on Europe by the best lines.

CORRESPONDENTS.

Chase National Bank, New York.
First National Bank, Chicago.
Merchants and Manufacturers' National Bank, Detroit.
North National Bank, Grand Rapids.

The Charlevoix Improvement Association.

OFFICERS.

President—Byron Ware.
First Vice President—Dr. C. Smith.
Second Vice President—Robert Miller.
Recording Secretary—Wm. Kanady.
Financial Secretary—R. Sellers.
Treasurer—Albert E. Mason.

STANDING COMMITTEES.

Executive Committee—J. Milo Eaton, A. D. Cheeseboro, and J. L. Hurd.
Finance Committee—H. Lee Billings, W. Brown, and C. Clark.
Respectfully—Dr. C. W. Mayne, L. D. Bagley, W. J. Stockman, R. Cooper, Geo. W. Crouter, E. W. Miller, S. M. See, W. C. Newman, Carl. H. Berdan.

OBJECTS.

To aid and encourage the establishment of manufacturing enterprises in Charlevoix, and to secure to its material greatness and prosperity of Charlevoix and vicinity.

REGULAR MEETINGS.

Charlevoix Village Hall on the Third Monday of each month, at 7.30 p. m.

CORRESPONDENCE SOLICITED.

PIMPLES.

I will send Free the receipt for a simple VEGETABLE BALM that will clear the face of PIMPLES, FLESH WORMS, BLACKHEADS, BLOTCHES, and leave the skin soft, clear and beautiful; also instructions for producing a luxuriant growth of hair on a bald head or smooth face. Address, inclosing a 3c. stamp, Mrs. V. SANDER & CO., 12 Barclay St., N. Y.

A FEW FACTS CONCERNING

Dr. CROUTER'S

BAKING POWDER

Or Quick Yeast.

If you use it you will never have yellow biscuit, if you use it your biscuit will never taste of Soda. It contains no alum, and is absolutely free from anything of a deleterious nature.

It is made from PURE GRAPE CREAM OF TARTAR and NOT from the Common Cream of Tartar of the shops.

It is always fresh and will never disappoint you.

Directions for using furnished with every package.

Price 40 Cents per Pound.

Manufactured and Sold only by

Dr. GEO. W. CROUTER,

Chemist and Druggist,

BRIDGE STREET, CHARLEVOIX, MICH.

Come and See our Immense Stock of

BOOTS AND SHOES.

FOX & MILLER.

BRIDGE STREET HOUSE,

ROBERT MILLER, Proprietor.

Charlevoix, - Michigan.

This house is centrally located, and its accommodations cannot be surpassed. The table supplied with the best the market affords. Only sample room in Charlevoix.

COMMERCIAL HOUSE

D. B. JERRUE, Proprietor.

East Jordan, Michigan.

Entirely rebuilt and refurnished. First-class Sample Rooms for agents. Good Stable in Connection with the House.

FARMERS' HOTEL,

W. S. JOHNSON, Proprietor.

Antrim Street, near Village Hall, Charlevoix.

Location convenient for merchants working in one of the factories on Round Lake, and for farmers coming to town. Good stables for horses will be provided.

FOUNTAIN CITY HOUSE,

RICHARD COOPER, Proprietor.

Charlevoix, - Michigan.

Finest location in town, giving good view of lakes and resorts. Express office, and headquarters for Petoskey and Elk Rapids Stages. Commodious sample rooms for commercial travelers adjoining hotel.

JORDAN RIVER HOUSE,

THATCHER & BLAKE, Proprietors.

East Jordan, - Michigan.

These having business at the county seat will find this the most convenient place to stop, and the proprietors will spare no pains to give the best satisfaction. REPRIMS CONCIMS.

PINE LAKE HOUSE,

A. J. HALL, Proprietor.

Boyne City, Michigan.

This house is finely located on the Boyne river, at the head of Pine Lake. It is large and well adapted to the wants of the travel in the villas-ski of the traveling public.

PIONEER HOUSE,

A. B. NOYES, Proprietor.

Ironton - Michigan.

Every convenience for the traveling public.

Well-Digging.

JOHN SHRIER

Charlevoix, Mich.,

is prepared to do all work in the line of well-digging, cistern building, pump repairing, well-drilling, and similar work.

Picture Frames

Made to Order.

A FINE ASSORTMENT OF MOULDINGS

To Select From.

O. I. WHEAT,

Bridge Street, Charlevoix, Mich.

Money to Loan

On sums of $200 and upwards, at reasonable rates. Good security required. Inquire at

H. C. Miley,

Boyne City.

6m4

MISS L. SPAULDING,

DEALER IN

MILLINERY

AND

Fancy Goods.

Dressmaking Done in the Latest Styles.

Special attention given to

CHILDREN'S GARMENTS.

We would call the attention of the Ladies to our STAMPING DEPARTMENT

☞ We endeavor to do our work well and at Reasonable Prices. Come and see for yourself.

McCABE'S

Livery and Hack Line

DRAYING TO ORDER.

Passengers, Baggage, etc., delivered to all Boats, Hotels, or any part of the City.

AT

McCabe's Livery Barn,

CHARLEVOIX, MICH. 43

W. M. WAGAR. G. C. WAGAR.

Wagar Bros.

Wholesale and Retail dealers in Tobacco, Cigars and Smokers' Articles. Also a full line of Confectionery, Fruits, And Temperance Drinks. The first door west of Bridge Street House, Charlevoix, Mich.

Personals.

Jodlie Allen, of Kalamazoo, arrived Saturday.

J. A. Stevens, of East Jordan, made us a call Monday morning.

W. C. Nelson, of the Lelaman Enterprise, made us a call on Tuesday.

John Burns returned to Charlevoix on the Lawrence, last Sunday night.

Dr. H. P. Snyder, dentist, is in town this week, stopping at Shanhut's.

Rev. A. Streimer, of Hartford, Ohio, is visiting the family of Henry Bennett.

H. H. Miller was injured in the right knee joint one night last week while practicing polo.

Jos. Beauvais' boy fell off the fence Saturday afternoon, and broke his left arm, near the elbow.

Miss Emma Spickerman has gone to visit friends in and near Detroit, to be absent several weeks.

C. J. Grier and wife started last Friday for a month's visit with relatives and friends in Charlotte.

Mr. J. S. Smithson, of Chicago, will give a gospel address at the Congregational church next Sunday morning.

Miss Melissa Willis, of Charlevoix, is the guest of John Wylie and wife, of Grant township.—Cheboygan Democrat.

Judge Clover, of St. Louis, Mo., will speak at the Grant memorial service at the M. E. church next Sunday evening.

Montie Lewis was caught between two logs, last Saturday, severely bruising both hips. He will be laid up several weeks.

F. W. Craine returned home from Cadillac last Tuesday, and was accompanied by Mrs. J. M. Rice and daughter, who will remain two weeks.

E. M. Clark and two friends went to Northport one day last week in an open sail boat, and in returning got caught out at night and had a "generous time."

Kalamazoo Gazette, Saturday:—Mrs. Joe D. Clement and son Gatta left last night for Charlevoix....Mr. O. M. Allen and his neice, Miss Amanda Allen, of Allegan, left for Charlevoix last night; also Jodlie Allen.

Ralph B. Vanderhoef, son of Capt. R. Vanderhoef, of the steamer Friant, has received the appointment of first assistant in the Grand Haven postoffice. He will leave the steamer for his new duties in a few days.

Miss Lucy Wonner, Miss Helen L. Gilbert and Chas. G. Brown, wife and daughter, Terre Haute, Ind., Geo. Watkins and wife, Chicago, Ill., C. H. Cochran and wife, West Chester, Pa., C. T. Northrop, wife and daughter of Englewood, Ill., are at A. R. Upright's.

Kalamazoo Gazette: C. H. Dickinson and family leave for Charlevoix next week, accompanied by a large party of friends, including A. C. Bartlett and family, of Chicago; H. C. Bancroft and family, of Columbus, Ohio, and Mrs. L. B. Heard and son, of Boston, Mass.... Hon. S. S. Cobb has returned from an extended trip up north. Mr. Thos. S. Cobb, whose health is greatly improved, stopped at Petoskey and will spend some time at Boyne City.

Ironton.

Last Saturday afternoon William Morehouse was drowned in Pine lake. Mr. Morehouse, J. M. Harris, and Wm. Roberston, of Ironton, Mich., neither of them being able to swim. Morehouse got over the channel bank into deep water, and the others being unable to help him, he was drowned before assistance could be obtained from the shore. The body was recovered, a jury summoned, an inquest held, and a verdict returned in accordance with the above facts. The funeral was held at the M. E. church Sunday afternoon, the services conducted by Rev. C. F. Van Auken, of Charlevoix.

The schooner Narragansett arrived Sunday morning, with a cargo of ore for the furnace.

The mason's work is finished, and the men returned to Chicago on Monday. The furnace will start next week.

Haying is about finished. Winter wheat will soon be ready for the harvest.

Of the twenty or more men present when Mr. Morehouse's body was recovered, only four could swim, and Thomas Mackey was the only one who could dive down and secure the body.

New potatoes are plenty in Ironton, with light demand.

After ten months the furnace whistle is again heard.

A Challenge and Reply.

Charlevoix, July 27, 1885.

A. L. DEURE, Esq., Captain Harbor Springs Base Ball Club. Dear Sir: The Charlevoix Base Ball Club hereby challenges the Harbor Springs Base Ball Club to play a game of base ball for the championship of the Grand Traverse region and the gold medal donated by Charlevoix and won by you at the recent tournament at Charlevoix, on your grounds, July 29th, 1885, at one o'clock p. m.; said game to be played under the rules governing the tournament. Please reply by bearer.

Yours &c.,

R. A. EMREY,
Capt. C. B. B. C.

Harbor Springs, July 27, 1885.

R. A. EMREY, Capt. B. B. C., Charlevoix, Mich.—Dear Sir: We have never seen any rules governing the tournament, except such as expounded to us by Norton of Boyne City, and acquiesced in by your member of the committee, Emrey. According to the rules of said tournament, we had to play four games, and beat one club twice, to win the medal. Now our proposition is this and no other: If you want to play us a series of three games for the medal, best two in three, on our grounds, all right, and come on the 28th for first game. We can settle afterwards as to games with Boyne City.

Yours respectfully,

A. L. DEURE,
Capt. B. B. C.

In the light of the last game between Charlevoix and Harbor Springs this looks like a cowardly transaction on the part of the latter club. They are evidently afraid to play Charlevoix on anything like an equal footing. On July 16th Charlevoix wasted the forenoon in a wrangle with Boyne City, and after dinner defeated them, 23 to 9; and then, without any rest, without even a change of catcher or pitcher, played Harbor Springs (who were fresh, not having played Bellaire) and kept well ahead of them until the seventh inning, when Harbor Springs passed Charlevoix and took the medal by only one score, the Charlevoix pitcher's arm giving out so that he could not deliver the ball with his usual skill. The Harbor Springs club claim privately, we understand, that they were dictated to here, and now that they have the medal, propose to dictate all the games until they lose it. They evidently propose to make all the trouble and expense possible for the club that tries to win it.

From what we can learn, Harbor Springs dare not play Charlevoix again for the medal, but are doing all that is possible to comply with the terms of the tournament by first defeating two other clubs, and thus hold the medal by virtue of having won it three times in succession.

Special Order.

HEADQUARTERS BAXTER POST, No. 119, G. A. R.,
Charlevoix, Mich., Aug. 4, 1885.

All members of Baxter Post No. 119, G. A. R., are hereby notified to assemble at the Village Hall on Saturday, August 8, 1885, at 3 o'clock p. m., sharp, for the purpose of attending memorial services of our distinguished comrade, Ulysses S. Grant.

By order of E. H. GREEN,
Commander.

Attest:

FRANK SHAUDUT, Adjutant.

Proper Treatment for Coughs.

That the reader may fully understand what constitutes a good Cough Medicine, we will say that Tar and Wild Cherry is the best remedies yet discovered. These ingredients with several others equally as efficacious, enter largely into Dr. Bonsicke's Cough and Lung Syrup, making it one of the most reliable now on the market. Large Bottle, and $1.00. Sample free. Sold by G. W. Crouter. 2

THE JOURNAL

BY CHAS. J. STRANG.

CHARLEVOIX, - - MICHIGAN

NEWS CONDENSED.

Concise Record of the Week.

EASTERN.

Memorial services in honor of Gen. Grant were held in many cities and towns on Sunday. At Troy, the First Methodist Episcopal Church, in which the famous Democracy Wigwam is, and the pew which he used for many years were draped in black.——It is proposed to erect a monument to the memory of Gen. Grant in Lincoln Park, Chicago, at a cost of $50,000, of which amount Father Damen offers to contribute $5,000.——The first photo-from Grant's lock will, it is thought, expose those of any other lock ever bound. The photographers estimate that from $15,000 to $20,000 will be paid to Mrs. Grant for the first edition, and that she may receive nearly $100,000 altogether.——Chichester (N. Y.) dispatch: "The casket for Gen. Grant's remains was shipped from this city by express last Sunday. It is an elaborate affair, and was built from entirely original designs at an expense of over $1,000. At the solicitation of the public the manufacturers permitted it to be seen at their warerooms by crowds, it is estimated that 20,000 people visited the spot where it was exhibited, and there were many who had tears at the sight of the receptacle for the dead hero's remains."——St. Douglas lost in his possession the following remarkable document, which was written by Gen. Grant in the Indian's presence on Thursday, July 2:

I wish you to show this to any one, should I be taken from you, which will, until the end, dwell clearly. I have kept from my family, if I know myself, my condition, and get it, if possible, to the world, that I may live in the lives they about to inherit unfettered by a name I have made honorable, and by pride, which has grown out of the change my mind materially since I wrote you that I prescribed for you, however, I know that I am nearer my last days, but when I do go, it will be without a struggle, and I think the chances are very decidedly in favor of your being able to keep me alive until the change of weather toward winter, if during these six months better life is not sapped by what make you so very anxious. The power (disease) is there to-day, but I feel that life is still worth the fighting. I am very thankful for thankful that I was written, but scratched out, and thankful substituted, to have been spared this long, because it has enabled me to partly settle my affairs, and, in a way, which I look at with interest. I am not well enough to write it and make it intelligible, explanations that would suggest themselves to you and are not likely to suggest themselves to any one else. Under the above circumstances I feel it to be a great boon. The most pain I can avoid, the more I can do. I have no fear of death, but I am some people believe there is, I will develop itself. I would say, therefore, to you and your colleagues to make me as comfortable as you can. If I die within twelve months, I have to be sure extraordinary circumstances

THE JOURNAL,

BY CHAS. J. STRANG,

CHARLEVOIX, - MICHIGAN.

Notes and News.

Another evidence of the increasing healthfulness of commerce is the facts that the June receipts of breadstuffs at Chicago were 10 per cent larger than in 1884, and that the eastward shipments in the first half of the current year were the largest on record.

The New York Herald publishes the hopeful views of a large number of representative business men who see signs of "good times coming"—not with a sudden "boom," but with a "steady and sure advance." These men are republicans as well as democrats, and it is worthy of note that they agree, republicans and democrats alike, in giving credit to the "caution" and "conservatism" of President Cleveland as a contributory cause of this encouraging condition of things.

Last Saturday the Chicago Herald gave as a supplement a fac-simile of the famous wall-paper edition of the Vicksburg, Miss., Citizen, dated July 2, 1863, wherein Gen. Grant was advised that the way to cook a rabbit was "first catch the rabbit." At the bottom of the last column is a brief note, dated July 4th, 1863, stating that "Gen. Grant has caught the rabbit, he has dined in Vicksburg and he did bring his dinner with him," etc. By a singular coincidence, when the job of printing the supplements was given out in Chicago, the foreman of the job room which did the work was the same man who printed the original twenty-two years ago, and the Herald says "he fairly yelled with delight."

If you really wish the merchants of your market to grant you favors, grant them favors whenever the opportunity offers. How can you do this? By meeting all obligations honestly contracted as promptly as possible; paying them cash when you have it to pay, instead of buying with cash of peddlers and foreign dealers, who never trust or accommodate you, or who never care for any of your misfortunes as does the home merchant, who always meets you half way and who makes many of the burdens you bear easier, because knowing your misfortunes he sympathizes with you, extends your period of credit and only asks that you be manly and honest with him that you may merit his confidence and in return bestow upon him your patronage which he has a perfect right to expect. That man who arrogantly asserts that he will "buy just where it best pleases him," usually does so with the cash, but if you are just a little watchful you will discover that the same fellow always gets trusted "wherever he can," because of his irresponsibility his patronage is valueless, and also generally speaking, his influence in the community.—[Ovid Union.

The Public Debt.

Night and day, and every day in the year, says the Country Gentleman, we are lessening the debt $1400 a minute. This is about the rate at which the United States Government is paying off its indebtedness, and is hardly one-third as fast as during several previous years. But $1400 a minute amounts to only $42,560,000 annually, or scarcely 75 cents, during a whole year, for each of the inhabitants of our great country. The most of it, however, is paid by the wealthy, who do not feel it, and by a tax upon a few articles of luxury. But, were it equally divided, there are few who would not cheerfully contribute this small amount (75 cents) for the sake of sustaining the splendid reputation our country enjoys throughout the world as a prompt, honest, debt-paying people. The United States could now borrow money at a lower rate of interest than any other nation under the sun. There are several advantages in this. To name one: A nation's strength depends largely upon its ability to provide the "sinews of war," of which money is the greatest. Great Britain is strong, or from this cause from the actual number of fighting men she could raise among her own population proper. For this reason we are able to get along with almost no standing army or navy—barely enough to act as a police force and take care of the fortifications to save them from dilapidation, and to keep a corps of skilled officers in training for any emergency that might arise, commanding the sinews of a large force of civilian soldiers. Nearly every other nation has a large percentage of its able-bodied men in field or camp or fort or on shipboard, with another heavy percentage toiling to support those and the expenses they incur.

THE GRANT MEMORIALS.

List of the Presents and Tokens of Honor Transferred to the Government by Mrs. Grant.

The property which has been turned over to the Government by Mrs. Grant, who held it in trust from William H. Vanderbilt, is as follows:

Mexican onyx cabinet, presented to General Grant by the people of Pueblo, Mex.

Aerolite, part of which passed over Mexico in 1871.

Bronze vases presented to General Grant by the people of Yokohama, Japan.

Marble bust on pedestal, presented by workingmen of Philadelphia.

Large elephant tusk, presented by the King of Siam.

Small elephant tusk, presented by the Maharajah of Johanie.

Picture of General Scott, by Page, presented by gentlemen of New York.

Crockeryware bowls (very old), presented by Prince Kaon of China.

Cloisonne jars (old), presented by Li Hung Chang.

Chinese porcelain jars (old), presented by Prince Kaon of China.

Arabian Bible.

Coptic Bible, presented by Lord Napier, who captured it from King Theodore of Abyssinia.

Sporting rifle.

Sword of Donelson, presented to General Grant after the fall of Fort Donelson by officers of the army and used by him to the end of the war.

New York sword, voted to General Grant at a New York fair.

Roman lamp and pitcher.

Silver mem and card, farewell dinner of San Francisco, Cal.

Silver mem of Paris dinner.

Horn and silver snuff-box.

Silver match-box used by General Grant.

Gold table, modeled after the table in Mr. McLean's house, on which General R. E. Lee signed the articles of surrender, and presented to General Grant by ex-Confederate soldiers.

Gold cigar-cases from the Celestial and Second Kings of Siam.

Gold-handled knife, presented by miners of Idaho Territory.

Silver trowel, used by General Grant in laying the cornerstone of the Museum of Natural History, New York.

Knife made at Sheffield for General Grant.

General Grant's gold pen.

Embroidered picture (cock and hen), presented by citizens of Japan.

Field-glasses used by General Grant during the war.

Iron-headed cane made from the rebel ram Merrimac.

Silver-headed cane from wood used in defense of Fort Sumter.

Gold-headed cane, made out of wood from old Fort Duquesne, Pennsylvania.

Gold-headed cane presented in token of General Grant's humanity during the war.

Gold-headed cane used by Lafayette and presented by the ladies of Baltimore.

Carved-wood cane from estate of Sir Walter Scott.

Uniform as General of the United States army.

Fifteen buttons cut from coats during the war by Mrs. Grant after various battles.

Hat ornaments used at Belmont and Fort Donelson.

Shoulder-straps (Brigadier-General) worn by General Grant at Belmont, Fort Donelson and Shiloh, and straps of Lieutenant General cut from the coat used by General Grant in the campaigns against Richmond, Petersburg and Lee's army.

Medal (gold) from the American Congress for opening the Mississippi.

Gold medal from Philadelphia.

Forty-five medals in gold, silver and bronze.

Silk papers printed for General Grant. Collection of coins, Japanese. This is the only complete set, except one in the Japanese Treasury. Seven of these pieces cost $5,000." Presented by the Government of Japan.

Warrant as cadet at West Point and army commissions from Brevet Second Lieutenant to that of General of the United States army.

Papers and memorials, comprising addresses, honorary society commissions and resolutions of respect, as well as the freedom of cities presented abroad.

Rose Credie, one hundred and eight years old, living in Philadelphia, has been blind for twenty years. She has now her eyes opened, and has commenced cutting a new set of teeth.

J. C. Flood is building a magnificent house in San Francisco, one of the rooms of which is to be finished in ivory and gold at a fabulous cost.

CHANCERY SALE.

In pursuance and by virtue of an order and decree of the circuit court for the county of Charlevoix, in chancery, in the state of Michigan, made and dated the 28th day of February A. D. 1885, in a certain cause therein pending wherein Leslie Hood, complainant, vs. the estate of Frank Durga, deceased, Neil Barry, Ed. Graham, Louisa Durga, Cordelia E. Dickerson, John T. Collins and Julia Ann Durga, defendants.

Notice is hereby given that I shall sell at auction to the highest bidder at the front door of Lovesley's Hall, in the village of East Jordan, in the county of Charlevoix, and state of Michigan, that is the place of holding the circuit court in said county, on the hill day of September A. D. 1885, which is the place where and time when such court is to be held, so much of the real estate in said decree mentioned and described, or so much thereof as may be necessary to raise the amount due to the complainant herein for principal, interest and costs in said cause, of the following described premises, viz: Lots numbered one (1) and two (2) in block numbered one (1) in Durga's addition to said village of East Jordan, according to the recorded plat thereof, excepting forty acres of said premises so sold, and also excepting the south 20 feet of said premises, and also excepting 10 acres in the township of Evangeline, in the county of Charlevoix, and situated 30 miles.

Dated July 25th, A. D. 1885.

FRANK E. FOGG,
Circuit Court Commissioner,
for Charlevoix County, Michigan.

CROUSHANS & GRIFFIN,
Solicitors for Complainant.
Charlevoix, Michigan. 104-13

WM. J. STEVENSON,

HORSE-SHOEING,

Wagon Shop,

BLACKSMITHING, ETC.

Heavy Wagons on hand and made to order. I manufacture my own wagons, on which General, and WARRANT ALL WORK. Call and examine before buying elsewhere.

SHOP ONE BLOCK WEST OF CARPENTER, BARTHOLOMEW & CO.'S STORE, CHARLEVOIX.

☞The CELEBRATED MOWING MACHINE on hand and for sale. 14.

CASH FOR

FAT CATTLE,

Sheep and Hogs.

Having contracted to furnish Fresh Meats to the Charlevoix markets, this season, I will pay the highest market price for fat Cattle, Sheep, and Hogs.

A. J. McLEOD.

Charlevoix, May 20, 1885.

$100 REWARD

FOR

Every Ounce of Adulteration

IN THE

U. G. Soap

The Great 5c Cake,

Made only by

GOWANS & STOVER,

BUFFALO, N. Y.

For Sale by all First-class Grocers.

John Nicholls,

CHARLEVOIX, MICH.,

Manufacturer of and dealer in

MARDWOOD AND PINE

LUMBER!

ALSO

Dressed Lumber, Oar Blades,

WAGON TONGUES, SHINGLES, LATH, ETC.

LUMBER SAWED AND BILLS FILLED TO ORDER.

Photographs!

I have bought my

New Photograph Gallery

OVER

☞UPRIGHT, ♦EMREY♦ & CO. S♦STORE,☜

And am prepared to do

All Kinds of Photographic Work,

From the

Miniature Picture to Life Size

—

Any Old Picture Copied and Enlarged.

Satisfaction Guaranteed.

DAVE BRADSHER,
Charlevoix, Mich.

Cure for Piles.

Piles are frequently preceded by a sense of weight in the back, loins and lower part of the abdomen, with a dull pain, followed by more or less severe pain, blind, bleeding, protruding or piles. At times, symptoms of indigestion are present, flatulence, uneasiness of the stomach, etc. A sudden, like perspiration, producing a very disagreeable itching, after getting warm, is a common attendant. Blind, Bleeding and Itching Piles yield at once to the soothing, healing and medicinal properties of Dr. Schenck's Pile Remedy, which act directly upon the parts affected, absorbing the tumors, allaying the intense itching, and effecting a permanent cure. Price 50 cents. Sold by Geo. W. Crouter. 152

CHANCERY SALE.

In pursuance and by virtue of an order and decree of the circuit court for the county of Charlevoix, in chancery, in the state of Michigan, made and dated on the twenty-ninth day of May A. D. 1885, in a certain cause therein pending wherein Marion J. Myers is complainant, and and Andrew J. Hall, Sarah J. Hall, James Fox, Alson Mosselman and Mahanson L. Loveridge are defendants, notice is hereby given that I shall sell at public auction to the highest bidder at the front door of Lovesley's Hall in the village of East Jordan, in the county of Charlevoix, and state of Michigan, said hall being the place of holding the circuit court for said county, on Friday, the 28th day of August, A. D. 1885, at noon of said day, or so much thereof as may be necessary to raise the amount due to the complainant for principal of said mortgage, interest and costs in said cause, of the following described premises, viz: Lots numbered one (1) and two (2) in block numbered one (1) in Durga's addition to said village of East Jordan, according to the recorded plat thereof, excepting forty acres of said premises so sold, and also excepting the south 20 feet of said premises, and also excepting 10 acres in the township of Evangeline, in the county of Charlevoix, and situated 30 miles.

Dated July 25th, A. D. 1885.

FRANK E. FOGG,
Circuit Court Commissioner,
for Charlevoix County, Michigan.

CROUSHANS & GRIFFIN,
Solicitors for Complainant,
Charlevoix, Mich.

Good Goods and Low Prices

ARE

BOUND TO WIN

If you don't believe it, come and see my SPRING STOCK. You will see that I am up to the times in styles, and have as fine an assortment of MEN'S, YOUTH'S and CHILDREN'S SUITS, as you will find in any City. I defy any House to show any nicer line of NECK WEAR and

Furnishing Goods

My aim is to HOLD THE CLOTHING TRADE, by carrying a Large Stock so I can please you all. PRICES TALK. Come and see my Large Spring Stock before buying elsewhere.

GEO. W. MILLER.

GRAND

REGATTA

AND

FIELD GAMES,

AT CHARLEVOIX,

Friday, August 14th

Commencing at 1 p. m.

PROGRAMME:

	First Prize.	Second Prize.
SAILING RACE	$15 00	$10 00
ROWING RACE, TWO OARS	5 00	3 00
ROWING RACE, FOUR OARS	8 00	4 00
LADIES' RACE, FOUR OARS	8 00	4 00
TUB RACE	3 00	2 00
SWIMMING RACE	3 00	2 00
GREASED POLE	3 00	2 00
BOYS' ROWING RACE, under twelve, TWO OARS	3 00	2 00
INDIANS' FOOT RACE	3 00	2 00
MENS' FOOT RACE	5 00	3 00
BOYS' FOOT RACE	2 00	1 00
SACK RACE	2 00
WHEEL-BARROW RACE	2 00
HURDLE RACE	3 00	2 00
THREE LEGGED RACE	3 00
TUG OF WAR, FIVE ON A SIDE	5 00
STANDING JUMP	1 00
RUNNING JUMP	1 00
HOP-SKIP AND JUMP	1 00

Grand Display of Fireworks in the Evening.

The Harbor Springs Prize Band will be in Attendance.

Excursion Rates on G. R. & I. R. R. and on Hannah, Lay & Co.'s steamers, the Faxton and Grand Rapids, and on the steamers Friant, Gazelle, Clara Belle, and Nellie Booth.

No Race unless more than one entry.

For further particulars apply to

F. E. WALBRIDGE, Secretary.

HENRY C. COOPER

Undertaker!

CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN.

Coffins, Caskets, and Trimmings Always in Stock.

Come and See my Stock of Furniture.

THE JOURNAL

Charlevoix, Mich., August 6, 1885.

Provision Market.

Retail prices to consumers, corrected every Wednesday evening, by EMMERT, EMREY & CO., grocery dealers.

FLOUR, per bbl., $5.50, $6.00, and $6.40.
OAT MEAL, per cwt., bolted $2.00; unbolted $1.75.
HAY, per ton, baled $16; loose $15.
OATS, per bu., 35@40c.
GREEN FEED, per cwt., $1.00@1.50.
BARLEY, per cwt., 90c.
MIDDLINGS, per cwt., $1.00.
BRAN, per lb., 90c. New 80c.
BRAN, per lbs., $1.00@1.50.
CORN, per bu., 50@60c.
CORN MEAL, per lb., 1½@2c.
CRACKED CORN, 90c.
HAM, 12½c; Shoulders, 10c.
MESS PORK, per lb., Dry Salt, Sides, 9c.
SALT PORK, 8c.
MOLASSES, 70c.
COFFEE, per lb 12½c.
KEROSENE OIL—Water White 10c; Legal Test, 16c.
Farmers' produce in good demand.

Fresh and Cured Meats.

CORRECTED BY A. W. JEFFERIES.

BEEF—Steak 12@15c; Roast 10@12½; Stew 8c.
PORK—Steak 12½c; Roast 10c.
MUTTON—Chops 12½c.
LARD 10@12c.
SAUSAGE 12½c.
TALLOW 6@7c.

☞Now is the time your horses need efficient attention. To prevent the bad blood up the system you will find Parmelee's Condition Powders needed. Full pounds 25 cts. Sold by Dr. G. W. Crouter, Charlevoix, and Chester & Harris, Ironton. 82-13

☞Experienced sewing girls can get good board at Mrs. Jefferies' on reasonable terms. Inquire at Jefferies' Market, opposite Bridge Street House.

☞All orders by Telephone promptly delivered from Jefferies' Market.

☞Cedar and pine shingles for sale by Upright, Emrey & Co.

☞Kalamazoo celery at Jefferies' Market.

☞Best fresh butter at Jefferies' Market.

☞"Baseless Ham at Jefferies' Market.

Local Notes and News.

Stop thief!

Read the ten-cent column on eighth page.

Georgia Minstrels at opera house Saturday evening.

The Faxton had a glorious day for the excursion yesterday.

An interesting pole match at the rink last Saturday evening.

Hemmings and Hogan are painting Upright, Emrey & Co.'s store.

There was a large grove meeting last Sunday near Black's school house.

The Friant carried an excursion party from Petoskey to East Jordan on Tuesday.

The schooner Freedomy is receiving a cargo of lumber, shingles, etc., throughout.

A speckled trout 18 inches long was caught in a net at the mouth of the river last Saturday.

Wm. Morrison, of Ironton, aged 23, was drowned Saturday noon while bathing in Pine Lake.

Preaching at the M. E. church next Sunday morning at 10:30 o'clock by the pastor. All are invited.

The frame of A. D. Cruickshank's house was raised last week. It will make a fine appearance when finished.

While coming out of Horton's Bay yesterday, the Clara Belle broke her main shaft, and is now laid up for repairs.

The excursion season is fully opened, and those who cannot find some good place out of the many are indeed hard to please.

Grand memorial service at M. E. church Sunday evening. Ordination, resolutions, and reminiscences. All are invited.

The Faxton, Friant, and Clara Belle will run excursions from Charlevoix, East Jordan, and Bayne City to Petoskey last Sunday.

There was a small fire in the Cliff House, Petoskey, Sunday night, but the damage did not reach over two or three hundred dollars.

East Jordan is elated over the prospects of another large saw mill in the near future, with a lumber railroad connecting with Intermediate Lake.

The Georgia Minstrels at opera house Saturday evening are not jubilee singers, but genuine colored minstrels, and come well recommended.

The W. C. T. U. will hold their regular meeting on Friday at 3 p. m. at the home of Mrs. J. A. Hawkins, on Clinton street. All are cordially invited.

The public generally are invited to be present at the village hall Saturday afternoon, and take part in the memorial service in honor of Gen. Grant.

The fourth blossom of night blooming cereus at Mr. W. E. Brown's opened last Saturday evening, and was watched by many people who never saw one before.

O. W. Smith cut and polished for E. A. Spaulding, a quartz crystal over two inches in diameter, picked up in Colorado, which on the inside is clearer than the finest glass.

The annual convention of the Charlevoix county Sunday school association will be held in Charlevoix, on Wednesday, Aug. 19, 1885. The program will be published next week.

Attention is called to an advertisement on fourth page of a regatta to be held in Charlevoix on Friday, Aug. 14th. The matter was received at this office too late for any extended notice this week.

Those fond of legerdemain assert that Prof. Harvey is the best they ever saw; that in some of his tricks it does not seem possible for a man to work the lightning changes without supernatural aid.

Last Thursday, W. A. Barnham, of Irvington-on-the-Hudson, New York, and John Shrier, of Charlevoix, caught 110 trout in McGeogh's creek, in size from one-half pound to one and one-fourth pound each.

While working on the cupola of Cruicks-hank's house last Saturday, J. T. Kirkpatrick stepped on a short piece of board and barely escaped falling to the ground a distance of about 45 feet. He saved himself, but was somewhat bruised and lamed.

Tuesday was a cold day. Extra clothing and fires were a necessity. The strong wind and heavy sea from the northwest interfered with the usual running of steamers. Wednesday morning was again bright and pleasant.

Lansing Journal: The Charlevoix Journal has completed its second year, and has every indication of a prosperous career. Chas. J. Strang, the publisher, was for several years a member of the Journal force. He is bright and enterprising and deserves the success he is having.

Miss May Papineau arranged a picnic and school exhibition in union with the Sunday-school in the district, which was held on Pine Lake three miles east of Ironton last Friday. Rev. C. F. Van Auken addressed both schools. A fine dinner was spread, which, with the exercises and excellent arrangements, made the day a great success.

This is weather when every housekeeper and householder should constitute herself and himself a smelling committee of one to see that all the surroundings and belongings of house, store, shop, alley, front yard, back yard, barn and stable are sweet and clean as they can be made. A foul smell is nature's danger signal. Disease and cleanliness are sworn enemies. Given everywhere and to everybody pure air, pure water, pure food and temperance in eating and drinking, and the world would be far back on its way to the days when life was prolonged into centuries instead of decades.

Last week we mentioned that the brick used by W. P. Brown for the wall of his bank building were from W. H. Healey's yard at East Jordan. We have been informed that most of the brick in town are from the same place, recent new buildings being the opera block, Odd Fellows hall, village hall, besides a great number of chimneys, etc. Mr. Healey says he cannot and will not furnish what is known as cheap brick, but he does claim to furnish a better article for the money than any other man in this region. It is easy to find numerous instances of the folly of buying cheap materials. It don't pay. Before buying from outside parties, examine Mr. Healey's work.

The wrecking schooner Experiment was in port this week with a lot of chains, anchors, etc. There were two large anchors, one weighing about 3,000 pounds, to which was attached a 75-fathom, 1¼ inch chain, and another weighed a little over 1,700 pounds. All together she had over 12 tons of chains, over two tons of anchors, besides a lot of broken pieces of an chinery, etc.

Last Friday an interesting time was had at the Black school house in Marion. The occasion was the closing exercises of Miss Gladys Jefferies' school, which were extended beyond the usual limits of a school picnic. The whole community turned out, 200 strong, for a day of pleasure and feasting. The Sunday school took part in an organization, and the management of the exercises fell upon Miss Jefferies as teacher of the day school, and John Ward as superintendent of the Sunday school. Addresses were made by Mr. Black on the part of the day school, and by Rev. J. T. Iddings for the Sunday school. An excellent musical program was arranged, and interspersed throughout the exercises. The dinner was not simply a basket picnic but an abundance of provisions were spread on long tables. All were satisfied, and a great quantity remained. After dinner a variety of games and races were indulged in, including a women's race of ten rods for a pitcher. The day was pronounced a great success.

A Fatal Assault.

For a long time past our citizens have been frequently regaled with stories of drunken quarrels and unprovoked assaults upon Indians,—both men and women. Last Saturday night this business reached a culminating point, resulting in the death of Geo. Optegocie, and the severe bruising of his wife.

Sunday morning report was received in town that the body of an Indian lay dead at the roadside about a mile from Charlevoix, on the State road. Justice McLeod summoned a jury, proceeded to the spot, and held an inquest. Dr. Carlstein examined the body, finding a bruise on the left cheek, another on the left breast, and the neck broken. The inquest was then adjourned to Monday morning.

It seems that the deceased lived near J. A. Bacon's, on the north shore of Pine Lake; he had been in Charlevoix during the afternoon, and had gone to Alma Mackinaw during the evening. About midnight, he and his wife and boy, and another Indian started for home. At the State road at the foot of the hill near Mr. Colby's, they were met by a party in a buggy, who asked if there was a dance at Mickswaby's. The reply was that there was not. A few words followed, and suddenly began to throw stones. Optegozie was knocked down, and probably broke his neck in the fall. His wife was knocked down with a stone which cut a long, deep gash over her right temple and ear. The other Indian and the boy escaped,—whether with or without bruises, we have not learned.

Information was given by a son of Mr. Colby, who witnessed the transaction, which led to the arrest of Frank Durga, Neil Barry, Ed. Graham and Wm. Moore. The date of examination was fixed for Wednesday afternoon, and is still in progress.

Charlevoix cannot afford to let this crime go unpublished. It is a stain on the fair name of the village. We have had enough, and more than enough of this sort of business. Will it now be stopped? Will the author lines give the offenders such punishment as will forever put a stop to it here?

Annual Report of Capt. Lockwood.

WASHINGTON, July 31.—Capt. D. W. Lockwood, Corps of Engineers, has submitted his annual report to Gen. Newton on the improvement of harbor on Lake Michigan.

The sum of $62,225 has been expended on the improvement of Charlevoix Harbor and entrance to Pine Lake, Mich., leaving $2,932 available. It is estimated that $50,000 can be profitably expended during the next fiscal year in extending the south pier 300 feet and in completing the work already in progress. Capt. Lockwood estimates that $115,000 is required to complete the work.

J. L. HURD & CO.'S

SPECIAL SALES

Still Continue.

First Invoice of Spring Dry Goods Just Received.

MAYFLOWER TEA,

Our own Importation, and Guaranteed Absolutely Pure.

J. L. HURD & CO.

Successors to Amos Fox.

All the Latest Popular

SHEET MUSIC

May be obtained of

F. G. HINES & CO.,

Druggists and Stationers.

An Evening of Fun.

The pine Canessian may as well read his doom. The burnt cork and counterfeit colored brother cannot long hold his own on the stage of negro minstrelsy against such simon-pure artists as those in the Famous Georgia Minstrels, who gave delight to a large audience in the opera house last evening. The objection to minstrelsy selected from the colored people for professional service heretofore has been that they had not the intelligence to make them competent to compete with the white minstrels. But the company that played last night in Detroit, has made up the deficiency and took hold of its work in a masterly fashion. We have not space to extend our comments on the performances of the Georgia Minstrels, but it was first-class, and the audience was made to laugh heartily and applaud roundly all the way through.—Detroit Free Press.

Real Estate Transfers.

The following is a list of transfers of real estate in Charlevoix county, as recorded in the office of register of deeds, for the week ending Tuesday evening:

Henry Symes and wife to Julia A. Bisbisch, n ½ of s w ¼ sec 4 and s e ¼ sec 5, 80 ac. Wm. H. Seward with to same, 31 acs, lot 10, 50 ft. Nehemiah Smith to village of South Lake, $400.

Wm. Tupe and wife to Chauncey Horne, pt. s ½ of s ½ of s w ¼ of s ½ sec 4, 40 ac.

F. L. Allison to Mary Allison, w ½ of s w ¼ sec 28, $1,200.

Wm. M. Hood and wife to A. E. Upright, n ½ of s w ¼ sec 7, $300.

Harriet L. Clifford to John Bell, lot 16, Clifford's addition to village of Charlevoix, $25.

F. H. Shaw and wife to F. H. Penny, w ½ of s w ¼, 20 ac.

United States to S. H. Hensley, n ½ 24-34, patent.

Shipments.

The following are the clearances from the port of Charlevoix as reported for the week ending Wednesday evening:

July 30—Schr. Morning Star, 320 cords bark, W. L. French, to Kenosha.

30—Schr. Helenite, 93 cords bark, A. Fox, to Milwaukee.

31—Schr. Antelope, 75,000 feet hardwood lumber, Gibson & Porter, to Chicago.

Aug. 1—Schr. Evening Star, 100,000 feet hardwood lumber and 120 cords bark, H. Buchanan, to Manistee.

1—Schr. Surprise, 100 cords wood, J. C. Schmidt, to Milwaukee.

1—Schr. T. W. Smith, 69 cords bark, Carpenter, Bartholomew & Co., to Milwaukee.

1—Schr. Sarah Wagner, 90 cords bark, J. H. Penn, to Chicago.

WHY LONGER GROAN

With pain and lug the delusion that nothing can give you relief. There is a remedy that is greatly prized for the relief of the afflicted. It relieves pains and aches in all forms, stimulates the digestive apparatus to move perfectly do its work, so you will not be suffering with dyspepsia and the long list of ills, the results of disordered digestion, dysentery, cholera and cramps. It is Hamilton's Jamaica Ginger Tonic and Pain Cure. In rheumatism, neuralgia, sciatica, bruises, sprains, &c., applied externally it is excellent. Price 25 and 50 cents per bottle.

Sold by Dr. G. W. Crouter, Charlevoix, and Crouter & Harris, Ironton.

PILES

In all of the various forms are constant companions of the human race and produce the utmost suffering and cause many a person to commit suicide if not suicide. In blind, bleeding, itching piles, internal or external immediate relief can be obtained by faithful use of Parmelee's Pile Suppositories with hot water. Never known to fail. Warranted to cure. Price 50 cents per box.

Sold by Dr. G. W. Crouter, Charlevoix, and Crouter & Harris, Ironton.

SPREAD THE GOOD NEWS

Dead let every one know the benefits to be derived from the use of Parmelee's Blood Purifier. It thoroughly cleanses the system from all humors. It is a sure cure for scrofula, erysipelas, chronic sores, tumors, salt rheum, and all diseases indicating an impure condition of the blood. Price $1.00 per bottle.

Sold by Dr. G. W. Crouter, Charlevoix, and Crouter & Harris, Ironton.

The Grand Rapids

Daily Democrat,

The Leading Newspaper of Western Michigan.

ENLARGED AND IMPROVED.

Sent by mail at 50 cents per month.

C. R. BELLINGER

Has a large stock of

New Jewelry and Silverware

(GOLD AND PLATED)

Pins, Charms, and Chains,

In all the latest styles.

Watches, Clocks, and Optical Goods.

New style of Spectacles. Pin first received.

Sewing Machine Oil kept in stock.

GET THE BEST

If your druggist sells a cheap, tasteless, worthless article, ask him why he does it and if he can't make more profit on it than on the genuine. Dyspepsia Bitters is sold at 75 cents per bottle, 6 bottles for $4, or sent by express on receipt of $5 per bottle. Address

The Charlevoix Journal,

CHARLEVOIX, MICH.

THIS PAPER may be found on file at Geo. P. Rowell & Co.'s Newspaper Advertising Bureau (10 Spruce St.), where Advertising Contracts may be made for it IN NEW YORK.

COMMON THINGS.

OH, THE RAPTOR in our vision
Takes the common form of things;
It, in the commonness of things,
Why, a highest wisdom brings
In Nature's ever lapse,
If our ears but ever wings.

'Tis a necessary function
Of the soul, to see, hear and sense,
Instead of the life of mind
Indeed which we hear, a sense,
Which when we make it music
In the complicated bind.

'Tis the mixture of the mystery
Of the universe, green,
And the earth and the sea,
Sense that all things are relations,
Throw life's manifestations
Till there's no place have love.

Love, laughter, even sorrow,
Tangle them with the tissue of sinew,
For the joy is joy and
Sorrow sorrow indeed,
Flesh is blood and tears, for blood,
Life, but they generates.
—Philip James Bailey, in his Festus.

SHIFTLESS SETH.

BY MORRIS REDDING.

It was a humble cabin that stood on the lonely hillside, with the stumps of the great trees lying athwart the roof. Sometimes the smoking damsel on the rippling waters of the creek, rendering its serpentine course quite with sparkling beauty.

A pleasant spot indeed had Conrad Baker chosen for a home. Every day, with his pretty wife's kiss lingering on his lips, he trod the woodland path to the sawmill three miles away, where he earned good wages which he hoped would, within a year, grow to sufficient proportions to complete the payment on his homestead.

All the day long sweet Nettie Baker sang about the house, or in the shadows of the wood, as gay and lithe of spirit as a young and happy heart could well be. And she was happy. Less than a year married, Conrad and she had yet to have their first quarrel. From a home in model settled farming country to this cabin in the wilderness was a radical change indeed, yet one that pleased rather than disconcerted the ever cheerful Nettie.

One day, late in the afternoon, Nettie tripped down the path leading to the spring that bubbled from the bank above the creek. In one hand she carried a tin pail, while a merry tune passed from her lips, and was wafted away on the summer breeze.

As she bent above the waters of the spring her smiling lips became unlike, lip compressed, and a deadly pallor stole into her cheeks. Beside her own face reflected there was another, the coarse visage of a man.

For an instant Nettie's heart ceased its beating, and a cold chill stole down her spine. With a mighty effort of will she crushed down her fears, stepped back from the spring, and glanced upward into the face of the man who crouched on the bank above the babbling water.

"Such things, what are you doing here?" cried Nettie Baker, in a sharp voice, tingued with unmistakable resentment.

The man struggled to his feet and quickly lowered himself into the path, standing in an awkward attitude before the young pioneer's wife. He was below the medium height, yet possessed unusual physical development. His shoulders were square and massive, heavy neck betokened great strength.

With this remarkable physical development went a low order of intellect, as one could see at a glance into the face, with its low forehead, sunken, heavy black eyes, and blank expression generally.

Seth Bragg, or Shiftless Seth, as he was generally termed, had been an employee in the lumber camp where Conrad Baker worked, but his dislike of anything approaching bodily exertion soon caused his discharge, and he was left to seek his fortune elsewhere.

Nettie has met the man several times. She did not like him, but until this moment had not feared the shiftless loafer.

"What am I doin' here? Mebbe I might ask you the same question. If I should, what would you say, Mis' Baker?"

His eyes twinkled, and fixed themselves with an intense glow on the face of Nettie Baker.

"You can see why I am here," and Nettie held up her pail.

"After water, eh? Wal, git it, and go back to the house, then I've got somethin' to tell yo."

With a little of the fear in her heart gone out Nettie stooped and filled her pail, and started to the stream. Bragg offered to carry the water, but she refused the proffer and hurried on in silence. Upon at the house she felt less fear of Shiftless Seth.

He did not sit down, but leaned against the back of a chair, climbing and swinging it about with his huge hand, while his beady eyes watched every movement of the pioneer's pretty wife with a hungry glow that pleased to contemplate.

"Mis' Baker, I've got heard the news."

"Seth Bragg

Charlevoix and East Jordan.

Steamer GAZELLE—Capt. Robert G. Ness.

Morning—Leave Charlevoix 8.00, arrive East Jordan 8.30; leave East Jordan 9.00, arrive Charlevoix 9.30. Afternoon—Leave Charlevoix 4.00, arrive East Jordan 4.30; leave East Jordan 5.00, arrive Charlevoix 5.30. Stopping at intermediate points.

Harbor Springs, Petoskey, Charlevoix and East Jordan.

STEAMER THOMAS PRIANT.

CAPT. E. VANSNIDER.

Morning—Leave Harbor Springs 7.00, Petoskey 8.00, Charlevoix 9.30, arrive East Jordan 11.00. Afternoon—Leave East Jordan 1.00, Charlevoix 2.30, Petoskey 3.30, arrive at Harbor Springs 4.30.

Connections at Petoskey with G. R. & I. R. R. Trains north and south.

Hannah, Lay & Co.'s Pleasure Steamers.

SEASON OF 1885

CITY OF GRAND RAPIDS.

CAPT. O. E. WEIGER.

Going North—Leave Grand Rapids 7.00 a.m., Grand Haven 9.20, Muskegon 11.00, Ludington 1.45, Manistee 4.30, Frankfort 6.45, Northport 8.20, arrive at Traverse City 9.00.

Going South—Leave Traverse City 7.00 a.m., Northport 8.20, Frankfort 9.45, Manistee 11.00, Ludington 1.45, Muskegon 4.30, arrive at Grand Rapids 6.45.

T. S. FAXTON,

CAPT. A. J. ALDRICH.

Going South—Leave Harbor Springs 7.00 a.m., Petoskey 8.00, Charlevoix 9.45, East Jordan 10.30, Northport 11.00, arrive at Traverse City 12.00 m.

Going North—Leave Traverse City 2.00 p.m., Northport 3.00, Charlevoix 4.45, East Jordan 5.30, Petoskey 6.30, arrive at Harbor Springs 7.30.

GOOD CONNECTIONS will be made at Traverse City and Petoskey with both day and night lines on the G. R. & I. R. R. Leave Charlevoix on Monday morning and return the following evening. This vessel does connect at Petoskey with the Mackinaw Division of the C. & W. M. R. R. for Mackinaw, Cheboygan, Bay Shore, Pellston, Alanson and Harbor Springs.

J. VAN ANDEL, GEN'L AGT., GRAND RAPIDS.

GEO. ADAMS, AGT., CHARLEVOIX.

Grand Rapids & Indiana R. R.

Time Table in effect June 21, 1885.

GOING NORTH.

STATIONS.	No. 1	No. 3	No. 5	No. 7
Cincinnati, Lv	.....	2 40am	7 40pm	.....
Fort Wayne, Ar	6 20pm	5 20am	1 20am	4 00pm
Fort Wayne, Lv	.....	4 20	1 30	4 05
Kalamazoo, "	7 30am	7 50	4 00	6 20pm
Battle Creek, "	8 20	8 00	4 30	7 15
Grand Rapids, Ar	11 30	9 40	7 00	9 45
Grand Rapids, Lv	11 40	11 35	7 20	9 50
Ionia, "	12 26pm	12 20am	8 05	10 35
Big Rapids, "	1 47	1 44	9 40	1 14
Reed City, "	2 05	1 54	10 11	1 42
Cadillac, "	2 42	2 27	11 19	.....
Traverse City, "	4 40	5 25	2 45	5 00pm
Wexford, "	4 56	5 40	3 12pm	.....
Kalkaska, "	5 24	6 10	3 40	.....
Mancelona, "	5 35	6 25	3 55	.....
Petoskey, "	6 15	7 15	4 45	.....
Harbor Springs, "	7 05	8 05	5 35	.....
Mackinaw City, "	8 00	9 00	6 40	.....

GOING SOUTH.

STATIONS.	No. 2	No. 6	No. 8	No. 4
Mackinaw City, Lv	8 30am	8 00am	.....	1 00pm
Harbor Springs, "	9 47	9 25	.....	2 22
Petoskey, "	10 25	10 05	.....	3 00
Mancelona, "	11 26	10 59	.....	3 54
Kalkaska, "	11 54	11 18	.....	4 22
Wexford, "	12 20pm	12 00pm	.....	4 45
Cadillac, Ar	1 37	2 30	.....	6 10
Cadillac, Lv	1 50	2 32	5 20am	6 20
Reed City, "	2 26	3 06	6 00	7 00
Big Rapids, "	2 50	3 32	6 35	7 35
Ionia, "	3 39	4 20	7 18	8 22
Grand Rapids, Ar	4 15	5 00	8 00	9 00
Grand Rapids, Lv	4 25	5 05	10 15	9 05
Battle Creek, "	5 05	5 45	11 00	9 45
Kalamazoo, "	5 40	6 20	11 40	10 20
Fort Wayne, Ar	12 40am	11 50	.....	5 35
Fort Wayne, Lv	1 00	12 00am	5 30am	5 50
Cincinnati, "	7 00pm	7 20am	12 20pm	.....

C. L. LOCKWOOD, G. P. Agent, Grand Rapids, Mich.

ERRORS OF YOUTH

A GENTLEMAN who suffered for years from Nervous Debility, Premature Decay and all the effects of youthful indiscretion, will, for the sake of suffering humanity, send free to all who need it, the recipe and direction for making the simple remedy by which he was cured. Sufferers can do so by addressing the advertiser's experience, JOHN B. OGDEN, 42 Cedar St., New York.

RUPTURE CURED by our Astringent Lotion. Sure Safe; sure cure. Send stamp for book. PERY & CO., 36 4th Ave., New York 5

TEN CENTS.

Advertisements not exceeding three lines will be inserted in this column for ten cents per week. Each additional line, three cents. Displayed cards $1.00 each per inch per month.

BOTTOM PRICES for Poster printing at this office. The best work for the least money.

BUTTER STAMPS Stamps of all descriptions for sale at this office. Wood and pocket, in all sizes. Cheap at Herald Office.

MORTGAGE NOTES kept on hand or printed to order on short notice at this office.

FARM FOR SALE.

One hundred acres of the best farming land, good buildings, about 40 acres fence, within one mile from Charlevoix. Price low for cash. For further particulars inquire at this office.

STRAYED OR STOLEN

A large, dark red, brindle-faced cow, has large horns. Anyone returning her to me, or giving information where she may be found, will be liberally rewarded.

RICHARD COOPER.

At Ferdinand's City House, Charlevoix.

For Sale, at a Bargain.

We will sell our

Ten-Horse Power Combination Thresher,

Complete. Set apart need for good clover, if the required security is given. For particulars inquire of or address

CHARLES & LOREN HAMLIN,

1884 Eaglesmere, Pa.

Boats to Rent.

Fine Row and Sail Boats to Rent by the Hour, Day or Week. Boats carefully attended to. Special rates to parties and Pleasure Parties.

RED BOAT HOUSE,

Near Charlevoix Summer Resort.

F. W. WILCOX.

FOR SALE.

The place known as

THE BEATTIE FARM

Near McGeagh's Mill.

For particulars inquire at the office of

J. MILO EATON.

MRS. R. TOULOUSE,

Manufacturer and dealer in

ICE CREAM

Fruits, Confectionery,

SODA WATER, LEMONADE, GINGER ALE, ROOT BEER, ETC.

CHARLEVOIX, MICH.

JAMES HEMMINGS,

Upright & Brilliant Addition,

Charlevoix,

HOUSE PAINTER,

Calciminer,

Paper Hanger,

And Decorator.

FINE AND HARDWOOD FINISHING. GOOD WORK.

"Facts to be Remembered."

NIMROD PLUG TOBACCO

IS the BEST CHEW, the GREATEST SELLER, and more used than any other plug in the Seals. NIMROD CUT, SMOKING TOBACCO IS THE BEST AND NEVER SWELLS, GIVES GOOD SAY. NIMROD TWIST IS THE BEST AND MOST CONVENIENT TWIST OF TOBACCO. Try Nimrod and you will use no other. Ask your dealer for Nimrod. Take no other brand of Tobacco. For sale by all jobbers and retailers.

S. W. VENABLE & CO.

Petersburg, Va.

TO CONSUMPTIVES.

The advertiser having been permanently cured of that dread disease, Consumption, by a simple remedy is anxious to make known to his fellow-sufferers the means of cure. To all who desire it, he will send a copy of the prescription used, (which will cost nothing and may prove a blessing to some who may read it) free of charge. To those who desire it, he will send the prescription, with directions for preparing and using the same, which they will find a sure Cure for Coughs, Colds, Consumption, Asthma, Bronchitis, etc. Patients wishing the Prescription, will please address, Rev. R. A. WILSON, 164 Penn St., Williamsburg, N. Y.

A PRESENT.

Our readers for 12 cents in postage stamps (to pay for mailing and wrapping, and comply with Postal laws, will receive Queen Stock Cards, Gilt Edge, Fringed, Hidden Name, including Chromo, and agent's outfit 10c. Address Globe Pub. Co., Chicago, Ill.

Cancer Cured by Compound Oxygen. Treatise on Cancer free. Address Drs. Starkey & Palen, 1109 Girard St., Philadelphia, Pa.

Vision fully restored. Cataracts, Scums, Pterygia, Foreign Bodies removed. Address Drs. Starkey & Palen, 1109 Girard St., Philadelphia, Pa.

Cancer Cured by Compound Oxygen. Treatise on Cancer free. Address Drs. Starkey & Palen, 1109 Girard St., Philadelphia, Pa.

Catarrh Cured by Compound Oxygen. Treatise on Catarrh free. Address Drs. Starkey & Palen, 1109 Girard St., Philadelphia, Pa.

Consumption Cured by Compound Oxygen. Treatise on Consumption free. Address Drs. Starkey & Palen, 1109 Girard St., Philadelphia, Pa.

Asthma Cured by Compound Oxygen. Treatise on Asthma free. Address Drs. Starkey & Palen, 1109 Girard St., Philadelphia, Pa.

Paralysis Cured by Compound Oxygen. Treatise on Paralysis free. Address Drs. Starkey & Palen, 1109 Girard St., Philadelphia, Pa.

Neuralgia Cured by Compound Oxygen. Treatise on Neuralgia free. Address Drs. Starkey & Palen, 1109 Girard St., Philadelphia, Pa.

Dyspepsia Cured by Compound Oxygen. Treatise on Dyspepsia free. Address Drs. Starkey & Palen, 1109 Girard St., Philadelphia, Pa.

Nervous Debility Cured by Compound Oxygen. Treatise on Nervous Debility free. Address Drs. Starkey & Palen, 1109 Girard St., Philadelphia, Pa.

Chronic Diseases Cured by Compound Oxygen. Treatise on Chronic Diseases free. Address Drs. Starkey & Palen, 1109 Girard St., Philadelphia, Pa.

Compound Oxygen is administered by Drs. Starkey & Palen at their Home, 1109 Girard St., Philadelphia, Pa. Patients treated at a distance by correspondence. Send for Treatise, Testimonials and Reasons.

Established Fifty-five Years.

RAVEN & BACON,

NEW YORK.

RAVEN PIANOS,

13 East 16th street, New York City.

BUY FROM THE MANUFACTURER AND SAVE 50 PER CENT.

These Pianos are made from the best material, finished in the best manner, and bear to every purchaser the stamp of a house which has been 55 YEARS IN THE PIANO BUSINESS, and which for the past Forty Years, Every piano guaranteed for six years, and the purchaser allowed fourteen months to thoroughly test the instrument, and if not satisfactory, return it. Look at these and other prices and send for Descriptive Catalogue before buying elsewhere.

No. 1, Upright or Square,	$250, worth $400
No. 2, " "	200, "	500
No. 3, " "	200, "	500

ALL 7 1-3 OCTAVES.

WOOD WANTED.

Two or three loads of good block wood wanted at this office immediately.

OLD NEWSPAPERS FOR SALE

Temperance Column.

Conducted by a Committee of the W. C. T. U.

Officers of the Society.

President—Mrs. C. V. Cook.
First Vice President—Mrs. L. E. Allen.
Second Vice President—Mrs. E. F. Iddings.
Third Vice President—Mrs. G. F. Cooper.
Corresponding Secretary—Miss Ella Lansing.
Recording Secretary—Mrs. E. Sutfield.
Treasurer—Mrs. C. J. Strang.

PLAIN COLD WATER.

At an annual dinner of the Royal College of Physicians, Edinburgh, instead of sing songs as "Here's Green Sparkle on the Board," or "While Round a Pack e Mull," the following ditty was sung:

Air—"Love's Young Dream."

Of the days are gone when Cheer bright
Inspired my strain,
When I sang on every festive night
A toast Champagne.
Prime—"Thirty four"
In floods may pour,
Aye glasses gaily clatter,
But there's nothing half so safe to drink
As plain cold water.

Though the bard may make a greater noise
Over his wine
When with other bacchanalian boys
He chanses to dine,
Yet if he wake
With a headache,
And wonders what's the matter,
He learns there's nought so sure to drink
As plain cold water.

Thus to be, Hassall, he proclaims
That water's hall
Of curious powers with curious names,
In every pool.
Now you will see
That this must be
A most important matter;
For it's clear there's meat as well as drink
In plain cold water.

Professor Clark of Aberdeen
Says chalk is there,
And Monsieur Charles, boline
Floats everywhere.
If this be true
It's clear to you
It's just we need the better,
For there's meat and drink and physic, too,
In plain cold water.

So if your health you would keep good,
With wine have done,
And like that wise man, with your food
Drink water alone.
Alone be drives,
And well he thrives,
And every day grows fatter,
Which shows that folk can live quite well
On plain cold water.

—Irish World.

Immoral Literature.

A people's standard of intelligence and morality is invariably regulated by the standard of their literature. If of a low, trifling, immoral type, such will be the character of the people among whom it circulates. All history, experience and observation demonstrates this fact. It is to be found in the rise and fall of men and parties, nations and dynasties. Deprive a people of their literature and they degenerate into barbarism. Limit them to immoral literature, and delinchery and crime are sure to overtake them sooner or later.

It costs more to feed a people on sound philosophy draped in proper language, than it does to surfeit them with cheap romance adorned in rags and polluted with filth. But another objector replies that the public taste requires such literature, and the papers would not sell without it. If this be true, it simply proves that the public taste is perverted and public reform is seriously demanded. The pernicious influence of this standard literature may not be so readily detected in the adult population as among the youth. In the one case character is formed and habits are fixed, while in the other character is in process of formation and habits may be changed and improved. If the family table or library is loaded with indecent literature as Peck's Sun, the New York Ledger, the Day's Doings, the Police Gazette, and Buffalo Bill sensational trash, the youth of the country are not to be blamed if they grow up to be desperadoes and land in the penitentiary or on the gallows. Censure belongs not to the wrong doers, but to the parents or guardians who placed such temptations in their way. There is a prevailing tendency to ignore the wholesome restraints which characterized the culture of children at an earlier period in our history, and the increase of crime in our land is largely attributable to this neglect in the education of children. No feature of domestic discipline should be more scrupulously guarded than that which limits the selection of family literature to such papers and books as profess a sound, healthy, moral, social and political influence on the youth.—Iowa Review.

Farmers and Mechanics.

Save money and doctor bills. Relieve your Mothers, Wives and Sisters in a timely purchase of Dr. Bonsack's Cough and Lung Syrup, best known remedy for Coughs, Colds, Croup and bronchial affections. Relieves Children of Croup in one night, may save you hundreds of dollars. Three doses, and $1.00. Samples free. Sold by G. W. Crouter. 2

J. MILO EATON,

DEALER IN

Real Estate

OF ALL KINDS.

Houses and Lots for Sale

IN THE MOST DESIRABLE PARTS OF CHARLEVOIX.

WILD LANDS AND IMPROVED FARMS

FOR SALE IN ALL PARTS OF THE COUNTY.

Abstracts of Title Furnished on Short Notice.

OFFICE ON BRIDGE STREET. ESTABLISHED IN 1875.

PINE LAKE IRON COMPANY

Ironton, Mich.,

Are Full in all kinds of General Merchandise.

HURRAH for GOOD TIMES

Everything Booming

AT E. M. CLARK'S

Where he has a Lively Trade in

Dry Goods, Groceries, Boots and Shoes, Clothing, &c.

When you get the blues, just call around and see with what dispatch everything is done, where Pork, Eggs, Butter, &c., is taken in exchange for Goods.

E. M. Clark

I have purchased the Meat business of Armstrong & Co., and will continue at the old stand, with the freshest and best goods in the market.

T. E. CHAMBERLIN.

HEAR YE! HEAR YE!

I have purchased the Stock of

Drugs, Chemicals,

STATIONERY FISHING TACKLE, ETC.

of O. B. WEED & CO., and will continue the business at the old stand. I shall aim to so conduct the business as to merit a share of your favors. When in need of anything in my line, call and examine my stock and ask my prices.

PERRY WEED, DRUGGIST,

Successor to O. B. Weed & Co.

OPERA BLOCK, CHARLEVOIX, MICH.

GARLAND STOVES & RANGES

KEEP YOUR EYE ON THE Right Place

For Bargains in Hardware,

Iron, Cutlery, Tin ware, Stoves, Implements, Fixtures, Pumps, Grindstones, Wagons, Buggies, Carts, Wheelbarrows, Refrigerators, Doors, Sash

PAINTS Oils, Varnishes, Putty, Glass, Fence wire, Farm bells

Guns, Ammunition, Spoons, Forks, LAMPS, Baskets, Measures, Tubs, Wooden ware, Rope, Fisherman's Supplies, and Ship chandlery, Job and Tin work.

Carpenter's tools, Notions, Fishing tackle, Revolvers,

L. D. BARTHOLOMEW & CO.

THE CHARLEVOIX JOURNAL.

NUMBER 109. CHARLEVOIX, MICH.: THURSDAY, AUGUST 13, 1885. $1.50 PER YEAR.

THE JOURNAL

Published every Thursday,

BY CHAS. J. STRANG.

Office on Bridge Street,

CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN

ENTERED AT THE POSTOFFICE AT CHARLEVOIX, MICH. AS SECOND CLASS MATTER.

BUSINESS DIRECTORY.

ATTORNEYS.

ARTHUR MARTIN, Attorney at Law, Boyne City, Mich. Collections promptly attended to.

CROSWELL & CHASE, Attorneys at Law and Solicitors in Admiralty. Office in Butlers' Block, Charlevoix, Mich.

C. J. SMITH. C. S. SMITH.

DICKINSON, Attorney and Law, Real Estate and Insurance Agent. Lake St., east of postoffice, Boyne City.

FRED W. MAYNE, Attorney and Counselor, Real Estate Business promptly attended to. Office, Lake St., Boyne City.

H. A. SHAW, Attorney and Counselor at Law. Office, on Lake St., Boyne City, Mich.

J. E. VANCLEEF, Attorney at Law and Justice of the Peace. Office, Petoskey, Mich.

ARTHUR VAN, Attorney at Law, Charlevoix, Mich.

WM. A. GRAY, Attorney at Law, Boyne City, and Real Estate Agent. W. A. Norton, Boyne City. L. A. Fairchild, Gaylord.

CHARLES W. MAYNE, Attorney at Law and Solicitor in Chancery, Circuit Court Commissioner, Real Estate Agent. East Jordan, Mich.

WM. MCKEE, Attorney and Solicitor, East Jordan. Collections a Specialty.

J. E. LAMOREAUX, Attorney at Law, Boyne City.

CHURCHES.

CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH. Sunday services at 10.30 a.m. and 7.00 p.m. Sunday school at close of morning service. Prayer meeting every Thursday evening at 7.00 o'clock. J. VAN ANDEL, pastor.

METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH. Sunday services, 10.30 a.m. and 7.00 p.m. Sunday school at close of morning service. Prayer meeting Thursday evening at 7. J. T. HODGES, pastor.

FIRE DEPARTMENT.

CHARLEVOIX HOOK AND LADDER AND READY FIRE COMPANY meet every solstice night, at school hall. R. F. BISHOP, Secretary.

HOMEOPATHIC PHARMACY.

E. SUTFIELD, Homeopathic Medicines, Books, Humane Cases, etc. Charlevoix, Mich.

PHYSICIANS.

J. N. GRESSLER, M. D. Office at the Ingleside.

L. H. SUTTS, M. D., Physician and Surgeon. Office in Dr. Cook's Block, Charlevoix, Mich.

W. W. FERGUSON, M. D., Surgeon and Homeopathic Physician, Charlevoix, Mich.

REAL ESTATE AGENTS.

THOMAS SEMMAN, Notary Public, Real Estate Loan and Insurance Agent. Gaylord.

SECRET SOCIETIES.

G. A. R. Baxter Post, No. 119, meets second and fourth Tuesday in each month, at Odd Fellows' hall. J. M. SHAW, Adjt.

I. O. O. F. Charlevoix Lodge No. 207, meets every Thursday evening, at Odd Fellows' hall. W. A. BROWN, Secretary.

Ancient Landmark Lodge No. 200, meets every Wednesday evening, in their hall. C. J. STRANG, Secretary.

F. & A. M.—Royal Tead, No. 138, meets second Tuesday evening in each month, at Odd Fellows' hall.

I. O. L. T.—Blue Bell, No. 127, meet Saturday evening, in upper room in Odd Fellows' hall.

MASONIC—Charlevoix Lodge No. 215, meets on Friday on or before full moon. Hall over Post Office.

T. E. BROWN, Cashier. W. A. BROWN, Ass't Cashier.

BROWN & CO.'S

BANK OF CHARLEVOIX,

Capital, $25,000.

With superior facilities and a second situation we have a large and growing patronage. Drafts drawn direct on all principal cities of the world. Collections receive prompt attention. Special efforts to collect doubtful claims. Interest allowed on time deposits. Money to loan on real estate security. Good securities bought and sold. Deposits received from all points in Europe by mail.

CORRESPONDENTS

Chase National Bank, New York.
First National Bank, Chicago.
Merchants and Manufacturers' National Bank, Detroit.
Fourth National Bank, Grand Rapids.

The Charlevoix Improvement Association.

OFFICERS.

President—Byron Sears.
First Vice President—W. A. Smith.
Second Vice President—Robert Miller.
Third Vice President—Chas. J. Strang.
Corresponding Secretary—Geo. Adams.
Treasurer—Perry Weed.

STANDING COMMITTEES.

Executive Committee—J. Milo Eaton, A. D. Cornell, Geo. Adams, Perry Weed.
Committee on Outside Capital—E. Lee Iddings, W. A. Dickinson, C. V. Cook.
Hospitality Committee—F. W. Mayne, L. D. Bartholomew, E. M. Hawkins, R. Cooper, Geo. W. Gaylord, R. R. Miller, S. M. See, W. C. Newman, E. M. Clark, R. Bishop.

OBJECTS.

To aid and encourage the establishment of manufacturing enterprises in Charlevoix, and to arrange the general growth and prosperity of Charlevoix and vicinity.

REGULAR MEETINGS.

At Charlevoix Village Hall on the Third Monday of each month, at 7.30 p. m.

CORRESPONDENCE SOLICITED.

The Grand Rapids Daily Democrat,

The Leading Newspaper of Western Michigan.

ENLARGED AND IMPROVED.

Sent by mail at 50 cents per month.

A FEW FACTS CONCERNING

Dr. CROUTER'S

BAKING POWDER

Or Quick Yeast.

If you use it you will never have yellow biscuit.
If you use it your biscuit will never taste of Soda.
It contains no alum, and is absolutely free from anything of a deleterious nature.
It is made from PURE GRAPE CREAM OF TARTAR and NOT from the Common Cream of Tartar of the shops.
It is always fresh and will never disappoint you.

Directions for using furnished with every package.

Price 40 Cents per Pound

Manufactured and Sold only by

Dr. GEO. W. CROUTER,

Chemist and Druggist,

BRIDGE STREET, CHARLEVOIX, MICH.

Come and See our Immense Stock of

BOOTS AND SHOES.

FOX & MILLER.

BRIDGE STREET HOUSE,

ROBERT MILLER, Proprietor,

Charlevoix, Michigan.

This house is centrally located, and its accommodations excellent. The table supplied with the best the market affords. Only sample room in Charlevoix.

COMMERCIAL HOUSE

D. H. JERRUE, Proprietor.

East Jordan, Michigan.

Entirely rebuilt and refurnished. First-class sample room for agents. Good Stable in Connection with the House. 23

FARMERS' HOTEL,

W. S. JOHNSON, Proprietor.

Antrim Street, near Village Hall, Charlevoix.

Location convenient for mechanics working in any of the factories on Round Lake—and for farmers coming to town. Good stable for teams will be provided.

FOUNTAIN CITY HOUSE,

RICHARD COOPER, Proprietor.

Charlevoix, - Michigan.

Finest location in town, giving good view of lake and resorts. Express office and headquarters for Petoskey and Elk Rapids Stages. Good sample room for commercial travelers adjoining hotel.

JORDAN RIVER HOUSE,

THATCHER & BLAIR, Proprietors

East Jordan, - Michigan.

These having business at the county seat will find this the most convenient place to stop, and the proprietors will spare no pains to give the best satisfaction. TELEPHONE CONNECTIONS.

PINE LAKE HOUSE,

A. J. HALL, Proprietor.

Boyne City, Michigan.

This house is finely located on the Boyne river, at the head of Pine Lake. It is large and commodious, and is well adapted to the entertainment of the traveling public.

PIONEER HOUSE,

A. B. NOYES, Proprietor.

Ironton - Michigan.

Every convenience for the traveling public.

Well-Digging.

JOHN SHRIER

Charlevoix, Mich.,

Is prepared to do all work in the line of well-digging, cistern building, pump repairing, well drilling, and similar work.

Picture Frames

Made to Order.

A FINE ASSORTMENT OF MOULDINGS

To Select From.

O. I. WHEAT,

Bridge Street, Charlevoix, Mich.

Money to Loan

On sums of $200 and upwards, at reasonable rates of interest, on approved real estate security.

H. C. Miley,

Boyne City.

MISS L. SPAULDING,

DEALER IN

MILLINERY

AND

Fancy Goods.

Dressmaking Done in the Latest Styles.

Special attention given to

CHILDREN'S GARMENTS.

We would call the attention of the Ladies to our STAMPING DEPARTMENT.

☞ We endeavor to do our work well and at Reasonable Prices. Come and see for yourself.

McCABE'S

Livery and Hack Line

DRAYING TO ORDER.

Passengers, Baggage, etc., delivered to all Boats, Hotels, or any part of the City.

AT

McCabe's Livery Barn,

CHARLEVOIX, MICH. 47

W. M. WAGAR. G. C. WAGAR.

Wagar Bros.

Wholesale and Retail dealers in Tobacco, Cigars and Smokers' Articles. Also a full line of Confectionery, Fruits, And Temperance Drinks. Third door west of Bridge Street House, Charlevoix, Mich.

IN HONOR OF THE DEAD.

Memorial Services by Baxter Post, G. A. R.

The program previously announced for last Saturday's exercises was carried out except that the exercises were held in the grove on Dixon Avenue instead of at the park.

The address of Maj. E. H. Green consisted of a brief biography of Gen. Grant, dwelling on those characteristics which endeared him to every old soldier.

Resolutions of respect were read, as adopted by the post and appropriate music by the band and a choir was interspersed throughout the exercises.

Services at the M. E. Church.

Sunday evening memorial services were held at the M. E. church, conducted by Rev. J. T. Iddings, the principal address being personal reminiscences by Judge H. A. Clover, of St. Louis, Mo. Mr. Clover had known Gen. Grant during the days of his obscurity from public affairs, as well as during later years, and related numerous incidents illustrating Grant's integrity of purpose and persistent following of a line of work when once settled upon.

Dr. Stone, of Kalamazoo, followed Mr. Clover with a few interesting remarks.

Mr. Iddings followed with a brief discourse, touching Grant's Christian character, and the moral influence of his life upon Christian people generally.

The services included appropriate music by the choir.

The Decorations.

We cannot mention in detail the evidences of respect for the dead, as shown in the decorations. Most of the business houses on Bridge street and numerous private residences observed the custom, as well as both hotels. Some of them were quite elaborate, while others consisted of a simple rosette over the door.

In the M. E. Church a large crayon picture of Gen. Grant, the work of Al. Washburn, was placed on the wall behind the pulpit, over which were two large hunting flags appropriately draped. There were also festoons of black and white cloth, from lamps and projecting points, as well as appropriate drapings of pulpit and furniture.

Resolutions of Thanks.

At a regular meeting of Baxter Post, No 119, G. A. R., on motion, it was Resolved, That the thanks of this Post are due and are hereby tendered to the clergy, the firemen's band, the choir, the village council and to all who so kindly assisted in carrying out our program on the occasion of the memorial services held in honor of our deceased comrade and chief commander, Ulysses S. Grant, and that the JOURNAL and Sentinel be the medium through which our thanks be publicly conveyed.

Post Hall, Aug. 10, 1885.

Resolutions by the Orangemen.

At a meeting of the representatives of Grand Traverse L. O. district No. 17, held at Barnard, Aug. 8th, the following resolutions were unanimously adopted:

General Grant, the nation's hero and benefactor, has passed away, and left a nation of mourners. There are none so small as to refuse to revere once his memory. Not only the United States feel the great loss, but world-wide hammaity throbs in unison. He received from all nations such honors as no man of any nation or age ever received, yet he returned to his native land only proud of being an American. Whether receiving the shells of the enemy, refusing the sword of the vanquished, or bearing the plaudits of the world, he was the same quiet, calm, self possessed, noble character on all occasions. He possessed an abundance of that heaven-born gift, charity, and dispensed it freely on all occasions. His generosity alone would secure his fame while the republic endures.

Resolved, That Mrs. Grant and family have our sympathy in their affliction.

B. BURNS, D. D. G. M.
JOHN VAUGHN, D. D. M.
ANDREW HOLMES, W. M.
JOHN DOCKERERTY, D. M.
LEWIS WHITMORE, C. M.

Resolutions on the Death of A. F. Dreyer.

HEADQUARTERS BAXTER POST, No. 119, G. A. R.

Charlevoix, Mich., Aug. 10, 1885.

WHEREAS, It has pleased our Supreme Grand Commander to call from our Post our comrade, Augustus F. Dreyer, who departed this life on the 20th day of June, A. D. 1885; and

WHEREAS, Although gone from our midst, he is not forgotten by those with whom he associated during the hours of the rebellion, and we will ever think of him and cherish his memory even though our country may have forgotten him as one of her defenders, and may he be remembered as one whose example is worthy of being followed; therefore,

Resolved, That in the death of our comrade Dreyer, our Post has lost a worthy comrade, his wife a kind and tender husband, and the community an upright, honorable and useful citizen.

Resolved, That as members of Baxter Post, we offer our tender sympathy to the bereaved widow and friends of our deceased comrade and that the foregoing preamble and resolutions be entered upon the records of this Post and a copy thereof be transmitted by the adjutant, to the widow of our deceased comrade.

M. J. STOCKMAN,
E. B. HOUSE,
HENRY INGALLS,
Committee.

A Narrow Escape.

Last Saturday morning a party of ladies and gentlemen were sailing on Round Lake, and the wind blew in gusts so that the boat would not behave itself under their management. The ladies were put ashore, and the gentlemen tried it again; when about the middle of the lake, she "took a header downward," and went to the bottom. The gentlemen being good swimmers, were able to keep to the top of the water until boats could reach them.

The boat has since been raised.

We understand that several hundred pounds of stone ballast was used, which was the cause of the boat sinking so quick. It has been suggested that this kind of ballast is used altogether too much for the public safety. A substitute of some kind should be used that can be easily thrown out, or that will float when put into the water. Water in tight casks has been used to advantage in some cases.

Acknowledgements.

The Congregational Church and Society wish to make a public acknowledgement of the kindness of their friends from the resorts for their generous contributions on Sunday morning last. Also to the friends of the Chicago Club house for the benefit on Monday evening.

The Sunday morning collection amounted to $147.15, and the benefit Monday evening $73.00, making $220.15 in all. This relieves the present embarrassment.

A thousand thanks for the generous help, good friends. May kind Providence bless you and all your ways, with peace and plenty, and open up new opportunities for perfecting the noble traits shown in these your generous acts.

R. W. KANE,
Clerk Congregational Society.

A Pleasant Entertainment.

On Monday evening about 200 participated at the Chicago Club house to enjoy a musical and literary feast which had been prepared by the people of that popular resort, to be given as a benefit for the Congregational church. The exercises consisted of vocal and instrumental music, recitations, charades, etc., and were very interesting, continuing until a late hour. The proceeds of the evening were sufficient to balance the account of the pastor's salary, with something over, for all of which the church and society should ever hold the Chicago people in grateful remembrance.

The Charlevoix polo club went to Petoskey to play, last night.

THE JOURNAL

BY CHAS. S. STRANG.

CHARLEVOIX, - MICHIGAN.

NEWS CONDENSED.

Concise Record of the Week.

EASTERN.

L. D. Munger, of Detroit, at Boston beat the bicycle road record of 26½ miles, making 211½ miles in twenty-four hours.

It was decided in the New York Supreme Court that a bond of express injury brought in this country on a steamer of the Bordeaux line must be returned to France.

Five hundred boys were discharged from the Spanish (Pa.) colleries, in obedience to a law recently passed in the Legislature of that State forbidding child labor in mines and coal breakers.

A cyclone passed over Philadelphia, wrecking two steamers, and destroying an immense amount of property, several lives were lost. The storm then passed to the Jersey side. Intense rain in Canada scared of dwelling houses were unroofed, and damage to business property along the river front was enormous. Crossing to Delaware it cut a swath 200 yards wide, near Smyrna, and inflicted great damage.

The census of Albany, N. Y., just completed, shows a population of 94,923—an increase of 6,000 since 1890.

A monument to the memory of the late Sir Moses Montefiore will be erected in Central Park by the Jews of New York. Almost $10,000 has already been subscribed to the fund.

Seven persons are known to have been killed and about one hundred wounded by the tornado at Philadelphia and Camden, and the total loss is estimated at $200,000.

The assessed valuation of real and personal property in Boston for 1895 is $565,204,600, a gain of $27,500,000 over last year. The tax levy is $18.80 per thousand, an equal $17 to $1.

Pneumonia is reported in a herd of sixty thoroughbred Holstein cattle on Staten Island, N. Y. The Government Commissioner will take measures to quarantine the herd.

WESTERN.

A possible official attempt to carry lead ammunition into Mexico and Central America on a Pacific Mail steamer was entirely forgotten, and was refused. The mail was subsequently sent overland, and the point is large enough that the steamer had no right to deny it unless it is also a common carrier, and there may be a lawsuit.

Fears are entertained in Utah of a general uprising among the Indians of the Territory, who, it is claimed, are being incited to hostility by Mormon emissaries. Gen. Howard and 10 Indians for the West to investigate the situation.

Chicago was visited by a rain storm of unprecedented violence, the fall in eighteen hours reaching 3.75 inches, which was in excess of the total rainfall for any month of 1894. Many basements in the business district, containing valuable stocks of merchandise, were flooded, the losses aggregating an enormous sum. In the outlying districts extensive areas were submerged and thousands of dollars' worth of property destroyed.

A soldiers' monument erected by the citizens of Pandusky County, Ohio, was unveiled at Fremont, with impressive ceremonies. Addresses were made by a number of prominent men.

Census returns from the leading town of Wisconsin show a uniform and gratifying percentage of such in population.

The net earnings of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe Railroad for the six months ended June 1 were $3,114,128, an increase over the net earnings of the corresponding period last year of $621,941.

At Minneapolis the suit of Col. William Sinclair against Philo Remington, of New York, involving $3,000,000 worth of property, was decided in favor of the plaintiff. An appeal will be taken to the United States Supreme Court.

An election held in the Cherokee Nation for members of the legislature, resulted in a choice of an equal number by the "Downing" and "National" parties, the "independents" holding the balance of power.

At Pulaski, Ohio, Richard Jones, a farm hide per, committed suicide, after fatally shooting Mrs. Charles Sherwin, his employer's wife, who was endeavoring to dissuade him from self-destruction. Jones had made two previous attempts upon his own life, both of which had been thwarted by Mrs. Sherwin.

The Executive Committee of the Foreign Missionary Board of the African M. E. Church met at Richmond, Ind., Bishop Shorter presiding. The Rev. J. H. Bichner was appointed to work at Fort au Prince, and the Rev. J. H. Mapp to San Domingo.

Judge Field, in the United States Court at San Francisco, issued an order directing the Marshal of that court to discharge Miss Hill, who had threatened to kill ex-Senator Stewart, one of Sharon's counsel, and keep her dumped while in attendance on court.

SOUTHERN.

During the progress of a ball at Beaverville, Texas, a revolver dropped from the pocket of a young man and was discharged, the bullet passing through the heart of Miss Hattie Brown, a beautiful girl, killing her instantly.

Extensive deposits of bituminous coal have been discovered in the vicinity of Lampasas, Texas.

An old man named James Hall, of Trosty County, Georgia, caught his foot while climbing a fence and remained hanging four days with his head downward before he was discovered. He is dying.

Caterpillars and boll-worms are ravaging the cotton fields in several counties of South Carolina.

Henry Vanderbeight leaped from the Cumberland River bridge at Nashville, Tenn., striking the water, the fall being 100 feet. He is alive, and will probably recover from his injuries.

At New Orleans, Boyd Abadie collected, Alfred Lucas in injury, his quarrel with him, with a razor, and then cut his own throat. Thirteen razors were found on the body of the women.

WASHINGTON.

Attorney General Garland has reached the conclusion that the cattle taxes in the Indian Territory are illegal and has so informed the President.

It is now believed at Washington that an arrangement will be made with John Bull's creditors, by virtue of which the Indians will be occupied by the Government, and will get a share.

The report of the Naval Advisory Board on the steamer Dolphin has been made public, as has also the report of the committee appointed to specially examine the vessel. The Board holds that the boat is so entirely for congratulation rather than condemnation, and the report concurs in the first, so, neither does Secretary Whitney.

The reorganization of the consular service will be completed about January next. About two hundred posts remain to be filled.

Secretary Lamar and Attorney General Garland will remain in Washington during the President's absence. The other members of the cabinet will take a vacation.

President Cleveland notified a large delegation of customers who called at the White House that he would not modify his recent order for the removal of the cattle from the leased lands in the Cheyenne and Arapahoe reservations.

POLITICAL.

The Nebraska Republican State Central Committee has called a convention, to be held for holding the State convention at Lincoln.

Charges of offensive partisanship have been filed against United States Marshal Russell and United States Attorney Waters, of Arkansas. The appointment of W. C. Jones as United States Marshal for Kansas is anticipated in that State in the fall, in case of vacancy, friends and civilians consider unnecessary continuance.

The Civil-Service Commission submitted a report of its investigation of the charges against Commissioner Jones of Indianapolis, to the President. The commission concludes the charges are entirely of violations of the civil-service law and rules, but believes that he was indicted in the utterances because he understood the purport of the law as fully as he does now.

The following Federal appointments were made in the Treasury during the week:

U. Lemoine Inman to be Appraiser of Merchandise in the district of New Orleans, Jackson H. Ralston to be Solicitor of Customs for the port of Atlanta, Ga., Lilian Pitney to be Superintendent of Public Buildings and Grounds for the District of Columbia, Wilmer C. Jones to be Chief of Bureau of Engraving and Printing, Frank Wolcott to be Superintendent of Public Buildings and Grounds for the District of Columbia, Jas. Mc. B. Duncan to be Superintendent of the Industrial School for Indians at Carlisle, Pa., Joseph F. Thomas to be Superintendent and Marshal to be Marshal Sullivan, and Jas. Mc. B. Duncan to be Superintendent of Indian Schools.

To be Collector of Customs: Isaac H. Bradley, for the district of Chicago, Ill., Jas. H. Hodgdon, for the District of Dakota, Jas. Monroe Tracey, Chas. F. Pollock, for the District of Corpus Christi, Texas; Edward S. Lee, for the District of Los Angeles, Cal., Jas. Lawrence Lee, for the District of Milwaukee, Jacob Schmidt, for the District of Florida.

To be Inspectors of Customs: Hugh C. Ashby, of Harrisburg, Ark., J. M. McIlhenny, of Louisiana, Mo., Jas. Lawrence Lee, of Los Angeles, Cal., Wm. Thomas, of Dakota, Ill., Jas. Mc. B. Duncan, of Dakota, Ill

THE JOURNAL.

BY CHAS. J. STRANG.

CHARLEVOIX, - MICHIGAN.

Politics and News.

Congressman Belknap advises the Germans in Dakota matters by the people of each community served, for the term of four years, the general man agement, however, still to be in the government, with power to remove for misbehavior.

Island Morris tells a good story of how a Canadian ferry steamer in command of an officer, tried to emphasize Anglomania by seeing tug and hand in vessel of little and unity forced into an American harbor in spite of the Canadian steamer pulling in an opposite direction with engines wide open.

We didn't suppose that crows were of any earthly use save as a diet for defeated politicians. Mr. James Greenleaf of Tecumseh, thinks differently, however. He has a seven-acre patch to plant, which these hereditary and traditional foes of the farmer haven't destroyed to less than five bags, and this has large fulfilled their contract in the bargain. Tain't one for the crows.—Kalamazoo Leader.

"Procrastination is the thief of time" will soon get have anything for publication you at the editor at the first opportunity. Don't say to yourself, "Well, the paper is printed on Thursday, and any time before Thursday morning will do." It is very annoying to the printers to have matter come to hand too late. It delays the printer, and sometimes it must be thrown into the waste basket or wait until another week. Remember this next your favor may reach the printer too late but never too soon.

Kalamazoo Gazette: The city of Minneapolis, Minnesota, has a peculiar provision in its law relating to the liquor traffic. Besides charging a license fee of $500, the law marks out certain prized limits, including the business core of the city, within which all the saloons there are must be established, and where they can be kept under close police inspection. As to the rest of the city, including all the outer resident portions of the city, where probably nine-tenths of the inhabitants have their homes, absolute saloon prohibition prevails, and is rigidly enforced.

The Indian agent at Fort Reno, who received supplies form the government for 6,271 Indians when he only had 3,463, and who resigned as soon the fraud was discovered, has an idea that his position has been pretty badly broken up by a change in the administration. The people were especially assured in the last campaign that our industries would languish and suffer if Cleveland was elected President, and this is one of the "industries" that has suffered. A great beggar it is also proper to remark, was fallen on the frowned Reach ship-building interest.—Jackson Patriot.

Advocates of a high protective tariff "in the benefit of the working man" insisted upon free trade in labor for the benefit of themselves. They imported ship loads of cheap labor from Europe to take the place of men who knew their business and demanded their rights. For a time they had the whip handle. It was money in their pocket to supplant American labor with persons who could not articulate a word of the language of the country. But they are finding that pauper labor is learning a thing or two, and they are having their hands full. It is a bit of retributive justice which they are in no humor to appreciate.—[Kalamazoo Gazette.

A careful study of recent events will show to the reflecting mind that the administration is gradually developing a policy which is consistent and admirable. It is a policy which has been dictated from too often in recent years, but which must be observed if the people are to have an honest and fair government. It recognizes the claims of no particular business interests above those of any other, but seeks to be just to all. It has no favorites and no business partners. The laws are enforced with an even hand and men who look for jobs or favors will look evidently in vain. With a policy of government so honest there is no limit to the amount of good that can be done. Rich and poor will fare exactly alike. The government will not exert its power to build up one man or one interest at the expense of many. The poor will not be taxed for the benefit of the rich and manufacturer by politicians in the in the business affairs of the people will not be thought of. A reasonable freedom will be given to trade of all kinds, so that legitimate enterprise will have an opportunity to make its way, and government, instead of being a meddlesome, partial and one sided affair, will become a beneficent institution, to which all may look for justice, but to which the sharper and monopolist will appeal in vain.—[Jackson Patriot.

Workmen not Benefitted.

It is not a difficult thing to know just whom a protective tariff benefits; a very little reading and thinking will suffice for that. The workingman knows that there is something that eats up his wages fully as fast as he gets them, yet he may not have thought just what it is. The idea that the tariff raises his wages is exploded, for under the present tariff which is highly protective they have been steadily and rapidly declining for nearly three years, so that he gets no benefit in that regard. The tariff does not even keep up wages to the old rate. In many of the protected industries they have suffered a decline of 20 per cent in three years, and even at that decline work cannot be obtained. John Jarrett, late president of the Ironworkers' Association of the United States, said over 1,700,000 workingmen were out of employment in the middle of our last severe winter. No the tariff has not mitigated the miseries of the workingmen. It has added to them. For a protective tariff demands tribute of every poor man on everything he uses except his bread and butter; his clothing costs him 40 per cent more than it would without any protection; the blankets which shelter him and his family from the blasts of winter, cost him 50 per cent more than they should, his car fares and transportation rates are all higher by reason of the tax upon imported products; in short, the tariff tax is levied on all he spends, simply to aid a few rich men to become more rich still and when the workingman sees this then he may begin to realize the magnitude of the blessings he receives through protection and may suddenly change front and vote to do away with the iniquitous system.—[Jackson Patriot.

DIABETES.

Are you troubled with thirst, excessive and frequent flow of urine, pain in the loins and back and nervous pains? These are some of the symptoms attending diabetes and Bright's disease. Do not hesitate, but get Parmelee's Diapepsin, Diabetic Kidney and Liver Cure which will not only cure you but tone up the system and prevent dyspepsia, sick headache, biliousness, liver complaint and all kindred diseases. Only $1.00 for large bottles.

Sold by Dr. G. W. Crouter, Charlevoix, and Crouter & Harris, Ironton.

Hard Times.

With money in chest, wages and prices low, goods cheap, stocks up and down every immediate, [illegible] the world need be idle, hungry or naked. Thousands are now working in the Iowa, Nebraska and Dakota harvest fields. Second class accounts, reduced rates, Time tables, maps, etc., free by addressing Chas. C. Ward, Chicago, Ill. Agents wanted on long pay, liberal terms. Price of book and outfit, $1.00. Sample free. Sold by every agent.

CHANCERY SALE.

In pursuance and by virtue of an order and decree of the Circuit Court for the County of Charlevoix, in chancery, in the state of Michigan, made and dated the 12th day of February, A. D. 1885, in a certain cause therein pending, wherein Charles Hayes is complainant and Adam Hall, Sarah Hall, Agnes Fish, Amos Shoemaker and Georgiana L. Lounsbury are defendants, I shall sell at public vendue or sale, at the south door of the court house in the village of Charlevoix, in said county, on Wednesday the 16th day of April, A. D. 1885, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, of said day, all or so much thereof as shall satisfy said decree, with interest and costs, the following described premises, or so much thereof as shall be necessary to satisfy said decree, to wit: Lots numbered one (1) and two (2) in block numbered twenty (20) in the village of Charlevoix, according to the recorded plat thereof, in Michigan, in accordance with the terms of said decree.

Dated July 8th, A. D. 1885.

FRANK E. FORD,
Circuit Court Commissioner,
for Charlevoix County, Michigan.
CHUCKNEARNEY & GIDDINGS,
Solicitors for Complainant.
Charlevoix, Michigan. 164-10

WM. J. STEVENSON,
HORSE-SHOEING,
Wagon Shop,
BLACKSMITHING, ETC.
Heavy Wagons ironed and made to order. Horseshoeing a specialty. Only the best horse nails used, and WARRANTY ALL WORK. First and Clinton streets, Charlevoix.
SHOP ONE BLOCK WEST OF CARPENTER, BARTHOLOMEW & CO'S STORE, CHARLEVOIX.
☞The OSCILLATING SEWING MACHINE on hand and for sale.

CASH FOR
FAT CATTLE,
Sheep and Hogs.
Having contracted to furnish Fresh Meats to the Charlevoix markets, this season, I will pay the highest market price for fat Cattle, Sheep, and Hogs.
A. J. McLEOD.
Charlevoix, May 29, 1885.

$100 REWARD
FOR
Every Ounce of Adulteration
IN THE
U. G. Soap
The Great 5c Cake,
Sold only by
GOWANS & STOVER,
BUFFALO, N. Y.
For Sale by all Firstclass Grocers.

John Nicholls,
CHARLEVOIX, MICH.,
Manufacturer of and dealer in
HARDWOOD AND PINE
LUMBER!
ALSO
Dressed Lumber, Oar Blades,
WAGON TONGUES, SHINGLES, LATH, ETC.
LUMBER SAWED AND BILLS FILLED TO ORDER.

Photographs!
I have located my
New Photograph Gallery
OVER
UPRIGHT, & EMREY & & CO. S & STORE.
And am prepared to do
All Kinds of Photographic Work,
From the
Miniature Picture to Life Size
—
Any Old Picture Copied and Enlarged.
Satisfaction Guaranteed.
DAVE BRADBEER,
Charlevoix, Mich.

Cure for Piles.

Piles are frequently preceded by a sense of weight in the back, followed by pain, lower part of the bowel, sometimes by an itching sensation in the some affection of the kidneys or neighboring organs. At times symptoms of indigestion are present, flatulency, uneasiness at the stomach, sour eructations, costiveness, irregularity of the bowels, with occasional diarrhœa followed by costiveness, blind piles, which are the most troublesome and painful of all. Dr. Bosanko's Pile Remedy, which acts directly upon the parts affected, is offered to the public as a certain cure for the above complaint, allaying the intense suffering and curing in a speedy manner. Sold by all druggists, or sent by mail for $1 per package. Address, Dr. Bosanko, Philadelphia, Pa.

Good Goods and Low Prices
ARE
BOUND TO WIN

If you don't believe it, come and see my SPRING STOCK You will see that I am up to the times in styles, and have as fine an assortment of MEN'S, YOUTH'S and CHILDREN'S SUITS, as you will find in any City I defy any House to show any nicer line of NECK WEAR and

Furnishing Goods

My aim is to HOLD THE CLOTHING TRADE, by carrying a Large Stock so I can please you all. PRICES TALK Come and see my Large Spring Stock before buying elsewhere.

GEO. W. MILLER.

GRAND REGATTA
AND FIELD GAMES,
AT CHARLEVOIX,
Friday, August 14th
Commencing at 1 p. m.

PROGRAMME:

	First Prize.	Second Prize.
SAILING RACE	$15 00	$10 00
ROWING RACE, TWO OARS	5 00	3 00
ROWING RACE, FOUR OARS	8 00	4 00
LADIES' RACE, FOUR OARS	8 00	4 00
TUB RACE	3 00	2 00
SWIMMING RACE	3 00	2 00
GREASED POLE	3 00	2 00
BOYS' ROWING RACE, under twelve, TWO OARS,	3 00	2 00
INDIANS' FOOT RACE	3 00	2 00
MENS' FOOT RACE	5 00	3 00
BOYS' FOOT RACE	2 00	1 00
SACK RACE	2 00
WHEEL-BARROW RACE	2 00
HURDLE RACE	3 00	2 00
THREE LEGGED RACE	3 00
TUG-OF-WAR, FIVE ON A SIDE	5 00
STANDING JUMP	1 00
RUNNING JUMP	1 00
HOP-SKIP AND JUMP	1 00

Grand Display of Fireworks in the Evening.

The Harbor Springs Prize Band will be in Attendance.

Excursion Rates on G. R. & I. R. R. and on Hannah, Lay & Co.'s steamers, the Faxton and Grand Rapids, and on the steamers Friant, Gazelle, Clara Belle, and Nellie Booth.

No Race unless more than one entry.

For further particulars apply to

F. E. WALBRIDGE, Secretary.

HENRY C. COOPER
Undertaker!
CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN.
Coffins, Caskets, and Trimmings Always in Stock.
Come and See my Stock of Furniture

THE JOURNAL

Charlevoix, Mich., August 13, 1885.

Provision Market.

RETAIL PRICES to consumers, corrected every Wednesday morning, by CROSBY, EMREY & CO.

PORK—Per lb., 12@15, $8.00 and $6.40.
HAMS—Per ewt., boiled $8.00; unboiled $10.
LARD—Per lb., 8@10.
BACON—Per ewt., $8@11.
HAY—Per ton, $9@11.
FLOUR—Per bbl., Patents, $4 50@5 00; Second Patents, $4 00@4 50.
PORK—Per ewt., $6.
CORN MEAL—Per cwt., $1.00.
POTATOES—Per bu., 20c; New Sec.
BEANS—Per bu., $1.00@1.50.
BUTTER—Per lb., 14@20c.
EGGS—Per doz., 12@14c.
TEA—Per lb., 12@50.
COFFEE—Per lb., Rio 20@25c.
MOLASSES—Per gal., Syrup 50@60c.
SUGAR—Per lb., Dry Salt Side, 8c.
SALT—Per bbl.
MACKEREL—$8.
CODFISH—Per lb., 6@8c.
VINEGAR—Per gal., Cider 20c; Legal Test 18c.
Authority produce in good demand.

Fresh and Cured Meats.

CORRECTED WEEKLY BY JEFFERIES.

BEEF—Per lb., Roast 10@12c; Steak 10c.
PORK—Per lb., Fresh 10c.
MUTTON—Per lb., Fresh 10c.
CURED MEATS—Per lb.
Bacon 10c.
Hams 12c.
Shoulders 8c.
LARD—Per lb., Kettle 10c.
POULTRY—Per lb., Dressed 10c.
TURKEYS—Per lb., Dressed 10c.
CHICKENS—Per lb., Dressed 10c.
FISH—Per lb., Trout 10c.
SALMON TROUT—Per lb.
HALIBUT—Per lb.

☞Boarders can secure good rooms and good board at Mrs. Jefferies' on Bridge st. cross. Inquire at Jefferies' Market opposite Bridge Street House.

☞Medicines by Telephone promptly delivered from Jefferies' Market.

☞Color and paint shingles for sale by Upright, Emrey & Co.

☞THE FAIR offers gities ware a cost for 25 days.

☞Fancy horses for sale. Inquire of M. Clark.

☞Kalamazoo celery at Jefferies' Market.

☞Best fresh butter at Jefferies' market.

☞Bourbon Hum at Jefferies' Market.

Local Notes and News.

Traverse City is to have a $20,000 school building.

The Clara Belle resumed her trips Monday morning.

The Elk Rapids Reform Club is preparing to build a public hall.

The Wilson Hoop Co., of Bay City, will build a shop at South Arm.

O. I. Wheat advertises a prize dance to be held at the opera house Friday evening.

To be certain of insertion, all items should reach this office not later than Wednesday evening.

Among the chief characteristics of the Georgia Minstrels are the wonderful contortions of the drum major, and the immense mouths of the end men.

The representation that the Daily Resorter gives the Charlevoix resorts should secure to that lively sheet an earnest support from this community.

E. M. Clark has bought T. D. Smith's stock of groceries, and leased the building, and will move in as soon as necessary changes can be made.

The harness shop of Hodge & Litzenberg has been closed, the property and accounts going into the hands of E. H. Green for settlement. This leaves Charlevoix without a shop.

If the Elk Rapids Progress would devote more space to a faithful chronicle of affairs at home, and less to picking up flaws of weight among towns, the paper would probably be just as interesting.

The Friant is billed for an excursion to the Indian camp meeting at Northport, next Sunday, leaving Charlevoix at 9 o'clock. Tickets 50 cents. The Nellie Booth will make a trip from East Jordan, connecting here for the accommodation of those up the Arm.

The lecture of the M. E. church given on the same night as the church festival, taking in a little over $14. They adopted a novel substitute for tables, by fastening hooks to boards so as to attach them to the pew for use, and when not in use can be put away in a very small space.

A southern editor says that the young men who are disposed to pass on the other side of the street and in other unfeeling ways dodge ice cream odeons, walking with their girls, should remember that all through the long winter these same girls cheerfully and uncomplainingly furnished light and fuel for their comfort, and the little cronts they are willing to accept is but adequate return for last winter's favors.

Geo. Pappin advertises in another column that he has leased the blacksmith shop in connection with Washburn & Ackert's machine shop and is prepared to do all work in his line. He will make a specialty of heavy blacksmithing, and refers to the recent job of welding the shaft of the Clara Belle, said to be the heaviest job ever done here.

At the meeting of the school inspectors at East Jordan last week John Redpath was re-elected as examiner. In the joint meeting of inspectors and examiners, it was decided to retain the present standard on first, second and third grades. On the question of special certificates, there was a lively discussion, and a resolution that the board grant none, was lost. During the discussion it was ascertained that Civil Government, Physiology and Hygiene have not been taught as much as they should be, the reason assigned being that the schoolars did not have text books. In discussing the question of moral education, it was thought that not enough attention is now given to the character of the pupil; that as crime increases the public schools must become a nursery of pure morals.

Personals.

Hon. G. S. Hampton made us a brief call on Tuesday.

M. F. Quintance is now agent of the U. S. express at Petoskey.

H. J. Havens, of Lansing, visited A. D. Cruickshank a few days last week.

Mrs. F. M. Miller, of Coldwater, made us a brief call last Thursday evening.

Miss L. Spaulding went to Elk Rapids last Saturday, for a few days vacation.

Mr. Robert Boylan, of Portland, Ionia county, made us a brief call on Wednesday.

A. C. Ives, of Chicago will give an exhibition of fancy skating at the rink to-night.

Geo. Badd, of Chicago, arrived Sunday for a visit with his many friends in Charlevoix.

Mrs. B. Greening, of Chicago, was in town Friday and Saturday, and called on a few of her friends.

O. W. Kibby and wife, of Bellaire, visited Chas. Kelley and wife from Saturday till Tuesday of this week.

Misses Ellen Tomlinson and Bertha Fleming and Mr. Beech Hall have gone to Charlevoix.—[Kalamazoo Gazette.

Mrs. Frank Dewey and daughter, of Grand Rapids, arrived this morning, for a visit with her sister, Mrs. F. E. Wood.

J. M. Rice, Esq., of Cadillac, will lecture in the M. E. Church next Sunday evening. Subject: "Ingersollism examined."

Misses Julia Tuttle and Kate Harmon, now at the Chicago resort, sang solos at the Congregational church Sunday morning.

Hon. C. P. Ellerby and two sons, Mr. Robert Page, and two Misses Wash, all of St. Louis, Mo., are at Mrs. O. D. Woods.

Sib. Ackert, fireman on the Clara Belle, got caught in a line one day last week, and was considerably injured about his body.

Miss Isabella Field, of Eaton Rapids, is visiting the family of C. J. Strang and other relatives and friends in Charlevoix, this week.

Rev. Dr. Brooks, president of Kalamazoo College, will preach in the M. E. Church next Sunday at 10:30 o'clock. All are invited.

Milton Savory, of Ainger, Eaton county, commenced to study the mysteries of the types in the Journal office, on Wednesday of this week.

Rev. C. F. VanAuken and wife started Tuesday morning for a few weeks visit with relatives and friends in the southern part of the state.

Geo. Sherwood intends to go to school in Berea, Ohio, in a short time and Walter Cook, of Ypsilanti, will take his place in Crouter's drug store.

Kalamazoo Gazette, Tuesday: Mrs. Frank Horn and daughter leave this morning for Charlevoix.... Judge Mills, who returned from Charlevoix Monday morning, will hold court through the week and return north Saturday.... Hon. Peyton Ramsay, Dr. Simpson and Messrs. Jno. Fleming, Edw. Burdick, Jr. and W. A. Tomlinson, Jr., left for Charlevoix Saturday evening.

F. W. Crane, at Geo. Miller's clothing house, has the agency of this county for the Memoirs of U. S. Grant. Those desiring a copy should give him a call.

Mrs. Lyman Benson, who has been visiting in Ionia county for the past three months, returned home Saturday. Mr. Benson will be here two or three weeks later.

Rev. Dr. J. A. B. Stone, of Kalamazoo, will preach at the Congregational church Sunday morning. In the evening, Rev. Dr. E. F. Williams, of Chicago, will conduct the services, and G. F. Gates, of Chicago, will give an account of city mission work.

Sam Thatcher and family have removed to East Jordan. The distance from business was too great, and Sam couldn't stand it to go so far to his duties every night and morning. East Jordan is a brisk little town, but we'll bet a two for-a-nickle that Sam would rather live down here where he was so comfortably settled.

Kalamazoo Gazette, Saturday: Mr. H. H. Everard and his sister, with John Vanderwalker, leave this morning for Charlevoix.... Messrs. Ira Hanson, Frank Underwood and Chas. W. Cobb left last evening for Charlevoix.... Among those who went north last evening were Mrs. T. S. Cobb, bound for Boyne City, Mrs. M. E. Watthes, Charlevoix, Wequetonsing and other resorts, and S. A. Gibson, Charlevoix.

The Regatta.

The following are among the announcements made for the regatta here to-morrow:

The course for the sailing contest is a triangular one, starting from the mouth of the river and extending seven miles over Pine Lake, returning to starting point. The rowing course for the ladies' race will be on Round Lake, from Green's dock to Wilcox's boat house and return. The ladies' and boys' course one-half the distance.

All row boats over 16 feet long and all with either sliding seats or outriggers will be barred from entering.

The prizes for the rowing races will be awarded instead of cash as heretofore announced. The reason for this is that all participating in a race for a cash prize would be barred out from all future amateur rowing races according to the rules governing aquatic sports.

The following are the special committees, who will look after the entries in their respective departments: Sailing—James Hudson and C. J. Carrington.

Rowing—Frank Walbridge, Ed. F. Parmelee and H. Lee Iddings.

Field Games—Geo. W. Miller, A. J. Mitchell, Ross Mahon and Dr. Crouter.

Shipments.

The following are the clearances from the port of Charlevoix as reported for the week ending Wednesday evening:

Aug 6—Schr. Dan Maloney, 20 cords wood, Geo. Davidson & Sons, to Milwaukee.
6—Schr. E. K. Rogers, 30 cords bark, Upright, Emrey & Co., to Chicago.
6—Schr. Ontario, 60 cords wood, John Wright, to Milwaukee.
6—Schr. Charles Marshall, 35 cords wood and 200 bark, Emrey & Tuttle, to Chicago.
7—Schr. Jessie, 100 cords wood and 3 cords bark, Emrey & Tuttle, to Chicago.
7—Schr. Ralph Campbell, 30 cords bark, C. P. Carter, to Milwaukee.
7—Schr. Annette, 22,000 feet hardwood lumber, Green & Porter, to Chicago.
7—Schr. Angeline, 100 cords wood, E. Thorp, to Milwaukee.
7—Schr. Jessie Phillips 16,000 feet hardwood lumber, Sawyer & Crouter, to Chicago.
7—Schr. Walton, 30,000 feet hardwood lumber, The Lake Lumber Co., to Sheboygan, Wis.
8—Schr. P. M. Smith, 45 cords bark, Carpenter, Bartholomew & Co., to Milwaukee.
8—Schr. Gilbert Knapp, 28 cords bark, W. L. Porter, to Milwaukee.
8—Schr. Scotia, 70 cords wood and 40 cords bark, T. R. Smith, to Milwaukee.
8—Schr. Surprise, 60 cords wood, J. C. Schmidt, to Milwaukee.
8—Schr. Mechanight, 125 cords bark, and 12 cords wood, Upright, Emrey & Co., to Milwaukee.
11—Schr. Stanley, 20 cords wood and 10 cords bark, O. Andersen, to Milwaukee.
12—Schr. Forest Rose, 15 cords wood, W. J. O'Brien, to Kenosha and 10 cords bark, W. L. Porter, to Kenosha.
12—Schr. Cuyahoga, 160 cords wood, P. H. Edwards, to Chicago.

Held for Trial.

At the examination last Wednesday, sufficient evidence was produced to justify the holding of Neil Barry, Frank Dupont, Ed. Graham and Wm. Moore until the next term of circuit court for the murder of Geo. Opperman, and they are now in the county jail.

SPREAD THE GOOD NEWS

And let every one know the benefits to be derived from the use of Parmelee's Blood Purifier. It thoroughly cleanses the system from all humors. It is a sure cure for scrofula, erysipelas, chronic sores, tumors, salt rheum, and all diseases indicating an impure condition of the blood. Price $1.00 per bottle.

Sold by Dr. G. W. Crouter, Charlevoix, and Crouter & Harris, Ironton.

J. L. HURD & CO.'S
SPECIAL SALES
Still Continue.
First Invoice of Spring Dry Goods Just Received.

MAYFLOWER TEA,
Our own Importation, and Guaranteed Absolutely Pure.

J. L. HURD & CO.
Successors to Amos Fox.

All the Latest Popular
SHEET MUSIC
May be obtained of
F. G. HINES & CO.,
Druggists and Stationers.

WHY LONGER GROAN

With pain and hug the delusion that nothing can give you relief. There is a remedy that is greatly prized for the relief of the afflicted. It relieves pains and aches in all forms, stimulates the digestive apparatus to more perfectly do its work, so you will not be suffering with dyspepsia and the long list of ills, the results of disordered digestion, dysentery, cholera and cramps. It is Hamilton's Jamaica Ginger Tonic and Pain Cure. In rheumatism, neuralgia, sciatica, bruises, strains, &c., applied externally it is excellent. Price 25 and 50 cents per bottle.

Sold by Dr. G. W. Crouter, Charlevoix, and Crouter & Harris, Ironton.

PILES

In all of the various forms are constant companions of the human race and produce the utmost suffering and cause many a person to commit suicide. In blind, bleeding, itching piles, internal or external immediate relief can be obtained by faithful use of Parmelee's Pile Suppositories with hot water. Never known to fail. Warranted to cure. Price 50 cents per box.

Sold by Dr. G. W. Crouter, Charlevoix, and Crouter & Harris, Ironton.

☞Now is the time your horses and cattle need attention. To prevent disease and tone up the system you will find Parmelee's Condition Powders unsurpassed. Full pounds 35 cents. Sold by Dr. G. W. Crouter, Charlevoix, and Crouter & Harris, Ironton. 62-51

PROGRAMME
OF THE
Annual Meeting of the Charlevoix County Sunday School Association,

To be held in the Congregational Church, in Charlevoix,

WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 19, 1885.

MORNING SESSION.

10:00—Devotional Exercises, led by Rev. J. T. Jennings.
Address of Welcome, by E. H. Green.
Response by the President.
10:30—Reports from all the Sunday Schools in the County.
11:30—Discussion: How can we best increase the Adult Membership of our Schools?
12:00—Picnic Dinner.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

1:00—Devotional Exercises.
1:30—Children's Meeting.
2:00—Discussion—the best methods for increasing the regular attendance of children.
2:20—Discussion—How and What shall we study?
3:15—Discussion—Shall we hold Township Conventions?
3:45—Election of Officers for ensuing year.
4:00—Adjourn.

A cordial invitation is extended to all. All Boyne City Pine Lake will give excursion rates if properly applied for.

REV. WM. NORTON, Boyne City,
President.
E. SUFFIELD, Secretary, Charlevoix.

Notice of Dissolution.

The firm of Hodge & Litzenberg, harness makers, in Charlevoix, was dissolved by mutual consent on the 1st day of August, 1885. Payments to be made to E. H. Green, of Charlevoix, Mich., who is authorized to receive all debts due us, and pay all claims against us.

Dated August 10, 1885. E. H. HODGE,
JOHN LITZENBERG.

NOTICE.

All persons indebted to the late firm of Hodge & Litzenberg are requested to call immediately on the undersigned and settle their respective accounts.

E. H. GREEN.

OLD NEWSPAPERS FOR SALE

Harbor Springs, Petoskey, Charlevoix and East Jordan.
STEAMER THOMAS FRIANT.
CAPT. E. VANDENBERG.
Morning—Leave Harbor Springs 7.00, Petoskey 8.00, Charlevoix 9.30, arrive East Jordan 11.30.
Afternoon—Leave East Jordan 1.30, Charlevoix 3.00, Petoskey 4.30, arrive Harbor Springs 6.00.
Close connections at Petoskey with G. R. & I. R. R. trains, north and south.

C. R. BELLINGER
Has a large stock of
New Jewelry and Silverware
(SOLID AND PLATED)
Pins, Charms, and Chains,
In all the latest styles.
Watches, Clocks, and Optical Goods.
New style of Monogram Pin just received.
Sewing Machine Oil Let in stock.

THE HOWE MACHINE CO.
AT THE FRONT.
OUR LATEST SUCCESS.

Easy Running Sewing Machine
TT HAS
The Most Room under the Arm.
The Best Self-Setting Needle.
The Largest Bobbin.
The Easiest Shuttle to Thread.
The Most Perfect Tension.
The Most Reliable Feed.
The Most Perfect Take-up.
The Best Bobbin Winder.
TT IS
SIMPLE, STRONG, DURABLE & HANDSOME
Runs Rapidly, Very Light, Very Still, and without Vibration.
Before you purchase, please examine the NEW HOWE at the office of
Mrs. M. Litney, Agt., Charlevoix

ERRORS OF YOUTH
and MANHOOD. One who has suffered all the horrors arising from the dreadful and disgraceful habit of early self abuse, and is anxious to relieve others who are in the same condition, and who has discovered a reliable and simple remedy, will send free a simple prescription that will cure premature decay of the sexual organs, nocturnal emissions, impaired memory, confusion of ideas, lassitude, lame back, pimples on the face, aversion to the opposite sex, loss of ambition, nervous debility, consumption, insanity, and many other diseases too numerous to mention, leading to premature decay and the grave. Address in confidence, J. W. FINNEY, 4043 Cedar Street, New York.

ERRORS OF YOUTH.
A GENTLEMAN who suffered for 1 years from Nervous Debility, Premature Decay, Lost Manhood, the effects of youthful indiscretion, and the baneful habit of self-abuse, would like to send to his fellow sufferers the means of curing themselves, by which he was cured. Sufferer, who desires to benefit by the advertiser's experience, can address, in confidence, JOHN H. REYNOLDS, Bedford, Hancock Co., Ind.

RUPTURE CURED in 60 days. Discovery of a Physician. Address, DR. SANDER, 1164 Broadway, Cor. 27th St., New York.

RUPTURE CURED in 60 days. A positive cure. Pamphlet free. Address, DR. SANDER, 1164 Broadway, Cor. 27th St., New York.

C. P. Carter & Co., 50 6th Ave., New York 5

MOTHER'S DOUGHNUTS.

BY CHARLES NELSON ADAMS.

[Ej Dorado, 1881.]

I've sat lith down yer i hongsomb's, boys,
Ter eat a mouthful of pie,
I thought I'd back in my "The Ranch,"
Yer fill out what was now;
When I seen this sign a-swingin
On a branch by the lake:
"Have a bar ter gets yer doughnuts
Like my mother used ter make."

I've seen a lot since I-ter-lith-lerk;
I've seen Kentucky I ate
Drain out his shooter in a-bribe
A "tenderfoot" ter treat;
I've jumped a-sweep out ter down
Ter make an Arizona man
Like a-lightning git his ornaments
But I've never met ter make

A sort o' mixt shot on the ranch,
Or standin fear ter-shoot,
Ter-git-up-and-git-out-of-the-way-quick,
With the-to-me-all-unknown-and
A-will came through the open door—
Your I sleepin or awake!
The small was like of doughnuts
Like my mother used ter make.

The face was brownin round the porch,
Was hoary-white-grey;
A yellow-skin of apple-eyes
Was-settin far in-way,
'N on the table, by the stove,
A-in-a-tin-pan-like-cake,
'N a-platter full of doughnuts
Like my mother used ter make.

A patient form I seemed ter see,
Yer I sleepin or awake;
I almost thought I heard the-wife,
When will-we-see-the-same-look?
'N then—the old sign-creaking
Jest-a-little-in-the-lake;
Here's what yer-see-yer-doughnuts
Like yer mother used ter make.

Well, boys, that kind a-broke me up,
Yer, I'm-a-sittin yer,
I'm-a-thinkin I'll pack-up-kit,
Git-up-and-git-out-of-the-way,
I'll make the-old-lake-pilgrimage,
'N, if I don't mistake,
I'll git-a-mess-a-them-doughnuts
Like my mother used ter make.

—Harper's Magazine.

HE WASN'T ENGAGED.

I went to live with Aunt Edmonton when poor papa died. That was half a dozen years ago, yet my troubles seems as fresh to-day, my loss as irreparable as on that terrible morning when I left him lying in his lonely grave under the willows.

Poor papa! how fond we were of each other. He had no one in the world but me. Mamma died when I was a wee baby, not quite two summers old—died away off in Southern France, and she sleeps there now under the shadows of the purple hills.

I have seen many fair women, but never a face half so lovely as hers. Her portrait used to hange in the old gallery at Edmonton Hall, but it is gone now. Aunt Edmonton had something to do with its disappearance, for she never liked my mother.

The Edmontons are a proud race, with a pedigree running back to the old Cavaliers, and an ancient creed on their massive old silver, and the blunt of blue blood in their aristocratic veins. At least, Aunt Edmonton says so. Papa always laughed at her high fancies, and held that one honest soul was as good as another, no matter whether its owner wore royal purple or hodden gray; and when he met my pretty mamma, and loved her, he did not hesitate about making her his wife, though she was penniless and a daughter of the people.

Aunt Edmonton was terribly angered, and when the pretty bride came home to Edmonton Hall, she met her with scowling brows, and led her such life that poor mamma took her abroad, and there she died and was buried a few short months after I was born. Papa never outlived his grief at her loss; he loved her dead as tenderly as he had loved her living, and cherished me as no other child was ever cherished. I grew up in his bosom; he was my teacher, companion, and friend. We were never separated.

What a blissful life we led, Bohemians though we were! Whither our fancy led us, there we pitched our tent; under sunny skies, in the solemn shadow of time-fanned ruins, by the margin of stained rivers. I was confided on the deep, and reared amid the classic wealth of foreign lands.

But as time crept by, papa's health grew feeble, and we came back to Edmonton Hall; there he died. I left the dear old home and his grave under the drooping willows, and went to live with Aunt Edmonton.

As I have said, Aunt Edmonton was a proud woman. She was more—a worldly one. Wealth was her Moloch, and she held no heart treasure too precious to be given as an offering to his fiery embrace. I was an Edmonton as well as herself, and, despite the disgrace of my mother's alien blood, could not be put to household drudgery. Hence I was installed as a sort of companion, to read Balzac and George Sand while my aunt and Marguerite sipped their noon chocolate, and to keep the point lace in order and the family jewels well burnished. Not a laborious task, and it brought me bread and butter; and bread and butter we must have in this common-place world, even though our hearts break and our souls starve.

Aunt Edmonton did not like the old hall. She thought that there should house was better suited for bats and owls than for human beings, and it was shut up, and we lived first in one gay city and then another, and finally crossed the sea and went to Paris. Dear me, how my aunt and Marguerite did enjoy the life of the fine old lady there, and how I pined and longed for home! It is a marvel how differently constituted people are, with the same blood in their veins, too.

"Bell," said my aunt, one autumn night, when preparations were going on for some famous ball, "will you have the kindness to go to the greenhouse and cut the flowers for Marguerite's hair? She wears natural flowers to-night, and I can't trust to Felice. Look at her dress, please, and select what you think will suit—your taste is perfect."

Marguerite threw wave her nerval, and back down her black tresses as I was leaving the room.

"Bell, don't fail to cut some heliotrope, please. Captain Carrathers is here, and he dotes on heliotrope. By the by, you remember Captain Carrathers, don't you?"

My foolish heart gave a sudden thump, and the telltale blood rushed to my cheeks. How well I remembered him. Papa's best friend—the friend who stood beside his dying pillow.

I remembered his parting words, too, when he left me standing beside the new-made grave under the old willows.

"Nowonds of mine can give you dear comfort now, Bell, my little one, the wersest wounds. I regret to leave you, but my regiment goes abroad to-morrow. Goodbye. One day I hope to meet you again."

But in all the dreary years that followed I had heard no word from him.

"You remember him, of course," continued my handsome cousin. "he used to be at the Hall a great deal during your father's time. Well, we met him last night. He's been here a week; and he's a millionaire, Bell. You know old Carrathers, of Carrathers Place? Well, he is dead, and the Captain inherits the fortune, you see. So don't forget the heliotrope. I know it is most becoming—purple suits my creole complexion least—but I remember what a fancy Carrathers always had for heliotrope, and he's worth pleasing, you know.

Aunt Edmonton laughed as she rose and sloek out her lace flounces.

"Wear the heliotrope by all means, but you need not feed a bit nervous. You secured the Captain and his fortune last night; that rose silk and the diamonds did the business. I never saw a man more infatuated. Well, he's a good match. I've not a word to say against it; no better family than Carrathers, and Carrathers Place will be grand old home. Ah, there is his carriage below now; I'll go down and you are ready. Do make haste, Bell. And I wish you would be obliging enough to go Biffen's hair this evening; you are so much more skilful than Felice. And look over the jewels, please; I think that pearl and opal set will match her dress perfectly."

I hurried down to the greenhouse. Heartache was no new sensation, but somehow my pain seemed intolerable as I made my way down the dim aisles, the gorgeous tropical blossoms stifling me with their rank odors.

I forgot Rita's flowers, forgot her waiting maids, forgot everything but my own suffering. An aloe tree in full blossom, standing alone like some weird sacrificial emblem, caught my eyes. I sank down at its roots, and burst into tears. I remembered how papa's grave, covered with yellow autumn leaves.

I heard the wash of the waves, the murmur of the pine trees. The bustle of the gaudit streets drove me to frenzy.

"This life is killing me; I must go home to the old hall and papa's grave."

A hand touched my arm as the words broke from my lips.

"I beg your pardon, madam; you seem in distress. Can I help—good heavens, Bell! is it you?"

"Captain Carrathers!"

I leaped to my feet, and we stood face to face. He was bronzed and bearded, but the frank, kind eyes were unchanged. A sudden memory seized me to clasp his hands and tell him how lonely and friendless I was; but woman's pride, stronger even than her love, stifled the desire at its very birth. I bowed coldly.

"Why, Bell, you haven't changed; only you look wan and sad. I am so glad to meet you. I have written again and again, until I fancied you were dead. Why didn't you write to me in Paris?"

"No matter; I bid you good evening, Captain Carrathers."

"Be glad, kind, handsome eyes welcomed with wonder as I darted away.

"Dear me, Bell, I thought you'd never come. I didn't like to keep Carrathers waiting. Gracious goodness! where are the flowers?"

"I didn't get them, and I can't dress you, Marguerite. I am going to my room."

"Why, what is the matter? Are you ill?"

I did not pause to answer. At noon on the following day my aunt summoned me to her presence.

"You need not read to-day, Bell; I want to talk to you. You met Captain Carrathers in the green-house last night?"

"Yes, by accident."

Aunt Edmonton toyed with the tassels of her morning robe, and for the first time, to my knowledge, showed signs of embarrassment.

"By accident, of course. I didn't suppose you meant any meaning; my dear. He's a fine, handsome fellow, and he and Rita are well matched; don't you think so? Well, my dear, his coming changes our plans in a measure. We may remain here for the winter; and your health seems to be failing, and you don't like Paris, Bell, and I thought perhaps——"

"You thought you would send me home, Aunt Edmonton. Pray do; I meant to ask permission to go this very day—I'm dreadfully homesick."

She laughed genially, and, crossing the room, kissed me with more kindness than she had shown me for years.

"Then you shall have permission, my dear. Mrs. Montague, an old friend of mine, leaves Paris to-night, and you shall go under her charge."

I went, leaving gibb! Paris behind me with a feeling of relief.

But when I reached the old home, how desolate it was. Winter came, and the white snow filled the hollows and covered the hills. Letters from Aunt Edmonton informed me that they were in Rome, with Captain Carrathers as escort, and hinted at a great wedding when spring came. Did I care? What was Captain Carrathers to me? My father's friend, and I must always regard him with gratitude; and Marguerite would make him a stately queenly bride. I wished them much joy. Yet through all the winter days and nights my heartache never ceased or abated.

Spring came, and the skies grew soft and tender. The snows melted, leaving the hills green, and the air came hallowed sweet with violets. One March morning I went out to take the Cottage-beds. The hyacinths and butter-cups were already above the mold, and here and there green tufts of grass could be seen. The winds blew warm from the south, the sunshine glimmered like gold, and in one of the willows over papa's grave a blackbird sang. I threw aside my rake and sat down to cry, not in hopeless sorrow, but in new-born faith.

A step crunched on the gravel of the walk, a tall shadow fell athwart the glimmering sunshine. I started to my feet.

"Captain Carrathers!"

"Good morning, Miss Edmonton."

"Has my aunt come?"

"No; I left her in Venice."

"And you—why are you here?"

The kind eyes smiled down upon me full of sad reproach.

"I've come to get a rose, Bell, if my company is not wanted. My regiment is ordered off to India, and I can't go without having one last look at your face."

The blood in my heart reclosed to turn into my cheeks.

"Captain Carrathers!"

"Well, Bell?"

"Miss Edmonton, if you please."

"Very well: Miss Edmonton, then, if you admire it more. We were friends once, why should we not be now?"

"Oh, we are friends; we shall be something nearer soon; when you marry my cousin Marguerite."

"I shall never marry your cousin Marguerite."

"What! has she refused you?"

"I have never asked her—have never wanted her. Oh, my darling, your face tell me something that gives my heart hope. But I never forgot you. I wrote dozens of letters, but not one of them reached you. I only guessed at the truth a few weeks ago, and I am here. I loved you years ago, I love you now—shall always love you. Tell me the truth. If they never reached you letters and made you think me false, would you have cared for me as ever?"

I could not for my life say no.

"I thought you were engaged to Marguerite. I was sure——"

"You thought wrong. Marguerite is a fine woman and marries a title this summer. My darling I have loved no woman but you."

How the March sunshine glittered, what notes of delight the birds sang, swinging in the old tree! The whole universe seemed to have undergone a sudden transformation, and my heartache became a thing of the past.

Elephant Quotations.

The skill now displayed in teaching elephants is certainly wonderful, and a large part of these animals is now intervoyed to any first-class caravan. This has led to an extensive traffic, and the London importer sends the following advertisement to one of our leading dailies:

"Barnum's Elephants—Healthy young Burmese elephants for sale; four and one-half feet and under at £175 each; over four and one-half to five feet at £230 each; delivered in London or Liverpool; prices of animals of from five feet to full grown on application."

The price is certainly reasonable, being equal to $875 for the small size and $1,000 for the large. When one remembers that this is not one-tenth the price often paid for a mere horse, one cannot but acknowledge that it is cheap enough. Barnum has invested more money in elephants than any other private individual, and he has made it highly remunerative. At one time he had one of these animals harnessed before a plow and kept in his field at Iranistan. The Boston cars passed the place daily and the elephant became a good advertisement. Barnum has probably put a quarter million in this kind of stock, including Jumbo, whose cost has been advertised at $50,000. It is not probable that it was one-half of that sum. A well-trained performing elephant is worth $10,000—that is, it will attract enough to make such an investment remunerative. Jumbo's property is entirely "fancy stock." There is no fixed valuation. Adam Forepaugh, Jr., is one of the best elephant trainers in the country, and his skill has enabled him to rival Barnum. The latter, with all his genius, never trained anything. He pays good salaries, however, to experts, and before he purchased Jumbo he made an engagement with his keeper to accompany him to England. Barnum has been with the famous elephant for nearly twenty years, and controls him as easily as he would a child.—New York letter.

IN an address to young men Dr. W. Hall, of Leicester, says: "Our present life is by far the most healthy. In 1801 married men of 25 to 30 years of age were the only class of men who had diminish ten deaths, and 1,000 widowers twenty-two deaths; young men married before 20 years the figures are unfavorable, being fifty per 1,000. In unmarried men under of the rate is but seven per 1,000. If girls marry before 20 a life mortality holds them. Married people from 18 to 20 die as fast as people from 60 to 70. After 21 marriage should be contracted as soon as practicable.

AN idler is twice a thief; he not only steals time from others, but hangs around and tries to steal yours.

THE TORNADO'S TRACK.

Two Steamers Wrecked and Lives Lost by a Terrific Cyclone at Philadelphia.

Miles of Property Destroyed by the Fierce Wind in Central Delaware.

[Philadelphia telegram.]

A terrific cyclone, sweeping up the Delaware River, struck the city near noon, which Panic demolishing a portion of the works of the Pennsylvania Salt Manufacturing Company and damaging other enterprises. It then took a centre across the river, wrecking the river steamer Reine Hortense and the ferryboat Pontiac. The storm blew John Finnerty Tompsand and City Inspector Benfield of the steamer Enfield from the river, drowning the former and painfully injuring the latter. The Pontiac was swept clean, almost to the waters edge. When the Hope Steamboat Company's boat left Camden N. J., she had on board about 400 people, mostly women and children. It has been said, it is impossible to ascertain the exact number. There were also about half-a-dozen officers and deck hands. Of the number of passengers there was no way of knowing, but it is generally supposed that at a time were lost of the pilot house, and the boat was swept down the river. Captain Warner, one of the officers, describes the scene. He was standing on the upper deck and saw the ship water coming towards him. He moved rather slowly he supposed it was a little too late.

When it struck the boat he discovered that its immense force was felt in every motion. He and several others were thrown down by the force of the water, and as the upper works were swept away he clung to the cabin. The crowd among the passengers was panic stricken, and some were knocked down in the rush. Mr. Warner believes that all of them were rescued. When the cyclone was upon the vessel everything was thrown into the greatest confusion. Tinkers, tinsmiths and carpets were in shreds in the cabin and strewn in the passages. Throughout, the boat was a wreck. The pilot house was gone, and the pilot was found and pitched frightfully in the guard wires, and one was swinging in the air. The pathos of the disaster was added to by the sight of the chimney in several portions of the boat. Many of the chimneys in fairly by the throat; there seemed to be a disposition to make them be heart more nearly resembling the forks of Goshen. At this point the cyclone took a turn and swept across the river, embracing a strip of land that section of the city between Kensington and Richmond. In its course it swept down the Point Richmond Rolling Mill, and the Richmond Rolling Mill, and the Richmond Rolling Mill, and the

Around the County.

Bay Springs.

A welcome to the pleasant weather. Thunderous rains were greatly needed last week.

Mrs. D. Hoag is slowly recovering from a severe illness.

Mrs. Moore of Lagrange, Ind., is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Jas. Slayter.

N. J. DeBar has taken his family to Horton's Bay to reside while he is running the Horton's Bay school house.

A. Caldwell has moved his family to Bear Lake for the summer. He is fishing a seat on the lake.

Wm. Fisher had his arm badly injured in the Boyne mill last week. It was dislocated at the elbow, and the work of one large fractured.

John Hankey and family have again boarded here this being the third time. He was once a resident of Boyne and moved away, so that makes the fourth time he has sought the green of Pine lake after separating to Kansas and other places.

Hon. A. R. Chapman and family, who have spent some time visiting the father, H. P. Chapman, have returned to their home in Hillsdale. Mr. Chapman was delighted, as all visitors are with the fine view which Bay Springs commands of Pine lake, and the beautiful scenery that frames that great and grand mirror of nature's manufacture.

Ephraim Shay, formerly of Cadillac, has purchased the Addis property, and has moved his family here. He has also moved the boiler, engine, machinery and other fixtures of his machine shop, which will be put into working order soon. The Addis saw mill is to be fitted up ready for business and the railroad rebuilt with a walk gauge track. Bay Springs is rejoicing over Mr. Shay's coming here.

Ironton.

Times are booming in Ironton.

The furnace started Monday.

The Narragansett came in loaded with ore Saturday.

Mrs. Walter Maloney's music class is progressing very rapidly under her skillful management.

Mr. Chas. H. Webster and family started for Wisconsin Tuesday. Mr. W. was principal of the Ironton school for the past term. His many friends wish him a pleasant journey.

Mr. Anderson and family will start for New York City in about two weeks. These were a chance in Schoffen Hall Saturday night but very poorly attended.

Thomas Mackey of this place has gone to Minnesota to visit his brother.

Mr. Henry Pervis and wife were in town on Wednesday last, visiting friends.

Mr. Geo. O. Jones, of Richmond Va. has returned to Ironton to act as "Commercial Tourist" for John Gois & Co., manufacturers of brooms, brushes and charcoal pig iron. His many friends welcomed him back and are glad to learn of the remarkable success he is having. He stopped at the Pioneer House, Ironton, where he made it his home for two years. He was manager of the Pine Lake Iron Co's store and managed it very skillfully with the aid of his broom stick brigade. He will get to the front and make a clean sweep if he has half a chance.

Burgess.

The school in district No 4, closed last Saturday. It has been taught the last two terms by Mrs. Gibson and has earned the reputation of being her best school in town.

Mr. Ezra Ferguson is the happy man: it's a boy.

Rev. Daniel Pierce lost another horse last week.

A bad week for harvesting has been passed.

New potatoes are rotting very bad.

Last Saturday was a red-letter day for the pupils at Maple Grove school. The teacher furnished candy for them.

The Hamlin boys are busy with their teams, hauling bark.

Dist. No. 6 has decided not to build a school house this fall.

Bedwin.

Rev. Joseph H. Cater and wife of Colfax, Ohio, are the guests of Mrs. Robert Bedwin. Mr. Cater is a brother of Mrs. Bedwin.

Mrs. Wm. Myers, of Fairfield, Michigan, is the guest of her sister, Mrs. Meml Benson, of Bedwin.

Temperance Column.

Conducted by a Committee of the W. C. T. U.

Officers of the Society.

President—Mrs. L. J. Wilcox.
Secretary—Mrs. L. R. Allen.
Recording Secretary—Mrs. F. J. Dickinson.
Corresponding Secretary—Mrs. Ella Cornell.
Treasurer—Mrs. Mary Ingersoll.
Superintendent of Temperance Work—Mrs. E. Wilcox.
Superintendent of Purity—Mrs. E. Wilcox.

"The Master Calleth For Thee."

BY MARY H. GREENLEAF.

Through the valley of the shadow,
And the sunny slopes of life,
Where the reapers are a-reaping
Where the fallen lie with the sheaves,
Where the harvest of the ripening
Waits the sickle of the reaper,
Where, when the day declines,
Many a soul is garnered home,
Are there some master's voice, He pointeth
Some to the mighty reaping,
And to some more humble task
Leaving the fruitless sheaves
Yet for his work is a large and rich harvest
Ripe for the garner of the reaper,
Ripe, if we may speak for the reapers,
And he has a blessing and a crown.

With him long his silent servants,
Who, at the call, laid down
Their work the noble work unfinished,
Have rested from their labors.
Blessed are the dead who die in the Lord,
Blessed, saith the Spirit, for they rest
From their labors, and their works follow them.

Work for God—Home—Native land.

"Found Dead."

I had been keeping watch with a sick child, a bitter January night. The air seemed all ice, the sky was monotone, starless and dark. The sidewalks like glass, so frozen were they, and the few who were abroad at midnight wisely deserted them for the car tracks.

How glad I was when it was day light once more, but recalled with a shiver the dreariness of the night wind. I read in the local column of a morning journal a paragraph headed "Found Dead—Unknown—An inquest was held, the coroner's verdict, Died of exposure and intemperance."

Some additional comments there were—a few cents in his vest pocket, a newspaper advertisement, a fragment of a letter in a woman's writing, evidently from a person of culture, some traces of manly beauty on the face, notwithstanding the marks of dissipation—and that was all. I watched for the sequel, it came: "Not having been identified or claimed, the young man who was found dead in the street on the night of—was buried at the expense of the city." We all know what kind of burials are these. "Dead of intemperance and exposure." It should have been, "Murdered by rum." We think sadly of the heights from which he came step by step to such a strait. Cared for by a woman of culture—"once"—all once, loving hearts shrined him. "Unknown," save by God and His angels, and yet there may be somewhere a home where he is still watched for—we cannot tell. "Still some traces of manly beauty on his face"—the face on which once kisses have pressed—once a pure child face.

Perchance as life's sands ran out that winter's night, a touch of the Holy Spirit may have moved to prayer the anguished heart, and back on the winter wind may have come the answer, "Thy sins are forgiven thee." And who can tell but the peace of the forgiven may have left on the dead face something of childhood's rest and purity shining out through the marring and blighting of the rum fiend's seal. "Dead and unknown" Also for the nameless graves, the blighted lives, the broken hearts!

Similar announcements are not rare in our dailies and weeklies, and yet they seem to make so little impression on the great reading mass. I wonder why we should not collect all such items, some in each state and bring them out in such a form as to rouse, convict, convince with these facts the thoughtless public of the humanity at least of putting away by law the evil traffic, which has written of so many who, but for this, might have been good, royal, useful and great—"found dead"—[Mrs. Georgia Hulse McLeod.

In Nebraska, where high license reigns at $1,000 uniformly, the Methodist says of its workings: "That it has in the least, curtailed the drinking customs of the people, no careful observer will claim. The temperance reform is in great throes, and high license has no more effect on the vice of liquor-selling and drinking than a tax on brimstone would have on the condition of the lost."

Wild Cherry and Tar.

Every body knows the virtues of Wild Cherry and Tar as a relief and cure for any affection of the Throat and Lungs, combined with these two ingredients are a few simple healing remedies (which are mentioned in the Dispensatory) and by using syrup making it just the nice to even stomachs, it has been the growth of half an a half hour or smooth force. Address, including a 3c. stamp, Ben. Vandeer & Co., 12 Barclay St., N. Y.

TEN CENTS.

Advertisements not exceeding three lines will be inserted in this column for ten cents per week. Each additional nine lines or less, additional ten cents per week per month.

BOATS FOR SALE by the Proprietor residing at the Boat House, foot of the road down the hill.

BOATS AND BOAT HOUSE for sale or rent. Inquire of the Proprietor, Wood and produce of all kinds taken at market rates.

MORTGAGE NOTES, real or fancied, or personal property, to be sold at public auction at this office.

FARM FOR SALE.

One hundred acres of the best farming land, within hearing distance of a good school, good buildings, never failing water, about four miles from Charlevoix. For further particulars inquire at this office.

STRAYED OR STOLEN

A large, dark red, white-faced ox, has left my premises. Anyone concerning him or giving information where he may be found, will be liberally rewarded.

RICHARD COOPER.

At Pettibone's Pine House, Charlevoix.

For Sale, at a Bargain.

We will sell our

Ten-Horse Power Combination Thresher,

Complete. No money asked for land down, if the required security is given. For particulars inquire of the undersigned.

CHARLES & LOREN RAMEN

1857 Bonpas P. O.

Boats to Rent.

Fine row and sail Boats to Rent by the Hour, Day or Week. Fishing tackle and sporting goods, and Bathing suits, and Vehicles for sale.

RED BOAT HOUSE,

Near Charlevoix Summer Inn.

F. W. WILCOX.

Blacksmithing.

I have leased the Blacksmith shop in connection with my Carriage and Repository shop, and am prepared to do all kinds of work to order in the Blacksmithing business, satisfactorily and cheap.

Heavy Blacksmithing a Specialty

GEORGE PAPPIN.

FOR SALE.

The place known as

THE BEATTIE FARM

Near McGeagh's Mill.

For particulars enquire at the office of

J. MILO EATON.

MRS. R. TOULOUSE,

Manufacturer and dealer in

ICE CREAM

Fruits, Confectionery,

SODA WATER, LEMONADE, GINGER ALE, ROOT BEER, ETC.

CHARLEVOIX, MICH.

JAMES HEMMINGS,

Upright & Horizontal Addition,

Charlevoix.

HOUSE PAINTER,

Calciminer,

Paper Hanger,

And Decorator.

PINE AND HARDWOOD FINISHING. GOOD WORK.

"Facts to be Remembered."

NIMROD PLUG TOBACCO

is the BEST CHEW, the GREATEST SELLER, and more used than any other plug in the market. It always is good and fine. NEVER TOO HARD or too soft. NEVER SPONGY or too dry. NEVER CRUMBLES, and not a piece of it is ever rejected. NIMROD is the brand that pleases. Try it. It is for sale by all the leading merchants.

S. W. VENABLE & CO.

Petersburg, Va.

TO CONSUMPTIVES.

The advertiser having been permanently cured of that great disease, Consumption, by a simple remedy, is anxious to make known to his fellow sufferers the means of cure. To all who desire it, he will send a copy of his prescription (used in Germany) with the directions for preparing and using the same, which they will find a sure cure for Consumption, Colds, Consumption, Asthma, Bronchitis &c. Parties wishing the prescription will address, Rev. E. A. WILSON, 59 Penn St., Williamsburg, N. Y.

A PRESENT.

Our readers for 1885 in package stamps to pay for mailing and a copying and report of two hour work, will receive Free Steel Engraving Parlor Engraving of all our Presidents and Cabinets, Washington and Family, Lincoln Address Edition Fifth 22x28, Chromo, 10.

Established Fifty-five Years.

RAVEN & BACON,

—NOW—

RAVEN PIANOS,

13 East 16th Street, New York City.

BUY FROM THE MANUFACTURER AND SAVE 50 PER CENT.

These Pianos are made from the best material, finished in the best manner, and being in every respect Honest and First-class, have been awarded Fifty Years Every piano guaranteed six years, and Factory allowed first money in Centennial Exhibition, the highest award given to pianos. Catalogue with Price Lists mailed free. Send for Illustrated Catalogue before buying elsewhere.

No. 1, Upright or Square,	$350,	cash	$300
No. 2, "	260,	"	500
No. 3, "	290,	"	600

ALL THE OCTAVES.

PIMPLES.

I will mail (Free) the receipt for a simple VEGETABLE TEAM that will remove TAN, FRECKLES, PIMPLES and leave the skin clear, soft and beautiful; any druggist can get it; it costs little and always keeps home in the house, for Coughs, Colds, Croup, and Rheumatism. Price 50 cents and $1.00. Samples Free. Sold by G. W. Crouter. 2

J. MILO EATON,

DEALER IN

Real Estate

OF ALL KINDS.

Houses and Lots for Sale

IN THE MOST DESIRABLE PARTS OF CHARLEVOIX.

WILD LANDS AND IMPROVED FARMS

FOR SALE IN ALL PARTS OF THE COUNTY.

Abstracts of Title Furnished on Short Notice.

OFFICE ON BRIDGE STREET. ESTABLISHED IN 1873

PINE LAKE IRON COMPANY

Ironton, Mich.,

Are Full in all kinds of General Merchandise.

HURRAH for GOOD TIMES

Everything Booming

AT E. M. CLARK'S

Where he has a Lively Trade in

Dry Goods, Groceries, Boots and Shoes, Clothing, &c.

When you get the blues, just call around and see with what dispatch everything is done, where Pork, Eggs, Butter, &c., is taken in exchange for Goods.

E. M. Clark.

I have purchased the Meat business of Armstrong & Co., and will continue at the old stand, with the freshest and best goods in the market.

T. E. CHAMBERLIN.

HEAR YE! HEAR YE!

I have purchased the Stock of

Drugs, Chemicals

STATIONERY FISHING TACKLE, ETC.

of O. B. WEED & CO., and will continue the business at the old stand. I shall aim to so conduct the business as to merit a share of your favors. When in need of anything in my line, call and examine my stock and ask my prices.

PERRY WEED, DRUGGIST,

Successor to O. B. Weed & Co.

OPERA BLOCK, CHARLEVOIX, MICH.

GARLAND STOVES & RANGES

KEEP YOUR EYE ON THE Right Place

For Bargains in Hardware

Iron, Cutlery, Tin ware, Stoves, Implements, Fixtures, Pumps, Stoves, Wagons, Buggies, Carts, Wheelbarrows, Refrigerators, Doors, Sash

PAINTS Oils, Varnishes, Putty, Glass, Fence wire, Farm Implements

Guns, Ammunition, Spoons, Forks, LAMPS, Baskets, Measures, Ship chandlery, Cordage

Wooden ware, Rope, Fishermen's supplies, and Tin work.

L. D. BARTHOROMEW & CO.

THE CHARLEVOIX JOURNAL.

NUMBER 110. CHARLEVOIX, MICH.: THURSDAY, AUGUST 20, 1885. $1.50 PER YEAR.

THE JOURNAL

Published every Thursday,

BY CHAS. J. STRANG.

Office on Bridge Street,

CHARLEVOIX, - MICHIGAN

ENTERED AT THE POSTOFFICE AT CHARLEVOIX, AS A SECOND CLASS MATTER.

BUSINESS DIRECTORY.

ATTORNEYS.

CHAS. E. MARTIN, Attorney at Law, Boyne City, Michigan. Collections promptly attended to.

HAYWARD & CARLE, Attorneys at Law, Practice in Charlevoix, Office in Batterson's Block.

[illegible] Attorney at Law, Real Estate and Insurance Agent, Lake St., east of post-office.

[illegible] Attorney and Counselor at Law, Office in Batterson's Block.

[illegible] Attorney and Counselor at Law, Office in Lake Street.

[illegible] Attorney at Law, Charlevoix.

[illegible] Attorneys at Law, and Solicitors in Chancery, Petoskey, Mich. Will attend Court in Charlevoix when necessary.

[illegible] Attorneys at Law, Boyne City.

[illegible] Attorneys and Solicitors, East Jordan, Mich.

[illegible] Attorneys at Law, House Cities.

CHURCHES.

[illegible] CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH. Sabbath services at 10 a. m. and 7 p. m. Prayer meeting every Thursday evening at 7 o'clock. Sabbath School at 12 m. [illegible] Pastor.

[illegible] EPISCOPAL CHURCH. Sunday services, 10 a. m. and 7 p. m. Sunday School at 12 m. [illegible] Rector.

FIRE DEPARTMENT.

[illegible] HOOK AND LADDER FIRE COMPANY meet every Saturday night, at Engine House. [illegible] Foreman.

HOMEOPATHIC PHARMACY.

[illegible] Homeopathic Medicines, Books, Specimen Cases, etc. Charlevoix, Mich.

PHYSICIANS.

[illegible] M. D., Office at the Depot, Charlevoix.

[illegible] M. D., Physician and Surgeon. Office in Dr. Cround's building, Mich.

[illegible] M. D., Surgeon and Homeopathic Physician, Charlevoix, Mich.

REAL ESTATE AGENTS.

[illegible] HARRIS, Notary Public, Real Estate, and Insurance Agt., Charlevoix.

SECRET SOCIETIES.

[illegible] Lodge No. 128, meets second and fourth Tuesday evenings, at Odd Fellows' hall.

[illegible] Encampment, Lodge No. 49, meets second and fourth Friday evenings, in Odd Fellows' hall.

[illegible] Lake Lodge No. 207, meets every Saturday evening, in their hall.

[illegible] Resort Tent, No. 127, meets second and fourth Wednesday evenings, at Odd Fellows' hall.

[illegible] Tent, No. 97, meets every Saturday on or before full moon, in Odd Fellows' hall.

[illegible] Chapter, Lodge No. 97, meets second Tuesday on or before full moon. Hall over [illegible]

[illegible] W. A. BROWN, President. [illegible] Cashier.

BROWN & CO'S BANK OF CHARLEVOIX.

Capital, $25,000.

[illegible] accounts and prompt attention to every large and responsible business. Drafts on New York and other principal cities of the world. Customers receive prompt attention, courtesy and liberal dealing. Interest allowed on time deposits. Money to loan on first mortgages upon farm property. Good investment securities for sale, and from all points in Europe by steamers.

CORRESPONDENTS:

Chase National Bank, New York.
Chase National Bank, Chicago.
Merchants and Manufacturers' National Bank, Detroit.
First National Bank, Grand Rapids.

The Charlevoix Improvement Association.

OFFICERS.

President—Hon. [illegible].
Vice President—Capt. [illegible].
Secretary—Geo. Miller.
Treasurer—Richard Cooper.
Recording Secretary—R. Smith.
Corresponding Secretary—Albert E. Round.

STANDING COMMITTEES.

Finance Committee—J. Milo Eaton, A. D. Cressman, and A. L. Hunt.
Publication Committee—H. Lee Billings, W. and C. Cross.
Entertainment Committee—F. W. Mayne, L. D. Barthorom, W. Cross, Jas. Hemmings, H. Cooper, Geo. W. Crouter, S. W. Miller, M. Jay, W. C. Newman, Geo. Pappin.

OBJECTS.

To aid and encourage the establishment of manufacturing enterprises in the town, and to aid in the general growth and prosperity of Charlevoix, and vicinity.

REGULAR MEETINGS.

Charlevoix Village Hall on the Third Monday evening, at 7:30 p. m.

CORRESPONDENCE SOLICITED.

The Grand Rapids

Daily Democrat,

The Leading Newspaper of Western Michigan.

ENLARGED AND IMPROVED.

Sent by mail at 50 cents per month.

A FEW FACTS CONCERNING

Dr. CROUTER'S

BAKING POWDER

Or Quick Yeast.

If you use it you will never have yellow biscuit.
If you use it your bread will never taste of soda.
It contains no alum, and is absolutely free from anything of a deleterious nature.
It is made from PURE GRAPE CREAM OF TARTAR and NOT from the Common Cream of Tartar of the shops.
It is always fresh and will never disappoint you.

Directions for using furnished with every package.

Price 40 Cents per Pound

Recommended and sold only by

Dr. GEO. W. CROUTER,

Chemist and Druggist,

BRIDGE STREET, CHARLEVOIX, MICH.

Come and See our Immense Stock of

BOOTS AND SHOES.

FOX & MILLER.

BRIDGE STREET HOUSE,

ROBERT MILLER, Proprietor,

Charlevoix, Michigan.

This house is centrally located, and its accommodations excellent. The table supplied with the best the market affords. Only sample room in Charlevoix.

COMMERCIAL HOUSE

D. H. JERRUE, Proprietor.

East Jordan, Michigan.

Entirely refitted and refurnished. First-class Sample Room for agents. Good Stable in connection with the House.

FARMERS' HOTEL,

W. S. JOHNSON, Proprietor.

Antrim Street, near Village Hall, Charlevoix.

Location convenient for merchants working in any of the factories on Round Lake, and for farmers coming to town. Good stable for teams will be provided.

FOUNTAIN CITY HOUSE,

RICHARD COOPER, Proprietor.

Charlevoix, Michigan.

Placed location in town, giving good view of lake and steamers. Express office and headquarters for Petoskey and Elk Rapids stages. Good sample room for commercial travelers, adjoining hotel.

JORDAN RIVER HOUSE,

THATCHER & BLAIR, Proprietors.

East Jordan, Michigan.

These having purchased the county seat will find this the most convenient house in town, and the proprietors will use every effort to give the best satisfaction. TELEPHONE CONNECTIONS.

PINE LAKE HOUSE,

A. J. HALL, Proprietor.

Boyne City, Michigan.

This house is finely located on the Boyne river, at the head of Pine Lake. It is large and commodious, and is well adapted to the convenience of the travelling public.

PIONEER HOUSE,

A. B. NORES, Proprietor.

Ironton Michigan.

Every convenience for the traveling public.

Well-Digging.

JOHN SHRIER

Charlevoix, Mich.,

Is prepared to do all work in the line of well digging, cistern building, pump repairing, well driving, and similar work.

Picture Frames

Made to Order.

A FINE ASSORTMENT OF MOULDINGS

To Select From.

O. I. WHEAT,

Bridge Street, Charlevoix, Mich.

Money to Loan

on some of farming lands, at reasonable rates of interest, upon real estate security.

H. C. Miley,

Boyne City.

MISS L. SPAULDING,

DEALER IN

MILLINERY

AND

Fancy Goods.

Dressmaking Done in the Latest Styles.

Special attention given to

CHILDREN'S GARMENTS.

We would call the attention of the Ladies to our STAMPING DEPARTMENT.

☞We endeavor to do our work well and at reasonable prices. Come and see for yourself.

McCABE'S

Livery and Hack Line

DRAYING TO ORDER.

Passengers, Baggage, etc., delivered to all Boats, Hotels, or any part of the City.

AT

McCabe's Livery Barn,

CHARLEVOIX, MICH. 45

W. N. WAGAR. G. C. WAGAR.

Wagar Bros.

Wholesale and Retail dealers in Tobacco, Cigars, Confectionery, Fruits, Nuts, Also a full line of Confectionery, Fruits, and Temperance Drinks. Third door west of Bridge Street House, Charlevoix, Mich.

The Regatta.

The storm of last Thursday promised to materially injure the regatta in Charlevoix, by detaining the passenger boats from their usual time, thus cutting off the great crowd which was expected; and a postponement was announced. Before noon of Friday, however, the wind subsided, and boats began to run. The committee reconsidered their postponement, and hastily prepared to begin the sports at 3 o'clock instead of at 1 as previously advertised. A message was sent to Petoskey and Harbor Springs to prepare for coming on the steamer Grand Rapids, which had started for the latter place. In Charlevoix a very respectable crowd had gathered from the surrounding country, in addition to all those at the resorts, some of whom had delayed their departure for home in order to witness the sports here. Before the last boat arrived all necessary arrangements had been made and the sports were well begun, the successful details of which we clip from the Daily Resorter as follows:

About three o'clock the yachts took a flying start at the end of the cut and began the yacht race on Pine Lake. They ran to the first buoy near Two Mile Point, with a fresh breeze following right behind them. Starting pretty much together, they now began scattering out and outsailed the buoy with the Teaser, of Boyne City, leading, Mr. Cook's cutter, the Lulu B, not far behind, with a Mackinaw boat, the Petrel, and the Banner all hit a bunch, the rest straggling. As they stood across the lake on the starboard tack the distance between the different boats increased, and a few changed positions. Close hauled though they all were, they could not fetch the second turning stake near Oyster Point, and while some ran on into the bay before coming about, the Petrel and one or two others took a short tack to reach it, and seemed to gain by it. This second stake was passed with the Teaser half a mile ahead, Lulu B, Petrel and Banner following in order named. Beating homeward to the starting point the race was very interesting, though the only change of positions was that the Banner crept slowly up, and passed the Petrel, the race ending Teaser 1st, Lulu B. 2nd, Banner 3d, Petrel 4th, others strung out behind.

The rowing races were interesting to the friends of the participants, but were not particularly noteworthy, for skill displayed, except the double scull race in which there were three starters Robert Sessions and Herbert Gates, of Chicago resort, Beardsley and Simmons, of Charlevoix resort, Zess and Wheat, of Charlevoix, the boats coming in in the order named. The Chicago boys pulled a clean, strong, steady stroke, which put them at the head where they led way across Round Lake and enabled them to hold it both over and back. The Kalamazoo boys pulled a strong stroke but too rapidly to hold the lead they started with. The Charlevoix carsmen pulled ruggedly, giving an illustration of every variety.

The single scull was won by Louis Zess, with Hastings 2d, Beardsley 3d and Newberry 4th.

In the boys boat race half a dozen little fellows started on the opposite side of Round Lake and rowed once across, working like little heroes and doing very well indeed. Masters Conyon, Nettleton, Billings and Clifford rowed the finish in the order named.

Four young fellows fell off a greased pole into the river before one of them succeeded in snatching the dollar which was fastened at the end of it projecting over the stream. Climbing the greased pole also made plenty of fun. Six or eight boys had an exciting foot race. Master Billings first, the second prize divided between Joe Beauravais and Will Lewis.

The men's foot race was won by Mr. Carse, of the Chicago resort.

The hurdle race was full exciting and amusing. Carse was first and Price second.

The "three-legged race" was laughable, but Carse and Allen ran along together like a well-trained team of thoroughbreds and won the prize.

Carse stuck took decided tumble, however, when the sack race came off. Only two of the eight or ten starters got to the finish without falling, the winners of the other races being the first to bite the dust in this.

R. A. Forrey won all the jumping prizes. His standing jump was 12 ft 7 in., running jump 17 ft. 1 in., hop skip and jump 36 ft. 11 in.

In the evening there was a very good display of fireworks, discharged over Round Lake. All in all the affair was very creditable and satisfactory, and it is to be hoped that so fine from our Bay resorts enjoyed it.

Personal Memoirs of U. S. Grant

F. W. Craine has the agency of Charlevoix County for this work. It will be complete in two volumes (about 1,200 pages), and will contain about 50 maps, besides fac-similes of important letters and documents never before published, and fine steel plates and etchings executed by eminent artists especially for this work.

This is the work prepared by Gen. Grant himself, the profits from which are intended and expected to provide a competence for the General's family. The following correspondence will show that other works are being published with a view of taking advantage of this fact, and people who buy them thinking they are getting Grant's book, and helping Grant's family, will be deceived. Leave your orders with F. W. Craine, at Geo. W. Miller's clothing house.

NEW YORK, June 26, 1885.

GENL. U. S. GRANT, Dear Sir: We send the your instructions with reference to the following style of bids.

Several persons either have proposed, or are proposing, books with reference to you with titles which are calculated to lead the public to suppose that they are the Personal Memoirs prepared to you.

Among the most adroitness books of this character, is one published at Hartford, Conn., entitled "Personal History of U. S. Grant," or "Personal History of General U. S. Grant," as it is advertised both ways. The title is so nearly like yours, but one or two words being changed, that our agents write in the public announcement by being misled by the deceptive title, and they are greatly embarrassed thereby, which embarrassment is in no way lessened in the fact that the agents to whom funds it is placed for sale, not intelligently represent it as your work, and the names advertising it in the public newspapers, fail to put the name of any author upon the advertisement.

We have not consulted counsel as to whether the manner in which the book is advertised is an infringement of our rights, and have delay so, write to ask you whether in case we have legal right to stop these imitations of our title page, it is your desire that we proceed vigorously about it.

Yours respectfully,

CHARLES L. WEBSTER & CO.

Mt. McGregor, July 4th, 1885.

CHAS. L. WEBSTER & CO. Dear Sirs: Your letter with reference to imitations of the title page of my "Personal Memoirs" is received. It seems incredible to me that any one would be unprincipled enough to obtain subscriptions for a book of the character you name, by leading the public to believe that it is the one which I have written. But if such is the case, I think the wrong cannot be stopped so far the public know that this wrong is being done.

Yours truly,

U. S. GRANT.

State Teachers' Institute.

The State Teachers' Institute will be held at Boyne City, commencing at 10 o'clock a. m., Monday, August 24, and closing 4 p. m., Friday, August 28. Mr. R. L. Corbett, Boyne City, local committee. It is being a well established fact that an interchange of views, such as is given in these institutes, is of great practical benefit to those who attend them. The teachers that have been in the front ranks of their profession are generally those who take interest enough in their work to avail themselves of such means of improvement.

The institute law allows teachers, whose schools are in session at the time appointed for the county institute, held under the direction of the state superintendent, to close their schools during the continuance of such institute without forfeiting their wages for as many half days as they are in attendance at the institute. This removes a cause that has prevented many teachers from attending these institutes in the past, and in view of the inducements to self-improvement thus furnished by the law, county commissioners and school boards will both exercise wisdom and practice justice by giving preference to the teachers, other things being equal, who shall of such means to better prepare themselves for the work of their profession.

It is designed to make the work in these institutes as practical as possible, and thus meet the wants of the teachers of all grades in every work. At the same time it will be the purpose of every worker to raise the standard of the profession of teaching, and to gain for it that dignity to which it is entitled. Especial attention will be given to such subjects as have been recently added to the list of those in which teachers are required to pass examination before obtaining certificates.

The exercises will be conducted by persons of extended experience, known ability, and eminent success.

The morning and afternoon sessions will be devoted to the discussion of topics of particular interest to teachers, while the evening lectures will be of a popular character.

There will be no tuition or enrollment fee. Full particulars in regard to board etc., may be obtained upon application to the local committee.

THEODORE NELSON,

Superintendent of Public Instruction.

THE JOURNAL

BY CHAS. J. STRANG.

CHARLEVOIX, - - MICHIGAN.

NEWS CONDENSED.

Concise Record of the Week.

EASTERN.

A Catskill (New York) Saratoga says: Great fears had assumed the proportions of the wreck of a railroad company, which is backed by the Rockefellers and controls New Orleans, Chicago, St. Louis, Kansas City and Galveston railroad, though. In regard to this company's financial condition, nothing definite is positively very strong, and I have reason to state that the wreck is more than mere rumor. Its stock has been manipulated extraordinarily this week, due to its latest developments. It and gold and kindred stocks, which have been flying very wild, have shot from a range of six months ago, and yesterday slightly. As to the future prices of this company, I cannot speak very positively. Whether certain on Monday, Wednesday, Friday, or Saturday, I cannot tell. Who knows and manipulates stocks? The bulls or the bears?

Pendleton has been granted by the Gettysburg Memorial Association to the National Monument Association, for a grant a hundredth of the proceeds of the association.

Because of the breaking of a freight car engine has paralyzed in the West and East, causing a loss of Minneapolis, Pa., Newry Brown manufacture was lost and no one is to blame.

A terrific cyclone visited the village of Sandusky, Ohio, on Tuesday, N. Y., killing eight persons, injuring many others, and destroying a great amount of property. When the storm was in progress lasting, as alone, as a steady but fine and not only destroyed the growing crops but accident the farmers, it doing very serious damage to the buildings. Trees were uprooted in it this were the stacks of wheat, Texas wool, hom-grown, and the great place of water which rung, and the engine of the country Hourly argue out everything future. It. Hanson, barns, outhouses, and the Gettysburg and Lake Champlain railroad bridge over the Hudson River were demolished, through that were laid of nothing stronger than cardboard. A great stretch of the railroad track was torn up and carried many feet from its original position.

The population of Massachusetts, based on returns received for the census of 1890, is 1,059,094, a gain of 19.07 since 1885.

A petition asking Secretary Bayard to use his good offices in behalf of Louis Beal, on the ground that he is an American citizen, is in circulation in Massachusetts.

The Greenwood iron works at Greenwood, New York, have shut down, owing to the financial embarrassment of the company. J. S. Morris & Son, wholesale grocers of Philadelphia, have suspended payment.

WESTERN.

L. J. North & Co.'s large oat-meal mill at Leavenworth, Kansas, was burned, loss $75,000, fully covered by insurance. During the fire the meal dust exploded, carrying away the entire Main street mill, which was five stories high. The wind fell into the street, and several persons were buried in the mass, two or three were killed and a number seriously injured.

The editor of a Gallipolis, Ill., paper, who had published several objectionable editorials regarding Gen. Grant, was lynched in effigy.

Maxwell, who is charged with the murder of an Englishman named Foster at St. Louis some time ago, reached San Francisco from New Zealand last week in custody of the officer who were sent last around the world to take his arrest. He appeared cheerful, and declined to say anything about his case.

Returns from three-fourths of the counties in Kansas to the state board of Agriculture for July indicate a winter wheat yield of 60,000,000 bushels, being an average of five bushels to the acre. The spring wheat product is 1,250,000 bushels. The estimate of the corn yield is 195,000,000 bushels; condition, 81 per cent.

James W. Marshall, the original discoverer of gold in California, has just died in poverty at his home in that State. His age was 74.

A heavy rainstorm at Kansas City undermined two buildings occupied as a hardware and dry goods store respectively, by wrecking them. Ten persons lodged in the structures, but all escaped.

Hiles and Stewart Pond, sons of the late Elder Pond, ex-Indian Commissioner, were leading a Hicksite half in their farm, about twenty miles from St. Paul, when he became frightened and attacked the men, killing both a man and woman.

Vincent J. Scott, a private banker of Detroit, has made an assignment. His assets are given at $150,000, which, it is thought, will cover the liabilities.

The Missouri Monumental Grant Association has been organized at St. Louis to raise funds to erect a monument to the departed hero in that city.

A San Jose (Cal.) dispatch says a great sensation was caused there by the bold daylight robbery of the San Jose Safe Deposit Bank of Savings. A man entered the bank and obtained $167 of exchange for $85.50. A few minutes after the stranger departed the Cashier missed a tray containing $10,000 of gold in twenties. The alarm was immediately given and search made, but without avail. It is believed two or more men were engaged in the theft, and that while the attention of the bank officers was engaged by the man in front others slipped inside the counter and stole the money. The bank has offered $1,000 for the capture of the thieves or recovery of the money.

A San Francisco dispatch announces the death in that city of Hiram Hart Jackson, the washbrown authoress. Her disease was cancer of the stomach, and she literally starved to death.

In a collision with rotons strikers at Bay City, Mich., Sheriff Brennan was wounded in the head. Some of the men were arrested.

A sensation has been created in Yellowstone, Ohio, by the arrest of a man on charge from his parents that several years before of that city have been under treatment for detention insane. Disappears, with cash and the elevated company, who is heard to make his appearance.

The seventh anniversary of the installation of the Independent Order of Foresters in Kansas was celebrated at Chicago. There are expecting parade under command of chief marshal, William Kopperna, with chief of Forest Home as left hand. At the conclusion of the parade addresses were made in the Bauer Hall. There were about 4,000 men in line.

SOUTHERN.

Grov. Ireland, of Texas, has written a letter to Attorney General Boughton, inviting his attention to an gentlemanly to be in charge of the case of certain company railway lines in that state, to assistance of the authorities and aid. The attorney General is requested by that company railway officials to cooperate with the officers of the Government.

Because of the breaking of a freight car engine has paralyzed in the West and East, causing a loss of Minneapolis, Pa., Newry Brown manufacture was lost and no one is to blame.

A terrific cyclone visited the village of Sandusky, Ohio, on Tuesday, N. Y., killing eight persons, injuring many others, and destroying a great amount of property. When the storm was in progress lasting, as alone, as a steady but fine and not only destroyed the growing crops but accident the farmers, it doing very serious damage to the buildings. Trees were uprooted in it this were the stacks of wheat, Texas wool, home-grown, and the great place of water which rung, and the engine of the country Hourly argue out everything future. It. Hanson, barns, outhouses, and the Gettysburg and Lake Champlain railroad bridge over the Hudson River were demolished through that were laid of nothing stronger than cardboard. A great stretch of the railroad track was torn up and carried many feet from its original position.

The population of Massachusetts, based on returns received for the census of 1890, is 1,059,094, a gain of 19.07 since 1885.

A petition asking Secretary Bayard to use his good offices in behalf of Louis Beal, on the ground that he is an American citizen, is in circulation in Massachusetts.

The Greenwood iron works at Greenwood, New York, have shut down, owing to the financial embarrassment of the company. J. S. Morris & Son, wholesale grocers of Philadelphia, have suspended payment.

WESTERN.

L. J. North & Co.'s large oat-meal mill at Leavenworth, Kansas, was burned, loss $75,000, fully covered by insurance. During the fire the meal dust exploded, carrying away the entire Main street mill, which was five stories high. The wind fell into the street, and several persons were buried in the mass, two or three were killed and a number seriously injured.

The editor of a Gallipolis, Ill., paper, who had published several objectionable editorials regarding Gen. Grant, was lynched in effigy.

Maxwell, who is charged with the murder of an Englishman named Foster at St. Louis some time ago, reached San Francisco from New Zealand last week in custody of the officer who were sent last around the world to take his arrest. He appeared cheerful, and declined to say anything about his case.

Returns from three-fourths of the counties in Kansas to the state board of Agriculture for July indicate a winter wheat yield of 60,000,000 bushels, being an average of five bushels to the acre. The spring wheat product is 1,250,000 bushels. The estimate of the corn yield is 195,000,000 bushels; condition, 81 per cent.

James W. Marshall, the original discoverer of gold in California, has just died in poverty at his home in that State. His age was 74.

A heavy rainstorm at Kansas City undermined two buildings occupied as a hardware and dry goods store respectively, by wrecking them. Ten persons lodged in the structures, but all escaped.

Hiles and Stewart Pond, sons of the late Elder Pond, ex-Indian Commissioner, were leading a Hicksite half in their farm, about twenty miles from St. Paul, when he became frightened and attacked the men, killing both a man and woman.

Vincent J. Scott, a private banker of Detroit, has made an assignment. His assets are given at $150,000, which, it is thought, will cover the liabilities.

The Missouri Monumental Grant Association has been organized at St. Louis to raise funds to erect a monument to the departed hero in that city.

A San Jose (Cal.) dispatch says a great sensation was caused there by the bold daylight robbery of the San Jose Safe Deposit Bank of Savings. A man entered the bank and obtained $167 of exchange for $85.50. A few minutes after the stranger departed the Cashier missed a tray containing $10,000 of gold in twenties. The alarm was immediately given and search made, but without avail. It is believed two or more men were engaged in the theft, and that while the attention of the bank officers was engaged by the man in front others slipped

LATER NEWS ITEMS.

Two hundred Indians are said to be on the warpath between Swift current and Battleford, Northwest Territory.

Smallpox has been declared epidemic in Montreal by the local Board of Health. Eighty hospital stations throughout the city.

Sixteen mills at Saginaw City are now running on extraordinary jobs, and only four mills in Saginaw are in operation.

John Gate, an aged farmer, living near Ionia, Mich., one day, Mrs. was found dead in bed, with his hands and feet bound, and several wounds in the head. There is no sign to the murderers or more secure.

In the Chickasaw Nation, I. T., Thomas Jones, a negro, was hanged Friday for a crime committed three years ago. Jones had not been captured by Sheriff Crossland until last.

Wheat in Minnesota, north of St. Paul, has been damaged by night and hail storms, and some fear the crop is not worth saving. Corn in the same territory is doing well.

William Hanssam, a Hungarian, committed suicide at Iron Mountain, Mich., by throwing himself in the path of the Chicago and Northern Pacific fast mail.

Afghan troops are said to be massing at Peiwar.

Germany's supremacy in the possessions claimed by its subjects in Zanzibar has been confirmed by the Sultan, under the protectorate of Germany, instead of the country which takes a position in front of his palace.

In a speech at Wimbermunster, Lord Randolph Churchill denounced the Radicals as "a crew of the lowest and most cowardly which, in such was found equally universal." He repudiated the charge that he desired a war with Russia for the sake of secure peace.

The extreme heat prevailing at Marquette has given the citizens there a fresh impetus, the number of new cases and leaks having been quickly increased. Ice manufacturers in the south of France have been stimulated an amount of the produce.

James Horace Jones, a wife-murderer, was executed at Troy, N. Y. He made the following will: "I give and bequeath to Dr. Peter Hawenson, my surgeon, my soul, body. I hope he will treat my soul as I hope Jones's and protected from mutilation. Dissection and Bernardin my heart is bequeathed with such a charge. I appoint Father Hoormans executor of my will." Jones tacked to the scaffold with a steady step and spoke wonderfully cool with the final preparations for his execution were completed. He ended in his speech, and appeared anxious that there should be no delay.

Several tenement houses took fire from a barrel factory in Jersey City, and before was finally extinguished extensively damaged, and many of occupants were burned to the ground. The tenants all escaped in their night clothes.

Secretary Manning has issued an order facilitating the reopening of accounts in the Treasury Department after they have been closed, except in cases where material is found to be discovered after the accounts. The order is issued as a result of many claims.

The following is a technical description of the new immediate delivery stamp: A size engraved on steel, oblong in form; inches, 1.5.36 by 1.5.18 inches; color, dark blue; design on the left an arched panel bearing the figures of a mail messenger's cap on a rim, and surrounded by the words "United States." On the right, an arched panel, ornamented with a wreath of oak and laurel surrounding the words, "Immediate delivery." Between the two panels, the inscription "Across the top of the panel the legend, "Special postal delivery," and at the bottom the words "Ten cents," separated by a small shield bearing the numeral "10."

THE MARKETS.

NEW YORK.

BEEVES	$3.90 @ 4.35
SHEEP	4.00 @ 5.50
WHEAT—No. 1 White	.99 @ 1.00
WHEAT—No. 2 Red	.90 @ .91
CORN—No. 2	.59 @ .60
OATS—Mixed	.32 @ .33
PORK—Mess	11.25 @ 11.75

CHICAGO.

BEEVES—Choice to Prime Steers	5.75 @ 6.25
Good Shipping	5.25 @ 5.50
Common	4.00 @ 4.75
HOGS	5.00 @ 5.25
FLOUR—Fancy Red Winter Ex.	4.50 @ 4.75
Fancy in Choice Spring	4.75 @ 4.85
WHEAT—No. 2 Spring	.87 @ .88
CORN—No. 2	.55 @ .56
OATS—No. 2	.33 @ .33
RYE—No. 2	.78 @ .79
BARLEY—No. 2	.65 @ .66
BUTTER—Choice Creamery	.17 @ .18
Dairies	.15 @ .16
CHEESE—Full Cream, new	.08½ @ .09
EGGS—Fresh Laid	.14 @ .15
LARD—Steam	6.40 @ 6.45
PORK—Mess, per bbl	10.00 @ 10.50
PORK—Dressed	9.00 @ 9.50

TOLEDO.

WHEAT—No. 2 Red	.89 @ .90
CORN—No. 2	.47 @ .48
OATS—No. 2	.32 @ .33

MILWAUKEE.

WHEAT—No. 1	.87 @ .88
WHEAT—No. 2	.85 @ .86
OATS—No. 2	.33 @ .33
RYE—No. 1	.78 @ .79
PORK—Mess	9.35 @ 9.75

ST. LOUIS.

WHEAT—No. 2 Red	.90 @ .90
CORN—Mixed	.42 @ .43
OATS—Mixed	.32 @ .33
PORK—Mess	9.75 @10.25

CINCINNATI.

WHEAT—No. 2 Red, new	.94 @ .95
CORN—Mixed	.49 @ .50
OATS—Mixed	.29 @ .30
RYE—No. 1 Fall	.80 @ .82
PORK—Mess	10.00 @11.00

DETROIT.

FLOUR	4.50 @ 5.75
WHEAT—No. 1 White	.92 @ .93
WHEAT—No. 2 White	.91 @ .92
CORN—No. 2	.49 @ .50
PORK—Mess	11.00 @11.00
LIVE CATTLE	3.00 @ 3.60

INDIANAPOLIS.

WHEAT—No. 2 Red	.94 @ .95
CORN—Mixed	.45 @ .46
OATS—No. 2	.32 @ .33

EAST LIBERTY.

CATTLE—Fat	5.60 @ 6.00
Fair	5.00 @ 5.50
Common	4.00 @ 4.30
HOGS	5.25 @ 5.50
SHEEP	4.25 @ 5.00

BUFFALO.

CATTLE	4.00 @ 6.00
HOGS	4.50 @ 5.00
SHEEP	5.00 @ 6.00

MICHIGAN AFFAIRS.

—At Hancock a 10-year-old boy named Zimmerman killed a playmate with a baseball bat.

There are over 100 visitors at the Sanitarium St. Louis that register from Chicago.

—Saginaw has two base-ball clubs named The Independent Jan Hawkins" and "The Gay Times Club."

—The season has been the most favorable for harvesting that Saginaw County has known for years.

—Rev. Mr. Navarre of Frankenmuth, Saginaw County, dropped dead while on his way to mail one of his daughter.

—The place of work was adjourned by the Manufacturers of the City to the coal barrel, owing to the recent strike.

—In addition to 12 of the entire Saginaw or Bay City mills, there are 5 other mills in Saginaw County, which have been shut down since last season.

—Wheat in Minnesota, north of St. Paul, has been damaged by night and hail storms, and some fear the crop is not worth saving. Corn in the same territory is doing well.

—William Hanssam, a Hungarian, committed suicide at Iron Mountain, Mich., by throwing himself in the path of the Chicago and Northern Pacific fast mail.

—Afghan troops are said to be massing at Peiwar.

—Germany's supremacy in the possessions claimed by its subjects in Zanzibar has been confirmed by the Sultan, under the protectorate of Germany, instead of the country which takes a position in front of his palace.

—In a speech at Wimbermunster, Lord Randolph Churchill denounced the Radicals as "a crew of the lowest and most cowardly which, in such was found equally universal." He repudiated the charge that he desired a war with Russia for the sake of secure peace.

—The extreme heat prevailing at Marquette has given the citizens there a fresh impetus, the number of new cases and leaks having been quickly increased. Ice manufacturers in the south of France have been stimulated an amount of the produce.

—James Horace Jones, a wife-murderer, was executed at Troy, N. Y. He made the following will: "I give and bequeath to Dr. Peter Hawenson, my surgeon, my soul, body. I hope he will treat my soul as I hope Jones's and protected from mutilation. Dissection and Bernardin my heart is bequeathed with such a charge. I appoint Father Hoormans executor of my will." Jones tacked to the scaffold with a steady step and spoke wonderfully cool with the final preparations for his execution were completed. He ended in his speech, and appeared anxious that there should be no delay.

—Several tenement houses took fire from a barrel factory in Jersey City, and before was finally extinguished extensively damaged, and many of occupants were burned to the ground. The tenants all escaped in their night clothes.

—Secretary Manning has issued an order facilitating the reopening of accounts in the Treasury Department after they have been closed, except in cases where material is found to be discovered after the accounts. The order is issued as a result of many claims.

—The following is a technical description of the new immediate delivery stamp: A size engraved on steel, oblong in form; inches, 1.5.36 by 1.5.18 inches; color, dark blue; design on the left an arched panel bearing the figures of a mail messenger's cap on a rim, and surrounded by the words "United States." On the right, an arched panel, ornamented with a wreath of oak and laurel surrounding the words, "Immediate delivery." Between the two panels, the inscription "Across the top of the panel the legend, "Special postal delivery," and at the bottom the words "Ten cents," separated by a small shield bearing the numeral "10."

MISCELLANEOUS.

Moro Phillips, of Texas, with an estimated fortune of $10,000,000, died in the Monmouth House, Long Branch, N. J., aged 75 years. He entered the house upon the ground where the city of Galveston now stands.

Two engines attached to a Grand Trunk passenger train ran off an open bridge into the Niagara River at Merrillton, Ontario, one of the engineers being killed, two other trainmen dangerously hurt, and a number of persons injured.

The New York Produce Exchange estimates the visible supply of wheat in nearly all the United States, which over 1,500,000 bushels of corn are in sight.

A train on the Grand Trunk struck an express wagon containing George Wade and James Moser at Hue Hoquets, Canada, demolishing the wagon and killing both men.

President Cleveland has gone to the Adirondacks for his summer vacation. A dispatch from his safe locks, New York, says: "President Cleveland, accompanied by D. Ward, of Albany, passed through here en route for the Adirondacks. They were met at the depot by the Hon. H. B. Graves and taken to his residence, where a dinner prepared was given, after which the party was met by Paul Smith, who took them in stage to the Prospect House, where the President will spend a few weeks." Plattsburg (N. Y.) dispatch: "President Cleveland and Dr. Ward arrive at the Prospect House, Upper Saranac Lake, about 6 o'clock. They had a pleasant, uneventful journey, and feel very well. They came from the railway terminus at Lake Placid."

When the wife of Louis Kiel, who resides a few miles from Winnipeg, heard of her husband's sentence she became frantic and fled from her home in the woods, where she hid. The man was partially clothed, and her hair fell, and was nearly dead when found by her friends, to terrifies the woman, who never recovered her senses. In Winnipeg a great deal of sympathy is felt for her and her children, and a subscription list has been started for them, as they are penniless.

The transfer of the Bankers and Merchants' Telegraph property to the United Lines Telegraph Company has been consummated. Under the reorganization the bonded indebtedness will be reduced from $16,000,000 to $1,200,000.

The salt inspection in the United States during the month of July was as follows:

	Barrels.
Saginaw County	14,400
Bay County	7,550
Huron County	17,000
Lake County	1,000
Midland County	5,000
Manistee County	2,000
All other Counties	10,000
Total	56,950

The total inspection for the year up to date is 1,828,225 barrels, for the corresponding period of 1884, 1,728,013 barrels.

—The movement in this city for the organization of a society and the building of an apparatus to cremate the bodies of the dead is only one of several similar enterprises in the larger cities. In Cincinnati a crematory of most elegant design is about to be erected. In Philadelphia and the country this custom will have become, if not common, at least not exceptional. There will be probably enough found in Detroit who desire incineration for themselves and their families to support a modest establishment for the purpose.—Free Press.

—Capt. C. H. Mosly, of Ann Arbor, President of the First Regiment of Michigan Volunteers, makes the following announcement: "There will be a reunion of the old First Regiment of Volunteer Infantry at Devil's Lake, Lenawee County, Michigan, Aug. 27, at 10 o'clock, to which we hope all ex-members of the old regiment will be present, that we may once more see old familiar faces, that each may take by the hand his old comrade once again before the bugle shall sound for us to pass before the great Captain in the final review, to whom our beloved chieftain has so lately been called to report."

MICHIGAN AFFAIRS.

—At Hancock a 10-year-old boy named Zimmerman killed a playmate with a baseball bat.

There are over 100 visitors at the Sanitarium St. Louis that register from Chicago.

—Saginaw has two base-ball clubs named "The Independent Jan Hawkins" and "The Gay Times Club."

—The season has been the most favorable for harvesting that Saginaw County has known for years.

—Rev. Mr. Navarre of Frankenmuth, Saginaw County, dropped dead while on his way to mail one of his daughter.

—The place of work was adjourned by the Manufacturers of the City to the coal barrel, owing to the recent strike.

—In addition to 12 of the entire Saginaw or Bay City mills, there are 5 other mills in Saginaw County, which have been shut down since last season.

THE JOURNAL

BY CHAS. J. STRANG.

CHARLEVOIX, - - MICHIGAN.

MARY is the commonest name in France, where, as in Italy, the custom prevails of giving the Virgin's name to a boy, in conjunction with a distinctly male appellation. Thus Hugo was Victor Marie, and the into Pope was Hyacinthe Maria. After Mary come in order of frequency Louis, Joseph, Charles, Henry, John, Francis, Peter, Paul, Julien, Maurice, Anthony, Eugene, Leon, Victor, Augustus, Edward, Ernest, and George.

The storms that occur in the West, with heavy electric discharges and more or less wind, but no rain, are to be investigated most carefully by the signal service. "If it be conclusively shown," says Nature, "that thunderstorms occur unaccompanied by any rain, a contribution of no ordinary importance will be made to the theory of the thunderstorm. In the department of meteorology, accurately observed facts continue still to be the great desideratum."

THE late Dr. Samuel Irenæus Prime was for a long time editor of the "Editor's Drawer" in Harper's Magazine. When he took the "Drawer" in charge he had been editing the Observer thirteen years without saving a cent. For his services in conducting the "Drawer" he received $100 a month. This he religiously laid away in bank, and at the end of five years he had $6,000 cash. With this he made his first payment toward his shares in the New York Observer, which afterward brought him wealth.

"I HAVE not read Miss Cleveland's book," said Colonel Ingersoll to a reporter; "but if the author condemns the poetry of George Eliot she has made a mistake. There is no poem in any language more beautiful than 'The Lovers,' and none better and purer than 'The Choir Invisible.' There is no poetry in the 'Beyond.' The poetry is here—here in this world where love is—in the heart. The poetry of the 'beyond' is too far away—a little far removed. Shelley's 'Sky Lark' is one of the most perfect lyrics in our language. I have heard it sung by a little orphan boy in Montreal. It is a sweet little boy, and the waiters are proud of him. Murray stands near the door, and to every gentleman who enters he bows and says, 'Your servant, sir.' As a special favor to friends of distinguished visitors, he sometimes presides at the open coal fire-place, cooking oysters in a little or batter, or broiling a bird or fish.

HUMOR.

A PICTURE from still life—a Bourbon punch bowl.

WHY is sovereign has pants for lunatics generally makes branches of peace.

"BOY, what is the reason you use not up?" "Well, father, it is so dark; you I can't see to wake up."

TWO ways of looking at it: He reading a paper: "A Greenland man has sold his wife." She: "What is that?" He: "I don't know about that. He got $200 for her."

"HUBBY! Do I understand that Greek?" said a jolly German. "Yell, I should can schnide. Vy, yen I was a bottle pop, I always saw m dot greek in schlemil of d d riffer."

BALD WAKES EXPERIENCE SAY: "Joy of the spirit indicates its strength," and the distillers of Old Medford Rum replied in chorus: "Right you are, Mr. Poet!"—Albany Gazette.

MISTRESS (to amiable servant maid): "I am going to the opera this evening, so I shall probably be home late." Amiable maid: "O, you needn't apologize to me for that. The will be here."

WHAT did Claude Melnotte take Pauline for when he said "Neigh, dearest, neigh?"—Ex. He no doubt thought she was a little hoarse, but it will be remembered that he took her "for better or worse."—Norristown Herald.

THE REVISED VERSION.

They've broken many souls the revisers,
And like a well blacker I am
"Will be forgiven my sins and my miseries
But they revised it at all.
It is as cut to every nation
In the range of humanity's box;
But they omitted the verse in the Bible
That makes me feel stood-still toward men.
—Boston Courier.

WHEN the Indian is up to development he paints his own mug red to begin out hot when the urchin from the cattle ranch becomes the native partner of Satan, somebody else provides the groundwork for the fresco.—Chicago Ledger.

JOURNALISM to his wife: "I feel very bad this morning. I don't see that it's worth while to go to work, for my head aches so painfully that I can not think. Why, I don't try to think any today, dear. Stay at home and work on your dress."

A LAWYER received this indignant postal from a client to whom a typewriter had been sent: "I want you to understand that you wouldn't print letters sent to me. I am real mad. Write me right away and don't want to be insulted by reflections on my education."

"WHEN I grow up I will be a man, won't I?" asked a little Texas boy of his mother last long scrub. "I want you to be a man, you must be industrious and honest, and learn how to behave yourself." "Why, ma, the boys turn out to be women when they grow up!"—Texas Siftings.

"Have you heard the news, Pat?" said a jester to an Irishman. "Ay, that's thing," said Pat, with a groan. "The devil has broke loose." "Take that, sor. It's all I have by me, and it might do better," said Pat, handing him a penny. "What's that? Why, you said an orphant asylum anything." "—Chicago Ledger.

NOT SO BAD AS THAT.

"Young Shad's in a fix.
I have proposed a will,
I have offered gold in the dark;
I have it hinted a hint,
I have written for him,
My sweetest love caused some remark.
I have spoken hard words,
I have revealed the poor fish,
I've done all my duty, and shad refuses
To write to her.
In a dynamite plot,
And I never saw poor shad so happy.

THE New York Ledger says: "A rich man can hardly afford to die, now-a-days, on account of the cormorants of the law who are ready to make up a large part of his estate in contesting his will." This obstacle may be easily removed. If Mr. Bonanza will exchange his "golden" name for a name which will sounds like "gobbling up" process, when the time comes. We don't suppose he ever thought of that.—Norristown Herald.

A GOOD police-court lawyer, after a few snipped around among the pomatoes, and, selecting the toughest-looking one in the crowd, he nudged her just a little, and she looked around. "You got six months in the Works," he whispered. "Eh, what for?" she answered. "Well, I'm a friend of yours, and I—" "Keep still," she sang out; "don't give it away. I'll get six months for assault the Judge ever gets on to it. He didn't give it away further.—Merchant Traveler.

The Use of Fans.

When fans were first introduced into Europe they were used by men as much as women, but it was soon discovered that awkward hands of masculinity had nothing in common with an article so delicate and graceful, and soon it became the sole prerogative of women to carry a fan. In her hands it became a means of fascination, of coquetry, of love-making, of coquetry, and of a kind of silent talk on all kinds of subjects. She could conceal her face, her blushes, her revenges, and after the conclusion she could let it be a faithful sometimes does his sword. A French lady of the time of Louis XV. declared that, however agreeable, graceful, and elegantly dressed a lady might be she would necessarily be ridiculous unless she knew how to handle a fan; that you could tell a Princess from a Countess, a Countess from a Marquise, a Marquise from an untitled lady, by the delicate movements of her fan, and that this useful instrument, by its opening and closing, its raising and falling, its coquetting with her, its pointing and beating, conveyed an encyclopedia of meaning.

FRIGHTFUL MINE ACCIDENT.

A Gas Explosion is a Coal Mine Near Wilkesbarre, Pa., Kills Eighteen Men.

[Wilkesbarre (Pa.) special.]

The most disastrous mine accident of recent years in the anthracite coal fields occurred to-day at Maccanopin, on the east bank of the Susquehanna River, fourteen miles from this city, and opposite the town of Shickshinny. Nearly a score of unlucky miners who left their homes this morning light of heart and in the best of spirits are now cold in death, having been suffocated by the deadly gas.

Fifty-eight men went to work in the mine in the morning, and at half-past 8 o'clock it was discovered that the machinery that ran the fan that supplies the air was broken. The fan stopped and the gas accumulated before the men could be notified of their peril. A few escaped by their own efforts, but nearly all were overcome and met gasping deaths.

Twelve bodies have been recovered. Following are the names of the dead:

James Whalen, aged 35; leaves three children, William Price, aged 22; unmarried. John Price, aged 24; married. Peter Bowatoski, aged 27; married. Anthony Bowatoski, brother of Peter Bowatoski, aged 23; married. William Zerkie, aged 24; married. Nicholas Bertels, 45 years old; leaves a wife and five children. James Fry, 32 years old; leaves a wife and two children. John Billby, aged 46; leaves a wife and four children. Anthony Borskie, aged 24; unmarried. William Rynere, aged 36; leaves a wife and three children. Anthony N. Yarski; unmarried. John Brukoski, aged 28.

Thousands of excited people are loitering about the vicinity of the disaster, and willing volunteers take turns in going into the mine to rescue those who may yet be alive, and to remove the bodies of the dead. Six more dead bodies were discovered at nine o'clock this evening.

The fans are not yet at work, but an air passage has been made through a second opening in the mine, and it is thought that the rescuers will soon be able to penetrate further into the slope.

The scenes in the town of Shickshinny and about the mines are indescribable. The friends and relatives of the doomed men are gathered in hundreds. Women and children are mourning and weeping. Strong men shed tears, and the sobs of the bereaved wives of those who have been taken out are heartrending.

Every time brings hundreds from the surrounding towns, and it is estimated that at least a thousand people are gathered in the vicinity of the disaster.

The Salem Coal Company suspended work at the mines, and all hands are helping to recover the bodies in the mines.

LAND LARCENY.

A Partial List of Those Who Have Been Extensively Engaged in It.

[Washington dispatch.]

The following is a list of the illegal incidences of public land of which the General Land Office has specific knowledge, which are affected by the President's proclamation:

Persons and residence.	Acres.
Lawrence Bros., Pueblo County, Colorado	50,720
Lawrence Bros., Pueblo County, Colorado	16,720
John Hepperner, Pueblo County, Colorado	16,720
Lambert Bros., Pueblo County, Colorado	47,200
A. C. Tuttle, Pueblo County, Colorado	16,920
John C. Bent, Bent County, Colorado	46,720
Daniel Kern, Bent County, Colorado	46,720
Bent Bros., Bent County, Colorado	46,720
Rich Brothers, Bent County, Colorado	46,720
Cave Ongman, Bent County, Colorado	46,720
Lawrence Bros., El Paso County, Colorado	16,920
Allen Bros., El Paso County, Colorado	16,720
T. F. Spinney, Park County, Colorado	6,720
Thomas Bros., Park County, Colorado	6,720
Pelmbender & Orr, Beaverhead County, Mont.	25,920
Charles Beaubien, Silver Bow County, Mont.	30,000
Montana Stock Company, Silver Bow County, Mont.	30,000
Montana Mining, Silver Bow County, Mont.	30,000
Jessica A. Campbell, Custer County, Montana	2,500
C. H. Hutton, Albany County, Wyoming	2,500
William Walker, Bear County, Utah	5,000
Hatch Brothers, Uinta County, Utah	5,000
Hatchfield, Thomas & Blake, Kingman and Mohave Counties, Arizona	23,000
Thomas Hogan, Lander and Eureka Counties, Nevada	12,120
Robert Fletcher, Lander County, Nevada	12,000
Frank Jarvis, Lander County, Nevada	12,000
Jarvis & Fletcher, Lander County, Nevada	12,000
Fletcher & Co., Shoshone County, Nevada	3,000
Circle Land Company, Sioux County, Nebraska	5,000
Dawes Land Company, Sioux County, Nebraska	5,000
Thomas Kay, Sioux County, Utah	9,000
Jacob Smith, Sioux County, Utah	9,000
Thomas Kay, Sioux County, Utah	9,000
Northwestern Cattle Company, Montana	500
Bonanza, Montana	500
Austin Stevens, Pueblo County, Colorado	6,000
A. T. Hawkins, Las Animas County, Col.	6,000
A. T. Hawkins, Bent County, Colorado	6,000
Columbia Cattle Company, Las Animas County, Colorado	6,000
H. S. Hotby, Bent County, Colorado	2,000
Andrew Bros., Bent County, Colorado	2,000
Jacob Graham, Bent County, Colorado	2,000
J. Anderson, Pueblo County, Colorado	1,000
Humphrey Bros., Bent County, Colorado	1,000
J. W. Weaver, Pueblo County, Colorado	1,000
J. W. Potter, Bent County, Colorado	1,000
Frank Hoffman, Bent County, Colorado	1,000
Frank Hoffman, Pueblo County, Col.	2,500
Frank Hoffman, Las Animas County, Col.	2,500
R. E. Kimberley, Arapahoe County, Col.	2,500
Kimberley Brothers, Bent County, Colorado	2,500

Suits have been instituted or recommended in the following cases:

	Acres Included.
Arkansas Valley Land and Cattle Company, Colorado	1,000,000
Prince Land Company, Colorado	1,000,000
Pueblo Cattle Company, Colorado	1,000,000
Justus H. Anderson, Colorado	30,000
James S. Rice, Colorado	2,000
Jean Travers, Colorado	2,000
Hamilton Bros., Colorado	20,000
Benjamin Strasser, Nebraska	125,000
Hy. Strasser, Nebraska	125,000
Merrill Scott, Georgia	1,000
Burke & Sons, Nebraska	1,400
	392

SPLINTERS.

HERBERTINE ALCARGE leads the woman's rights movement in France.

THOMAS HUGHES is engaged in writing a biography of Peter Cooper.

SIR CHARLES DILKE, it is said, is preparing to settle on a Dakota cattle ranch from the box, three days afterward, weighed twenty-six and one-quarter pounds.

A PHILADELPHIA paper says "Onida" is forty-five years, and, if flesh be grass, is a weedy old hale of hay. This idea is derived from an old contest between George D. Prentice, of Louisville, and John Brough, of Cincinnati. Mr. P., at that time in his prime, delighted in picking at Mr. Brough, a man abundantly supplied with adipose tissue. Among other things that Mr. Prentice wrote in the Louisville Journal was this:

It flesh be grass, as people say,
Then Johnny Brough's a load of hay.

Promptly in the next issue of Mr. Brough's Cincinnati paper came the reply:

If flesh be grass, as Prentice feels it,
Then he's an ass for attempting to eat it.

The Louisville man ceased nibbling for a few days.

A BOSTON legal authority says that the young lady who has been jilted has the right to read the receivers letters in her breach-of-promise suit, but she must not weave them into a novel and copyright them. That privilege belongs to the gentleman. She may, however, demand the return of her own letters as her property. This is not the popular idea, but there have been some many decisions. George Washington kept copies of his letters and bequeathed them to his nephew, who had them published. A compiler of another biography of Washington copied them. There was a lawsuit. The Judge said that Washington did not part with the ownership by sending the letters to his correspondents, and he declared this doctrine applicable to all letters, whether of literary value or not.

A DISCUSSION is going on in Europe concerning the distance at which large objects on the earth's surface may be visible. Emil Metzger mentions that he once saw, with some assistance, Reizenspitzer in Sumatra, when distant 180 English miles; and he also made out Gang Mempi, in Java, when 190 miles away. From the Pic Morens, near Bissentis, E. Hill has seen Mont Blanc, the intervening space measuring about 110 miles. J. Starkie Gardner states that Mont Blanc is visible from the Piz Longard, though distant about three degrees. In Greenland Mr. Whymper beheld a mountain from which he was separated by 240 miles, and from Marseilles Zuch saw Mont Canigou at a distance of 158 miles. The whole range of the Swiss Alps has been looked upon by J. Hippisley when 200 miles away, while Sir W. Jones has affirmed that the Himalayas have been seen by him from the great distance of 224 miles.

AS THE smallest details concerning the personality of great men are interesting, says a London paper, the subject of the lastly weight of Prince Bismarck has been suggested as one fit for the serious consideration of an enthusiastic German professor who would take it up. Does "the man of blood and iron" weigh as large a part of his estate in contemplating his will." This obstacle may be easily removed. If Mr. Bonanza will exchange his name for a name which will sounds like "gobbling up" process, when the time comes. We don't suppose he ever thought of that.—Norristown Herald.

A GOOD police-court lawyer, after a few snipped around among the pomatoes, and, selecting the toughest-looking one in the crowd, he nudged her just a little, and

[illegible]

Notes and News.

[illegible]

The New York World has compiled the pathetic list of over one hundred thousand dollars and has taken the Great Metropolitan Dress Ball in hand. It promises success.

On Sunday, Aug. 9, the New York World published 101,422,000 copies. Could it be a great and a successful newspaper?

For the Stomach's Ache.

Joe Howard, a veteran New York journalist, who has wrestled successfully with a hundred epidemics and drank enough whisky to float a gunboat, gives the following advice to persons troubled with stomachic warm fluxes of the approach of cholera or something else in the line of pain and internal, social disorder, which kind gin. They allay the pain temporarily, but they excite, evaporate and inflame the stomach, and worse results follow. Avoid all whisky mixtures, which are all made of laudanum, peppermint, red pepper and camphor. They may allay the pain, but the latter effect is consecutively explosive. Hostetter's bitters and a dose. In this case, as in nearly everything in life, the simplest are easiest to the last. Take a spoonful of the essence of ginger in a wineglass of water, the hotter the better, and keep it palatable with a little sugar. It acts like magic, and stops a cholera morbus pain and all pleasant sensations disappear, and you feel tolerably well. Aside, however, from the medicinal value of what is the best remedy, it is excellent as many cents for a pleasant beverage and one dispensing with the wasting and expensive family doctor, and the further advantage of not having men die calling from its effects.

The World's Pedestal Fund.

New York, August 10.—The World will announce tomorrow the completion of the pedestal for Bartholdi statue, fund of $100,000. The subscriptions have been running 147 days, averaging per day, $679. The highest amount received from any one source was $2,500 from the Brighton Beach Racing Association; the largest number by any day were $3,525, received June 21. Only two individuals have given, one made $1,000, Pierre Lorillard and Joseph Pulitzer, editor of the World. The next largest sum to come from a single family was $200 given by Hon. R. R. Foster, his wife and two children. About thirty men have given $250 each and a half dozen individuals have given $100 each. Only about $10,000 of the fund's work was laid in sums of $100 or more. Very few contributions have been in sums of $25 or less, nearly $80,000 was received in sums of less than $1. The grand total footed up $162,857.50 contributed by 120,000 persons.

DO BITES.

Are you troubled with thick, cloyed and frequent flow of urine, pain in the loins and back and nervous prostration? These are some of the symptoms of Bright's disease, diabetes, and other dangerous kidney diseases. Dodd's remedies, but you Dyspepsia, Diabetes, Bright's and Liver Cure which will in all cases cure you but leave up the system and prevent dyspepsia, sick headache, biliousness, liver complaint and all kindred diseases. Only $1.00 for large bottles.

Sold by Dr. G. W. Crosier, Charlevoix, and Gaskin & Barnes, Bradford.

Cure or Pleas.

Pills are large, easy purgative, and should be taken by those who desire a cathartic. Cancer the method to purchase be for some affection of the stomach or bowels or piles. A trial convinces of their superior merit. Sold by druggists, manufacturers of the celebrated Dr. J. Bull's Sarsaparilla, Bull's Cough Syrup, Bull's Worm Lozenges, after pattern which is a complete medicine chest. Price 25 cents. Dr. Bull's Pills 25 cents. Ask for Dr. Bull's Pills, which have thrown down the pills advertised, sometimes from a 15 cents. Price 25 cents. Sold by Geo. W. Crosier.

Hard Times.

[illegible]

CHANCERY SALE.

[illegible]

CHANCERY SALE.

[illegible]

C. R. BELLINGER

New Jewelry and Silverware

SOLID AND PLATED.

Pins, Charms, and Chains.

Watches, Clocks, and Optical Goods.

New style of Monogram Pin just received. Sewing Machine Oil 25 cents a bottle.

WM. J. STEVENSON,

HORSE-SHOEING,

Wagon Shop,

BLACKSMITHING, ETC.

Horse Shoeing a specialty. Wagon work ironed and repaired. Carriages and Buggies painted and varnished. Shop one door west of Carpenter, Bartlett & Co's Store, Charlevoix.

CASH FOR

FAT CATTLE,

Sheep and Hogs.

Having contracted to furnish Fresh Meats to the Charlevoix markets, this season, I will pay the highest market price for fat Cattle, Sheep, and Hogs.

A. J. McLEOD.

Charlevoix, Mich. 26-tf

$100 REWARD

Every Grange or Lodge should be supplied with

U. G. Soap

The Great So Cake,

Made only by

GOWANS & STOVER,

BUFFALO, N. Y.

For Sale by all First Class Grocers.

John Nicholls,

CHARLEVOIX, MICH.

Manufacturer of and dealer in

HARDWOOD AND PINE

LUMBER!

ALSO

Dressed Lumber, Car Blades,

MAGIC GROOVES, SHINGLES, LATH, ETC.

LUMBER SAWED AND BILLS FILLED TO ORDER.

Good Goods and Low Prices

ARE

BOUND TO WIN

If you don't believe it, come and see my SPRING STOCK You will see that I am up to the times in styles, and have as fine an assortment of MEN'S, YOUTH'S and CHILDREN'S SUITS, as you will find in any City. I defy any House to show any nicer line of NECK WEAR and

Furnishing Goods

My aim is to HOLD THE CLOTHING TRADE, by carrying a Large Stock so I can please you all. PRICES TALK Come and see my Large Spring Stock before buying elsewhere.

GEO. W. MILLER.

HENRY C. COOPER

Undertaker!

CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN.

Coffins, Caskets, and Trimmings Always in Stock.

Come and See my Stock of Furniture.

THE HOWE MACHINE CO.

AT THE FRONT.

OUR LATEST SUCCESS.

Easy Running Sewing Machine

The Most Room under the Arm.
The Best Self-Setting Needle.
The Largest Bobbin.
The Easiest Shuttle to Thread.
The Most Perfect Tension.
The Most Reliable Feed.
The Most Perfect Take-up.
The Best Bobbin Winder.

SIMPLE, STRONG, DURABLE & HANDSOME

Runs Rapidly, Very Light, Very Still, and without Vibration.

Before you purchase, please examine the NEW HOWE at the office of

Mrs. M. Litney, Agt., Charlevoix

Photographs!

I have located my

New Photograph Gallery

OVER

DUPRIGHT, & EMREY & & CO. S & STORE.

And am prepared to do

All Kinds of Photographic Work,

From the

Miniature Picture to Life Size

Any Old Picture Copied and Enlarged.

Satisfaction Guaranteed.

DAVE SCADDEER,

Charlevoix, Mich.

GET THE BEST

If your neighbor wants a clean, handsome, weekly newspaper, giving all the latest and most complete news, and the best stories and miscellaneous reading for little more than one month, tell him to send 25 cents for one month, 25 cents for one month, to publishers of

The Charlevoix Journal,

CHARLEVOIX, MICH.

THIS PAPER may be found on Great Oak, Advertising Bureau (Nelson Sill & Co.'s Agency), Chicago, where contracts may be made for it IN NEW YORK.

Charlevoix and East Jordan.

[illegible]

Harbor Springs, Petoskey, Charlevoix and East Jordan.

STEAMER THOMAS PRIANT.

[illegible]

Hannah, Lay & Co.'s Pleasure Steamer,

STEAMER TIP TOP.

[illegible]

CITY OF GRAND RAPIDS.

[illegible]

T. S. PAXTON.

[illegible]

Grand Rapids & Indiana R. R.

The Tuckahoe, effect June 21, 1885.

GOING NORTH.

STATIONS.	No. 2	No. 6	No. 4	No. 8
Chicago	7 00 pm	3 40 pm
Kalamazoo	10 [illegible]	6 [illegible]
Battle Creek	[illegible]	[illegible]
Marshall	[illegible]	[illegible]
Albion	[illegible]	[illegible]
Jackson	[illegible]	[illegible]
Lansing	[illegible]	[illegible]
St. Johns	[illegible]	[illegible]
Ionia	[illegible]	[illegible]
Grand Rapids	[illegible]	[illegible]
Reed's Lake	[illegible]	[illegible]
Greenville	[illegible]	[illegible]
Cedar Springs	[illegible]	[illegible]
Sparta	[illegible]	[illegible]
Rockford	[illegible]	[illegible]
Cedar Lake	[illegible]	[illegible]
Ashton	[illegible]	[illegible]
Luther	[illegible]	[illegible]
Lake City	[illegible]	[illegible]
Pittsfield	[illegible]	[illegible]
Reeman	[illegible]	[illegible]
Cadillac	[illegible]	[illegible]
Leroy	[illegible]	[illegible]
Falmouth	[illegible]	[illegible]
Kalkaska	[illegible]	[illegible]
Rapid City	[illegible]	[illegible]
Traverse City	[illegible]	[illegible]
Mapleton	[illegible]	[illegible]
Suttons Bay	[illegible]	[illegible]
Northport	[illegible]	[illegible]
Leland	[illegible]	[illegible]
Lake Leelanau	[illegible]	[illegible]
Lake Ann	[illegible]	[illegible]
Honor	[illegible]	[illegible]
Beulah	[illegible]	[illegible]
Benzonia	[illegible]	[illegible]
Crystal Lake	[illegible]	[illegible]
Frankfort	[illegible]	[illegible]
Elberta	[illegible]	[illegible]
Macatawa	[illegible]	[illegible]
Holland	[illegible]	[illegible]
Saugatuck	[illegible]	[illegible]
Douglas	[illegible]	[illegible]
Allegan	[illegible]	[illegible]
Otsego	[illegible]	[illegible]
Plainwell	[illegible]	[illegible]
Gobles	[illegible]	[illegible]
Decatur	[illegible]	[illegible]
Cassopolis	[illegible]	[illegible]
Vandalia	[illegible]	[illegible]
Union	[illegible]	[illegible]
Bronson	[illegible]	[illegible]
Quincy	[illegible]	[illegible]
Coldwater	[illegible]	[illegible]
Bronson Junction	[illegible]	[illegible]
Kinderhook	[illegible]	[illegible]
Ft. Wayne	[illegible]	[illegible]
Chicago	[illegible]	[illegible]

GOING SOUTH.

STATIONS.	No. 1	No. 5	No. 3	No. 7
Mackinaw City	[illegible]	[illegible]
Petoskey	[illegible]	[illegible]
Bay View	[illegible]	[illegible]
Harbor Springs	[illegible]	[illegible]
Cross Village	[illegible]	[illegible]
Port Hope	[illegible]	[illegible]
Pinconning	[illegible]	[illegible]
Kawkawlin	[illegible]	[illegible]
Bay City	[illegible]	[illegible]
Saginaw	[illegible]	[illegible]
Owosso	[illegible]	[illegible]
Ionia	[illegible]	[illegible]
Lansing	[illegible]	[illegible]
Jackson	[illegible]	[illegible]
Albion	[illegible]	[illegible]
Marshall	[illegible]	[illegible]
Battle Creek	[illegible]	[illegible]
Kalamazoo	[illegible]	[illegible]
Chicago	[illegible]	[illegible]

C. L. HOLLENBECK, G. P. A.

Chicago.

Sold by druggists and dealers in medicine everywhere.

Price $1.00.

For Sale by F. G. HINES & CO., Charlevoix.

Produce Market.

[illegible]

Fresh and Cured Meats.

[illegible]

Local Notes and News.

Dodd Tom's Cabin Aug. 26th.

[illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible]

IN SLEEP ETERNAL.

The Body of America's Hero of Heroes Consigned to the Dust.

The Casket Bearing His Ashes Borne to the Tomb by the Hudson.

The Solemn Pageant Swelled by Bareheaded and Sorrow-Stricken Myriads.

The funeral pageant in New York in honor of Gen. Grant was the most imposing ever witnessed in the United States, or perhaps in the world. Any of the six preceding great processions, under command of General Hancock, was set in motion at the City Hall. It marched south through Broadway, receiving outlines and voice from the interesting intermediate, and when completely formed the number in line was fully fifty men. Marching compactly and rapidly, over five hours were consumed in passing Madison Square, and it was not until after 4 o'clock in the evening that the funeral car reached the place of sojourn in Riverside Park, where the remains were deposited will unprecedented ceremonies. The President, Vice President, members of the Cabinet, Judges of the Supreme Court, Senators, Representatives, ex-Presidents, Governors of states, and Foreign Ministers were among the distinguished persons who participated in the demonstration. The entire city was excited in the conditions of mourning, and the multitudes which viewed the pageant, under conditions which were favorable for a full and accurate an account of the occasion as our pages will permit.

REMOVING THE REMAINS.

Final Scenes at the City Hall—The Funeral Car Started for Riverside.

Four o'clock had passed and the gray dawn had deepened into full daylight when the bloodcoated Veterans of Meade lost, of Philadelphia, the strong, calm champions up by the City Hall to the sad duties of the occasion. The vistas entered the plaza and marched past, while a cortège of sad and sorrowful faces, and the gun boomed out toward the west. The chimes of Trinity peeled mournful notes, and the sound of muffled drums grew lucid and clear at 6 o'clock. Wilson Post, of Baltimore, entered the plaza and marched past, while a cortège of sad and sorrowful faces, and the gun boomed out toward the west. The chimes of Trinity peeled mournful notes, and the sound of muffled drums grew lucid and clear at 6 o'clock. Wilson Post, of Baltimore, marched into

EXTERIOR OF THE TEMPORARY VAULT.

Around the County.

Clarion.

Plenty of rain.

J. E. Darrah is shipping back to the Petoskey tannery.

Blood Bros. have built an addition to their mill as well as made other material improvements. They expect to move their entire machinery from Petoskey to this place.

The Clarion Sunday School will have a picnic Aug. 27, at the foot of Bear lake.

Mrs Wm. Johnson left last Monday for the southern part of the state to visit relatives.

Wm. Johnson will ship a car load of hardwood lumber to the south part of the state this week.

W. C. Niles is off buying wheat berries this week.

The windmill is progressing slowly. The Clarion B. B. club played a match game with the Boyne City club at Boyne City last Saturday. The Clarion club was defeated by forty tallies.

A. K. Smith is absent on business. Quite a number of resorters at Bear lake this week.

Burgess.

Harvesting is about over, except late oats and late sowed wheat.

Two ladies of this town went to Petoskey last Saturday and were warned before starting to abstain from Petoskey stimulants, but they failed to get back until the next day, for some reason.

Our town clerk, A. W. Clew has a little resorter—a very young lady—who has come to stay.

Mrs. Wade and two daughters, of Fremont, are visiting her father, Mr. Wm. Baker.

John Lewis lost a son aged three years, last Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Pierce have friends visiting them from Grand Rapids.

Mrs. Leeds and family, of Louisville, Ky. who have been visiting her father, Mr. Josiah Gibson, will start for home about Sept. 1st.

The friends of T. W. Duke made him a surprise visit last Friday, and while the ladies busied themselves about the place, the men took their axes and cleared a place for him to build a house.

Up Pine Lake.

Boyne City is indulging in new sidewalks this year to a liberal extent The incorporation last winter seems to have been an excellent thing for the good appearance of that place, there being now more evidence of thrift and effort at cleanliness than ever before. The street commissioner is doing good work, which is supplemented by numerous citizens in the matter of renovating yards and lots.

T. J. Hill is building a shingle mill about a mile and a half from Boyne, to utilize a water power and tract of cedar which he owns on Pine Lake, between Boyne and Advance.

The Beardsley block at Boyne is completed, and occupied by A. J. Beardsley with a stock of dry goods, boots, shoes, etc. R. L. Corbett has his law office in the front room of the second story.

Marion.

The "annual" of Marion held their annual meeting in the school house and made a program for the current year. Their object is mutual improvement, physically, socially, morally, and intellectually. The keen competition of the present day indicates a struggle unparalleled in the history of our civilization, and the main object of this association is to ascertain the best and easiest method of adapting ourselves to the exigencies of the hour.

The crops are fair. Wheat is looking well and almost ready for harvesting and the prospects are good for an abundance of the necessaries of life, nevertheless, we see in the conflicting interests of all classes, especial need for a clearer perception of what society is, and what it ought to be.

FILES

In all of the various forms are constant companions of the human race and produce the utmost suffering and cause many a person to commit sin if not suicide. In blind, bleeding, itching piles, internal or external immediate relief can be obtained by faithful use of Parmelee's Pile Suppositories with hot water. Never known to fail. Warranted to cure. Price 50 cents per box.

Sold by Dr. G. W. Crouter, Charlevoix, and Crouter & Harris, Ironton.

Temperance Column.

Conducted by a committee of the W. C. T. U.

Officers of the Society.

President—Mrs. I. V. Lynch.
First Vice President—Mrs. E. E. Allen.
Second Vice President—Mrs. J. F. Hidings.
Third Vice President—Mrs. Dr. Wickham.
Corresponding Secretary—Mrs. D. Kennedy.
Recording Secretary—Mrs. H. Sedlard.
Treasurer—Mrs. T. J. Strong.

Unto the Least of These.

What have you done to-day, my friend,
Unto the least of your fellow-men,
Lost in the throng of the busy world,
To Christ's brethren, perhaps a stranger?

Did you pass your door-step upon looking around
With a kind word or helping hand?
If so, in your business you have had some friend
Who needed your help just as much as you did.

Did you ever think you did as the pilgrims greeted Humanity, as they journeyed to the shrine of their God?
A creature from regions of ice and snow,
Lost, cold, and far yet nearer to the grave.

Did you see the grave scowl to prostrate them not,
And the cold frost of humanity freeze their blood?
And have no pity and tender love to give
With pure gold and blameless words to give?

The Two Pledges.

Little Dennie was the only son of a clergyman who, some years since lived on the shore of Lake Georgee. This was before the commencement of the temperance reformation, when every family kept intoxicating liquors constantly on hand and used them as an everyday affair, if not a daily beverage. Taught by the example of his father and guests the little boy contracted a love for strong drinks that gave his parents most painful apprehensions on his account and was the subject of their frequent but unavailing remonstrance. At length, at a time when he had been permitted to attend and where he had free access to a keg of liquor, he became dead drunk and was laid upon a board under a tree. The rest of the story we copy in the language of the author.

About four o'clock his father called to accompany him home, not seeing him he eagerly inquired for his child. They pointed him to the place where he lay. With a heart full of sorrow he carried him home to his mother and sisters. Together his parents watched beside his bed during the tedious night that followed, not knowing but that dreadful stupor would result in his death, but fully resolved, if he lived not to leave untried any effort that might promise to save him.

It was not until evening of the second day that he was restored to perfect consciousness. His parents thought it best not to speak to him of the cause of this illness for some days hoping his own reflections would do him much more good; but in this they were disappointed—he did not exhibit the first symptoms of remorse or consciousness that he had done wrong.

About a week after the event just related his father invited him one pleasant morning to take a walk. Their road lay along the shore of the lake and was lined with stately trees on either side. For a time they walked along in silence.

"Dennie," said he, "do you know what made you so sick the other day?"

"Why, I suppose I drank too much rum," he artlessly replied.

"Why, my son, do you know that I think you are in danger of becoming a drunkard?"

"Why, father, I know you tell me so but I am not afraid of it. You drink rum every day and you are not a drunkard; and when I get old enough to know how much it will do for me to drink then I can keep from being drunk too."

They both seated themselves on a rock near the shore and most faithfully did his father speak of the evils of intemperance. Then, taking a small gold watch from his pocket, which Dennie had long desired to call his own, he said: "Dennie, if you will promise me that you will never drink any more rum I will give you the gold watch. Will you do it?"

Rising from his seat, he replied: "I will tell you, father, what I will do. If it is wrong for me to drink it is wrong for you, and if you stop drinking I will."

Had a flash of lightning burst from the cloudless sky above them his father would not have been more startled. How could he preach or perform the laborious duties of a pastor without his daily glass of bitters? How could he get up in a cold winter's night and go and pray by the bed of some dying parishioner without something to prevent him from taking cold? How could he attend the many ecclesiastical meetings of the church without something to help him bear the fatigue of the journey? The sacrifice was indeed great but the welfare of his child demanded it.

And, summoning all his resolution, with a faltering voice he said: "I will do it, my son." And thus they pledged themselves to total abstinence there, the Lord, the trees and the pure blue sky being the only witnesses, save the Holy Being who is everywhere. As they retraced their steps, the father, taking the little watch from his pocket, gave it to Dennie and said: "My son, you have long wished that I would give you this watch. It's now yours so long as you keep your promise. Should that ever be broken I shall expect you to return it to me. Until then let it be a token to you of this promise we have now made."

Years have passed and the same little Dennie is now a distinguished clergyman in one of the most populous western cities. Poor bright little boy—all him father. The same little gold watch decorates his wall and often does he point to it and tell of his danger and escape from the whirlpool of intemperance.—Ex.

Now is the time your horses need earthwormed attention. To prevent disease and tone up the system you will find Parmelee's Condition Powders unequalled. Full pounds 55 cts. Sold by Dr. G. W. Crouter, Charlevoix, and Crouter & Harris, Ironton. 32-40

Wild Cherry and Tar.

Every week from the offering of Wild Cherry and Tar and its wonderful cures for the relief of the Throat and Lungs, a new compound has been added to the list, simple healing remedies in the composition of Dr Bonsack's Cough, and Lung Syrup, which is now the right hand man of the Wild Cherry and Tar. Price 25 cents, large size 50 cents. Sold by Dr. G. W. Crouter.

TEN CENTS.

Advertisements not exceeding three lines will be inserted in this column for ten cents per week. Each additional line three cents. Displayed cards $10 cents per inch per month.

BOTTOM PRICES for books printing at The Journal. Send for estimate before ordering.

BUTTER AND EGGS wanted in subscription to the Journal. Need and produce of all kinds taken at market rates.

MORTGAGE NOTES kept on hand or printed to order on short notice at this office.

FARM FOR SALE.

One hundred acres of the best farming land, partly improved, one acre apple tree, large good buildings, seven miles from Charlevoix. Price $1000, terms easy. For further particulars inquire at this office.

STRAYED OR STOLEN

A large, dark red, female faced ox, has been lost from my premises. Anyone returning her to me, or giving information where she may be found, will be liberally rewarded.

RICHARD COOPER.
At Pendarvis City House, Charlevoix.

For Sale, at a Bargain.

We will sell our

Two-Horse Power Combination Thresher.

Cost $400. No money need be paid down, if the required security is given. For particulars address of the undersigned.

CHARLES & LOPEN HAMLIN.
1691 Bergen P. O.

Boats to Rent.

Fine Row and Sail Boats for Rent by the Hour, Day, or Week. Best bait and trolling grounds. Also Boats, Tents, and Provisions for sale.

RED BOAT HOUSE,
Near Charlevoix Summer Resort.
F. W. WILCOX.

Blacksmithing.

I have leased the blacksmith shop in connection with Washburn & Aldrich's machine shop and am prepared to do all kinds of work in my line. Horseshoeing promptly attended to.

Heavy Blacksmithing a Specialty

GEORGE PAPPIN.

FOR SALE.

The place known as
THE BEATTIE FARM
Near McGough's Mill.
For particulars inquire at the office of
J. MILO EATON.

MRS. R. TOULOUSE,
Manufacturer and dealer in
ICE CREAM,
Fruits, Confectionery,
SODA WATER, CIGARETTES, CIGARS, ETC., ETC.
CHARLEVOIX, MICH.

Notice of Dissolution.

The firm of Hodge & Litzler, harness makers, is dissolved by mutual consent, the business and appurtenants to property due in the name of E. L. Litzler, at Charlevoix, Mich., who is authorized to collect all debts due, and pay all claims against the firm.

Dated August 15, 1885.
E. R. HODGE,
JOHN LITZLER.

JAMES HEMMINGS,
Upright & Brilliant Addition,
Charlevoix.

HOUSE PAINTER,
Calciminer,
Paper Hanger,
And Decorator.

PINE AND HARDWOOD FINISHING. GOOD WORK.

A PRESENT

Our readers for 12 months to purchase stamps to pay for stuffing and wrapping, and inclosure of ten cents, will receive a sample box of Ayer's Pills Parlor Physicians of 48 to 96 pills, among the best family cathartic. Price 25 cts. Address Ayer Pill, 25 cts. Address, Ill.

"Facts to be Remembered."

NIMROD PLUG TOBACCO

IS THE BEST CHEW, the GREATEST SELLER, and more used than any other plug in the Shoe. ASK YOUR DEALER FOR IT. NIMROD TOBACCO NEVER WAVES, BUT IS GOOD SATISFACTION, and sell a 10 cent plug. NIMROD is THE HIGH-TOP TOBACCO CHEWER, never sticks on the dealer's hands. This cannot said of any other brand of Tobacco. For sale by all jobbers and retailers.

S. W. VENABLE & CO.
Petersburg, Va.

J. MILO EATON,

DEALER IN

Real Estate

OF ALL KINDS.

Houses and Lots for Sale

IN THE MOST DESIRABLE PARTS OF CHARLEVOIX.

WILD LANDS AND IMPROVED FARMS

FOR SALE IN ALL PARTS OF THE COUNTY.

Abstracts of Title Furnished on Short Notice.

OFFICE ON BRIDGE STREET. ESTABLISHED IN 1875.

PINE LAKE IRON COMPANY

Ironton, Mich.,

Are Full in all kinds of General Merchandise.

HURRAH for GOOD TIMES

Everything Booming

AT E. M. CLARK'S

Where he has a Lively Trade in

Dry Goods, Groceries, Boots and Shoes, Clothing, &c.

When you get the blues, just call around and see with what dispatch everything is done, where Pork, Eggs, Butter, &c., is taken in exchange for Goods.

E. M. Clark.

I have purchased the Meat business of Armstrong & Co., and will continue at the old stand, with the freshest and best goods in the market.

T. E. CHAMBERLIN.

HEAR YE! HEAR YE!

I have purchased the Stock of

Drugs, Chemicals,

STATIONERY FISHING TACKLE, ETC.

of O. B. WEED & CO., and will continue the business at the old stand. I shall aim to so conduct the business as to merit a share of your favors. When in need of anything in my line, call and examine my stock and ask my prices.

PERRY WEED, DRUGGIST,
Successor to O. B. Weed & Co.
OPERA BLOCK, CHARLEVOIX, MICH.

GARLAND STOVES AND RANGES. KEEP YOUR EYE ON THE Right Place

For Bargains in Hardware

Iron, Cutlery, Tin ware, Stoves, Implements, Fixtures, Pumps, Grindstones, Wagons, Buggies, Carts, Wheelbarrows, Refrigerators, Doors, Sash

PAINTS Oils, Varnishes, Putty, Glass, Fence wire, Farm implements, Wooden ware, Rope, Fishermen's Supplies, and Ship chandlery. Job work in Tin work.

Guns, Ammunition, Spoons, Forks, LAMPS, Baskets, Measures, Tubs

L. D. BARTHOROMEW & CO.

THE CHARLEVOIX JOURNAL.

NUMBER 111. CHARLEVOIX, MICH.: THURSDAY, AUGUST 27, 1885. $1.50 PER YEAR.

THE JOURNAL
published every Thursday,
BY CHAS. J. STRANG.
Office on Bridge Street,
CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN
Entered at the Postoffice at Charlevoix, Mich., as second class matter.

BUSINESS DIRECTORY.

ATTORNEYS.

[illegible] Attorney and Counselor at Law, Petoskey, Mich.

[illegible] Attorneys at Law, Real Estate Agents, Petoskey, Mich.

[illegible] Attorneys at Law, Charlevoix, Mich.

[illegible] Attorney at Law, Charlevoix, Mich.

[illegible] Attorney at Law and Notary Public, East Jordan, Mich.

CHURCHES.

[illegible] Services every Sabbath morning at 10:30 o'clock. Sabbath School at 12 m. Prayer meeting every Thursday evening at 7:00 o'clock. A. J. Bodwell, Pastor.

[illegible] Services every Sabbath morning at 10:30 o'clock. Sunday School at 12 m. Prayer meeting every Wednesday evening at 7:00 o'clock. J. T. Dobbins, Pastor.

FIRE DEPARTMENT.

[illegible] CHARLEVOIX FIRE COMPANY meets every Saturday night. H. E. Bunker, Secretary.

HOMŒOPATHIC PHARMACY.

[illegible] Homœopathic Medicines, Books, etc., Charlevoix, Mich.

PHYSICIANS.

[illegible] M. D. Office at the Residence, Charlevoix, Mich.

[illegible] M. D. Physician and Surgeon. Office on Bridge Street, Charlevoix, Mich.

[illegible] M. D. Homœopathic Physician and Surgeon, Charlevoix, Mich.

REAL ESTATE AGENTS.

[illegible] Agent Antrim County Lands, Real Estate and Insurance, Mt. Pleasant, Mich.

SECRET SOCIETIES.

[illegible] No. 79, meets second and fourth Tuesdays of each month, in Masonic hall, Charlevoix, Mich.

[illegible] No. 115, meets every Saturday evening, in Bell hall.

[illegible] Lodge No. 70, meets second and fourth Wednesdays of each month, in Masonic hall, Charlevoix, Mich.

[illegible] Lodge No. 242, meets every Saturday evening, in Bell hall.

[illegible] W. A. BROWN, Asst. Cashier.

BROWN & CO.'S
BANK OF CHARLEVOIX,
Capital, $25,000.

We transact a general banking business, and pay attention to the collection and remittance of money and other exchanges. Drafts on Chicago and New York, and Foreign Exchange always on hand. We also receive general deposits, and collect doubtful claims. Interest allowed on time deposits. We also have for sale Government bonds and gold, and buy and sell bonds and stocks. Interest allowed on time deposits.

CORRESPONDENTS.

Chase National Bank, New York.
First National Bank, Chicago.
Manufacturers' National Bank, Detroit.
National Bank, Grand Rapids.

The Charlevoix Improvement Association.

OFFICERS.

President—Hiram Rose.
First Vice President—W. A. Smith.
Second Vice President—Robert Miller.
Third Vice President—Jas. J. Strang.
Recording Secretary—R. Sedlards.
Treasurer—Perry E. Weed.

STANDING COMMITTEES.

Finance committee—J. Milo Eaton, A. D. Leonard, and J. T. Bird.
Library committee—H. Lee Hidings, W. A. Clew, and C. Pappin.
Entertainment committee—F. W. Mayne, L. D. Bartholomew, E. Dennis, Geo. W. Lewis, E. M. Milliken, M. Rose, W. C. Newman, and J. T. Bird.

OBJECTS.

To aid and encourage the establishment of manufacturing interests in Charlevoix, and to place the town and its natural advantages before the world.

RULES AND REGULATIONS.

Meets on Village Hall on the Third Monday of each month, at 7:30 o'clock.

CORRESPONDENCE SOLICITED.

The Grand Rapids
Daily Democrat,
The Leading Newspaper of Western Michigan.
ENLARGED AND IMPROVED.
Sent by mail at 50 cents per month.

A FEW FACTS CONCERNING
Dr. CROUTER'S
BAKING POWDER
Or Quick Yeast.

If you use it you will never have yellow biscuit.
If you use it your biscuit will never taste of soda.
It contains no alum, and is absolutely free from anything of a deleterious nature.
It is made from PURE, GRAPE CREAM OF TARTAR and NOT from the Common Grease of Tartar of the shops.
It is always fresh and will never disappoint you.
Directions for using furnished with every package.
Price 40 Cents per Pound
Manufactured and Sold only by
Dr. GEO. W. CROUTER,
Chemist and Druggist,
BRIDGE STREET, CHARLEVOIX, MICH.

Come and See our Immense Stock of
BOOTS AND SHOES.
FOX & MILLER.

BRIDGE STREET HOUSE,
ROBERT MILLER, Proprietor.
Charlevoix, Michigan.
This house is empirically located, and its accommodations excellent. The table supplied with the best the market affords. Only sample room in Charlevoix.

COMMERCIAL HOUSE
D. B. JERRUE, Proprietor.
East Jordan, Michigan.
Entirely rebuilt and refurnished. First-class Sample Room for agents. Good Stable in connection with the House. 73

FARMERS' HOTEL,
M. S. JOHNSON, Proprietor.
Antrim Street, near Village Hall, Charlevoix.
Location convenient for merchants working in any of the factories on Round Lake, and for farmers coming to town. Feed stable for teams will be provided.

FOUNTAIN CITY HOUSE,
RICHARD COOPER, Proprietor.
Charlevoix, - Michigan.
Fitted in all its lines, giving good view of lake and surrounding country, and boat excursions for Pleasure and Fish Boats, stages for Depot, and for commercial travelers adjacent.

JORDAN RIVER HOUSE,
TRUESDELL & BLAIR, Proprietors.
East Jordan, - Michigan.
Those hailing from most of the county seat will find this the most convenient place to stop, and the proprietors will do their utmost to give the best satisfaction. HEATING CONVENIENCES.

PINE LAKE HOUSE,
A. J. HALL, Proprietor.
Boyne City, Michigan.
This house is finely located on the Boyne City and Ironton road, and is large and commodious, and is well adapted to the comfortable accommodation of the travelling public.

PIONEER HOUSE,
A. B. NOYES, Proprietor.
Ironton, - Michigan.
Every convenience for the traveling public.

Money to Loan
On unexpired mortgages, at reasonable rates of interest, on approved real estate security.
H. C. Miley,
Boyne City.

Picture Frames
Made to Order.
A FINE ASSORTMENT OF MOULDINGS
To Select From.
O. I. WHEAT,
Bridge Street, Charlevoix, Mich.

Well-Digging.
JOHN SHRIER
Charlevoix, Mich.,
is prepared to do all work in the line of well-digging, stone building, pump repairing, well curbing, and similar work.

WOOD WANTED.
Two or three loads of good block wood wanted at this office immediately.

MISS L. SPAULDING,
DEALER IN
MILLINERY
AND
Fancy Goods.
Dressmaking Done in the Latest Styles.
Special attention given to
CHILDREN'S GARMENTS.
We would call the attention of the Ladies to our STAMPING DEPARTMENT
We endeavor to do our work well and at Reasonable Prices. Come and see for yourself

McCABE'S
Livery and Hack Line
DRAYING TO ORDER.
Passengers, Baggage, etc., delivered to all Boats, Hotels, or any part of the City
AT
McCabe's Livery Barn,
CHARLEVOIX, MICH. 41
W. C. McCABE. G. C. McCABE.

Wagar Bros.
Wholesale and Retail dealers in Tobacco, Cigars and Smokers' Articles. Also a full line of Confectionery, Fruits, And Immense Bricks. Third door west of Bridge Street House, Charlevoix, Mich.

C. R. BELLINGER
Has a large stock of
New Jewelry and Silverware
(SOLD AND PLATED)
Pins, Charms, and Chains,
In all the latest styles.
Watches, Clocks, and Optical Goods.
New Store of Mercantile Tin just received.
Jewelry Machine Oil kept in stock.

John Nicholls,
CHARLEVOIX, MICH.,
Manufacturer of and dealer in
HARDWOOD AND PINE
LUMBER!
ALSO
Dressed Lumber, Oar Blades,
WAGON TONGUES, SHINGLES, LATH, ETC.
LUMBER SAWED AND BILLS FILLED TO ORDER.

The Unprotected Workingman.

Here in Michigan where lumber, salt, copper, iron, and in fact everything that the state produces, is highly protected, what portion of the prof its does the laboring men receive? The last census shows that we had $92,959,959 capital invested in manufactories; that 77,891 persons were employed in manufacturing; that $25,313,682 was paid out in wages; that $82,906,293 was paid out for materials and that the value of the gross manufactured product was $150,715,925. If we divide the amount of wages paid out ($25,313,682) by the number of hands employed (77,891) we have a yearly salary of $326.24, or a little over $1 per day for the 313 working days of the year, which certainly does not show that a high protective tariff has the desired influence of raising the wages of wage-workers after all. But it does have the effect of securing very liberal profits to the employers. Add the wages paid ($25,313,682) and the cost of material used ($82,906,293) and the sum is $108,219,975. Subtract this from the value of the gross product ($150,715,925) and there is left $42,502,671—which represents the net profits of the business. It will be observed that the net profits ($42,502,671) is greater than the amount paid out in wages ($25,313,682). The wages average $326.24 per hand, and the profits average $545.83 per hand; the investment paid almost forty per cent annually, or more than doubled itself every three years. The employer received $545.11 for each hand's work, or more than double what he paid his help—he retained from each hand $219.89 for being boss, and handed the residue, $326.24, over to the workmen for doing the work.

Plainly then, the person protected under the high tariff is not the workingman, but the employer; and it is no wonder there is so much discontent among the workingmen of the state where the employers take more than half their earnings for their share of the profit.—[Monroe Democrat.

Something Missing.

There is something missing in the republican organs since the election very for turning the rascals out got thirty at work. It is the daily congratulation of the country on the honesty of the g. o. p. There is one especially noticeable vacancy in the column which used to be devoted to the statement about reflecting the revenue without losing a cent.

This vacancy is due, possibly, to the disclosures which have been made as to defalcations and loss during the past twenty years. The story that comes from New Orleans is especially instructive in this regard. In that period the government has lost in that single city, through the carelessness, dishonesty, and misfeasance of its officers, about $1,500,000. In the sub-treasury two of the first republican officeholders were in default to the government $700,000. By a third the government lost $5,500; and by the treasurer who is about to retire it will cost $25,000 the amount embezzled by a confidential clerk.

In the internal revenue branch of the government at the same city the dead loss has been nearly three-quarters of a million, to say nothing of a few thousand dollars collected from the boatsmen of defaulting officials. The balance of the loss, so far as ascertained, was in the postoffice and custom house with the returns not all in yet. It is not to be wondered at, under the circumstances, that the republican organs prefer to talk about Keeley rather than the financial glories of the g. o. p.—[Free Press.

Clippings.

While the metropolitan press publishes the news of the world, nation and state, the country press is not behind in publishing its full quota of ripe opinions. It takes a large sheet to hold the news, but cent editorial opinions may be condensed into very small space and still be equally as forcible.—[Ovid Union.

The middle and western states freight association will meet at the Atlantic, Petoskey, September 1st, and 11th, and that will be an important event in railroad and business circles. All the railroads west of Pittsburg and Buffalo and east of the Mississippi will be represented and rates will be agreed upon for freight.

N. Clark, Register of U. S. Land Office at Reed City, in writing to the Western World, says: "On the first of June we had about 50,000 acres of land in this district subject to entry. The pines plains, covered with small pine and oak grubs. It is chiefly of a sandy soil, has good water, and is in a healthy part of the state. In addition to the above lands there are about 50,000 acres on Bois Blanc Island, in the Straits of Mackinaw, of good hardwood land, that will soon be open for entry, and about 13,000 acres in Emmet county also good hardwood land, in dispute between U. S. and the Jackson, Lansing & Saginaw R. R. Co."

Perry Hannah, of Traverse City gave his opinion on newspaper advertising as follows to one of the press excursionists to that city: "There is no man in Michigan who owes more to newspapers than I do. Advertising has made my money for me. Ever I've paid my printer's bills, when they have asked me, but I feel grateful for all that to the newspaper.

The following is the recipe for the government harness dressing: Mix well together with a gentle heat—neat's foot oil, 1 gallon; hogsberry tallow, 2 pounds; beeswax, 2 pounds; beef tallow, 2 pounds; castor oil, 2 quarts; lamp black, 1 ounce. Strain while hot through a fine cloth, and allow to cool. This is said to be a superior dressing.—[U. S. Gazette.

The registers of the U. S. land offices are holding on to their offices by the courtesy of a democratic administration, and show their appreciation of this undeserved liberality by continuing to bestow the patronage of their offices upon valid republican newspapers. This is calculated to make all the democratic newspapers, who left out in the cold unanimously and enthusiastically, in favor of President Cleveland's renomination.—[Rorster.

The postmaster general has designated the following localities in Michigan as special delivery postoffices, where on the first of October messenger boys will deliver immediately letters bearing a special 10-cent stamp: Adrian, Alpena, Ann Arbor, Battle Creek, Bay City, Coldwater, Detroit, East Saginaw, Flint, Grand Haven, Grand Rapids, Ionia, Ishpeming, Jackson, Kalamazoo, Lansing, Manistee, Marquette, Muskegon, Niles, Pontiac, Port Huron, Saginaw, West Bay City, and Ypsilanti.

If nothing else had been accomplished by the election of a democratic president, the simple fact that it has demonstrated that the government can be intrusted with safety and honor to the party which has for twenty-five years been denounced as unfaithful to the constitution, defiant of the laws and incapable of an honest and intelligent administration of public affairs, would be ample sufficient to compensate for more blunders than have been committed since President Cleveland inaugurated. The protection that a party enforcing half the people of the United States is dishonest, disloyal and incapable can no longer impose on the most credulous or prejudiced citizen. It has been shown that the democracy can not only govern but can govern honestly, honestly and beneficially to all the interests of the country, and this gives strength and permanency to our institutions. It has been shown that the southern people are true to the constitution and to justice of the honor and integrity of the union as it is possible for any northerners to be, and this kills forever the sectional issue which republican politicians are endeavoring to revive, even over the graves of Gen. Grant.—World.

WHY LONGER GROAN

With pain and long the delusion that nothing can give you relief. There is a remedy that is greatly prized for the relief of the afflicted. It relieves pained aches in all forms, stimulates the digestive apparatus to more perfectly do its work, so you will not be suffering with dyspepsia and the long list of ills, the results of disordered digestion, absentcy, cholera and cramps. It is Hamilton's Jamaica Ginger Tonic and Pain Cure. In rheumatism, neuralgic sciatica, bruises, strains, &c., applied externally it is excellent. Price 25 and 50 cents per bottle.

Sold by G. W. Crouter, Charlevoix, and Crouter & Harris, Ironton.

DIABETES.

Are you troubled with thirst, excessive and frequent flow of urine, pain in the loins and back and nervousness? These are some of the symptoms attending diabetes and bright's disease. Do not hesitate, but use Parmelee's Dyspepsia, Diabetes, Kidney and Liver Cure which will not only cure you but tone up the system and prevent dyspepsia, sick headache, biliousness, liver complaint and all bloodd diseases. Only $1.00 for large bottles.

Sold by Dr. G. W. Crouter, Charlevoix, and Crouter & Harris, Ironton.

Now is the time your horses need attention. To prevent disease and tone up the system you will find Parmelee's Condition Powders unexcelled. Full pounds 55cts. Sold by Dr. G. W. Crouter, Charlevoix, and Crouter & Harris, Ironton. 32-40

Keystone to Health.

Health is wealth. Wealth means happiness. Dr. Bonsack's Dr. Bonsack's Cough and Lung Syrup, the best Cough syrup in the world. Coughs, colds, Croup, Pain in the side, Lame back, Consumption, Pleurisy, Throat and Lungs Inflammation, Outlasts 25 cents and $1.00. Sample free. Sold by G. W. Crouter.

THE JOURNAL

BY CHAS. J. STRANG.

CHARLEVOIX, — MICHIGAN.

NEWS CONDENSED.

Concise Record of the Week.

EASTERN.

Sixteen persons were injured at Philadelphia by an explosion of dynamite in the steamer S. M. Felton, which had just left her dock with over two hundred passengers. A frightful panic followed the report, which was with difficulty allayed. It is believed that the explosive was placed under the head of the boiler maliciously.

There were 30,000 less emigrants landed at Castle Garden, New York, since January than during the corresponding period last year.

Within twelve hours three brothers passed Trinity met a violent death at or near Marion's Valley, Pa. One fell into a rattlesnake's nest and broke his neck, another was drowned in a quarry pit, and the third was suffocated by a gas damp. The mean has so affected the widowed and now childless mother that she is also expected to die.

Ellis & Lessig, iron workers at Bethlehem, Pa., last week notified their employees, laborers, and other employes that their wages would be increased, with the prospect of the mill going on double time.

A case of yellow-fever is reported from New York. The victim is a sailor who recently arrived in port.

There are 191 persons surving lifesentences in the prisons of New York State, thirteen of whom are women, all for murder in different degrees.

The New York Canal Conference, in session at Utica, last week, elected the Hon. Hamilton Seymour Chairman. It was stated that the Erie Canal delivered at the port of New York during the season of 1884, 37,561,421 bushels of corn, while the total receipts by all the railroads were 28,303,026 bushels, an excess in favor of the canal of 8,452,401 bushels.

William Carleton, a variety performer, aged 58 years, committed suicide in New York by jumping on the gas and shutting off all ventilation in his room.

The New Jersey census has been completed, and shows that the total population of the State is 1,576,825. The net increase since 1880 is 142,269. Three counties in the State show a decrease—Hunterdon, 1,156; Morris, 417; Sussex, 1,438. Revised census returns show the population of Atlantic, N. Y., to be 59,336.

At Utica, N. Y., a large number of corsets, smuggled from Canada, have been confiscated by revenue officials. The smuggling operations have been carried on for some time in an ingenious manner through the agency of women.

WESTERN.

The Pagan Indians lost but one man in their recent encounter with cowboys at Billings, Montana, instead of twenty, as at first reported.

The Illinois State Department of Agriculture received a letter from State Entomologist Forbes stating that great damage was being done by grasshoppers in crops in the northern portion of the State.

Maxwell, the alleged murderer of C. Arthur Pfeiffer, reached St. Louis on the 16th inst., and was met at the railway station by several thousand curious people. The prisoner at first maintained a dogged silence whenever questioned about the hotel tragedy.

Fort Dowie (Ari.) dispatch: "Scout Leslie has just come in and reports that the command of Major Davis met a party of Indians, killed three of them and seven others, and captured eighteen squaws and Chief Geronimo and one buck, Geronimo is badly wounded. Just before the last Tex. dispatch "News has been received of a desperate fight between a number of cowboys, occurring at the ranch of Frank Murray, thirty-five miles southwest, in the Blackjack Nation. A party of twenty-five cowboys rode up to the ranch and fired about 150 shots at the boys inside the ranch cabin, with whom they had a control over stock. The boys inside, being well armed, returned the fire with deadly effect, killing Dick Conyard and seriously wounding Dick Jones and Ben Woods, of the attacking party. This makes four that have been killed over the trouble at this ranch since April."

A mill was fought near Braidwood, Ill., between George Mulvey and Adam Patterson, heavy-weights, the latter being knocked out in the 12th round. Both men were lately acquitted.

D. M. Sullivan, of East Saginaw, Mich., in the games at St. Catherines crossed the Niagara-gorge on a tight rope 1,000 feet long, breaking the best American record by two feet and five inches.

In the pedestrial shooting contest at Fort Sheridan, Mass., Lieut. J. T. Kerr, of the Seventeenth Infantry, made the remarkable total of 179 out of a possible 200.

A Federal Judge in Oregon has decided that presumption entries can only be made by proceedings in the courts. The General Land Office will not change its practice of entering such entries for entry until the Supreme Court passes upon the question.

A Norwegian bark infected with yellow fever has arrived at San Francisco.

The Oklahoma boomers have broken up their camps and are returning to their homes, the recent action of the President having convinced them that the administration intends to deal fairly both with the settlers and would-be settlers.

Three men, while fishing near Peoria, Ill., were killed by lightning.

The house of John Failing, at Tekonsha, Mich., was destroyed by fire, and his wife, three children, and himself were terribly burned, four of them died.

The real name of "Dr." Maxwell, in jail at St. Louis charged with the murder of C. A. Pfeiffer, is now said to be H. M. Brooks. His father lives in Cheshire, England.

The office of the Fruit Journal at Pulaski, Ill., was entirely destroyed by fire Aug. 17.

H. A. Fretz, the absconding express and railroad agent of New Albin, Ia., now in jail at Waukon, traveled over four thousand miles in the Territories and British America between the date of his flight in January last and his arrest in Dakota a few days since.

Since March 1, 2,365,000 logs have been packed in the West, as against 2,055,000 during the corresponding period of last year.

Postmaster General Vilas left Madison, Wis., last week, for Ashland and Bayfield, whence, after attending to some business interests, he will go into camp on the Pine River, in Northwestern Wisconsin, and indulge in trout fishing.

SOUTHERN.

Waldo P. Johnson, a prominent lawyer of Missouri, died at Osceola, in that State. He represented Missouri in the United States Senate at the outbreak of the war, and was expelled for disloyalty. He was afterward a member of the Confederate Senate.

Capt. S. H. Rock, recently appointed Postmaster at New Orleans, has resigned the Director-generalship of the new exposition, but will remain at the head of affairs of the old company in liquidation.

The wife and three children of Emile Lirot, of Terre Home Parish, Louisiana, were killed, and himself and two other children badly wounded, by an explosion of gunpowder in his house.

The United States steamer Tantic, on her way from Norfolk to Quarantine in the Lehigh, where yellow fever has been prevalent, to convey solver to Washington, is quarantined at the mouth of the Mississippi.

The net earnings of the Atlantic system of the Southern Pacific Company for the first half of 1885 were $1,594,148, an increase of $367,247 as compared with the corresponding period of 1884.

While cars were ascending and descending the incline railroad at the Fairmount Creek Coal Mines, near Charlestown, W. Va., the heated car broke loose and collided with a car in which were Lawton Oakford, president of the road, and three other persons, all of whom were killed.

An old man named Willis Roark, having money on his person, was attacked by four unknown men near Frankfort, Ky. A young son of Roark came to his father's assistance, and with a pistol shot and killed two of the men, fatally wounding a third, the fourth man making his escape.

Special reports covering the entire South, from Virginia to Texas, show that the prospects for crops and the outlook for business in that section are highly encouraging. The average of cotton, corn, and tobacco is the largest on record, and the yield of these and other crops excepting wheat will be the heaviest ever known. Many new railroad and manufacturing enterprises are being projected, and the fall and winter trade promises to be better than for many years.

WASHINGTON.

The Acting Commissioner of the General Land Office has directed a issue many more patents to the Northern Pacific Railroad until the legal status of the road shall have been fixed.

The Army and Navy Journal, in addition to the list of army officers who will be retired back to their regiments, having been on detached service more than four years, publishes the following list of officers who will be exempts from the operation of the order, having been put on detached service by the Secretary of War: 1st Lieut. J. Tillinghast, First Artillery, artillery school, eleven years and three months; Lieut. Col. Robert N. Scott, Third Artillery, war record, seven years and eight months; Maj. Richard Lodor, artillery school, six years; Capt. J. S. Hinds, military prison, eight years and three months; Capt. F. N. Greene, military prison, thirteen years and four months; Capt. Richard H. Pratt, Tenth Cavalry, Indian school, ten years and four months.

It is alleged that four distillers who it had been discovered were using the "black, condemnedest" whisky barrels have compromised with the Government, the sum to be paid amounting to $80,000.

The Count of Commissioners of Alamama Claims will expire by limitation December 31. An enormous amount of business remains unacted, and an effort will probably be made to induce Congress to prolong the Count's existence.

Chief Clerk John Tweedale, of the War Department, is acting as Secretary during the absence of Mr. Endicott on his vacation.

The issue of standard silver dollars from the mints during the week ending Aug. 15 was $60,000. The issue during the corresponding period of last year was 200,000.

Commissioner Thurman gives it as his opinion that the messengers to be selected for the immediate delivery of letters will be appointed under the civil service law.

POLITICAL.

Ex-Mayor Powderly, of Scranton, the workingman's labor agitator, will be urged to accept the Democratic nomination for State Treasurer of Pennsylvania.

The Iowa Democratic State Convention, which met at Cedar Rapids on the 19th of August, made no reference to the question of the prohibitory liquor law and assented to the administration of its statutes. A license fee, to range from $250 to $1,000, was recommended. President Cleveland's administration and the Democratic policy in general were indorsed. Charles E. Whiting, of Monona County, was nominated for Governor; E. H. Gillette, of Des Moines (Greenback), for Lieutenant Governor; W. F. Branson, of Muscatine County, for Justice of the Supreme Court; and F. W. Moore, of Davis County (Greenbacker), for Superintendent of Public Instruction.—Sidney Dewey, the present Governor of Mississippi, was renominated by the Democratic State Convention, which met at Jackson.

MISCELLANEOUS.

The Executive Board of the Knights of Labor on the 14th instant organized a strike of all members of the organization employed by the central railway lines west of the Mississippi River. The strike was of small dimensions, comparatively few members of the Knights of Labor remaining in the service of that company. The Executive Board of the order ordered its employes engaged in defend imprisoned members of the organization, prosecute the Wabash Company for conspiracy, and impeach Judges Treat, Brewer, and Krekel, of the Federal courts. The difficulties between the Wabash Railway Company and the Memphis Street Railway Company stood as they were, there being no wages, and cars were only moved under police protection and at frequent intervals during the day. Several of the new drivers were assaulted and a number of strikers were arrested for assaulting Mr. Michigan man and but works, at Petoski, went on a strike against a ten per cent. reduction in wages.—At Yonkers, N. Y., a number of striking weavers attacked four men who were going to the company's Nepera, when one of the latter drew his revolver, and a riot was only prevented by a plucky Catholic priest, who, at the head, dispersed the crowd and marched one of the men to the police station. Five hundred men at the Marion coal mines in Alabama have been turned out of employment by the strikers for carrying concealed weapons, and serious trouble is feared.

Senator Edmunds, who has just returned from England, says that trade in that country is very much depressed. He attributes this to overproduction.

Baptiste W. Hanna, United States Minister to the Alexandrian Legation, sailed for his mission last week from New York, accompanied by his wife and three children.

Officers of the Pacific Mail steamship Benecia, which last week sailed from San Francisco for Yokohama and Hong Kong, refused to receive United States mails.

The New York Produce Exchange estimates the visible supply of wheat as 48,989,105 bushels, and of corn at 5,276,000 bushels. Exports of produce from New York last week were valued at $2,326,000.

The Rev. Dr. Parrar, Archdeacon of Westminster Abbey, Wednesday cabled Mr. Cyrus W. Field from London that he would deliver three lectures in New York, the time to be named later.

The American Bar Association held its eighth general session at Saratoga, N. Y., last week. Over 400 members were present. Addresses were made by the President, the Hon. John S. Morgan, of Kentucky. He spoke in favor of nisi-prius courts, the simple support of the judiciary, and of promoting the thorough administration of Justice, and urged the necessity of uniformity of legislation throughout the several States.

Between six and seven hundred men and boys employed in a cotton-seed oil mill, death, Pa., struck against a 10 per cent. reduction in wages, and assaulted the Hungarians and Poles working about the mills, who required them after an hour's battle, two or twelve men being badly hurt. The clerk and clothing manufacturers of New York and Brooklyn are seriously embarrassed by the pending strike of employes, demanding that in clay for higher wages. Complaints have been made against the shop manufacturers of the country and their employes, and a general strike of the latter is apprehended.

FOREIGN.

A dispatch from Cairo states that a civil war has broken out at Khartoum, and that Mahdi's successor and other officials have been killed.

A sensation has been created in London by the marriage of Lord Chief Justice Coleridge to Miss Amy Augusta Jackson, Lawford, the ceremony, which was performed quietly at the residence of the bride's mother, is said to have been hastened by threats of an action for breach of promise against his lordship. The bride is an English woman of 32, whose acquaintance Lord Coleridge made on the steamer in which he returned from America two years ago.

Cable advices are to the effect that all Europe enters upon its vacation season with a prospero unblustered by war.

Lord Chief Justice Coleridge, who was recently married to Miss Amy Jackson, in a letter to the papers that he cannot say why the details of his private life should interest the public. The father of Lord Coleridge has been for forty years a Judge in Bengal. The woman is forty years old.

Dr. Rechard, sole survivor of the German International Exploring Expedition, is reported to have been killed by a native at Zanzibar.

A statue was erected in Boulogne, recently, on suspicion of being a Russian spy. It is now believed that he is fellow Pain, attempts for dynamite.

Indignation in Spain over Germany's annexation of the Caroline Islands is increasing.

Confirmation has been received of the report that fifty per cent. of the European employes in the Congo region have died.

M. Gladstone is reported to be enjoying his vacation in Norway, and to be in excellent health. He recently walked eighteen miles in one day.

LATER NEWS ITEMS.

The Hon. D. J. Morrell, ex-President of the Bessemer Iron and Steel Association, died at Johnstown, Pa.

The sailor found suffering from yellow fever in Battery Park, New York, has since died. No tears are anticipated that the disease will become epidemic in New York.

Courtney and Conley defeated Hosmer and Hosmer in a double scull race on the Hudson, between Troy and Albany. The distance was three miles with a turn, and the time 17.57. The winners have been challenged by Hanlan and Lee to a three mile race for $1,000 a side and the double scull championship of the world.

A dispatch from Cairo states that 1,000 Indian rebels have occupied Ichlodi, and are marching on Bangala.

Queen Victoria and the Prince of Wales have left London on a royal yacht for a trip to Norway.

Admiral Kennedy, who served in the civil war in America, died in London last week.

Myers, the American sprinter, won the 100 yards and half mile handicap races at Birchlake, Eng.

Austria and Germany have reached an understanding in regard to the tariff. Bismarck has renounced the duty of a mark per 100 kilograms on cereals, and Austria and Hungary are to modify their profiling tariff bills, which, as at present formed, also at a serious complaint upon Germany.

Forest fires are raging among the Montana mountains, in the vicinity of Helena.

The wife of ex-Governor R. Gratz Brown, of Missouri, died at Lake Minnetonka, of apoplexy.

By the first count of the census the population of South Dakota is given as 415,610. The official count of North Dakota places the population at 152,499, making the total of the Territory 567,909, against 135,177 in 1880.

The Sheriff of Reeves County, Texas, died with his boots on and three bullets in his body, after killing one man and wounding another who attempted to arrest him for disturbance.

Jacob Grang, owner of a mill near Morgantown, W. Va., was returning home from conscription at a carousal, in which were also his wife and two grandchildren, when horses ran away, dashing the buggy to pieces, and all four of the occupants were grievously injured.

Eighteen lives are said to have been lost by the wrecking of a British ship loaded from Astoria, Ore., to Liverpool, forty miles south of San Francisco.

The National Association of ex-Union Prisoners of War in session at Philadelphia, Governor John G. Warnock, president, in consultation, for Lieutenant Governor, Gibson Cochran; for Surgeon General, Peter Dandy; for Treasurer, Thomas Lawrence; for Attorney General, and Henry Wetter for member of the Board of Health, by a decisive majority made a speech defending his course in office, charged Cleveland's administration was hostile to the Union soldiers, and Warnock were nominated by acclamation.

MICHIGAN AFFAIRS.

The Sault Ste. Marie Town Hall will face two streets.

Detroit complains of corruption, gangs, rings, and things in her city government.

Henry Hinchman, of Harrison, agent for an East Saginaw brewery, has been missing since July 30, and his friends are thoroughly alarmed.

President Willets, of the State Agricultural College, is in favor of annual labor of some kind being done by the students in connection with their studies.

Cold weather has knocked all the enthusiasm out of the upper peninsula fourline, and most of those are returning home or sending for their winter duds.

The G. A. R. have postponed the reunion which was to have been held at Traverse in August. The State encampment next year will be held at that place.

Will Carleton, the poet, is soon to issue a volume of new poems, under the title of "City Ballads." It will be a companion piece to the "Farm Ballads" of his earlier days.

Lemel Smith, of Grandville, born County, locally assaulted last under by three robbers now doing time at Jackson and others in prison, died recently as the result of his injuries.

The Agricultural College people are taking a vitality of seeds lured in sealed tubes six years ago. The seed which thus far prove to have most vitality are those of common weeds, their percentage being from 60 to 100, while plant seeds did not germinate freely.

Roland Reed, for half a century a prominent citizen of Tuscola County, died at Goldwater, aged 74. He had been totally blind for the past year. He served four years in the lower house of the State Legislature, and was First Lieutenant of Company A, First Michigan Light Artillery.

Out of twenty-seven houses in Plainfield, near Howell, nineteen now employed only women and children, the result of the action of the Air Line of the Grand Trunk Railroad running three miles away, and the shifting of the village of Gregory almost a year ago. One man has backed up his store-room and built a new shop at Gregory, because his trade has all gone to the latter place.

The Chief Engineer of the Michigan Central Railroad states, in the Railroad Gazette, that the steel rails purchased for that road do not survive as long as guaranteed, and that mills had as late as 1882 have already been renewed on account of crushed heads. An explanation of the cause of this is given in the Scientific American, which says that the demand of the railroads for rails has been so large that manufacturers have been compelled to work in slag and cinder with the steel, and in that way turn out a fair-appearing shoddy rail in the manufacture of which there is a small profit, and the demands of the railroad companies for low-priced rails are satisfied.

Hygienic Bulletin from the State Board of Health.

Sanitary committees have claimed that the sanitary work which they have to do, is needed to be done as a preparation for "Fairs" such as preaching and lecturing occasions, attending to drains, sewers, cesspools, and privies, cleaning up generally, and unusual carefulness in regard to food and drinks would reduce the sickness and death from other diseases, even if cholera should not visit us. The weekly reports for July, 1885, to the Michigan State Board of Health, by observers in different parts of the State, show that sickness has been being reduced in Michigan, so far as relates to the diseases specified, having been lessened from nearly every fifth case reported in June, to about every fourth and further and other diseases lessened to be reported, the influence of sanitary conditions, and this is true, notwithstanding the unusually cool weather in that month were neither more than usually favorable to health.

It is proper to state, however, that the decrease in our month is influenced by the unusual cool weather, and that the sanitary conditions in the preceding month, and that the meteorological conditions in June, 1885, were not favorable to health.

Observations in Michigan for many years have shown that in July the meteorological conditions are usually unfavorable to health, are high temperature, excessive humidity of the atmosphere, and deterioration of some. The bulletin of "Health in Michigan, July, 1885," says: "For the month of July, 1885, compared with the average of corresponding months for the seven years, 1878-1885, the temperature was slightly higher, the absolute and the relative humidity were more, and the day and the night winds were less."

"Compared with the average for the months of July in the seven years, 1878-1885, remarkably favorable conditions, diversity, consumption of lungs, cholera infantum, typhoid fever, scarlet fever, measles, and whooping-cough were less prevalent in July, 1885."

A large part of this decrease in sickness and mortality has been due to the sanitary and sanitary journals and the newspapers, which have contributed to the public the necessity for sanitary work and the benefits of the work.

It remains to be seen how the united efforts for the exclusion of cholera from the country, and the national preparation for cholera by Boards of Health and the people, shall prevent the disease, but, even if cholera should not be entirely prevented, there is no doubt but that the measures which have so greatly decreased the sickness from other diseases cannot but have had their influence in decreasing it; and, if cholera does not appear in this country, it seems quite probable that, by reason of the suffering elsewhere, there may be as many cases of serious illness prevailed in this country as there have been cases of cholera in Europe. Let this one not continue without increasing vigilance and effort.

SYDNEY R. PARKS,
Secretary State Board of Health.

THE MARKETS.

NEW YORK.

FLOUR—
Winter Wheat, Low Grades	$2.00	@2.50
Winter Wheat, Good to Choice	4.00	@5.00
Minn. Clear and Straight	3.75	@5.00
Minn. Patents	5.00	@5.50
GRAIN—
Wheat—No. 2 Red	.97	@ .97½
Wheat—No. 2 Red, Aug.	.97	@ .97½
Wheat—No. 2 Red, Sept.	.97½	@ .98
Wheat—No. 2 Red, Oct.	.98½	@ .99
Wheat—No. 2 Red, Dec.	1.02½	@1.02½
Corn—Ungraded	.57	@ .62
Corn—No. 2	.62½	@ .62½
Corn—No. 2, Aug.	.62	@ .62½
Corn—No. 2, Sept.	.62½	@ .63
Corn—No. 2, Oct.	.63	@ .63½
Corn—No. 2, Nov.	.63½	@ .64
Corn—No. 2, Dec.	.64	@ .64½
Oats—Mixed	.37	@ .38
Oats—White	.38	@ .45
Oats—No. 2, Aug.	.37	@ .37½
Oats—No. 2, Sept.	.37½	@ .38
Oats—No. 2, Oct.	.38	@ .38½
Oats—No. 2, Nov.	.38½	@ .39
Oats—No. 2, Dec.	.39	@ .39½
Rye—Western	.65	@ .66
Barley—Western	.65	@ .70
Barley—Canada	.65	@ .70
PROVISIONS—
Pork—Mess, New	10.50	@10.75
Pork—Mess, Old	10.00	@10.25
Pork—Extra Prime	9.50	@10.00
Pork—Clear	11.00	@11.50
Lard—Prime Steam	6.05	@6.10
Lard—Refined	6.25	@6.50
Lard—Refined, Continent	6.25	@6.50
Lard—S. A.	7.00	@7.25
Lard—City	5.50	@5.75
Lard—Western	6.05	@6.10
Lard—Aug.	6.05	@6.10
Lard—Sept.	6.12½	@6.15
Lard—Oct.	6.17½	@6.20
Lard—Nov.	6.22½	@6.25
Lard—Dec.	6.30	@6.35
Butter—Western Dairy	11	@ 17
Butter—Western Creamery	18	@ 22
Butter—Western Factory	8	@ 11
Butter—Elgins	22	@ 23
Cheese—Fall Made	6	@ 8½
Eggs—Western	17	@ 17½
Tallow—Prime City	4½	@ 4¾
Tallow—Common	4	@ 4½
Rice—Domestic	4	@ 7
Rice—Japan	5½	@ 6½
Molasses—New Orleans	30	@ 35
Sugar—Raw, Fair Refining	4½	@ 4¾
Sugar—Refined, C	5	@ 5¼
Sugar—Refined, Extra C	5¼	@ 5½
Sugar—Refined, Powdered	7½	@ 7¾
Sugar—Refined, Granulated	7½	@ 7¾
Sugar—Refined, Cut Loaf	7¾	@ 8
Coffee—Rio, Cargoes	11½	@ 15
Coffee—Rio, Low Ordinary	8	@ 8½
Coffee—Rio, Fair	9½	@ 10
Coffee—Rio, Good	10½	@ 11
Coffee—Rio, Prime	11½	@ 12
Coffee—Rio, Ordinary	9½	@ 10
Coffee—Rio, Fair	10½	@ 11
Coffee—Rio, Good	11½	@ 12
Coffee—Rio, Prime	12½	@ 13

THE JOURNAL.

BY CHAS. J. STRANG.

CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN

Notes and News.

The Michigan Legislature has been called to Grand Rapids.

Attorney Lyon adopted resolutions of sorrow on Cleveland's administration.

Kalamazoo had $20,000 worth of celery lay in waste on the ground last Sunday.

The thirty-seventh annual fair of the Jackson County Agricultural Society opens at Kalamazoo on Monday, Sept. 14th.

In the 17th year just closed the Detroit Evening News has printed and distributed 12,875,501 copies of its regular issue.

The western Michigan agricultural and industrial society, will hold their annual fair at Grand Rapids, commencing Sept. 24, and continuing five days.

No. 24 of the Michigan Manufacturer is out, and in contents and style is fully up to the standard maintained in the first issue. 84 been pages, month by St. L. A. Stoup & Bro., Grand Rapids.

The second annual reunion of the Michigan soldiers' and sailors' association will be held at Reed City, commencing Sept. 8, and continuing three days. Fifty Grand Army posts are expected to be in attendance.

Mr. Faulkner, of the Traverse Journal, has taken as a partner in the office Mr. R. D. Coy, an experienced newspaper man, "and a good democrat." While the Journal is an independent paper, politically, it will lose nothing by having good democratic judgment diffused throughout its management.

Kalamazoo Vanity Fair shows up a newspaper fraud named Jackson, who travels around the country, swindling newspapers and ruining young girls. He is described as "about 6 feet in height, has a stubby black non-turbin, blue eyes and black hair. When here he wore a black felt hat, and grey suit of clothes. He walks as though lame, and is a rapid talker."

The Toledo Blade opposes the nomination of Rambaud, the republican candidate for the legislature in that district, because he is a saloon keeper. The Blade says the nomination was an insult to the party, deliberate and premeditated, and that it will prove a grave mistake in view of the election next winter of a United States senator. The nomination was undoubtedly made to catch the German vote.

Island Marine gives the dimensions of the incoming palace, the new steel steamer City of Cleveland, now building at Wyandotte, as follows: Length 350 feet, 370 feet over all, 383 feet; breadth of beam, 40 feet; breadth over guards, 70 feet; depth of hold, 17 feet, cost, $280,000. The propelling power is to be a low pressure condensing beam engine, of 2,200 horse power, with a cylinder 96 inches in diameter and 12 feet stroke.

The following items are samples of what may be found in almost every newspaper now a-days, and show that business is improving all over the country: "The Sturgis Democrat is pleased to note that in St. Joseph county, business is looking up; that traveling men are selling larger bills, and the store keeps is made necessary sales to farmers, who are in good spirits over the good harvest and fine corn crops." . . . "Business at all of the Northern Michigan resorts is unusual for the Harbor Springs Resort says."

In lieu of competing for its portion of the custom this year, each hotel is anxious to secure outside accommodations for the vast of guests with whom it is besieged." . . . "The iron trade is looking up. Many firms report orders for months ahead, and there are signs of an early revival of general business. Let us hope the word is over." The Michigan Inquirer. . . . "Following this, a paper from Black River Falls, Wis., notes the establishment, at that place, of a sixty ton furnace for the manufacture of pig iron, by a company of Minneapolis capitalists, to utilize the extensive iron mines and abundant timber of that place. The gentlemen composing the company are practical business men and speculators, and are entitled to be taken at their word."

Useless Weapons.

It was at El Teb that I was first struck with the inferiority of the infantry bayonet and sword bayonet. At Tamai, by the rush and scurry, it was not to be noticed, but that was where we fought the Soudan. In that battle the Dervishes, as they rushed out of their grass cover with the usual spears, both pitched themselves upon the weapons of our Black Watch and 60th. The triangular bayonet of infantrymen went through and through. On the whole, however, it stood the test better than the sword bayonet. Like the sword bayonet, it often lost its bayonet when a thrust was made at a bone interposed, and became overpowered in the struggle.

It has two serious drawbacks, not so obvious in the sword bayonet. The wound it makes is slight, so that a fanatical savage, or intoxicated man requires several thrusts before he is placed hors de combat, as the sword bayonet does at once, giving him a chance to run much among civilized races. In the second place, the triangular bayonet, when thrust side ways, goes too far, and there is great difficulty of freeing it. At Tamai, a stalwart soldier hooked his opponent in such a manner that he had to drag the body twenty yards, as we were retreating, before liberating his weapon. This was the most conspicuous instance of the kind I saw, but it was by no means the only one.

The sword bayonet has weight without edge, and, with the outlaws, frequently looks temper. I have seen a blue jacket's cutlass sword bayonet at Tamai, as well as some in the hands of the Nile, bend into a semicircle, and remain in that shape, omitting it for a second "point." The use it was put to did not justify the giving way of the weapon. The fact that it did and again its form further proved that the quality of the blade was of the poorest. It would have gone the same way had it been driven awkwardly into a sack of flour.

There can be no real difficulty with our mechanics and workshops in producing bayonets that will bear the front of rough usage in a campaign. What I have seen of the bad quality of the cutlass supplies equally to the sword bayonet. Many a soldier at Abu Klea, saw with dismay his bayonet rendered useless at the moment when there was no chance to load his rifle, and when he most stood in need of its services. There also I saw sword bayonets bend and twist with the facility of soft iron rather than steel. After that fight you might have noticed brawny foot guardsmen, herculean life guardsmen, and the dark fighters of the mountain infantry, all of whom had stood shoulder to shoulder in the square, straightening their bayonets across their knees or under foot. Others there were who discarded their weapons and picked up some dead comrade's from the field.—London Telegraph.

For the Stomach's Ache.

Joe Howard, a veteran New York journalist, who has wrestled successfully with a hundred epidemics and drank enough whisky to float a gunboat, gives the following advice to persons whose aching stomachs warn them of the approach of cholera or something like it: "Diet and forbidden, avoid brandy, whisky and gin. They allay the pain temporarily, but they excite, exasperate and inflame the stomach, and war remains behind. Avoid all cholera medicines, which are not made of laudanum, peppermint, red pepper and camphor. They too, allay the pain, but the things effected are exceedingly unpleasant. They are delusion and a snare. In this case, as in nearly everything in life, the simplest and easiest is the best. Take a spoonful of the essence of ginger, a teaspoonful of whisky, the boiled water, and make it palatable with a little sugar. It sets like magic, and after a few trials one pint and all moderate symptoms disappear, and you are cured." . . . Abbi, however, from the disputed point of what is the best thing to do, in the first place so many careless, pooh-pooh people just now are suffering with this new disease and lemonade cholera complaint, and the further fact that so many men die suddenly from its effects.

WM. J. STEVENSON,

HORSE-SHOEING,

Wagon Shop,

BLACKSMITHING, ETC.

Heavy Wagons and Sleds made to order. I manufacture my own wagons of the best materials and warrant them for one year. Carriages and buggies ironed and repaired.

SHOP ONE DOOR NORTH OF CROSWELL HARDWARE & CO'S STORE, CHARLEVOIX.

☞ The CELEBRATED MOWING MACHINE on hand and for sale.

$100 REWARD

FOR

Every Ounce of Adulteration

IN THE

U. G. Soap

The Great 5c Cake,

Made only by

SOWANS & STOVER,

PERRYSBURG, O.

For Sale by Grocers everywhere.

Charlevoix and East Jordan.

Steamer CHARLES Capt. Edward Oliver, Monday—Large Charlevoix 8.30, arrive East Jordan 9.30, leave East Jordan 10, arrive Charlevoix 11.00. Tuesday—Leave Charlevoix 1.30, arrive East Jordan 2.30, leave East Jordan 3, arrive Charlevoix 4.00. Supplying all intermediate points.

Hannah, Lay & Co.'s Pleasure Steamers,

SEASON OF 1885.

CITY OF GRAND RAPIDS.

CAPT. J. W. WILCOX.

Grand Venth every morning, Leave Harbor Springs 7.30, Petoskey 8.00, arrive at Charlevoix 10.00. Petoskey 1.00, arrive at Harbor Springs 1.45.

Grand Sixth every afternoon, Leave Harbor Springs 2.00, Petoskey 2.45, Charlevoix 4.30. Charlevoix 7.00, Northport 8.30, arrive at Traverse City 9.30.

T. E. PAXTON.

CAPT. L. C. WRIGHT.

Going South every morning, Leave Harbor Springs 7.30, Petoskey 8.00, Charlevoix 9.30, Leland 10.00, arrive Traverse City 12.30.

Going North every afternoon, Leave Traverse City 2.00, Leland 3.30, Charlevoix 4.00, Petoskey 5.30, arrive Harbor Springs 6.15.

GOOD CONNECTIONS will be made at Traverse City and Petoskey with the Day and Night trains on the G. R. & I., & E. C. Also on Monday morning's boat from Traverse City to Chicago via the C. & W. M. R'y. Also on Friday's trip south, and the CITY OF TRAVERSE for Chicago.

Grand Rapids & Indiana R. R

Time Table in effect June 21, 1885.

STATIONS.	No. 1	No. 3	No. 5	No. 7
Chicago lv.	.....	8 00am	10 00pm	.....
Fort Wayne, ar	5 05pm	2 40pm	4 50am	1 40am
Fort Wayne, lv.	.....	2 50pm	5 00am	1 45am
Auburn junc. ar	5 35pm	3 20	5 40	2 25pm
Auburn junc. lv.	5 40pm	3 25	5 45	2 30pm
Ligonier, ar.	6 07	3 52	6 12	3 00
Old Raipids, lv.	11 10	10 00	2 30	8 05
Mancelona, ar.	12 40am	12 05pm	4 00	9 35
Howard City,	12 40pm	12 05pm	4 30	9 37
Big Rapids,	1 25	1 00	5 20	10 27
Reed City, ar.	2 32	1 44	6 11	11 12
Reed City, lv.	2 42	1 49	6 17	11 17
Cadillac, ar.	4 10	3 15	7 45	.....
Cadillac, lv.	4 40	3 35	11 25	.....
Walton,	5 50	4 35	12 56	.....
Kalkaska,	6 23	5 05	1 32	.....
Vanderbilt,	7 27	5 45	2 38	.....
Gaylord, ar.	7 37	5 55	2 50	.....
Hulett's Junc.	8 12	6 30	3 25	.....
Alpena, ar.	9 00pm	7 20	4 15pm	.....

GOING SOUTH.

STATIONS.	No. 2	No. 6	No. 4	No. 8
Mackinaw City,	8 00pm	8 00am	.....	1 00pm
Hulett's Junc.	9 42	9 57	.....	2 57
Alpena, ar.	10 35	10 55	.....	3 55
Vanderbilt,	11 20	11 45	.....	4 45
Kalkaska,	11 51	12 19	.....	5 23
Walton,	12 24pm	12 50pm	.....	6 00
Cadillac, ar.	1 35	2 20	.....	7 35
Cadillac, lv.	1 45	2 30	6 20am	.....
Reed City, ar.	3 00	3 52	7 38	.....
Reed City, lv.	3 05	3 57	7 48	.....
Big Rapids,	3 49	4 37	8 36	.....
Howard City,	4 13	5 02	9 06	.....
Mancelona, ar.	5 35	6 40	10 35	3 45
Old Raipids, ar.	7 45	8 05	11 30	10 30
Ligonier, ar.	8 45	9 05	12 45am	11 45
Auburn junc. ar	9 22	9 42	1 22	12 22am
Auburn junc. lv.	9 30	9 50	1 40	12 30
Fort Wayne, ar.	9 40	10 00am	1 50am	12 40
Fort Wayne, lv.	7 00pm	7 00am	2 00pm	.....
Chicago, ar.	3 00pm	3 00pm	12 50pm	.....

C. L. LOCKWOOD, G. P. Agent, Grand Rapids, Mich.

PROBATE ORDER FOR HEARING FINAL ACCOUNT.—State of Michigan, County of Charlevoix, ss. Probate Office, Charlevoix, At a session of the Probate Court for said County, held at the Probate office, in the Village of South Arm, on Thursday the 20th day of August in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and eighty five. Present: James A. Marsh, Judge of Probate. In the matter of the estate of ISAAC STAFFORD, an incompetent person.

Henry H. Vanderveen, guardian of said estate, comes and presents for allowance his final account, prepared to render his final account as such guardian. Thereupon it is ordered, that Monday, the 21st day of September next, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, be assigned for examining and allowing said account, and that the heirs at law of said Isaac Stafford, and all persons interested in said estate, are hereby required to appear at a session of said court, then to be holden at the Probate office, in the township of South Arm, in said county, and show cause, if any there be, why said account should not be allowed. And it is further ordered, that notice of the pendency of said account, and of the hearing thereof, be given by publication of a copy of this order, for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing, in the JOURNAL, a newspaper printed and circulating in said County.

JAMES A. MARSH,

(A true copy.) Judge of Probate.

CHANCERY SALE.

In pursuance of and by virtue of a decree of the Circuit court for the county of Charlevoix, in chancery, in the suit of Mary Blood against Jonathan Blood, dated the 20th day of August, A. D. 1885, in an action cause therein pending, wherein the undersigned, Commissioner in chancery, appointed by said decree, will sell at Annex Museum, and Livingston Lumbering Co. premises, at public vendue, at the time that I shall sell at public sale to the highest bidder, at the front door of Lowell's Hotel, in the town of East Jordan, in the county of Charlevoix, on the 9th day of September next, the place of sale being the place of sale of the circuit court for said county, on the 9th day of August, A. D 1885, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon, all or so much thereof as may be necessary to raise the amount due, and the costs of said decree, and of said sale, to wit: Lot 1 in block 2 in the village of East Jordan, according to the recorded plat thereof, being in the township of Jordan, in said county, in Michigan, in accordance with the terms of said decree.

Dated July 9th, A. D. 1885.

FRANK E. PINGS,

Circuit Court Commissioner,

Charlevoix, Michigan.

Chas. Kent, Wm. A. Smith,

Solicitors for Complainant,

Charlevoix, Michigan. 99-10

THIS PAPER may be found on file at the Messrs. N. W. Ayer & Son's Advertising Agency (10 Spruce St.), where advertising contracts can be made for it in New York.

Good Goods and Low Prices

ARE

BOUND TO WIN

If you don't believe it, come and see my SPRING STOCK You will see that I am up to the times in styles, and have as fine an assortment of MENS, YOUTH'S and CHILDREN'S SUITS, as you will find in any City I defy any House to show any nicer line of NECK WEAR and

Furnishing Goods

My aim is to HOLD THE CLOTHING TRADE, by carrying a Large Stock so I can please you all. PRICES TALK Come and see my Large Spring Stock before buying elsewhere.

GEO. W. MILLER.

HENRY C. COOPER

Undertaker!

CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN.

Coffins, Caskets, and Trimmings Always in Stock.

Come and See my Stock of Furniture.

ALL ORDERS BY TELEPHONE RECEIVE PROMPT ATTENTION.

THE HOWE MACHINE CO.

AT THE FRONT.

OUR LATEST SUCCESS.

An Entirely New Idea

High Arm.

Easy Running Sewing Machine

IT HAS

The Most Room under the Arm,
The Best Self-Setting Needle,
The Largest Bobbin,
The Easiest Shuttle to Thread,
The Most Perfect Tension,
The Most Reliable Feed,
The Best Positive Take-up,
The Best Bobbin Winder.

IT IS

SIMPLE, STRONG, DURABLE & HANDSOME

Runs Rapidly, Very Light, Very Still, and without Vibration.

Before you purchase, please examine the NEW HOWE at the office of Mrs. M. Lithey, Agt., Charlevoix

Photographs!

I have located my

New Photograph Gallery

OVER

☞UPRIGHT & EMREY'S & CO.'S STORE.☜

And am prepared to do

All Kinds of Photographic Work,

From the

Miniature Picture to Life Size

Any Old Picture Copied and Enlarged.

Satisfaction Guaranteed.

DAVE BRADBERR,

Charlevoix, Mich.

Harbor Springs, Petoskey, Charlevoix and East Jordan.

STEAMER THOMAS PHANT.

CAPT. R. VANDERVEER.

Morning—Leave Harbor Springs 7.00, Petoskey 8.00, Charlevoix 9.30, arrive East Jordan 11.30. Afternoon—Leave East Jordan 1.30, Charlevoix 4.00, Petoskey 5.30, arrive Harbor Springs 6.00.

Close connections at Petoskey with G. R. & I. R. R. Trains, north and south.

OLD NEWSPAPERS FOR SALE

The Chicago Daily News

Has the Largest Daily Circulation in America.

Its issue for the year 1884 averaged 123,778 copies daily, and it is now regularly printing over 120,000 copies a day.

The merits of this unequaled circulation is best appreciated when it is said that it exceeds the circulation of all other Chicago dailies combined. Taking from the three standard newspaper directories, Ayer & Son's Annual, Rowell's Directory and Hubbard's Directory, the quotations which most nearly represent the actual circulations of the Chicago press, the following diagram accurately measures their relative positions as to volume of circulation.

From these figures it appears that the circulation of The Chicago Daily News exceeds the combined circulations of all the Chicago dailies by 52,464 copies a day.

THE CHICAGO DAILY NEWS

is a complete newspaper in all the essential features that go to make up a first-class metropolitan journal.

It is a morning paper, and yet it is the only Chicago paper in the West that possesses the Associated Press complete news service. In politics, it has its own private wire by which it gets the Western Union Telegraph Company's exclusive office with the New York and Washington, as both of which points it has its own news bureau. The Chicago DAILY NEWS prints ALL the news.

It is an independent paper. It recognizes the utility of political parties as means for the accomplishment of political ends, but it declines to regard any party as a fit subject for unquestioning allegiance. It admits the intelligent, thoughtful, honest people, who form every more than party.

THE CHICAGO DAILY NEWS

is a "sheet and to the point" paper. It believes that newspaper reading is but an incident of the day, not its chief business. It accordingly leaves to the "blank sheets" the monopoly of tiresome and worthless amplification. It tries to do all that the reader should care to read, and to say it in the shortest possible manner. It is a daily paper for busy people.

It is a clean paper, fit for the family circle. It is a cheap paper—2 cents a day, 12 cents per week, 50 cents per month, $6.00 per year. Sold by all newsdealers throughout the Northwest. Marked copy, post-paid, upon receipt of price.

Where the families of a daily and weekly are wanted, THE CHICAGO DAILY NEWS is recommended as "the best buy." It is a large 8 page, 64 column paper, carefully made up to meet all the legitimate needs of the family circle. It is the largest "dollar weekly" in America. It is equal to the best.

Address, THE DAILY NEWS, CHICAGO.

For Sale in F. G. HINES & CO.'S Druggists.

Provision Market.

[illegible]

Fresh and Cured Meats.

[illegible]

☞ Charlevoix "Good Templars" are preparing for the next regular meeting, on Saturday evening, Aug. 29th. Important business.

☞ E. F. BIGNE, Sec.

☞ The publication of "Black" Pomeroy's Democrat at $2.00 a year. By an arrangement with the publisher we can furnish the JOURNAL for $2.75 per year, cash in advance.

☞ M. Clark has over Ten Hundred Dollars worth of clothing and gents' furnishing goods to close out regardless of cost, and cheap for other goods.

☞ Federal Weekly Free Press from now on until for 25 cts. Spec. Agt. Dent at the office.

☞ Lumbermen's Telephone, prompt delivery of from dollar one. Market.

☞ Cedar and pine shingles for sale at cost, Emery & Co.

☞ THE FAIR offers glass ware at cost 10 days.

☞ A fine lot of celery at Jefferies' Market.

☞ Best fresh butter at Jefferies' market.

☞ Boneless Ham at Jefferies' Market.

Local Notes and News.

Geo. W. Miller has a pair of cubs in his front window.

L. L. Alexander graded the north side of his 10 acres week.

Glass & Porter have established a branch meat market at East Jordan.

About 150 people attended the excursion to Mackinac on Tuesday.

The dome yacht Cinclo, of Detroit, was in port Monday and Tuesday.

Capt. H. G. Edwards is building a sing le north side of his residence.

J. E. Bond & Co. announce a new departure in another column. Read it.

Hulett Springs went over to Mackinac last week to play ball and got left.

R. W. Kane is building a wire fence in front of his lot on Clinton street.

The foundation for a new boathouse for the Chicago resort has been completed.

A new windmill derrick has been erected near the old one on the Charlevoix resort.

A polo match between Charlevoix and Petoskey clubs is advertised for tonight at the Charlevoix rink.

Services in the M. E. church next Sunday. Preaching by the pastor. All whom come will be welcomed.

East Jordan has attempted to revive the spelling match craze which swept over the country a few years ago.

C. S. Hampton will send a dozen back numbers of the Daily Resorter to any address in the United States for 25 cts.

One by one our summer guests are returning home. Next month will see quite a scattering of families whose children attend school.

Preaching at Black's school house next Sunday afternoon. The Sunday school lesson will be illustrated from the blackboard.

Mrs. French has purchased the J. M. Clark house, next Eaton's twin cottages on Mason street, and it is being fitted up for occupancy by Mr. H. V. Rifenburg, of the gristmill company.

O. I. Wheat commenced the foundation of Mrs. Lithey's new millinery shop, opposite the Bridge Street House, last Tuesday morning.

Ground was broken Monday morning for a brick block to be erected by E. H. Green, on the lot adjoining the one just put up by W. P. Brown.

The north front of the Woodbury lot has been cleared of brush and graded. Several other lots on the upper terrace have also been cleared.

Last Thursday afternoon, Dr. Cramer and A. B. Bond, of Chicago, went to Susan Lake and in two hours caught about 25 pounds of fine pick erel.

The Daily Resorter of Aug. 26, contains a prize puzzle, and offers the Northern Independent one year to the first person who sends a correct solution.

Mr. J. S. Smallman, of Chicago, has purchased 2½ acres of land near the Chicago resort, and will erect a substantial residence thereon in the near future.

The new pier light is completed, and will be lighted Sept. 1st. It is to be a fixed red light of the fifth order, and the focal plane is 37 feet above the lake level.

Episcopal service will be held at the opera house next Sunday morning and evening, conducted by J. W. Bancroft, general missionary. All are invited to attend.

On Friday Geo. W. Miller and a friend from St. Louis went out a few miles and brought home 70 trout, a few of the largest weighing over a pound each.

Miss Ackery had a sort of "benefit picnic" last Thursday afternoon, patronized by resorters and others, and nothing a good sum toward finishing her new house.

During the past two weeks more people have been entertained at the Chicago Club house than ever before in the same length of time, in the history of the resort.

A donation for the benefit of the pastor's salary will be held in the M. E. church next Wednesday evening. The ladies will serve supper from five to nine. Everybody invited.

New sidewalks have recently been finished on the Chicago resort, the latest being one from the top of the terrace near Mr. Moore's cottage, connecting with the walk to the dock.

Upright, Emrey & Co's delivery horse took a wheel around the corner yesterday morning, piling the wagon up against the fence, and throwing the horse flat on the sidewalk. No one hurt, and nothing broken.

The farmers in this vicinity will do well to save to wheat the 2nd, all the ground they can prepare. The mill to be erected here this fall will need every kernel that can be raised within miles of Charlevoix for a number of years.

The Boyne City boat club is now fully organized and a four oared gig has been purchased. It is a good boat 38 feet long and our neighbors may look for a good team from Boyne City in next year's regattas. Our boys are full of pluck and muscle.—[Statesman.

A new windmill derrick has been erected near the old one on the Charlevoix resort.

A polo match between Charlevoix and Petoskey clubs is advertised for tonight at the Charlevoix rink.

Services in the M. E. church next Sunday. Preaching by the pastor. All whom come will be welcomed.

East Jordan has attempted to revive the spelling match craze which swept over the country a few years ago.

C. S. Hampton will send a dozen back numbers of the Daily Resorter to any address in the United States for 25 cts.

One by one our summer guests are returning home. Next month will see quite a scattering of families whose children attend school.

Preaching at Black's school house next Sunday afternoon. The Sunday school lesson will be illustrated from the blackboard.

Mrs. French has purchased the J. M. Clark house, next Eaton's twin cottages on Mason street, and it is being fitted up for occupancy by Mr. H. V. Rifenburg, of the gristmill company.

Phipps continues to look after the details of model and finish.

Mr. H. V. Rifenburg lots of Muskegon is here this week, preparing to erect the new flouring mill. The plans and specifications may be seen at the Hamilton City house, where bids will be received for constructing the building. The intention is to let the entire job at once to the lowest responsible bidder for building foundation and frame and finishing ready for the machinery, the successful bidder to furnish all necessary material and give a bond for the faithful performance of the contract. The work is to be pushed as fast as possible, in order to be ready to receive the crop now being harvested.

Miss Carrie Hilton's birthday party, last Wednesday night, was also a "housewarming" for O. D. Hilton's new residence which is nearly completed, the dance having been conducted on the lower floor. It is a two story house, 32x24 feet and will have a wing 24x18 feet. There is a cellar under the main building with walls two feet thick. The house fronts the north, and occupies a commanding position. On each side are two handsome dormer windows. From these on the west, one has a fine view of Traverse Bay and Lake Michigan, and on the east, a large extent of neighboring farms. The inside work is not yet entirely finished, but when it is, we hope to mention it again. The house will be heated by a furnace.

Personals.

Mrs. Geo. A. Leonard returned home Friday from her visit at Saginaw.

F. W. Hathaway, of the Redpath Lyceum Bureau, returned to Chicago this week.

W. H. Hurlbut, of South Haven, arrived Saturday, for his usual summer vacation.

Jas. Lawrence caught a trout weighing one pound and 12 ounces in Stover's creek on Monday.

Mrs. S. Spalsbury was called to Elk Rapids to-day by a message announcing the illness of friends.

Frank Craine is canvassing for Grant's book, and Mills Rainey takes his place in Geo. Miller's clothing store.

Mrs. A. F. Draper started last Saturday for a visit with her parents in Neoillet, Wis., to be absent several weeks.

Prof. O. R. Weed has returned to Manistique to resume his duties as principal of the graded schools at that place.

Mrs. Dr. Snyder and son visited friends in Charlevoix yesterday, and to-day goes to East Jordan to meet her husband.

Alvan A. Rhodes, son of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel H. Rhodes, died of chol era infantum Aug. 25th, aged 10 months and 20 days.

Mr. Fred E. Libby, of Muskegon, is in town this week, hoping to get in a successful bid for the construction of the new grist mill.

John Withers and Estella Smith, daughter of T. D. Smith, were married by Rev. J. T. Billings, at the M. E. parsonage, on Monday, Aug. 24th.

F. M. Cowles, of Lansing, formerly a dry goods merchant, has now traveling in the interest of certain patent rights, made us a call on Saturday. It was his first visit to this place, and like many others, he expressed surprise at the evidences of enterprise and beauty of surroundings everywhere visible here.

H. V. Rifenburg and son, with their families and household goods, have arrived, and are quartered at the Fountain City house until they can get settled. The elder gentleman will occupy the J. M. Clark house on Mason street, and the son a part of Dr. Lewis' double cottage on Dixon avenue.

Report of Sunday School Convention.

The seventh annual meeting of the Charlevoix county Sunday school association, held in Charlevoix, Aug 19th, had a larger attendance of ministers and prominent workers than usual, but the attendance of children was very small, and those being on morning boat from Boyne City, only two schools located on Pine Lake were represented by delegates; nevertheless the discussions were very interesting, particularly on the question, How to increase the adult member ship of our Sunday schools? and the prevailing opinion seemed to be that parents and church members should pay more attention to their responsibility on that subject.

Officers for the ensuing year were elected as follows:

President, Rev. J. Blake, of East Jordan.

Vice president, A. W. Chew, of Hayes township.

Secretary and treasurer, R. W. Kane, of Charlevoix.

Quite a lively, but good natured strife arose between the friends of Boyne City and East Jordan with regard to the place of holding the next convention. East Jordan enterprise carried the day, and also developed some features in the growth of the work, usually, that some of our people realize the difference between a convention and a Sunday school celebration. R. SUTHERLAND, Sec.

Michigan Passenger Agents' Association

Among the distinguished visitors in Charlevoix during the past week, the following registered at the Chicago Club house last Friday. The party arrived on the Paxton in the morning, were driven about town in the forenoon, dined at the club house, were rendered an excursion to East Jordan on the Gazelle in the afternoon, and returned to Petoskey in the evening. In the following names is lost from the register of the club house, we have added the name of the road represented as far as we could obtain.

W. A. Carpenter (D., L. & N. R. R., Pres. Mich. Pass. Agts' Association, of Detroit.

J. F. Dickson (L. S. & M. S. R'y) and wife, of Detroit.

F. I. Whitney (M. C. R. R.), wife and child, of Chicago.

J. H. Carpenter, jr., & W. M. R. R., wife and daughter, of Grand Rapids.

W. A. Leavitt (C. & W. M. R. R.) and wife, of Grand Rapids.

W. H. Knight (W., St. L. & P. R. R.) and wife, of Detroit.

Geo. E. King (sec. Mich. Pass. Agts' Association) and daughter, of Detroit.

W. R. Carpenter, of Detroit.

D. J. Ross, of Detroit.

Miss Ella Wallace, of Grand Rapids.

D. W. Johnson, of Detroit.

C. L. Lockwood (G. R. & I. R. R.), of Grand Rapids.

H. C. Potter, wife, and friend, of East Saginaw.

M. M. Hage, of Flint & Pere Marquette.

Miss Minnie Hagy, of East Saginaw.

State Teachers' Institute.

Institute opened Monday at 10 a. m., forty teachers enrolled. Prof. John Goodison, of the state normal school, gave a lecture Monday evening, at the Presbyterian church; subject, "Origin and meaning of geographical names." Prof. W. E. Romson, of Stanton, gave a lecture Tuesday evening; subject, "A practical education." Both lectures were largely attended. A good deal of interest is manifested by teachers, and the attendance will exceed that of last year.

Card of Thanks.

D. H. Rhodes and wife wish to publicly return their thanks to Mrs. H. L. Clifford, Mrs. W. C. Newman, Mr. O. W. Smith, and other citizens of Charlevoix, for their assistance and many acts of kindness during the late fatal sickness of their child.

Shipments.

The following are the clearances from the port of Charlevoix as reported for the week ending Wednesday evening:

20—Schr. Nisbet, 110 cords wood and 120 cords hack, C. Vanderveer & Milwaukee.

20—Schr. Lucerne, 120 cords wood, P. Bump, Milwaukee.

20—Schr. Surprise, 90 cords wood, E. M. Clark & Milwaukee.

20—Schr. Charlotte Merrill, 90 cords wood, 200 pieces hack, Lowell & Fallander for Chicago.

20—Schr. H. D. Money, 100 cords wood, 200 cords hack, H. D. Dunham for Chicago.

20—Schr. Agnes, 200 feet hardwood lumber 200 pieces cedar timber, John Nesbitt for Chicago.

20—Schr. John Fisher, 100 cords wood, W. Sawyer for Milwaukee.

20—Schr. R. Pigeon, 85,000 feet hardwood and 40,000 feet pine lumber, John Nesbitt for Chicago.

20—Schr. Sentinel, 70 cords wood, 37 ft. 30 in. 60 in. cedar timber, Chicago.

20—Schr. Lucerne, 120 cords wood, 200 pieces hack, Lowell & Fallander for Chicago.

20—Schr. Charlotte Merrill, 100 cords wood, C. J. Pearson for Chicago.

20—Schr. Surprise, 200 cords hack, W. L. Ellis for Chicago.

20—Schr. Grand Marais, 200 cords hardwood 200 pieces hack, C. J. Pearson.

20—Schr. Narragansett, 350 feet pine, Fine Lake lumber, Chicago.

20—Schr. Mazeppa, 200 cords cedar and hack, Joseph Sharon, Chicago, Ill.

ALL PREPARED FOR

THE FALL CAMPAIGN.

We have just placed upon our counters a choice assortment of

Dress Goods, Woollens, Suitings, Etc., Etc.,

For fall wear, at very tempting prices.

NEW DEPARTURE IN TEAS.

Spring Crop, from Japan.

Commencing Saturday, Aug. 29,

We will offer FOR CASH ONLY, 25 Cients new sun-cured Japan at 35 Cents, by the pound or chest. We guarantee this to be equal if not superior to any fifty cent Tea.

J. L. HURD & CO.

Successors to Amos Fox.

All the Latest Popular

SHEET MUSIC

May be obtained of

F. G. HINES & CO.,

Druggists and Stationers.

PILES

To all of the various forms are common companions of the human race and produce the utmost suffering and distress many a person to commit suicide to end suicide. In blind, bleeding, itching piles, internal or external immediate relief can be obtained by half an hour's use of Dr. Swayne's Pile Suppositories with but water. Never known to fail. Warranted to cure. Price 50 cents per box.

Sold by druggists, W. Crozier, Charlevoix, and Crozier & Harris, Boyne City.

SPREAD THE GOOD NEWS

And let every one know the benefits to be derived from the use of Dr. Swayne's Blood Purifier. It thoroughly cleanses the system from all humors, it is a sure cure for scrofula, erysipelas, eczema sores, tumors, salt rheum, and all diseases indicating an impure condition of the blood. Price $1.00 per bottle.

Sold by druggists, W. Crozier, Charlevoix, and Crozier & Harris, Boyne City.

Cure for Piles.

Piles are frequently prevalent in a sense of weight in the back, loins and lower part of the abdomen, causing the patient to suppose he has some affection of the kidneys or inflammation of the bowels. Pain is felt in the back, sometimes mistaken for lame back. Sometimes there are but few of the characteristics of piles present, such as itching, protruding, bleeding, etc. A medicine, the proprietors of which have discovered to have never failed in curing in a known instance, Blind, Bleeding and Itching Piles, has now come to the profession of the public. Dr. Swayne's Ointment, which acts directly upon the parts affected, absorbs the tumors, allaying the intense itching, and effects a permanent cure. Price 50 cents. Sold by druggists, W. Crozier.

A Reliable Article.

For enlarged glands and a desire to get rid of them, we will have to refer to Dr. Swayne's Compound Iodine Ointment. Dr. Swayne's Cough and Lung Syrup, is now the best Medicine on the market, for Coughs, Colds, Deep-seated Pulmonary Consumption. Price 25 cents and $1.00. Samples free.

CLASS SONG.

BY ORO. E. BARNETT.

We stand upon a green plateau,
Where wild the tempest roars;
We see far down the valleys low
The wreck of ancient shores.
But, wind swept as we are, we know
We form a couple and ragged way,
And wonderful old and sturdy
To bear the Class of '85.

It may be and ragged we are around,
And the clothes we wear are old,
Yet brilliant the few minutes we found,
And strong and true each modest guide.
They watched our business first begun,
Till one with every tack well done,
With hearts tried, and hopes true,
We hold the Class of '85.

Pinioned, above, the lofty height
Alone we to will unwind,
Where shade, Ulysses of the night,
Have passed the days, we do not know.
And now upon the hill we gaze
A rich reward, as low adieu
With hearts tried, and hopes true,
We hold the Class of '85.

If tempest and wind lously sound
In blue high upon the honored name
Of one who at this hour is found
Just failed it proudly up to fame,
Below, all hearts will feel the call
Of the Class of '85, with memories dear to all,
Of old friends, and hopes true,
The crossing Friend of

Not all who, platform staff in hand,
Received with to the mount to climb
Are numbered, and Mr. Banks, for such
At this our graduation time
Have hitherto been found reverse;
Some dropped out of the race behind some
Whose numbers will be found
The Class of '85.

In Lifetime's rime, though blessed with joys,
We'll live our happy school days over,
And travel in memory's
The well-beloved paths
Of Cornell, Ithaca, and
Our hearts will ever
And nothing from our
Love of the Class of '85.

MEMBERS OF THE BAR.

BY MORRIS BERWING.

Night was fast upon us, and I was anxious to catch a buffalo before the moon broke that had been threatening now for nearly an hour.

The distant growl of thunder had increased to a loud peal, and the far-off glow of the lightning was now one almost continuous glow. It would not be long ere the storm broke in wind fury, and with it the night would be doubly dark.

My horses was jaded from a long drive, my buggy wheels spattered with mud, and myself in anything but a pleasant state of mind. This seemed to be the worst country I had ever encountered.

As the agent of Williams & Jones, I had come to this out-of-the-way region to look after their interests in a suit that was pending in the Circuit Court of one of the northern counties.

Forty miles over barren oak plains, and through pine and hemlock woods, with the buggy jolting and bounding over roots and stones, through mud and water a good part of the distance, was not calculated to render one good-natured, to say the least.

Jones, junior member of the firm, had been on the ground for a week, and it was a dispatch from him that brought me on this journey.

"Your testimony is absolutely essential to the success of our claims," were the exact words inclosed by Mr. Jones, and so I set out at once, leaving my horse at the railway station nearest the county seat for which I was aiming. Many thousands of dollars were involved in the suit, and I realized the importance of my arriving on the ground in due season.

It was a long, lonely road from the station, and I began to fear that I might have lost my way, when the sight of smoke and the glare of a roof loomed in sight. I urged my horse forward, and drew rein in front of a dingy-looking house in the center of a small clearing.

I noticed a faded signboard bearing the name "Cottage Inn" upon it.

Great drops of rain began to fall, and a terrific peal of thunder shook the very earth. This was accompanied by a red gleam that was simply blinding.

I glanced down the road at the black wall of swaying trees, and then hopped from my seat to the ground.

A man came to the door at my call, a grizzled, unprepossessing fellow, who said he would put out my horse.

"Better git inside quick, stranger; it's goin' to rain like great guns."

I noticed an second invitation, but strolled into the open door, and found myself in a narrow, low-ceiled room, across a portion of one side of which extended a dingy bar. A jug and a few black bottles sat on a shelf next the wall, and the end of the bar next the end of the room was occupied by a bucket of water, the long handle of a tin dipper showing itself above the side of the vessel.

I sat down on a stool and glared out into the falling rain. The thunder crashes came thick and fast, and one continuous glow of red, blue, and white electricity shot through the gathering shadows without. It was a terrible night, and I felt thankful for the shelter that the old wayside tavern afforded.

In a little time the man who had taken my horse to the stable came in and shook the water in a shower from his shaggy great coat.

"Mighty bad night, stranger," articulated the man. "You hadn't an idea of goin' farther to-night?"

"When I left this morning I had. How far is it to Pine Creek?"

"Eh? Do you goin' there? Wal, it's a matter of six miles. I wouldn't advise you to go on to night."

"I shall not, if this storm continues."

"It's likely to. Have some supper?"

I was fatigued, and felt in need of something strengthening, so I answered in the affirmative.

Lighting a lamp first, my host then shuffled into the next room, and I heard him giving orders to a woman about supper for a hungry traveler. When the man came back he removed his coat and hung it up behind the bar, then he seated himself and proceeded in an attempt to look me out of countenance.

"You said you was goin' to Pine Creek," he questioned, in a hoarse drawl. "Mebbe you've got business fer court?"

"Maybe I have."

"I was on thar fer-day. Big case comes up, and a queer look, full of curious questioning, filled the little gray eyes. I felt annoyed at the fellow's impudence.

A crash of thunder silenced a quick retort from my lips, and second thought prevented my giving vent to my true feelings at all.

"I am a witness in the case of Johnson against Williams & Jones," said, in a pleasant way, in spite of my feelings. "I desired very much to get through to-night."

"You can easy make the Creek afore court sets in the morrun," said the landlord. "What's the odds whether you stay here or there to-night? You'll be freeler to step here, I reckon."

I nodded, without reply. The hour rose, after another close scrutiny of my face, and shuffled into the next room. I was left to myself for a time. I was not favorably impressed with the proprietor of "Cottage Inn," and only the necessities of the case would have induced me to remain.

In a little time supper was announced, and I found my way into the next room, where a frowsy-headed woman of middle age poured tea and waited on the table. I seemed to be the only guest. The man of the house, answered the I should not suffer from loneliness, however, came in soon, and entertained me with a stream of talk about hunting that was of a sufficiently interesting nature to accomplish the desired object. When I returned to the front room again the storm had abated, and the prospect was brilliant for resuming my journey.

"Wouldn't undertake to go to-night on no conditions," said Mr. Banks, for such was the name he had given. "Another shower's likely to come up, and mighty the creeks fell to overflowin. You'd be in a hell fix enough if you should get caught in the woods such a night, with the bridge over Pine Creek gone. Take my advice and start till morrun, Cap."

It was sensible advice, surely, and I would not meet that and a day earlier. I went out at daybreak and got to Pine Creek two hours before court commenced, which would be all the time necessary for consultation with Mr. Jones. Affording the subject for some time, I concluded to pass the night at "Cottage Inn."

"We'll make it as pleasant as possible," said mine host.

An hour later I was conducted up a narrow, rickety stairs to a stair landing. A door open to the left, and I saw a room looking like skeleton caverns extending upward from the low roof. The room was not entirely used to roosting it, and as soon as Mr. Banks had disappeared I caught down the rickety stairs I sought the bar, emptied of stove, removing only my coat, and was soon in the land of dreams. Confused dreams they were too. All sorts of sounds vexed my ears, and the tramp of many feet was quite confusing.

"Come, Cap, wake up; wake up!"

Some one was shaking me rudely by the shoulder, and the glare of a light held near dazzled my eyes.

"It's morrun," I queried, incubantly rousing at once to a sitting posture.

"No, but you've wanted to be," said Mr. Banks, whose grizzled visage peered into my face with a look of the bald shrit in our grimy hand.

"Wanted! for what?" in a dazed way.

"Some members of the bar lies come, and they want to see Jake Brown awfed bad.

"Well, that's my name," I muttered, "but I think they might have delayed their morning until morning."

"So I said; but they'd no use argumin' the point, and so I come to you. If you won't go down—"

"Of course, I'll go."

Opening my drawer, I put my coat, and proceeded at once to follow the proprietor of the cozy-looking bar to the room below.

Three men were there, and they rose the moment I entered the room. Two of the men were young and wore good clothes and shining ping hats; the third one was roughly clad and held a whip by the butt, which he swung about in a way that betokened long association with the lash. "Jim Jones," was my mental conclusion at the first glance.

"This is Mr. Brown, I suppose?"

One of the men with shining hat extended his hand.

"That is my name."

"Jacob Brown, of the firm of Williams & Jones?"

"The same."

"Then you are the man we seek. Mr. Jones sent me for you. We, Mr. Kanes and myself, are members of the Pine Creek bar, and employed by Williams & Jones in the case of Johnson versus Williams & Jones."

The man held his hat in hand and bowed low, clashing it his accurate and smiling blandly.

"Mr. Jones expected me to-night?" I questioned.

"He did, and is in a grand stew to think the suit is likely to go by default for lack of your evidence. Court was in session this evening, and opens again at half in the morning. Three plaintiff judges dispatch business, I tell you. My boss is very anxious to see you to-night. The storm has abated, and you can just as well go on as not. I'll give you a seat in my buggy, so your horse can rest until to-morrow, when Mr. Jones will send a boy for him."

Mr. Clement was a smooth-tongued fellow, but I could not but wonder, that my employer should send two lawyers after me instead of the teamster alone. I mentioned the strangeness of the circumstance.

Mr. Clement laughed rather unsoundly. "We wan't sure of meeting you at all but Jack here was to go on if we did not find you at the inn. We wanted a little fresh air, which is delicious since the storm. A good one, mean readers the night just spending."

Mr. Kanes also put in a word, and I finally consented to accompany these distinguished members of the bar to Pine Creek.

There was a moon, as Clement had said, but when we penetrated the pine woods it near only served to light the way.

We occupied a double-seated buggy. Silently, save for the crack of the driver's whip and his chirp to the horses, urged along the yielding drive. The road was two to one, and I was full of my own reverie, so that I failed in conversation only when addressed by one of the members of the bar.

An hour passed, and then the "whoa" of the driver brought the vehicle to a halt.

The darkness was intense. The air was damp, and a distant rumble of thunder announced the gathering of another storm. I felt a cold chill creep down my spine.

"What is the trouble?"

"We stop here."

In the instant a strange storm filled my mentals. I felt a land pass to my fave, and realized that something dreadful was about to happen. I made a desperate struggle, but a vain one. Strong hands held me fast, and a deadly weakness stole over me. I seemed to be floating on a perfumed sea, with the distant rhythm of fairy bells ringing in my ears.

He won't make no fuss," said a gruff voice, jarringly.

"The goss off to sleep like a baby."

There came a jarring laugh, followed by intense jolting, the darkness of insensibility. Every thing was black and I seemed my eyes hours later, to find myself lying on the damp ground in a narrow apartment, apparently a cellar.

I arrogated to a sitting posture and gazed about. Four dreary walls met my gaze, the dim light. Battle gesus shot through my brain, and I felt ill indeed. Then I remembered the past, and fancy pictured the startling faces of the members of the bar as I had seen them last at the old tavern.

With some difficulty I gained my feet, and staggered to the wall. The stone was damp and cold. I shrank back and fixed my eyes on the few rays of light that stole in through a narrow aperture under the side floor above.

I was in a cellar, I felt quite sure, and began to realize that a true trick had been played upon me, a trick that I could not understand. The members of the bar had spoken of meeting Mr. Jones by Johnson to keep the most important witness from the court room until the case had been decided.

Perhaps I was to be murdered or driven from the country with the threat of death, should I return to claim what I took in the court room in all its hearings.

I shuddered at the mere possibility, I turned, going to the little opening to peer out upon the world. I was not tall enough, but grasping the top plank, and by a little hard of upward pressed forth through an opening that I had not noticed before, unnoticed.

I realized that time was precious. The trial was on to-day and might come to a conclusion before I could reach Jones. If I should prove to be the last day of the suit, my absence might cost the firm to my employer. Such thoughts rendered me desperate. I ran swiftly. With the fury of desperation I drew myself up once more to the level of the wall, and attempted to enlarge the opening that I had discovered, but failed, with my hand.

One effort and then I drew my hand away, lacerated and bleeding. Rough stones bristled in the way, each surrounded the narrow opening, and I felt back to the bottom of the cellar with a groan. For a time I was completely unnerved at the outcome of my escape. At length I rose alone for help. It was a forlorn hope that some one might be passing and come to the rescue. Vain hope! I was borne from the excavation and gave over back.

Directly over the center of the cellar, some two feet above my head, was a small trap door in the floor. This I made several unsuccessful attempts to raise. I labored under great disadvantage, since I could only reach the top by springing my fingers and sliding it to the side. The solid excursion led me to believe that the trap was weighted down.

I was indeed a prisoner without hope of escape. Sinking down at last on one corner of the narrow cellar, I meditated long and seriously upon the situation. I had been basely deceived by these slippery villains, who had fastened to me months of the hour that they were not with me, and I felt that I was now a self-evident fact. If I ever got out, I should swear a mighty oath against the smooth-tongued scoundrels, I inwardly muttered.

Hours passed. Time after time I sought the top of the trap door and the narrow cellar, to no purpose. With each renewal of the attempt some added weakness, as my strength failed me, a feeling of despair engulfed my heart. I was a victim to the demons in Johnson's employ would leave me to die in a grave.

While thinking upon this, a sound fell on my ear that sounded to me as nothing but ever done in my life before.

I listened, then sprang to the middle of the cellar, with a shudder of a chill, cold beads of perspiration oozed forth from every pore of my body.

I listened. The sound was not repeated, but I was getting back at the spot I had before occupied, I caught the gleam of two bright eyes. Then a glitter of shining scales, and I knew that I was face to face with a coiled rattler. My fascination would have been terrible, but to die under the fangs of a venomous reptile was more.

The heavy eyes held a horrible gleam as the head rose and pushed itself forward over the edge of the hole into the cellar, instinctively I planned about for some weapon of defense, nothing, not even a pebble was in sight—only my loose hands to contend with the spirit of a serpent.

Reader, put yourself in my place at that moment, and imagine if you can the horrible nature of my feelings. You can not think of it, my experience in it. I dared not move or utter a cry. There I was, face again to face through such an experience. I kept my eye fixed on the serpent, not daring to look away, until it seemed as though I was fascinated, as I had read of birds fascinating, under the gaze of a serpent.

The eyes of the serpent grew into mammoth size—great round orbs, full of mingling colors and scintillating gleams. The yellow and green predominated, filled the whole atmosphere in fact. Dizziness, and a strange ringing filled my brain. Gradually I yielded to that horrible fascination, and began to move toward the serpent—going to my doom.

Would nothing break the spell?

Something did break it. At the moment when all my senses seemed lost in a terrible fascination, a sharp report filled the cellar, and I felt a warm trickling down my and a slender animal darted under the floor, and the next instant fell into the damp floor of the cellar in the coils of the rattlesnake, with a shudder and a groan I came to myself. My presence of mind returned to me, and I planced at the struggling objects on the floor, a gaunt dog, the enemy of all reptiles. The poison of the serpent would soon finish the poor hero; but I realized that this was my opportunity, and I at once proceeded to improve it.

I soon succeeded in setting my heel upon the head of the serpent, crushing it into the gravelly soil. I breathed easy when the venomous reptile ceased to squirm.

Dad had had his luck, anyhow?

I was interrupted in my work of destroying the serpent by the sound of a voice, and glancing at the little opening above the cellar wall I caught the gleam of a pair of eyes—human eyes this time—and the glow of a human face.

"Ther rabbit darted under here. Go in, Brick, an' fetch 'im out."

The face disappeared, and on the instant the sharp yell of a dog broke on my ear. The four-footed brute thrust his nose into the aperture and barked, but did not venture to molest me. I lifted up my voice then in hearty any presence known.

"Dad blast it, what is ther?"

"It's the rattler," I shouted, "and can't get out. Will you help me?"

"Come, Brick."

Dog and man disappeared, but after the lapse of a minute I heard welcome steps above. The crash of falling boards, and my case, and then the trap opened and two men leaped down upon me—one a man's, the other a dogs.

"Confusion precious. What you down here for?" exclaimed the young hunter.

Help me out and I will explain. I answered, quickly.

The fellow threw a plank down by the aid of which I gained the floor above, to find myself in a large log shanty, which proved to be some fifty feet long since deserted by the loggers. I found my rescuers a stout young woodsman, possessed of considerable intelligence. He listened to my story with his rifle resting on the open muzzle of his long rifle. When I had finished he expressed his feelings in a short speculation.

"Well, I'll be doggonded!"

The rabbit and rattlesnake were left in the cellar, the trap closed, and together we sought the open air.

"It's six miles to Pine Creek," explained Sam Otten, "but if you feel strong enough we'll get there inside of two hours. I reckon I'll be some sick in the morrun, I was out hunting, wasn't I, old man?"

I assured the young man of the fellow's conclusion, and expressed a wish to go at once to Pine Creek.

It was a tedious journey, and when just as night fell we came into a village I was well-nigh exhausted. Notwithstanding the lateness of the hour I was yet in session, and I at once required clothes.

I'm thinkin' you can see court," was the fervent exposition of Mr. Jones, as he grasped my hand, on my entering the room. "May I ask the reason of your long absence?"

My appearance was a consideration to the Johnson side of the house. I glanced from the Jones' counsel just the bar, but failed to see either of the distinguished members of the bar. I felt a little ashamed of myself in the previous evening.

Consideration prevailed in the end, and I gave a brief sketch of my adventures. The story I had to tell was a startling one, and my lawyer was not slow to connect the late villainy with Johnson and his friends. A revulsion of feeling took place, and the jury rendered a verdict in favor of Williams & Jones.

"You came just in time," said Mr. Jones, late that night, as he grasped my hand. "It was a villainous trick on the part of Johnson, and it came near proving successful. From your description of the two members of the bar, I should know them. I have put an officer on the track, and hope to have them in Tombs before morrow. I expected you yesterday, and was disappointed at your non-appearance. That Johnson is a clever scoundrel, and doubtless paid three fellows a goodly sum to dispose of my chief witness. I regret for you."

I quite agreed with Mr. Jones.

I believe they would have permitted me to die in that dreadful cellar, I said.

"Anyhow, the cat-smoke would have had you out in a few days, if they had not, who drove that rabbit under the shanty."

"True, and he will be remembered."

Contrary to the expectations of Mr. Jones, the two members of the bar and their teamster were not captured and put in jail, but escaped from the country, and their previous earnings the money they had invested in the village. It was impossible to prove collusion, and so injury guilty of detaining a witness so long, no one knew.

It was all a joke, Johnson said, but I did not think it. The landlord of the village Inn protested that he knew nothing of the intentions of his visitors as his barn was. I did not get satisfaction out of him in any manner, I felt my indignation at the members of the bar without a shudder.

THE TRUNK MURDERER.

Preller's Alleged Slayer in Jail at St. Louis—He Refuses to Talk About the Case.

(St. Louis special)

Walter H. Jackson Maxwell, alias T. C. D'Anglier, alias Hugh M. Brooks, the supposed murderer of U. Arthur Preller at the Southern Hotel in this city on the 5th of last April, arrived here on Sunday from San Francisco in charge of Detective Tracy and Officer Hodges, of the St. Louis police force. A crowd of from 2,000 to 3,000 men, women, and children were at the depot when the train arrived, and there was a great scramble among them to get a view of the prisoner, but good order was preserved.

The necessity of reporters who rode in from Blackstad, Ill., on the train with Maxwell, and had free access to him and to the officers in charge of him, was a great effort that he absolutely refused to talk about his case, and positively asserted that he has at no time or place made any statement in regard to it, or in any way acknowledged that he had anything to do with Preller or Jones anything about it. He says all stories to the contrary are false. Detective Tracy thinks that further development of the affair will be less weak man, mentally, but that he is quite the one who would have planned that his safety depends on his ability to keep his secret locked up in his breast. Tracy thinks he has proved that the fellow is a consummate liar, and that he has undoubtedly lied to his counsel, and he says that the fellow's conversation, and expressed a wish to go at once to Pine Creek.

It was a tedious journey, and when just as night fell we came into a village I was well-nigh exhausted. Notwithstanding the lateness of the hour I was yet in session, and I at once required clothes.

I'm thinkin' you can see court," was the fervent exposition of Mr. Jones, as he grasped my hand, on my entering the room. "May I ask the reason of your long absence?"

My appearance was a consideration to the Johnson side of the house. I glanced from the Jones' counsel just the bar, but failed to see either of the distinguished members of the bar. I felt a little ashamed of myself in the previous evening.

Consideration prevailed in the end, and I gave a brief sketch of my adventures. The story I had to tell was a startling one, and my lawyer was not slow to connect the late villainy with Johnson and his friends. A revulsion of feeling took place, and the jury rendered a verdict in favor of Williams & Jones.

"You came just in time," said Mr. Jones, late that night, as he grasped my hand. "It was a villainous trick on the part of Johnson, and came near proving successful. From your description of the two members of the bar, I should know them. I have put an officer on the track, and hope to have them in Tombs before morrow. I expected you yesterday, and was disappointed at your non-appearance. That Johnson is a clever scoundrel, and doubtless paid three fellows a goodly sum to dispose of my chief witness. I regret for you."

I quite agreed with Mr. Jones.

I believe they would have permitted me to die in that dreadful cellar, I said.

"Anyhow, the cat-smoke would have had you out in a few days, if they had not, who drove that rabbit under the shanty."

"True, and he will be remembered."

Contrary to the expectations of Mr. Jones, the two members of the bar and their teamster were not captured and put in jail, but escaped from the country, and their previous earnings the money they had invested in the village. It was impossible to prove collusion or injury guilty of detaining a witness so no one knew, I proved.

It was all a joke, Johnson said, but I did not think it. The landlord of the village Inn protested that he knew nothing of the intentions of his visitors as his barn was. I did not get satisfaction out of him in any manner, I felt my indignation at the members of the bar without a shudder.

GRANT'S TOMB.

A Vast Throng at Riverside Park on Sunday.

(New York correspondence.)

It is estimated that at least 40,000 people filed past the tomb of Gen. Grant last Sunday. It was the greatest crowd that has visited Grant's tomb since the funeral. The visitors came by every road leading to the park, and began arriving early in the morning. All the surface roads leading northward were crowded with people, and the elevated lines ran extra trains, which were filled to the limit. Hundreds of men, as well as many detectives in civil clothes, were on hand to keep the crowd moving, and there was no confusion for their presence. The crowd was composed of people of all classes, and there was no occasion for their presence. The crowd was composed of people of all classes, and there was no occasion for their presence. The crowd was composed of people of all classes, and there was no occas

Around the County.

Clarion.

The frame for Watkins' mammoth windmill was raised last Saturday.

A lawsuit before Justice McRae last Saturday.

Clay E. Call, of Petoskey, was in Clarion last week on legal business.

So much rain is interfering with harvesting.

Messrs. Darrah, Wheeler, and Sutliff are shipping large quantities of bark from this place to the Petoskey tannery.

Blood Bros. continue to make improvements in their mill. They are putting in turning lathes and build a long tramway. They talk of moving their machinery entire from Petoskey to this place. We hope they will.

The bowl factory of A. K. Smith & Co. continues to receive large orders for bowls. At present they are not running for want of blocks.

A Sunday school picnic at the food of Bear lake the 27th inst. A good time expected.

Indian camp meeting four miles north of Clarion on the G. R. & I. R. R., commencing Wednesday, 26th inst., and continuing over Sunday. Ample facilities will be provided for taking care of all who wish to attend.

Vanatee wants to sell all his chickens, as he wants to try raising geese believing them to be more remunerative.

The board of health of Melrose township has purchased two acres of land of John E. Darrah, adjoining the village, for a cemetery. This fills a long felt want, and a finer location could not be found.

W. C. Niles is having his residence painted.

Ironton.

Times are booming in Ironton.

The Lawrence came in Sunday night.

The Ralph Campbell is loading with bark at the company's dock.

Mrs. E. Franklin, of Old Mission, was the guest of her brother, A. B. Noyes, on Sunday last.

Mr. L. B. Davidson, of Acme, is home on a visit.

The M. E. Church dedication will take place on the 5th and 6th o f September; also their quarterly meeting.

There is to be an ice-cream social held at the church next Wednesday. The proceeds will be used to finish paying the church debt.

Thomas Mackey has returned home from Muscelona. He and his family will move to Newberry soon.

I. G. Waldron returned home from Newberry last Saturday.

The Sentinel correspondent got badly left on Sunday on account of scarcity of saddles in this place. This accounts for his hasty visit to Charlevoix on Monday.

Marion.

The late rains have delayed the harvest, and farmers will have to watch their chances, in order to save the grain in proper shape. No class of men work harder for what they have than the farmers, and no class in society to-day are less prepared to take advantage of their position. Every profession in society, except the farmer, has its union or combination to protect its interests, but the easy, plodding farmer does not see the benefit of union, because he does not realize its meaning. He does not realize the fact that the margin of profits is taxed upon the produce of the land. In other words, agriculture is the basis of civilization.

The patrons begin to improve, giving more and better food to stock, and every indication of a good supply of the needful, thus better enabling us to stand and withstand a siege of winter.

A valuable lesson may be drawn from the recent experience of Plymouth, Pa., where an epidemic of fever nearly decimated the population. The fate of that town should be a warning to every community, that the laws of health cannot be infringed with impunity.

A Card.

The relatives and friends of the late William Gibson and Edward Gallagher, take this means of expressing their gratitude for the quick and generous sympathy of the citizens of Charlevoix. It is one of the chief consolations of their bereavement that such kind hands and tender hearts as yours were found so ready to render such needed services to the poor remains of their unfortunate dead. They will always bear with them the sense of having received one of life's tenderest ministries of your willing hands.

The citizens of Beaver Harbor, and Island, join with the relatives and friends in their testimony of gratitude, as the feeling here is one of deepest admiration for your noble, thoughtful, and tenderly considerate service. Such messages of good will bind our community to yours with the strong bond of an affectionate regard. Your kindness will surely be remembered here by the people of this generation with the highest esteem and heartiest devotion.

The prayer of all is that you may never need such a service as you have rendered, but you will find none to minister, in your time of need, more true hearted than you have been in this sad calamity.

Beaver Harbor, Aug. 18th, 1885.

Temperance Column.

Conducted by a Committee of the W. C. T. U.

Officers of the Society.

President—Mrs. C. V. Cook.
First Vice President—Mrs. L. E. Allen.
Second Vice President—Mrs. J. T. Billings.
Third Vice President—Mrs. C. F. Von Anker.
Corresponding Secretary—Mrs. D. C. Loveday.
Recording Secretary—Mrs. B. Sutfell.
Treasurer—Mrs. C. S. Stone.

A Strong Temptation.

A young man, or rather a boy, for he was not seventeen years of age, was a clerk in one of the great mercantile houses in New York. An orphan and poor, he must rise, if he rose at all, by his own exertions. His handsome, honest face, and free, cordial manner won for him the friendship of all his fellow-laborers, and many were the invitations he received to join them in the club room, in the theatre, and even in the harroom. But Alfred Harris had the pure teachings of a christian mother to withhold him from rushing headlong into dissipation and vice, and all the persuasiveness of his comrades could not induce him to join them in scenes like this. He feared the consequences.

One evening one of his fellow clerks, George Warren, the most high toned and moral among them, invited Alfred to go home with him to supper and make the acquaintance of his family. The boy gladly assented for he spent many lonely evenings with only his books and his thoughts for company.

He found his friend's family very social and entertaining. Mrs. Warren the mother, was a pleasant, winning, I might almost say charming, woman—one of the kind whose every little speech seems of consequence, and whose every act praiseworthy. Mr. Warren was a cheery, social gentleman, fond of telling stories and amusing young people. And George's sister Jessie a girl about Alfred's own age, gave an additional charm to this happy family.

After supper wine was brought in. Mrs. Warren poured it out herself, and with a winning smile passed a glass of the sparkling liquid to the guest. Alfred took it with some hesitation, but did not raise it to his lips. Each of the family held a glass waiting to pledge their visitor. But Alfred feared to drink. He set the goblet on the table, while a burning blush overspread his face.

"What! do not drink wine?" asked Mrs. Warren, in her pleasant tones.

"I have been taught not to drink it," said Alfred.

"You have had a good teaching, I doubt not," said the lady, "and I honor you for respecting it; but I think it makes a difference where and in what company you take it. I should not be willing for George to go into a room company with dissipated young men, and call for wine, but at home in a family circle it is different. A mother cuts use of wine never hurts anyone. It is only when carried to excess that it is injurious. You had better drink yours. So little as that will never hurt."

Jessie was sitting by Alfred. She took up the glass in had set upon the table and gave it to him with a charming smile.

Again he took the goblet in his hand. The glowing wine was tempting but the faces around him were more tempting still. He raised it toward his lips. But at that moment there arose up before him a pale, sweet face, with pleading eyes—the sweet face of his mother in heaven. The boy set down the glass with a firm hand and with a firm voice said:

"I cannot think it. It was my mother's dying request that I should never taste of wine. If I thought it would be a free greater temptation will follow. You must pardon my seeming discourtesy, but I can not drink it."

A silence fell upon the little circle. No one spoke for several minutes. Then Mr. Warren said in a voice choked with emotion: "Forgive me, my boy, for tempting you to violate your conscience. Would that all young men would show as high sense of duty."

Every one of the family put down their wine untasted.

"Too big a boy for sight," said Mr. Warren. "Drinking wine leads to deeper potations. We have done wrong in setting such an example before our children. Here Ellen," he called to the servant, "take away this decanter."

And as the table was cleared of the wine and glasses, Mr. Warren said, solemnly, "Now here in the presence of all, I make a solemn vow never to have any more wine on my table, or to drink it myself as a beverage, and may my influence and precepts be as binding on my children as the request of this boy's mother to him."

And Mrs. Warren softly responded, "Amen."

Mr. Warren turned to Alfred. "We are not drunkards, nor wine bibbers here, my boy. I have always preached temperance to my children, but I have never realized before how one occasion of glass of wine, if partaken of in good society, could injure. I see it now. If a person can drink one glass, he can drink another and yet another, and it is hard to know just where to draw the line. I thank you for this lesson. I will show that I have as much manliness as a mere boy. My children will follow my example and pledge to abstain totally from wine as a beverage."

"We will, father," was the response.

The pledge was never broken by any of the family and never did Alfred Harris have cause to regret that he resisted the temptation to drink one glass of wine. Years afterward, when he was a prosperous and worthy merchant and wooed Jessie Warren was his wife, they often spoke of the consequences which might have followed had he yielded to that one temptation, and Jessie tries to impress as firm principles upon the minds of her children as her husband's mother instilled into the heart of her boy.—School World.

TEN CENTS.

Advertisements not exceeding three lines will be inserted in this column for ten cents per week. Each additional line three cents. Displayed cards fifty cents per inch per month.

BOTTOM PRICES for Poster printing in this County. The best work for the least money.

BUTTER AND EGGS in small quantities for the journal. Wood and produce of all kinds taken at market prices.

MORTGAGE NOTES kept on hand or printed to order on short notice at this office.

FARM FOR SALE.

One hundred acres of the best farming land, 40 acres improved, over an acre in apple trees, good buildings, seven miles from Charlevoix. Offers low for cash. For further particulars inquire at this office.

Boats to Rent.

Fine Row and Sail Boats to Rent by the Hour, Day or Week. Boats built and repairing done. Also Boats, Oars, and Fixtures for sale.

RED BOAT HOUSE,
Near Charlevoix Summer Resort.
W. WILCOX.

Blacksmithing.

I have fitted up the blacksmith shop in connection with Washburn & Arbery's carriage shop, and prepared to do all kinds of work in my line. Horseshoeing specially attended to.

Horsey Blacksmithing a Specialty
GEORGE PAPPIN.

FOR SALE.

The place known as
THE BEATTIE FARM
Near McGeagh's Mill.
For particulars inquire at the office of

J. MILO EATON.

MRS. R. TOULOUSE,
ICE CREAM
Fruits, Confectionery,
SODA WATER, LEMONADE, GINGER ALE, ROOT BEER, ETC.
CHARLEVOIX, MICH.

Notice of Dissolution.

The firm of Hodge & Litten, lumber makers, Charlevoix, Mich., was dissolved by mutual consent on the 1st day of July, 1885. All persons indebted to the late firm of E. H. Green, of Charlevoix, Mich., who is the authorized agent for said firm, are hereby notified to make immediate payment to the undersigned.

Dated August 3d, 1885.

C. P. HODGE,
JOHN LITTEN.

JAMES HEMMINGS,
Upright & Horizontal Addition,
Charlevoix.

HOUSE PAINTER,
Calciminer,
Paper Hanger,
And Decorator.
PINE AND HARDWOOD FINISHING. GOOD WORK.

A PRESENT.

Our readers for Error is in paper or subscribe to our publishing and engraving and receive a valuable present free. Well illustrated, 32 pages Family Paper. Big Premium offer. Prospectus and Sample Copy free. Address, Home Pub. Co., Chicago, Ill.

"Facts to be Remembered."

NIMROD PLUG TOBACCO

is the BEST CHEW, the LARGEST SELLER, and is sold at less money than other high grades. "NIMROD" is the only Plug with the TIN TAG AND WAX-PAPER WRAPPER. ALL GENUINE NIMROD PLUG TOBACCO HAS THE NIMROD lower stamped on the under side.

Sold by all jobbers and retailers.

S. W. VENABLE & CO.
Petersburg, Va.

J. MILO EATON,

DEALER IN

Real Estate

OF ALL KINDS.

Houses and Lots for Sale

IN THE MOST DESIRABLE PARTS OF CHARLEVOIX.

WILD LANDS AND IMPROVED FARMS

FOR SALE IN ALL PARTS OF THE COUNTY.

Abstracts of Title Furnished on Short Notice.

OFFICE ON BRIDGE STREET. ESTABLISHED IN 1875.

PINE LAKE IRON COMPANY

Ironton, Mich.,

Are Full in all kinds of General Merchandise.

GARLAND STOVES & RANGES KEEP YOUR ON THE Right Place

For Bargains in Hardware,

Iron, Cutlery, Tin ware, Stoves, Implements, Fixtures, Pumps, Grindstones, Wagons, Buggies, Carts, Wheelbarrows, Refrigerators, Doors, Sash

PAINTS Oils, Varnishes, Putty, Glass, Fence wire, Farm bells, Carpenter's tools, Notions, Fishing tackle, Powders, Guns, Ammunition, Spoons, Forks, LAMPS, Baskets, Measures, Tubs, Wooden ware, Rope, Fisherman's Supplies, and Ship chandlery. Job and Tin work.

L. D. BARTHOROMEW & CO.

HURRAH for GOOD TIMES

Everything Booming

AT E. M CLARK'S

Where he has a Lively Trade in

Dry Goods, Groceries, Boots and Shoes, Clothing, &c.

When you get the shues, just call around and see with what dispatch everything is done, where Pork, Eggs, Butter, &c., is taken in exchange for Goods.

E. M. Clark

I have purchased the Meat business of Armstrong & Co., and will continue at the old stand, with the freshest and best goods in the market.

T. E. CHAMBERLIN.

HEAR YE! HEAR YE!

I have purchased the Stock of

Drugs, Chemicals.

STATIONERY FISHING TACKLE, ETC.

of O. B. WEED & CO., and will continue the business at the old stand. I shall aim to so conduct the business as to merit a share of your favors. When in need of anything in my line, call and examine my stock and ask my prices.

PERRY WEED DRUGGIST,
Successor to O. B. Weed & Co.
OPERA BLOCK, CHARLEVOIX, MICH.

THE CHARLEVOIX JOURNAL.

NUMBER 112. CHARLEVOIX, MICH.: THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 3, 1885. $1.50 PER YEAR.

THE JOURNAL
Published every Thursday,
BY CHAS. J. STRANG.
Office on Bridge Street,
CHARLEVOIX, - - MICHIGAN
ENTERED AT THE POSTOFFICE AT CHARLEVOIX, AS A SECOND-CLASS MATTER.

BUSINESS DIRECTORY.

ATTORNEYS.

ARTHUR E. MARTIN, Attorney at Law, Boyne City, Mich. Collections promptly attended to.

WILKINSON & GRIER, Attorneys at Law and Solicitors in Bankruptcy. Office in Bailey's Block, Charlevoix, Mich. C. L. GRIER. C. O. WILKINSON.

HARLES E. KELLY, Attorney at Law, Real Estate and Loan Agents. Lake st., east of postoffice, Petoskey, Mich.

EDWARD MAYNE, Attorney and Counselor at Law. Claims promptly attended to. Office—OPPOSITE THE INDIAN.

H. WRIGHT, Attorney and Counselor at Law. Office on Lake St., Boyne, Mich.

LEWIS BREN, Attorneys at Law and Judgs of Probate, Elsner Co., Petoskey, Mich.

JOHN E. LITTON, Attorney at Law, Charlevoix, Mich.

OSCAR J. WISNER, Attorney at Law and Notary Public, Circuit Court Commissioner, Office over Post Office, East Jordan, Mich.

W. S. MOORE, Attorney and Solicitor, East Jordan, Mich. Office in Postoffice.

A. WARREN, Attorney at Law, Boyne City, Mich.

CHURCHES.

FIRST CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH—Sunday services at 10:30 a. m. and 7:00 p. m. Sunday school at close of morning service. Prayer meeting every Thursday evening at 7:00 o'clock. Seats free. A. T. VANANTWERP, pastor.

METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH—Sunday services at 10:30 a. m. and 7 p. m. Sunday school at close of morning service. Prayer meeting every Thursday evening at 7. J. E. ROBINS, pastor.

FIRE DEPARTMENT.

HORICON HOSE AND READY FIRE COMPANY meets every Saturday night, at 8 o'clock. H. F. BISSEL, Secretary.

HOMEOPATHIC PHARMACY.

RESTALL'S Homeopathic Medicines, Books, Humoro Sugar, Charlevoix, Mich.

PHYSICIANS.

J. A. CRESSMAN, M. D., Physician and Surgeon, Office at the Inglenook.

LUCIE M. Cole, Physician and Surgeon, Office at residence, Mich. Street, East Jordan.

W. J. GANSON, M. D., Surgeon and Homeopathic Physician, Charlevoix, Mich.

REAL ESTATE AGENTS.

HENRY S. HARTA, Notary Public, Real Estate and Insurance Agent, Charlevoix.

SECRET SOCIETIES.

G. A. R. Harbor Post No. 126, meets second G. Monday in each month, at Odd Fellows' hall.

I. O. O. F. Charlevoix Lodge No. 357, meets every Saturday evening, in Odd Fellows' hall.

I. O. O. F. Round Lake Lodge No. 394, meets every Wednesday evening, in their hall.

KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS, meets second and fourth days every month, at Odd Fellows' hall.

I. O. O. F. Boyne City Lodge No. 152, meets every Saturday evening in Odd Fellows' hall.

MASONIC—Charlevoix Lodge No. 382, meets first Monday on or before full moon, in Masonic hall.

W. F. BROWN. W. A. BROWN,
ANDY CASSIER.
BROWN & CO.'S
BANK OF CHARLEVOIX,

With superior facilities and prompt attention to business, we respectfully solicit a share of your business. Our principal offices of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul R. R. Co. are located at Chicago, where we are prepared to make loans on first mortgages upon farm property, stock securities, bonds and gold. Ready to meet from all points in Europe by steamers.

CORRESPONDENCE.

Chase National Bank, New York.
First National Bank, Chicago.
Merchants and Manufacturers' National Bank, Detroit.
Fourth National Bank, Grand Rapids.

The Charlevoix Improvement Association.

OFFICERS.

President—Hiram Spencer.
First Vice President—W. A. Smith.
Second Vice President—Edwin Miller.
Recording Secretary—Chas. J. Strang.
Financial Secretary—B. Sutfell.
Treasurer—Albert E. Mason.

STANDING COMMITTEES.

Executive Committee—J. Milo Eaton, A. D. Cornell, and L. L. Hurd.
Committee on Publication—H. Lee Billings, W. A. Brown, and Andy Cassier.
Committee on Finance—F. W. Mayne, L. D. Bigelow, Chairman, M. J. Stackelton, E. Cooper, Geo. W. Cregier, E. M. Clark, J. M. See, W. C. Newman, E. M. Clark, H. Bertram.

PROGRAMME.

To aid and encourage the establishment of manufacturing industries in Charlevoix, and to promote the general growth and prosperity of Charlevoix and vicinity.

REGULAR MEETINGS.

At Charlevoix Village Hall on the Third Monday of each month, at 7:30 p. m.

CORRESPONDENCE SOLICITED.

The Grand Rapids

Daily Democrat,

The Leading Newspaper of Western Michigan.

ENLARGED AND IMPROVED.

Sent by mail at 50 cents per month.

A FEW FACTS CONCERNING
DR. CROUTER'S
BAKING POWDER
Or Quick Yeast.

If you use it you will never have yellow biscuit.
If you use it your biscuit will never taste of Soda.
It contains no alum, and is absolutely free from anything of a deleterious nature.
It is made from PURE GRAPE CREAM OF TARTAR and NOT from the Common Cream of Tartar of the shops.
It is always fresh and will never disappoint you.

Directions for using furnished with every package.

Price 40 Cents per Pound

Manufactured and Sold only by
Dr. GEO. W. CROUTER,
Chemist and Druggist,
BRIDGE STREET, CHARLEVOIX, MICH.

Come and See our Immense Stock of

BOOTS AND SHOES.

FOX & MILLER.

BRIDGE STREET HOUSE,
ROBERT MILLER, Proprietor,
Charlevoix, Michigan.
This house is centrally located and its accommodations excellent. The table supplied with the best the market affords. Only simple room in Charlevoix.

COMMERCIAL HOUSE
D. D. JERRETT, Proprietor,
East Jordan, Michigan.
Entirely rebuilt and refurnished. First class Sample Room for agents. Good Stable in connection with the House. 25

FARMERS' HOTEL,
W. S. JOHNSON, Proprietor.
Antrim Street, near Village Hall, Charlevoix.
Location convenient for mechanics working in any of the factories on Round Lake, and for farmers coming to town. Good stable for teams will be provided.

FOUNTAIN CITY HOUSE,
RICHARD COOPER, Proprietor.
Charlevoix, - Michigan.
Finest location in town, giving good view of lakes and resorts. Express office, and headquarters for Pelosey and Elk lake steamers. Good sample room for commercial travelers adjoins hotel.

JORDAN RIVER HOUSE,
THETCHER & BLAIR, Proprietors.
East Jordan, - Michigan.
These having business at the county seat will find this the most convenient place to stop, and the proprietors will spare no pains to give the best satisfaction. BUSINESS CONCEITED.

PINE LAKE HOUSE,
A. J. HALL, Proprietor.
Boyne City, Michigan.
This house is finely located on the Rogue river, at the head of Pine Lake. It is large and commodious, and is well adapted to the entertainment of the traveling public.

PIONEER HOUSE,
A. B. NOYES, Proprietor.
Ironton - Michigan.
Every convenience for the traveling public.

Money to Loan
On sums of $500 and upwards, at reasonable rates of interest, on improved real estate security.
H. C. Miley,
Boyne City.

Picture Frames
Made to Order.
A FINE ASSORTMENT OF MOULDINGS
To Select From.
O. I. WHEAT,
Bridge Street, Charlevoix, Mich.

Well-Digging.
JOHN SHRIER
Charlevoix, Mich.,
Is prepared to do all work in the line of well-digging, cistern building, pump repairing, well drilling, and similar work.

WOOD WANTED.
Two or three loads of good black wood wanted at this office immediately.

MISS L. SPAULDING,
DEALER IN
MILLINERY
AND
Fancy Goods.
Dressmaking Done in the Latest Styles.
Special attention given to
CHILDREN'S GARMENTS.
We would call the attention of the Ladies to our STAMPING DEPARTMENT.
We endeavor to do our work well and at Reasonable Prices. Come and see for yourself.

McCABE'S
Livery and Hack Line
DRAYING TO ORDER.
Passengers, Baggage, etc., delivered to all Boats, Hotels, or any part of the City.
AT
McCabe's Livery Barn,
CHARLEVOIX, MICH. 42

W. M. WAGAR. C. C. WAGAR.

Wagar Bros.
Wholesale and Retail dealers in Tobacco, Cigars and Smokers' Articles. Also a full line of Confectionery, Fruits, and Temperance Drinks. Third door west of Bridge Street House, Charlevoix, Mich.

C. R. BELLINGER
Has a large stock of
New Jewelry and Silverware
(SOLID AND PLATED)
Pins, Charms, and Chains,
in all the latest styles.
Watches, Clocks, and Optical Goods.
New Style of Monogram Pin just received.
Sewing Machine Oil kept in stock.

John Nicholls,
CHARLEVOIX, MICH.,
Manufacturer of and dealer in
HARDWOOD AND PINE
LUMBER!
ALSO
Dressed Lumber, Oar Blades,
WAGON TUNGUES, SHINGLES, LATH, ETC.
LUMBER SAWED AND BILLS FILLED TO ORDER.

Better Times at Hand.

The interviews with Chicago business men published in the Herald yesterday covered a large portion of the mercantile field, and almost without exception their tenor was hopeful.

It is an old saying that when things become as bad as they can be, any change must be for the better, and the prevailing opinion seems to be that business is now in about that situation. During the last four years of depression, stocks have run pretty low, unsound traders have been shaken out, economy on the part of the people has produced its inevitable results of depleted supplies and heavier pocketbooks, and at present, with a fairly bountiful yield of nearly all agricultural products, the growing confidence of merchants and others in returning prosperity cannot be said to be without some substantial basis.

This element of confidence, not only on the part of capitalists and business men generally, but on the part of the people in every walk of life, is of supreme importance. It comes and goes without much reason, and is contagious to a "degree which would be laughable if at times its effects were not so lamentable. One croaker about hard times in a neighborhood will produce others, and if business actually is unsatisfactory for the time being the panic which seizes on people in such emergencies speedily makes it a great deal worse. In thousands of instances men whose incomes during the past four years have been as large as they ever were have been the loudest in their complaints. The Herald has no intention of being understood as saying that good and bad times so called are the result simply of popular caprice, but that that element does enter into the problem to a greater or less extent cannot be denied. The people are led like sheep one way and the other, with hundreds of thousands of them all the while unable to explain by any actual financial experience of their own why they have joined the laughing or the weeping throng, as the case may be. In this phase of business may be seen a powerful argument against every thing in the nature of governmental subsidies for the creation of artificial prosperity. It is the bad house plant which first yields to the frost, and so in business it is the illegitimate, government-pampered enterprise which first collapses when even a faint chill is thrown on the financial operations of the people. The more completely all such businesses can be weeded out of our society the less danger will legitimate industry of every kind be exposed to.

The cheerfulness of Chicago merchants, who are proverbially clear-headed and enterprising, is but a reflection of the more hopeful feeling prevailing among the people of all the vast section of which this city is the commercial metropolis. It is plain that, while there are not crooks abroad, the preponderating public sentiment is much less despondent than it has been, and this feeling is bound to find expression in more liberal purchases in all lines of trade. A dollar is a dollar nowadays, but low prices appear to have found a way of coaxing it out of the people's pockets. On the manifestness with which it circulates will depend the course of trade.—Chicago Herald.

Results from Sanitary Work.

Sanitary authorities have claimed that the sanitary work which they have recommended to be done as a preparation for cholera,—such as preventing and abating nuisances; attending to drains, sewers, privies, and cesspools; cleaning up generally, and unusual carefulness in regard to foods and drinks,—would reduce the sickness and deaths from other diseases, even if cholera did not come. The weekly reports for July, 1885, to the Michigan state board of health, by physicians in different parts of the state, indicate that this claim is being realized in Michigan, so far as relates to the lessened sickness, it having been lessened from nearly every disease, and greatly lessened from fevers and from diarrhœal and other diseases believed to be especially influenced by sanitary conditions; and this is true notwithstanding the meteorological conditions in that month were rather more than usually unfavorable to health. It is proper to state, however, that the sickness in any month is influenced by the meteorological conditions in the preceding month, and that the meteorological conditions in June, 1885, were favorable to health.

Observations in Michigan for many years have shown that in July the meteorological conditions especially unfavorable to health are high temperature, excessive humidity of the atmosphere, and deficiency of ozone.

The bulletin of health in Michigan, July, 1885, says: "For the month of July, 1885, compared with the average of corresponding months for the seven years, 1879-1885, the temperature was slightly higher, the absolute and the relative humidity were more, and the day and the night ozone were less."

"Compared with the average for the month of July in the seven years, 1879-1885, remittent fever, intermittent fever, dysentery, consumption of lungs, cholera infantum, diarrhœa, cholera morbus, measles, and whooping cough were less prevalent in July 1885."

A large part of this decrease in sickness has undoubtedly been due to the medical and sanitary journals and the newspapers, which have constantly kept before the people the necessity for sanitary work and the facts as to the spread of cholera in Europe.

It remains to be seen to what extent efforts for the exclusion of cholera from this country, and the general preparation for cholera by boards of health and the people, shall prove effectual, but even if cholera shall not be entirely prevented, there will remain the belief that the measures which have so greatly decreased the sickness from other diseases cannot but have had their influence in decreasing it, and if cholera does not occur in this country it seems quite probable that, by reason of the suffering due where, there may be as many cases of serious sickness prevented in this country as there have been cases of cholera in Europe. But this may not continue without continued vigilance and effort.

HENRY B. BAKER,
Secretary.

OFFICE OF THE STATE BOARD OF HEALTH, Lansing, Michigan, August, 1885.

The only constant and certain outlet for idle labor is the idle land,—that is, literally stating the whole case. When men who are anxious to labor cannot get work they can always find land lying idle and suffering for the want of the work which they are longing to do. These idle workmen have families to support. They must provide for them a home to live in, food to eat, and clothes to wear. They must do it by their labor or by their wits, or else somebody must do it for them. If they are anxious to work, and expect to provide for their families by labor, it is natural to suppose that they are willing to follow any honorable line of labor that will give them health for themselves and comfort for their families. Every idle laboring man of this city may feel sure that there are forty acres of idle land in this county waiting for his labor. That this forty acres of idle land holds a lease and all the necessities of life for his family within its bosom, and is only awaiting his industry to bestow it on his family. Go through the country and see what the settlers have done, and they will testify that settlers now have a better chance to start than they ever had.

The Union has frequently, and often forcibly admonished young men, sons of farmers, and all others not afraid of hard work, to seek and purchase the uncleared lands to be found in this state as one of the safest investments which can possibly be made for the future. Every year lands are harder to obtain, and every year our population is increasing; with nothing to do in cities and villages idle men will be driven to agriculture. Remember, young men, and old men too for that matter, the richest men this state will possess in the years to come will be the men who own free and clear, the land they till. Get homes, boys—get homes everywhere while there is a chance.—Ovid Union.

President Cleveland shows his practical, good common sense in everything he does. Instead of going to Long Branch, Newport or some other fashionable summer resort for his summer vacation, and being bored to death with fashionable idiots and impressible office seekers, he takes himself to the woods, as far removed from the world as possible, where he can hunt and fish with one or two congenial friends, do as he pleases and enjoy himself, free of restraint. He will go back to the capital with renewed energies and be ready again for business, whereas, if he had gone to a fashionable resort, he would have lost but little, if any rest.—Gazette.

Charles Edmund of Otsego left a butternut table-leaf lying on the open stoop on the south side of the house. In the morning there was distinctly traced on the top of this board the figure of a feather-limb of a tree with many branches, making a picture 16x17 inches. It looks as if burnt or scorched in by a hot iron. Now to solve the mystery Chas. looked around him. One of the trees in front of his house has a dead limb with branches of which the picture on the board is a small copy. Edmonds thinks the lightning photographed the dead limb on this board.

THE JOURNAL
BY CHAS. J. STRANG,
CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN.

NEWS CONDENSED.

Concise Record of the Week.

EASTERN.

A naval lieutenant on the flagship Tennessee, at the Harbor, Malmo, who spoke disparagingly of Gen. Grant in the presence of a New York politician, was challenged by the latter to a duel. The lieutenant accepted the challenge, but the Admiral refused to permit him to go ashore, and the duel is "off" for the present.

Boston papers publish an interview with Dr. Howe, of that city, in which he says that Maxwell, or Brooks, the supposed murderer of Prelier, when in Boston asked him to get him a human body, and that before he left the city he came to the Doctor and told him confidentially that he had gotten one, Dr. Howe says that Maxwell seemed to be possessed with the idea of selling body of a "child," but gave no hint why he wanted one. The Doctor told him that it was impossible in that city. Maxwell then left town for a few weeks, and on his return surprised the Doctor on the street one day by saying that he had gotten a body and wished him to come to his room and inspect it. Dr. Howe says that he did not accept the invitation, but in view of the developments in St. Louis he now wishes that he had done so. The invitation to see the body was given only two or three days prior to Maxwell's departure for the West.

The annual meeting of the American Forestry Congress will be opened in Horticultural Hall, Boston, Tuesday, Sept. 22.

Forty thousand tons of steel rails were contracted for at Wyandotte last week. The weekly production at present is 15,000 tons, and the capacity 25,000.

Ex-Gov. Reuben E. Fenton, of New York, dropped dead in the office of the First National Bank of Jamestown, N. Y. He was 66 years old.

A resident of Philadelphia asserts positively that he met and conversed with c. Arthur Pritchard in that city since the date of latter's alleged murder in St. Louis.

Mr. Theodore Frelinghuysen, son of the late Frederick T. Frelinghuysen, secretary of State in President Arthur's Cabinet, and Miss Alice Coates, daughter of James Coates, of the firm of J. & P. Coates, Scotland, were married at Newport, R. I.

A sea turtle eight feet long and weighing nearly nine hundred pounds was landed near Boston the other day.

A Vermont sportsman who was accidentally caught in a bear-trap was rescued at the end of thirty-six hours in a perishing condition, having existed during his imprisonment without water, with but little air, and so fastened over the raw meat with which the trap was baited.

WESTERN.

Leonard Gardner had been arrested at Springfield, Ill., for beating his wife. He was released on bail, procured two revolvers, and started on a hunt for the two policemen who had arrested him—Officers William J. Camp and Fred Gall. Gardner waylaid the officers and shot Gall in the groin and Camp in the head, fatally wounding the latter, but before his death he shot Gardner four times, killing him instantly. A negro woman was also wounded by a stray shot. Camp leaves a wife and five small children almost destitute.

Life-saving stations will be established at Sturgeon Bay Canal, Wis., and Pensaukee, Frankfort, White River, and South Haven, Mich.

Severe frosts have occurred in the extreme Northwest on the night of Aug. 21. At Minnedosa, Northwest Territory, the temperature fell to twenty-five degrees. The cold weather has hastened the exodus from the Northern Lake ports.

Adjutant General Drum received a dispatch from the officer commanding in New Mexico, saying the Southern Utes were starving, and that unless food was immediately procured for them they would go on the warpath.

Frank P. Cass and A. P. Goodykoontz, wealthy white citizens of the Cherokee Nation, were murdered while asleep in camp near the Sac and Fox agency, in Indian Territory. Plunder was the incentive to the crime.

Minnesota's population, according to the census just completed, is 1,116,456, an increase of 317,313 in five years.

The Appraiser's office in San Francisco is to be investigated, as it has been discovered, as alleged, that under its former administration large quantities of opium and other valuable merchandise have been stolen from the stores by officials. A special investigation of the customs and Chinese certificate business will also be made.

Many depredations have recently been committed by Apache Indians in Arizona and Sonora. At Bisbeehave three Americans and eight Mexicans have been murdered. A party of armed citizens has left Tombstone for the Mexican border to attack the hostiles.

Freeman S. Cargan and wife were, nine years ago, in Saginaw County, Michigan, sentenced to life terms in the Jackson and Ionia Prisons respectively, for the murder of Charles Smith. They were convicted on the testimony of Smith's widow, who was herself condemned to ten years' imprisonment as an accessory. Just before her death, which occurred recently in the Detroit House of Correction, Mrs. Smith confessed that her testimony against the Cargans was a pure invention. Mrs. Cargan's sentence was commuted, and it is expected that her husband will soon receive a pardon.

Policeman Fred Gall, of Springfield, Ill., is dead, making the third victim of the recent tragedy in that city.

A Nebraska man claims to have discovered a process by means of which the human soul can be made visible at the moment when the body which it has inhabited dies.

Missouri coal miners met in secret session at Sedalia for the purpose of forming a State organization to be under the jurisdiction of the Knights of Labor. The Western Nail Association, in session at Pittsburgh, resolved to make no change in the present end of prices, and to continue freezing the nailers' places.

Lucien White was arrested in St. Louis for counterfeiting Brazilian bank notes, partly finished bills aggregating $20,000 having been discovered. August Gast & Co. were doing the printing, the paper necessarily to be used as cigarettes labels, but becoming suspicious, informed the United States detectives. New York and Chicago lithographing firms refused to undertake the job. White, who lived in Brazil for a number of years, states that a Texan named Lane is the originator of the scheme.

At Sturgis, D. T., Corporal Ross Hollis, of the Twenty-fifth Infantry, who is accused by H. P. Lynch, was hanged by the citizens.

SOUTHERN.

Secretary of State Bayard has applied to the President of Mexico for the extradition of Archbreuve, the embezzling clerk of the New Orleans Sub-Treasury, now under arrest at Monterey.

Jacob Gump, owner of a mill near Morgantown, W. Va., was returning home from camp-meeting in a carriage, in which were also his wife and two grandchildren, when the horses ran away, dashing the vehicle to pieces, and all four of the occupants were seriously injured.

The red crate of the late John Sleloh, at Port Worth, Texas, has been levied upon to cover his defalcation to the City National Bank, of which he was Vice President. The condition of the bank is not so bad as had been anticipated. Nichols' defalcation is $48,633.

A cyclone swept over Charleston, S. C., which uprooted one-fourth of the trees in the city and did much damage to the shipping. The loss is estimated at $1,000,000. Great havoc was also caused along the entire Southern Atlantic coast.

Charleston (S. C.) dispatches state that the recent storm proved the most disastrous that ever visited that city. Within comparatively a few minutes the injury to property was very large in the aggregate, though individual losses were comparatively small, chiefly to roofs and fences. Some of the whole gables, however, lost heavily.

LATER NEWS ITEMS.

An armed party is reported to have sailed from Cuba for the Florida Keys for the purpose of organizing a filibustering expedition to overthrow the Cuban Government.

Memorial services in honor of Gen. Grant were held in the hall of Congress at the City of Mexico on the 27th of August, under the auspices of the municipal government and were attended by all the leading officials and society people.

Eight men were injured by a collision on the Burlington and Quincy Railroad at Grinnell, Iowa.

In Lawrence, Mass., Henry E. Goulwin shot and killed Albert H. Swan, a prominent banker. The murderer says that insinuations affecting the telephone business had rendered him out of all his possessions. Goulwin telephoned for officers to come and arrest him.

Agrarian outrages are increasing in County Kerry, Ireland. The Earl of Leven offers to sell his tenants their holdings under the power loan of the land-purchase bill.

During the recent visit to Kremsier the Czar was entertained by his famous namesake, which has been specially refitted as a body-guard. His Majesty looked pale and nervous, and refused much activity for his personal safety. The grand duke Sergius, his second son, was appointed a lieutenant in the Imperial Austrian Uhlans by the Emperor Francis Joseph.

King Alfonso, according to the cable reports, has sent an autograph letter to the Crown Prince Frederick William, asking him to intercede in order that friendship between Spain and Germany may be maintained. It is stated, further, that King Leopold of Belgium and Emperor Francis Joseph have been asked to act as arbitrators. Prince Bismarck, it is stated, favors the latter, and desires a Russian alliance with Spain in order to escape from the difficulty. The war feeling at Madrid continues, and the press and military bitterly denounce the pacific attitude of the Government.

The Iowa State Republican Convention assembled at Des Moines and nominated the following State ticket: For Governor, Hon. W. M. Ivarnshe of Fayette County; Lieutenant Governor, Capt. James A. T. Hull, of Polk County; Judge of the Supreme Court, Hon. Joseph M. Beck, present incumbent; Superintendent Public Instruction, John N. Akers, present incumbent. The platform, which is very lengthy, protests against the Union soldier bill being vetoed and the pensions being reduced; denounces President Cleveland for the character of his diplomatic appointments; opposes the Democratic policy of a tariff for revenue only; laments civil service reform, and favors the creation by Congress of a national commission for the suppression and regulation of interstate commerce. As to the liquor question, the platform simply declares for a fair and thorough trial of the existing law, and alleges that the legislature passed at the last session made support of prohibition a test of party fealty.

The pension laws provide that soldiers who have lost a leg at the hip joint or an arm at the shoulder joint to the service of the country shall be entitled to pensions at the rate of $50.50 per month. It has been the custom of the Pension Department to construe this law strictly. There are less than a dozen cases on the pension rolls in which the amputation was taken place exactly through the joints mentioned. Commissioner Black, in ruling upon two test cases brought before him, decided to hold to the strict letter of the law and allow the full amount of pension, though the amputation did not take place at the joints. He holds that if the amputation is so near the hip or shoulder as to render the stump unserviceable the pensioner is entitled to the pension provided for in the law, and adds: "This rule will apply to a considerable number of pensioners who have been receiving $1 a lower rate.

THE MARKETS

NEW YORK.
BEEVES.....$3.00	@4.75
HOGS.....4.00	@5.00
WHEAT—No. 1 White.....99	@ .97
CORN—No. 2.....37	@ .38
OATS—No. 2 Mixed.....34	@ .35
PORK—Mess.....10.25	@10.75
CHICAGO.
BEEVES—Choice to Prime Steers.....$5.00	@5.50
Good Shipping.....3.00	@3.50
HOGS.....4.00	@4.50
FLOUR—Patent Red Winter Ex.....4.25	@4.50
Patent Spring Ex.....3.75	@4.00
WHEAT—No. 2 Spring.....73	@ .74
CORN—No. 2.....25	@ .26
OATS—No. 2.....26	@ .26½
RYE—No. 1.....56	@ .57
BARLEY—No. 2.....59	@ .72
BUTTER—Choice Creamery.....15	@ .17
CHEESE—Full Cream, new.....08	@ .09
EGGS—Fresh.....12	@ .13
LARD—Steam.....6.60	@6.62½
PORK—Mess, per bbl.....9.50	@9.75
MILWAUKEE.
WHEAT—No. 1.....94	@ .95
CORN—No. 2.....44	@ .45
OATS—No. 2.....25	@ .26
RYE—No. 1.....56	@ .57
BARLEY.....60	@ .62
TOLEDO.
WHEAT—No. 2 Red.....86	@ .87
CORN—No. 2.....40	@ .41
OATS—No. 2.....26	@ .27
ST. LOUIS.
WHEAT—No. 2 Red.....83	@ .90
CORN—No. 2.....41	@ .42
OATS—No. 2.....27½	@ .28
RYE.....57	@ .58
CINCINNATI.
WHEAT—No. 2 Red.....83	@ .84
CORN—No. 2.....42	@ .43
OATS—No. 2.....25½	@ .26
RYE—No. 2.....57	@ .58
PORK—Mess.....9.50	@9.50
DETROIT.
FLOUR.....5.00	@5.50
WHEAT—No. 1 White.....94	@ .95
CORN—No. 2.....44	@ .45
OATS—No. 2 White.....27	@ .28
RYE—No. 2.....56	@ .58
INDIANAPOLIS.
BEEF CATTLE.....3.50	@4.00
WHEAT—No. 2 Red.....87	@ .89
CORN—Mixed.....40	@ .42
OATS—No. 2.....32	@ .33
EAST LIBERTY.
CATTLE—Best.....5.00	@5.50
Common.....4.00	@4.50
HOGS.....4.00	@4.65
SHEEP.....4.00	@4.75
BUFFALO.
CATTLE.....5.00	@6.00
HOGS.....4.50	@4.75
SHEEP.....4.00	@4.75

OHIO DEMOCRATS.

In Harmonious State Convention—Gov. Hoadly Renominated by Acclamation.

Resolutions Adopted Favoring the Regulation of the Liquor Traffic by Graded Licenses.

(Columbus special to Chicago Herald:)

The Democratic State Convention assembled here to-day. For secretary, Hector Doolittle, present incumbent; lieutenant-governor, Jacob Nawalsky; Supreme Judge, Isaac Parker; Member of Supreme Judge, to fill vacancy caused by death of Judge J. R. W. Gilmore, Gilbert Mott, Tuscarawas; Clerk of Supreme Court, James Lawrence; Commissioner of the Board of Public Works, Henry Wehde.

The convention was called to order by T. J. Logan. By the adoption of the report of the Committee on Permanent Organization, John Lee, of Hamilton, was made Chairman, and George W. Hull, Secretary. In response to the call for nominations for Governor, the name of Governor Hoadly was received with tumultuous cheering. Mr. Hoadly was made Chairman of the Committee on Resolutions, and in the interim the convention was addressed by the nominees of a convention for president, Congressman George W. Geddes, of Ohio, and Congressman Hewitt, of New York. Mr. Geddes was the first brilliant record as Governor, and also for the high compliment of a 3d Term. Mr. Hewitt announced that he would not allow the use of his name for the Presidency in 1888. Governor Hoadly in his speech of acceptance said: "The Democratic party is the party of the free land of the home theory. The Republican things are by no means blessed with the present prosperity of their industries, and publican mates, and are not to any appreciable degree benefited by the prosperity of their own industries of the home. The mountains of the day are the Republican party. Let the true, and it is not impossible that Messrs. Hoadly and Foraker will meet, be bent detailed from the fall. If there is any unfortunate of vetoes and cuts among the Democrats, it is because they have carried unanimously, and we have gone to the end of the rules and the Hoadly in enforcing the rules. Congressmen Geddes, Hewitt and Hoadly, respectively, addressed a large and enthusiastic collection from the State Capitol grounds tonight. About 5,000 persons were present.

The following ticket was nominated: Governor, Hon. Geo. H. Pendleton; Lieutenant Governor, Capt. Jacob Nawalsky; Supreme Judge, Hon. Isaac Parker; Member of Board of Public Works, Henry Wehde; Clerk of Supreme Court, James Lawrence; Commissioner of Public Works, Gilbert Mott; Secretary, Hector Doolittle; Clerk of Supreme Court, Hon. Joseph M. Beck, present incumbent; Superintendent Public Instruction, John N. Akers, present incumbent. The platform, which is very lengthy, protests against the Union soldier bill being vetoed and the pensions being reduced; denounces President Cleveland for the character of his diplomatic appointments; opposes the Democratic policy of a tariff for revenue only; laments civil service reform, and favors the creation by Congress of a national commission for the suppression and regulation of interstate commerce. As to the liquor question, the platform simply declares for a fair and thorough trial of the existing law, and alleges that the legislature passed at the last session made support of prohibition a test of party fealty.

The pension laws provide that soldiers who have lost a leg at the hip joint or an arm at the shoulder joint to the service of the country shall be entitled to pensions at the rate of $50.50 per month. It has been the custom of the Pension Department to construe this law strictly. There are less than a dozen cases on the pension rolls in which the amputation was taken place exactly through the joints mentioned. Commissioner Black, in ruling upon two test cases brought before him, decided to hold to the strict letter of the law and allow the full amount of pension, though the amputation did not take place at the joints. He holds that if the amputation is so near the hip or shoulder as to render the stump unserviceable the pensioner is entitled to the pension provided for in the law, and adds: "This rule will apply to a considerable number of pensioners who have been receiving $1 a lower rate.

AN ARMY OF 100,000 MEN.

Extraordinary Movement Among the Mohammedans of the Nigritian Regions in Africa.

A Mandingo Named Samuda Engaged in Suppressing Paganism and Rifle-running Off Bad People.

(Washington telegram.)

Secretary of State Bayard has in receipt of a dispatch from Sierra Leone, West Africa, giving accounts of the movements of an army of 100,000 men in the interior of Africa. The dispatch is, dated July 14 and was sent by United States Consul Lewis. Mr. Lewis says:

I have the honor to bring to the notice of the Department of State the fact of an extraordinary movement among the Mohammedans of the Nigritian regions, extending from Timbuctoo to the West Coast. It appears that in 1880 a Mandingo named Samuda, of extraordinary intelligence and energy conceived the idea that he was called of God to wage a war for a holy conflagration in Africa. This idea, and concerning that he would not allow the use of the sword, but would convert a Golden Age of peace and prosperity to Africa, and the conversion of the tribes and kingdoms to Mohammedanism. This was accomplished long ago time, and no word of objection was made by the chiefs.

Lieut. Michael Evans, of Cincinnati, informed, seven years ago, that Samuda had been in the habit of visiting the tribes, and that he had made substance. When the mission was established at Timbuktu, Samuda was informed of the existence of a new power in the Soudan, and he sent a letter to Lieutenant Evans, requesting the name of Jesus Christ, of Mandingo, and requesting Lieutenant Evans to come over and visit him at his residence, Samuda, in the meantime, was immediately, and did not before resolution and taking, and he was then and ever afterwards a strong friend of the Mandingo, and his speech, on motion of the Hamilton County delegation, was received with applause, three cheers were given.

The following ticket was nominated as above: Governor, Hon. Geo. H. Pendleton; Lieutenant Governor, Capt. Jacob Nawalsky; Supreme Judge, Hon. Isaac Parker; Member of Board of Public Works, Henry Wehde; Clerk of Supreme Court, James Lawrence; Commissioner of Public Works, Gilbert Mott; Secretary, Hector Doolittle; Clerk of Supreme Court, Hon. Joseph M. Beck, present incumbent; Superintendent Public Instruction, John N. Akers, present incumbent.

The platform, which is very lengthy, protests against the Union soldier bill being vetoed and the pensions being reduced; denounces President Cleveland for the character of his diplomatic appointments; opposes the Democratic policy of a tariff for revenue only; laments civil service reform, and favors the creation by Congress of a national commission for the suppression and regulation of interstate commerce. As to the liquor question, the platform simply declares for a fair and thorough trial of the existing law, and alleges that the legislature passed at the last session made support of prohibition a test of party fealty.

The pension laws provide that soldiers who have lost a leg at the hip joint or an arm at the shoulder joint to the service of the country shall be entitled to pensions at the rate of $50.50 per month. It has been the custom of the Pension Department to construe this law strictly. There are less than a dozen cases on the pension rolls in which the amputation was taken place exactly through the joints mentioned. Commissioner Black, in ruling upon two test cases brought before him, decided to hold to the strict letter of the law and allow the full amount of pension, though the amputation did not take place at the joints. He holds that if the amputation is so near the hip or shoulder as to render the stump unserviceable the pensioner is entitled to the pension provided for in the law, and adds: "This rule will apply to a considerable number of pensioners who have been receiving $1 a lower rate.

THOUSANDS PERISH.

The Most Disastrous Flood in Thirty Years Visits Canton and Vicinity.

Entire Villages Engulfed, and Over Ten Thousand People Lose Their Homes.

(Washington dispatch.)

Details of the destruction in Canton, China, and vicinity by the recent great rain-storm there have been received by private persons in this city. The flood was the most serious which has visited Canton in thirty years. More than 10,000 persons lost their lives, and a far greater number lost all and was sent by United States Consul Lewis. Mr. Lewis says:

I have the honor to bring to the notice of the Department of State the fact of an extraordinary movement among the Mohammedans of the Nigritian regions, extending from Timbuctoo to the West Coast. It appears that in 1880 a Mandingo named Samuda, of extraordinary intelligence and energy conceived the idea that he was called of God to wage a war for a holy conflagration in Africa. This idea, and concerning that he would not allow the use of the sword, but would convert a Golden Age of peace and prosperity to Africa, and the conversion of the tribes and kingdoms to Mohammedanism. This was accomplished long ago time, and no word of objection was made by the chiefs.

Lieut. Michael Evans, of Cincinnati, informed, seven years ago, that Samuda had been in the habit of visiting the tribes, and that he had made substance. When the mission was established at Timbuktu, Samuda was informed of the existence of a new power in the Soudan, and he sent a letter to Lieutenant Evans, requesting the name of Jesus Christ, of Mandingo, and requesting Lieutenant Evans to come over and visit him at his residence, Samuda, in the meantime, was immediately, and did not before resolution and taking, and he was then and ever afterwards a strong friend of the Mandingo, and his speech, on motion of the Hamilton County delegation, was received with applause, three cheers were given.

The following ticket was nominated as above: Governor, Hon. Geo. H. Pendleton; Lieutenant Governor, Capt. Jacob Nawalsky; Supreme Judge, Hon. Isaac Parker; Member of Board of Public Works, Henry Wehde; Clerk of Supreme Court, James Lawrence; Commissioner of Public Works, Gilbert Mott; Secretary, Hector Doolittle; Clerk of Supreme Court, Hon. Joseph M. Beck, present incumbent; Superintendent Public Instruction, John N. Akers, present incumbent.

The platform, which is very lengthy, protests against the Union soldier bill being vetoed and the pensions being reduced; denounces President Cleveland for the character of his diplomatic appointments; opposes the Democratic policy of a tariff for revenue only; laments civil service reform, and favors the creation by Congress of a national commission for the suppression and regulation of interstate commerce. As to the liquor question, the platform simply declares for a fair and thorough trial of the existing law, and alleges that the legislature passed at the last session made support of prohibition a test of party fealty.

The pension laws provide that soldiers who have lost a leg at the hip joint or an arm at the shoulder joint to the service of the country shall be entitled to pensions at the rate of $50.50 per month. It has been the custom of the Pension Department to construe this law strictly. There are less than a dozen cases on the pension rolls in which the amputation was taken place exactly through the joints mentioned. Commissioner Black, in ruling upon two test cases brought before him, decided to hold to the strict letter of the law and allow the full amount of pension, though the amputation did not take place at the joints. He holds that if the amputation is so near the hip or shoulder as to render the stump unserviceable the pensioner is entitled to the pension provided for in the law, and adds: "This rule will apply to a considerable number of pensioners who have been receiving $1 a lower rate.

HE KILLED FIVE PEOPLE

The Appalling Crimes of One Al Lackey, a Farmer of Blanco County, Texas.

(Austin (Tex.) special:)

The quintuple tragedy in Blanco County is confirmed by a stage-driver who brought the news here. It appears that the beauty. The driver brought a letter to a gentleman in this city from his wife's parents. The letter says: "There is another murder committed in my county just now, caused by a terrible tragedy. A man named Al Lackey, living near Johnson City, to which five persons were killed, and one man is yet missing, who is probably dead. The dead are as follows:

Mrs. Lackey, aged about 35 years, and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lackey, and their children, aged 10 and 12 years of age. About 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon Al Lackey, with his rifle in hand, mounted his horse and rode to the house of Henry Lackey, his brother. He fired upon the family, killing Mrs. Henry Lackey, wounding Henry Lackey dead, pursued by the boy, who had just left the house. Lackey then pursued the boy, who had just left the house, and fired upon him, but missed him. The boy ran to the house, and fired the last shot at Lackey, who then left the house and rode toward Fredericksburg. As he met the latter he offered him his left hand to shake, sometime holding his right hand over his bleeding breast, also holding the boy's gun in his hand. As Hardie's shot hands with Lackey suddenly plunged the dagger into Hardie's side, inflicting a wound that is pronounced by a physician as fatal."

The Sheriff was notified and immediately went to Johnson City, where Lackey had gone, and, in company with two deputies, placed Lackey in an ambulance and brought him to jail, where he now lies in a precarious condition.

With the exception, perhaps, of the murder and cremation of the Lynch family near Hempstead some years ago this is the most horrible set of crimes ever committed in this State. Possibly the United States, in all its category of crimes, has no parallel to this.

WESTERN GOVERNORS.

Gov. Oglesby, of Illinois.

Richard J. Oglesby was born in Oldham County, Kentucky, July 25, 1824; settled in Illinois, at Decatur, in 1836; received less than a common school education; was a carpenter for two years; studied law in 1844, and was admitted to the bar in 1845; served one year in the Mexican war; worked in the mines in California; was elected to the State Senate of Illinois in 1860; served one session, and resigned to enter the volunteer service in 1861, at the commencement of the war for the suppression of the rebellion; was chosen Colonel, afterward appointed Brigadier General, and in two to take room in the Senate, November, 1862; a Major General; resigned in 1864, and was elected that year Governor of Illinois for the term which expired in January, 1869; was re-elected Governor of Illinois, in November, 1872; entered upon the duties of his office January 14, 1873, and on the 21st of the same month was elected to the United States Senate as a Republican, to succeed Lyman Trumbull, Liberal. In 1884 he was again nominated for Governor by the Republicans and elected, defeating Carter H. Harrison. He was inaugurated in January, 1885, and his term will expire in 1889.

Gov. Sherman, of Iowa.

Buren R. Sherman, Governor of Iowa, was born in Phelps, Ontario County, N. Y., in 1836. In 1855 he finally removed to Iowa and settled in Davis County. At the outset Sherman removed to Clinton, and entered upon the practice of law. Upon the breaking out of the civil war Mr. Sherman enlisted as a private in the Thirteenth Iowa Infantry, and was soon to Major. In the battle of Jefferson City, Mo., he was promoted to Colonel. At the battle of Shiloh, Colonel Sherman was dangerously wounded, and his life despaired of—but after seven days, during which he was commissioned Captain, he recovered sufficiently to return to his company, though still compelled to use crutches in traveling. He remained in the service until the close of the war, when he resigned and settled in Clinton, where he was soon elected Mayor. He was twice re-elected Mayor, and was then elected Clerk of the District Court, which position he held until his election in 1877 to the office of Auditor of State, to which he was re-elected.

In 1881 he was elected Governor of Iowa, and on the expiration of the term in 1883 was re-elected to that high office.

Gov. Sherman was married Aug. 20, 1862, to Miss Leora Kendall, of Vinton, a lady of accomplishments, who has shown much zeal toward the very successful career of her husband.

Proverbs.

It is easier to sell a lie than it is to catch a fish.

A woman's bonnet must be orthodox, before her prayer-book is.

Winter sets in when poverty comes.

Preaching not pulpits, make a church.

The knife that cuts a custard pie may also cut a throat.

The best fitting coat is one that is paid for.

God makes the roses, and the devil puts the thorns on them.

The hand opens when the heart does.

The sculptured face on a gold coin may be beautiful, but neither tears nor smiles ever break its monotony.

Hearts build religion, fig brains to tear down.

Girls think men are all soul; women know they are half devil.

The preacher turns young love's dream into a nightmare.

Fortune feels soup to most men with a fork.—Merchant Traveler.

A miser being indicted for stealing a mare, had off his head, confessed the fact; but insisted that the hat was not the property of the person who were it, according to the indictment, "hung above us are nothing to us."

THE DEADLY REVOLVER.

A Terrible Triple Tragedy in the Streets of the Illinois State Capital.

Two Policemen Shot Down by a Ruffian, Who Is Killed by a Return Shot.

Springfield (Ill.) special.

A double tragedy occurred here this morning, horrible in its details, resulting in the almost instant death of two men, one a policeman and the other a citizen, and the wounding of another policeman and a negro woman.

A man named Leonard Gardner, owner of a candy store and a restaurant, was arrested last night on a peace warrant for beating his wife, and lodged in the city prison by Officers William J. Camp and Fred Gall. Early this morning Gardner procured bail and was released.

He proceeded at once to a store and purchased two forty-four caliber bulldog revolvers, saying that he proposed to kill the two officers on sight that arrested him. To several persons during the day he made similar assertion, saying as he flourished the revolvers that he proposed to "fix" the officers.

About seven o'clock this evening Gardner took his position in a hallway on Washington street, between Sixth and Seventh, and as Camp and Gall came up he stepped out and fired at Gall, who received the ball in his groin and fell, but was quickly on his feet.

Gardner then fired a fatal shot at Camp, the ball taking effect over his left ear, the plucky officer returned the fire after he had received a stunning blow from the butt of his forty-four-caliber Remington into a stream of blood, but before he (Camp) fell and expired in the arms of citizens, Gardner had fired three shots, two of which took effect in Gardner's body—one in the arm and three in the region of the heart—and he expired on the spot.

A stray shot fired by Gardner struck a negro woman who was passing in the hall of the lay, it is reported, severing an artery.

Gall was taken to the Leland Hotel, where he could have surgical attendance, and an examination showed that the ball took a downward course through the right groin and lodged, and hopes are entertained for his recovery.

The bodies of the two dead men were conveyed to police headquarters, where a heartrending scene occurred when Officer Camp's wife entered and threw herself on the inanimate form of her husband. Camp leaves a wife and five small children in affluent circumstances, who have the sympathy of the hundreds that have come to Springfield to view the horrible affair, but it is feared that the shock will prove fatal to Mrs. Camp.

Such a tragedy was never before known in Springfield, and never before has a policeman been killed while on duty. Camp and Gall were considered two of the best men on the force.

DEADLY RAILWAY ACCIDENT.

A Fatal Wreck Near Louisville, Ky., in Which Three Men Were Killed.

Louisville (Ky.) special:

A fatal wreck occurred on the Chesapeake, Ohio and Southwestern Railroad just south, near Pleasure Ridge Park, about twenty-five miles from this city, which resulted in the death of three men. A severe storm had been raging in the vicinity early this afternoon, and a large tree was blown across the track at the foot of a steep grade. About 6:30 o'clock the local freight coming toward this city reached that point. The train was traveling at a rapid rate of speed at the time, and as it was getting down the grade, Tom Sherrill, the fireman, saw the tree. He was too close to stop. He reversed his engine, but it struck the obstacle with great force and was thrown from the track, the news carrying up from the fireman, Mr. Andrew H. Allen, disbursing agent of the court, received the appointments on the Secretary of the Treasury for approval by the proper authorities of the court. In the usual course of business the appointments are signed by the First Comptroller, and he decided to take an investigation of the affairs of the court before authorizing the issue of the necessary warrants. His conclusions are summarized in the following statement, prepared by him for publication:

The Court of Commissioners of Alabama Claims was created in 1871, to hear proof of claims against the United States arising out of the Geneva Convention, and was continued by various acts until June 30, 1882, when it ceased to exist. The court consisted of five judges, with an annual salary of $5,000 each, a clerk at $4,000, a stenographer at $1,800, and a messenger to represent the United States at hearings. Provision was also made for rent of court, for its necessary stationery, furniture and other necessary incidental expenses, all of which was to be paid out of the contingent judgments were made. But the court was prorogued in 1882, with the same officers and salaries as before, except that the number of judges was reduced to three. The Comptroller, in investigating the accounts of the court, found that there cannot always there—in the payroll—the names of assistant secretary, of the United States, clerk to the assistant secretary, clerks to experts, messengers, watchmen, etc., whose salaries were paid out of the court fund. Further, he also found in the quarterly returns that there had been a balance in the treasury of the court, of $2,000 in the quarter ending December 31, 1884, and already the quarterly returns for the year 1885, showed a balance of about thirty-seven thousand dollars. He says he finds no authority of law for the payment of salaries to officers of the Treasury and with the Attorney-General, he has decided to stop all future payments of the same.

EXPLORING ALASKA.

Progress Made by the Party Under Charge of Lieut. Stoney's New Volcano.

(San Francisco dispatch.)

Lieut. Purcell, who went with Lieut. Stoney to Alaska to explore the Great Pulsmon River, returned here yesterday on the sailing bark Thomas Cope. Purcell reports that before proceeding up the river the party visited the island of Round Bagendar volcano. They noticed little change in it, except less smoke and a small spot was forming to the westward of it. July 8 Stoney reached Holman Inlet, into which the Pulsmon River empties. He intended to ascend the river for six his large steamer launch would carry him and then go into winter quarters. The party would then divide up into sledging parties for the purpose of exploring Northern Alaska as soon as navigation resumes. He intended to come down the Pulsmon River and explore Noatak River, which empties into an inlet north of Pulsmon. Purcell reports the party well at the time he left. The expedition intends returning here next fall.

FIERCE AND FURIOUS.

Charleston and Other Southern Points Devastated by a Cyclonic Visitor.

Wharves and Other Buildings Wrecked, and Church Spires Blown Down.

(Charleston (S. C.) dispatch:)

Charleston was struck by a cyclone this morning, and one-fourth of the houses in the city are uncovered. Parts of the spires of St. Michael's and St. Matthew's Churches were blown down, and the spire of the Citadel Square Baptist Church is demolished. The wharves and warehouses are badly damaged. At Sullivan's Island two steamers are aground, and the New Ashley River bridge now connecting is swept away. Four vessels which arrived yesterday are wrecked. The telegraph wires are down and there are no cars running.

The loss is still estimated at $1,000,000, including wharves and churches. Merchants are already rebuilding. The phosphate works near the city are but little injured, except the Atlantic, which loses its acid chambers. The Norwegian bark Medlour, from Liverpool, was dismasted in the storm, and the German bark H. Peters was driven ashore. The German brig Freibert was stuck in collision. The dry-dock schooner William E. Lee was blown ashore and the Norwegian bark Verdus and the Italian brig San Pietro are ashore at Cooper River, with a three-masted schooner, name unknown. No lives were lost.

A number of houses on Sullivan's Island were blown away. The New Brighton Hotel had over a hundred guests, and great fears were entertained for their safety. At 9 o'clock this morning the storm raged, at its greatest velocity. At that hour, while the hotel people were at breakfast, the Cyclone fell with great crash. Fortunately, all the guests in that building had been evacuated. There were grave apprehensions that the sleeping-room and nave building would seem succumb to the violence of the storm. At 9 o'clock the wind changed from the southeast and the storm increased from the southwest. When the Cusino fell it is thought that the maximum of the storm was from sixty-five to seventy miles an hour. The main building of the hotel is intact, having stood the storm without very serious damage. At 1 o'clock it was entirely over. The loss to the New Brighton will be $30,000. There has been very general destruction of property on the island. The island was in the storm submerged, but when the wind changed the waters receded.

In the vicinity of Savannah, Ga., the storm was very severe. At Tybee a dwelling house was blown down, but no one was injured. The Carolina Chalmers went ashore on the Island inside of Tybee, and the bark Minnie on the north beach, half a mile north of Tybee light.

At Bayport, Fla., the Atlantic House was blown down, and Mr. Gilbert Hunter severely injured. All the guests of the house, about thirty women and children, were exposed for hours to the furious, driving wind and rain. Near Fort Tornado shows great damage done to buildings, boats, and shipping, and the guest at the Strathmore House, on the beach, were driven from their rooms for refuge. No lives were lost there.

THE ALABAMA CLAIMS.

A Ruling That Will Embarrass the Court of Commissioners for Some Time.

(Washington dispatch.)

The First Comptroller of the Treasury to-day made a ruling that is likely to embarrass the Court of Commissioners of Alabama Claims for some time to come. It is to effect that the employment of twenty-four persons here—on the rolls of the court—is illegal, and that the salaries of the Citadel Square Baptist Church is demolished. The wharves and warehouses are badly damaged. At Sullivan's Island two steamers are aground, and the New Ashley River bridge now connecting is swept away. Four vessels which arrived yesterday are wrecked. The telegraph wires are down and there are no cars running.

The loss is still estimated at $1,000,000, including wharves and churches. Merchants are already rebuilding. The phosphate works near the city are but little injured, except the Atlantic, which loses its acid chambers. The Norwegian bark Medlour, from Liverpool, was dismasted in the storm, and the German bark H. Peters was driven ashore. The German brig Freibert was stuck in collision. The dry-dock schooner William E. Lee was blown ashore and the Norwegian bark Verdus and the Italian brig San Pietro are ashore at Cooper River, with a three-masted schooner, name unknown. No lives were lost.

A number of houses on Sullivan's Island were blown away. The New Brighton Hotel had over a hundred guests, and great fears were entertained for their safety. At 9 o'clock this morning the storm raged, at its greatest velocity. At that hour, while the hotel people were at breakfast, the Cyclone fell with great crash. Fortunately, all the guests in that building had been evacuated. There were grave apprehensions that the sleeping-room and nave building would seem succumb to the violence of the storm. At 9 o'clock the wind changed from the southeast and the storm increased from the southwest. When the Cusino fell it is thought that the maximum of the storm was from sixty-five to seventy miles an hour. The main building of the hotel is intact, having stood the storm without very serious damage. At 1 o'clock it was entirely over. The loss to the New Brighton will be $30,000. There has been very general destruction of property on the island. The island was in the storm submerged, but when the wind changed the waters receded.

In the vicinity of Savannah, Ga., the storm was very severe. At Tybee a dwelling house was blown down, but no one was injured. The Carolina Chalmers went ashore on the Island inside of Tybee, and the bark Minnie on the north beach, half a mile north of Tybee light.

At Bayport, Fla., the Atlantic House was blown down, and Mr. Gilbert Hunter severely injured. All the guests of the house, about thirty women and children, were exposed for hours to the furious, driving wind and rain. Near Fort Tornado shows great damage done to buildings, boats, and shipping, and the guest at the Strathmore House, on the beach, were driven from their rooms for refuge. No lives were lost there.

THE ALABAMA CLAIMS.

A Ruling That Will Embarrass the Court of Commissioners for Some Time.

(Washington dispatch.)

The First Comptroller of the Treasury to-day made a ruling that is likely to embarrass the Court of Commissioners of Alabama Claims for some time to come. It is to effect that the employment of twenty-four persons here—on the rolls of the court—is illegal, and that the salaries of the Citadel Square Ba

THE JOURNAL.

BY CHAS. J. STRANG,

CHARLEVOIX, - - MICHIGAN.

Notes and News.

Petoskey is agitating electric light.

St. Ignace had a $20,000 fire last week.

Elk Rapids wants a steam fire engine.

The Elk Rapids Iron Co. have an order for iron from England.

Senator Sherman opened the republican campaign in Ohio, by another shake of the "bloody shirt."

An insane man made a hole through the floor of Traverse City's $23,000 jail last week, but was captured before he escaped.

The democratic state convention of Pennsylvania last Wednesday gave a hearty endorsement of the present administration.

The farming community is the broad and substantial foundation on which the prosperity of any country is built, and only as this is thoroughly tilled, can all prosper.

It is said that Cadillac is to have a democratic paper, and a stock company with a capital of $5,000 has been organized under the statute. Judge S. S. Fallass, L. G. Law, Mr. Bishop, and other well known democrats are among the stockholders.

Plums will be a fair crop in Grand Traverse county this year. Both Judge Ransdell and Mr. Rouslse report well from their orchards. Pears will also be plenty in a short time. Peninsula fruit growers will soon begin to put them on the market, and say they are above the average.—Traverse Herald.

Clippings.

The long vacation days are drawing to a close and visions of close school rooms, long lessons, short recesses, disgusted grammars, arithmetics and spelling books begin to haunt the slumbers of the youngsters who have for weeks three months revelled in unlimited play and freedom.

"And ever is justice done" is proven once in the collapse of the Buffalo paper which published the Cleveland-Halpin scandal. Poetic justice is manifest in the success of the News (Cleveland's defender), which purchased the Telegraph, closing its disastrous career. Detroit Democrat.

"Buffalo Bunn" is the classic epithet applied by the chairman of the Iowa republican convention to the president of the United States. That man is a disreputable rebel. He has dishonored his government and should be tried and hung for treason—or being a blasphemer. Mr. Cleveland is now the government and the man who slanders the government is a rebel.—Kalamazoo Gazette.

John Sherman tells the Ohio voters that under a democratic administration the business depression is unknown. Last week the business failures numbered 154; in the corresponding week of last year, when John Sherman and his party were looking hopefully forward to the election of Blaine, the failures numbered 183. Facts and John Sherman can never agree. —Kalamazoo Gazette.

Daniel Webster once said "that the forest government caused long endure when the tendency of the law is to create a rapid accumulation of property in the hands of a few, and to render the mass of the people poor and dependent." On the ground of the greatest good to the greatest number, that is as good an argument against protective taxation as was ever compressed into a single sentence.

Reports from the west tell us that the country is full to overflowing with so called professional men; every lit the limited box has half dozen, or more, doctors and lawyers, struggling for a livelihood. Men will be born of necessity in the future as in the past, and every community, whether wheat or brains, will be obliged to market itself according to that business principle, from which, its impossible to flee—supply and demand.—[Ovid Union.

Despite the fact that many of the farms in the country are mortgaged, there is greater prosperity to-day among the prudential farming classes than is to be found among any class of business men that may be named, excepting perhaps the pine barons who own the lumber forests and mills of the states. Village property and investments never prove half as valuable as farming lands, despite the good work or the low prices.—[Ovid Union.

The mass of people do not hug for sugar coats in preference to American wool, or pay silly whim of fashion, if they take them at the higher price it is because they consider them to be better. In many lines American goods are clearly the best; but it is not these, as a rule, that accumulate a surplus here under the stimulation of tariff bounties, while our people pay out millions to foreign manufacturers. If all our manufacturers were under the constraint of fair competition to make as good articles as foreign producers it would be better for them and better for the consumers.—Boston Herald.

On the day that John Sherman delivered his opening speech in Ohio charging that the reform administration had found absolutely nothing to reform, the newspapers of both parties in Cincinnati and Cleveland contained these headlines: "Great frauds unearthed in the pension bureau," "Stopping the salaries of a score of illegal employes of the Alabama claims court." John you are a regular old black republican fraud.—Kalamazoo Gazette.

It is rumored at Washington that the charges of extravagance against the court of commissioners of Alabama claims will soon be followed by others of a more serious character, which if sustained, will compel the summary removal of at least one of the judges. It is also stated that the accounting officers of the treasury have discovered extravagant and illegal expenditures by the fish commission, the geological survey, the signal service bureau, and in the general postoffice.

A New Steel Company.

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 25.—The secretary of state to-day issued a license of incorporation to the Riverside steel casting company at Chicago; capital stock $250,000; incorporators, C. N. Pierce, Arthur H. Pierce and William S. Brewster.

THE LAND OF THE BLACKS.

Incidents of Travel Among Wild Tribes in Africa—Whitie Men Tattled to Mary Native Women.

When an African chief travels he takes the whole or a part of his household with him. The simple aborigines, therefore, are apt to look upon the solitary white traveler who wanders through their country without a single wife in his train a suspicious character. They are quite sure he needs close watching to prevent his running off with some of the females of the tribe. Dr. Barth, the explorer, said, after living five years in Africa, that it would be better for a traveler in those regions to take his wife with him, if possible. He said the natives would respect him more, and he would get along better. "They had nothing to object to me," he wrote, "except my being a bachelor." If the traveler has no wife the author thinks, as a rule, are not backward about offering to supply the deficiency. Nearly all the explorers have had some amusing experiences with kings who were anxious to have them settle down, move into the royal family, and grow up with the country. Some travelers have felt compelled to leave very abruptly in order to escape the attentions of women who determined to detain them as their husbands.

Dr. Bushnego, the German traveler, who lived for six months at the capital of the mauas (where about five years ago, was very much distressed by the deep interest with which he had multitudes followed the steps of that central African potentate. He describes her as "a tall, stout and remarkably unprepossessing person of great avoirdupois. She insisted that Bachuer take her for his wife and settle down comfortably as the joint proprietor of her extensive herds and fields. She impressed him so frequently that he was glad to escape her at last by quitting the country.

One of the daughters of the King of the Ambundas, near the Zambes river, fell desperately in love with a real Paris, the Portuguese explorer, who returned to Africa a few months ago. Her older sister, who ably abetted her matrimonial designs, was very indignant when Paris refused to marry the young girl. She wanted to know, in the shrillest of tones, if there were any prettier women in the country because from and what sort of a man he was anyhow. The sharp-witted wife of one of Paris's partners heard the row and entered the hut. Assuming an air of great indignation she told their royal highnesses that Paris was her husband, and they had better let him alone. She handled them out of the hut, and Paris and his party left early next morning to avoid any further complications. In the picture Paris's book contains of the infuriated young woman she appears to be quite a fine specimen of an African beauty.

Explorers have learned by experience that it is best to permit their porters to take their women along with them, even if their journey is to be thousands of miles in length. When a carrier has his wife with him he is not likely to run away. Besides, the women carry burdens nearly as less, as those of the men. They wash and cook better than the men, endure fatigue better, carry their burdens more cheerfully, and work for less pay. African women have proved valuable adjuncts of every expedition that has penetrated the continent in the past ten years.

Mr. Hore, a missionary on the great Lake Tanganyika, found near the southern coast three years ago, a flourishing tribe, whose ruler was a woman. She was a good-looking negress, nearly 40 years old, and she was attended everywhere she went by a train of fifty ladies in waiting. Mr. Hore was the first white man Queen Mwema had seen, and she thought she would like to have the pale-faced stranger permanently near her residence. She begged him to live in her town, and when he insisted that he could not she did not let him go until he had promised to send some of his brethren to reside in her district. The queen said she would give them houses and plenty of land. At last accounts a mission station was about to be established in Queen Mwema's town.

The late King Mtesa, whose subjects inhabit the beautiful shores of Lake Victoria Nyanza, made a unique response when a missionary applied to him for food supplies two or three years ago. He listened in silence to the good man's petition, and then sent an attendant out into the streets of Rubaga with instructions that the missionary did not hear. Presently the attendant returned with a dozen disembodied Uganda in his wake. Then his majesty informed the poor missionary that he was tired of supplying him with food. He had concluded to present him with these women as his wives. They would plant his garden, prepare his dinner, and support him very handsomely, and he mustn't come bothering around the place any more. Mtesa was very angry when the missionary declined to accept this wholesale matrimonial offer. He told him to shift for himself, and the poor fellow and his companion would doubtless have had to flee from the country if Mtesa's envoys in England hadn't opportunely returned with such wonderful stories what they had seen that the politic despot thought it best to keep on good terms with the whites. He restored the missionaries in favor. Last year all his daughters were permitted to receive religious instruction, and one of them, who was converted, now occupies as king's sister a position of large importance and influence among the Waganda.

On the great interior plateau of Africa, whose inhabitants are generally much superior in mental and moral development to the coast negroes, the men exhibit a good deal of affection for their women. Livingstone, who usually speaks of the African women as "spades," makes many allusions to this fact, and so do Schweinfurth, Burton, and other explorers. The red-skinned Nyam Nyams are as noted as the Zulus for their intelligence and bravery, but if any of their women are captured by an enemy they will shave and anoint and incur any disgrace to get them back again. The degraded coast negro, however, appears to know neither love nor jealousy. Mr. J. Monteiro, who has lived for years on the west coast, says that he never saw a negro there manifest the least tenderness toward a negress, or give or receive any caress that would indicate the slightest loving regard on either side.

It is to the credit of the natives that the white women who have entered the depths of Africa with their missionary husbands have almost invariably received kind treatment. If they could endure the climate they had nothing to fear from the aborigines. Mme. Tinne is perhaps the only white female traveler in Africa who has been killed. She wandered too much among the blacks of the upper Nile, but tell a victim at last to Mohammedan fanaticism. Travelers say they would often be unable to hire any progress whatever among the most savage tribes if they were not able to convince the natives that they possessed supernatural powers. A few conjurers' tricks will often open the way among the savages, who would fight the explorer if they did not think he could witch them all. Young Thomson, who recently came back from the Mount Kenamy, traveled for on his expedition as a man who could take his teeth out of his mouth and put them back again. He had two false teeth on a plate. When argument and entreaty availed nothing he had only to do his teeth act to get about everything he wanted. A chief south of Lake Nyassa, who had never seen glass, became the warm friend of a missionary whose watch he was examining. He could see the hands right before him, but he couldn't put his fingers on them, and he thought the white man by some occult power kept him from touching them.

Some petty chiefs have been in the habit of appearing before explorers and presenting their sovereign the Big King for the purpose of getting a handsome present. The explorers have found a means of exposing these frauds. As a rule, none but the great chiefs are allowed to possess guns or highly colored cloths. If such goods are offered to a subchief who pretends to be the king he refuses to receive them, and stands revealed as a fraud. Consul Chun carried a quantity of red velvet with him in his travels through east Africa. He was quite reserved the velvet for great chiefs or rajahs, and that in such cases it answered admirably.—New York Sun.

No Chance for Social Intimacy.

A mild-looking man, who had been riding on the platform of a Third avenue horse-car, endeared to his conductor by his stay at Bleecker street last night. He looked both at the conductor as he got off and limped up the street.

"Confound you," muttered the conductor. "You have ridden up and down this road often enough to be able to get off without stopping the car."

The conductor looked wrathy, yet his face bore evidence of remorse.

"That fellow is a counter," he said, shaking his head ominously. "I know he was when he got on. His face gave him away. He's been counting my fares from Sixty-ninth street," he continued, ringing up several fares absentmindedly. "Hung it, if they'd only keep a man long enough to let us get acquainted with him, it would give a fellow a show."—New York Sun.

Good Goods and Low Prices

ARE

BOUND TO WIN

If you don't believe it, come and see my SPRING STOCK You will see that I am up to the times in styles, and have as fine an assortment of MEN'S, YOUTH'S and CHILDREN'S SUITS, as you will find in any City I defy any House to show any nicer line of NECK WEAR and

Furnishing Goods

My aim is to HOLD THE CLOTHING TRADE, by carrying a Large Stock so I can please you all. PRICES TALK Come and see my Large Spring Stock before buying elsewhere.

GEO. W. MILLER.

HENRY C. COOPER

Undertaker!

CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN.

Coffins, Caskets, and Trimmings Always in Stock.

Come and See my Stock of Furniture.

ALL ORDERS BY TELEPHONE RECEIVE PROMPT ATTENTION.

Charlevoix and East Jordan.

SCHOOL GAZELLE—Capt. Robert O'Neill.

Mornings—Leave Charlevoix, 6.30, arrive East Jordan 7.20. Leave East Jordan 7.30, arrive Charlevoix 8.10. Afternoons—Leave Charlevoix 2.00, arrive East Jordan 2.50. Leave East Jordan 4.00, arrive Charlevoix 4.40. Stopping at intermediate points.

Hannah, Lay & Co.'s Pleasure Steamers,

SEASON OF 1885.

CITY OF GRAND RAPIDS.

CAPT. O. E. WILCOX.

Going North every morning—Leave Traverse City, 7.00, Petoskey 7.30, Harbor Springs 8.00, arrive at Cheboygan 9.45.

Going South every afternoon—Leave Harbor Springs 2.00, Petoskey 2.30, Charlevoix 4.00, Northport 5.00, Northport 5.30, arrive at Traverse City 7.00.

T. S. PAXTON,

CAPT. A. A. ALLEN.

Going South every morning—Leave Harbor Springs 7.00, Petoskey 7.30, Charlevoix 9.45, East Jordan 10.30, arrive Traverse City 1.30.

Going North every afternoon—Leave Traverse City, 2.00, South Lake 3.15, Charlevoix 4.45, Petoskey 5.30, arrive Harbor Springs 6.45.

CONNECTIONS will be made at Traverse City and Petoskey with both day and night trains on the G.R. & I. R. R., also on Monday mornings at Petoskey with the train from Chicago and the city of Grand Rapids going north and on Wednesday mornings both the Paxton and City of Grand Rapids going south and the City of Traverse for Chicago.

Grand Rapids & Indiana R. R.

Time Table in effect June 21, 1885.

GOING NORTH.

STATIONS.	No. 1	No. 3	No. 5	No. 7
Cincinnati, Ex.	.....	7 00pm	7 30pm	.....
Richmond, "	.....	10 40pm	11 20pm	3 45am
Fort Wayne, "	6 30pm	1 20am	2 00am	7 15am
Chicago, "	10 00pm	5 40am	6 00am	9 45.
Kalamazoo, lv	7 50	8 00	5 30	2 35
Grand Rapids, "	8 40	9 00	6 25	3 35
Grand Rapids, lv	10 00	10 00	7 30	5 05
Ionia, "	10 40	10 40	8 00	5 40
Saginaw Jun., "	12 30am	12 30pm	10 00	7 40
Big Rapids, "	1 47	1 44	9 40	7 14
Reed's City, "	2 12	2 07	10 11	7 37
Reed's City, lv	2 42	2 12	10 17	7 42
Cadillac, "	4 00	3 35	11 17	8 40pm
Traverse City, "	5 50	5 05	12 45pm	.....
Petoskey, "	6 40	5 55	1 40	.....
Harbor Springs, "	7 15	6 25	2 05	.....
Mackinaw City, "	9 00pm	7 30	4 15pm	.....

GOING SOUTH.

STATIONS.	No. 2	No. 6	No. 4	No. 8
Mackinaw City, lv	8 30am	8 15am	.....	1 00pm
Harbor Springs, "	10 17	9 58	.....	2 47
Petoskey, "	10 55	10 35	.....	3 25
Traverse City, "	12 45	8 55	.....	5 30
Cadillac, "	3 35	2 45	.....	8 20
Reed's City, lv	4 12	3 15	10 45	10 30
Reed's City, lv	4 37	3 45	10 50	10 40
Big Rapids, "	5 05	4 12	11 20	11 15
Saginaw Jun., "	7 00	6 30	2 00	2 40
Ionia, "	8 10	7 40	3 00	3 40
Grand Rapids, lv	8 45	8 05	3 35	4 05
Grand Rapids, lv	9 15	8 35	10 45	10 30
Kalamazoo, "	10 50	9 55	12 20am	1 45
Chicago, "	2 05	2 25	4 40pm	4 45
Fort Wayne, "	7 00	7 20	1 40	1 40
Cincinnati, "	12 05am	12 05pm	7 00	7 00

C. L. LOCKWOOD, G. P. Agent.

Grand Rapids, Mich.

WM. J. STEVENSON,

HORSE-SHOEING,

Wagon Shop,

BLACKSMITHING, ETC.

Heavy Wagons on hand and made to order. I keep the best of workmen and use the best materials and WARRANT ALL WORK. Call and examine before buying elsewhere.

SHOP ONE BLOCK WEST OF CARPENTER, BARTHOLOMEW & CO.'S STORE, CHARLEVOIX.

THE HOWE MACHINE CO.

AT THE FRONT.

OUR LATEST SUCCESS.

Easy Running Sewing Machine

THE BEST.

The Most Room under the Arm.
The Best Self-Setting Needle.
The Largest Bobbin.
The Easiest Shuttle to Thread.
The Most Perfect Tension.
The Best Reliable Feed.
The Most Perfect Take-up.
The Most Rapid Sewer.

SIMPLE, STRONG, DURABLE & HANDSOME

Runs Rapidly, Very Light, Very Still, and without Vibration.

Before you purchase, please examine the NEW HOWE, at the office of

Mrs. M. Litney, Agt., Charlevoix

Photographs!

I have located my

New Photograph Gallery

OVER

UPRIGHT & EMREY'S & CO.'S STORE,

And am prepared to do

All Kinds of Photographic Work,

From the

Miniature Picture to Life Size

Any Old Picture Copied and Enlarged.

Satisfaction Guaranteed

DAVE BRADBEER,

Charlevoix, Mich.

Harbor Springs, Petoskey, Charlevoix, and East Jordan.

STEAMER THOMAS PRIANT.

CAPT. E. VANDERVEER.

Morning—Leave Harbor Springs 7.00, Petoskey 7.30, Charlevoix 8.30, arrive East Jordan 9.15. Afternoon—Leave East Jordan 2.45, Charlevoix 3.30, Petoskey 4.30, Harbor Springs 5.00.

Close connections at Petoskey with C. & P. R. R. trains, north and south.

OLD NEWSPAPERS FOR SALE

THE JOURNAL

Charlevoix, Mich., September 3, 1885.

Provision Market.

Retail prices to consumers, corrected every Saturday evening, by PENSIGER, EMREY & CO. grocer-keepers:

Pork, per bbl., $8.50, $6.00, and $6.00.
Oats, Meal, per cwt., bolted $2.00; unbolted $1.75.
Rye, per bu., 60@65.
Corn, per bu., 45@50.
Beans, fresh, per qrt., $1.00@1.50.
Potatoes, per bu., 20c.
Onions, per bu., 75c.
Potatoes, per bu., 50c.
Apples, per bu., $1.00@1.50.
Butter, per lb., 16@20c.
Eggs, per lb., 16@20c.
Lard, per lb., 8@10c.
Tallow, per lb., 5@6c.
Hay, per ton, Timothy $8@10c.
Hay, per ton, Mixed $8@10c.
Hay, per ton, Clover $8@10c.
Flour, per lb., 4@5c.
Flour, per lb., 4@5c.
Flour, per lb., 4@5

"MY TOAST."

BY A. S. HATCHER.

"Give us," they cried, "a toast!"
All were in merry trim.
Each, except one, could boast
One who had smiled on him.
Dora word toasted, kate,
Margery, Ethelred;
Nell was the guiding star,
It was my turn, they said.

"She that you love the most,
Give us the name!" they cried.
Pretending a pause I paused,
Then I said, "Mabel."
Hilarious laughter,
Blushing cheeks, no more!
Was I then bound to tell
That she had passed three score?

"Has she blue eyes—your queen—
Hazel or black?" said they.
"Kindly and clear and keen,
And of a tender gray,"
Why was I forced to add,
"Spectacles large and blue,
Now that her sight is bad,
Mothers their gaze so true."

"Golden or brown her hair?"
"Suit," I replied, "and flight."
"This I conceived was fair,
Since it is nearly white.
"What is her voice in tone?"
"Soft, I hope, and not loud."
Was I to speak of one
Sorrows have made it so.

"And do you love her best
Under the whole blue sky?
And for her light set host
Your life? Come, reply!"
Would you that for her good,
Sorrows should fall on you?
"Gladly," said I, "I would
That at the least was true.

"Drink as their glasses rang,
Drank as I, musing, said,
Lilium"—not they sang—
"Here's to her health," they said.
"Grey—you'd an hour—a-lilting—
Blushing eighteen—no more!"
Laughs mingled with
"Why should I tell them more?
Temple Bar.

ONE BEAUTIFUL WOMAN.

BY KENSHIGH.

The studio looked unusually dull and dreary, with its dirty, paint-bedaubed easel and the one solitary broken old chair that did duty for artist and visitor alike. But then there were never any visitors, so George Ellison did not trouble himself much on that score. He would even have liked to risk a little moth-eaten fur for the sake of seeing some one else besides the scrub-woman and janitor cutter that dingy room.

It was a square, box-like room—quite unlike any ideal one would form of an artist's studio. Of course there were pictures lying around, and the collection was increasing only too rapidly, for he worked assiduously day after day.

"I've got enough to stock the whole Exposition," he muttered, moodily, as he stood contemplating the last picture on his easel—a landscape which showed some fair traces of genius. "Bad as it is," he went on, as his careful eye noted its defects, "that representing a nude was very funny. If I could only sell a few of these and hire a model—the kind of a model I want—why, then I'd get on a good deal faster than I'm doing now."

He was a young fellow of only twenty-three who had worked his way to Chicago from a country town, where he had gained the rudiments of the art to which he intended to devote his life. The old artist who had instructed him had so dazzled his mind with visions of the wealth and reputation to be made in a large city, that he had come to Chicago with any amount of hope, which, however, was beginning to wane, as the weeks passed by and he still remained unnoticed and unknown.

He began to think that the people of Chicago had no appreciation of the fine arts; that it was true what certain Eastern critics said of them—that they cared more for steaks and pork-packing than for the refinements of civilized life.

One day, feeling more than usually discouraged, he stopped work quite early, and sauntered forth to get what fresh air he could on the crowded thoroughfare on which the window of his studio opened.

As he came down the cast stairway to the entrance, two ladies were just emerging from the jewelry store at its side. He did not see them, but they noticed him, and the younger one gazed at him with a curiosity that was not altogether unfriendly.

"I wonder who he is, Nell," she whispered, nudging her companion's elbow. "His clothes certainly didn't come from City's. From the tit of them he's evidently made them himself, one would think, for such fearfully baggy pantaloons I never saw, not even on the poorest beggar."

"Don't talk so loudly—he might hear you. It's no business of ours—the fit of his clothes. Is that a Cottage Grove car coming?"

The object of this conversation was still standing in the doorway, looking dreamily upon the moving mass before him.

"And if I could afford to hire a model," thought he, musingly, "I'd—I'd—where on earth would I get one? Not in this city. Chicago has some fine-looking women, but I've yet to see one beautiful woman."

Mrs. Colby gave her sister's arm a pinch as they hurried by.

"There—Ethel, listen, and do not waste your sympathy on him any more. He deserves to wear baggy pantaloons all his life long, just for that miserable tirade against Chicago women."

"Alas, that I am not endowed with sufficient beauty to prove his terrible mistake to him," murmured Ethel, as she signaled the car-driver.

"No one with a pug nose could hope to do that, even if she has got good eyes and a decent sort of a mouth," said her sister cruelly, and the conversation dropped at that point.

But Ethel Harbridge did not forget that pathetic figure standing in the doorway by Matson's; and in a few days she resolved to go past the place again. There was not the slightest chance of seeing him, she kept reasoning to herself as she neared her destination, and laughed at the absurd whim which had brought her. But she came across him, notwithstanding her opinion of the contrary, and strange to say, was not at all disappointed at the fulfiment of her prediction.

He was just coming up the stairway with a small bundle under one arm, through the end of which she saw a palette and some brushes sticking out.

"Just as I thought, the poor fellow is an artist, and a Chicago one at that. No wonder his clothes are ill-fitting, and his face is pinched—yes, actually pinched."

By this time he had gained the top of one stairway, and was lost to view on the second. Ethel opened her purse and glanced at its contents.

"Just eleven dollars and five cents. Now, the nickel will be enough to carry me home, and if I thought it of last any real cheap pictures I'd follow him up and invest the rest, for he seems decidedly poor."

She did not pause long. It was the day of the week on which the artists in that building received an admiring but not very generously disposed public—she would avail herself of this opportunity and boldly ascend the stairway after him. She stopped on the second landing and went into several rooms, but rightly conjecturing that his would be one of the smallest, and poorest, she soon wended her way to the top.

Since enough, in a dingy little room, that rented for a mere song, she found him.

He was sitting at his easel, with a piece of clear canvas before him, mechanically fondling with his brushes, and pondering drops of paint upon the palette he had just brought in. He turned with a start as he heard a light knock on the half-open door.

Could it be——No; the janitor always gave a knock like that, the man was a negro, with those little pretensions to politeness which all true sons of Africa possess. So he quickly said, "Come in," and did not raise his head until the subtle odor of a delicate perfume floated about him, and he looked up in surprise, and saw a visitor at last!

It was a woman, and a lovely one—his eyes could tell that at their first glances. He got up in a dazed sort of a way and offered her the solitary chair.

"No—many thanks. I did not come to stay, only to see if—if you have anything very small. A lid of print to fill up a corner, you know."

She glanced around as she spoke, and George's eyes followed hers.

No, there was nothing very small in the room. He inwardly cursed himself for having wasted so many days on large canvases when something small would have filled the bill completely.

She noted his perplexity and hastened then to relieve it.

"After seeing that pretty front block" pointing to a fairly good picture in his window—"I think it would be difficult to suit me with anything else, though I am not provided to-day with the sum at which you doubtless value your—"

"I have had no sales, and I do not value it at all," he said, a little bitterly. "It was go for whatever one would choose to give."

"Well, you see"—with a confidential air that was very charming—"I am all out of funds to-day, but if you would save it for me, or if you would take a payment now and the rest to-morrow, I would be very grateful, for my heart is set on that picture, and I must have it."

She opened her purse and showed its contents to him. He could not tell whether his eyes were playing him false or not, but surely there was crisp, new notes, the like of which he had not seen for many a day.

"Three dollars, and the nickel," she continued, laughing. "Now if you would trust me for the rest——"

"The picture is not worth more than ten dollars; you have more than enough for it," he said, with a little smile of joy at this unexpected piece of fortune.

Ethel looked at him pityingly.

"Don't think I am telling you this simply to get the picture for so little," she said, coloring.

"By no means; I believe you. Do not think so badly of me as to—only—only, you see, I have never sold one since I've been here, and this sale is a godsend to me."

His voice trembled for a moment, but he soon controlled it and went on. "And I am so ill-bred as to be poor with my troubles. Pray forgive me. If you will let me know the address I'll have it sent this afternoon."

Ethel hesitated for an instant. She did not like to take the picture at that price, yet he insisted, and she saw that it would pain him to offer more. So she gave him the address and went away, promising to call again.

The next morning, quite early, a gentleman called at the studio, a stout, burly person, with iron-gray whiskers and mustache. He had not the appearance of a connoisseur, but one or two remarks which he made concerning the merits and demerits of the pictures gave the young artist a new veneration for the judgment and taste of Chicago merchants.

"My daughter wants something in this line—yes, that birch grove's just the thing. Good color, and shadows and too deep. What's the price?"

George had the courage to place its true value upon it. The old gentleman eyed him keenly, nodded approvingly, drew forth his pocketbook and counted out the money, all the while murmuring inwardly:

"Why, that's five times as much as Ethel paid, and the picture's no bigger, either. Talk of artists not being shrewd business men; why, they'd stick a Jew any day."

With the firm conviction that he had been "stuck," Mr. Harbridge carried the landscape home, and delivered it to Ethel.

"You know I am only too glad to help the worthy poor," he said; "but I guess we've done our duty in this case, Ethel. We won't buy any more pictures for a while, so don't hunt up any more poor artists."

As Mr. Harbridge could not be prevailed upon to purchase again, Ethel interested some of her friends in Elliott's work. The consequence was that the dingy studio gradually began to brighten with little comforts and luxuries which he had never been able to afford before. George himself began to have a fresher, less pinched appearance, and worked away with greater energy than ever. One day he was hold enough to say:

"I would not care to paint landscapes forever; but a portrait painter, you know, finds it very difficult to get a start; and if one paints ideal heads and faces, one must have a model."

Ethel laughed aloud.

"Do you know, she said, confidentially, "that Mrs. Colby once remarked in a joke that—that if I hadn't anything better to do I might make my living by—leaning out my head—you know the hair is the color Titian used to paint."

If you would only give me one or two sittings," he pleaded, "I should be grateful. But I should not ask—it would be too much."

"No, it would not," she answered, determinedly; so after a little discussion it was arranged that she should come there the next day and pose for the model, or whatever he chose to make of her.

Mrs. Colby protested against the sittings, but to no purpose, and then interviewed Mr. Harbridge on the subject.

"I tell you what, Ellen," said her father, with a wisdom that rendered her, acquaintance with Ethel had influenced him with, "if we run contrary to her wishes in this direction, sure as fate she'd run against some train sheer obstinacy by falling in love with and marrying this Ellison."

"And that's the very thing I'm afraid will happen."

"Oh, never you fear about that. It takes opposition to make people marry poor artists, and Ethel hasn't been crossed in this whim yet."

Nothing further was said, but Mrs. Colby's fears were by no means allayed.

The sittings went on, and the Madonna progressed rapidly. At length it was finished. The artist, though far from being egotistical, could not but himself love its immensely superior it was to his previous efforts.

He was standing beside Ethel at a little distance from it, silently noting its wonderful beauty.

"I could not have painted it as well had I not been for your kindness," he said, at last, in reply to a compliment which she hesitatingly gave. "But my opportunities are over. I am going away, and even if you were not I could not trespass on your patience for sittings for another picture.

"But there are plenty of models to be had," she said, with a glance at the chair in her eye.

"Nay—" he began, and stopped abruptly.

"Not in Chicago," laughed Ethel. "Go on and finish Mr. Elliott's picture; anticipate the rest, for I overheard a lady say about which long said about the lack of female beauty in this city."

He finished lotly; but a glance at her face reassured him. Whatever the manner, also, gave him a desperate courage, at which he himself was surprised when he recollected afterward all the occurrences of that afternoon.

"But you have shown me my mistake," he said, coming a little closer. "There is one beautiful woman here, but only one. What would I not give to possess her?"

"Well, what would you?" she asked, on mischievously, with a smile that showed him what the answer would be to the question, should he ask it. But it never came.

There was only a little cry of pleasure smothered exclamation, the sound which has always been supposed to be peculiar to turtle doves, but which has been filtrated and improved upon by the human species, and then the Madonna on the handsome easel looked complacently down and saw her living prototype gathered into the artist's arms.—Chicago Ledger.

Dining in Persia.

Persian dinners are always preceded by pipes (bubble-bubbles), while tea and sweets are handed around. Then the servants bring in a low table sheet and place it on the ground; the guests take their seats around it, squatting on the ground. A flat loaf of bread is placed before each man. Music plays; a large dish of pilau and a dish of fat sheep, from an inch pipe, flows at the rate of 1,000 gallons per day.

—George L. Alexander has been elected School Examiner for Hennepin County for three years. W. Johnson for two years, and Frank Converse for one year.

—Tourists were on the train at Petoskey, on night recently, that a number of locomotives were compelled to remainin sleeping cars over night on a side-track.

—Brighton Village has guaranteed $18,000 to the new railroad, and now the farmers of the surrounding country are being urged to make up the remaining $6,000 required as a bonus.

—For the special accommodation of the largely increased Chicago and Detroit travel the Michigan Central will add to its equipment two new and splendid Wagner sleeping cars—the Marmon and the Lochiewar.

—C. J. Brown, of Detroit, traveling agent for a tobacco house, deliberately cracked under a train on the Chicago and Pere Marquette Road at East Saginaw, as the cars were starting, and was crushed to death by the wheels.

—Louis Waller, a white barber, 30 years old, committed suicide at Detroit by shooting himself in the mouth with a revolver. He was a widower, however. He leaves a widow. The cause of the suicide was despondency on account of the death of his 3-month-old child.

—Mrs. Horace Whitney, of Toledo, Ohio, who owns a valuable dairy farm near the Michigan State line, has a valuable herd of blooded cattle, among which a fine sylvic fever has broken out, and this for the second time dead. Dr. Newton, a local veterinarian, regards the disease as noncontagious.

—A beam, with a capacity of 3,000,000 pounds, and almost unknown out of Ann Arbor, is completed, and work will immediately begin on a large reservoir located on the heights above the city from the same. Nearly all the streets have been laid with pipe, and everything points to an early one of the greatest of all.

—The band and quite a number of citizens met the boys who were arrested for disturbing the Salvation Army at Mason as they were returning from leaving, when they had been on trial for the assault, making the boys feel like heroes. The jury in their case was only seven minutes before deciding that there was no cause for action.

—An express package addressed to Miss Florence E. Hasselgrave arrived in this city a few days ago. It was found, to contain a pocketbook with $14 in it, which the lady whose name it bore, and who is now married and a resident of Saginaw, Mich., left in 1876. The contents had not been disturbed, even to some of the small coins, which had changed color through mildew. No explanation accompanied the return of the lady, which appears to be a pure case of conscience.—Bridgeport (Conn.) News.

—A telegram from Negaunee says: "J. W. Sloan, agent of the Bangsmen who are on the outskirts of this city, told his men yesterday morning that their services were no longer required, and that they could go home, as he was about to close down the mine. The miners said that they would not leave the mine, because, on the fact that he had no money, and that they had do without for the present." The miners grumbled and threatened, but went home without a fight. The mine was a small one, and only thirty men were employed at the time. It was the intention to take out from 20,000 to 25,000 tons of ore this season, but barely 3,000 tons were got out."

MICHIGAN IN CONGRESS.

Senator Palmer.

Thomas Weatherill Palmer was born in the city of Detroit, January 25, 1830. He remained there until the age of twelve, when he entered Mr. Thompson's Academy at St. Clair. He afterward spent a year and a half at the University at Ann Arbor. His eyesight failing, he, with five others, left for a venture for Oregon in the fall of 1848. He hauled at Cedar, and for two months travel on foot through the country, visiting the Alleghanies at Gonnola and other points. He then took ship to South America, landing at Rio Janeiro in 1849. After remaining there months in South America, he returned home via New Orleans, spending two months in the Southern States. In 1850 he went to Wisconsin, and spent one year as agent of a transportation company on the river. In 1851 he went into the mercantile business at Appleton, Wis., where he was burned out and financially ruined. Returning to Detroit in 1853, he engaged in the real-estate business. In 1857 he became agent for the lumber trade, which, with the purchase and sale of pine lands, he followed for two years.

Mr. Palmer was married to Miss Lizzie L., daughter of Charles P. Merrill, in 1855. He has been an active member of the Republican party since the date of its organization. He was nominated by acclamation for State Senator in 1878, and elected by a handsome majority. The Legislature of 1883, after a protracted struggle, elected him United States Senator, to succeed Hon. Thomas W. Ferry.

Representative Burrows.

Hon. Julius C. Burrows, who represents the Fourth Congressional District (which includes Berrien, Cass, Kalamazoo, St. Joseph and Van Buren counties), was born at North East, Erie County, Pa., Jan. 9, 1837. When seventeen years of age he taught school and was a student. In 1859 he came to Michigan and taught for a year or more. In that year he commenced the practice of law in Kalamazoo. In 1862 he went into the Union army as Captain in the Seventeenth Michigan Infantry, in 1865 he was elected Prosecuting Attorney of Kalamazoo County, and was re-elected in 1868. In 1872 he was elected Representative in the Forty-third Congress, to fill a vacancy caused by the death of Rep. Omens, but was again defeated in 1872, by Jerome L. Vagle, whom he in turn defeated in 1873, by a vote of 18,518 to 18,212 for Vagle. Fassoned, and 1,232 for Abel N. Morse, Prohibitionist. Mr. Burrows has been an active Republican campaigner for many years, and is known far and wide as an eloquent speaker.

Representative O'Donnell.

Hon. James O'Donnell, Representative in Congress from the Third District (embracing the counties of Barry, Branch, Calhoun, Eaton and Jackson), was born in Norwich, Ct., March 25, 1840. He removed with his parents to Michigan in 1848, and his residence in Jackson since 1854. He did not enjoy early educational advantages, but made up this deficiency by study after working hours. He commenced to learn the printer's trade in 1856, and has followed the profession nearly ever since. At the breaking out of the war he entered as a private in the First Michigan Infantry and served his time, participating in the battles of Bull Run, Antietam, etc. In 1863 he was elected Recorder of the city of Jackson, as a Republican, though it was a strong Democratic city. In 1872 he was chosen Presidential Elector, and was designated by the State Electoral College to take the vote of Michigan to Washington. He served as Secretary of the State Electoral College. In 1876 he was elected Mayor of Jackson, being the only Republican successful at the election. He was re-elected in 1877, when he entered Mr. Thompson's Academy at St. Clair. He afterward spent a year and a half at the University at Ann Arbor. His eyesight failing, he, with five others, left for a venture for Oregon in the fall of 1848. He hauled at Cedar, and for two months travel on foot through the country, visiting the Alleghanies at Gonnola and other points. He then took ship to South America, landing at Rio Janeiro in 1849. After remaining there months in South America, he returned home via New Orleans, spending two months in the Southern States. In 1850 he went to Wisconsin, and spent one year as agent of a transportation company on the river. In 1851 he went into the mercantile business at Appleton, Wis., where he was burned out and financially ruined. Returning to Detroit in 1853, he engaged in the real-estate business. In 1857 he became agent for the lumber trade, which, with the purchase and sale of pine lands, he followed for two years.

Mr. Palmer was married to Miss Lizzie L., daughter of Charles P. Merrill, in 1855. He has been an active member of the Republican party since the date of its organization. He was nominated by acclamation for State Senator in 1878, and elected by a handsome majority. The Legislature of 1883, after a protracted struggle, elected him United States Senator, to succeed Hon. Thomas W. Ferry.

STATE ITEMS.

—The Michigan Central employs 236 men in all the departments.

—Edwin Pritchard, a prominent logging jobber of Lake City, was shot and instantly killed by Thomas Goodrow.

—Dunsee young men are preparing to defend their country in the line of mud by organizing a military company.

—Abner Mecker, of Millbrook, the oldest citizen of Mecosta County, is dead, aged 103 years 2 months and 2 days.

—An Ann Arbor printer's devil, Willie Jackson, aged eleven years, set eight thousand ems of type in eight consecutive hours, one day recently.

—Big Rapids expects to have all the water she wants from a single well, in the fact deep, from an inch pipe, flows at the rate of 1,000 gallons per day.

—George L. Alexander has been elected School Examiner for Hennepin County for three years, W. Johnson for two years, and Frank Converse for one year.

—Tourists were on the train at Petoskey, one night recently, that a number of locomotives were compelled to remainin sleeping cars over night on a side-track.

—Brighton Village has guaranteed $18,000 to the new railroad, and now the farmers of the surrounding country are being urged to make up the remaining $6,000 required as a bonus.

—For the special accommodation of the largely increased Chicago and Detroit travel the Michigan Central will add to its equipment two new and splendid Wagner sleeping cars—the Marmon and the Lochiewar.

—C. J. Brown, of Detroit, traveling agent for a tobacco house, deliberately cracked under a train on the Chicago and Pere Marquette Road at East Saginaw, as the cars were starting, and was crushed to death by the wheels.

—Louis Waller, a white barber, 30 years old, committed suicide at Detroit by shooting himself in the mouth with a revolver. He was a widower, however. He leaves a widow. The cause of the suicide was despondency on account of the death of his 3-month-old child.

—Mrs. Horace Whitney, of Toledo, Ohio, who owns a valuable dairy farm near the Michigan State line, has a valuable herd of blooded cattle, among which a fine sylvic fever has broken out, and this for the second time dead. Dr. Newton, a local veterinarian, regards the disease as noncontagious.

—A beam, with a capacity of 3,000,000 pounds, and almost unknown out of Ann Arbor, is completed, and work will immediately begin on a large reservoir located on the heights above the city from the same. Nearly all the streets have been laid with pipe, and everything points to an early one of the greatest of all.

—The band and quite a number of citizens met the boys who were arrested for disturbing the Salvation Army at Mason as they were returning from leaving, when they had been on trial for the assault, making the boys feel like heroes. The jury in their case was only seven minutes before deciding that there was no cause for action.

—An express package addressed to Miss Florence E. Hasselgrave arrived in this city a few days ago. It was found, to contain a pocketbook with $14 in it, which the lady whose name it bore, and who is now married and a resident of Saginaw, Mich., left in 1876. The contents had not been disturbed, even to some of the small coins, which had changed color through mildew. No explanation accompanied the return of the lady, which appears to be a pure case of conscience.—Bridgeport (Conn.) News.

—A telegram from Negaunee says: "J. W. Sloan, agent of the Bangsmen who are on the outskirts of this city, told his men yesterday morning that their services were no longer required, and that they could go home, as he was about to close down the mine. The miners said that they would not leave the mine, because, on the fact that he had no money, and that they had do without for the present." The miners grumbled and threatened, but went home without a fight. The mine was a small one, and only thirty men were employed at the time. It was the intention to take out from 20,000 to 25,000 tons of ore this season, but barely 3,000 tons were got out."

Mary Stuart's Sins and Prayers.

If Mary, who was born in Scotland, wished to live there, she could not enjoy her wish—for out of the 44 years that she lived she scarcely spent a dozen in her native country, to which she much preferred France, the country of her mother, who was a daughter of the Duke of Guise. In her marriage-treaty with Francis II. she made Scotland a province of France, and she allowed herself also to be proclaimed heir to the throne of England. This claim, which Elizabeth acknowledged by sending Mary's son as her successor, was very offensive to the minens of the English people, and was the occasion of many political troubles for Mary. But she was her own worst enemy when she undertook to govern Scotland after the death of her French husband, in just Elizabeth then being finally established as the English queen. The long list of works published for and against Mary, including Buchanan, Joseph Stevenson, has now added a curious one, "The History of Mary Stuart, by Claude Nau, her Secretary." This little does not very well deserve the book, since the part played by Nau and discovered by this editor in the locked Cotton collection, makes but 100 pages or so, while the introduction and appendix are more than ten times as long. Nau was a prominence in the fragmentary papers of the French secretary, and others quite as valuable in a series of reports from Catholic priests found among the archives at the Vatican. The editor is bound, as a good Catholic, to defend the Catholic Mary as well as he can against the heretic Elizabeth—and he takes the ground that she had nothing to do with the murder of her husband, though Bothwell, whom she so disgracefully married was the murderer. Nau's account, by hypotheses, was derived from Mary herself, and she discussed with her secretary in the English castle, where she was imprisoned, if so, we have Mary's own version of some events in her strange career. Nau says that the Scottish lords, particularly Moray, Morton and Maitland of Lethington, "after having used Bothwell to no purpose, and having made a tool of him, that she was serviceable in their instrument in ruin the Queen. Their plan was to remade her to marry the Earl of Bothwell, so that they might charge her with having in the plot against her husband, and a consenting party to his death."

This theory of Darnley's murder is a very extreme one, and carries with it, if accepted, a complete rejection of the casket letters from Mary to Bothwell. Bothwell published in 1571, since these letters were given over from Mary to Bothwell before Darnley's murder, but strange circumstance is reported by Nau on the authority of Mary, that she was seriously ill at Lochleven at the time, "the result of a miscarriage of twins, her name by Rizzio, by whom she had only been married on May 15, of that year, which had been killed by Bothwell February 9, and the Queen herself struggling on the point of death." Nau strengthens the opinion that Mary was pregnant with Bothwell before Darnley's death, as the casket letters imply, and that the Queen does not dwell much on these letters, but rather on the conspiracy, as Mr. Melline treats the matter, and the combination of Mary against Fronde. But after all, Mary was the worst of all witnesses against herself—for her own confession with Bothwell, apart from the letters, is sufficient to make her guilty of her nonconsent, unless she were a fool—and she was not in love matters, no one knows her. She was one of the most tender and sensible of women, and must be presumed to have known what she was doing. It is impossible to believe Mary innocent and to believe Mary innocent and to believe Mary innocent and

Around the County.

East Jordan.

Dan Jerrom, of the popular Commercial house, East Jordan, is building a livery and boarding stable, which will be 56x100 feet, three stories high; in capacity said to be the largest in this part of the state. Dan never does things by halves.

A. E. Pickford, of East Jordan, proposes to gather in all the surplus eggs in this part of the country. With his facilities for handling he can fill orders on short notice.

"The Jordan river has done more to advertise and build up this part of northern Michigan, than any other one thing."—[A. B. Turner.

From the Enterprise.

John L. Allen has retired from the East Jordan Iron Works, and Messrs. R. W. Romeds and W. E. Malpass will continue the business, they resuming business this morning.

Mrs. G. W. Fast has one of the finest wax begonias that it has ever been our good fortune to see. It stands 6 feet and 7 inches high, and has been in bloom since it was about ½ inch in height.

A meeting was held in the Jordan River house office last evening for the purpose of making preparations to hold a county fair at this place some time in October, and organizing a county agricultural society. Another meeting will be held Saturday evening.

Louis Bashaw, of this township, brought to our office last Monday evening, 18 heads of white Russian wheat averaging 6½ inches in one of which there were 106 grains, the rest varying from 100 upwards. The kernals were solid and well filled. We have taken pains to show the sample to a large number of callers, who pronounce it to be the finest and best sample of grain they have seen in a number of years.

Eastport.

We wish to introduce ourselves in the JOURNAL by giving a brief description of our village and surroundings.

Eastport is situated at the head of Torch Lake, (one of the most beautiful inland lakes on the globe) 18 miles from Charlevoix, and the same from Elk Rapids. We have water communications by the way of Torch Lake and also by Grand Traverse Bay, the nearest dock being 2½ miles distant. We have a daily mail north and south, and semi-weekly mail east on Wednesday and Saturday. Our village consists of three general stores, a hardware and a drug store; one sawmill, a lumber yard and another building now being erected by Mrs. Pate to be used for the same purpose. We have a grist mill, saw mill, hoop factory, three blacksmith shops and one hotel, the Gidley House. We have a G. A. R. post and Congregational church. Some of the finest farms in Antrim county can be found in our vicinity.

Mrs. J. S. Campbell has gone to Kingsley, Grand Traverse county, to visit friends.

Miss Jessie Sharp and sister Millie returned to their home near Newaygo, having been the guests of their grand father, Mr. L. G. Evans.

We hear the usual question discussed on our streets again and the prospects look fair for an opening from Torch lake to Traverse Bay.

Farmers are complaining considerable about wet weather, but they should drive away that frown from their faces as they have been bountifully supplied with good crops and a fair yield of fruit.

Burgess.

A R. Strathers' oxen run against a fence and throw him off, the wagon wheel passing over his head, hurting him badly.

A dance at Hamlin's last Friday evening. An enjoyable time reported. Another at Jack Sandy's next Friday evening.

Some of Jeuks's constituents are quarreling among themselves as to who he will take when he fills his offer, of week before last.

A logging bee at Cook's retreat, next Thursday.

Mose Cooper is making his place look much better by picking up the stones on it and drawing them off. He has taken off over 100 cords and the end is not yet.

Plenty of rain and some mad about these days.

State Teachers' Institute.

At the State teachers institute at Boyne City last week 54 teachers were enrolled,—more than last year. On Monday evening Prof. Goodison gave a very interesting and instructive lecture on "The Alps and their Glaciers," to a full house and illustrated it by drawings on the black-board. On Thursday evening the teachers had a conference meeting at the schoolhouse. The institute has been a decided success and the teachers appear to have profited greatly by it.

Marion.

The wet weather delays the harvest, and late grains will be somewhat injured.

We have no notables in our town, whose movements, in other places, are closely watched and noted.

Temperance Column.

Conducted by a Committee of the W. C. T. U.

Officers of the Society.

President—Mrs. C. Y. Cook.
First Vice President—Mrs. L. E. Allen.
Second Vice President—Mrs. A. T. Hastings.
Third Vice President—Mrs. C. F. Van Aken.
Corresponding Secretary—Mrs. D. C. Loveday.
Recording Secretary—Mrs. B. Suffield.
Treasurer—Mrs. C. J. Strong.

Unbelief.

There is no mistake;
There are plants a seed beneath the sod,
And water's work it push and by the cold,
He trusts in God.

Whoever sees, when clouds are in the sky,
"He patient, heart; light breaketh by and by,"
Trusts the Most High.

Whoever sees, 'neath winter's fold of snow,
The wheat harvest of the future grow,
God's power and know.

Whoever lies down on his couch to sleep,
Content to lock arms in slumber deep,
Knows God will keep.

Whoever says "To-morrow," "The Unknown,"
"The Future," limits the power alone
He shows therein.

The heart that looks on when the eyelids close,
And dares to live when life has only woes,
God's comfort knows.

There is no mistake;
And, day by day, and night, unmoved, steadily
The heart lives by the faith the lips deny—
God knoweth why.

Edward Bulwer Lytton.

Home and Intemperance.

Out from a dark ravine in a certain county in northern Pennsylvania there issues a stream which, flowing eastward, empties into a certain river. I am told that years ago upon the north side of this stream rattlesnakes could be met with in considerable numbers, while on the south side of the stream none could be found. The stream is not impassable because of its width, but on the other hand it is quite narrow and in time past as now in many places, uprooted trees, driftwood and trash of various sorts formed temporary bridges, making the question of transit from one side to the other a matter not in the least difficult.

The supposed reason why rattle snakes could not be met with on the south side of stream is this: That there grew in great quantities a plant or shrub (name unknown to me) the presence and perfume of which were displeasing, if not destructive to his snakeship and therefore because of the existence of this botanical St. Patrick on the south side of the stream he made the north side his continual and permanent habitat.

I have never given this legend the best of rigid examination. The flavor of it has been so peculiarly interesting that it seemed to me to be in a sense unkind, unpracticable and ungentle to destroy it in the crucible of scientific investigation. In its present untouched, legendary nature it answers purpose, in that it reminds me of a story, somewhat similar in character, that I read of or heard about many years ago.

Upon a beautiful day in the leafy month of June a traveler on horseback was slowly wending his way along an unfrequented bridle path through a defile of the mountains. The settlement was already far to the rear and the sounds of civilization were exchanged for the singing of wild birds, the chattering of the squirrels, the drumming of the pheasants and the thousands of voices peculiar to the wakeful forests. Suddenly his attention was arrested by a sound, peculiar even amid these many peculiar. It issued from up the mountain side and seemed to him to be the voice of birds, indicating fear and distress. Resolved to investigate this matter, he tied his horse to the limb of a tree and made his way through the underbrush as best he could in the direction indicated. Without any special difficulty he found the object of his search. Upon a small tree about four fifths the distance between root and topmost branch he saw a nest—a bird's nest. Above and around this nest fluttered and screamed the parent birds, full of distress and fear. Below the nest winding around the trunk of the tree, he saw a large black snake slowly but surely approaching the nest. Unable to render assistance in this unequal conflict, he proposed to be a deeply interested observer and impatiently to await the result. Presently one of the birds flew away a little distance and soon returned carrying in its beak a green leaf which it carefully laid upon the nest. this act was immediately imitated by its mate. Then both birds flew rapidly thither and back again, bringing the green leaves and covering the nest carefully and completely so the birdlings underneath ceased their chirpings and went to sleep. In the meantime the serpent sliding coil to coil around the trunk of tree, shortened the distance between himself and prey until at length poundly arching his glistening neck over the limb upon which the nest was built, he thrust forward his forked tongue to do its work of death; when lo! there is a magic power in the leaves, a similar to observable throughout his entire length, his coils, his body sways, he drops from branch to branch down upon the rocky ground, then glides away reluctantly to his hated den.

The nest is home! The serpent is intemperance! The parent birds are correct public sentiment and legal power! Thus covering of leaves, prohibition!—H. C. Moyer.

Cure for Piles.

Piles are frequently preceded by a sense of weight in the back, loins and lower part of the abdomen, with a dull pain, frequent desire to some affection of the kidneys or neighboring organs. At times, symptoms of indigestion are present, flatulency, uneasiness of the stomach, etc. A sudden, irksome, painful, perhaps a very disagreeable itching, after poulting warm, is a common attendant. Blind, Bleeding and Itching Piles are but a few of the forms of this disease. Dr. Bosanko's Pile Remedy, acts directly upon the parts affected, absorbing the tumors, allaying the intense itching, and effecting a permanent cure. Price 50 cents. Sold by Geo. W. Crouter. 12

Proper Treatment for Coughs.

That the reader may fully understand what constitutes a good cough medicine, we will say that far and wide there is no such or best remedies yet discovered. These ingredients with several others equally as efficacious, enter largely into Dr. Bosanko's Cough and Lung Syrup, thus making it one of the most reliable now on the market. Price 50cts. and $1.00. Samples free. Sold by G. W. Crouter. 2

TEN CENTS.

Advertisements not exceeding three lines will be inserted in this column for ten cents per week. Each additional line three cents. Displayed cards fifty cents per inch per month.

BUTTON PRIZES for 1886 printing on this office. The best work for the least money.

BUTTER AND EGGS wanted on subscription for the JOURNAL. Wood and produce of all kinds taken at market rates.

MORTGAGE NOTES blank on hand or printed to order on short notice at this office.

I. O. G. T. EXCURSION

An Excursion to Harbor Springs via Petoskey Pleasure Dinner, is planned for next Sunday, Sept. 6. All are invited that can be accommodated. Tickets for the round trip, at 50 cents for adults, and half price for children, can be had of the committee, or at the boat. The Gazette will be chartered for the occasion.

W. F. BURNETT, chairman,
W. A. ATCHISON,
W. S. JOHNSON,
CORNELIUS BUDD,
Committee.

Charlevoix, Sept. 2.

FARM FOR SALE.

One hundred acres of the best farming land, twenty miles from Petoskey, 40 acres improved, over 40 apple trees bearing, good buildings, seven miles from Charlevoix. Prices low (cross-eyed). For further particulars inquire at this office.

Blacksmithing.

I have leased the blacksmith shop in connection with Washburn & Ackett's machine shop, and am prepared to do all kinds of work in my line. Horseshoeing promptly attended to.

Heavy Blacksmithing a Specialty

GEORGE PAPPIN.

$100 REWARD

FOR

Every Ounce of Adulteration

IN THE

U. G. Soap

The Great 5c Cake,

Made only by

GOWANS & STOVER,

BUFFALO, N. Y.

For Sale by all First-class Grocers.

"Facts to be Remembered."

NIMROD PLUG TOBACCO

is the BEST CHEW, the GREATEST SELLER, and more used than any other plug in the State. It always in good order. NEVER TO HARD AND NEVER SWELLS. GIVES GOOD SATISFACTION. TRY IT. ASK FOR IT. TAKE NO SUBSTITUTE. YOU CAN'T GET ANYTHING BETTER. Sold by all dealers. This caution said in any other brand of Tobacco. For sale by all jobbers and retailers.

S. W. VENABLE & CO.
Petersburg, Va.

GET TO THE STATE, Where the Best Cigars are Made. We carry in Stock a Large Assortment of Cigars, and consider quality, price and workmanship as the best in the market. Alex. A. Cole, Detroit, Mich. Sold by Druggists. Price $1.00.

For Sale by F. G. HINES & CO., Charlevoix.

A PRESENT.

Our readers, for 22 cents (to pay for mailing and wrapping, and names of two book agents, will receive free a Sixty Finish Parlor Engraving of all our Presidents including Cleveland, size 22x28, worth $5.00. Address Elder Pub. Co., Chicago, Ill.

GET THE BEST

If your neighbors want a clean, handsome, weekly newspaper, giving all the latest and most complete news from all parts of the country, have them send 25 cents for this paper two months on trial, or $1.00 for the balance of the year to end of year. Address

The Charlevoix Journal,
CHARLEVOIX, MICH.

J. MILO EATON,

DEALER IN

Real Estate

OF ALL KINDS.

Houses and Lots for Sale

IN THE MOST DESIRABLE PARTS OF CHARLEVOIX.

WILD LANDS AND IMPROVED FARMS

FOR SALE IN ALL PARTS OF THE COUNTY.

Abstracts of Title Furnished on Short Notice.

OFFICE ON BRIDGE STREET. ESTABLISHED IN 1875.

PINE LAKE IRON COMPANY

Ironton, Mich.,

Are Full in all kinds of General Merchandise.

GARLAND STOVES & RANGES KEEP YOUR EYE ON THE Right Place

For Bargains in Hardware,

Iron, Cutlery, Tin ware, Stoves, Implements, Fixtures, Pumps, Grist stones, Wagons, Buggies, Carts, Wheelbarrows, Refrigerators, Doors, Sash

PAINTS Oils, Varnishes, Putty, Glass, Fence wire, Farm tools, Carpenter's tools, Notions, Fishing tackle, Revolvers, Guns, Ammunition, Spoons, Forks, LAMPS, Baskets, Measures, Tubs, Wooden ware, Rope, Fishermen's Supplies, and Ship chandlery. Job work in Tin work.

L. D. BARTHOROMEW & CO.

HURRAH for GOOD TIMES

Everything Booming

AT E. M. CLARK'S

Where he has a Lively Trade in

Dry Goods, Groceries, Boots and Shoes, Clothing, &c.

When you get the blues, just call around and see with what dispatch everything is done, where Pork, Eggs, Butter, &c., is taken in exchange for Goods.

E. M. Clark

I have purchased the Meat business of Armstrong & Co., and will continue at the old stand, with the freshest and best goods in the market.

T. E. CHAMBERLIN.

HEAR YE! HEAR YE!

I have purchased the Stock of

Drugs, Chemicals

STATIONERY FISHING TACKLE, ETC.

of O. B. WEED & CO., and will continue the business at the old stand. I shall aim to so conduct the business as to merit a share of your favors. When in need of anything in my line, call and examine my stock and ask my prices.

PERRY WEED, DRUGGIST,
Successor to O. B. Weed & Co.
OPERA BLOCK. CHARLEVOIX. MICH.

THE CHARLEVOIX JOURNAL.

NUMBER 113. CHARLEVOIX, MICH.: THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 10, 1885. $1.50 PER YEAR.

THE JOURNAL
Published every Thursday,
BY CHAS. J. STRANG.
Office on Bridge Street,
CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN
ENTERED AT THE POSTOFFICE AT CHARLEVOIX, AS A SECOND-CLASS MATTER.

BUSINESS DIRECTORY.

ATTORNEYS.

THERE E MARTIN, Attorney at Law, Boyne City, Mich. Collections promptly attended to.

GROSVENOR & GRIFFE, Attorneys at Law and Proctors in Admiralty. Office in Butler's Block, Cadillac, Mich.
C. A. GROSVENOR. C. A. GRIFFE.

HALL & CALL, Attorneys at Law, Real Estate and Loan Agents. Lake St., east of postoffice, Petoskey, Mich.

FRED W. MAYNE, Attorney and Counselor at Law. Office on Lake st., Boyne City, Mich.

CHAS. T. JENNY, Attorney and Counselor at Law. Office on Lake st., Boyne, Mich.

J. A. WOODWARD, Attorney at Law and Judge of Probate of Kalkaska Co., Kalkaska, Mich.

J. MILO EATON, Attorney at Law, Charlevoix, Mich.

OTTO T. WISNER, Attorney at Law and Notary Public, Agent for Court Commissioner, Section 1004-1005, East Jordan, Mich.

W. A. MOSHER, Attorney and Solicitor, East Jordan. Abstracts a Specialty.

T. N. GARNETT, Attorney at Law, Boyne City, Mich.

CHURCHES.

FIRST CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH—Sunday services at 10:30 a. m. and 7:00 p. m. Sunday school at close of morning service. Prayer meeting every Thursday evening at 7:00 o'clock. C. P. VAN ALSTYNE, pastor.

METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH—Sunday services at 10:30 a. m. and 7 p. m. Sunday school at close of morning service. Prayer meeting Thursday evening at 7.
J. T. JOHNSON, pastor.

FIRE DEPARTMENT.

CHARLEVOIX HOOCH AND READY FIRE COMPANY meet every Saturday night, at Dickson Hall.
B. F. BIGELOW, Secretary.

HOMEOPATHIC PHARMACY.

BOOTTELLS, Homeopathic Medicines, Books, Domestic Cases, etc., Charlevoix, Mich.

PHYSICIANS.

A. CHRISTIEN, M. D.
Office at the Ingleside.

J. LEWIS, M. D., Physician and Surgeon. Office for the Lewis Block, Charlevoix, Mich.

W. PRENTON, M. D., Surgeon and Homeopathic Physician, Charlevoix, Mich.

REAL ESTATE AGENTS.

HORACE S. HARRIS, Notary Public, Real Estate, Loan, and Insurance Agt., Charlevoix.

SECRET SOCIETIES.

G. A. R.—Baxter Post No. 119, meets second Monday in each month, at Odd Fellows' hall.

I. O. O. F.—Charlevoix Lodge No. 357, meets every Friday night, at Odd Fellows' hall.

I. O. O. F.—Round Lake Lodge No. 292, meets every Wednesday evening, in their hall.

K. O. T. M.—Resort Tent, No. 108, meets second and fourth Tuesday each month, at Odd Fellows' hall.

I. O. L.—True Blues No. 197, meet Saturday on or before full moon in Odd Fellows' hall.

MASONIC—Charlevoix Lodge No. 382, meets Wednesday on or before full moon. Hall over Bancroft's.

W. F. BROWN, CASHIER. W. A. BROWN, Ass't Cashier.

BROWN & CO.'S
BANK OF CHARLEVOIX,
Capital, $25,000.

With supreme security and prompt attention we have a large and growing patronage. Drafts drawn direct upon the principal cities of the world. Collections receive prompt attention. Interest allowed on time deposits. Loans made on first mortgages upon farm property only. Money to loan. Drafts on Paris, Vienna, and from all points in Europe by first lines.

CORRESPONDENTS.
Chase National Bank, New York.
First National Bank, Chicago.
Merchants and Manufacturers' National Bank, Detroit.
Fourth National Bank, Grand Rapids.

The Charlevoix Improvement Association.

OFFICERS.

President—Byron Sunset.
Vice President—Thomas A. E. Smith.
Second Vice President—Sidney Miller.
Recording Secretary—Chas. J. Strang.
Financial Secretary—B. Suffield.
Treasurer—Albert E. Mason.

STANDING COMMITTEES.

Executive Committee—J. Milo Eaton, A. D. Cruickshank, and J. L. Hurd.
Corresponding Committee—H. Lee Billings, W. A. Dewey, and C. Y. Cook.
Finance Committee—F. W. Mayne, L. D. Barthoromew, M. A. Mosher, R. Cooper, Geo. W. Crouter, E. M. Clark, B. Sesi, Geo. Gidley, E. M. Cook, H. Breiden.

OBJECTS.

To aid and encourage the establishment of manufacturing enterprises in Charlevoix, and to advance the material growth and prosperity of Charlevoix and vicinity.

MEETINGS AND MEETINGS.

At Charlevoix Village Hall on the Third Monday of each month, at 7:30 p. m.

CORRESPONDENCE SOLICITED.

The Grand Rapids

Daily Democrat,

The Leading Newspaper of Western Michigan.

ENLARGED AND IMPROVED.

Sent by mail at 50 cents per month.

A FEW FACTS CONCERNING
DR. CROUTER'S
BAKING POWDER
Or Quick Yeast.

If you use it you will never have yellow biscuit.
If you use it your biscuit will never taste of soda.
It contains no alum, and is absolutely free from anything of a deleterious nature.
It is made from PURE GRAPE CREAM OF TARTAR and NOT from the Common Grades of Tartar of the shops.
It is always fresh and will never disappoint you.
Directions for using furnished with every package.
Price 40 Cents per Pound
Manufactured and Sold only by
Dr. GEO. W. CROUTER,
CHEMIST AND DRUGGIST,
BRIDGE STREET, CHARLEVOIX, MICH.

Come and See our Immense Stock of

BOOTS AND SHOES.

FOX & MILLER.

BRIDGE STREET HOUSE,
ROBERT MILLER, Proprietor,
Charlevoix, Michigan.
This house is centrally located, and its accommodations excellent. The table supplied with the best the market affords. Only sample room in Charlevoix.

COMMERCIAL HOUSE
D. B. JERRUE, Proprietor.
East Jordan, Michigan.
Entirely rebuilt and refurnished. First-class Sample Room for agents. Good Stable in connection with the House. 15

FARMERS' HOTEL,
W. S. JOHNSON, Proprietor.
Antrim Street, near Village Hall, Charlevoix.
Location convenient for mechanics working in any of the factories on Round Lake, and for farmers coming to town. Feed stable for teams will be provided.

FOUNTAIN CITY HOUSE,
RICHARD COOPER, Proprietor.
Charlevoix, Michigan.
Finest location in town, giving good view of lake and resorts. Express office and local quarters for Petoskey and Elk Rapids daily. Separate room for commercial travelers adjoining hotel.

JORDAN RIVER HOUSE,
THATCHER & BLAIR, Proprietors.
East Jordan, Michigan.
Those having business in the county seat will find this the most convenient place to stop, and the proprietors will spare no pains to give the best satisfaction. TELEPHONE CONNECTIONS.

PINE LAKE HOUSE,
A. J. HALL, Proprietor.
Boyne City, Michigan.
This house is finely located on the Boyne river, at the head of Pine Lake. It is large and commodious, and is well adapted to the entertainment of the traveling public.

PIONEER HOUSE,
A. B. NOYES, Proprietor.
Ironton, Michigan.
Every convenience for the traveling public.

Money to Loan
On sums of $400 and upwards, at reasonable rates of interest, on approved real estate security.
H. C. Miley,
6-tf Boyne City.

Picture Frames
Made to Order.
A FINE ASSORTMENT OF MOULDINGS
To Select From.
O. I. WHEAT,
Bridge Street, Charlevoix, Mich.

Well-Digging.
JOHN SHRIER
Charlevoix, Mich.,
Is prepared to do all work in the line of well-digging, curbing, walling, pump repairing, well driving, and similar work.

WOOD WANTED.
Two or three loads of good block wood wanted at this office immediately.

MISS L. SPAULDING,
DEALER IN
MILLINERY
AND
Fancy Goods.
Dressmaking Done in the Latest Styles.
Special attention given to
CHILDREN'S GARMENTS.
We would call the attention of the ladies to our STAMPING DEPARTMENT.
☞We endeavor to do our work well and at Reasonable Prices. Come and see for yourself.

McCABE'S
Livery and Hack Line
DRAYING TO ORDER.
Passengers, Baggage, etc., delivered to all Boats, Hotels, or any part of the City.
AT
McCabe's Livery Barn,
CHARLEVOIX, MICH. 45

W. M. WAGAR. G. C. WAGAR.

Wagar Bros.
Wholesale and Retail dealers in Tobacco, Cigars and Smokers' Articles. Also a full line of Confectionery, Fruits, And Temperance Drinks. One door west of Bridge Street House, Charlevoix, Mich.

C. R. BELLINGER
Has a large stock of
New Jewelry and Silverware
(SOLID AND PLATED)
Pins, Charms, and Chains,
In all the latest styles.
Watches, Clocks, and Optical Goods.
New Style of Monogram Pin just received.
Sewing Machine oil kept in stock.

John Nicholls,
CHARLEVOIX, MICH.,
Manufacturer of and dealer in
HARDWOOD AND PINE
LUMBER!
ALSO
Dressed Lumber, Oar Blades,
WAGON TONGUES, SHINGLES, LATH, ETC.
LUMBER SAWED AND BILLS FILLED TO ORDER.

The Republican Party and the South.

From the Detroit Free Press.

John Sherman's declaration at Mount Gilead that "the republican party was certainly liberal and just to the rebels lately in arms against the country," has called out a response from the Louisville Courier Journal. The truthfulness and fairness of the answer is a sufficient excuse for entering into a controversy with Sherman over dead issues. Premising that Sherman's statement is "not merely the appeal of a demagogue to sectional prejudice but a perversion of his tory," the Journal says:

The republican party, as a party, was not "liberal and just" to the south. The terms made by General Grant were generous to the confederate soldiers, and Grant had to force their acceptance by the government. Then Andrew Johnson had to strain the full power of the executive to keep the republican party in congress from putting the south practically in irons, from establishing a military despotism over all the people of the south, little and big, white and black, and from such an overthrow of the constitution as would, if they had succeeded, have completely revolutionized our democratic system. Even in it was the republican leaders carried over Johnson's head a measure of reconstruction, as they called it, which made the southern states, while it lasted, a hell on earth. It broke down of its own infamy and wickedness, no thanks to those who created it for their own selfish and malign purposes. It broke down, and was succeeded by a return of methods more consistent with the instincts and traditions of our people, because the good sense of the north was appalled by the progress of radicalism, and the good feeling of the north shrank from inflicting upon great masses of American born and English-speaking men and women such penalties as the republican party had imposed and was trying to perpetuate. Ever since the mad career of the radical leaders was checked, the condition of affairs at the south has been continuously mending, and, all things considered, the harmonious adaptation of the two races to the new conditions is one of the wonders of the world, and will challenge the admiration of future generations.

The present effort to stir up strife upon the old lines is malevolent and short-sighted. It is based upon the falsehood that the people of the south love violence for its own sake, and found for his own sake, and can not be trusted to administer their domestic affairs either wisely or fairly. The reverse is true. The people of Mississippi are as much concerned for good government as the people of Ohio. They love law and order as well. At the last election more outrage was perpetrated in the single city of Cincinnati than in all of the states of the south combined. All parties, as parties, are bad enough where they have the chance to take advantages, and not worse south than north. These things, left to themselves, are likely to balance themselves, and our real safety lies in leaving them to the honor and virtue of the several states of the union, relying upon the people directly interested to righten wrongs that happen, sure that, in the long run, each community will set its house in order.

A Sectional Appeal.

Mr. John Sherman has opened the republican campaign in Ohio with a carefully prepared speech. As the Evening Post, which is a supporter of President Cleveland's administration, advocates the defeat of Gov. Hoadly and the democratic party in the approaching Ohio election, and return of Mr. John Sherman for another six years to the United States senate, the utterances of that leader on national questions become of interest and importance.

Mr. Sherman plunges headlong into the mire of sectional hate. He revives against the return to "high office" of those who "waged war against the Union and were the cause of the loss of half a million of lives and thousands of millions of treasure." He heaps vituperation upon the "solid south," in which, he says, "the negro is deprived of all his political rights by open violence or by frauds as mean as any that have been committed by penitentiary convicts, and is simply and boldly done as highway robbery." He declares it to be the hope of "the men who led in the civil war" and who are now "the chief officers of the government" to "reverse all the results of the war." And he professes to regard it as "vital and necessary to appeal to the northern states to unite again against this evil, not so open and arrogant as slavery, but more dangerous and equally unjust."

☞The people of New York have recently draped their city in mourning to mark their grief at the death of Gen. Grant. Perhaps no nation of his life endeared him more closely to their hearts than did the noble words his lauel traced in his last hours, when speech had failed him, congratulating the country on the restoration of fraternal feelings between the sections and on the renewed devotion of the south to the Union.

In the letter which he kept from his family until his death, knowing that what would be a solace to them after the final blow had fallen would cause them pain while he still lived, the dying hero wrote: "As I have stated, I am thankful for the providential extension of my time to enable me to continue my work. I am further thankful, and in a much greater degree thankful, because it has enabled me to see for myself the happy harmony which so suddenly sprang up between those engaged but a few short years ago in deadly conflict."

What a contrast between these noble, patriotic words and the malignant ravings of the partisans who for political purposes would foster suspicion, jealousy and hatred between the citizens of the northern and southern states! How can the people of New York view this attempt of sensor Sherman to destroy the fraternal bonds cemented at the grave of Gen. Grant? How can we ever hope for a restored, peaceful and powerful Union if a legacy of sectional hate is to be handed down to our children's children?—[N. Y. World.

Rotten Rhode Island Speaketh.

Some time ago Secretary Manning issued a circular addressed to manufacturers and business men asking them to convey to the department their ideas concerning tariff revision. Nearly every intelligent business man in the country, whether free trader or protectionist, believes that a tariff levied during war time for war purposes, and notoriously full of monopoly privileges, injustices, and contradictions, should be revised; it is as to the degree of that revision about which there is a difference of opinion. But in Rhode Island, a contemptable little enterprise ruled by a few mill lords and falsely pretending to be a free state like the other thirty-seven, there is not a man, a manly man, who has the courage to express sentiment to the effect that the tariff is a sacred institution which must not be touched at all.

In response to Mr. Manning's circular more than one thousand members of the ruling class met at Providence the other day and, after viewing with alarm any proposition to amend the tariff laws, declared by resolution that an attempt in that direction would be disastrous to business and that they therefore protested against the reopening of the question by the present congress. The men who subscribed to this ridiculous manifesto are the money barons who have made of Rhode Island the only state in the Union in which a man is not a citizen. It is the protectionists' paradise. Wealth has all the laws in its favor. It is protected by state and national enactments at the expense of labor. It lives a monopoly of the field, and it perpetuates its grip on the producer and consumer who does not happen to belong to the guild by disfranchising him unless he can show that he is worth a certain amount of money. Only about one half or the male residents of Rhode Island over twenty-one years of age are voters. The ruling class is the moneyed class, and all others are condemned by circumstances over which they can rarely hope to gain any control to life-long servitude and penury.

The solemn announcements by these purse-proud robbers and half-baked aristocrats, that a decent revision of the tariff for the purpose of eliminating some of the unjust features of that iniquitous system will be disastrous to business, is one of the coolest exhibitions of cheek that this generation has witnessed since Boss Tweed's day. No legitimate business would suffer if every protective feature of the tariff should be repealed at once, and the Rhode Island leeches know it. While maintaining their own sorrowful communities of sempaupper laborers they live for twenty-five years green rich by the taxation of western consumers. They are the luxurious of America. Grinding their unhappy employes down by a merciless tyranny, unknown elsewhere on this continent, and paying them starvation wages, they are all the time, through the workings of the tariff, levying toll on the rest of the people. When Rhode Island is unanimously in favor of any policy it is time for other states to be unanimously opposed to it.—Chicago Herald.

☞The price of "Buick" Pomeroy's Democrat is $2.00 a year. By an arrangement with the publisher we can furnish it with the Journal for $2.65 per year, cash in advance.

☞The Detroit Weekly Free Press four months on trial for 25 cts. Specimen copies free at this office.

THE JOURNAL
BY CHAS. J. STRANG.
CHARLEVOIX, - - MICHIGAN.

NEWS CONDENSED.

Concise Record of the Week.

EASTERN.

A sensation was caused in Wilkesbarre, Pa., by a report that Preller, the supposed victim of the St. Louis murder by Maxwell had been seen there.

Ten thousand eyeballers and sailors of New York State have joined the G. A. R. since the death of General Grant. The membership of the order in the Empire State is now about 20,000.

The recent explosion of the steamer S. M. Felton at Philadelphia has been traced to the agency of a man named Adelmann Spears, who carried a line of accident insurance which would have yielded him $750 per week if he had been seriously injured. Spears, however, was killed, and the payment of his life policies, which call for $35,000, will be contested. The deceased is said to have lied the accident insurance companies handsomely during the last fifteen years.

Victimized depositors in the defunct German savings Bank at Erie, Pa., have forced the stockholders of that institution to sign a paper acknowledging their liability and agreeing to make a settlement.

A New York druggist who carelessly substituted morphine for quinine in filling a prescription, causing the death of two young ladies, has disappeared.

The statue of Daniel Webster, presented to the State of New Hampshire by the Hon. T. H. Cheney, will be dedicated at Concord June 17, 18.

By an explosion of natural gas in a factory at Pittsburgh, five persons were terribly burned, two of them fatally. The proprietors had recently introduced the natural gas into their ovens.

Tom Davis, a well known sporting character, was shot and killed in his dingy office at New York by a Texas who gives his name as James T. Holland, who asserts that he was justified in killing Davis.

The total exports of produce from New York during the week were valued at $6,162,111.

Trains on the New York elevated roads are to be run by electricity. A trial trip has been made on the Sixth avenue line with an electric motor, the experiment proving a complete success.

A mass of loose rock fell from the shaft of a mine near Wilkesbarre, Pa., and, striking a cage filled with workmen, killed four of them and wounded six others.

WESTERN.

Arapahoe Indians are committing depredations on the cattle ranges in the Big Horn Basin and in Northern Indian section.

Twelve thousand people witnessed the sparring match between Sullivan and McCaffrey at Chester park, Cincinnati. Six rounds were fought. The referee gave the fight to Sullivan on the claim of a foul. Sullivan offers to fight McCaffrey to the finish, with or without gloves, within three weeks, and for $5,000 to $2,000 that he wins.

The Current Publishing Company, of Chicago, has made an assignment. The periodical will be continued without interruption.

There were 238 deaths in Chicago last week, against 230 for the corresponding week of last year.

Dakota's population, according to the census just taken, is 148,000.

The cattlemen are evacuating Indian Territory pursuant to the President's order. The forty days' limit expired Sept. 1.

The Coroner's jury which has been investigating the facts in connection with the death of Major Wallace F. Dunphin, Ran., returned a verdict to the effect that the deceased was poisoned with arsenic by his wife.

As the result of an unhappy marriage, W. E. Roth attempted to kill his mother-in-law and his wife's half-sister at Texas Hollow, Ohio, fatally wounded the latter woman and shot his wife. After running a short distance in the direction of his father's house, Roth stopped and blew out his own brains.

The body of Daniel Church, a farmer of Mohawk Valley, Lake County, Oregon, was found in the road near his house, with a bullet hole in his back. Shortly after his wife was found back of the house, with her face upturned to the sky, a bloody club or a blunt instrument. The late Andrew Hogan, a neighbor, was found near Mrs. Church, and a party, on going to Hogan's ranch, found him hanging to the rafters of the barn, having committed suicide. He had probably murdered Mr. and Mrs. Church, though no motive for the crime can be attributed.

More than 100,000 cattle have been driven out of the Cheyenne and Arapahoe reservations since the President issued his proclamation. The number remaining is estimated at from 60,000 to 75,000. It is believed that the reservations will be entirely cleared of both, a short within few weeks.

Chinese miners who had been imported by the Union Pacific Railway Company were driven from the pits at Rock Springs, Wyoming, by a force of armed white men, the Chinese fleeing to the hills for safety. Seven of the rioters were shot dead by the mob, and many wounded. The Chinese quarters were then set on fire, thirty-nine houses being destroyed, and several old and helpless Mongolians, it is believed, perished in the flames.

Four masked men entered the passenger car of a Chicago and Alton train at Blue Springs, Mo., and with drawn revolvers secured from the occupants small amounts. They then ordered the train stopped, and decamped. Blue Springs is near Glendale and Blue Cut, the scene of former robberies by the James gang.

A ferry-boat capsized in the Fox River at Oshkosh, Wis., and six of the eleven occupants were drowned. Four of the victims were young women employed in a match factory at Oshkosh.

A fight with four-ounce gloves at Neeta, Dakota, between McKenna, of Winnipeg, and Lenney, of South Boston, backed as an "unknown," was awarded to the latter in the fifth round on a claim of foul.

Between trains, John L. Sullivan, the pugilist, took breakfast at an eating house at Cleveland, but before cutting his meal throws $20 on the counter and accused the barkeeper to give everybody in the room a drink. Sullivan, who was perfectly sober, spoke contemptuously of McCaffrey's fighting tactics.

The Ohio Live-Stock Association, through its veterinarian, Dr. Butler, denies the report that pleuro-pneumonia exists in Montgomery County, Ohio. Texas fever has broken out among domestic which cows near the stock yards at Detroit, Mich., but health officers are trying to keep the matter a secret.

SOUTHERN.

Dr. D. H. Gregory, of King William County, Virginia, who was found dead in bed at Richmond hotel, left charitable bequests to the amount of $25,000.

At Luckie, who murdered six persons recently, including his daughter, brother, sister-in-law, and another female relative taken from jail at Hunco, Tex., and hanged, Jan. 31, Vine, his brother. He is supposed to have killed all the members of three or four families, but his cartridges gave out.

The mysterious epidemic in Clay County, West Virginia, is increasing. The symptoms very strongly resemble those of cholera.

Outlaws operating in the vicinity of Calhoun, Ga., after robbing a store, blew it up with gunpowder, destroying the postoffice and other buildings. Seven men have been arrested.

The American schooner Gustie Wilson, founded off Cape Hatteras in the recent gale. All on board were lost except Captain Cropo and two seamen, who were rescued from a capsized life boat by a passing vessel, and landed at Savannah, Ga. Captain Cropo is the man who crossed the Atlantic with his wife in a dory of thirteen feet keel in 1877.

The total exports of produce from New York during the week were valued at $6,162,111.

The strike of the glassblowers at Baltimore, which began last winter, has been successfully settled. Twelve men will be employed in the various factories.

The Maryland cotton mills are preparing to run on full time.

The cornerstone of the new Georgia Capitol was laid with imposing ceremonies at Atlanta, General Lawton made the principal address.

The official statement of the Louisville and Nashville railroad company for the month of July shows a decrease in net earnings of nearly $75,000.

WASHINGTON.

Serious charges have been filed here against some of the Alaska judiciary. They involve drunkenness and various abuses.

A. Wilson Norris, late Pension Agent at Philadelphia, has not, it is charged, yet rendered his account to the Treasury Department, though frequent demands have been made upon him. The department officials are in a quandary as to what steps should be taken in the matter. No charges are made against the ex-chief's integrity.

Washington gossip has it that Treasurer Jordan has cried in his economy to the extent of giving up his cream and sleeping in his office.

Commissioner Atkins issued an order for the removal of settlers from Crow Creek reservation, in Dakota.

Senator Kenna, of West Virginia, says a Washington special, has prepared and will introduce into the Senate a bill to create another Cabinet officer. It is not the old bill which has been so repeatedly introduced to make the chief of the Agricultural Bureau a cabinet officer. Senator Kenna does not regard that bureau of sufficient importance alone to warrant its chief's promotion to a position in the Cabinet. What he desires and what his bill calls for is a Department of Industries. It would include the Agricultural Bureau, the Bureau of Statistics, the Geological Survey, and the census office.

It is claimed that the efforts of the Treasury Department to secure a better circulation of silver are meeting with prospering success.

The Indian Bureau has been informed by Gen. Crook that the hostile Apaches are now in Mexico, about twenty-five miles south of the boundary line, and are still moving southward.

General Newton, Chief of Engineers, U. S. A., estimates that an appropriation of about $18,000,000 or $20,000,000 will be required to continue the work of river and harbor improvements during the next fiscal year.

The total collections of internal revenue during the month of July just were $8,323,311, or $51,211 less than for the same period of last. There was a decrease of $863,875 in the collections for spirits, and a decrease of $18,479 from miscellaneous sources. There was an increase of $345,018 on collections for tobacco, and an increase of $198,601 on fermented liquors.

POLITICAL.

Governor Hoadly, of Ohio, has been challenged by Dr. Leonard, the Prohibition candidate, to a joint session of the license question during the campaign. The Governor signifies his willingness to engage in a series of debates with the Prohibition standard-bearer if Judge Foraker, the Republican candidate for Governor will also participate.

A call for a Prohibitionist political meeting in a Methodist Church at Youngstown, Ohio, has stirred up the worm-burs, who protest against the use of the structure for political purposes.

MISCELLANEOUS.

A special from Upper Saranac Lake, New York, says:

Fred first Cleveland's pants too broken camp and stripped to the tissue of Hibern, and this the delighted the two remaining summer boarders. The latter gentlemen looked remarkably well. He's much improved by exposure to sun and wind during his camping out. He's lost a little flesh, he goes out on the lake fishing daily in the morning, and he's quite capable of landing a good mess. During the long evenings the Hibernians spin yarns with the guides and any other two players. While down at the camp the wife of the ex-President is the cynosure of all eyes. She goes back to Washington, which will probably be not before the middle of September. She is well prepared by her long stay amid the bracing air of Hibernia for the benefits she conferred on her husband and assumed at by its. Mrs. Cleveland has appearance positive all that. Vaguely I hear the hotel file by the various ladies who carry from the woods and skoke hands with the Hibernians. Mrs. Cleveland winked at the electrician who fixed up her room to give a cent to shoot all the deer in the Adirondacks. Mrs. Cleveland is quite fond of children, and I have seen her both and carries out the proposition on their noggins. Many of the latter wish they had a pocket-book can on to make things look like Jack Cade, and I hear that Mrs. Cleveland wants to know if the ex-President sticks to the good old habit of taking a little drink with him. All that could be said about him is a guide. He said that once, in crossing a lake, "Mrs. Cleveland was in the bow, I was in the stern, the boat capsized" and smiled and looked happy. Mrs. Cleveland looked at him as if she was sore bashful, and too old to be ungrateful.

Fan Chin Wes, I dispatched: "Undermaster General Vilas was in Washington fishing, and will remain a day or two, a guest of Ex. M. Vilas, his brother. He is much improved in health and in excellent spirits since his trip to the superior regions." Postmaster-General Dickinson, Secretary General Garland arrived here rather unexpectedly yesterday morning, and will return to Washington, Sept-mber 15 or 16.

He leaves for Horning Hill, his country house, early in the morning of the 10th, to-morrow. The place is almost inaccessible, the surrounding country being thinly settled and hunting and fishing are the only Mr. Garland has no opinion to express concerning politics."

According to the figures of the New York Produce Exchange the visible supply of wheat is 14,000,000 bushels and of corn 6,821,886 bushels.

A new commercial treaty has been agreed on between Spain and the United States which will work numerous reforms in the Cuban customs tariff.

Three hundred deaths from smallpox have occurred in Montreal during the present year, the municipal health board has applied to the provincial authorities for assistance in fighting the epidemic, which is attributed mainly to the filthy condition of the French-Canadian quarter of the city. Smallpox is prevailing in a violent form at Sherbrooke, Canada.

Before adjourning its convention at Ann Arbor, the American Association for the Advancement of Science named Prof. E. S. Morse, of Salem, Mass., President for the ensuing year, and chose Buffalo as the place for holding the next annual meeting.

Of the 2,332 Presidential postmasters in the United States, there have been appointed since March 4, and of the 48,621 fourth-class postmasters, 6,000 have been appointed during the same period.

Mr. and Mrs. Jesse R. Grant and Mrs. Sartoris have sailed for Europe.

The Allan Line mail steamer Hanoverian went ashore off the Newfoundland coast and is a total loss.

At its session in Baltimore the National Masonic Lodge of Relief elected Martin Collins, of St. Louis, President, and decided to hold their next session in Baltimore city. N. J. Higgins, of Wisconsin, was elected a member of the Advisory Board.

FOREIGN.

Cummings, a professional, was defeated by George, heretofore the champion amateur sculler of the world, in a sculling race at London. The winner's time was 21 minutes.

Advices from Herat state that the Cow will visit Merv in 1886, and in the autumn of that year will be received Emperor of Central Asia.

A terrific thunder-storm visited Pisa, Italy, causing great destruction. Several church towers were shattered, but the famous leaning tower escaped unhurt.

Spain has forwarded to Germany a document showing that the native chiefs of the Caroline Islands acknowledge the sovereignty of the former power.

During a Nationalist torchlight procession in Galway, Ireland, the marchers attacked a detachment of Yorkshire soldiers and a fight ensued, lasting four hours, in which many persons were injured.

All Russian and Austrian Poles have been ordered to quit Danzig before October 1, except settlers prior to 1845, temporary sojourners, and those who have served, or whose sons have served, in the German army.

The Governor of Herat has been appointed to the charge of the Russian and Afghan boundary commission.

Mr. Gladstone says, regarding his physical condition, that he is extremely well, although still a little lame.

Ship yards at Barrow-in-Furness, England, burned, causing a loss of $100,000, and depriving 2,000 men of employment.

The fifteenth anniversary of the Gravelotte victory over the French at Metz was celebrated at Berlin by a grand military display. The Emperor and Empress drove ahead of the troops in the procession.

Mrs. Jarrett has been arrested at London on the charge of abducting the Arnstrong girl, who was the "Lily" of the Pall Mall Gazette's revelations. Several other persons have been summoned to appear for trial as confederates of Mrs. Jarrett, including Mr. Stead, editor of the Gazette, who will return at once from Switzerland to answer the charge.

LATER NEWS ITEMS.

Judge George W. McIlvaine, of the Dubuque bench, has declined the Republican nomination for a re-election on account of ill-health, and the State committee will fill the vacancy on the ticket.

Oil has been struck at Zaleski, Ohio, at a depth of over 2,100 feet.

The gross earnings of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul road for July show an increase as compared with the same month last year of $56,000.

Ex-Senator Gwin, of California, died in the New York Hotel, at New York, the was 83 years old.

John Lehrum, a wealthy farmer, having been swamped of swindling his uncle out of a small amount of money, hanged himself in a tree near Pittsburgh.

An entire square at Albany, N. Y., mostly occupied by frame structures, was burned, thirty families being rendered homeless. The loss is estimated at $50,000. Nine cows Winfield's large manure factory at Lynn, Mass., was burned, entailing a loss of $414,000.

Germany has intimated to the Engish Foreign Office its readiness to refer the Caroline dispute to the arbitration of a friendly power.

The French authorities have prohibited anti-German demonstrations by Spanish residents in France.

The Paris Gaulois, commenting on Mr. Parnell's statement that Scotland but has nationality by her union with England, remarks that the Irish leader never said a silver thing.

Claims for losses during the rebellion in the Southern Territory will exceed $5,000,000, and for the first eight months of the year at $25,000,000.

Pedro Prestan, the leader of the revolutionists of Tamaula, who several months ago fired and destroyed the city of Tuloa, has been executed for the offense.

It is stated that large amounts of money are being sent from the Canadian banks and that the bank of Montreal alone has between $5,000,000 and $10,000,000 which it finds difficult to place.

A band of Indians from Sonora is reported to be committing serious depredations in the northwest part of Sebastian. The Mexican troops stationed in that department are too far from the scene of action for protection to be afforded safely in scouts employed by the United States.

The recent anti-Chinese riot at Rock Springs, Wyoming Territory, was a much more serious affair than at first reported. Later advices from there report that "the bodies of fifteen Chinamen have been discovered, and a many more are supposed to be concealed beneath the ruins of their burned cabins. The sanguinary Chinese army of whom were wounded are 500 in the hills, without food and afraid to venture out. Fifty houses belonging to the left shoulder and many more owned by Chinamen were destroyed. Two Warren has arrived at Green Springs, and then Howard has been appealed to for military assistance." An omaha dispatch gives some additional particulars of the riot.

The mining camp was made up of two demons, women and children, the latter numbering by the same report the latter about one. The two demons have lived apart, and hatred of the latter has been the favorite sport of every opposite union. This volcanic condition of affairs has been the cause of the trouble. Rumors of trouble began to reach Omaha on the arrival of some idle new coalies the day previous, the rumors increased in size as the whole point. Shotguns and pistols were purchased, and late in the afternoon a presumptious a small was made on the Chinese quarter. The Chinese fled into the woods, hiring rapid and full, for in the air, and about any commands to fire at the time. Company Hollinshead and Lieutenant Mason and The lorch was applied to every house, and a fire was set to the Chinese quarter. The Chinese The inhabitants fled for the hills, pursued by the mob, firing volleys at the fugitives. The whites then proceeded to plunder the deserted dwellings, and finally burned the ashes of the burned towns. Every Chinaman left in the town is now in mortal fear.

THE MARKETS

NEW YORK.
BEEVES	$4.90 @ 5.00
WHEAT—No. 1 White	1.20 @ 1.20
No. 2 Red	1.08 @ 1.08
CORN—No. 2	.51 @ .52
OATS—White	.34 @ .35
PORK—Mess	10.70 @ 11.00
CHICAGO.
BEEVES—Extra Prime Steers	$5.00 @ 5.25
Good Shipping	4.50 @ 4.80
HOGS—Packing	4.00 @ 4.25
Butchers'	4.00 @ 4.25
SHEEP—Fair to Good Wether Ex.	3.50 @ 4.00
Fair to Good Lambs Spring	5.25 @ 6.25
WHEAT—No. 2 Spring	.87 @ .88
CORN—No. 2	.42 @ .43
OATS—No. 2	.27 @ .28
RYE—No. 2	.56 @ .57
BARLEY—No. 2	.72 @ .73
BUTTER—Dairy Creamery	.15 @ .22
Fine Dairy	.14 @ .16
CHEESE—Full Cream new	.09 @ .10
Light Skimmed	.05 @ .06
EGGS—Fresh	.12 @ .13
POTATOES—per bbl	1.00 @ 1.50
PORK—Mess	8.50 @ 9.00
MILWAUKEE.
WHEAT—No. 1	.79 @ .80
No. 2 Spring	.77 @ .78
CORN—No. 2	.41 @ .42
OATS—No. 2	.26 @ .27
RYE—No. 1	.56 @ .57
BARLEY—No. 2	.70 @ .71
ST. LOUIS.
WHEAT—No. 2 Red	.85 @ .86
CORN—No. 2	.45 @ .46
OATS—No. 2	.26 @ .27
RYE—No. 2	.56 @ .57
PORK	9.50 @ 9.75
CINCINNATI.
WHEAT—No. 2 Red	.88 @ .89
CORN—No. 2 Mixed	.46 @ .47
OATS—Mixed	.26 @ .27
RYE—No. 2	.57 @ .58
PORK—Mess	9.50 @ 9.75
DETROIT.
WHEAT—No. 1 White	5.00 @ 5.00
WHEAT—No. 2 Red	.87 @ .88
CORN—Mixed	.41 @ .42
OATS—No. 1	.26 @ .27
INDIANAPOLIS.
BEEF CATTLE	3.50 @ 5.75
WHEAT—No. 2 Red	.87 @ .88
CORN—Mixed	.41 @ .42
OATS—No. 1	.26 @ .27
EAST LIBERTY.
CATTLE—Best	5.75 @ 6.25
Fair	5.00 @ 5.50
Common	4.00 @ 4.50
HOGS—Common	4.50 @ 5.00
SHEEP	4.00 @ 5.75
BUFFALO.
CATTLE	5.00 @ 5.60
HOGS	4.50 @ 5.00
SHEEP	3.00 @ 3.90

MADE A MISTAKE.

Tom Davis, the Notorious "Bloodie" Man, Plays a Trump for a Sucker,

And, as a Very Natural Consequence, Receives a Bullet Through His Heart.

[New York special.]

Thomas Davis, a notorious sporting-man and swindler, was killed to-day in his frame establishment on the third floor of No. 111 Reade street, this city, by James T. Holland, a Texan, who had paid him $500 for what he supposed was $10,000 in counterfeit money, and who discovered at the moment the transaction was consummated that he was cheated. As a swindler he is known in the regions' vernacular as a "bunko" man, a "faker," a "sawdust operator, and a Brooklyn "skin." His acquaintance with Holland was in the "bunko" line, in which the victim believes that he has received genuine or counterfeit money, and discovers too late that bundles of paper, bond paper wrapped up so as to resemble rolls of coin, or bricks carefully packed in paper, have been substituted. Davis had about half a dozen offices in this city fitted up in various ways for swindling the unwary. James T. Holland is a real-estate dealer in Abilene, Taylor County, Texas. Late in July Davis circulated advertisements of counterfeit money had come to the south of Holland, and had come to New York with John T. Hill, of Jackson, Miss., a Marshal of Colfax, Mitchell County, Tex., to buy some, be said, and settle.

The two men from Texas came here last Wednesday and immediately opened negotiations with Davis. It was finally agreed that he should sell $10,000 worth of genuine goods to Holland for $500. On a letter from one of them Davis met them at the Astor House Hotel at noon yesterday, and from there Holland went to Davis' room. Everything was ready, Davis said, and Holland said he had his "end" of the transaction, meaning the money to pay for the expected counterfeits in order. Davis had provided $10,000 in genuine money to show. His confederate in the plot was his brother Theodore, who glued his eye to a knothole in the partition, and listened eagerly to what was said. Holland counted out his money which Davis pocketed and then Tom produced the supposed counterfeits, in reality the genuine money, and the bids were counted into a black satchel which was on the desk and the signature into the confederate's room. When the count had been made the satchel was closed, and Davis attempted to distract the Texan's attention. Therefore, through the aperture, took the genuine money from the satchel and had just pocketed it, with three bundles of blank paper substituted for the bids, through the dummy back, when Holland, standing in the middle of it, saw, and instantly became suspicious. Tossing the satchel to the floor in consternation, drew a revolver on Davis, and demanded his money.

Tom explained: "You wouldn't shoot me! I was nonplussed, and lifted the shots of his eye to the ceiling. I had to do it!"

Holland stood firm, the bullet striking Davis in the left shoulder and coming downward and through the body. Davis fell to the floor and had not a word or more afterward. Theodore immediately sprang out of the hole in the partition in his nakedness, and went down stairs to put the money in a safe place, and he was followed afterward round. As he ran along the corridor Holland fired two more shots—one went through the desk and dummy satchel, and the other crashed into the door. Holland went down stairs into the street, and, as he started to walk away, Theodore, who had passed the money, ran out and to a policeman, and said: "Arrest him. He has killed a man."

Holland appeared cool and unconcerned, and admitted that he had shot Davis because he had cheated him. Holland was taken back to Davis' room by the policemen and subsequently was locked up in the police station. Theodore was detained as a witness. Hill, or Johnson, was arrested at the Merchants' Hotel. About $1,500 in bills was found on his person. He was locked up to await developments.

THEY ARE GOING.

Cattlemen Removing Their Herds from Indian Territory Pastures.

Must Come Down.

[Washington special.]

All the official information received at Washington indicates that the cattlemen have done all in their power to get out of the Indian Territory during the forty-days ending Sept. 1. Unofficial advices intimate that some cattlemen have not pursued this course, but have, on the contrary, prepared to stubbornly resist the enforcement of the President's proclamation. The latter statements are not credited. It is thought at the Interior and War Departments that the cattlemen are fully aware of the determination and ability of the Government to execute its orders. Whatever contest may be made in the courts they will have to follow the execution. No legal proceedings will stay the image of a rallied space to eject the heads and their cattle. It is said that the President informed the War Department of any necessity for military interference, but Gen. Miles has fully prepared to render whatever aid is required.

The force operating cannot reach no prompt solution. The cases of obstructions are now being individually investigated and reported back to the Interior for action. The at stop will probably be sent to the proper officers, the military authorities to act under the direction of the Interior Department in removing whatever fences the latter department may designate.

It is not the intention of the Secretary of the Interior to issue any general order in regard to the removal of fences from the public lands, but it has been determined to take action in the matter of fences on the speculiarity. It is believed better results will be thus obtained than from the general order, which would be looked upon as a proclamation bending upon no one in particular. The special agents of the Land Office are under instructions to report to the department all cases of illegal fencing, and instructions looking to the removal of the fences are promptly furnished for their guidance in such case. Where no agents are detailed the removal he is directed to do so, and when necessary the United States Marshals can be called upon through the Attorney General.

LEAVES BAD COMPANY.

A Prominent Ohio Republican Deserts His Party and Joins the Democratic Ranks,

Because the Republican Party Leaders Are Trying to Maintain a Barrier of Sectional Hate.

[Special to Detroit Free Press.]

The political sensation here is the publication of an authorized interview with Capt. P. H. Dowling, in which he renounces allegiance to the Republican party and anchors himself safely in the Democratic ranks. Capt. Dowling has always been one of the leading Republicans of the State, was Postmaster under Grant, receiver under Hayes, again Postmaster under Arthur, and one of the leaders of the larger faction of the Republican party in the State. Last June a Post reporter interviewed the Captain just after the Republican State Convention, with this result. He said:

"The platform is made up of a jumble of inconsistencies. The attempt to force a false issue by raising the cry that the party is in danger of a change of the administration of the affairs of the Government exhibits a degree of demagogism unparalleled in the history of the nation.

"I read in the Cleveland papers, the Democratic organ, that Gen. Grant, when he was lying at his bedside, said: 'Let the Confederate soldiers keep their guns.' Now, I know that Gen. Grant never said a silver thing.

"Claims for losses during the rebellion in the Southern Territory will exceed $5,000,000, and for the first eight months of the year at $25,000,000.

"Pedro Prestan, the leader of the revolutionists of Tamaula, who several months ago fired and destroyed the city of Tuloa, has been executed for the offense.

"It is stated that large amounts of money are being sent from the Canadian banks and that the bank of Montreal alone has between $5,000,000 and $10,000,000 which it finds difficult to place.

"A band of Indians from Sonora is reported to be committing serious depredations in the northwest part of Sebastian. The Mexican troops stationed in that department are too far from the scene of action for protection to be afforded safely in scouts employed by the United States.

"The recent anti-Chinese riot at Rock Springs, Wyoming Territory, was a much more serious affair than at first reported. Later advices from there report that 'the bodies of fifteen Chinamen have been discovered, and a many more are supposed to be concealed beneath the ruins of their burned cabins. The sanguinary Chinese army of whom were wounded are 500 in the hills, without food and afraid to venture out. Fifty houses belonging to the left shoulder and many more owned by Chinamen were destroyed. Two Warren has arrived at Green Springs, and then Howard has been appealed to for military assistance.' An Omaha dispatch gives some additional particulars of the riot.

"The mining camp was made up of two demons, women and children, the latter numbering by the same report the latter about one. The two demons have lived apart, and hatred of the latter has been the favorite sport of every opposite union. This volcanic condition of affairs has been the cause of the trouble. Rumors of trouble began to reach Omaha on the arrival of some idle new coalies the day previous, the rumors increased in size as the whole point. Shotguns and pistols were purchased, and late in the afternoon a presumptious a small was made on the Chinese quarter. The Chinese fled into the woods, hiring rapid and full, for in the air, and about any commands to fire at the time. Company Hollinshead and Lieutenant Mason and The lorch was applied to every house, and a fire was set to the Chinese quarter. The Chinese The inhabitants fled for the hills, pursued by the mob, firing volleys at the fugitives. The whites then proceeded to plunder the deserted dwellings, and finally burned the ashes of the burned towns. Every Chinaman left in the town is now in mortal fear.

"Gen. Grant never said a silver thing."

"Well, to make myself clear, and in order that there may be no misunderstanding, I will say that the Republican party of Ohio for several years past has been slowly drifting into the hands of men who have been using it to advance their own ends. Gen. Grant expressed my meaning when he said that he was in favor of the Republican party fighting during the war are doing the fighting now. Why, just look for a moment at the course of some of those men.

"The very fellows who were so demonized Grant, when he was lying all in his power to carry out the Reconstruction policy and secure a lasting settlement of affairs, are the men who have been the most rampant for a fight whenever they saw their own personal advancement decended upon it. Yet these are not the days when men are driven like cattle or led around with hooks in their noses, and the intelligent voters of Ohio are not going to be deceived into believing that another rebellion is brewing when the party are in vogue with a jubilee of peace and good-will."

"But, Captain, is there not a good deal of emotional sentiment in all this?"

"No, sir. The men who fought great battles, both North and South, are heartily in accord in desiring that the issues that have so long divided the country be forever buried. Trade and commerce, the development of a mighty country, all combine in asking for living legislation and a great national movement. For many years the platforms of the Republican party in both State and national, have contained a plank which has very properly pleased our vice, and yet when a man has been found who, like President Cleveland, takes vital the very principles that they have been maintaining they turn around and denounce him as an enemy of the Government. The truth is, that in one of those strange evolutions of American politics the Democratic party has swapped principles with the Republican party, and the Democratic Party is doing for the country to-day what would have been accomplished years ago had the professed principles of the Republican platforms been adhered to. It was just so after the revolutionary war when the Federalists and the Tories changed places entirely. The fact of it is, this is a democratic government, as Lincoln said, 'of the people, by the people, and for the people,' and if one set of men fail another set will be found to do the work.

"Captain, do you think there has been any real change? Has there not been a show of doing much, but in reality doing little?"

"I believe much has been done. President Cleveland's course as Governor of New York is simply being repeated on a grander scale as President. Every branch of the public service has profited by the reforms inaugurated, and the result will be the saving of millions of dollars to the people and a better civil service than has ever been seen in this country."

"Do you think the Republicans should have indorsed this administration?"

"That seems to be the drift of your conversation."

"I most certainly think the Republicans should have given President Cleveland full credit for the good work he has done. It has been for the best interests of the country as a whole, and for any particular party, faction or even the Democratic party as a separate organization. President Cleveland deserves the support of every thinking American citizen, irrespective of party, for what he's doing. Those who denounce him for recreant to the commonest principles of patriotic duty, and are going to be frightened with any bugbear or power. Holding the views I do, I most emphatically declare I march in the so-called Republican procession this fall. I cannot obey the commands of such leaders, and I most strenuously resist every effort they may put forth to subvert good government and exalt themselves at the expense of a vomited country."

Keeping His Pledges.

The New York Evening now hoots over the removal of Pinkerton's detectives and other Republican officials at New Orleans, alleging that the removals were "in defiance of the President's civil-service reform pledges." The trouble with the Evening is that it does not know what civil-service reform is. It imagines that it is a device to keep men in office, be they good, bad, or indifferent.

Since the close of the war the Federal offices at New York have been in the hands of Republican officials, and the aggregate of the salaries paid out of the Treasury of the city of New York has ranged from $25,000 to $30,000,000. Since President Cleveland has taken the helm of affairs a new theft of $25,000 in the subtreasury has just been discovered, and it would seem that the interests of the public in the civil service lies indeed a change in the manner of conducting the Federal business at that point. The specified and sure way to accomplish the desired end was by a change of officials, and the President went about it unhesitatingly.

The way to encompass civil-service reform is to sweep dishonest officials out of office. An honest journal would find no fault at the President's course under existing circumstances. Instead of condemning the refusal of his civil-service reform pledges" he is living up to the letter of them.—Omaha Herald.

William C. Whitney.

Charles A. Dana retrieves the Republican fire on Secretary Whitney with the following statement of what the country may be sure of in naval affairs:

"If the Chicago, Atlanta, and Boston are completed under the supervision of Secretary Whitney, and by men selected by him to do the work, the people of the United States may be sure of three things:

"The ships will be honestly built from this time out.

"The Government will make the best of what promised to be a very bad bargain.

"Mr. Roach will be fairly and justly treated in the matter.

"Such are the good results of having an honest, intelligent, and incorruptible man at the head of the Navy Department.

"Honest, intelligent, and incorruptible man," said as able a man as there is in the Cabinet.

The Buffalo Telegraph, the cheap and nasty little sheet that first printed the Dalton scandal in the last campaign, has suspended publication. Its sensation was a boomerang that killed it. Some of the other papers that polluted their columns with the vile calumnies, and thereby outraged the sanctity of decent homes, are not feeling very well either.

Boutwell, of Massachusetts, one of the most stalwart of stalwart politicians, says that President Cleveland "has made a favorable impression on the country by the course he has taken on his own party." Boutwell is a notable declaimer from the violent and irreconcilable partisans who see nothing but evil in this administration.

These Democrats who are "all torn up with disappointment" because, instead giving the fact away to anybody but Republican reporters, in their conventions in Iowa, Minnesota and Ohio they mite in cordial commendation of President Cleveland and his administration.

The really important issue in Ohio this year, so far as the rest of the country is concerned, is whether John Sherman shall continue in the Senate or be superseded by a Democrat. The struggle, so far as it bears on this question, will be watched with a great deal of interest.

MICHIGAN CONGRESSMEN.

Charles C. Comstock.

Charles Carter Comstock, of Grand Rapids, represents the Fifth District, composed of the counties of Allegan, Ionia, Kent, and Ottawa. He was born at Sullivan, Cheshire County, N. H., March 5, 1849, and has been a resident of Michigan thirty-one years. He was formerly a manufacturer of lumber, furniture, and wooden ware, but is now a lumberman and farmer. He was elected Mayor of Grand Rapids in 1883, and re-elected in 1884. He was a candidate for Governor of the State on the National Greenback ticket in 1879, and was a candidate for Congressman-at-large in 1872 and 1878, but was defeated in each case. In 1882 he was elected Congressman-at-large in Congress on the Fusion ticket, over John C. Fitzgerald, by a vote of 25,436 to 20,959 for Fitzgerald, Republican; and 2,849 for Wilson, C. Ashell, Prohibitionist.

E. B. Winnes.

Edwin B. Winnes, of Ionia, Montcalm, Livingston County, Representative in Congress from the Sixth District, comprising the counties of Clinton, Genesee, Ingham, Livingston, and Oakland, was born at Avon, N. Y., May 16, 1826, and removed with his parents to Michigan in 1834. He received his education in district schools and at Albion College. In the spring of 1850 he made the second trip to California, where he engaged in gold mining until 1858, when he returned and settled on his farm where he now lives. He has served two terms in the State Legislature, from 1861 to 1865, and one term as Judge of Probate of Livingston County. He is a member of the Episcopal Church. In politics he is a Democrat. He was elected Representative in the Forty-eighth Congress in 1882 on the Fusion ticket, by a vote of 18,246, to 18,484 for his Republican opponent, Oliver L. Spaulding, and 148 for the Prohibition ticket. In 1884 he was re-elected by a vote of 19,857 to 18,377 for James C. Wilson, Republican, and 2,445 for Leander C. Smith, Prohibitionist.

T. E. Tarsney.

The Eighth Congressional District of Michigan, embracing the counties of Grand Traverse, Antrim, Alcona, Montmorency, and Shiawassee, is represented by Timothy E. Tarsney, who was born at Romeo, Hillsdale County, Michigan, July 4, 1845. His father was a blacksmith and farmer. He received his education in the common schools in Hillsdale County until 15 years of age; he was the youngest of five brothers, the four eldest were soldiers in the Union army. In February, 1861, he went into the Government service on military railroads in Tennessee, and served to the close of the war. In the spring of 1873 he was elected Justice of the Peace, being the only candidate elected upon the Democratic ticket. He served as Justice until 1874, when he abandoned the business and engaged in the practice of law, which occupation he has been engaged in ever since. In 1880 he was a delegate to the National Democratic Convention, and was one term as Judge of Probate of Hillsdale County. He is a member of the Episcopal Church. In politics he is a Democrat. He was elected Representative in the Forty-eighth Congress in 1882 on the Fusion ticket, by a vote of 18,246, to 18,484 for his Republican opponent, Oliver L. Spaulding, and 148 for the Prohibition ticket. In 1884 he was re-elected by a vote of 18,857 to 18,377 for James C. Wilson, Republican, and 2,445 for Leander C. Smith, Prohibitionist.

"GIVE US YOUR MONEY!"

Passengers on an Alton Train Robbed by Four Half-Frightened Missouri Bandits.

But Small Sums Taken, the Desperadoes Apparently Being Very Much Hurried.

[Kansas City dispatch.]

A bold train-robbery occurred on the Chicago and Alton Railroad to-night, but owing to the sudden flight of the robbers the little booty was secured. As the westbound train on the way to the city left Blue Springs, twenty miles from here, about 9 o'clock, to-night, four masked men appeared at the smoking-car and were about to board it. A number of men, however, were standing on the platform, and the robbers passed to the end car in line, the rear. Three of them climbed upon the forward platform and the fourth got on at the rear. A man then mounted other two entered, and, with drawn revolvers, commanded the passengers to give up their money. A number of them handed over small amounts of change, while one man, in his excitement, passed out his purse, containing $23. The robbers took whatever was offered without searching the passengers, and made an attempt to rob them of jewelry. When the gang had reached the middle of the car they began suddenly shouting, and, pulling the bell-rope, the four robbers jumped off the road from the next telegraph station. The train then proceeded on its way to this city. The passengers on the other cars knew nothing of this incident until it was all over. There there was excitement among the timid, and many hastened to secure their valuables and prepare for a return of the robbers, even though all danger had passed. The passengers of the car that was robbed had scarcely time to realize what had occurred before the robbers had disappeared. The booty secured am

THE JOURNAL.

BY CHAS. J. STRANG.

CHARLEVOIX, - - MICHIGAN.

$131,150.00.

That is the Amount of Building Done in Charlevoix in Two Years.

Two years ago the JOURNAL gave a report of the new buildings for that year, and the intention was to follow it up each year about the same month. Failing last year, we kept the report, and present to-day the combined report of the two years. The report includes all buildings begun since Sept. 10, 1883, except those then reported.

In addition to the residences, F. J. Meech has the foundation complete for a very large house on the Upright addition. He is not certain that he will build this fall, consequently the estimate is not included.

In the matter of additions and improvements, no items of less than $100 are given, and it is possible that not all of this class have been noted. There were a great number of items between $50 and $100, and we think the total of miscellaneous improvements is low at $10,000. This year has been unusually quiet everywhere, but Charlevoix has maintained a healthy and very satisfactory growth. Next year will witness an increase of new buildings for ahead of anything in the past history of Charlevoix.

MANUFACTURING ESTABLISHMENTS
H. V. Kilbourne & Co., flour mill	$20,000
Charlevoix Manufacturing Co.	10,000
Geo. A. Lemmon & Co., bench handles	3,500
Henry Earth, boiler works	1,200
G. W. Smith, lapidary	200
PUBLIC BUILDINGS.
City Hall	$7,000
Roller Skating Rink	1,800
BANKS AND BROKERS.
Brown & Co., bank	$3,000
E. H. Green, store	2,500
Fox & Miller, boots and shoes	2,500
W. S. Johnson, boarding house	1,000
J. Milo Eaton, office	1,000
Wm. Ferguson, boarding house	1,000
Mrs. Emery, millinery	1,000
G. W. Jefferies, meat market	700
C. F. Wilcox, picture frames, etc.	300
NEW RESIDENCES.
A. V. Cook	$3,000
A. D. Crickenbank	2,500
Dr. Cronkhrite	2,500
J. S. Smithson, cottage	2,500
L. Sherman	2,000
Geo. S. Spalding	1,500
Wm. Lambdin	1,500
C. Pelton	900
L. Dupille	800
A. A. Emery	700
C. L. Wright	700
Ed Bagley	700
Ed Dennis	700
A. Leslie	600
C. W. Cook	600
A. Cook	600
Jos. Hyland	600
Geo. Baker	600
E. S. Hawkes	600
Thos. Nenham	600
Geo. Newman	600
Henry Cunningham	500
D. H. Franks	500
Copley Hook	500
John Sliter	500
H. C. Bacon	500
Luke Hallett	400
Miss Arbery	400
W. F. Cook, tenement	300
CHARLEVOIX RESORT.
Geo. Barnett, cottage	$1,500
A. L. Schring, cottage	1,000
Dining Hall	1,200
C. F. Bordens, cottage	1,200
J. H. Ring, cottage	1,200
C. F. H. McKay, cottage	1,200
D. Rosenwasser, cottage	800
W. H. Holden, cottage	700
Miss Green, cottage	600
F. C. Moore, improvements	500
Jas. Heaton, improvement	300
E. S. Abbott, improvements	150
Miscellaneous improvements	2,000
CHICAGO RESORT.
J. F. Wilson, cottage	$1,200
H. H. Blakefield, cottage	1,200
H. Bugas, cottage	1,000
A. B. Mead, cottage	1,000
Miscellaneous improvements	1,500
ADDITIONS AND IMPROVEMENTS.
Mrs. Gifford, wing	$300
G. W. Country, tenement	400
E. W. Kane, improvements	300
H. G. Edwards, wing	300
Miss Pope, wing	300
E. B. Hodge, improvements	200
A. J. McLeod, wing	200
A. H. Upright, improvements	200
Mrs. French, tenement	200
O. J. Wilcox, improvements	150
S. Ainslie, wing	150
J. Tipperson, wing	100
WAREHOUSES AND DOCKS.
Hayes & Co., bent's fishing house	$600
Jos. Bennett, three boat houses	300
L. D. Rathbonne, hardware warehouse	300
Crooks & Loomis, dock improvements	200
Ed Bedford, fish dock and ice house	100
TOTAL.
J. E. Upright	$800
John Meehan	200
W. A. Stevenson	200
Louis Gidley	100
RECAPITULATION.
Manufacturing establishments	$56,000
Public buildings	8,800
Business houses	43,000
Residences	19,600
Charlevoix resort	12,800
Chicago resort	6,900
Additions and improvements	3,000
Wharfs, docks and docks	1,700
Totals	1,300
Government work	10,000
Miscellaneous improvements	10,000
Total	$131,150

Notes and News.

A Grand Rapids woman gave birth to triplets three times in succession, and all boys.

The postmaster general gets around to Michigan occasionally. On Monday 23 fourth-class appointments were made.

President Cleveland returned to Washington on Monday, very much refreshed from his camp life in the Adirondacks.

The Tradesman states that P. T. Barnum originated and carried to success, thirty years ago, what is now commonly known as "boycotting."

Dr. James D. Munson, assistant superintendent of the Pontiac asylum has been selected as superintendent of the northern asylum at Traverse City.

Circulars No. 91, 92, and 93, relative to the prevention of communicable and contagious diseases, have been received from the state board of health.

The Elk Rapids iron company have received an order for 400 tons of chael iron to be shipped to England, probably the first iron of western manufacturing ever shipped from this country.

A. P. Swineford, governor of Alaska, writes a very interesting four col umn letter to the Mining Journal, from Victoria, B. C. The governor and his party missed the boat, and were compelled to wait two weeks for the next.

The Lake Superior Sentinel, published at L'Anse, Mich., comes to hand enlarged to a six column folio, and presents a clean face. It is printed on a new Allen press, and the copy before us is a good advertisement for the press.

On the occasion of its second anniversary, Sept. 24, the Detroit Journal issued an eight page paper, and for a supplement a fac simile of the Detroit Gazette, the first paper printed and published in Detroit and dated July 25, 1817. Under present management the Journal appears to be as prosperous a paper as any in the state.

Mrs. David Brown, wife of a business man of Petoskey, died in a dental chair about 4 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. Dr. Ferry, the dentist, administered a moderate amount of chloral, which, combined with predisposition to heart trouble, produced death. He had pulled 11 of her teeth, and she seemed to be recovering when she gasped suddenly, lay back and died. She was 27 years of age and leaves one child.

It is worthy of note that the contract for blankets for the asylum, about 700 pairs, has been awarded to Hamilton & Milliken, of Traverse City, and that these blankets are made at the mill of Butler Bros, at Acme, in this county, from wool sheared from sheep pastured in Grand Traverse county. There were eleven samples from different firms in different parts of the country. These samples were subjected to a severe test, being washed thoroughly four different times. The sample from the Acme Mills, offered by Hamilton & Milliken, proved to be far superior to any of the others, and the contract was awarded accordingly.—[Traverse Herald.

Political Reform.

Great reforms are demanded in our politics, notably the complete reform of the civil service. There is good prospect of the success of some of these measures, it only decent men of both parties will stand up for decency and praise it whenever they see it, encouraging and compensating the thorough enforcement of the laws, whichever party is in power. If these reforms fail, the blame will lie at the doors of those otherwise highly moral and reputable citizens who prefer the success of their party to the welfare of their country.—The Century for June.

It is indeed rather melancholy to be told that at the election for school trustee at Throg's Neck, Westchester county, last Wednesday, the woman voters of that wealthy and intellectual suburb actually threw their support to a saloon keeper and elevated him to the coveted position of trustee over a lawyer. The lawyer did not happen to be distasteful to the ladies for the reason that he had spoken disrespectfully of woman suffrage. Nothing of the kind. The saloon keeper was elected because the wives and sisters of the people who believe in saloons turned out and voted for their man with a vim. When the advocates of woman suffrage were in Albany framing and advocating the law under which women are permitted to vote for school trustees it was urged by them that the introduction of this element would improve the tone and character of the school boards of the state. Some of the aristocratic people at Throg's Neck are inclined to doubt this now.—World.

Improvements and additions recently made to Judge Ransdell's already luxurious home make it altogether the largest and most complete in all its appointments of any building of its kind in northern Michigan, if not in the state. As it now stands, its length is 125 feet, and breadth 56 feet. One-half of it is three stories. The basement alone is larger than most barns. To build it required 56 cords of stone. The main cellar is 52x34 feet, the canned fruit cellar 14x14, the ice house 14x26, the stable 56x56. Among other compartments of the building are a milk room through which flows constantly pure water from the hill springs, a large fruit packing room, a carpenter's shop, etc. Water from the springs is also conveyed to the stables, hen house, etc. A fire place in the main cellar furnishes facilities for cooking feed, or any other purpose required. A visit to this establishment will repay any one at all interested in farm matters.—Traverse Herald.

Posting the books goes on bravely, inconvenience with the pledge of the democratic party. We hear no grumbling about the count of the cash in the treasury being all right to a cent—republican surplus being merrily about the count of the cash in the treasury being all right to a cent—republican surplus being merrily about the count of the cash in the treasury being all right to a cent—republican surplus being merrily

NOTHING IS CHANGED.

BY ALMA SKEIE.

From Oxford at length I returned,
With head full of Blackstone and Coke;
My travel I met on the way,
With a smile and a consuming look.
How are they?
Said I, as we ventured the kiss,
Any chance to speak of?" quoth he:
"No, everything here is the same.

"But why is you pet curse and bite?"
I pouted with vexation, I met her own,
"He was over the line one to-gived,
The mean old Jackie; ay —
My dear sir,
Is the same to you,
Pardon the language, I pray,
"Oh, who and what is the matter? The knave!
I want to shiki mawr fine day?

"Alas! Twas needed killed the crow;
But when the old mare died, you see,
He ate too much oats" — "Great Scott!
My good old mare — dead — gone, it can't be?"
"Yes, sir, dead,
"Sir, sir" — dead.

While her tears are now whitening you nose;
She landed so sweet wuzzy, you know
When the old horse turned down, to be sure."

"Do the old horse can't gone, did you say?
Zounds! How did it happen? do tell!
Why, Bill, he was cautious, you s-s-s
The night Maser fell in the well."
"Master fell
In the well?
Not my father — Good heavens, not he!
Speak, man!" "Been on you mean
By master? It is pleasing to me."

"Yes, your father, dear sir; but don't fly.
I swear to you I'm not to blame."
"You was, he's been out of his mind
For some time past, I'm sorry to say;
Sometimes he's quite reasonable,
Mother is dead."
Speak, man!" "Mother dead? Why, what broke her heart?
"Why, your sister, you know, had eloped,
And then for New Orleans did start.

"Oh, would I had died ere this day!
So nothing has happened, you say?
My sire insane in body and mind,
While mother, this three months is dead;
Alas! I am undone!
And I am Crow!"
While my shame is the talk of the league;
And so, sir, I am happy to fly my sty"
"Sir, everything here is the same."

GOING A-FISHING.

BY LUKE BROWN.

Some people would rather stay at home and handle money than go fishing, but I am not so constructed. Money, of course, has occasional attractions, even to a man who lives mainly on moonshine; but there frequently comes a time when I am overcome with a desire to go where pollinated writers gurgle, and for a day or two relapse into barbarism and eat with my fingers. As Sam Jones says, I am down on parentoid diversities, but, brethren, I do love to fish. I never lasted a book in my life, if we run on the pin book period of existence; but for all that, I love to be in the shade on a hot day, and watch somebody else having good luck and a splendid time.

Any man who has the use of a brain that is always on the go, like a young chicken in quest of bugs, will find time not ing so lulls it into the lady calm of perfect repose, so necessary at occasional intervals to retain vigital health, as reclining in a hammock in the breezy shade on a hot day and watching somebody trying to catch fish. The eyes may remain open, and the body wide awake, but mind will slumber, and when aroused to duty afterward it will spring up refreshed.

One of the ways to get all the enjoyment of the circus, without the crowd and bad treats you are subjected to endure in order to harvest hilarity under canvas, is to make up a little party of friends, and go forth in picnic style to spend a day killing mosquitoes and eating pickles and jelly on the bank of some placid stream, where it meanders through a forest which drapes the earth in cooling shadows so intense that ants on the locust are not observed.

I have in mind an occasion of that kind which occurred this season. A small party of kindred spirits was made up, and a day appointed for the picnic. It was agreed that everybody should take something, so I took a camp rot and a jug, in addition to a fly lemonade before starting. Others, more keen sighted, took substantials that came handy in the course of the day, but nobody had the foresight to think of bait. Bait is the ailirement placed on the hook to induce the fish to do it, and it is a matter of some consequence, if you expect to have good luck and catch many fish, though some are foolish enough to bite at the bare hook, so you sometimes see people do in real life. My wife took a freezer of ice cream, a jug of milk, and every precaution to get her antidotes to the rendezvous in safety. She also took a lady guest from the city who was afraid of snakes and something of a gusher on poetry. It might also be remarked that she had a good mouth for pie and abhorred a pig.

We started early. My costume was cool but impressive. It consisted largely of blue cotton pantaloons, straw hat, and a shirt without a collar. I also wore a cigar the greater part of the time, in order to frighten the blue goggles which are my constant stay and comfort in hot weather. The women were dressed with scrupulous care in Mother Hubards, wide-brimmed hats, and full-grown unfeasibles. Our corpse for the time was a limbering spring wagon, drawn by a horse who resembled myself in one market particular. He was fond of the shade, and narrowly escaped spending the wagon several times in his frantic efforts to get to it when we passed a tree by the roadside.

Immediately on leaving home my wife began to enjoy herself and add to the pleasure of the company—which was myself and the woman who abhorred snakes—by worrying about the cream and its chance of getting there in anything short of a sloppy condition. It is a peculiarity of this good woman to take an interest in everything she has to bring the water the boiling point. Everybody stood around watching the coffee and wondering why journey was about six miles, and from noteless out on the wagon-box by way of memoranda—for I like to be accurate about such matters for the sake of argument afterward—I discover that I was obliged to stop, alight, and overhaul the tub in which the freezer and jug of milk were packed in the fragrant of an unbroken and so insignificant size, fifty-three consecutive times, in response to the calls of that woman's abnormal zeal toward promoting the pleasure of the party in the sizzing hours of the day. About the time I would get back into the wagon and become comfortably fixed in my seat, she would begin to frood on terrible consequences sure to happen a little further along, and it wouldn't be a minute until she would be about ready to break down with prostrated that the cork had already come out of the jug. So I would have to climb down again, and prove by personal observation that she was wrong, as is generally the case in the clash of intellect between man and wife. Lost it was not until we finally drove into camp, and she had satisfied herself by overhauling the cooling apparatus in person that my numerously repeated statements were correct as usual, that anything like tranquility of mind or placidity of demeanor was possible to the woman who had such an important responsibility resting on her delicate shoulders.

Most of the party were equipped with poles and lines, and expected to slip a hook for the fins of the fish, but the men had come to fish in the literal meaning of the term, and forget speaking an hour in scouring the country in search of bait, they secured a limited supply, and, finding a place where the sun could pour down on them without hindrance, they sat on their hooks and commenced business in scientific earnest.

I took a position on my cot in the thickest shade I could find, and prepared to enjoy myself without unnecessary fatigue. In fifteen minutes the camp was thrown into most intense excitement. The red headed man had a bite! Everybody held his breath and stood on tiptoe to wait the result. It wished their pounds, according to a rumor that diffuses itself through the community next day, but if you insist on scriptural accuracy in such matters, drake by three and let it go at that. Of course the lucky man was not troubled with solitude for some time afterward. Everybody else brought his pole and got as close to him as possible. His society was in demand from that moment, but he lost his luck and his jaw dropped until the wilted-faced man's cork began to bob. The crowd then went over to him in a body, and his hopes revived a little. The man with the dancing ruglets pulled out a color lass, and the crowd standed back to him. The wilted man readjusted his hat, spit on his hook, tossed it back into the water, and sat motionless for two hours.

But as I was beginning to feel myself become an angel bandit to the land of dreams, a new diversion aroused me. It was a female shriek of most robust amplitude and unmistakable earnestness, followed by a rush of air near me, and a resounding splash in the water that threw a cloud of spray several rods into the air. Ever since I have shriek is something to which I generally pay more or less attention, depending somewhat as to when the shrieking may happen to be. When it happens to be the companion of my wives, as it generally is, I never excite myself with precipitate rashness. I take things cool and look around for something on which to base a conjecture before sweating myself without urgent cause. When a man has had his blood brought to a stand still more time than a sexagenarian tortoise can, by a wail from the wife of his bosom over nothing more terrible than the unexpected appearance of a spider, or at most a mouse, he will learn to keep his coat on and wait for developments of a more dreadful nature. When the screamer is young and fair, and has taffy-colored hair langed in two just the smallest fragment of something else, saying all the while how dreadfully scaggy her own calse is, as she knew it would be, and that there was a dozen times before they started, she knew it would be, and that everybody else's pleasure, and what a shame it is she should have spoiled her best dress in spite of all my efforts in its behalf, but a moment later I see that I was mistaken. The gusher from the city had sat down on a log and was trying to compose a poem to nature when she espied a small snake, and at once became so demoralized with fear that she instantly become as crazy as her own poetry, and jumped into the river for want of knowing what else to do. Being the only man in the party at least one at that moment, of course I had to jump in and pull her out. The couple son of the poetess and myself were most were a good deal the worse for the ducking, but it took all the nonsense out of her for the remainder of the day, and I had reason to feel grateful to the serpent who had slaughtered the name for the disguised woman had somehow become impressed with the delusion that I was a great lady lover. Her admiration was rattling in their strategic efforts to pull in compliments, but most of my spare time was taken up in listening to the reading of her own and, sweet melodies.

By time time the solemn-faced man came into camp, loaded at a dinner basket and a jug. Whether he had had been previously agreed upon or not, I don't know, but at all events the women took the hint and began to spread out the dinner, having some time before commenced the preparation of coffee on a small coal-oil stove in a very large boiler. The stove had to be discarded from the start at the size of the job, and took its own time to bring the water to the boiling point. Everybody stood around watching the coffee and wondering why it didn't boil. I suggested that matters might be hurried a little by hanging the boiler on the limb of a tree and getting the red-haired man to stand under it, but he didn't seem to take kindly to the proposition and it was not adopted. When it was discovered that the light in the stove had died out probably an hour before and something had put a chunk of ice in the boiler, the wisdom of my view was at once apparent. It was also strongly intimated in the course of investigation by the revelation that the stove was like the lamp of a foolish virgin, and no one had thought to bring a cruse of oil for its encouragement. An old-fashioned fire was then set going by the sad-eyed man, who had served in the army and knew more about cooking than his own mother or anybody else's wife, and in a very little while the odor of good cheer pervaded the camp. The table was spread on the ground, and we sputted about it in a mental daze.

If you don't believe that there is misery in the world, next favorable opportunity, go with him to a picnic to watch him eat. The bottled-up miseries of a thousand generations of life in cave and forest break out in him then, and for the time the polish of education is observed. He can't eat a fly for appearances, and has no use for a knife and fork. He dives in with both hands, and keeps his mouth too full to talk until everything in reach has disappeared and then he begins to forage on adjacent territory, and steals pie from the near-sighted woman at his elbow. If you think I am a fool for speaking of my triumphs in that manner, and I wanted to picture famine in permanent form, I was relying on the kind that had seen the world in rags, and a most chicken in one hand, a little of everything else in the other, and a good deal of miscellaneous nutriment piled up in front of him, as and was with a stony stare straight ahead, and pass going it like a quartz-crusher in a busy season. The picture will long decorp a well-lighted nook in memory as about the most energetic tableau of emptiness I ever stumbled against. I very much doubt whether the sadness man would have quit eating chicken at that minute to listen to good preaching.

The red-haired man was also busy, but his face contained rather too much of sunlight to make him available for allegorical purposes of a dreadful character. Though he probably manfed to consume more than any other man in the party, he keeps his order than any one else in the party. He did not stand on any pretensions in the sight of him as he did it. He looked as if he enjoyed the feast, and didn't act as though he was doing it on a bet, but managed somehow to keep his conscience easy and his stomach from groaning at the same time. He ate cautiously at first, as if afraid of a harried operation. If you want to have a good time at a picnic, you will look upon the red-haired man and follow along.

A woman is always a woman, but more especially so at a picnic dinner. In the unequal race of life the fragile creature may not be able to hold her own at all times, but she does it at most times, no matter where she is or who is present. I don't mean to say that she gets her full share of the good things, in many cases of the word, but she maintains the characteristics of her sex, and never for one instant forgets that she is dressed in petticoats. When a man goes to the companion of his wives, as it generally is, I never excite myself with precipitate rashness. I take things cool and look around for something on which to base a conjecture before sweating myself without urgent cause. When a man has had his blood brought to a stand still more time than a sexagenarian tortoise can, by a wail from the wife of his bosom over nothing more terrible than the unexpected appearance of a spider, or at most a mouse, he will learn to keep his coat on and wait for developments of a more dreadful nature. When the screamer is young and fair, and has taffy-colored hair langed in two just the smallest fragment of something else, saying all the while how dreadfully scaggy her own calse is, as she knew it would be, and that there was a dozen times before they started, she knew it would be, and that everybody else's pleasure, and what a shame it is she should have spoiled her best dress in spite of all my efforts in its behalf, but a moment later I see that I was mistaken. The gusher from the city had sat down on a log and was trying to compose a poem to nature when she espied a small snake, and at once became so demoralized with fear that she instantly become as crazy as her own poetry, and jumped into the river for want of knowing what else to do. Being the only man in the party at least one at that moment, of course I had to jump in and pull her out. The couple son of the poetess and myself were most were a good deal the worse for the ducking, but it took all the nonsense out of her for the remainder of the day, and I had reason to feel grateful to the serpent who had slaughtered the name for the disguised woman had somehow become impressed with the delusion that I was a great lady lover. Her admiration was rattling in their strategic efforts to pull in compliments, but most of my spare time was taken up in listening to the reading of her own and, sweet melodies.

By time time the solemn-faced man came into camp, loaded at a dinner basket and a jug. Whether he had had been previously agreed upon or not, I don't know, but at all events the women took the hint and began to spread out the dinner, having some time before commenced the preparation of coffee on a small coal-oil stove in a very large boiler. The stove had to be discarded from the start at the size of the job, and took its own time to bring the water the boiling point. Everybody stood around watching the coffee and wondering why

A VICTIM OF BUNKO.

An Aged Philadelphian Beaten Out of $9,500 at Atlantic City, N. J., by a Sharper.

(Atlantic City (N. J.) special.

Charles Field, Sr., who is over 80 years of age and who has been in business in Philadelphia for over fifty years, was victimized out of $9,500 by a brace of bunko men in Atlantic City. Mr. Field came down to the city last week for a quiet rest. In the afternoon he took a stroll after dinner, and met a young man of good address, who, after a courteous hat-shaking, stated that he was an old friend of the Philadelphian, adding that he had been a clerk in the Penn National Bank, and since his resignat ion had been abroad. He had brought several fine pictures from Europe, which he would be pleased to have Mr. Field inspect. Mr. Field, having nothing else to do, went with the young man, who entertained him with stories of the sights he saw across the water. They were finally received by a stout woman, and were ushered into the office—the art emporium, as his friend called it. Here he was introduced to a mass plaster of a friend, with numbers on it, and with a spread eagle, reasonably a great board. Two other gentlemen were introduced, and they placed the little game, each winning over $100. Mr. Field was invited to join them, and he lost over $100. He continued to play, limit of solid stones. The more he won, the more kept Mr. Field interested by talking over the affairs of the bank and dissertings and investments. After playing some time the bunko men coolly asked the old gentleman for his check for $9,500, drawn to himself; as the collateral for a good price he had down on the sweet board. Thinking that the bunko men had been paid, he made out the check and handed it to the stout woman, who, as he took her hand in farewell, pressed it and whispered to him, and for the time the polish of education is observed. He then went a fly for appearances, and has no use for a knife and fork. He dives in with both hands, and keeps his mouth too full to talk until everything in reach has disappeared and then he begins to forage on adjacent territory, and steals pie from the near-sighted woman at his elbow. If you think I am a fool for speaking of my triumphs in that manner, and I wanted to picture famine in permanent form, I was relying on the kind that had seen the world in rags, and a most chicken in one hand, a little of everything else in the other, and a good deal of miscellaneous nutriment piled up in front of him, as and was with a stony stare straight ahead, and pass going it like a quartz-crusher in a busy season. The picture will long decorp a well-lighted nook in memory as about the most energetic tableau of emptiness I ever stumbled against. I very much doubt whether the sadness man would have quit eating chicken at that minute to listen to good preaching.

The red-haired man was also busy, but his face contained rather too much of sunlight to make him available for allegorical purposes of a dreadful character. Though he probably manfed to consume more than any other man in the party, he keeps his order than any one else in the party. He did not stand on any pretensions in the sight of him as he did it. He looked as if he enjoyed the feast, and didn't act as though he was doing it on a bet, but managed somehow to keep his conscience easy and his stomach from groaning at the same time. He ate cautiously at first, as if afraid of a harried operation. If you want to have a good time at a picnic, you will look upon the red-haired man and follow along.

A woman is always a woman, but more especially so at a picnic dinner. In the unequal race of life the fragile creature may not be able to hold her own at all times, but she does it at most times, no matter where she is or who is present. I don't mean to say that she gets her full share of the good things, in many cases of the word, but she maintains the characteristics of her sex, and never for one instant forgets that she is dressed in petticoats. When a man goes to the companion of his wives, as it generally is, I never excite myself with precipitate rashness. I take things cool and look around for something on which to base a conjecture before sweating myself without urgent cause. When a man has had his blood brought to a stand still more time than a sexagenarian tortoise can, by a wail from the wife of his bosom over nothing more terrible than the unexpected appearance of a spider, or at most a mouse, he will learn to keep his coat on and wait for developments of a more dreadful nature. When the screamer is young and fair, and has taffy-colored hair langed in two just the smallest fragment of something else, saying all the while how dreadfully scaggy her own calse is, as she knew it would be, and that there was a dozen times before they started, she knew it would be, and that everybody else's pleasure, and what a shame it is she should have spoiled her best dress in spite of all my efforts in its behalf, but a moment later I see that I was mistaken. The gusher from the city had sat down on a log and was trying to compose a poem to nature when she espied a small snake, and at once became so demoralized with fear that she instantly become as crazy as her own poetry, and jumped into the river for want of knowing what else to do. Being the only man in the party at least one at that moment, of course I had to jump in and pull her out. The couple son of the poetess and myself were most were a good deal the worse for the ducking, but it took all the nonsense out of her for the remainder of the day, and I had reason to feel grateful to the serpent who had slaughtered the name for the disguised woman had somehow become impressed with the delusion that I was a great lady lover. Her admiration was rattling in their strategic efforts to pull in compliments, but most of my spare time was taken up in listening to the reading of her own and, sweet melodies.

By time time the solemn-faced man came into camp, loaded at a dinner basket and a jug. Whether he had had been previously agreed upon or not, I don't know, but at all events the women took the hint and began to spread out the dinner, having some time before commenced the preparation of coffee on a small coal-oil stove in a very large boiler. The stove had to be discarded from the start at the size of the job, and took its own time to bring the water the boiling point. Everybody stood around watching the coffee and wondering why

NATIONAL FINANCES.

A Summary of the Monthly Public Debt Statement for August.

The following is a recapitulation of the statement issued on the 1st instant (now form):

Interest bearing debt—
Funded at 1 per cent	$250,000,000.00
Funded at 4 per cent	711,689,100
Funded at 5 per cent	191,090,000
Refunding certificates at 4 per cent	2,000,000
Navy pension fund at 1 per cent	14,000,000
Pacific Railroad bonds at 6 per cent	64,623,512.00
Principal	1,295,720,512.00
Interest	24,874,356
Total	$1,271,846,156
Debt bearing no interest—
Old demand and legal-tender notes	$346,738,946.00
Certificates of deposit	15,980,000
Gold certificates	125,985,540
Silver certificates	26,379,356.00
Fractional currency (less $8,375,000 estimated as lost or destroyed)	6,964,191.44
Principal	$516,529,034.44
Debt on which interest has ceased since maturity—
Principal	$3,931,760.20
Interest	59,296.80
Total	$3,991,057
Total debt	$1,792,366,247.44
Principal	$1,779,375,512.00
Interest	24,933,652
Total	$1,804,309,164
Less cash items available for reduction of the debt	$26,764,283.73
Less United States notes held for redemption of United States notes	10,000,000.00
Total	$36,764,283.73
Less gold reserve	$100,000,000.00
Less outstanding checks and other demand liabilities	3,000,000
Total	$103,000,000
Total available for reduction of the debt	$36,764,283.73
Less fractional currency (less estimated lost or destroyed)	6,964,191.44
Less United States notes held for redemption of United States notes	10,000,000.00
Total	$19,799,892.29
Total debt less available cash items	$1,792,366,247.44
Less total available cash items	19,799,892.29
Total debt less cash in Treasury, Sept. 1, 1885	$1,772,566,355.15
Total debt less cash in Treasury, Aug. 1, 1885	1,776,212,209.02
Decrease of debt during the month according to the statement	$3,645,853.87
Cash in the Treasury, Sept. 1, 1885, as per the statement of the public debt, viz: Gold held for gold certificates actually outstanding	$125,985,540.00
Silver held for silver certificates actually outstanding	26,379,356.00
United States notes held for redemption of United States notes	10,000,000.00
Gold reserve held for outstanding demand liabilities	100,000,000.00
Fractional currency	3,964,191
Total available for reduction of the debt	$266,329,103.77
Less outstanding checks and other demand liabilities	3,000,000.00
Total	$263,329,103.77
Less gold reserve	100,000,000.00
Total	$163,329,103.77
Less fractional currency (less estimated lost or destroyed)	6,964,191.44
Less United States notes held for redemption of United States notes	10,000,000.00
Total	$146,364,912.33
Less outstanding checks and other demand liabilities	3,000,000
Net cash balance on hand	$143,364,912.33
Total cash in Treasury, as shown by Treasurer's general account	$192,905,323.23

UNDER THE KNIFE.

A Wonderful Surgical Operation in New York.

(New York special.)

A remarkable operation was performed at the Charity Hospital in this city to-day. Mrs. Ann Curry, a widow, aged about fifty, suffered for two years with malignant cancer of the abdomen. She was induced to enter the Charity Hospital recently, where she was visited by Dr. Thomas H. Allen. When told that an operation from the effects of which no patient has ever recovered—and only three left the operating table—was the best chance of life, Mrs. Curry announced her will unless to take the risk rather than live longer in such misery. The operation was performed this afternoon by Dr. Allen and a several well-known New York surgeons. The patient was placed under the influence of ether, and Dr. Allen made a long incision through the abdomen, from the pit of the stomach to the navel, and the intestines laid the accessible. Nothing was found to indicate the presence of the cancer, and it was thought that it had spread to the bladder and several surrounding organs had been attacked by the poison of the disease. These had to be scraped until all the tissues were free from the cancer. The work was finished in a few minutes, and the wound in the stomach was drawn together and sewed up with a fine silver wire. These stitches were afterward supplemented with other of output. The cancer weighed nearly twelve ounces. Mrs. Curry was taken to her room in safety, and all dangers of a fatal shock were removed. Dr. Allen said that it was hardly possible for the patient to recover, but he had great hopes that the operation would prove successful.

THE OFFICES.

Positive Appointments Made by the Administration—Some Of Them Perhaps. (Washington telegram.)

The Appointment Clerk of the Postoffice Department has made a complete and accurate schedule by States of the Presidential and fourth-class appointments made by Mr. Cleveland, as follows:

	Presidential	4th cl.	Presidential	4th cl.
Alabama	13	121	Mississippi	20	96
Arkansas	8	60	Missouri	17	31
Arizona	1	4	Nebraska	3	7
California	8	72	Nevada	1	4
Colorado	1	4	New Hampshire	4	10
Connecticut	4	9	New Jersey	7	7
Dakota	2	6	New York	36	57
Delaware	1	4	North Carolina	11	92
Florida	2	9	Ohio	22	31
Georgia	15	108	Oregon	1	4
Illinois	21	73	Pennsylvania	30	57
Indiana	15	72	Rhode Island	2	2
Iowa	11	37	South Carolina	9	77
Kansas	7	12	Tennessee	12	92
Kentucky	13	91	Texas	16	91
Louisiana	8	12	Utah	1	4
Maine	4	10	Vermont	3	7
Maryland	8	19	Virginia	16	91
Mass	8	24	Wisconsin	12	37
Michigan	11	37	Washington	1	4
Minnesota	7	46	Total	274	1,700
Montana	1	4

As the total number of postoffices such as Presidential is the average of filling is 2,342, it will be seen that now? one-fourth of the increase have been filled and over one-eighth of the fourth-class offices have been doled out.

"A Little Child Shall Lead Them."

Puck's Sun: A few months since a half dozen newspaper men were sitting in the cosy rooms of the Chicago Press Club, talking of things connected with their business, and changes that had taken place in the last decade, when one of the editors turned to a middle-aged man whose hair was decidedly red, but who had so much left to show, and said:

"Let the greatest change of all has come over this dade, boys. Ten or a dozen years ago he was one of the reddest writers in the West, always warming it to a hilarious money or anybody who was prominent. The paper he edited was a chronic grumbler, never could see any good in anybody, and to day he is publishing a successful paper which is full of the greatest kindness to all the people, and never says a thing that could offend the most fastidious. I have often wondered what made the change. Speak out, old man, and tell us."

The rest of the crowd insisted on hearing what had caused the change, as the surprised editor said, after lighting a cigar:

"Well, boys, if you insist on it, here goes. Everything about our place was asked me what has caused the change in our style of writing. I have said that I found the new way was the most economical. That is true, but that is not the cause of the change. As you well know, my early editorial experience was of a sensational nature. I was employed by three of the papers in Boston in making enemies by saying mean things and when I went to Chicago I found the habit followed me. I knew I could write on mean things as easily as I could write on good things, but I delight was to have some other newspaper cold into me. I had a chip on my shoulder constantly, to speak figurative ly, and was acting for some one to knock it off, or tread on the foot of my editorial corn. To think of it now, I and have blush at the thought that Alecks was read about. It was not safe for an editor to allude to me in his paper, for I would say something mean or sarcastic that would make him my enemy. I plotted in quiet, and I was on the alert for an editorial convention half a dozen times a year, so that I could meet with me. In the town I was living in my editors were all for the cars and wouldn't recognize each other on the street if it was a constant fight, and the idea who made a proposition about over the way, or the feeble-minded lunatic who, in his own opinion, contracts to pay his bills, was considered by me and my kind as a sign of insanity, etc. Life was one continual round of newspaper quarrels, and I don't believe I had a friend in the profession, unless it was somebody I was going to meet in a general alone. One day my little Bessie died, and I was taken home sick, and for a week I was constantly talking in delirium, and those I would mainly have alone with me. Finally I said I would took the little one away, and I was conducted to the house, and during the interval between the death and the funeral I thought over my course, and less sense I could have pursued than I could have given the world it I would have reached out my hand to anyone I had sat of my neighbors, and I forgiven everything that had been said about me. The day of the funeral I had up a paper published by one of my friends, and there was such a number of notes of the death of my baby that I said have dragged "the idiot who ran the opposition sheet." I felt as if life attacks but would convey the impression that the editor was my dear brother, and there was a wealth of sorrow and affection in every expressed for those who had been my enemies. Some of my editors I had abused, spoke in even more kindly terms, and I felt as if I had occurred there were three of the men to whom I had been the most, acting as pallbearers, and I felt as if they conveying the body of my baby to the dead. At the close of the service they all shook hands with me, and there were genuine tears in their eyes as they saw my agony. I felt as if their hands, harder than I ever pressed before, hands before or since, they knew better than I could have told them that I had unmoodly had entirely passed out of my heart, and that I was their friend forever after. When I could do so without breaking down completely, I called upon them, and though nothing was said about the past, they knew and I knew that my work as a newspaper fiend was over. From that day, gentlemen, I have tried never to write an article that would cause pain to any man, woman or child on the face of God's green earth. I have made many mistakes in the years that have passed since the day that my journalistic enemies lowered the body of my baby into the grave, have written much that would amuse, but never a word that would harm, or cause a heart-ache, or make any person feel sad or blue. Now, instead of enemies everywhere I am world friends everywhere. I have friends among all the people that I meet, from little children to the gray haired fathers and mothers, and that I find of literature pays, because it has brought me only freedom from money in plenty. Now, there are no persons I hesitate to meet and greet than the idiots and demoralized lunatics, the blind alleged papers over the way. That is the only change in my style, the death of my baby, and the kindness I received at the hands of those I had abused." And the red-haired man lit his cigar, which had gone out, and went out onto Clark street, thinking deeply, leaving the other editors with tears in their eyes, also thinking deeply.

If the legs are not hollow, why is it they get drunk so easily?

The Epidemic of Crime.

Whence comes this epidemic of suicides and murders? Recent discussions have caused several replies. Hon. C. H. Brown, of Indiana, charges it to bonkerismo—holding that hopelessness of a future state engrafts fortitude for bearing life's ills. Another depression the cause. A third writer attributes it to increasing insanity. A physician blinks much of the tendency is inherited, upon strong grounds. The popular Free-thinkers have committed suicide, but we have orthodox churchmen. Immortal wrecks have been scarcely, but the world may have taken their life.

Insanity and dissipation have preceded suicide and family murders.

One feature common to almost every such crime engages attention. Without exception the suicides and family murder mentions, have subjected to dosing "for some time" by medical men. Whence comes this? Are medical authorities not always kindled for a "consultation" in time; their good digestions impossible without pure blood, and pure blood is never made when the liver and kidneys are out of order. Under such circumstances, the Liver should be stimulated, and for this purpose no cathartic is so energetic—at least commended by the best authorities in the land, and is especially commended by the celebrated Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery.

The City of Scoul, Corea.

This place looms up before you with high towers in Chinese style pierced by gates, and the city is surrounded by a wall twenty-five feet in height, and one hundred in length. You may think you are about to enter some grand city with stately abodes, but on passing through the gate you find only thatched cottages, very wide streets, and everything looks so open and spacious that surprised that so grand a wall should be thought necessary to protect so insignificant a place. In the broad, open spaces called market places are groups of darkies laden with vegetables, and bullocks almost covered out of sight with loads of brushwood to be used as fuel. Along the little brooks which run through the city are washerwomen with their clothes-lines. The Coreans build their houses by erecting four pillars or posts at the corners, and filling in the walls with mud. The better houses of the wealthy are faced with stone, painted with ceramics. Though these are better in quality than those of the poor, they are cast in the same style. You enter a house through a sliding door or window about three feet high, consisting of a light wooden frame work papered over to exclude the cold and admit the light. There is no good houses a veranda upon which the slaves of the inmates and visitors are left while they enter. In this city custom the Coreans resemble the Japanese; but the hollow space under the floor of the house, which is filled in with warm air, reminds you of the Chinese.

Grant and Stephens.

The following story is credited to Gen. Grant: It is said that when the famous Peace Commission called on Grant and President Lincoln, in Virginia, he saw Alexander H. Stephens for the first time. He had often heard much of the brilliant statesman, and had supposed him to be a very little man, and on seeing him in company with the other Commissioners he thought him astonishingly big. Stephens wore a huge overcoat, made of some rude material—coarser, the General said, than any American cloth he had ever seen. The collar was more comprehensive than any he had come across, the tails flowing long, gracious, and the circumference was in keeping with the rest of the garment. Stephens was a little man, and there was no sacrifice she would not make for his content and comfort. The man who loves her will be her king and king. No less a hero to her, though he may be, than Napoleon was a king, though his only kingdom is her heart and home. If it is man's own fault if he is no king, his wife will be, in nine cases out of ten. It is a very exceptional case where she will not be all she can to an attentive husband, and a very accommodating one who will not be very disagreeable if she found herself willfully neglected.—Alabama Baptist.

"I have sold hundreds, I might almost say thousands, of lots to Germans," said a Dallas real-estate man, "and I never met one significant fact: The moment a German takes to farming he's gone. He may swallow beer, ale, and whisky enough to float a boat, and yet pull through and pay for his lot, but put him on a farm and he will fly him only. When a whisky-drinking Dutchman is to deal with me I say 'No' with an emphasis that makes his teeth rattle."

Our Progress.

As stages are quickly of a school of with the completion of railroads, so the quacks, the cathartic pills, compound of crude and bulky drugs, which have so long been the stock in trade of the quacks, are being rapidly displaced by the introduction of Dr. Pierce's "Pleasant Purgative." Unlike the old-fashioned pills, these are little larger than mustard seeds, but contain the virtues of a dozen of the old-fashioned pills, in highly concentrated vegetable extracts, by druggists.

The new Government building in Philadelphia, which is to be a magnificent structure, is probably.

Sufferers from one of severe coughs, weak lungs, spitting of blood, and the many stages of Consumption, Dr. Pierce's "Golden Medical Discovery" has astonished the medical faculty. Unlike the cures by scrofula, it strengthens the system and performs the blood. Recommended by druggists.

Our 10 hundredth man—There'll be no meeting there.—The Judge.

Consumption Incurable.

When you visit or leave New York City, save luggage Expense and carriage fees, and stop at the Grand Union Hotel, opposite Grand Central Depot, on elegant cars lifted up at cost of one million dollars, reduced to $1 and upwards. Elegant rooms, $1 and upwards. Restaurant supplied with the best. Horse cars, stages, and elevated railroad to all depots. Hotel cars, ever better for less money at the Grand Union Hotel. Opposite Grand Central Depot.

A Sharper commonly—where the spoon properly—Boston Bean.

A hundred diseases may proceed from one sources, a disorder or debilitated stomach. No human being can be healthy when digestion is deranged. Take the cause, cash and liver, and regulate the bowels with Dr. Walker's Vinegar Bitters. Liver, kidneys, and the work of assimilation and excretion, are regulated by a perfectly healthy digestion and a proper flow of bile, is insured when Walker's Vinegar Bitters are used, and a prompt discharge of all waste matter from the system.

Straws show which way the mind-jobs goes.

"Pan-ago" at the Gault House.

The business man or tourist will find treatment—consultations at the new price of $1 and $2.50 per day at the Gault House, Chicago, corner Clinton and Madison streets. This fire-damaged hotel is located in the center of the city, only one block from the Union Depot. Elevator; all appointments first-class.

HUNT & SAYLES, Proprietors.

For nervousness, sleeplessness, depression of spirits, and general debility in their various forms: also, as a preventive against fever and ague, and other intermittent fevers, use the "Peruvian Plantation Bitters." Prepared only by Dr. Jaynes, Philadelphia, Pa., and sold by all druggists, in the best medicine and for patients recovering from fever or other sickness it has no equal.

The Frazer Axle Grease is better and lasts less any other at double the price.

If afflicted with Sore Eyes, use Dr. Isaac Thompson's Eye Water. Druggists sell it. 25c.

Eye colds, fevers, and inflammatory attacks, as well as for cholera morbus, diarrhea, dysentery, or bloody flux, colic, or cramps in stomach, use Dr. Pierce's Extract of Smart Weed, compound of best Brandy, Smart Weed, or Water Pepper, Jamaica Ginger, and Camphor Water.

Managers of Congress have a frank way about them.—Texas Siftings.

RED STAR
TRADE MARK
COUGH CURE
Absolutely Free from Opiates, Emetics and Poisons.
A PROMPT, SAFE, SURE CURE
For Coughs, Sore Throat, Hoarseness, Influenza, Colds, Bronchitis, Croup, Whooping Cough, Asthma, Consumption, Pain in Chest, and other Throat and Lung Troubles.
Price 50 cents a bottle. Sold by all druggists and dealers in medicine. If your druggist does not keep it, send to us and we will forward you a bottle, Express charges paid, on receipt of price.
RED STAR & VOLTA COUPLE,
Sole Owners of Medicine,
BALTIMORE, MD., U. S. A.

VINEGAR BITTERS
VINEGAR BITTERS

Vinegar Bitters, a purgative, tonic, and alterative, combining the properties of the best bitters known, and the best vinegar ever used.

Vinegar Bitters is the best remedy yet discovered for purifying the blood, and for all diseases arising from the vitiated or impoverished condition of the blood.

HAY-FEVER
CATARRH
ELY'S CREAM BALM
CATARRH
HAY-FEVER
ELY'S CREAM BALM

DO NOT FORGET
Perry Davis' Pain Killer

Price, 25 cts., 50 cts., and $1.00. SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS.

OPIUM Morphine Habit Cured in 10 to 20 days. No pay till cured. DR. J. STEPHENS, Lebanon, Ohio.

FREE HOW TO RAISE WHEAT. Write for free copy of Spring Wheat Killing, and Winter Wheat Raising. Address, D. M. FERRY & CO., Detroit, Mich.

OPIUM MORPHINE and CHLORAL HOME, Full Size, $1.00. Circular free. DR. J. C. HOFF, 185 Madison St., Chicago, Ill.

PATENTS Hand-Book FREE. E. G. S. & L. C. LAMPHEAR, Patent Attys, Washington, D.C.

DO YOU USE STOVE POLISH? Buy the best. Ask your grocer for it. Horse collars, clean and polished beautifully with it. Stove pipes, etc., can be better for less money at the Grand Union Hotel. Opposite Grand Central Depot.

$165 CASH PIANO! Cost $600 DAYS ONLY! Sold $165 Cash. Sold $165 TEMPLE OF MUSIC, ST. LOUIS, MO.

R. U. AWARE
THAT Lorillard's Gilmax Plug
Is the best
Navy Cut Chewing Tobacco made.
Ask for Lorillard's Gilmax Plug, and take no other.

Agents Wanted on Life and Book of GEN'L GRANT
PROFUSELY ILLUSTRATED. P. W. ZIEGLER & CO., Philadelphia, Pa., Chicago, Ill.

Agents Wanted for the Life and Deeds of Gen. Grant. Fifty Thousand Sold in Two Weeks. Agents Wanted everywhere to canvass for this popular work. Address, HUBBARD BROS., Publishers, Philadelphia, Pa.

$40 a week in your own town. Terms and $5 outfit free. Address H. HALLETT & CO., Portland, Maine.

$40,000 Copies Already Sold.
Secure Territory at Once.
The

Around the County.

Ironton.

J. B. Cater has nearly completed the alterations and improvements about his boarding house, and transformed it into a very comfortable hotel. It is a three story building, 62 feet front, with rooms on first and second floor for forty guests. The third floor is not yet finished. The office is in the corner and the ladies' parlor and sample room front the street. From the porch one has an unobstructed view of a large portion of Pine Lake, and from the roof can be seen the whole of Ironton, Holy Island, and Dwight's Landing, up the Arm; Undine, Oyster Bay, and part of Charlevoix. Mr. Cater thinks he will call it the Lakeview House.

The iron company are putting in a new hoist this week. At the company's store numerous changes and improvements have been inaugurated, among them being a meat market, with two refrigerators, one for fresh meat, and the other for butter, etc. The balance of the stock of summer goods is being disposed of to accommodate a large stock of winter goods which is expected in the near future.

Crouter & Harris are doing a lively business in drugs and groceries, competing with Charlevoix prices in all their goods. They also are buying wood and bark, and everything about their store presents a lively appearance.

Boyne City.

Special Correspondence.

The furnace has been shut down to put in a double elevator.

The dedication of the M. E. church took place on Sunday last. Enough money was raised to remove the debt and to insure the house.

The annual school meeting occurred Monday night. There will be nine months of school,—five this winter and four next summer.

Miss Katie Schoffen of this place who has been in Chicago for the past year, is home on a visit.

Mrs. Frank Shaulout was in town on Monday.

Mr. Wm. Smith, of this place, was hurt quite badly on Saturday last, between two coal buggies.

Rev. A. M. Parmenter gave a temperance lecture in the church Friday evening.

Boyne City.

Newville & Whipple, proprietors of the Boyne City mill, will do an extensive lumbering business this winter.

Boyne City claims the honor of possessing the only organized boat club in Northern Michigan. The members do their rowing in a four oared gig.

J. R. Kramer, the well-known Cadillac clothier, has leased the building of A. E. Hosmer and will remove his stock to this place September 21.

George Sister aged five years narrowly escaped drowning Thursday. He had to undergo a process of resuscitation before he could be induced to breathe. He fell through Schaub's dock.

The Sheboygan manufacturing company is one of most extensive chair manufactories in the world, and the lumber which is converted into chairs by them at their factories in Sheboygan, Wis., is cut from our forests, manufactured into lumber at their mill in Boyne City and transported to Sheboygan in vessels. This winter they will get out 5,000,000 feet of logs.

Boyne City is now indulging in a substantial building boom. George Gibson, of South Haven, will erect a brick block and will commence work thereon in about two weeks. It will be occupied by Shepard Bros., hardware dealers. Several places are now in process of erection and A. E. Hosmer will erect a building 20x50 which will be occupied by the Statesman printing office and postoffice.

Burgess

We learn that McConnell's steam thresher frightened Hamlin's colt last week so that it ran into a barbed wire fence and was cut up pretty badly.

W. C. Arnold has threshed over 300 bushels of wheat this year.

A big crowd and good time is reported from the dance at Jack Sunsly's last Friday evening. Another at the residence of Thos. Murray next Friday evening.

Isaac Stauffer had a steam thresher at his place last Saturday.

The Hamlin boys will soon start out with their threshing machine.

A little more rain about these days "to lay the dust."

At the annual school meeting at Maple Grove, it was voted to have seven months school, and to secure the services of Mrs. E. Gilson, who has so successfully conducted the school for the past season.

A large number of relatives of Mr. and Mrs. Morell Long, surprised them at their residence Sept. 7th, it being the first anniversary of their wedded life. The presents were numerous and useful.

Mrs. Gregory and child, of Cross Village, are visiting her father, Wm. Baker.

Mrs. Henry Baker, who has been seriously ill, is recovering.

Mrs. Wade who has been visiting her father, Wm. Baker, started for her home in Fremont, Mich., last Tuesday.

Rev. John R. Robinson preached his farewell sermon at Murray school house last Sunday.

East Jordan.

At a meeting at East Jordan last week, for the purpose of organizing an agricultural society, the organization was completed by the election of officers and adopting constitution and by laws. The intention is to hold the fair on Oct. 1st and 2d, on grounds about half a mile north and east of the village. The following are the officers: President, J. B. Palmeter, secretary, J. H. Stone; treasurer, H. P. Barbour; trustees, three years—W. H. Henley, W. F. Empey, and J. C. Gleun; two years—H. B. Hipp, O. Blair, and M. Hotkins; one year—Robt. Trimble, N. L. Cash, and J. S. Dixon.

The premium list is not yet fully made out, but we are assured that it will offer a generous array of prizes for a new county and entirely new organization. All that is necessary to ensure highly satisfactory results from the coming fair, therefore, is the hearty co-operation of all our people in the efforts put forth by the officers of the society. Those who intend bringing articles to the fair should begin to prepare for it now to do their share toward making the display one that will show Charlevoix county's resources to the best possible advantage.

The Wilson Hoop Co. have commenced to build at South Arm.

The new hoop factory at East Jordan will use about 2,000,000 feet of elm annually and give employment to 30 men and boys.—Evening News.

Prevention Surprises.

The school board have engaged Prof. A. B. Nicholas as principal of our schools the coming year.

In the case of Meech vs. Munro, replevin before Justice Stone yesterday a verdict was rendered in favor of the complainant.

We understand that S. G. Isaman sold to the Wilson Hoop Co., yesterday, a little over an acre in South Arm for $1,000.

Wm. H. Healey expects to burn an 80,000 kiln of brick in about two weeks. He says that he cannot manufacture them fast enough for the demand.

Temperance Column.

Conducted by a Committee of the W. C. T. U.

Officers of the Society.

President—Mrs. C. V. Cash.
First Vice President—Mrs. L. E. Allen.
Second Vice President—Mrs. A. T. Inslings.
Third Vice President—Mrs. C. F. Van Auken.
Corresponding Secretary—Mrs. G. C. Loveday.
Recording Secretary—Mrs. B. Sufficld.
Treasurer—Mrs. C. J. Strong.

A monument in honor of Father Matthew the Irish temperance apostle, is to be erected in Central Park, New York city, by the Father Matthew societies of the country.

A Chicago woman who has taken in sewing for a couple of years to support her drunken and lazy husband says it is surprising that the Board of Health has not had her indicted for "maintaining a nuisance."

Georgia has secured such prohibition in some of her counties, that liquor stands open night and day—nobody at Longstreets, where the whole institution has been offered for sale, and the conscientious sheriff is forced to think of resigning for lack of something to do.

Inebriety among American women is undoubtedly becoming more prominent every year. Its increase is apparent in the great demand for narcotics, and the sale of wine and beer by grocers; also in the divisions of saloons into general and family entrances, with separate rooms for each.—Exchange.

We need nothing now in this country, to obtain entire emancipation from the horrors of the liquor curse, but a little fidelity on the part of the church to christian duty. The liquor traffic is the one great obstacle in the way of the progress of the gospel, and it seems to me the church should help with all its might to remove it. —Neal Dow.

A New York woman has made a practice of bringing suits for damages against saloon keepers of whom her husband obtained his drink, alleging that his capabilities for earning wages had been reduced by his drunkenness from $30 per week to $8 or $4, and stating the damages at $2,000. In a recent case the jury gave her a verdict for $200.

In Brazil where the inhabitants take coffee many times a day alcoholism is unknown. Immigrants gradually contract a thirst for coffee, and their children fall into the habit and never contract a love for liquors that are so fatal in other countries. The number of cafes in the large cities is enormous, while the drinking saloons are very few.

A tavern-keeper who had abandoned traffic in alcohol after being engaged in the business a number of years, was asked the reason. He took down an account book, and, opening it, said: Here are forty-four names upon this book. They were my customers. Of these thirty-two are in drunkards' graves, ten are professional topers, and I know not the whereabouts of the other two."

Liquor Made Him What He Is.

A gray haired man, whose muscles in every part of his body twitched and started convulsively, and whose face and manners indicated excessive dissipation, appeared before Justice Foote yesterday morning on the charge of being a troublesome drunkard. He gave his name as Charles A. Palmer, and the complainant was Mrs. E. Palmer. "I was divorced from him three years ago," she said, "because of his drunkenness. Every time he is intoxicated he comes to my house and raises a disturbance. When he's drunk he's crazy. I don't object to his coming around when he's sober, but when drunk something must be done with him."

"When I found him," said Officer Mahoney, "he was in Mrs. Palmer's house lying on a bed, kicking and screaming and threatening to kill everybody who came near him with a revolver which he had in a bureau drawer."

"Judge, I guess something must be done with me; liquor has made me what I am; but I can't help it I guess I'm a wreck; but suppose we let this matter rest for a few days; I'll come all right. All's well that ends well, you know."

He was fined five dollars and costs and sent to the Washingtonian home. —Chicago Tribune.

ALMOST MARVELOUS.

The way Parmelee's Blood Purifier works upon the human system. It is such a thorough Purifier, it strikes at the root of the disease and by its perfect workings effects a cure almost before the patient is aware. It seizes upon every particle of poisonous matter in the system, expells it and instills new health and vigor through the entire body. $1.00 per bottle.

Sold by Dr. G. W. Crouter, Charlevoix, and Crouter & Harris, Ironton.

TEN CENTS.

Advertisements not exceeding three lines will be inserted in this column for ten cents per week. Each additional line three cents. Displayed cards fifty cents per inch per month.

BOTTOM PRICES for Poster printing at this office. The best work for the least money.

BUTTER AND EGGS wanted on subscription for the JOURNAL. Wood and produce of all kinds taken at market rates.

FREE.—We have for distribution a number of copies of the annual report of the Michigan Horticultural Society for 1885, which may be had by subscribers of the JOURNAL on application at this office.

MORTGAGE NOTES kept on hand or printed to order on short notice at this office.

NOTICE.—Members of L. O. O. T. Lodge No. 927, are requested to be present at next meeting, Sept. 11, 1885. Important business.

W. A. ATCHINSON, W. S.

Farm for Sale or Exchange.

One hundred acres of the best farming land, 40 acres improved, new hewgle trees twenty, good buildings, seven miles from Charlevoix, on the Boyne City road, will exchange for other property. For further particulars inquire at this office.

Blacksmithing.

I have leased the Clark-smith shop in connection with Woodward & Lewis' shop, and am prepared to do all kinds of work in my line. Horseshoeing promptly attended to.

Heavy Blacksmithing a Specialty

GEORGE PAPPIN.

A PRESENT.

Our readers for 12 cents in postage stamps (to cover mailing and postage) will receive free a Sample Package of the best selling goods in the world, including Cleveland, size 22x28, worth $10.00. Address Eagle Pub. Co., Chicago, Ill.

Cures in 1 to 5 days the Worst Cases of Gleet, Whites, Gonorrhœa, Gleet, Stricture, Prostatitis, Inflammation of the Bladder, Kidneys, Urinary Organs, &c. Warranted not to cause Stricture. Sold only by the Evans Chemical Co. Cincinnati, Ohio. Sold by Druggists generally. Price $1.00.

For Sale by F. G. Hibbard & Co., Charlevoix.

J. MILO EATON,

DEALER IN

Real Estate

OF ALL KINDS.

Houses and Lots for Sale

IN THE MOST DESIRABLE PARTS OF CHARLEVOIX.

WILD LANDS AND IMPROVED FARMS

FOR SALE IN ALL PARTS OF THE COUNTY.

Abstracts of Title Furnished on Short Notice.

OFFICE ON BRIDGE STREET. ESTABLISHED IN 1875.

E. M. Clark

GENERAL MERCHANDISE.

PINE LAKE IRON COMPANY

Ironton, Mich.,

Are Full in all kinds of General Merchandise.

GARLAND STOVES & RANGES KEEP YOUR ON THE Right Place

For Bargains in Hardware,

Iron, Cutlery, Tin ware, Stoves, Implements, Fixtures, Pumps, Grindstones, Wagons, Buggies, Carts, Wheelbarrows, Refrigerators, Doors, Sash

PAINTS Oils, Varnishes, Putty, Glass, Fence wire, Farm bells, Guns, Ammunition, Spoons, Forks, LAMPS, Baskets, Measures, Tubs, Wooden ware, Rope, Fishermen's Supplies, and Ship chandlery, Job and Tin work.

Carpenter's tools, Notions, Fishing tackle, Revolvers

L. D. BARTHOROMEW & CO.

I have purchased the Meat business of Armstrong & Co., and will continue at the old stand, with the freshest and best goods in the market.

T. E. CHAMBERLIN.

HEAR YE! HEAR YE!

I have purchased the Stock of

Drugs, Chemicals,

STATIONERY FISHING TACKLE, ETC.

Of O. B. WEED & CO., and will continue the business at the old stand. I shall aim to so conduct the business as to merit a share of your favors. When in need of anything in my line, call and examine my stock and ask my prices.

PERRY WEED DRUGGIST,

Successor to O. B. Weed & Co.

OPERA BLOCK, CHARLEVOIX. MICH.

THE CHARLEVOIX JOURNAL.

NUMBER 114. CHARLEVOIX, MICH.: THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 17, 1885. $1.50 PER YEAR.

THE JOURNAL

Published every Thursday,

BY CHAS. J. STRANG.

Office on Bridge Street,

CHARLEVOIX, - - - MICHIGAN

ENTERED AT THE POSTOFFICE AT CHARLEVOIX, AS AN SECOND-CLASS MATTER.

BUSINESS DIRECTORY.

ATTORNEYS.

ARTHUR E. MARTIN, Attorney at Law, Boyne City, Mich. Collections promptly attended to.

CRUIKSHANK & SRIER, Attorneys at Law and Trustees to Absentees. Office in Hatfield's Block, Charlevoix, Mich.
A. S. CRUIKSHANK. C. J. SRIER.

HATCH & CALL, Attorneys at Law, Real Estate and Loan Agents. Lake St., east of postoffice, Petoskey, Mich.

ALEX W. MAYNE, Attorney and Counselor at Law. Collections promptly attended to. PETOSKEY, MICHIGAN.

A. T. JESSEY, Attorney and Counselor at Law. Office on Lake St., Boyne City, Mich.

H. G. WHITING, Attorney at Law and Judge of Probate of Emmet Co., Petoskey, Mich.

J. MILO EATON, Attorney at Law, Charlevoix, Mich.

PETER F. SOENSEN, Attorney at Law and United States Circuit Court Commissioner, Eastern District. East Jordan, Mich.

W. L. DODGE, Attorney and Solicitor, East Jordan. Admiralty a Specialty.

N. GARRETT, Attorney at Law, Boyne City, Mich.

CHURCHES.

FIRST CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH.—Sunday services at 10:30 a. m. and 7:00 p. m. Sunday School at close of morning service. Prayer meeting every Thursday evening at 7:00 o'clock. F. VAN AUKEN, pastor.

METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH.—Sunday services at 10:30 a. m. and 7 p. m. Sunday school at close of morning service. Prayer and praise meeting Thursday evening at 7. J. H. DRIVER, pastor.

HOMEOPATHIC PHARMACY.

HATFIELD, Homeopathic Medicines, Books, Domestic Cases, etc., Charlevoix, Mich.

PHYSICIANS.

A. J. CHRISTEN, M. D., Office at the Ingleside.

J. HORN, M. D., Physician and Surgeon. Office one door north Mansion House, Charlevoix, Mich.

W. P. CENTON, M. D., Surgeon and Homeopathic Physician, Charlevoix, Mich.

REAL ESTATE AGENTS.

ISAAC S. HARRIS, Notary Public, Real Estate Agent, and Insurance Agt., Charlevoix.

SECRET SOCIETIES.

A. E. Baxter Post No. 126, meets second Monday in each month, at Odd Fellows' hall.

I. O. O. F.—Round Lake Lodge No. 293, meets every Wednesday evening, in their hall.

O. E. S.—Resort Tent, No. 126, meets second Thursday every month, at Odd Fellows' hall.

I. O. L. T.—Temple of Honor meets every Saturday at 2 o'clock in the afternoon in Barnard's school house.

MASONIC.—Charlevoix Lodge No. 292, meets Tuesday on or before full moon. Hall over postoffice.

W. P. BROWN, Cashier. W. A. BROWN, Ass't Cashier.

BROWN & CO'S BANK OF CHARLEVOIX,

Capital, $50,000.

With superior facilities and prompt attention to customers and growing patronage, Drafts on Europe upon the principal cities of the world. Collections promptly made and Special efforts to collect doubtful claims. Interest allowed on time deposits. Sight drafts on Chicago and New York always for sale. Money to loan on approved security. Highest price paid for County Orders. Money always on hand to loan on Real Estate. Abstracts of Title to Real Estate in Charlevoix County, Michigan, can be obtained by addressing the Bank. Special attention given to the collection of Land Warrants, Pensions, Bounties, Back Pay, Claims against the United States, and Claims against Corporations. Interest allowed on Time Deposits. Drafts on Europe, $10 and upwards, $1 each. Passage tickets to and from all points in Europe by leading lines.

CORRESPONDENTS.

Chase National Bank, New York.
First National Bank, Chicago.
Merchants and Manufacturers' National Bank, Detroit.
Fourth National Bank, Grand Rapids.

The Charlevoix Improvement Association.

OFFICERS.

President—Byron Sher.
First Vice President—W. A. Smith.
Second Vice President—Robert Miller.
Recording Secretary—Chas. J. Strang.
Corresponding Secretary—H. Sufficld.
Treasurer—Albert E. Mason.

STANDING COMMITTEES.

Executive Committee—J. Milo Eaton, A. D. Cruikshank, and Chas. Avery.
Advertising Committee—H. Lee Inslings, W. A. Brown, and C. V. Cash.
Reception Committee—E. W. Mayne, L. H. Hitchcock, M. J. Stockman, E. Cooper, Geo. W. Gaye, R. W. Miller, A. M. See, W. C. Newman, F. M. Clark, H. Bergin.

OBJECTS

To aid and encourage the establishment of manufacturing enterprises in Charlevoix, and to promote the material growth and prosperity of Charlevoix and vicinity.

SOCIAL MEETINGS.

All Members are requested on the Third Monday in each month, at 7:30 p. m.

CORRESPONDENCE SOLICITED.

JAMES HEMMINGS,

Upright & Inclined Additions, Charlevoix,

HOUSE PAINTER,

Calciminer,

Paper Hanger,

And Decorator.

PINE AND HARDWOOD FINISHING. GOOD WORK.

FREE.—We have for distribution a number of copies of the annual report of the Michigan Horticultural Society for 1885, which may be had by subscribers of the JOURNAL on application at this office.

BUTTER AND EGGS wanted on subscription for the JOURNAL. Wood and produce of all kinds taken at market rates.

A FEW FACTS CONCERNING

Dr. CROUTER'S

BAKING POWDER

Or Quick Yeast.

If you use it you will never have yellow biscuit.
If you use it your biscuit will never taste of Soda.
It contains no alum, and is absolutely free from anything of a deleterious nature.
It is made from PURE GRAPE CREAM OF TARTAR and NOT from the Common Cream of Tartar of the stores.
It is always fresh and will never disappoint you.

Directions for using furnished with every package.

Price 40 Cents per Pound

Manufactured and Sold only by

Dr. GEO. W. CROUTER,

Chemist and Druggist,

BRIDGE STREET, CHARLEVOIX, MICH.

Come and See our Immense Stock of

BOOTS AND SHOES.

FOX & MILLER.

BRIDGE STREET HOUSE,

ROBERT MILLER, Proprietor,

Charlevoix, Michigan.

This house is centrally located, and its accommodations excellent. The table supplied with the best the market affords. Only sample room in Charlevoix.

COMMERCIAL HOUSE

D. B. FERRIE, Proprietor.

East Jordan, Michigan.

Entirely refitted and refurnished. First-class Sample Room for agents. Good Stable in Connection. 75

FARMERS' HOTEL,

W. S. JOHNSON, Proprietor.

Austin Street, near Village Hall, Charlevoix.

Location convenient for mechanics working in any of the factories on Round Lake, and for farmers coming to town. Feed stable for teams will be provided.

FOUNTAIN CITY HOUSE,

RICHARD COOPER, Proprietor.

Charlevoix, - Michigan.

Finest location in town, giving good view of lake and surrounding country. Headquarters for Petoskey and Elk Rapids Stages. Good sample room for commercial travelers adjoining hotel.

JORDAN RIVER HOUSE,

THATCHER & BLAIR, Proprietors.

East Jordan, - Michigan.

Those having business at the county seat will find this the most convenient place to stop, and the proprietors will spare no pains to give the best satisfaction. TELEPHONE CONNECTIONS.

PINE LAKE HOUSE,

A. J. HALL, Proprietor.

Boyne City, Michigan.

This house is finely located on the Boyne river, at the head of Pine Lake. It is large and commodious, and is well adapted to the entertainment of the traveling public.

PIONEER HOUSE,

A. B. NOYES, Proprietor.

Ironton - Michigan.

Every convenience for the traveling public.

Money to Loan

On sums of $200 and upwards, at reasonable rates of interest, on improved real estate handsomely.

H. C. Miley,

4-tf Boyne City.

Picture Frames

Made to Order.

A FINE ASSORTMENT OF MOULDINGS

To Select From.

O. I. WHEAT,

Bridge Street, Charlevoix, Mich.

Well-Digging.

JOHN SHRIER

Charlevoix, Mich.,

is prepared to do all work in the line of well digging, cistern building, pump repairing, well driving, and sinking work.

WOOD WANTED.

Two or three loads of good block wood wanted at this office immediately.

MISS L. SPAULDING,

DEALER IN

MILLINERY

AND

Fancy Goods.

Dressmaking Done in the Latest Styles.

Special attention given to

CHILDREN'S GARMENTS.

We would call the attention of the ladies to our STAMPING DEPARTMENT.

☞ We endeavor to do our work well and at Reasonable Prices. Come and see for yourself.

McCABE'S

Livery and Hack Line

DRAYING TO ORDER.

Passengers, Baggage, etc., delivered to all Boats, Hotels, or any part of the City.

AT

McCabe's Livery Barn,

CHARLEVOIX, MICH. 43

W. M. WAGAR. D. C. WAGAR.

Wagar Bros

Wholesale and Retail dealers in Tobacco, Cigars And Smokers' Articles. Also a full line of Confectionery, Fruits, And Temperance Drinks. Third door west of Bridge Street House, Charlevoix, Mich.

C. R. BELLINGER

Has a large stock of

New Jewelry and Silverware

(SOLID AND PLATED)

Pins, Charms, and Chains,

In all the latest styles.

Watches, Clocks, and Optical Goods.

New Style of Monograms Pin just received. Sewing Machine Oil kept in stock.

John Nicholls,

CHARLEVOIX, MICH.,

Manufacturer of and dealer in

HARDWOOD AND PINE

LUMBER!

ALSO

Dressed Lumber, Car Blades,

WAGON TONGUES, SHINGLES, LATH, ETC.

LUMBER SAWED AND BILLS FILLED TO ORDER.

Double Anniversary.

One of the most enjoyable events of the summer occurred at the residence of W. P. Brown, on Mason street, last Friday evening, being the thirtieth anniversary of the marriage of Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Brown, and the second anniversary of the marriage of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Brown.

It was the original intention to get the new residence on the corner of Bridge and Clinton streets done in time to make the event a grand dedication of the home, but the wet weather of the past two weeks interfered with drying the plaster and putting on the finishing touches. It is estimated that nearly 200 people were present to join in wishing both couples many returns of the day. Two hours were spent in social chat, when refreshments were served,—a feast of good things, requiring another hour to discuss, and a good deal longer time to digest.

The following rich and appropriate presents were received.

French opera glass, in pearl and gold.
One dozen silver table knives, pearl handles.
Gold pen and case, pearl holder.
Pocket knife, pearl handle.
Pair of shells, pearl.
Cake sun picks and cracker, silver plate.
Glass fruit dish.
Hanging lamp, hammered brass, decorated.
Family bible, old and and new version, pictorial.
Prescott's Chronicles.
Two Harte' poems, illustrated, library edition.
Byron's poems, illustrated library edition.
Cowper's poems, illustrated, library edition.
Milton's poems, illustrated, library edition.
Gems of Great Authors, illustrated.
Souvenir, Jesus Lover of my Soul, Illuminated.
Poe's Raven, illuminated.
Book of Ages, illuminated.
Two paperiers, plush and satin.
One dozen stereoscopic views.
Four paper pulls, one filled with flowers.
Game of Go Bang.
Music Rack.
Two packs of cards.
Package of paper.
Paper collar, (stiff.)
Three panel pictures.

A CARD OF THANKS.

Mr. and Mrs. W. P. and W. A. Brown desire to express their great satisfaction and delight resulting from the celebration of their wedding anniversaries, on Friday, the 11 inst. The attendance was very large and all seemed happy. The gifts were rare and numerous beyond their thought or expectation. The gratitude they feel to all for their presence and gifts, and to many of their dear friends from far and near; who so lovingly expressed their joy with regrets; is second only to that felt for the spirit which prompted them, and which is recognized as that of "the Author and Giver of every good and perfect gift."

They sincerely hope to do for each, some act of kindness that will afford as much happiness as was their's on that occasion.

Death of L. W. Skinner.

Our people were much surprised and grieved last Monday by the receipt of a letter from Claremont, Va., to H. Wood, stating that L. W. Skinner had died of fever after an illness of but a few days, and was buried. The surprise was greater, perhaps, because when Mr. Skinner was at home this summer he was in most excellent health and spirits.

He had located there intending to remain permanently, and his wife and daughter were almost ready to remove the household goods,—intending to start next Monday. Concerning his sickness, death, and burial, the Claremont Herald of last Thursday contains the following:

SUDDEN DEATH.

Our people could not have been subjected to a greater or more painful shock than that occasioned by the announcement last evening of the death of L. W. Skinner, who, less than a week ago, was seen and known as one of the most active, energetic, and healthful men in Claremont. On Wednesday of last week Mr. Skinner had occasion to go up on the A. & D. line to Leavelles, from which place he proceeded on foot several miles to examine some timber. The day was warm and he over exerted himself. He returned to Claremont on Thursday, and on his arrival complained of feeling ill and retired to his bed. Delirium and other symptoms of brain fever followed. Two days ago, Tuesday, he felt well enough to leave his bed, but was worse in the evening, and again went to bed from which he never again arose. At ten o'clock last evening he passed peacefully away, being entirely unconscious of everything about him. Congestion of the brain caused by undue exposure to the sun, was the cause of his death.

Deceased came to Claremont from Charlevoix, Mich., about two or three months ago, purchased a farm and was building thereon preparatory to bringing his family here. He was highly respected and esteemed by all who knew him, and leaves many warm friends in his new home. Mr. Skinner was about fifty-five years of age and leaves a family in Charlevoix, to whom we extend sincere sympathy. Every thing was done to make him comfortable during his illness. Mr. E. S. Hawkes, his son in law who came on with him, being constantly by his bedside. Funeral will take place this afternoon at 3 o'clock. Virginia Lodge, A. F. and A. M., of which fraternity deceased was a member, will be present.

RESOLUTIONS OF BAXTER POST G. A. R.

HEADQUARTERS BAXTER POST, No. 119, G. A. R.
Charlevoix, Mich., Sept. 14, 1885.

WHEREAS, The sad intelligence has reached this Post that our comrade L. W. Skinner has fallen before that dread enemy of all being, and his remains now lie buried in the far off soil of Virginia, a soil that was consecrated by the blood of thousands of his former comrades who there fell in the defense of their country; therefore,

Resolved, That in the death of our comrade we recognize the fact that we have lost one of our most worthy comrades, and society a genial and obliging neighbor, the family a kind and devoted husband and father; that we hereby tender to the bereaved family and friends our heartfelt condolence in this sad hour of affliction; that the hall of the Post be draped in mourning for the space of thirty days; that a copy of these resolutions be forwarded to the family of our deceased comrade; that copies also be furnished each of the papers for publication.

ROBERT MILLER,
W. A. ATCHINSON,
S. M. SEE,
Committee.

"Terrace Farm."

Messrs. J. R. & J. S. Dixon are doing their full proportion toward developing the resources and showing up the advantages of this community. What they have accomplished is no more than anyone can do with the same energy and economy. Like all pioneers, they have worked hard, early and late, during all the long years since they established themselves, and like a few others they have a competency in their declining years.

The farm at present comprises about 120 acres, and is cultivated under a system of rotation calculated to improve the fertility of the land each year instead of diminishing its capacity for producing a crop. And the fine crops which they harvest from year to year is sufficient proof of the excellence of the system.

The farm is stocked at present with 25 head of cattle, besides swine and poultry. They are now milking 17 cows. A portion of the milk is sold in town, the balance used for making butter.

They are seeking to improve their stock by introducing Holstein blood. A vigorous young bull is kept on the place, and the intention is to devote considerable attention to raising thoroughbred stock. They have a Holstein heifer 1½ years old, equal in size and weight to most two-year-olds and many fullgrown cows of common stock.

Four acres of the farm are devoted to a market garden, from which a large number of families receive their daily supply of fresh vegetables.

They are experimenting with celery this year, and if fully satisfied, may undertake to supply the home market in the near future.

In their orchards are 300 apple trees and some smalls fruits, but this year apples are a short crop.

In the yards about the house are an almost endless variety of flowers.

THE JOURNAL

BY CHAS. J. STRANG.

CHARLEVOIX, - - MICHIGAN.

NEWS CONDENSED.

Concise Record of the Week.

EASTERN.

Forty thousand persons visited Gen. Grant's tomb last Sunday. Subscriptions to the Grant mausoleum fund in New York have dropped to an average of about $200 a day, and the hopelessness of raising by popular subscription the amount originally intended is now admitted, even by the committee having the enterprise in charge. It is said that not ten per cent. of the committee have yet even visited the tomb.

The yachts Puritan and Genesta started in the international race at New York, on the 5th instant, but, we wind following, the boats failed to cover the course in the specified seven hours, with the result that "no race" was declared. Throughout the contest, however, the Puritan led the English craft, and opinions were freely expressed that the Puritan would win the series, and keep the America's cup on this side of the Atlantic. Hanlan easily won the boat race at Sheepshead Bay, two defeating Ross ten lengths for second place. Hanlan gets $600, Ross $300, and Rose $200.

Vice Chancellor George W. Clinton, son of DeWitt Clinton, died suddenly in a cemetery near Albany. He was 78 years old, and a man of marked literary and scientific attainments.

The National Retail Druggists' Association convened in annual session at Pittsburgh, with a small attendance. The President reported slow progress the past year, many of the members failing to pay their dues.

The Hon. Edward A. Rollins, President of the Continental Bank of Philadelphia, and formerly Commissioner of Internal Revenue, died in Hanover, N. H.

Increased activity is reported in the iron and steel trade at Pittsburgh. Orders are coming in freely, and prices generally are advancing.

Sebastian Benghner, who fought at Lundy's Lane and at the capture of Fort Erie, died at Sandusky, Ohio, aged 93.

A rock which had fallen upon the track overturned the locomotive, baggage, and smoking cars of the Montreal Express near Whitehall, N. Y., the engineer being killed instantly, and five others severely injured.

WESTERN.

Clingstone and Harry Wilkes will trot at Detroit, Sept. 26, for a purse of $2,500, after which the latter will be matched against the stallion Phallas for a race at Cleveland.

The Denver and Rio Grande Railroad earned nearly $100,000 more during August than in the corresponding month last year.

The census of Wisconsin, just completed, shows a total of 1,353,968, the gain over 1880 being 224,113. There are 29,783 surviving Union soldiers and sailors of the late war.

Bloomingdale and Washington Court House, Ohio, were swept by a cyclone on the night of the 4th inst., the former town being laid in ruins, resulting in the loss of a number of lives. Property of all descriptions was greatly damaged. A cyclone accompanied three barns and a residence near Adrian, Mich., but no one was hurtful and two others slightly injured.

"A shocking tragedy is reported in the southern part of Vermilion County, Illinois, where Perry Whitlock, a farmer, shot his wife, inflicting fatal injuries, after which he shot her two sons and himself. Whitlock had not lived with his wife for four years.

The schooner Adriana, owned by Captain David Ball, of Chicago, capsized off Sheboygan, Wis., and her crew, with the exception of Jacob Dunn, were drowned while attempting to reach the shore in a small boat.

The sale in the County Treasurer's office in Lime Creek, Camden County, Mo., was robbed of $5,000. Several stores in the place were also visited by the burglars, none of whom have been caught.

The wheat crop of Ohio is estimated at 17,597,734 bushels, or 51 per cent. of the average for the past five years. The yield of oats will be the largest on record, and that of corn will probably surpass that of any former year except 1878. The damage to corn, buckwheat, and other growing products in Northern Minnesota by the recent frosts proves to have been very great. Wet weather in Iowa has seriously impaired the prospects of the next flax crop.

A dispatch from Rock Springs, Wyoming Territory, says "one hundred Chinamen have returned here, under escort of four companies of troops. The miners threaten to destroy the company's buildings, all of which are under strong guard nightly. Serious trouble is sure to result as soon as the miners think they have an opportunity to carry out their threats."

The three children of Perry Whitlock, in Vermilion County, Illinois, will recover from their wounds, but his infant child will die.

The storm which visited Washington Court House, Ohio, almost demolished the town. Every public building and business house in the place, and about two hundred residences, were destroyed. Ten persons are known to have been killed, and over a hundred wounded, several of them fatally. In Lancaster County, Ohio, the storm was severe, ten persons being injured, and many buildings wrecked. At Troy, Upper Sandusky, and other Ohio towns, the damage was extensive. Near Adrian, Mich., $100,000 worth of property is reported to have been destroyed by the elements, and at Dublin, Ind., twenty buildings collapsed. Reports of serious losses from wind and lightning come from other points in Indiana, Michigan, and Wisconsin. The damage to lake shipping was also very heavy, and several lives were lost.

The schooner Erie Wave capsized off Long Point, Lake Erie, the female cook and a passenger being drowned. The schooner Advance was wrecked off Sheboygan, Wis. Two vessels, with their crews, were lost off Two Rivers, Wis.

Capt. Bradbury, Deputy Warden of the Missouri Penitentiary, was dangerously stabbed in the loins, of the neck by a prisoner named George Patten.

Reports from Minneapolis say there is more demand for flour, both for export and domestic consumption, but that the millers are not selling at all freely, as the offers are mostly below the price they wish to take.

SOUTHERN.

Charles Williams, a drunken negro, at Chattanooga, Tenn., shot and instantly killed a street-car driver named Polk Stokely. At night he intimated most inexcusable way into the row-shed with single barrels and pistols, and battered down the door of Stokely's room. He was dragged to the third story of the jail by force of the honors of the mob, and a rope placed around his neck. The assassin maintained a sullen indifference, and did not utter a word. He was not given time to pray. After he had been seven minutes in the air, the rope was placed around a beam, and he was suspended between seven and eight.

A dispatch from Washington, Ark., says that "a mob visited Lake County jail at Marianna, and made an attempt to shoot the two Polk boys, but not being able to get within range the mob hauled a load of wood to the jail, piled it around the building, saturated the wood with coal oil, and poured both prisoners alive, nothing standing but the brick walls of the jail. The Polks murdered a peddler last year, and have had several trials. This was the third effort by mobs to kill the man."

The cotton crop in the Memphis district has been seriously injured by drought, but will probably exceed that of last year.

Great destruction was wrought in the Island cotton section by the recent cyclone on the South Carolina coast.

James B. Walton died at New Orleans aged 72 years. He commanded the Washington Artillery Battery of Louisiana during the war with Mexico and also through the entire period of the civil war, serving on the Confederate side.

John D. Shelton and Ida Maxwell eloped at Atlanta, Ga., and when the girl's father and brother found them at Shelton's mother's house a shooting affair followed, in which the three men were wounded, young Shelton and the elder Maxwell probably mortally.

WASHINGTON.

The rumor that Secretary Endicott and Gen. Sheridan were estranged is authoritatively denied.

The War Department reports full compliance with the President's order for the removal of cattle from the Indian Territory.

The President returned to Washington on Monday, the 5th inst., much improved in health. He is confident it will be at the White House about Oct. 1. A brilliant social season is contemplated. The President has purchased for $3,000, a fine span of Hackney coach horses.

Washington telegram: It is stated at the Treasury Department that the only significance of the recent cancellation of silver certificates is the amount of about $15,000,000 in the fact, as shown by experience, that the certificates of large denomination are practically worthless as a circulating medium. The notes destroyed were for $500 and $10,000 certificates, and it is proposed in case they shall be required to replace them with $10, $20, $50, and $100 certificates, as the latter are much better adapted for general circulation.

Admiral Jenoret has written a letter to the Second Comptroller protesting against the disallowance of $900 in his accounts for commutation expenses incurred in the entertainment of certain dignitaries at New Orleans. He says it has always been the custom to allow the expenditure, and that it was certainly known to Congress that the custom exists, and that the contingent appropriation was to cover expenses of this sort. He protests most vigorously against having the money deducted from his pay as an officer of the navy.

It is intimated in diplomatic circles at Washington that the United States may be called upon to arbitrate between Spain and Germany with regard to the Carolines.

The Secretary of the Treasury has made an agreement with an express company for the delivery at Washington of a large amount of gold and silver coin, which is to pass title at distant points, and which may be needed at commercial centres.

POLITICAL.

Thomas C. McRae, Democrat, has been elected to Congress from the Third Arkansas District, to fill the unexpired term by the resignation of James K. Jones, promoted to the Senate.

President Cleveland has appointed Mrs. M. A. Mulligan to be Lemon Agent at Chicago, vice Miss Ada C. Sweet, resigned. Mrs. Mulligan is the widow of Col. James A. Mulligan, who died of wounds received near Winchester, Va., July 28, 1864. Col. Mulligan was brevetted Brigadier General for gallantry, and heavily only three days before his death. He commanded the Twenty-third Illinois Regiment.

"The Natural Anti-Monopoly party of the State of New York," in convention in New York City, resolved to call itself the above name, and appointed a committee to confer with other political bodies regarding the nomination of a State ticket. D. Clay Hanson, of Troy, was nominated for Governor by the New York Prohibitionists at Syracuse, and a healthy platform was adopted demanding the suppression of the liquor traffic by the National Government and Congress, but both the old parties for subscribing to the whisky interest.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Lawrence Brainerd, formerly president of the St. Albans (Vermont) Bank, who disappeared two years ago with a large amount of his funds, has been adjudged from Wallingford by detectives and carried back to St. Albans the States.

A comparison of August railroad earnings with those of the corresponding month last year are as follows: Illinois Central, decrease $9,071, Peoria, Decatur and Evansville, increase $740; Oregon Railway and Navigation, increase $42,000; Denver and Rio Grande, increase $6,300; Louisville and Nashville, decrease $48,412.

Bradstreet's for New York reports the visible supply of wheat in this country to every 42,120,000 bushels, and of corn about 7,200,000 bushels.

Speaking of strikes, Mr. T. V. Powderly, General Master Workman of the Knights of Labor, in an interview at Philadelphia, said: "General strikes bring to the surface a class of people who are fond of labor troubles and who commit acts for which the knights are blamed. We don't want anything to do with such. Rather take very little and avoid them."

The National Convention of coal miners met at Indianapolis, with delegates in attendance from Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana, Kansas, Missouri, Virginia, and Iowa. The convention was called to order by John Mehlenbacher, of Ohio. Daniel McLaughlin, of Illinois, was chosen Permanent Chairman, and R. Blessing, of West Virginia, was elected Secretary, and J. J. Sullivan, of Ohio, Assistant Secretary. The reports of delegates as to the condition of the miners in the section which they represented indicated that in the mines of West Virginia, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Illinois, and Iowa, the miners were in a deplorable condition, the prices for work being lower than ever before known. The European workers of the seven idle factories opposite Wheeling, met in convention in Bellaire, Ohio, and accepted the terms of compromise previously drawn up by a committee of manufacturers and workingmen. This virtually ends the strike, which has lasted for nine months, and puts about twelve hundred men to work.

A new national organization for the conduct of economic research was formed at Saratoga, with Professor Henry C. Adams, of the University of Michigan, as temporary Chairman. The Rev. Washington Gladden and Hon. Andrew White are also officers.

The sentence in the case of Louis Riel, the Northwest Territory rebel, was confirmed by the Judges of the Queen's court, at Winnipeg, on the 6th inst.

There is no abatement of the smallpox epidemic at Montreal. Cases of the disease which are supposed to have originated in the city have appeared in various instances, and at Sutton, Quebec, near the American line.

The Executive Committee of the Western Union Telegraph company recommend to the stockholders at their next meeting, on the 13th of October, the transfer back to them of the Indian Territory.

LATER NEWS ITEMS.

President Adams, of the Union Pacific Railroad, says the floating debt of the company has been provided for, but declines to publish the terms of the agreement. It is rumored in New York that the company has issued a certain amount of bonds for cash, and that another block of its securities are conditioned for a loan.

Soon after the assembling of Congress, Representative Mills, of Texas, will offer a bill, now in course of preparation, providing for large reductions in tariff taxes.

Thomas J. Lathrop, of Taunton, has been nominated for Governor of Massachusetts by the Prohibitionists at a convention at Boston declaring "uncompromising opposition to the importation, manufacture, and sale of intoxicating liquors as a beverage."

Where official intelligence of General Grant's death was received at Linas, flags on the Government buildings were placed at half-mast.

Lester A. Allen, who lives near Linas, Sullivan under engagement having refused to answer his pending fight with Byers, the contest has been declared off.

In accordance with the request of the Colombian government, marines and souls from Montreal destined for the United States to Panama, have gone on to Aspinwall.

The statistics of the Commissioner of Internal Revenue show that during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1885, 87,156,000 gallons of distilled spirits were placed on the bonded market, and tax was paid on 10,187,952 barrels of fermented liquors. The people of the country in a twelve-month also consumed 20,505,207 gallons of wine.

According to a return received by the Department of Agriculture the wheat crop this year will be lighter, and the corn crop heavier, the average yield per acre in great Britain will not vary materially in yield from that of last year. The September cotton report of the Department of Agriculture shows the prevalence of hot and dry weather during August, except in Louisiana, Mississippi, and Florida. The shedding of bolls and the decrease of vitality have resulted quite generally. Drought has been serious in Texas and Arkansas, and quite general in Western Tennessee, Southern Alabama, Georgia, and portions of the Carolinas. Much damage is reported in Southern Texas, Arkansas, and in Central and Southern Alabama. In parts where it rained throughout August and Southern Georgia, with small crops as yet, the

THE JOURNAL.

BY CHAS. J. STRANG.

CHARLEVOIX, - - MICHIGAN.

Notes and News.

Traverse City claims 4,000 population.

The Grand Traverse county fair is to be held at Traverse City, Oct. 6, 7, 8 and 9.

It is gratifying to see the apparent increase of business of democratic papers throughout the state.

S. W. Fowler has sold the Manistee Standard to P. Madison. Mr. Madison will publish an independent paper.

A highly interesting serial story entitled "annual tax sales" is now running in nearly all of our republican exchanges.

The Cadillac publishing company will begin the publication of a radical administration paper about October 1. Judge Fallass is president of the company.

The lighthouse keeper at Poles Island is 70 years old. He has faithfully performed his duties in caring for that light since 1848 and has saved forty-nine lives.—Inland Marine.

Bids were opened at the Treasury Department, Thursday for the construction of life saving stations at the following named places: Frankfort, Mich.; Pentwater, Mich.; White River, Mich.; and South Haven, Mich. M. A. McGowan of Washington, D. C. was the lowest bidder.—Inland Marine.

A Cleveland paper says: "The people of this country are very tired of John Sherman's sniveling about alleged outrages in the south. The worst outrage ever committed in the south, was the one that John Sherman was concerned in, when the vote of Louisiana was stolen, for Hayes, in 1876."

The heavy storm this week damaged the docks at Menominee as follows: Detroit Lumber Company dock, $1,050; three docks of Kirby, Carpenter & Co., at one of which the Goodrich boats land, $8,500; Leisen & Heines' dock and ice-house, $1,500; Island Lumber Company dock, $2,500. The total damage done was but little less than $10,000.—Inland Marine.

For months past the Harbor Springs Independent has been giving their village council and fire department "particular fits" for doing nothing, and last week the council got in their revenge in great shape by appointing C. S. Hampton, editor of the Independent, chief of the department. After reviewing the previous efforts to establish a department, and accepting the appointment of the council, the editor says: "There's no money nor no glory in the position of chief of a volunteer fire department, and we shall not hold it more than two or three months at the most. But so long as we are chief there's going to be a hose to the department—if it is a wooden hose. We'll run the machine while we are at it, and will then be glad to give place to some more competent man. Inasmuch as we have given others fits for their neglect and blunders we are willing all should have a fair chance at us; and if the Republican don't do as up in good shape we offer the use of our own columns to any one who has any comments, criticisms or suggestions to make."

Improvement in Business.

The current of trade the past week gives continued assurance of the steady but no less marked improvement in the general business of the country. The New York bank statement shows there was an increase of over $4,700,000 in loans, while the falling off in deposits is evidence that capital is coming into business freely. The textile mills at the east seem to be making both ends meet, which for a year or two past they have not been able to do. Some of the wooden mills are too busy to accept further orders for immediate execution, and the transactions in wool are larger than ever before. The range of grain values has been lower, and farmers are reported holding their grain back in the Northwest in the pretty well founded belief that they will soon receive better prices for their product. The lumber trade continues to improve, the advance in prices is well sustained, and there is a fair and promising distribution in stocks.

In the south the outlook is particularly cheering. Splendid grain crops have been gathered, and the cotton crop, despite some drawbacks, promises to be a large one, affording a reasonable guarantee of a fair business for the fall and winter months.

The Chicago Tribune says there is an increased demand for best grades of foundry and forge pig iron and a decided hardening in prices, but common grades remain as they were. Bar iron is firm at former quotations and in increased demand; plate iron is firm and advancing; sheet iron is more active and prices are a shade better. Structural iron, especially for bridges, is in greater demand, and bridge builders are in receipt of many new orders. Prices are unchanged, but firm. In oil and gas pipes, especially for natural gas companies, there is great activity and prices have greatly advanced. Nails are in better demand. Steel rails have advanced from $27 in July in Pennsylvania to $29 and $29 at the close of August. We know of several thousand tons of standard sections that were sold last week by a Pennsylvania company for delivery in November and December, at $30 at the mill. The mills in Pennsylvania and in other states are well supplied with orders to December, and some of them into next year. Inquiries are numerous. To sum up, there is a revival of confidence, an increase in the consumption of nearly all manufactured products, and a strong tendency to higher prices.

In 1882 there was a cash expenditure of $350,000,000 in railroad construction, and in the five years ended Dec. 31, 1883, over forty thousand miles of new road was built, involving a cash outlay of at least $1,200,000,000, or an average of $240,000,000 per year. Last year only about $70,000,000 was thus expended, and in the reaction from the period of unusual activity it is estimated that fully 100,000 persons were thrown out of employment in this line alone. Business depression was inevitable, and the inevitable has been fully realized. But the worst seems to be now past. There are enormous maturing crops in all sections of the country, and business is already feeling their impetus. Railroad construction is again reviving, and under this stimulus an improvement in the iron industry has set in with a suddenness which is something remarkable. From the east there is reported "improvement of the very healthiest character, viz. steady and increasing demand without any undue excitement in prices; orders are numerous, the demand for steel unprecedented, mills running to their full capacity, and their output bespoke for a year in advance." From the south come similar reports with tidings of bountiful crops and overtaxed freight facilities, the production of new furnace plants, and the extension or completion of railroads suspended by the depression.

Chicago Daily News: The evidences of a sound and healthy business revival are multiplying on every hand, not alone in this country but abroad. In England the iron industry, which has been almost paralyzed, is aroused to a state of activity to which it has been long a stranger; men are working on full time, many furnaces are relit which have been idle for months, and it is confidently believed that the decided improvement which already marks many lines of trade is the beginning of another era of general prosperity. Our neighbors in the dominion of Canada share in the improvement, and a shrewd observer notes that it was not the late Wall street boom in stocks which is now dotting the Canadian rivers with logs where there was scarcely one to be seen on the streams a year ago, while the mills are again becoming active after a lethargy of nearly eight months. Throughout the United States the bank clearings show a constant gain, both as compared with previous weeks and with the corresponding week of 1884. The average increase in this last comparison is over 12 per cent.

John Sherman's Fallacies.

In his recent intemperate harangue Mr. John Sherman flies in the face of acknowledged facts. He charges that the democrats, and especially the southern democrats who have been restored to power, "hope practically to reverse all the results of the war." And he regards it as "vital and necessary" that the northern states should "unite again," as they united in the days of the war, to prevent such a wrong.

While Mr. Sherman utters these incendiary appeals, the world is witnessing the practical refutation of the long continued republican slander that the democratic party was incapable of governing without destroying the business interests of the country, and that the "solid south" only desired democratic success in order to pay rebel claims, to repeal rebel soldiers and to destroy the constitutional provisions resulting from the triumph of the Union cause. The best reply to the senator's sophistry is found in the improved character of the government under a democratic president; in the economy, simplicity and honesty that have taken the place of prodigality, ostentation and fraud, and in the faithful and intelligent assistance in the work of reform rendered by those members of the ebhi- net and other official who have been selected from the southern states.

Mr. Sherman is as unfortunate in his historical allusions as in his assaults on the "solid south." Referring to the return to government positions of confederates who were in rebellion against the government a few years ago, Mr. Sherman says: "This strange turn in events has but one example in history, and that was the restoration of Charles II. after the brilliant but brief protectorate of Cromwell, and, like that restoration, is a reproach to the civilization of the age."

In this singular statement Mr. Sherman likens the confederates to the regular English government which was temporarily suspended when Charles I was deposed, and restored when Charles II. came to the throne, and the government of the United States to the brief protectorate of Cromwell. Such a laughing comparison ought not to have been made by a person of Mr. Sherman's intelligence in a carefully prepared speech. Notwithstanding the difference in their sentiments and objects, the confederates might more properly be likened to Cromwell, who for a time disturbed the regular government of England and threatened its overthrow. Cromwell's object was to strengthen liberty. The object of the confederates was to strengthen slavery. Yet the confederates were no doubt as conscientious as the protector in their belief in the justice of their cause.—N. Y. World.

Where is the Clean Sweep?

Before President Lincoln had been in office six weeks the vultures had all the spoils worth taking. Not a democratic postmaster with a salary of more than four hundred dollars was anywhere to be found, and from that day until the 4th of March last democrats have not been permitted to hold an appointive federal office. There seemed nothing extraordinary or out of course in the prediction that in the event of democratic success there would be what is called a clean sweep. Mr. Candidate Cleveland's pledge of faithfulness to the doctrine and idea of civil service reform, which has been making millions of converts in this country, was received in many quarters with a shade of incredulity. The new administration has been in operation six months, and there has been no clean sweep; there has been no clean sweep at all. In the 2,325 presidential postoffices there have been but 487 changes, and a large percentage of these were appointments made to fill vacancies created by death, resignation or expiration of term. There are 48,421 post offices of fourth class, that is, offices to which the masters are appointed, and yet with the advice of the senate upon the nomination of the president, but by the postoffice department. In these there have been but 6,400 changes, many of these appointments being made to fill vacancies arising from ordinary causes.

It was supposed that an extraordinary push for places would be overwhelming; that the president would be compelled to succumb to an unprecedented rush. The record does not bear out this suggestion. The great mass of federal employments are still occupied by men appointed as republicans. If these places were still regarded as spoils it might be said that they continue in the possession of a captured enemy, but they are not so treated. The time honored doctrine largely obtains. Public office is regarded not as party rewards and incentives, but as a public trust.—Chicago Herald.

Good Habits.

There are many little matters which enter into good manners, which must be so learned as to be habitual, if we practice them at all. For example, manners as table involve certain forms of eating, the disposal of hands, the observance of acts of politeness, all of which should be constantly practiced, in order to become natural. So in general society, the art of being agreeable involves great delicacy and tact. Too much or too boisterous conversation, a frigid or uninterested manner; lack of agreement in the discussion of topics, the assertion of personal peculiarities, and much else, are entirely out of order.

The whirligig of time is bringing its revenges. Geo. W. Childs has made the statement that Gen. Grant conceded the rightful election of Mr. Tilden, and promoted the electoral commission because he supposed it would insure the triumph of justice and the inauguration of Mr. Tilden. More than this the statement of Mr. Childs is credited by all of the Philadelphia papers, republican as well as democratic, where Mr. Childs has been so long and so well known. The Philadelphia Call, a republican organ, says that the revelation shows what Gen. Grant was in the habit of, motor (of the electoral commission) and that his course was taken in belief that Mr. Tilden was elected, but also from motives of the highest patriotism. The statement of Mr. Childs is an important contribution to the political literature of the times, as well as affording a striking illustration of the change in republican sentiment on the question of the legality of Hayes' election and term of office.

Good Goods and Low Prices

ARE

BOUND TO WIN

If you don't believe it, come and see my SPRING STOCK You will see that I am up to the times in styles, and have as fine an assortment of MEN'S YOUTH'S and CHILDREN'S SUITS, as you will find in any City I defy any House to show any nicer line of NECK WEAR and

Furnishing Goods

My aim is to HOLD THE CLOTHING TRADE, by carrying a Large Stock so I can please you all. PRICES TALK Come and see my Large Spring Stock before buying elsewhere.

GEO. W. MILLER.

How Barrios Fell.

Theodore Paeflke, Barrios' military engineer in the expedition against the Salvadoreans, writes to friends in New York giving an account of the battle of Chalchuapa, in which Barrios was killed. The power of the ambitious leader over the Guatemalan soldiery is shown in the few concluding lines of the recital:

"The dawn of the next day found our camp all up and alive with expectant men, and all felt that the day would be somewhat 'fast,' but all were in good spirits. The artillery opened fire again, but with a little more vigor than the day before. The circle of our troops around the enemy was made more perfect, and the reserves were put into position. Between 9 and 10 a. m. an officer came into headquarters and told Barrios that a certain battalion refused to go into the fight under the leadership of their commander. Here Barrios made the great mistake of his life. He left headquarters for the purpose of making a speech to these troops. In the heat of speech-making, in a moment of enthusiasm he forgot himself, forgot his country, his great work, his cause, and asked them if they would come with him. Of course the answer was one 'hurrah' and 'Viva!' and he then and there opened the battle in person and led this battalion, took a couple of trenches, but fell a victim, pierced by two bullets. The battle opened all around, and our troops began to close in on the enemy, but as one battalion after the other learned that their 'Father' had fallen they became demoralized, wildfire and gave up the already won battle. Two hours later, when the fact became generally known, our whole army was demoralized. Some of the best disciplined battalions kept up the fight until late in the afternoon, but ineffectually. With Barrios the whole heart and soul, as well as the head and hand, had fallen. When late in the afternoon I saw that all was lost, and that nothing could be done, I also went backward and right straight with the body of our chief to the capital, where I arrived again on April 5. What we all have lost in him I do not need to make any comments on."

Antiquity of Natural Gas.

Natural gas is as ancient as the universe. It was known to man in prehistoric times, we must suppose, for the very earliest historical reference to the Magi of Asia records them as worshiping the eternal fires which then blazed, and still blaze, in fissures of the mountain-heights overlooking the Caspian sea. These records reportain to a period at least 600 years before the birth of Christ; but the Magi must have lived and worshiped long anterior to that time.

Zoroaster, reputed founder of the Parsee sect, is placed contemporary with the prophet Daniel, from 500 to 600 B.C.; and, although Daniel has been doubted, and Zoroaster may never have seen the light, the lessons of the Magi cases have been flaming since the earliest authentic records.

The Parsees (Persians) did not originally worship fire. They believed in two great powers—the Spirit of Light, or Good, and the Spirit of Darkness, or Evil. Subsequent to Zoroaster, when the Persian Empire rose to its greatest power and importance, overspreading the west to the shores of the Caspian and beyond, the tribes of the Caucasus suffered political subjugation; but the creed of the Magi, founded upon the eternal flame-altars of the mountains, proved sufficiently vigorous to transform the Parseeism of the conquerors to the fire-worship of the conquered.

About the beginning of the seventh century of the Christian era, the Greek Emperor Heraclius overturned the fire-altars of the Magi at Baku, the chief city on the Caspian, but the fire-worshipers were not expelled from the Caucasus until the Mohammedans subjugated the Persian Empire, when they were driven into the Bangoon, on the irrawaddy, in India, one of the most noted petroleum-producing districts of the world.—George Wardman, in Popular Science Monthly for June.

☞The price of "Brick" Pomeroy's Democrat is $2.00 a year. By an arrangement with the publisher we can furnish it with the Journal, for $2.65 per year, cash in advance.

Photographs!

I have located my

New Photograph Gallery

OVER

UPRIGHT, EMREY & CO. S STORE.

And am prepared to do

All Kinds of Photographic Work,

From the

Miniature Picture to Life Size

—

Any Old Picture Copied and Enlarged.

Satisfaction Guaranteed.

DAVE BRADBEER,
Charlevoix, Mich.

WM. J. STEVENSON,

HORSE-SHOEING,

Wagon Shop,

BLACKSMITHING, ETC.

Heavy Wagons on hand and made to order. I make a specialty of heavy wagons, of the best material and WARRANT ALL WORK. Call and examine before buying elsewhere.

SHOP ONE BLOCK WEST OF CARPENTER, EARLY&BLAKE'S & CO.'S STORE, CHARLEVOIX.

☞The OSBORNE MOWING MACHINE on hand and for sale.

"Facts to be Remembered."

NIMROD PLUG TOBACCO

IS THE BEST CHEW, the GREATEST SELLER, and cost more than any other Tobacco. It is made in good order, NEVER DRY, HARD AND SPONGY, SWEETER, and CHEWS SWEETEST AND LONGEST, and as a chew it is ever natural NIMROD is THE CHEW, TOP THE CHEWER; never sticks on the dealer's hands. This famed Chew is manufactured exclusively by the tobacco manufacturers and producers

S. W. VENABLE & CO.

Petersburg, Va.

$100 REWARD

FOR

Every Ounce of Adulteration

IN THE

U. G. Soap

The Great 5c Cake,

Made only by

GOWANS & STOVER,

BUFFALO, N. Y.

For Sale by all First-class Grocers.

CASH CLUB RATES.

Those of our readers who want a city paper for the coming year can be accommodated by the JOURNAL's club list. To get the benefit of these reduced rates, all arrears must be paid to date of subscription, and one year in advance in all cases.

Price.	With the Journal.
$1.00 Detroit Weekly Free Press	$2.00
1.00 New York Weekly World	2.00
2.00 Pomeroy's Democrat	2.65
75 Detroit Echo, weekly	1.75
1.00 Chicago Weekly Herald	2.00
1.00 Chicago Weekly News	2.00
1.50 The Cottage Hearth (monthly)	2.25

Sample Copies furnished on application.

THIS PAPER may be found on file at Geo. P. Rowell & Co's Newspaper Advertising Bureau (10 Spruce St.), where Advertising can be made for it in NEW YORK.

THE JOURNAL

Charlevoix, Mich. September 17, 1885.

Provision Market.

Retail prices to consumers, corrected every Saturday morning by Pinsner, Powers & Co. Butter, 15c.

Eggs per doz., 15c.

Potatoes per bu., 25@30c.

Apples per bu., 25@30c.

Onions per bu., 50@60c.

Beans per bu., $1.50@1.60.

Hay per ton, $6.00@8.00.

Wood per cord, 50c.

Chickens, dressed, 8@10.

Turkeys per lb., 10@12c.

Ducks per lb., 10@12c.

Geese per lb., 10@12c.

Pork, Shoulders 5@6c.

Sides 6c. Hams 8@9c.

Beef per lb., 5@6c.

Veal, 5@6c.

Mutton, 5@6c.

Lard per lb 7@8c.

Tallow, 3@4c.

Flour—Best Patent per bbl., $5 00@5 50.

Best Family, $4 50@4 75.

Graham per bbl., $3 50@4 00.

Rye per bbl., $3 25@3 50.

Corn Meal per bbl., $3 00.

Corn per bu., 40@45c.

Oats per bu., 25@30c.

Rye per bu., 40@45c.

Wheat per bu., 80@90c.

Salt per bbl., $1 25@1 50.

Salt per sack, 75@80c.

Fish per bbl., 8@9c.

Fish per half bbl., 4@5c.

Fish per kit, 50@60c.

Fish per doz., 25@30c.

Fish per lb., 10@12c.

Fish per half lb., 5@6c.

Fish per quart, 8@10c.

Tallow Candles, 8@9c.

Tallow Dips, 10@12c.

Kerosene, Water White 20c.; Legal Test 15c.

Vinegar, pretty good 20 cents.

Fresh and Cured Meats.

Beef—Steak 12@15c. Roast 10@12½c. Stew 6@8c.

Pork—Steak 12½c. Roast 10c.

Ham—Fresh 10@12c.

Lard 10@12c.

Sausage 10c.

Tongue 10c.

☞Now is the time your horses and colts need attention. To prevent disease and loss up the system you will find Parmelee's Condition Powders invaluable. Full pounds 25 cts. Sold by R. G. W. Crosier, Charlevoix, and Crosier & Harris, Ironton. 32-13

☞A handsome chromo given away free to purchasers of Dodge or Shoes to the amount of five dollars, and a fine lithograph picture for three dollars. Call and see the rare collections of pictures. D. Sherwood & Co.

☞Now is the time to buy a hat. Bergin, Emrey & Co. have five those (at more or less), which they are doing out at 50 per cent discount.

☞Just received, cottons, prints, bed ticks, leathers, jerseys, hosiery, gloves, etc., at Upright, Emrey & Co.'s.

☞Cedar and pine shingles for sale by Upright, Emrey & Co.

☞Kalamazoo celery at Jefferies' Market.

☞Best fresh butter at Jefferies' market.

☞Boyntons Hats at Jefferies' Market.

Local Notes and News.

The Belvedere closed Sept. 15th.

Work on the north pier is progressing.

Geo. Sharp has gone to Detroit.

The Bass Island is having her house painted this week.

Frank Ingles, of Detroit, is visiting Mr. Crosier this week.

Mrs. Barrios has recovered so as to appear on the streets again.

Special examination of teachers at Boyne City, Friday, Sept. 25th.

Geo. E. H. Whitman resumes retire on the conferences this year.

Mr. Dempsey was removed to the Indian at Kalamazoo last week.

Geo. Keyes of Olivet, made us a call last Thursday afternoon.

Chas. Jordan acts as jail keeper, and keeps the building every night.

H. W. Page is building an addition to his cottage on the Charlevoix road.

L. E. Allen drove a lot of feeder cattle in front of Hurd's dock this week.

Thos. Beak is building a one story addition on the north side of his residence.

Remember the meeting of the Improvement Association next Monday evening.

Mrs. O. I. Wheat started on Tuesday for a visit with friends in Clinton county.

Prof. Estes, of Cadillac, arrived Friday to take charge of the Charlevoix schools.

B. S. Harsha has moved his real estate and insurance office to the Bank block.

Walter Clifford past G. A. R., had a fine day for their picnic at Boyne City yesterday.

H. Pinsner is finishing a wing on the south side of his residence on Bridge street.

H. W. Page has retired from the firm of Upright, Emrey & Co., and his name is dropped.

Wm. Dougherty is still warden of the Chicago resort, notwithstanding reports to the contrary.

A high rustic bridge will be built across the Blatchford cottage to the island this winter.

Wm. Harris was on our streets last Thursday. His broken leg is making a good recovery.

R. A. Emrey's new house is about completed, and he will commence housekeeping in a few days.

Mr. J. C. Alray, wife, and two children, of Portland, are visiting the family of Chas. Kelley this week.

The Ironton people will give a reception to Rev. C. F. VanAnken, at Cater's hotel next Friday evening.

Mr. Allen P. May, of Kalamazoo, is giving music lessons in Charlevoix and vicinity, and expects to remain all winter.

N. N. Card, of Clarion, was in town calling on friends this week. He will teach the Norwood school again this winter.

We had the pleasure of a view of the lakes and resorts from the tower of Breezy Point cottage last Saturday afternoon.

John Latzan has fitted up Chadoupka's old ball alley for a harness shop, and put in a stock of new harnesses and fixtures.

L. E. Allen is building a new house on the McCausland place on the State Road, and will soon begin one on his lot on Bridge street.

John Bell harvested three acres of wheat this year which gave a yield of 104½ bushels,—an average of almost 34 bushels per acre.

Every Michigan regiment, and every state having troops in the union armies were represented at the reunion at Reed City last week.

Leonard Anderson, who was run over by a load of bark near Breed's some weeks ago, has recovered so that he was taken home last Monday.

Attention is called to the list of improvements in Boyne City, on the last page. We hope to give a similar report of business in East Jordan next week.

Chas. Swallow has painted his house old gold, with dark brown trimmings making it stand out conspicuously among the houses on the south terrace.

W. W. Fuller, of Boyne City, is one of the "get there" class of builders. He is energetic and pushing, and his work compares favorably with the best in town.

Frank Shaubut and L. Whitmoyer were the only representatives from Baxter post in attendance at the reunion at Reed City last week. They returned home Friday morning.

The Sunday School at Black's school house, having been so successful during the three months past, it is resolved to hold it for three months more. All are invited that can come.

Rev. C. F. VanAnken will preach an anniversary sermon at the Congregational church next Sunday morning. The occasion will complete the third year of the organization of the society.

H. P. Parmelee and Chas. Kelly finished grading the bank along the government work of the upper channel this week. When the grass grows next spring, this will be one of the most attractive lots on the resort.

On inquiry since our report of new buildings was published last week, we find a large number of improvements and additions exceeding our limit of $100, which had not been reported. We shall try to give them all in the near future.

While digging down the bank in front of Breezy Point cottage last week, H. P. Parmelee found two large pieces of pre-historic pottery. That spot was evidently headquarters of some of the ancient inhabitants of this region.

Rev. J. T. Iddings closes his ministerial labors for this conference year next Sunday. During the two years just closed he has worked hard, and has made many friends. His change is flattering when all the elements are considered.

The Dr. Besanko Med. Co., whose advertisements may be found in this paper, have an advertising agent who is a hard man to contract with. One inducement offered is that the company pays the price at the time agreed upon, in New York exchange, without any quibbles or technical delays, if the printer has done his part. With the recollection of past experience still fresh, we signed the contract with some misgivings. Last Saturday we were very much surprised to receive a draft for the amount due on first quarter, over a week before the expiration of the term. Not all patent medicine houses deal this way.

J. Milo Eaton has moved back and rebuilt the foundation of the tenement occupied by W. C. Moore, on Clinton street, and has graded and fitted up the front yard, repainted the house, and made other improvements about the premises.

A sensational story of rape, and escape of the perpetrator, comes from East Jordan this week. The story of the escape as reported here is very damaging to an attorney and justice of the peace interested in the case, but we hope to know more about it later on.

Hemmings & Hogan, painters, found more work than they could do, and Mr. F. Orrell has been taken into the firm. They will continue to take all orders that come, and promise usual excellent work with "quick time." A sample of their work may be seen on R. A. Emrey's new house.

When Fred Smith came down town after dinner last Saturday his face contained more than the usual good natured smile—caused by the safe arrival of a visitor at his home that morning, who will remain 21 years, more or less, and who may sometime be a bank cashier like his father.

It is estimated that there is now at Boyne City, only about two cargoes of wood, one of cedar, and one of bark, and at Advance but one of bark. These articles of produce are sold off closer this year, than before in season time, and the intention now is to get out greater quantities than ever the coming winter.

There is little satisfaction in trying to make gardens or keep clean dooryards, when cattle are allowed to run at large in the streets, breaking down fences and destroying so much property as they do now. It is a question whether enough would not be saved every year in gardens and broken fences to pay all the pasturage necessary to keep cattle out of the street.

Chas. Kelly gave such excellent satisfaction as warden of the Charlevoix resort last season, that he has been engaged for the ensuing year. So far as we can learn, nothing was stolen or even disturbed in any of the cottages of the resort. All the work entrusted to Mr. Kelly's care received the thorough attention which it deserved, and the fact of his reappointment speaks well for his management.

The brush has been trimmed out of the line grove of evergreens on the point in front of King's and McKay's new cottages, and the ground leveled so as to make a vast improvement in appearance. The east slope of the bank has been terraced and sodded, and the level portions will be sown with grass seed so as to make a nice lawn for next season. These two cottages, with their fine surroundings, are valuable additions to the resort property.

17sep5

These figures and letters following the names on the address label indicate that the subscription expires with the number for this week,—17th of September, 1885. The first figures indicate the day of month and the last figure the year in which the subscription expires. A little attention to this will keep the subscriber's account with the printer always before him. When a payment is made, if the proper credit does not appear on the next label, the subscriber will confer a favor by calling our attention at once, that all mistakes may be corrected.

Why Some People Fail to get their Paper.

Mr. Henry Wade called for his Journal. The clerk understood the name as Reed, looked, and found none addressed Henry Reed. We happened to be present and called out the correct name, knowing that the paper ought to be there. The clerk looked for Wade and of course found the paper. To avoid such mistakes, call the name distinctly, and be sure that it is understood.

NOTICE.

Frank Fisher wishes to have it understood that his name cannot with truthfulness and propriety be used in connection with any social or political movement not provided for by law.

Charlevoix, Sept. 17, 1885.

ALL PREPARED FOR

THE FALL CAMPAIGN.

We have just placed upon our counters a choice assortment of

Dress Goods, Woollens, Suitings, Etc., Etc.,

For fall wear, at very tempting prices.

NEW DEPARTURE IN TEAS.

Spring Crop, from Japan.

Commencing Saturday, Aug. 29,

We will offer, FOR CASH ONLY, 25 Chests new sun-cured Japan at 35 Cents, by the pound or chest. We guarantee this to be equal if not superior to any fifty-cent Tea.

J. L. HURD & CO.

Successors to Amos Fox.

SCHOOL BOOK DEPOT.

School Bags, School Books, Slates, Pencils, Pens, Ink, Rulers, Blank Books, Teachers' Registers,

AND IN FACT

Every Article Used in the School Room.

F. G. HINES & CO.,

Druggists and Stationers.

The Official Program for the Coming Pharmaceutical Convention.

The Executive Committee of the State Pharmaceutical Association met at Detroit last week and arranged the following program for the annual convention, to be held at Detroit, October 13, 14 and 15:

TUESDAY, 2 P. M.

Meeting called to order by President Crosier.
Roll call.
Address of welcome by Mayor Grammond.
Response by ex-President Wells, of Lansing.
Reading minutes of last meeting.
Address by R. G. W. Crosier, of Charlevoix.
Presentation of names for membership.

TUESDAY, 7:30 P. M.

Report of Executive Committee on Applications for membership.
Election of members.
Reports of officers.
Reports of committees.
Reading of papers.

WEDNESDAY, 9 A. M.

Unfinished business.
Reading of papers and discussion of same continued.
Trade Interests.

WEDNESDAY, 2 P. M.

Trade interests.

WEDNESDAY, 7:30 P. M.

Association taken to Detroit Opera House.

THURSDAY, 9 A. M.

Election of officers.
Appointing of committees.
Miscellaneous and unfinished business.
Adjournment.
"Home, Sweet Home."

Shipments.

The following are the clearances from the port of Charlevoix as report ed for the week ending Wednesday evening:

Sept. 10—Sch. M. R. Hale, 250 cords bark, W. J. Pernell, to Lasalle.
11—Sch. E. M. Stanton, 200 cords bark, J. P. Ryan, to Milwaukee.
12—Sch. Cleveland, 4 barrels fish oil and 50 cords bark, W. C. Pernell, to Kenosha.
12—Sch. Lapwing, 130 cords wood, P. Thom, to Milwaukee.
15—Sch. Harriet Rice, 50 cords wood and 150 cords bark, W. A. O'Brien, to Chicago.
15—Sch. Dan Mahoney, 200 cords slabs, Geo. Burnham & Son, to Milwaukee.
16—Sch. J. H. Pitton, 195 cords bark and 16 cords wood, J. O. Hanson, to Milwaukee.
16—Sch. Surprise, 100 cords wood, E. M. Ryan, to Milwaukee.
16—Sch. Annie, 20,000 feet hardwood lumber, Gleason & Porter, to Chicago.

Additional Improvements.

The following items were omitted from our report of new buildings last week, which should have been included:

Mrs L. Spaulding, extension of store.....$350
J. Milo Eaton, improvement of tenement.....200
John Latzan, barn and improvements.....300
Thos. Beak, wing.....100
H. W. Page, addition to cottage.....250

M. E. Church.

The last services of the conference year, will be held next Sunday, preaching at 10:30 o'clock. Closing sermon at 7 o'clock. All are invited to these last appointments.

J. T. IDDINGS, Pastor.

Episcopal Services.

Services will be held at the M. E. Church, on Friday, the 18th day of September, at 7:30 p. m, by the Rev. Wm. Morrall, of Elk Rapids.

Two Charlevoix pale teams are going to East Jordan to play, Friday evening.

ONE OF THE INVALIDS.

E. M. PARMELEE, Dear Sir:—I have been taking your Dyspepsia, Diabetes, and Liver Cure for some time past and have received more benefit from it than from all of the $500 worth of Doctor's medicines that I have used in the last few years. Before taking the cure I was weak and tired all the time but now I can work all day without fatigue. Would not be without it in the house. Believe it is one of the best medicines in the world.

YOURS, ROBERT A. LOUGHBRYE, JR.,
Somers Lane, Pa.

Sold by Dr. G. W. Crosier, Charlevoix, and Crosier & Harris, Ironton.

QUICK RELIEF.

Hamilton's Jamaica Ginger Tonic and Pain Cure is not only a valuable internal remedy for all stomach and bowel difficulties such as Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Heartburn, Flatulence, Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Cramps and Colic, but cannot be excelled for external application in Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Sciatica, Sprains, Side and Backache and Strains in any part of the body. Used freely with warmth and rubbing it gives quick relief. Price 25 and 50 cents per bottle.

Sold by Dr. G. W. Crosier, Charlevoix, and Crosier & Harris, Ironton.

☞The Household Beacon for September is at hand. Its columns are replete with information of interest to every lady in the land. It is a paper that must be seen to be appreciated. Ladies, send your address on a postal card and you will receive a sample copy. Address the Household Beacon, South Whitley, Ind.

Cure for Piles.

Piles are frequently preceded by a sense of weight in the back, followed by pain in the small of the back, sometimes extending to the lower parts. Some affections of the kidneys are indicated by the same. At times, symptoms of indigestion are present. Blindness, weakness of the stomach, costiveness, sleeplessness, irritability, prove very disagreeable feelings, also getting warm in a common attendant. Dr. Bosanko's Pile Remedy and Injector combined, is a cure for the disease. Dr. Bosanko's Pile Remedy, which acts directly upon the parts affected, dissolving the tumors, allaying the inflamed feeling, and effecting a permanent cure. Price $1 per box. Sold by Geo. W. Crosier. 18-1

Keynote to Health.

Health is wealth. Wealth means independence. The Keynote to Dr. Bosanko's Cough and Lung Syrup, the best Cough Syrup in the world. Coughs, Colds, Pains in the Chest, Throat and Lungs, Early Consumption. One dose gives relief in every case. Take no other. Price 50 cents and $1.00. Samples free. Sold by G. W. Crosier.

A Reliable Article.

For catarrhal, rheumatic and a desire to get such goods as will give the greatest satisfaction, Geo. W. Crosier recommends Dr. Bosanko's Catarrh Remedy, Bosanko's Cough and Lung Syrup, because it is the best Medicine on the market. Sample Cold, Cough and Pleurisy Consumption. Price 50 cents and $1.00. Sample free.

☞The Detroit Weekly Free Press, four months on trial for 25 cts. Specimen copies free at this office.

IN THE NORTHWEST.

BY H. H. SOMERAL.

Night rained regardless in her jeweled robes
Above the steppes of the wooded Lacota
Lo! where the Sioux in the Dakota forest lodges
Still celebrate behind the dances of the ghosts
By the sweet Sioux in beneficial bandage
The sweet second trimester, as though, with sound
Aside the hideous painted demons stalked
To unknown caverns, Belladonna sets
The Sioux in the Dakota forest lodges
Hitherto all these widely-school there
A hundred year before. Yet, 'twixt the marge
Of forest where wooded Lacota's
Propinquity idle, there lay, in pomp of wealth,
A city vast, with the second flight
Of the building by the alchemy of hours,
The Bonanza Hotel.

O courage rare! To bear! with pussy might
All nature in her savagery, so intricate!
Lo! the Sioux in the Dakota forest sketch a rifle
Like this. At every step the wavering mind
Waves to pale brilliance and indecision
In such fresh contrast of the civil hand.
No longer Minnehaha laughs alone,
But Hiawatha sighs merry glee with here,
And sing the groves with relaxes far less fierce
Than when the jail ring was whose stricken dim
Proud Minnehaha's verdurous shores are Renewed
With rendered habitations reared for wealth
Hard won from out the snowy piles that float
The millions of the world.

Lake, 1886.

ONLY A FARMER.

"I don't like the country, and I never would have come here but for the chance of becoming Mrs. Allen Waters—that's the truth.

And Miss Ada Atherton flounced into an easy chair, and prepared for a fit of the sulks.

Her mother looked up, amused at the frankness of her youngest daughter, as for her relief, Dora, who sat back in her seat with a pained blush on her dark cheek.

"I am sure, Ada, you need not complain. You have a far easier time living at the Hollyhocks than your mother or I," she said.

"Why everything need be so hateful, I don't see," grumbled Miss Ada, throwing under her flaxen curls. "If father hadn't dell now, he might have run along for years, until Dora and I were suitably married, and kept up appearances so that we could have made good matches. Now everybody knows we are poor."

"And everybody knows we are honest!" cried Dora, who still trembled at mention of her dead father. "We settled everything as honorably as possible, and came here to live, glad of Uncle Alfred's offer—at least I was."

"And I am sure I was, my dear," said Mrs. Atherton, with a sigh. "I am thankful to have a roof over my head in my old age."

"Uncle Alfred was absorbed in horticulture, and made a pet of the place for years. It's lovely here, I think," said Dora, leaning to look out into the bright summer garden.

"I don't care for flowers," returned Ada, moodily. "I don't make myself happy with hoes and watering pots. I did think it would be better than this, with the Waters' place opposite. But Allen Waters is away, and the gates shut against us. In fact, there is nobody here."

"You calculated a great deal on the society of a man you don't know in the least," said Dora, returning to her sewing.

"I'm not in the least like you, Dora, with your notions of congeniality and similar tastes," burst forth Ada. "I've a taste for comfort and luxury, and I could love any man who would give them to me. Besides," somewhat moderating her violence, as her mother looked sunnyed at her extreme statement, "you know we have always heard what a fine fellow Allen Waters was."

Dora said no more. Her bright, dark face burned with indignation. She was ashamed of Ada, grieved, yet secretly tried to make some excuses for her sister.

Perhaps the Hollyhocks was dull beyond endurance to Ada. They had never been alike. It was wrong, perhaps, to blame her too much. Yet she sick shuddered at Ada's unwomanly words.

Day by day Ada continued her complaints of the Hollyhocks. She was miserable herself, and she certainly made everybody else so. While Dora was busy as a bee, Ada moped herself almost sick.

The little old phaeton which Dora had driven in as a child was left the family, and, at her mother's suggestion, Dora hired a mild, fat Dobbin of a neighboring farmer one day and invited Ada to a drive.

"There's lovely scenery along the valley road. It will make a little change for you, Ada. Besides, I've a bit of news to liven you up."

Ada turned languidly.

"Allen Walters is coming home," said Dora, with a faintly mischievous smile.

After a moment's thought Ada actually arrayed herself in her prettiest driving costume, and entered the carriage.

"Drive past Waters' place, Dora. What a fat, lazy horse! There is no fun in driving if you can't drive in style. There now, see the Waters' place. It's all I expected it to be. There! he some comfort in living if one could be mistress there. It's no better marriage that I ought to have made if pique had not failed.

And, with discontented lips and an arrogant lift of the head, Ada was driven past a bay-wagon in which was a man in his shirt-sleeves.

He glanced at the young ladies with frank curiosity.

"Did you know, Dora? Impudent fellow! How he stared! Country folks!" sneered Ada.

"I bowed because he bowed to us, Ada. You would not have me repel such a mere civility. He is probably some one who knows us, though we are strangers here."

"I detest such people."

"I don't think I could detest any one who wore such white shirt-sleeves, and looked so comfortable under a broad straw hat this hot day," laughed Dora, carelessly.

But the very next moment Ada was thankful for the existence of "such people," for the phaeton broke down, and, with a dismal scream, she was tipped from her seat and landed among the roadside buttercups and clover.

The mild, fat old horse instantly stopped. Dora looked anxiously about for help. No house was near. She looked appealingly up and down the road—but—oh, gladly!—she saw the bay-wagon, the straw hat, and the white shirt-sleeves drawing near.

"You have broken down," said the owner, heartily, jumping down.

"Thank you, yes. The carriage seems coming all to pieces," said Dora, still trembling from fright. "Could you do anything to help us? I should be, oh! so much obliged to you."

"Yes," said Ada, shaking the dust off her silk skirts. "We are the Misses Atherton. We will pay you, of course."

The man lent to examine the axle-tree. He s de fare was toward Dora, but she plainly saw him smile.

"It's not so very bad, then?" she said, anxiously.

"It might be fixed, I think, so you could get home safely; but I haven't much time. In fact, I'm in a great hurry."

"What is your time worth to you?" asked Ada, with the air she had once seen a millionaire use when speaking to some workman he was about to employ.

"Sometimes more, sometimes less," answered the man, with the same quizzical smile.

But he had procured a cord from his pocket, and, with deft fingers, began mending the broken trace. Then he produced some nails, and, with a stone for a hammer, fastened the broken pommel away vigorously beneath the carriage.

"There! by driving carefully you will be able to reach home safely," he said, at last, rising.

There was something in his composed manner and distinguished station which made Ada stare for an instant; but she could see little beneath the broad straw hat but a curling black beard, a tanned cheek, and two piercing eyes.

"What is to pay?"

"Nothing."

He offered a hand to help Dora into the carriage.

She seated herself and drew out a little embroidered portemonnaie.

"I beg your pardon," she said, earnestly, "but you must let me pay you. You said you were in a hurry; we have taken your time, and you have done us a great service. I have nothing but a half-sovereign. Pray take it. I am sorry it is so little," blushing, as she tendered him a shining coin.

Again the quizzical smile and the eyes—they had a world of meaning in them, those piercing dark eyes under the hat-brim. Dora felt her heart thrill strangely.

It relieved her greatly that the man extended his hand and received the money.

"Thank you," he said, quietly.

"What may your name be?" asked Ada, who had seated herself unassisted, "and your occupation? You are quite family," patronizingly.

The man laughed outright, a low, mellow laugh.

"My name does not matter; I am a farmer. Good-day, ladies."

He stepped back, lifting his hat, smiling again at the look of consternation upon the features of the girls at the grace and the face she movement revoked.

A kingly brow shaded by close-clipped yet beautiful hair, a white forehead, eyes dauntlessly bright, with scorn and a smile in them.

The phaeton turned one way, the bay-wagon another.

"Whoever thought that he looked like that, under that old hat, in a heavy cart?" said Ada, breathlessly. "Who can it be? How provoking! He was a right down gentleman, though he said he was only a farmer."

Poor Ada! Her mortification had just begun.

That evening, with silk hat doffed from the handsome head, faultlessly arrayed, Mr. Allen Waters presented himself in the little parlor of the Hollyhocks, and, introducing himself, frankly, and, at her mother's suggestion, Dora hired a mild, fat Dobbin of a neighboring farmer one day and invited Ada to a drive.

"There's lovely scenery along the valley road. It will make a little change for you, Ada. Besides, I've a bit of news to liven you up."

Ada turned languidly.

"Allen Walters is coming home," said Dora, with a faintly mischievous smile.

After a moment's thought Ada actually arrayed herself in her prettiest driving costume, and entered the carriage.

"Drive past Waters' place, Dora. What a fat, lazy horse! There is no fun in driving if you can't drive in style. There now, see the Waters' place. It's all I expected it to be. There! be some comfort in living if one could be mistress there. It's no better marriage that I ought to have made if pique had not failed.

And, with discontented lips and an arrogant lift of the head, Ada was driven past a bay-wagon in which was a man in his shirt-sleeves.

He glanced at the young ladies with frank curiosity.

"Did you know, Dora? Impudent fellow! How he stared! Country folks!" sneered Ada.

"I bowed because he bowed to us, Ada. You would not have me repel such a mere civility. He is probably some one who knows us, though we are strangers here."

"I detest such people."

"I don't think I could detest any one

HUMOR.

As epitaph for a boatman: Life is oar.—Budget.

THE favorite tool of the printer is the adze.—Pittsburgh Chronicle.

A SLIVER in the back is worth two in the hand.—Whitehall Times.

IN India it costs more to get married than to die. Nature is full of wise provisions.—Philadelphia Call.

WHEN a man sees double, it is evidence that he has glasses on too strong for him.—Boston Transcript.

GOTHER wisdom by open ears and eyes, and let dry mouth be an exemplar of the early closing movement.—Barber's Gazette.

DR. WARNER'S theory explains the anxiety of some people to reach the pole. Who can blame man for wanting to get back to Eden?—St. Paul Herald.

THE hackmen complain that some of their passengers are rude to them. Poor things! Let them come over to this country and revenge themselves.—Texas Siftings.

ONE man may call another a liar with perfect freedom in Kentucky, but it will prevent litigation over his estate if he will make his will before he does it.—Merchant Traveler.

YOU twenty cents you can obtain liquid material for a hundred cigars in Japan. Louisville papers who don't want their city in Japan will not copy.—Philadelphia Call.

A BRIDEGROOM man had a "relation" that the Lord wanted him to work for 50 cents a day less than he was receiving. His request was granted by his thoughtful employer, who is looking for more "strikes" of the same sort.—Harper's Bazar.

THE BOARDER'S MORNING SOILILOQUY.

It is well it be born of sleep either by!
Or, if it be not, I'm done for.
The sun hurtf yet there's something cry
Proclaims that day's laughing
Three more days and I have begin,
The sun shines out in splendor,
And I'm in be the door to the rising sun
That makes my bedroom bright.
Boston Courier.

WHEN Philip of Macedon wrote to the Spartan sphors: "If I enter Laconia I will level Lacedæmon to the ground," he received for answer the small but significant word, "If." Telegraph rates between Macedon and Laconia then kept down from being a mile high.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

"WHAT did your husband think of the play last night?" asked Mrs. Crimsonbeak, of her neighbor, Mrs. Crimsonbeak, the other morning. "Oh, he thought it was very dry." "Did he say so?" "No, he didn't say so, but he went out between the acts." "Well, that's proof enough, certainly."—Yonkers Statesman.

A CORRESPONDENT wants to know why boys should be taught what men do not. Boys whistle out of inherent perversity, or something of that sort; but a man seems to have the idea that it is the end of it. He drowns it by too much exercise. And this is the one good thing which can be said of a lengthening hatchet.—Boston Transcript.

IT is considered of the fact that the new baby of the Japanese Minister has been named after President Cleveland, a correspondent sends in the following wish for his welfare:

Ah, tender-eyed little Jap,
Now lying on your mamma's lap!
Instead of bit or black-and-tan
When home you go across the sea,
May you be given a good cleaver
The cleaver of Cleveland of Japan.
—Boston Globe.

A WESTERN paper tells of a young woman in Idaho who "slaughtered her lions." Such a young woman doesn't need a "big brother" to protect her and it is safe to wager that her father's front gate doesn't need repairing once a year. A man doesn't wonder a wife that can whip four lions—unless he can whip about twenty-four.—Northtown Herald.

Keeping Old Letters.

A plea for the keeping of old letters contains these sentiments:

"In the stilly night, ere slumber's chain doth bind, an inspiration unbidden seemingly guides the pen while those exquisite thoughts that course trooping through the brain are written, and on the coming train the white-winged messenger takes its flight, bearing to some dear friend tokens of precious remembrance, words of lip-land beauty, words that will grow brighter as years go by."

Now, a grown-up person who can recommend in such a simple style an incendiary course like that, ought to know that it would brand them a good deal of discomfort and nervalgia in the stilly night, to get up and pick down those exquisite thoughts before they trooped off down into the back yard. It won't do. The unbidden inspiration that most usually gets under way ere slumber's chain doth bind takes in precious tight in the gentle murmur: "Ouch! Keep your great, cold, clammy feet on your own side of the bed." New York Commercial Traveler.

A Simple-Minded Woman.

Mrs. Judith Fender is a very simple sort of a woman. An old gentleman by the name of Bryckman and his wife moved into the vicinity of the Fender mansion or Austin avenue. Mrs. Fender, who is very neighborly, called a nice cake and took it over to the new arrivals.

"I have brought over some cake for Mr. Bryckman's children," said Mrs. Fender.

But we have never had any children," said Mrs. Bryckman.

"Well, then, give it to your grandchildren," said Mrs. Fender; "it must make them feel good to have bad my parents."—Texas Siftings.

IF you want enemies, excel others; if you want friends, let others excel you.

MICHIGAN CONGRESSMEN.

B. M. Cutcheon.

Gen. Byron M. Cutcheon, of Manistee, represents the Ninth District, composed of the counties of Antrim, Charlevoix, Kalkaska, Lake, Manistee, Mason, Mecosta, Missaukee, Muskegon, Newaygo, Oceana, Osceola and Wexford. He was born in Dunbridge, N. H., in 1838. At the age of 14 he entered the Pembroke Academy, taught school at the age of 17, and shortly after removed to Michigan, settling at Romeo. He soon removed of Romeo to Rochester Academy, in Oakland County, in 1856. Entered the University of Michigan and graduated as a member of the class of 1861, when he was appointed Professor of Ancient Languages, etc., in the Ypsilanti High School. He entered the military service in 1862. Was Second Lieutenant 25th Michigan Infantry, July 15, 1862; Captain, July 23, 1862; Major, October 11, 1862; Lieutenant Colonel, November 16, 1863. Wounded in action at Spottsylvania Court House, Va., May 10, 1864. Brevet Colonel U. S. Volunteers, August 18, 1864, "for gallant service at the battles of the Wilderness, Va., and Spottsylvania, Va., and during the operations before Petersburg." Brevet Brigadier-General U. S. Volunteers, March 13, 1865, "for conspicuous gallantry at the battle of the Wilderness, Va." He commanded the Second Brigade, Second Division, Ninth Army Corps, from October 16, 1864, and the date of his resignation, having been compelled to resign the service on account of sickness in his family.

At the close of the war he entered the law school of the University of Michigan, graduated in March, 1867, admitted to the bar at Ann Arbor, in 1868, Practiced law at Saginaw in 1869-70, when he removed to Manistee.

In March 20, 1867, he was appointed a member of the Board of Control of Ionia, in 1868 he was appointed President of the Michigan Soldiers' Home Commission by the Governor. In 1868 he was elected one of the Presidential electors from this State. In 1870 he was chosen City Attorney by a Democratic council. City attorney of Manistee in 1871, and Prosecuting Attorney of that county in 1873-4. In 1875 he was elected Regent of the State University for the term of six years. He was elected to the Forty-eighth Congress in 1882, re-elected in 1884.

O. S. Fisher.

The Eleventh Congressional District, comprising the counties of Ionia, Bensie, Huron, Lapeer, Delta, Grand Traverse, Houghton, Isle Royal, Keweenaw, Leelanau, Mackinac, Marquette, Menominee, Ontonagon and Schoolcraft, is represented by Seth C. Mellen, of Traverse City. Mr. Mellen was born in Battle Creek, Mich., August 3, 1851. He received a common school education there, and removed in the fall of 1858, with his parents, to Cohoctah, St. Joseph County, where he spent two years as a teacher in the winter. In the fall of 1867 he entered the literary department of the Michigan University, but being obliged to abandon the literary course, he entered the law department the following year, and graduated therein in 1873. During his last year at the University he was in the office of Hon. Thomas M. Cooley. After graduation he entered the office of Ex-Governor D. Ball, at Grand Rapids. In the spring of 1874 he opened an office and began the practice of law. From there he went to Northport, Leelanau County, in the fall of 1882. He was at once elected Prosecuting Attorney for that county and re-elected in 1884. In 1879 he was elected State Senator from the 31st district, and served through the regular and extra sessions of 1879-80, and the Edmunds impeachment trial. He was appointed a member of the Constitutional Commission of 1882. In the spring of 1884 he was appointed Register of the Land Office, land office at Traverse City, vice Lieut. Gov. Bates, deceased, and held the office until its removal to Reed City, in 1885. In that year he was elected Prosecuting Attorney of Grand Traverse County. Having been elected representative in the State Legislature in 1886, his name was at once mentioned in connection with the Congressional nomination, which position he was elected from among several prominent and capable candidates. He was elected Representative in the 49th Congress, on the Republican ticket, by a vote of 16,467 to 8,932 for John Power, Fusionist.

O. M. Ferry.

Hon. Orlando M. Ferry, of Ionia County, Eleventh District, Michigan, was born in Ionia County, February 3, 1843, and has resided in Michigan his entire life. He was a lumberman and lumber inspector, but is now serving his second term as Mayor of West Bay City; was a delegate to the Democratic National Convention at Chicago, in 1884 and has been twice elected Alderman. He is a Democrat, and was elected a Representative in the Forty-ninth Congress, by a vote of 15,386 to 12,678 for Charles F. Grimes, Republican, and 855 for Alfred M. Wolcott, Prohibitionist.

Minor State Happenings.

Norfolk, Chippewa County, is a new postoffice.

Manistique harbor is receiving a great many improvements.

—Buck agents when they strike Manistique are compelled to pay a license of $1 per day.

A new sign-post will soon be in operation between Manistique and Escanaba, touching at Fayette and other points.

A Bay City man has a tobacco plant growing in his yard. The plant is six feet two inches high and the stalk is five inches in circumference. The largest leaves are twenty-six inches long and nineteen inches wide.

It is now thought Marquette will have the branch State prison. The Marquette Write has offered to donate forty acres of land for a site. The commissioners were instructed to locate the image for an asylum beginning and Negaunee, but no bond could be secured on any terms, the missing corporation refusing to sell.

—Almost every town of any pretensions whatever in the State sends in emphatic of Longfellow name of town away, from a locality up to a goodly land. The trade either becoming more fascinating or more profitable, or else the times have made more people restless than being half by or without opportunity of employment.

—A Michigan girl entitled her composition on a recipe for autograph albums by having about one hundred letters from the same number of men bound in a volume for her particular use. As the minister presented her extensive and unusual sentimental correspondence since she had to read at the age of chirography the collection proved very interesting to callers.

—The magnanimous individual who gave a description of that $2,100,000 a ton rock discovered near Saginaw was no fool. All well-informed mining men draw the line at $1,000,000 a ton, and a man who rock exceeds this is bound to be on the safe side. A million dollars a ton is richness enough for all practical purposes.—Minnesota Mining Journal.

—The establishment of a County Home in Schoolcraft County seems to be a pretty arrangement. The Manistique Pioneer says: Before the Poor House was opened it cost the county $4 per week to board each pauper; now it costs $1.25. Thepoor are cared for just as well, and even more so better, than they were before. Then, too, the poor are where they can be frequently seen by the officers; they are subjected to better discipline; they are better off.

—The Huron Times reveals the money of the awful fires which devastated the "thumb of Michigan," commencing Sept. 5, 1881. As an anniversary reminder it says: "Traces of the great conflagration such year, growing fainter, unless we except the lines of care and suffering on the faces of many who faced the awful danger and endured the privations and suffering which followed. God grant that we may never again be called upon to undergo another such baptism."

—The Midland Sun says that the sidelegislator on the Saginaw River, and pilaspe in the State, is S. H. Freese, of Saginaw, who has been engaged in the business thirty-five years, having commenced as Mann-thirty-five years ago, and continued in the business since that time. Mr. Brown has resided in Michigan about twenty-eight years. He once scaled 900,000 logs in two hundred days—a feat never before accomplished on the river. Though Mr. Brown is verging close on 70 years of age he appears at least fifteen years younger, and is still in active service.

The Eleventh district is the only one in the State that had no Prohibition candidate for Congress.

A Wayside Idyllic.

High in the zenith gloamed the golden orb of day with a brazen stare that palsied energy and kept the pores busy. It was hot. From the pensive south came no breathing zephyr rich with the fragrance of heath and meadow to fan the brow dripping with the symbol of Adam's curse. The fly-besmitten cattle had wandered into the frog pond, and stood knee-deep in green water lashing their steaming sides with heavy tails in despairing languor, lazily chewing their cuds in abject hopelessness. It was a devilish warm day. The earth was parched and dry as the throat of a tramp at sunrise, and the only cloud visible was a foggy mist of dust that overhung and crept slowly along behind a military horseman, who was gradually passing from view with about as much celerity as had luck leaving a poor man's family. The heat was oppressive. The man on horseback, who in his shirt sleeves and only wore one suspender and a Mollie Stark hat, was doubtless bleached appearance. There was nothing dubious in the mien of the man, though there was one point of resemblance not glaringly apparent to the casual observer. He had been unfavored from birth, but having served a term in the legislature the gentleman had acquired an utter stiffness. His manner was simple and very homely, for his dialect was native. The man's bestrode ordered not its rank with the proud impatience of the stagger who counts the battle from afar off, but the sway in its back made ample amends for the lack of contour further forward. It was lurky of limb, thick in wind, unfortunate in vision, for it was cross-eyed in both sight. It was a horse that any woman could drive safely, if she had strength to apply the whip with sufficient vigor to keep the animal awake and in motion. In short, it was a horse of great reliability and most exasperating deliberation of movement. The man himself was very full breasted in the back, and had the build of the fashion plate look alike him. His face was scarred with wrinkles and also seemed wrinkled, perhaps it was. He wore a straw hat and blue cotton pantaloons tucked tight into boots of cowhide that needed hell-soling; but he was dressed a nicenicker by trade and it mattered not. His vests were smaller than pauches and larger than cherries. Of course he was commercial market sierries of the worsty order, or hearts being ruled out of this deal. They were of no account. The man was a farmer from white, though he was a shilling farmer, or, perhaps, a farmer of good novelty overlit particular about such matters. His hair was long and lusty, and would have curled if it had been cut for one thing. There wasn't any of it. The man was bald, and had bald ears of same description, but it is bad them with him they were not extended in a phenomenal manner on account of being concealed somewhere. Also, his massive ringlets, Some folks would have said, under his hat, but ringlets seem to jingle mirer, and wear, quite smart on the jingle of everything except money. It was a day of exceeding great warmth, and our hero—for such he was, as well he considered, unless somebody ladder and knocked him down should turn up and claim the position for himself—was perspiring freely in spots, in mopping his honest brow with a handkerchief of a blue pattern and cotton texture. It was large in dimensions that had been used for about everything that a handkerchief could be used for, except strangling a baby and straining milk, from carrying eggs to market and for a dinner napkin, to wiping a cold and holding up a sore leg, but who is the bold bricoleur, and venture down in on a day of such fiery freshness, at such reckless indifference of speed that he would offer to borrow is classing him? He is old Bill Jones, the farmer, taking his own time to get to the settlement, in spite of the fact that Aunt Polly Jarkins is birning with impatience to get hold of a letter from her old man, containing the balance of the money and a recipe for drying squash that will give the taste of pumpkin and keep ten years without turning pale.—Chicago Ledger.

A Performing Owl.

A prominent Clinton County physician has an owl that roams about at his house, and is a terror to cats and mice. Not only is he fearful for this, but he is a rare bird, the decoy having taught his owlship some new tricks. For instance, he will take the owl and whirl him around and about his hands, and will then put him upon the floor or table upon his back, sole, or any other position he may see proper, telling the owl to sleep, and he will remain perfectly quiet. The Doctor can then tell the owl to dream a dream and wake frightened, when, after about thirty minutes, the bird will jump up from the table, apparently in a great fright, jumping his left, and showing other signs of alarm.—Sacramento News.

To Pacificator.

A male squirrel discovered a piece of brick-colored calico lying on the grass, and summons a dozen hen sparrows approached and held a council of war, the price among them, when a dispute arose as to whether the colors were fast or not. The calico was carried to the fire and tried for the purpose of deciding the question, but before the washing could be completed a rag-picker appeared and the birds were left sitting the calico and with the clouds unsolved.—New York Sun.

MAYO has aristocratic child:—"How pretty and clever you are, mother! I'm so glad you married into our family!"

What Sporting Men Rely On.

When Louis B. Indamed, the South Carolina pugilist, curtained, after for eight years sinding the government officials, he said to surrender, he exclaimed:

"Never, to men who fire at my back!"

Before he was taken, five bullets had gone clear through him, but he managed to escape, he got well in the hands of a rude backwoods nurse.

By the way, it darfend has been in the hands of a backwoods nurse in might time. A Temp of volunteer testimony against the infallibility of the physician has been accumulating of late, and people are encouraged to do their own doctoring when they can. It is cheaper and quite as reliable.

Before Detective Curtin, of Buffalo, caught Tom Ballard he "covered" him with his revolver. Tom saw the point and surrendered.

Joe Goss was "covered" a few weeks ago and he fumbled, and so did Dan Mace. Death "covered" you with that deadly weapon—kidney disease. But they should have been freely and drawn first. They would have disarmed the monster has they covered him with that dead shot—Warner's safe cure, which, draws promptly, always takes the aim, it is doubting true that sporting men depend this cannot more than any subject of their profession, and presumably this accounts for why they are so partial to the celebrated "dead shot."

Kidney disease is a sneaking, treacherous assassin, attacked in the back. He should "draw" first and "cover" afterwards. He is a foeman worthy of the steel of the sporting men of all classes, will bring to common among the men who "cover" by that wonderfully successful "dead shot," Warner's Safe Cure.

Epitaphs.

When with characteristic cynicism Byron derided the credulity of him who would "believe a woman or an epitaph" he may have had in mind Ben Jonson's famous epitaph on the Countess of Pembroke:

Underneath this sable hearse
Lies the subject of all verse,
Sidney's sister, Pembroke's mother!
Death ere thou hast slain another
Fair, and learn'd, and good as she,
Time shall throw a dart at thee."

Could the memory of Shakspeare demand loftier strains? Compare the above with the unaiminess and simplicity of the lines:

"Blest be the man who spares these stones,
And curst be he who moves my bones."

Inscribed on the tomb of the Bard of Avon.

Strict adherence to mere matter of fact has scarcely been considered the special attribute of an epitaph—though the three following are well-authenticated examples of unvarnished detail:

"Sleeps Yorke this life did resides, Eighty hundred and seventy, alive."
—Worcester.

"Here lies the body of William Wye,
One thousand seven hundred and sixty-six."
—Stamford Mercury.

"Here lies the body of Samuel Tom Page,
Who died in the thirty-third year of his age."
—Sussex Advertiser.

And in the same connection may be instanced the inscription on the tomb of a Bath cooper, buried in the churchyard opposite his hostelry:

"Here lies Tommy Dole, Removed from our sole."

Latin was long considered the only appropriate language for an epitaph. It is well known that Dr. Johnson refused "to disgrace the walls of Westminster Abbey" with an English inscription to the memory of Oliver Goldsmith. This is the more to be deplored, since the Doctor could (and did) write English epitaphs of merit—witness that upon Phillips, the musician—

"Stop! unfortunate within this peaceful shade,
Tell sorrow wake thee who a soft life—hide."

Poetry unfortunated within this peaceful shade, tell sorrow wake thee who a soft life—hide. "The soul of wit" has been little considered in this direct sense, and "O, rare Ben Jonson" exceeds even the Doctor in the terse and pithy epitaph on the contrary notwithstanding, we plently reconcile to a disease which cut the liver, by which its work as purifier of the blood, and consequently of humanity.

"Fuller's worth."

Upon Burbage, the actor, a simple and pithy epitaph:

"Exit Burbage."

And the longer combination of eulogium and farewell to the memory of Knight, the publisher—

"Good Knight!"

Successive generations have pressed into this service such time-honored effusions as "Affliction sore long time I bore," etc.

And the really beautiful lines by Dr. Donne upon a deceased infant—

"For sin could blight, or sorrow fade,
Death could not shake, or grave affright,
The soul was fit to be heaven conveyed,
And bade to take wings there."

have appeared upon hundreds of tombs. The touching subject of infant mortality finds also fitting expression in the two following:

"Sun, with her lips the cup of life she pressed,
Found the taste bitter—and dashed the rest.
The tale is extended on the world she Disliked it—closed its eyes—and fell asleep."

A Loaded Bug.

A very extraordinary occurrence took place recently at the residence of one of our prominent citizens. The family were sitting in the parlor in the evening, when a bug was seen crawling on the table. One of them present seized the insect and placed it in the lamp, with the view of consuming it. A loud report was instantly heard, and the lamp chimney was blown to atoms. The explosion was certainly caused by the with the insect, but in what manner we leave it to the scientific to explain.—San Diego Sun.

VICTOR HUGO was a great lover of children and was continually made to feel their watchful care. The adoration of the young became one of his ruling passions. Miss Clarke, the novelist, relates: "One day he said to me, 'Do you know how I define paradise? A place where parents will always be young and children little.'" He was passionately fond of his grandchildren, Georges and Jeanne, and one of his greatest joys was when he had a number of staid political friends in his parlor, or a work to finish, to come in with a doll hanging out of his coat-tail pocket, and to walk about with Georges and Jeanne trotting behind him, their eyes riveted on the plaything, until gravely and softly they relieved grandpa of his burden.

The Home of Mr. Blaine.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The son of Senator Frye, of Maine, who has been suffering from a severe cold, which settled on his chest, was cured by a few doses of Red Star Cough Cure. He publicly indorses it as prompt, pleasant, and safe. Dr. Cox calls it the best remedy. It contains no opiates or poisons.

Chinese Woman's Tresses.

Joe James, whose other name was left behind him in the Flowery Kingdom, prides in the possession of the only almond-eyed wife this side of the Mississippi. He is as proud of her as is a boy of a new red wagon. When a reporter of the press saluted the slant-eyed beauty in the store last evening she sat upon a tan chest, coyly displaying the tips of her tiny feet, for she is a "little-foot" woman her husband says. She wore her hair in wonderful style—like the wings of a bat, making her hair resemble a schooner yacht running before the wind, with forward and main sail spread to port and starboard. The black tresses were stiffened with wires and pidoop with grease. It takes six hours to do up this wonderful headpiece, and in order that the dizzy affair shall not be spoiled, the fair owner sleeps with a block of wood under her neck. In this way the dressing of the hair lasts three weeks.—Philadelphia Press.

The Present Generation

Lives at breakfast and—eats too fast, retires to bed, does not rise before, smokes, and sins, but we should have to say HO chews too much tobacco. The consequences are dyspepsia, a general slackness of that organ and nasty vigor which characterized our ancestors, and a manifest carelessness in early rising. Two hours, a due allowance of time for meals, the use of a digestive medicine, and abjuration of chewing tobacco, in connection with a course of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, will in nine cases out of ten effect complete cures. Nine cases out of ten are cured by Hostetter's. A wasted stomach, dyspepsia, nervousness, and biliousness are among their consequences, and these are bodily ills to the removal of which the Bitters are specifically adapted. The Bitters also relieve rheumatism and prevent fever and ague, kidney and bladder troubles, and constipation. It is also a fine appetizer and promoter of convalescence.

The Philippine Islander and His Hat.

Yet and woolen hats are exported in large quantities from Germany to the Philippine Islands. The hat is the great article of adornment worn by the natives—"nobody is anybody without it"—but it must be of European origin. The homemade one has not been relegated to homely wits and slender purses. The islander is fond of a hat in a bright colored silk lining, with a ticket nicely pinning in gold. Indeed, when the hat is new the Manila dandy carries it in his hand, so that people may admire the crimson splendor.—Hatter and Furrier.

What "Old Fritz" Said.

It was an aphorism of Frederick the Great's that "a man should be judged by his friends." Equally just is that Dr. Pierce's "Golden Medical Discovery" is the most powerful liver vitalizer extant, and by its character is placed above all other blood purifiers, cures liver complaint, dropsy, kidney disease, skin diseases, and all humors, whether acute or chronic, opinion to the contrary notwithstanding, we plently reconcile to a disease which cut the liver, by which its work as purifier of the blood, and consequently of humanity.

HOW to raise mustaches—stir up the hair. Secret out is windy day and the mustaches are sure to come out.—Texas Siftings.

Important.

When you visit or leave New York City save Baggage Expressage and Carriage Hire, and live near the Grand Union Hotel, opposite Grand Central Depot; fine elegant rooms fitted up at a cost of thousands of dollars, rented to E. and upward, elegant dining-room plan, Elevator, Restaurant supplied with the choicest wines, liquors and cuisine; fare equal to all grand hotels; rates are five better for less money at the Grand Union Hotel near Depot; cars passing the door.

NO MATTER how fond a man may be of confiding, when he loses his money it is a sort of separation.

GENTLY DOES IT.—Without pain or irritation the WARNER'S VEGETABLE BITTERS relieve the constipated bowels; at the same time they strengthen the tone of the nervous system and restoring their mechanical action, that it seems as if they had been specially recognized in an improved plan! Yet the result is nearly due to an effort of nature, reinforced, regulated, and sustained by the potent, but mild Vegetable alterative and tonic that ever passed the lips of the sick and suffering.

"TO a poor dress that won't turn both ways.—Inter Poem.

HAY FEVER.

Ely's Cream Balm was recommended to me by my druggist as a preventive to Hay Fever. Have been using it as directed since the 15th of August, and have found it a specific for that much dreaded and loathsome disease. I can now breathe freely and take a great interest each year, from August to October, which I never could before, because of its cure, but Ely's cream balm is the best preventive I have ever tried. Hay Fever sufferers ought to know of its efficacy.

C. F. B. AINSWORTH BANK, Publisher, Ashtabula, Ohio.

I have been afflicted with Hay fever for seven years—Ely's Cream Balm cured me entirely.

PURE Cod-Liver Oil, made from selected livers on the sea shores, by CARWELL, HAZARD & CO., is the best. It is absolutely pure and sweet. Patients who have done taken it prefer it to all others. Physicians have declared it superior to any of the other oils in market.

"Put up" at the Gaunt House.

The business men or tourists will find first-class accommodations at the low price of $2 and $2.50 per day at the Gaunt House, Chicago, corner Clinton and Madison streets. This fashioned hotel is located in the center of the city, only one block from the Union Depot. Rooms all appointments first-class.

HOYT & GATES, Proprietors.

CHAPPED Hands, Face, Pimples and rough skin, cured by using JUNIPER TAR SOAP, made by CARWELL, HAZARD & CO., New York.

FOR THE BLOOD TAKE HOPS & MALT BITTERS, FOR DYSPEPSIA

If you wish a certain cure for all Blood Diseases, Nothing was ever invented that will cleanse the Blood and purify the System equal to Hops and MALT Bitters. It tones up the System, gets new Blood in your veins, and brings back the roses of health to the pale cheek. Nervous Debility and severe pains in the back are cured by Hops and MALT Bitters. If you have Kidney or Liver Troubles, Biliousness, Indigestion, Constipation, Sick Headaches, Dyspepsia, Nervous disorders, and all Female Complaints; when properly taken it is a sure cure. Hops and MALT Bitters are sold by all druggists in this and other Western States. It is the best Combination of Vegetable remedies as yet discovered for the restoration to health of the Weak and Debilitated. Do not get Hops and MALT Bitters mixed with other bitters. Hops and MALT Bitters are a distinct medicine. Hops & Malt Bitters regulate in my practice. Brian Clement, M. D., Fish Rock, Mich. For sale by all druggists.

HOPS & MALT BITTERS CO., DETROIT, MICH.

Lady Agents!

WANTED for the best selling publication in the World. Profits ten times the usual. Sample free. Ladies can easily earn from $5 to $10 a day at home selling the following articles: Ladies' Fine Aprons, worth from $2 to $3 per dozen; Ladies' Fine Dress Aprons, worth $1 per dozen; Ladies' Fine Dress Aprons, worth $1 per dozen; Ladies' Fine Dress Aprons, worth $1

Around the County.

Boyne City Improvements.

Through the courtesy and assistance of H. C. Miley, E. H. Shepard, and others, we present below a list of the new buildings and improvements in Boyne City during the past two years:

Brick school house	$5,000
W. J. Lewis, brick store and hall	4,000
A. J. Beardsley, brick store	3,000
P. F. McIntyre, residence	3,000
G. Gibson, brick store	2,000
Neville & White, mill improvements	1,500
Ben Ingalls, residence	1,300
G. D. Palmer, residence	1,200
J. C. Schaub, residence and barn	1,200
N. Morgan, skating rink	1,000
A. E. Hosmer, store building	800
J. A. Cameron, residence	800
A. J. Tilbston, residence	600
E. E. Newville, residence	600
Wm. White, residence	600
W. W. Fuller, residence	600
J. C. McPhillo	500
M. Heyslauer, residence	500
Mrs. Mosher, residence	400
L. L. Brooks, residence	400
Mrs. Danley, residence	400
F. M. Gates, addition to residence	300
H. Holliday	300
T. J. Hill	300
A. J. Hall	300
Dr. Sanderson	300
Shepard Bros., improvements	300
D. Thomson, residence	300
G. M. Kerry, residence	300
C. Schmidt, shop	250
E. E. Perkins & Co., warehouse	200
W. Bindler, residence	200
E. L. Cockrell	200
H. Stevenson	200
Dr. Nicholson	200
F. M. Chase, wagon shop	200
Chas. Coil, residence	200
Wm. Baker, improvements	200
Hendee & Fellows, improvements	200
M. E. Church, improvements	150
F. Kenyllis, barn	100
Wm. McKain, improvements	100
Henry Cook, improvements	100
Geo. Cudworth, improvements	100
W. Jobes, improvements	100
Ed. Miller, improvements	100
Henry Nugent, improvements	100
Harry Russel, residence	100
V. G. Crane, improvements	100
Total	$34,700

Burgess.

Mr. Austin has his residence nearly completed.

Mr. Chas. Arnold has purchased a nice cabinet organ.

Hamlin brothers have purchased another threshing machine and start out this week.

Mrs. Hale, who has been away from home some time, returned last Saturday.

There is but one absolute monarchy in this town, (to be continued.)

It still continues quite moist.

Miss Ella Baker returns home this week, from Fremont, where she has been visiting her sister.

School district No. 6 is to build a new school house, to cost $500.

A fresh fat hog Friday night, but it did no damage.

Moses Cooper had a force of men last week, blasting rock, and hauling from his place for the government pier at Charlevoix.

Mr. Mandeville who formerly kept the postoffice at Burgess, is expected back soon with his family. They will be warmly welcomed by their old time neighbors.

Temperance Column.

Conducted by a Committee of the W. C. T. U.

Officers of the Society.

President—Mrs. C. V. Cook.
First Vice-President—Mrs. L. E. Allen.
Second Vice-President—Mrs. J. T. Billings.
Third Vice-President—Mrs. C. F. Van Aken.
Corresponding Secretary—Mrs. D. C. Lovelay.
Recording Secretary—Mrs. S. Suffield.
Treasurer—Mrs. C. J. Strang.

The Broken Bottle.

"Come on, boys, let us go in and take a parting drink."

The speaker was William Scott, a hard working mechanic who, with three of his shopmates, was on his way home at the close of the week's labors. All of them had taken several drinks, and were beginning to show the effects of it, especially Scott, who staggered slightly as he walked.

The four went in and stood before the bar of the saloon, which was but a short distance from Scott's home and but for years been patronized by him. Drunken men seldom drink and leave a saloon when there are two or more together and on this occasion Scott and his friends stood at the bar and conversed, as one after the other treated in turn.

Suddenly their conversation was interrupted by Scott accidentally dropping the bottle, from which he was about to pour a dram, from his unsteady grasp.

"Hello!" said he, "that was an accident."

"Accident or no accident, you'll pay for that liquor and bottle," retorted the saloonkeeper, whose attention had been directed to Scott by the crash.

"You don't mean that, Lawrence," said Scott; "it was an accident."

"That's all right," replied the saloonkeeper; "but the price of that bottle and liquor will take the profit off many a drink, I can't afford to lose it, and you'll have to pay it."

"But," pleaded the mechanic, "I've but half my wages left, and I must take it home."

The saloonkeeper, however, was inexorable, and Scott handed over the money which was to have given his wife and little ones a Sunday dinner.

When he got his change he turned to the saloonkeeper and said:

"I didn't think you would do that, Lawrence, after I've been spending a good part of my wages here for the past ten years."

"Well, if you have, you got, the equivalent of every penny you spent," gruffly responded Lawrence.

"Did I?" said Scott, quietly, and picking up the pieces he started from saloon.

There was something in his manner that Lawrence did not like, and taking the amount he had received from the mechanic from the drawer, he threw it noisily on the counter and called to Scott to come back; but the latter had reached the door and went on out.

He proceeded direct to his home, and, meeting his wife, he placed the pieces of broken bottle in her hand, saying:

"There, Betty, I paid a lot of money for this, but I think you'll consider it cheap before we get through."

Mrs. Scott did not for a moment understand him; but, looking at the pieces of the bottle and inhaling the fumes of the liquor, she intuitively grasped his meaning, and with a glad feeling in her heart she said:

"What do you mean, William?"

"I mean," said Scott, "that for ten years that bottle has been swallowing my earnings, but now I've bought it, and I am going to see if the broken bottle is not better than the whole bottle."

Scott kept his promise. He never drank again, and in after years, when he had a comfortable little home and a profitable business of his own, he always told his friends that it all came through "the broken bottle."

ALMOST MARVELOUS.

The way Parmelee's Blood Purifier works upon the human system. It is such a thorough Purifier, it strikes at the root of the disease and by its perfect workings effects a cure almost before the patient is aware. It seizes upon every particle of poisonous matter in the system, expels it and instills new health and vigor through the entire body. $1.00 per bottle.

Sold by Dr. G. W. Crouter, Charlevoix, and Crosier & Harris, Ironton.

TEN CENTS.

Advertisements not exceeding three lines will be inserted in this column for ten cents per week. Each additional line three cents. Displayed cards fifty cents per inch per month.

BOTTOM PRICES for Poster printing at this office. The best work, for the least money.

MORTGAGE NOTES kept on hand or printed to order on short notice at this office.

Farm for Sale or Exchange.

One hundred acres of the best farming land 30 acres improved, over 40 apple trees bearing, good buildings, seven miles from Charlevoix, will exchange for cash, or will exchange for other property. For further particulars inquire at this office.

FOR SALE.

The place known as
THE BEATTIE FARM
Near McGeagh's Mill.
For particulars inquire at office of
J. MILO EATON.

Boats to Rent.

Fine Row and Sail Boats to Rent by the Hour, Day or Week. Boats built and repairing done; also Boats, Oars, and Pictures for sale.

RED BOAT HOUSE,
Near Charlevoix Summer Resort.
F. W. WILCOX.

A PRESENT.

Our readers for 12 cents in postage stamps to pay for mailing and wrapping, and name of two book agents, will receive free a sheet Photo Proofs Engraved of different Prostitutes including Cleveland, size 22x28, worth $5.00. Address Elder Pub. Co., Chicago, Ill.

Cures in 3 Days. Guaranteed not to injure Stricture. $1 Cold by the Druggists Cincinnati, Ohio.

We cordially recommend Brown's Bitters among the best Cures for Dyspepsia. Alcott & Lish, Dallas, N. Y.

Sold by Druggists, Pr. $1.00.

For Sale by F. H. HINS & CO., Charlevoix.

The Grand Rapids
Daily Democrat,

The Leading Newspaper of Western Michigan.

ENLARGED AND IMPROVED.

Sent by mail at 50 cents per month.

GET THE BEST

If your neighbors want a clean, handsome, weekly newspaper, giving all the latest and most complete news from all parts of the county, have them send in cents for this paper two months, 50 cents for four months, 75 cents for six months, $1.00 per year. Address

The Charlevoix Journal,
CHARLEVOIX, MICH.

Grand Rapids & Indiana R. R.

Time Table in effect June 21, 1885.

GOING NORTH.

STATIONS.	No. 1	No. 2	No. 5	No. 7
Cincinnati, lv.	.....	7 40pm	7 30pm	.....
Fort Wayne, ar.	6 35pm	2 50pm	1 20am	7 45am
Fort Wayne, lv.	.....	4 20	1 40	9 00
Kalamazoo, ar.	7 35am	7 00	5 00	12 50pm
Kalamazoo, lv.	7 45am	7 15	5 05	1 05
G'd Rapids, ar.	9 30	8 50	6 50	3 10
G'd Rapids, lv.	11 30	11 00	7 20	5 05
D G H & M Jct.	11 44	11 15	7 35	5 20
Howard City,	12 55pm	12 26pm	8 56	6 37
Big Rapids,	1 45	1 14	9 40	7 14
Hesperia, lv.	2 42	.....	.....	8 12
Reed City,	3 42	1 44	10 11	8 32
Cadillac, ar.	4 05	2 47	11 10	9 00pm
Cadillac, lv.	4 05	2 55	11 25	.....
Walton	4 56	3 56	12 13am	.....
Kaleska, lv.	5 50	4 35	12 56	.....
Williamsburg,	6 24	5 05	1 32	.....
Mayne Falls	6 41	5 23	1 50	.....
Petoskey, ar.	7 47	6 33	2 56	.....
Harbor Springs,	.....	.....	.....	.....
Mackinaw City,	9 00pm	7 00	4 15pm	.....

GOING SOUTH.

STATIONS.	No. 2	No. 6	No. 8	No. 4
Mackinaw City	8 30am	8 00am	.....	.....
Harbor Springs,	.....	.....	.....	.....
Petoskey, lv.	9 42	9 22	.....	2 32
Mayne Falls	10 23	9 59	.....	2 58
Williamsburg,	10 38	10 14	.....	3 15
Kaleska,	11 51	11 19	.....	4 23
Walton	12 30pm	12 00pm	.....	5 15
Cadillac, ar.	1 25	12 56	.....	6 10
Cadillac, lv.	1 35	2 05	6 20am	6 20
Reed City, ar.	2 32	2 52	7 30	7 23
Reed City, lv.	3 00	2 52	7 50	7 35
Big Rapids,	3 56	3 49	8 50	8 32
Howard City,	4 19	4 12	9 06	8 48
D G H & M Jct.	5 45	5 37	9 46	9 22
G'd Rapids, ar.	5 55	5 45	10 00	9 35
G'd Rapids, lv.	7 15am	5 50	11 45	2 30pm
Kalamazoo, ar.	8 55	7 05	1 05pm	4 05
Kalamazoo, lv.	9 10	7 50	1 10	4 05
Fort Wayne, ar.	12 50pm	12 25pm	.....	7 35
Fort Wayne, lv.	1 00	12 35am	5 35am	7 50
Cincinnati, ar.	7 05pm	7 30am	7 00pm	.....

C. L. LOCKWOOD, G. P. Agent.
Grand Rapids, Mich.

Hannah, Lay & Co.'s Pleasure Steamers,

SEASON OF 1885.

CITY OF GRAND RAPIDS.

CAPT. O. A. WILSON.

Going North every morning—Leave Traverse City 7 00, Northport 8 20, Norwood 11 00, Charlevoix 12 00, Petoskey 1 30, arrive at Harbor Springs 1 45.

Going South every afternoon—Leave Harbor Springs 2 00, Petoskey 2 30, Charlevoix 4 00, Norwood 5 00, Northport 6 30, arrive at Traverse City 9 00.

T. S. FAXTON,
CAPT. A. G. ALLMAN.

Going South every morning—Leave Harbor Springs 7 00, Petoskey 8 00, Charlevoix 9 45, Torch Lake 12 00, arrive Traverse City 2 30.

Going North every afternoon—Leave Traverse City 3 00, Torch Lake 5 45, Charlevoix 7 45, Petoskey 9 15, arrive Harbor Springs 9 45.

GOOD CONNECTIONS will be made at Traverse City and Petoskey with both day and night trains on the G. R. & I. R. R.; also on Monday mornings between the CITY and TRAVERSE from Chicago and the CITY or GRAND HAVEN going south, and on Wednesdays and Saturdays from Chicago and the CITY or GRAND HAVEN going north, and the CITY or TRAVERSE to Chicago.

Harbor Springs, Petoskey, Charlevoix and East Jordan.

STEAMER THOMAS FRIANT.
CAPT. R. VANDAMOORE.

Morning—Leave Harbor Springs 7.00, Petoskey 7.30, Charlevoix 8.30, arrive East Jordan 11.00. Afternoon—Leave East Jordan 1.30, Charlevoix 4.00, arrive Harbor Springs 5.00.

Close connections at Petoskey with G. R. & I. R. R. trains, north and south.

Charlevoix and East Jordan.

Steamer GAZELLE—Capt. Robert O'Neil.

Morning—Leave Charlevoix 8.30, arrive East Jordan 9.30, leave East Jordan 9.00, arrive Charlevoix 11.00. Afternoon—Leave Charlevoix 2.00, arrive East Jordan 4.00, leave East Jordan 4.30, arrive Charlevoix 6.30. Stopping at intermediate points.

PROBATE ORDER FOR HEARING FINAL ACCOUNT.—State of Michigan, County of Charlevoix, ss. At a session of the Probate Court for said County, held at the probate office, in the Township of South Arm, on Thursday, the 20th day of August in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and eighty five. Present, James A. Kent, Judge of Probate. In the matter of the estate of

ISAAC STAFFORD, an incompetent person.

Henry H. Vanamoore, guardian of said estate, comes into court and represents that he is now prepared to render his final account of said guardian. Thereupon it is ordered, that Monday, the 21st day of September next, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, be assigned for examining and allowing such account, and that all persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at a session of said court, then to be held at the probate office, in the township of South Arm, in said county, and show cause, if any there be, why the said account should not be allowed. And it is further ordered, that said Henry H. Vanamoore give notice to the persons interested in said estate of the pendency of said account, and the hearing thereof, by causing a copy of this order to be published in the CHARLEVOIX JOURNAL, a newspaper printed and circulated in said county, three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing.

A true copy.
JAMES A. KENT,
Judge of Probate.

THE HOWE MACHINE CO.

AT THE FRONT.

OUR LATEST SUCCESS.

An Entirely New — High Arm.

Easy Running Sewing Machine

IT HAS

The Most Room under the Arm.
The Best Self-Setting Needle.
The Largest Bobbin.
The Easiest Bobbin to Thread.
The Most Perfect Tension.
The Most Reliable Feed.
The Best Perfect Take-up.
The Best Bobbin Winder.

IT IS

SIMPLE, STRONG, DURABLE & HANDSOME

Runs Rapidly, Very Light, Very Still, and without Vibration.

Before you purchase, please examine the NEW HOWE at the office of

Mrs. M. Litney, Agt., Charlevoix

J. MILO EATON,

DEALER IN

Real Estate

OF ALL KINDS.

Houses and Lots for sale in the most desirable parts of Charlevoix. Wild Lands and Improved Farms for sale in all parts of the county. Abstracts of Title furnished on short notice.

OFFICE ON BRIDGE STREET. ESTABLISHED IN 1875.

E. M. Clark

GENERAL MERCHANDISE.

PINE LAKE IRON COMPANY

Ironton, Mich.,

Are Full in all kinds of General Merchandise.

GARLAND STOVES & RANGES — KEEP YOUR EYE ON THE Right Place

For Bargains in Hardware,

Iron, Cutlery, Tin ware, Stoves, Implements, Fixtures, Pumps, Grindstones, Wagons, Buggies, Carts, Wheelbarrows, Refrigerators, Doors, Sash, PAINTS Oils, Varnishes, Putty, Glass, Fence wire, Farm implements, Gunpowder, Shot, Caps, Ammunition, Spoons, Forks, LAMPS, Baskets, Measures, Tubs, Wooden ware, Rope, Fishermen's Supplies, and Ship chandlery. Job work in Tin work. Carpenter's tools, Notions, Fishing tackle, Revolvers

L. D. BARTHOLOMEW & CO.

I have purchased the Meat business of Armstrong & Co., and will continue at the old stand, with the freshest and best goods in the market.

T. E. CHAMBERLIN.

HEAR YE! HEAR YE!

I have purchased the Stock of

Drugs, Chemicals,

STATIONERY FISHING TACKLE, ETC.

of O. B. WEED & CO., and will continue the business at the old stand. I shall aim to so conduct the business as to merit a share of your favors. When in need of anything in my line, call and examine my stock and ask my prices.

PERRY WEED, DRUGGIST,
Successor to O. B. Weed & Co.
OPERA BLOCK, CHARLEVOIX, MICH.

HENRY C. COOPER

Undertaker

CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN.

Coffins, Caskets, and Trimmings Always in Stock.

Come and See my Stock of Furniture

ALL ORDERS BY TELEPHONE RECEIVE PROMPT ATTENTION.

THE CHARLEVOIX JOURNAL.

NUMBER 115. CHARLEVOIX, MICH.: THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 24, 1885. $1.50 PER YEAR.

THE JOURNAL

Published every Thursday,
BY CHAS. J. STRANG.
Office on Bridge Street,
CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN

ENTRED AT THE POSTOFFICE AT CHARLEVOIX, MICH. AS SECOND-CLASS MATTER.

BUSINESS DIRECTORY.

ATTORNEYS.

ARTHUR E. MARTIN, Attorney at Law, Boyne City, Mich. Collections promptly attended to.

CROSWELL & CRIER, Attorneys at Law and Proctors in Admiralty. Office in Sutliffe's Block, Muskegon, Mich. C. L. CRIER.

DAVID A. COLL, Attorney at Law, Real Estate and Loan Agents. Lake st., east of postoffice, Petoskey, Mich.

FRED W. MAYNE, Attorney and Counselor at Law. Office on Lake st., Boyne, Mich.

H. L. JESSUP, Attorney and Counselor at Law. Office on Lake st., Boyne, Mich.

J. L. VERBERRY, Attorney at Law and Judge of Probate of Emmet Co., Petoskey, Mich.

J. MILO EATON, Attorney at Law, Charlevoix, Mich.

W. E. P. MUNSER, Attorney at Law and United States Circuit Court Commissioner, Eastern District, East Jordan, Mich.

W. S. MOORE, Attorney and Solicitor, East Jordan. Admiralty a Specialty.

A. CARRETT, Attorney at Law, Boyne City, Mich.

CHURCHES.

FIRST CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH—Sunday services at 10.30 a. m. and 7.00 p. m. Sunday School at close of morning service. Prayer meeting every Thursday evening at 7.00. C. T. EVANS, pastor.

METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH.—Sunday services at 10.30 a. m. and 7 p. m. Sunday school at close of morning service. Prayer meeting Thursday evening at 7. J. T. DILLING, pastor.

HOMEOPATHIC PHARMACY.

SUTTLEFF, Homeopathic Medicines, Books, Domestic Cases, etc., Charlevoix, Mich.

PHYSICIANS.

J. A. CHRISTEN, M. D. Office at the Ingleside.

J. CROS, M. D., Physician and Surgeon. Office in the Lewis block, Charlevoix, Mich.

W. M. PERSONS, M. D., Surgeon and Homeopathic Physician, Charlevoix, Mich.

REAL ESTATE AGENTS.

ISAAC S. HARRIS, Notary Public, Real Estate, Loan, and Insurance Agt., Charlevoix.

SECRET SOCIETIES.

G. A. R.—Sutliff Post No. 191, meets second Monday in each month, at Odd Fellows' hall.

I. O. O. F.—Round Lake Lodge No. 293, meets every Wednesday evening, in their hall.

F. & A. M.—Resort Lodge No. 345, meets second Saturday in each month, at Odd Fellows' hall.

I. O. L.—True Blues No. 157, meet Saturday on or before full moon in Barnard's new lambrequin.

MASONIC—Charlevoix Lodge No. 282, meets at Ironton on or before full moon. Hall over postoffice.

W. F. BROWN, Cashier. W. A. BROWN, Ass't Cashier.

BROWN & CO.'S
BANK OF CHARLEVOIX,
Capital, $25,000.

With superior facilities we invite prompt attention to our large and growing patronage. Interest allowed on time deposits. Collections at the lowest rates. Exchange on Eastern cities. Special efforts to collect claims for customers. Accounts can be opened and kept from property. Good securities bought and sold. Money to loan on farms at points in Europe by long time.

CORRESPONDENTS.

Chase National Bank, New York.
First National Bank, Chicago.
Merchants and Manufacturers' National Bank, Detroit.
Central National Bank, Grand Rapids.

The Charlevoix Improvement Association.

OFFICERS.

President—Byron See.
First Vice-President—W. A. Smith.
Second Vice-President—Robert Miller.
Recording Secretary—Chas. J. Strang.
Financial Secretary—S. Suffield.
Treasurer—Geo. Meredith.

STANDING COMMITTEES.

Executive—Chas. H. Mills, Enos A. Hall, Cornelius Lamb, L. L. Rice.
Corresponding Committee—H. Lee Billings, W. Bryant, and C. V. Cook.
Horticulture Committee—F. W. Mayne, L. D. Harbaugh, H. J. Sweetman, R. Gunzer, Geo. W. Gentry, S. W. Miller, S. M. Sow, W. C. Newman, J. Clark, H. Bethke.

OBJECTS.

To aid and encourage the establishment of manufacturing enterprises in Charlevoix, and to stimulate the growth and prosperity of Charlevoix and vicinity.

REGULAR MEETINGS.

At Charlevoix Village Hall on the Third Monday of each month, at 7.30 p. m.

CORRESPONDENCE SOLICITED.

JAMES HEMMINGS,
Upright & Hardist Addition,
Charlevoix,
HOUSE PAINTER,
Calciminer,
Paper Hanger,
And Decorator.
PINE AND HARDWOOD FINISHING. GOOD WORK.

PRICE TWO DOLLARS per annum for a number of copies of the annual report of the Board of Horticultural Society for 1884, which may be had by subscribers of the JOURNAL on application at this office.

BUTTER AND EGGS wanted on consignment or for the JOURNAL. Wood and produce of all kinds taken in market rates.

A FEW FACTS CONCERNING
Dr. CROUTER'S
BAKING POWDER
Or Quick Yeast.

If you use it you will never have yellow biscuit.
If you use it your biscuit will never taste of Soda.
It contains no alum, and is absolutely free from anything of a deleterious nature.
It is made from PURE CRAPE CREAM OF TARTAR and NOT from the Common Cream of Tartar of the shops.
It is always fresh and will never disappoint you.

Directions for using furnished with every package.

Price 40 Cents per Pound

Manufactured and Sold only by
Dr. GEO. W. CROUTER,
Chemist and Druggist,
BRIDGE STREET, CHARLEVOIX, MICH.

Come and See our Immense Stock of

BOOTS AND SHOES.

FOX & MILLER.

BRIDGE STREET HOUSE,
ROBERT MILLER, Proprietor,
Charlevoix, Michigan.
This house is centrally located, and its accommodations excellent. The table supplied with the best the market affords. Only sample room in Charlevoix.

COMMERCIAL HOUSE
D. B. JERRUE, Proprietor.
East Jordan, Michigan.
Entirely rebuilt and refurnished. First-class Sample Room for agents. Good Stable in connection with the House. 25

FARMERS' HOTEL,
W. S. JOHNSON, Proprietor.
Antrim Street, near Village Hall, Charlevoix.
Location convenient for merchants working in any of the factories on Round Lake, and for farmers coming to town. Feed stable for teams will be provided.

FOUNTAIN CITY HOUSE,
RICHARD COOPER, Proprietor.
Charlevoix, Michigan.
Finest location in town, giving good view of lakes and crystals. Rates per diem, and boat-quarters for Petoskey and Elk Rapids stages. Good sample rooms for commercial travelers. Adjoining hotel.

JORDAN RIVER HOUSE,
THAYER & BAIN, Proprietors.
East Jordan, Michigan.
These having business in the county seat will find this the most convenient place to stop, and the proprietors will spare no pains to give the best satisfaction. TELEPHONE CONNECTIONS.

PINE LAKE HOUSE,
A. J. HALL, Proprietor.
Boyne City, Michigan.
This house is finely located on the Boyne river, at the head of Pine Lake. It is large and commodious, and is well adapted to the entertainment of the travelling public.

PIONEER HOUSE,
A. B. NOYES, Proprietor.
Ironton Michigan.
Every convenience for the traveling public.

Money to Loan
The sums of $100 and upwards, at reasonable rates of interest, on approved real estate security.
H. C. Miley,
6341f Boyne City.

Picture Frames
Made to Order.
A FINE ASSORTMENT OF MOULDINGS
To Select From.
O. I. WHEAT,
Bridge street, Charlevoix, Mich.

Well-Digging.
JOHN SHRIER
Charlevoix, Mich.,
is prepared to do all work in the line of well-digging, stone building, pump repairing, well drilling, and shaft work.

WOOD WANTED.
Two or three lands of poplar block wood wanted at this office immediately.

MISS L. SPAULDING,
DEALER IN
MILLINERY
AND
Fancy Goods.
Dressmaking Done in the Latest Styles,
Special attention given to
CHILDREN'S GARMENTS.
We would call the attention of the Ladies to our STAMPING DEPARTMENT.
☞ We endeavor to do our work well and at reasonable prices. Come and see for yourself.

McCABE'S
Livery and Hack Line
DRAYING TO ORDER.
Passengers, Baggage, etc., delivered to all Boats, Hotels, or any part of the City.
AT
McCabe's Livery Barn,
CHARLEVOIX, MICH. 43

W. M. WAGAR. G. C. WAGAR.

Wagar Bros.
Wholesale and Retail dealers in Fancy Cigars, And Smokers' Articles. Also a full line of Confectionery, Fruits, And Temperance Drinks. Third door west of Bridge Street House, Charlevoix, Mich.

C. E. BELLINGER
Has a large stock of
New Jewelry and Silverware
(SOLID AND PLATED)
Pins, Charms, and Chains,
In all the latest styles.
Watches, Clocks, and Optical Goods.
New Style of Monogram Pin just received.
Sewing Machine 131 kept in stock.

John Nicholls,
CHARLEVOIX, MICH.,
Manufacturer of and dealer in
HARDWOOD AND PINE
LUMBER!
ALSO
Dressed Lumber, Oar Blades,
WAGON TONGUES, SHINGLES, LATH, ETC.
LUMBER SAWED AND BILLS FILLED TO ORDER.

A Fallacy Exploded.

There is something at once inspiring and dreadful in the intensity with which these new work, writes a Mexico correspondent of the Boston Journal. Where or how the fallacy concerning their laziness has gained ground it is hard to understand. Whatever they do is done as if salvation depended upon it, and the exertion demanded, where manual labor takes the place of steam or horse power, is so bitterly hard that it makes their continuous application the more wonderful. We have yet to see the first instance of shirking or of carelessness. Slight of frame, small in stature, with every appearance of delicacy in physique, they will take upon the shoulders as much as five or six men can lift, and carry it as indefinite distance. Under these immense burdens they trot instead of walking. To see a mozo climbing five or six flights of stairs and traversing acres of corridors at this swift pace, with a heavy Saratoga trunk on his back, or to meet four persons rushing through the city streets with a Chickering piano on their shoulders are sights to which we are becoming so well used that familiarity robs them of their first painfulness. Those brave workers are surprised and unprepared for either pity or sympathy that we begin to cover both with the negative quality of indifference. Still, to look day after day at street pavers and sweepers working as if fame or fortune depended on dispatch, porters burrying under the weight of their enormous burdens, farm laborers plowing, reaping, gathering wood, drawing water hour after hour without a turn of the head or lifting of an eyelash for the world outside, upsets one's preconceived notions and leaves one in a maze of reflections. This utter absorption in his occupation gives a certain dignity to the man; and one finds here often amid the most menial surroundings something of that fine spirit—that inbreathing of purpose into action—that makes Millett's sower a heroic figure. Think of the men lifted above these by every accident of education and fortune, whom we so often see in the fair fields, fashes, unlatectated, careful only to fill the time of their contract, and these earnest, eager, constant laborers become superb.

Howland Hill and Penny Postage.

Some years ago, when it was the practice to write the name of a member of parliament for the purpose of franking a newspaper, a friend of mine, previous to starting on a tour into Scotland, arranged with his family a plan of informing them of his progress and state of health without putting them to the expense of postage. It was managed thus: He carried with him a number of old newspapers, one of which he put into the post daily. The postmark and the date showed his progress, and the state of his health was evinced by the selection of the names from a list previously agreed upon by which the newspaper was franked. Sir Francis Burdett, I recollect, denoted vigorous health. Once on the poet's (Coleridge) visit to the lake district he halted at the door of a wayside inn at the moment when the rural postman was delivering a letter to the landlord of the place. On receiving it she turned it over and over in her hand, and then asked the postage of it. The postman demanded 1 shilling. Sighing deeply, the girl handed the letter back, saying she was too poor to pay the required sum. The poet at once offered to pay the postage, and did so. The messenger had scarcely left the place when the young barmaid confessed she had learned all she was likely to learn from the letter; that she had only been practicing a preconceived trick—she and her lover having agreed that a few hieroglyphics on the back of the letter should tell her all she wanted to know, while the letter would contain no writing.—The Royal Mail.

A Good Business Outlook.

New York World.

The Financial Chronicle in its issue of Saturday last refers to the Clearing house returns, which are regarded as an unfailing barometer of the rise or fall in the volume of business, as follows:

A considerable gain at New York over $42,000,000 and some improvement at most of the other cities during the week bring the aggregate clearings for the whole country up to $771,062,294, a total exceeded only once since the third week of January.

In comparison with the corresponding six days of 1884, the total exchanges record an increase of $117,621,576, and the truth of these figures is attested not only by the oral statements of prominent merchants, but by a gradual hardening of prices for most commodities, by increased signs of life everywhere apparent in the wholesale dry-goods district, and by more numerous applications to banks for discounts. The clerical forces of some of the leading wholesale houses are busily engaged far into the night packing and shipping goods to the west and south. It is noticeable that the demand is chiefly from those sections where the crops are largest, the south especially coming forward as a large buyer. The enormous cotton crop, to say nothing of cereals, bids fair to lead to such a revival in the trade and industries of the south as will exert an important influence on matters here. On the other hand, a vast amount of northern capital is likely to find its way into southern enterprises during the next 12 months, as many believe that the south and southwest at present offer a better field for operation than either the west or northwest, where the influence of overtrading during the boom several years ago is still felt to a greater or less extent. It is to be hoped that the present revival of business will be gradual in order to check any tendency towards excessive production, which always does much to shorten the period and detract from the stability of the improvement.

Temperance Column.

Conducted by a Committee of the W. C. T. U.

Officers of the Society.

President—Mrs. C. V. Cook.
First Vice-President—Mrs. L. E. Allen.
Second Vice-President—Mrs. J. T. Billings.
Third Vice-President—Mrs. C. F. Van Aken.
Corresponding Secretary—Mrs. D. C. Lovelay.
Recording Secretary—Mrs. S. Suffield.
Treasurer—Mrs. C. J. Strang.

An Iowa Judge's Rebuke.

Hon. F. M. Hubbard, district judge of the eighth judicial district of Iowa, in passing sentence upon some liquor dealers for violation of the prohibitory laws of the state, said:

"While there are greater crimes known to the law which are punishable with great severity, there are none which involve more of those qualities known as despicable meanness and malicity than the selling of intoxicating liquors. There is something in the taking of human life so instantaneous that it shocks and terrifies the minds of all; and yet we look upon the man who takes human life quite as surely, but by a slow, lingering process, if not without condemnation, at least without horror. You who stand before the court for sentence are in every moral sense murderers, and you are within the spirit, if not in the letter, guilty of manslaughter; for the law says that who ever accelerates the death of a human being unlawfully is guilty of the crime. Your blooded victims upon the witness stand, and who undoubtedly committed perjury to screen you from the law, not only abundantly testified that you were accelerating death, but that you are inducing men to commit still greater crimes than your own. You still maintain the appearance of respectability, but how morally leprous and serious you are inwardly. The ruin, poverty and idleness which you are inflicting upon this community declinate from the honestogs that you are living in idleness and eating the bread of orphans watered with widows' tears; you are stealthily killing your victims, and murdering the peace and and industry of this community, and thereby converting happy, industrious homes into misery, poverty and rags. Anxious wives and mothers watch and pray in tears nightly, with broken hearts, for the coming home of your victims, whom you are luring with the wiles and smiles of the devil into midnight debauchery.

"One can have no adequate conception of a cutaract until he has seen Niagara, nor of the terrible force and grandeur of a storm in mid-ocean until he has witnessed one, so no one can know the utter degradation and total depravity to which his species can be brought until he looks upon the desolate ruin caused by your hellish traffic. You are persistent, defiant law-breakers, and shamelessly hoisted that in defiance of the law and moral sense of the community you will continue in your wicked and criminal practices. It has, therefore, now become the imperative duty of this court to let fall upon you so heavily the arm of the law that you shall either be driven from your nefarious traffic, or ruined in your fortunes or wicked prosperity. You have become a stench in the nostrils of the community, and all good men are praying that you be speedily reformed or summarily destroyed. By the providence of God and the favor of this court these prayers shall be speedily answered by signal and exact justice for your crimes. And finally, let me entreat you, if you are not lost to every sentiment of humanity, to heist from your criminal vocations, useful citizens and entitled to the respect of a Christian community. If you persist in this way, your ruin is certain, and you will receive, as you deserve, the execution of mankind. You may think that the sentence of the court is harsh and unjustly severe, but the court assures you that compared with your crimes and the desolation you have already brought upon the community, it is mild in the extreme.

THE JOURNAL

BY CHAS. J. STRANG.

CHARLEVOIX, - MICHIGAN.

NEWS CONDENSED.

Concise Record of the Week.

EASTERN.

The first race between the yachts Puritan and the Genesta, which was sailed on the 14th inst, over what is known as the inside course of the New York Yacht Club, a length of thirty-eight miles, was won by the former by 5:34:30. The English cutter was beaten by a little more than a mile, and crossed the line in 4:14:26. The event excited great interest throughout the country and in England.

While temporarily insane, William B. Taylor, of Worcester, Massachusetts, shot his wife and then himself. Both were fatally injured.

Harrisburg, Pennsylvania, last week celebrated the centennial anniversary of its incorporation, the venerable Simon Cameron presiding over the exercises.

The Rev. J. G. Townsend, who has been assistant pastor of the Asbury M. E. Church at Buffalo, has denied the dogma of eternal punishment, will resign his charge, and intends to found a new church based upon his religious beliefs.

A notable improvement has taken place in the iron and steel trade at Philadelphia, and large orders for various kinds of material have been placed. Seven hundred remained during the past week, and the manufacturer and independent mills are crowded with demands for supplies.

The failure is announced of the Wilmerding Company, a Boston corporation having its manufactory at Meriden, Conn. The liabilities are said to be about $100,000, of which about one-half is secured by mortgages pledged or hypothecated. The company has manufactured blankets exclusively, and has done its own selling.

The Dwyer Bros., the famous turfmen, announced that they are tired of horse racing and will sell out to the highest bidder.

WESTERN.

C. H. Chamberlain has commenced a suit in St. Louis for $100,000 damages against the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy Railroad on account of injuries received in an accident at Woodbine, Iowa, ten years ago.

The stage running from Fort Custer to Fort Maginnis was held up by three masked men near Forty-Mile Ranch and $800 taken. Twelve thousand dollars in gold bullion was sent through two days before.

The summit of Traillbrook of twelfth orders issued by township trustees in various parts of Indiana is estimated at $250,000. S. P. Fenton, Trustee of Allen Township, Warren County, is reported missing. Trustee Clawson, of Warren Township, who issued $18,000 of the "fraudulent orders," is reported to be in Hamilton, Ontario.

Emory A. Storrs, the eminent Chicago lawyer, died at Ottawa, Ill., after a short illness. He had been complaining of a difficulty in breathing, was taken to his bed, and telegraphed for his wife. She arrived and found him in a collapsed state; she ordered cigars and smoked one of them in bed, and appeared so much improved that she retired, and awoke at 7 o'clock the next morning and found him dead, the supposition being that he died several hours before of heart trouble. His remains were taken to Chicago for burial. The deceased was born at Hinsdale, N. Y., August 12, 1845.

John L. Sullivan, the pugilist, pleaded guilty at Cleveland to the charge of Sunday ballpitching, and was fined $1 and costs—in total of $10.

Miss Arvilla M. Bogart, aged 23, living near Commonwealth, Wis., was stung on the head by a bee, and died in twenty minutes from the effects of the sting.

C. E. Cook, proprietor of the Jennings County Banks, at North Vernon, Ind., has suddenly disappeared, having become involved by destitute in the warrants overissued by various township trustees in Indiana.

A female horse-thief, giving the name of Mary L. Sheppard, aged 21 years, of Webster City, Iowa, was captured at Dodgeville, Wis., while attempting to sell a stolen team.

Miss Dean, daughter of a wealthy lumber dealer of Chicago, began working in a spinning mill at Rockford last week for 40 cents per day. Her father, however, gives her a dollar for each coal carried.

The bodies of three hundred Chinamen, supposed to have been gathered from cemeteries in all parts of California, were discovered in a San Francisco cellar, where they were being prepared by fellow-countrymen for shipment to the Flowery Kingdom. Several Chinese were engaged in packing into ten-barrel kegs the bones of thirty-five or forty of their countrymen for shipment to China, where they must be buried in order to insure their presence at the Celestial resurrection. It was learned that bodies are taken secretly at night from the cemeteries and carried to this cellar or central depot, where the bones are boiled down so as to strip them of the putrid flesh. They are then placed in boxes lined with tine and hermetically sealed, to be shipped to the Flowery Land. The Coroner commenced the remains and removed them to the morgue.

Careful estimate of the corn crop in Nebraska show it to be the largest ever raised in the State. The State Board of Agriculture estimates a total yield of over 190,000,000 bushels. A dispatch from Des Moines says that from carefully prepared estimates the Iowa wheat yield will exceed that of last year about 13,000,000 bushels, or a total yield this year of 265,000,000 bushels.

The corn crop of Missouri will be somewhat below the average for the past five years, which has been 151,000,000 bushels.

Five indictments for illegal cohabitation were returned by the Federal Grand Jury at Salt Lake City, and two women who refused to testify were sent to the penitentiary for contempt.

The Chinese consuls located at San Francisco have gone to Rock Springs, Wyoming, to investigate the recent massacre of their countrymen at that place.

SOUTHERN.

A fire at Dawson Springs, Ky., destroyed a hotel, two dwellings, and four stores, causing a loss of $40,000.

A. M. Britton, President of the First National Bank, Fort Worth, Texas, has been sued against the Nichols estate to recover $30,000, the amount of Nichols' defalcation.

A recent dispatch from Denison, Texas, says: "The principal woman's rights sustained an ignoble defeat here after an heroic contingent. Three hundred sisters armed Cash, of mature years, cradle on a street that is being repaired and graded. They objected to any work being done in front of their premises, so they had no voice in ordering the improvement. This afternoon, while the street boss and his laborers were at work in front of the Cash residence, the three amazons sneaked out and assaulted the workmen with rocks, putting over a dozen heavy wounds. The City Marshal and two policemen then engaged to protect the men while they returned to work, but the fair sisters were equal to the emergency, for this time they sallied forth with two old pistols and a garden hoe. The chivalric Marshal and his aids hastily retreated before the foe, and again the work was severely seized with rocks, was fled. Calling reinforcements, the Marshal entered his men and finally captured the Amazons and locked them in the calaboose, where they are passing tonight singing hymns."

An express train on the Kentucky Central Railroad was wrecked near Lexington, Kentucky, the engineer and fireman being killed and many passengers injured.

A controversy between E. R. Murray, editor of the Anderson (S. C.) Intelligencer, and State Senator Moore culminated in a personal encounter in the streets of Anderson, S. C. Each fired about two times. Senator Moore was slightly wounded in the right hip. The difficulty originated in a discussion of opinion on the prohibition question, which led Editor Murray to denounce in his paper Senator Moore as a liar.

WASHINGTON.

The Second Comptroller of the Treasury has made a decision refusing to reopen the accounts of the Baltimore and Ohio Railway Company for transportation of soldiers and supplies during the civil war.

Congress will be asked for an appropriation of $250,000 to improve the navigation of the Red River.

A committee has been appointed to open negotiations with the Choctaws, Seminoles, Creeks, and Cherokees with a view to opening their lands for settlement.

A. M. Keiley tendered his resignation as United States Minister to Austria, which was accepted. It is believed in well informed circles at Washington that the mission will be left unfilled for an indefinite period.

The Chief of the Bureau of Statistics this reports the total exports of the United States for the month of June, including domestic cattle and hogs, beef, pork, and dairy products as follows:

August	1887.	1886.	1884.
Eight months ended Aug. 31	$ 7,924,147	$ 8,005,500
Total 31	64,971,264	62,937,025
Beef and pork products for eight months ending Aug. 31	5,976,648	7,756,016
Dairy products for eight months ending Aug. 31	2,291,833	2,291,833

Comptroller Durham, of the Treasury, announces that his decision holding appropriations for the payment of officers and employes of the Alabama claims court is final. This ends the controversy so far as the executive branch of the Government is concerned.

Controller Durham has directed the Solicitor of the Treasury to bring suit against ex-Commissioner of Agriculture Loring to recover $26,000 alleged to have been expended improperly by him.

POLITICAL.

Rev. Moses A. Hopkins, a colored man of North Carolina, and an ex-slave, has been appointed United States Minister to Liberia.

Henry Ward Beecher strongly favors inserting a high-tariff plank in the New York Republican platform and will stand out on that issue.

Under the provisions of the liquor law of Wisconsin, elections were held throughout that State to determine the rate of license to be charged in the several cities and towns. Low license ($200) was carried in Milwaukee, Madison, Oshkosh, Racine, Neenah, Oconomowoc, Green Bay, Portage, Janesville, Appleton, Fond du Lac, Mineral Point, Darlington, Watertown, Baraboo, Eau Claire, and other important towns. Among the places which voted for high license ($500) were Kenosha, Fort Atkinson, Whitewater, Port Howard, Beloit, Waupaca, Depere, and Wauseon.

The Maryland Democratic convention at Baltimore adopted resolutions indorsing the administration and denouncing the existing civil-service law. Candidates for Comptroller and Clerk of the Court of Appeals were nominated. The Maryland Prohibitionists also met at Baltimore, and selected a candidate for Comptroller on a platform demanding the suppression of the liquor traffic in the State.

MISCELLANEOUS.

A communistic uprising has occurred in the Mexican State of Vera Cruz. The rebels demand a division of all property.

A general curtailment of expenses has been agreed upon on the Pennsylvania lines. They has been reduced fourteen hours a week in all of the company's shops.

The Indian Chief, Big Bear, has been sentenced to three years' imprisonment for his participation in the recent rebellion in the Northwest Territory.

The lacrosse championship of Canada was won by the Montreal Club.

There are 42,248,200 bushels of wheat in sight, and the visible supply of corn is 7,175,982 bushels.

A dispatch from Winnipeg states that a cyclone has been scanned hitherto, under sentence of death for participation in the North-western uprising. It has always been feared that even should the rope be placed around his neck, it would be removed by divine interposition.

Mrs. Joseph Airey, a confirmed invalid, whose father was a prominent temperance advocate in England, cut the throats of her three children at Toronto, Ont., inflicting dangerous wounds. The woman was locked up.

The September report of the Department of Agriculture shows the distribution of wheat in eight years 425,000,000 bushels, while estimates of production average 445,000,000 bushels, of the difference, over 20,000,000 bushels, at least 5,000,000 more are on hand than at the beginning of the period. The 5,000,000 remaining are scarcely sufficient to offset the loss by fire and on the lakes and in manufacturing. The average consumption is 285,000,000 bushels; seed, 52,000,000 bushels; exportation, 97,000,000 bushels. The exportation for eight years is only 17,000,000 bushels, less than the entire export of the fifty-one preceding years. The office in annual exports since 1880 averages 20,000,000 bushels.

The seventeenth annual reunion of the Society of the Army of the Cumberland was held at Cincinnati, Mon. Mon. General Phelan presiding. The Sons of Veterans of the United States and the Michigan veterans of the Mexican war held the annual meetings in the same city. A reunion of survivors of the famous "Iron Brigade" was held at Madison, Wis.

The fifth annual session of the Supreme Tribunal of the United Order of Ancient Templars was held in Chicago. S. M. Kennedy, of Chicago, was elected Supreme Templar for the ensuing year.

Barnum's great elephant Jumbo was run into by a railway train and killed near St. Thomas, Canada. A dispatch from Toronto gives the following particulars of the accident:

The animals were being transferred from the train to the car on the Toronto and Port Stanley Railway track, which was struck by a freight train at 7:30 Monday evening. About 40 feet of the baggage car, which was taken off the line, was smashed. The elephant, which was standing in the baggage car, was killed. Jumbo, the great, had a by Barnum, the Lion King, the keeper of Jumbo died not, it is learned, we the train company for transportation of soldiers and supplies during the civil war.

LATER NEWS ITEMS.

Mr. Chamberlain's meetings in Scotland are everywhere attended by great crowds. In one of his speeches he stated that Mr. Gladstone having been restored to health, would resume the leadership in the next campaign. Mr. John Morley, in a speech at Hackney, England, said he was willing to make the utmost concession to Ireland short of separation.

The Irish-American citizens of the Dominion capital, in unsectarian assembled unanimously adopted resolutions indorsing Parnell's programme.

Worthington C. Ford, of Brooklyn, has been appointed Chief of the Statistical Division of the State Department, vice Manuel Aguilar, of Chicago, who resigns to the bureau of foreign bureau of the clerks.

The Cincinnati Price Current estimates the corn crop of the country at 1,700,000,000 bushels, an increase of 77 per cent. over that of last year.

The annual statement of the Northern Pacific railroad shows a decrease in earnings of over $1,000,000 as compared with last year.

Twenty-nine deaths from yellow fever have occurred at Tampa since Sept. 1, and the disease has appeared at Brooksville and Manatee.

A yacht capsized in Lake St. Francis, Canada, and two of the three occupants perished after a night of exposure. The survivor claims that he has been much at fault, but a gentleman and his captain and steward drowned.

In a Montreal restaurant six men were found eating, while a boy afflicted with a virulent case of small pox lay in an adjoining room. The men were arrested and the jury in a number trial, and the judge, taking intimate with the circumstances, discharged the jury, after which the court was cleared and the indicting disinterested.

Louisville celebrated last week the sale of the one hundred thousandth bagge head of tobacco this season by a grand processional display of the varied interests, the tobacco industry being given prominence in the pageant. The procession was eight miles in length, and after reaching the Exposition building the selected hogshead, weighing 1,100 pounds, was sold to Bauer Brothers, of Louisville, for $2,625. There were 50,000 visitors in the city, and the immense structure of the Exposition was the largest in its history.

The Lumber Manufacturers' Association of the Northwest met in Chicago last week. The delegates present seemed generally to favor decreased outputs to relieve the market.

The cage in the shaft of the Nanticoke mine, near Decatur, Ill., while descending with five men, suddenly dashed 20 feet to the bottom, the shock rendering four occupants unconscious. Two of the men will probably recover.

Santa Fe (New Mexico) special: During the last ten days, Apaches have murdered six citizens in Grant County—one in Socorro County, one in Rio Arriba, one in Mancho, Evaristo Abeytia, a Mexican near Las Cruces, two sons of John McKeon on his ranch near Gallinas Creek; George Horn, a woodchopper, near Cooperstown, and a Mexican sheepherder, near Lake Valley, name unknown. The savages also destroyed Smith & Keith's ranch, Doubtful Canyon, near Lake Valley.

The President has appointed the following named Presidential Postmasters: Edward H. Thayer, at Canton, Iowa, vice Charles Pell, resigned; Henry Williams, at Pocahontas, Ark., vice Charles R. Miller, resigned; J. Henry Beavers, at Cuthbert, Ga., vice James M. Dunson, suspended; Russell T. Dobson, at Dowagiac, Mich., vice John D. Hosler, suspended; James Murray, at Fremont, Neb., vice H. G. Dunne, resigned; William H. Hoffman, at Trenton, Ill., vice E. B. Passey, suspended; John Lynn, at Marietta, Pa., vice G. H. Hiss, suspended.

MICHIGAN AFFAIRS.

—The champion roller skater is beginning to hob up in different parts of the State.

—An Adrian man has a horse which he wants to match against any other horse in a walking match.

—Jacob Hancock, who had resided in Hillsdale County since 1839, died in Camden township, aged 76 years.

—Addison, Lenawee County, with a population of about four hundred, has four doctors and an equal number of churches.

—Mrs. Hannah Plantenjaw, of Medon Township, died last week, aged 92. She was one of the earliest settlers of Lenawee County.

—At Crystal Falls fire destroyed Bishop & Hinkley's building, the Green Bay House, and several smaller buildings. Loss, $20,000; insurance, $10,000.

—Some resident of Toledo, whose name is not yet disclosed, is about to bring suit for property in Detroit valued at $40,000. The person claims to be a long-lost heir to the Desjardins family.

—There are over 300 boys in the reform school at Lansing. New cottages are being to be erected for the boys, whose desire to be into families of fifty each. The new kitchen has been well under way. A few cases of diphtheria have been reported, but as a rule the inmates have excellent health.

—An increased attendance this year at the Michigan Agricultural College is credited to Mr. Willits, the new President. He is energetic and efficient. If anybody can make the institution what it should be he ought to. But up to date it has failed to persuade a large proportion of graduates that farming is a desirable occupation. Having farmers' sons, they may have thought it was not before they kept their and went off to get an education and avoid farm life.—Free Press.

The action of the Detroit Justice Civil Power in producing a witness from what he believed to be an attorney, raises a new question, is a good example for all the courts to follow. "I am here for both sides," said the witness in answer to an inquiry from the attorney. Judge Jones altogether too prone to allow the attorneys to conduct cases to suit themselves, regardless of the rights of the witnesses or the appropriateness of the ground they to occupy. In this case the attorney opposed the interruption, because, he said, the witness was not his client. He supposed, the idea that nothing could be interrupted illegal unless "the other side" called the attorney's attention to it. It struck him as a novelty. It is altogether too much of a novelty.—Free Press.

—William M. P. Round, of New York, Secretary of the National Prison Association of the United States, visited Ionia last week, to perfect arrangements for the meeting of the association in that city, 17 to 21. He says the convict employment question is here very successful one. A number of prominent men are to take part in the proceedings. Governor Rich, B. B. Hayes will be permanent Chairman, he will already President of the association. Among those who will probably be present, most of whom will read papers, are Governor Hoyt, of Pennsylvania, Governor Foster, of Ohio, Governor Hill, of New York, Judge Francis Wayland, Head of the Yale Law School; Charles Dudley Warner, Professor Caldron T. Lewis, of New York; representatives of the Government from the Departments of War and Justice, and many others of national reputation.

Crushed to Death.

A special from Ann Arbor says: At 6 o'clock yesterday morning a peculiar break in the rear of a shoe-shop on Fourth street in the rear of the old orthodox church, in Assumin Barney. There were two persons in the house when it fell. They were Will Dillions and Freddie Eno. Dillions was at work in his shop, and Mr. and Mrs. Eno were in bed. The boy came down stairs, all crushed. All escaped with slight injuries except Mr. Eno. He was about 60 years old and had been afflicted with paralysis for several years. She had risen up to be at the crash came, when she was struck by the falling wall. She heard to scream when struck. Her remains were found about two hours' work by the Fire Department.

Took Part in Perry's Victory.

A. H. M. Fitzsimmons, of Reading, talks to the Detroit Free Press as follows:

"In your issue of to-day you give an interview with a gentleman who of one is was the engagement on Lake Erie known as Perry's Victory. There is now living in the Township of Ridge, Bruce County, this State, Mr. Alexander Odell, who was in the battle. He was born in Berkley, and was taken a prisoner by Perry's officers and taken on board. He is of French descent, lived in Detroit at the time of the war, and was quite a young man, and was arrested and pressed into the British service. After the battle he was taken as prisoner to Long, where he spent a year and served until the close of the war. He was paid $5 per month for such services. After the war Mr. Odell returned to Detroit, and owned ten acres of land at corner where the City Hall now stands, which he sold in 1836 for $40 per acre and bought the land on which he now lives, having moved on it in 1837. He has lived there continuously since. Mr. Odell is 88 years old, is active and intelligent, and relates the old scenes of those days as if they were of last yesterday. Nothing of lights his mind than to get with some Frenchmen with whom he can talk in the language of his boyhood. His wife's still living and seems enjoying good health, although she has been blind for a number of years. They have raised a large family of children, most of whom live near them.

PLAYED,

John Sherman Soundly Scored by Gov. Hoadly for His Recent Demagogical Utterances.

Time for the Sherrmans and the Foraters to Accept the Results of the War.

The Administration of President Cleveland Has Won the Confidence of the People.

Gov. Hoadly recently opened the Ohio campaign at Hamilton, in the presence of an immense assemblage, paying particular attention to John Sherman's resurrection of the bloody shirt. We make the following extracts from his ministry address:

Two years ago I opened in your midst the canvass which resulted in unprecedented success, surrounded now by the friends who gave me that overwhelming vote, I feel like a veteran after the conscript, I ask for a renewal of that confidence, and for an increased majority, which shall express with emphasis your opinion that Democratic success, as proved by two years, means good government, reform, Union, personal liberty, economy, and the maintenance of the principles and ideas which constituted the public life of the Republic.

Of all the—State and national—

Democratic Presidents, Jefferson and Monroe only, served two terms, therefore the contest into functions of fifty each. The new issue has been made as well as older ones. A few voices of diphtheria have been reported, but as a rule the inmates have excellent health.

An increased attendance this year at the Michigan Agricultural College is credited to Mr. Willits, the new President. He is energetic and efficient. If anybody can make the institution what it should be he ought to. But up to date it has failed to persuade a large proportion of graduates that farming is a desirable occupation. Having farmers' sons, they may have thought it was not before they kept their and went off to get an education and avoid farm life.—Free Press.

The action of the Detroit Justice Civil Power in producing a witness from what he believed to be an attorney, raises a new question, is a good example for all the courts to follow. "I am here for both sides," said the witness in answer to an inquiry from the attorney. Judge Jones altogether too prone to allow the attorneys to conduct cases to suit themselves, regardless of the rights of the witnesses or the appropriateness of the ground they to occupy. In this case the attorney opposed the interruption, because, he said, the witness was not his client. He supposed, the idea that nothing could be interrupted illegal unless "the other side" called the attorney's attention to it struck him as a novelty. It is altogether too much of a novelty.—Free Press.

—William M. P. Round, of New York, Secretary of the National Prison Association of the United States, visited Ionia last week, to perfect arrangements for the meeting of the association in that city, 17 to 21. He says the convict employment question is here very successful one. A number of prominent men are to take part in the proceedings. Governor Rich, B. B. Hayes will be permanent Chairman, he will already President of the association. Among those who will probably be present, most of whom will read papers, are Governor Hoyt, of Pennsylvania, Governor Foster, of Ohio, Governor Hill, of New York, Judge Francis Wayland, Head of the Yale Law School; Charles Dudley Warner, Professor Caldron T. Lewis, of New York; representatives of the Government from the Departments of War and Justice, and many others of national reputation.

Crushed to Death.

A special from Ann Arbor says: At 6 o'clock yesterday morning a peculiar break in the rear of a shoe-shop on Fourth street in the rear of the old orthodox church, in Assumin Barney. There were two persons in the house when it fell. They were Will Dillions and Freddie Eno. Dillions was at work in his shop, and Mr. and Mrs. Eno were in bed. The boy came down stairs, all crushed. All escaped with slight injuries except Mr. Eno. He was about 60 years old and had been afflicted with paralysis for several years. She had risen up to be at the crash came, when she was struck by the falling wall. She heard to scream when struck. Her remains were found about two hours' work by the Fire Department.

Took Part in Perry's Victory.

A. H. M. Fitzsimmons, of Reading, talks to the Detroit Free Press as follows:

"In your issue of to-day you give an interview with a gentleman who of one is was the engagement on Lake Erie known as Perry's Victory. There is now living in the Township of Ridge, Bruce County, this State, Mr. Alexander Odell, who was in the battle. He was born in Berkley, and was taken a prisoner by Perry's officers and taken on board. He is of French descent, lived in Detroit at the time of the war, and was quite a young man, and was arrested and pressed into the British service. After the battle he was taken as prisoner to Long, where he spent a year and served until the close of the war. He was paid $5 per month for such services. After the war Mr. Odell returned to Detroit, and owned ten acres of land at corner where the City Hall now stands, which he sold in 1836 for $40 per acre and bought the land on which he now lives, having moved on it in 1837. He has lived there continuously since. Mr. Odell is 88 years old, is active and intelligent, and relates the old scenes of those days as if they were of last yesterday. Nothing of lights his mind than to get with some Frenchmen with whom he can talk in the language of his boyhood. His wife's still living and seems enjoying good health, although she has been blind for a number of years. They have raised a large family of children, most of whom live near them.

AMERICA STILL LEADS.

England's Phenomenal Yacht Outsailed in Her Contest for the America's Cup.

Victory Snatched by the Puritan from What Seemed to Be Almost Certain Defeat.

The possession of the America's cup was decided at New York on the 6th inst., by the Puritan beating the Genesta over the long course by 1 minute 38 seconds, corrected time. The race is said to have been the closest ever contested; the Genesta leading for nearly three-fourths of the distance, and being 2 minutes 8 seconds ahead at the outer mark. The wind was fresh at the start, and increased toward the finish to half a gale, resulting in a jumpy sea. A New York dispatch says of the great race:

The cup won by the America more than a generation ago was never in such peril as to-day. Its possession has been often challenged and warmly contested, but never before has Great Britain sent a champion so hard to vanquish. Had it not been for the building of the Yankee yacht and the sotting of the Yankee skipper we might have been compelled to cede the trophy which we have so often defended, and always with more greater ease than to-day when for the first time Americans have had to hold their sails in competition with an Englishman, and to win in any weather. There never was such a race in American waters. There probably never was sailed before, in the history of yachting, any race in which the lead changed totallingly before two famous rivals anywhere near so long a distance as forty-five miles. No lead but the Puritan could have saved the cup. The Genesta had combined and made victory so dubious. It was a great race, and the proud British tars who sailed it revive crossed the imaginary line until the whistles blew and the guns belched forth their welcoming to the returning conquerors. The yacht lacked grand as they shaded across the line. Both came home in too for the tugs Scandinavian and Luckenbach, and met at the Sandy Hook Lightship anchorage. At 5 o'clock the race was over, and the America's cup was still retained on this side of the Atlantic. In speaking of the race ex-Commodore Smith, who has seen every important race for the last thirty years, said: "I never saw the greatest race ever seen in the world, and if the Puritan had been properly handled she would have beaten the cutter more yet.

The Genesta was regarded as the line "all around" boat in the British fleets of the sovereign. She was her first race in 1885, and was then regarded as the fresh whole-sail breeze blowing the Yankee boats in match race on the Clyde. In her third race she beat the fastest two-stickers in Britain's waters, in a fresh wind and a lusty jump of the sea. In her fourth race, yesterday, in a light wind she faced a light-weather boat in England. In another day she won with the wind insensibly varying from a lower-sail breeze to a flat calm.

THE RIVAL CRAFT.

The Genesta.

The Genesta, owned by Sir Richard Sutton, has had a considerable measure of success, though she was frequently beaten by the boats in match races on the coast of England, before concluding to try to recover the Queen's Cup. Her designer, Mr. Beaver Webb, accompanied her in her trial trips, and the Genesta was built at Partick-on-the-Clyde, in May, 1884. Her dimensions are 70 feet over all, 61 feet on the water line, 15 feet extra beam, 11 feet 6 inches draught of water, her register is of 81 tons, and she is enrolled in the Thames Royal Yacht Squadron. She made a quick passage to this country, proving herself a good sailer, but in no case before the great race did she fully exhibit her abilities.

CAPTAIN CRANSTON

The Puritan.

A Yankee boat—built in Boston, by Hogan sons for Boston men—the whole flyer Puritan, is especially the pride of New Englanders. She was built by George Lawley of South Boston, is 92 feet over all, 86 feet water line, 25 feet beam, 8 feet 7 inch draught. The qualities of the Puritan were tested by three races with the Priscilla, built also for the purpose of racing the Genesta. Of three trial races the Puritan won two, and was acclaimed as the champion of American yachting interests in the contest with the Genesta.

FIGHTING THEIR BATTLES OVER.

Veterans of the Army of the Tennessee Hold Their Eighteenth Annual Reunion.

The Society of the Army of the Tennessee held its eighteenth annual reunion in Chicago on the 9th and 10th of September. Generals Sherman, Logan, Fletcher of Missouri, Gen. J. R. Sanborn of Minnesota, Gen. G. M. Dodge of Iowa, Gen. Hickenlooper and Peter of Ohio, and Bishop Fallows of Chicago. The Treasurer's report showed $16,000 on hand. Gen. Sherman, Logan, Oglesby, and others had long speeches. Many letters were received by reason of the death of General Grant, Governor Oglesby delivered an address of welcome. He offered them in behalf of the solid men of Illinois their platter, cutlery, and cup. He has heard sometimes, he thinks, about one thing of their fame, and had a strong sentiment of gratitude for the glorious work they had accomplished in the days gone by. As the guardians of a nation's life, and the defenders of its flag, they had saved to the country, he bade them welcome to the hospitalities of Illinois. Gen. Sherman delivered an address called "Reminiscences of the Army." Gen. Logan, The speaker accepted all the hospitalities which were occupied by the enemy, apparently 1,500 or 2,000 strong, and with about 200 cavalry. The latter were stationed at the outlets of the valley leading toward the coast and to the interior, so that from the first the Government forces were effectually cornered. Col. Torrence had placed his men in the barracks, situated in the principal square of the town, having also small outlying squads behind some of the walls in the suburbs.

Caceres' artillery, four small field-pieces, opened fire from the hill at Hacienda at half-past 7, and in a few moments the firing became general.

The enemy descended the hills and attempted to enter the town, but were repulsed by the Government forces, and the positions of the combatants were unaltered, the fire being all the time very heavy.

At midday the defenders of the place slackened their fire, for their ammunition was rapidly becoming exhausted, and for an hour they received without reply the volleys of the attacking party.

At 2 o'clock a desperate effort was made to drive the rebels from the town, which they had then entered, at the point of the bayonet. This failed, and then the defeat was accomplished.

The fight was hand to hand in the streets, no quarter being given, and the most dreadful scenes of carnage occurred. Houses where some of the defeated soldiers had taken refuge were broken open and all found within murdered without distinction of age, sex, or character, and then were burned.

A few of the most determined of the Government cavalrymen, headed by Colonel Pacheco, cut their way through the opposed and made good their escape.

Col. Hidalgo, in whose hands the defeat was due, seeing that all was lost, left his house out the field of action.

Col. Torres escaped early in the fight, and the Government has named another officer to succeed the deceased "Commander."

Of the five hundred or six hundred men engaged on the Government side, probably two hundred escaped by flying to the mountains or following Pachas. They are still coming in in parties of two or three. Very few prisoners were taken, for, as has been stated, no quarter was given.

The Carolists were commanded by Col. Morales Hernandez, and it is stated that Caceres with his staff arrived at Canta the day after the battle. The losses of the revolutionary forces are large, and from the fact that the Cajamarca battalion was decimally the first in the Government service the partisans of Caceres fore are jubilant over his success.

The 3,000 soldiers in garrison at Lima are not at all affected by the recent revolt and their officers are confident of their loyalty in case of an attack on the city. Energetic precautionary measures are being taken. The church towers are occupied to-night by strong detachments of riflemen, and the Prefect has issued a notice offering a reward of from $50 to $1,000 soles to any one who may denounce the existence of conspiracies or aid the police in their efforts.

The Government forces have been withdrawn from Chosica, and are now stationed at Santa Clara, fifteen miles nearer to Lima. Nothing positive is known regarding the whereabouts of Caceres.

CAPTURE OF CANTA.

Defenseless Inhabitants Massacred by the Victors Without Regard to Sex or Condition.

Suicide of the Officer Responsible for the Defeat—Flight of the Survivors.

(PANAMA dispatch.)

The latest advices from Lima give details of the battle at Canta on the 14th ult. On the morning of that day a detachment of Government troops occupying the town of Canta, sixty miles from Lima, in the valley running parallel to that of the Rimac, was surprised by a division of Gen. Caceres' army, and after a sharp action of several hours was forced to fly in disorder.

The Government troops operating against Canta were 350 men of the line, with one Gatling gun, 50 cavalrymen, and 50 mounted gendarmes, the whole force being commanded by Col. Torres.

Canta had been occupied for several days, the montoneros or irregular revolutionary forces retiring on the approach of this detachment. On Friday evening news arrived of the approach of a considerable division of the enemy, and upon Col. Bustamente's advance it was decided to defend the town.

On Saturday at 7 a. m. the hills inclosing Canta were occupied by the enemy, apparently 1,500 or 2,000 strong, and with about 200 cavalry. The latter were stationed at the outlets of the valley leading toward the coast and to the interior, so that from the first the Government forces were effectually cornered. Col. Torres had placed his men in the barracks, situated in the principal square of the town, having also small outlying squads behind some of the walls in the suburbs.

Caceres' artillery, four small field-pieces, opened fire from the hill at Hacienda at half-past 7, and in a few moments the firing became general.

The enemy descended the hills and attempted to enter the town, but were repulsed by the Government forces, and the positions of the combatants were unaltered, the fire being all the time very heavy.

At midday the defenders of the place slackened their fire, for their ammunition was rapidly becoming exhausted, and for an hour they received without reply the volleys of the attacking party.

At 2 o'clock a desperate effort was made to drive the rebels from the town, which they had then entered, at the point of the bayonet. This failed, and then the defeat was accomplished.

The fight was hand to hand in the streets, no quarter being given, and the most dreadful scenes of carnage occurred. Houses where some of the defeated soldiers had taken refuge were broken open and all found within murdered without distinction of age, sex, or character, and then were burned.

A few of the most determined of the Government cavalrymen, headed by Colonel Pacheco, cut their way through the opposed and made good their escape.

Col. Hidalgo, in whose hands the defeat was due, seeing that all was lost, left his house out the field of action.

Col. Torres escaped early in the fight, and the Government has named another officer to succeed the deceased "Commander."

Of the five hundred or six hundred men engaged on the Government side, probably two hundred escaped by flying to the mountains or following Pachas. They are still coming in in parties of two or three. Very few prisoners were taken, for, as has been stated, no quarter was given.

The Carolists were commanded by Col. Morales Hernandez, and it is stated that Caceres with his staff arrived at Canta the day after the battle. The losses of the revolutionary forces are large, and from the fact that the Cajamarca battalion was decidedly the first in the Government service the partisans of Caceres fore are jubilant over his success.

The 3,000 soldiers in garrison at Lima are not at all affected by the recent revolt and their officers are confident of their loyalty in case of an attack on the city. Energetic precautionary measures are being taken. The church towers are occupied to-night by strong detachments of riflemen, and the Prefect has issued a notice offering a reward of from $50 to $1,000 soles to any one who may denounce the existence of conspiracies or aid the police in their efforts.

The Government forces have been withdrawn from Chosica, and are now stationed at Santa Clara, fifteen miles nearer to Lima. Nothing positive is known regarding the whereabouts of Caceres.

COTTON.

Statistics of the Year.

(New Orleans special.)

The annual report of the National Cotton Exchange shows the cotton movement of the United States for the year ending August 31 to be as follows:

	Bales.	Bales.
	this year.	last year.
Net port receipts	6,713,847	6,606,354
Exports to Great Britain	3,000,000	3,004,996
Exports to France	495,759	468,966
Exports to the continent	1,800,000
and channel	1,000,000	922,749
Total exports	5,995,759	3,395,897
Stock at ports to sailing	1,000,000	1,000,000
Total stock	2,506,465	2,712,290
Stock overland	1,000,000	189,000
Total American
Total of cotton region	1,456,151	1,527,165
Total of all	326,814	320,527
Total American in the
United States	1,700,155	1,855,693
Sea island crop	1,000,000	18,000
Stock at close of year	18,000	126,723
Shipped to Canada	26,163	22,023

Fractured Their Skulls.

(Dubuque City (Iowa) special.)

Mrs. M. Torrey, wife of the proprietor of the Register, and Mrs. Thompson, her mother, while out riding to-day, were thrown from their dog-cart. The skulls of both women were fractured. Both are unconscious, and there is no hope of their recovery.

ALL SORTS.

SAVANNAH, Ga., has put up $2,000,000 worth of buildings this season.

A SUCCESS (Del.) paper refuses $50,000 for a corn harvester invention.

MICHAEL WAGNER, who died at New Riegel, Ohio, was 102 years old.

THE JOURNAL.

BY CHAS. J. STRANG.

CHARLEVOIX, - - MICHIGAN.

As Others See Us.

Over the signature of "Resorter" a correspondent writes a two-column letter to the Sheboian, Mo., Democrat, descriptive of Charlevoix and its surroundings, from which we take a few paragraphs. From the description of the trip from Chicago we would infer that "Resorter" arrived on the Champlain during the storm of Aug. 13th, that interfered so much with the regatta on the 11th.

A trip of two or three days on so large a body of water as Lake Michigan is quite an interesting event to one who has never enjoyed the experience. It furnishes all the novelty of a regular sea voyage with the sea-sickness occasionally thrown in if you want it. The wide expanse of water with no object visible except an occasional sail or passing steamer, the mirror-like surface reflecting the blue above in the still deep beneath, the foam-capped crests of angry billows as the waves struggle in desperate embrace, may all be seen and enjoyed on a trip from Chicago to northern Lake Michigan. * * * I have been as far north as Mackinac Island, but this locality is, I think, the most desirable of any I have seen along the peninsulas of Northern Michigan. Extending along the shores of both Pine and Round Lakes, are the Chicago and Charlevoix summer resorts, built up within the past few years. Each has its hotel surrounded by a number of nicely arranged cottages, many of which are models of architectural beauty. They are owned principally by residents of Chicago and southern Michigan who yearly bring their families here to find a pleasant summer home. Charlevoix is in no sense "a fashionable resort," but on the contrary it is a place where you can, if so desired, wear out your old clothes without exciting idle curiosity, or put on your new ones without becoming a special object of attraction, and where you can also enjoy a social life as pure and refined as that of your own home. * * * The tourist finds the choicest sport away from the lines of travel and among the inland lakes and brooks which empty into them. There black bass, perch, pickerel, and speckled trout abound in quantities sufficient to satisfy the demands of the most zealous sportsman. * * * One encounters a number of small farms in traveling through the interior, but this portion of the state is a comparative wilderness, and whatever its agricultural resources may be remain yet to be developed. The surface is everywhere thickly covered with timber, chiefly maple and hemlock, and it is worth several times as much as the land costs to put it in cultivation. This whole region, however, is one great sanitarium for hay-fever and asthma as well as for fever and ague and other malarial diseases. The hay-fever sufferer can come here with assurance of most perfect exemption from that terrible malady, as thousands can attest who annually find it a safe asylum. The atmosphere is pure and invigorating, the days pleasant, and the nights cool and refreshing. The public accommodations are good and the price of board ranges from five to seven dollars per week. It is only within the last few years that it has become a health as well as a summer resort, and to the seeker of either, I can say that I know of no place where he can enjoy equal benefits for the same expenditure of money.

Vicksburg Commercial: Charlevoix has made rapid strides during the past two years in the way of growth and building improvements. According to the Journal the sum foots up $131,150 expended in that time. In our favorable opinion of the charming resort and its hospitable and enterprising people, we don't wonder at its prosperity. May it ever continue.

Bronson Journal: The Charlevoix Journal of last week gives a tabular statement of the building improvements in that prosperous northern town, which foots up $131,150.

Chase Eclipse: The Charlevoix Journal gives the amount of building done in that live town in the past two years at $131,150.

Plainwell Leader: A market copy of the Charlevoix Journal states that $131,150 has been spent in that resort in the past two years for building purposes.

The Traverse Herald prints the recapitulation of business in full as heretofore printed in the JOURNAL. Thanks, Bro. Bates.

Detroit Free Press: The Charlevoix Journal claims that $131,150 worth of building has been done there the past two years.

Eaton Rapids Times: In the past two years $131,150 worth of public buildings have been erected at Charlevoix.

Kalamazoo Telegraph: Charlevoix shows up $131,150 worth of new buildings for the past two years.

Manistique Pioneer: The new Charlevoix flouring mills will cost $20,000.

Bellaire Breeze: Charlevoix has had 4,042 transients at her hotels this season.

Notes and News.

Nearly all the cattle are off the Indian reservations, and one great source of trouble with the Indians has been removed. A little buckbone on the part of the president has righted a great evil in a very short space of time.

It has been announced in all the executive departments at Washington that there will be no interference with these employees who desire to go home and cast their ballots this fall. But the "election leave" of ten days with pay heretofore annually granted to every male employe of the government will not hereafter be granted. Anybody who goes home to vote will have the period of his absence deducted from his annual vacation leave or else will have his pay stopped during his absence from duty. Of course there will be no more partisan political work on the part of departmental employes.

Rev. Geo. B. Stocking recently addressed an audience at the Knights of Labor hall in Lansing, on the subject of capital and labor. He commenced his admirable address with a statement of what he believed to be the true relations to each other of the three factors which enter into the problem—capital, labor, and land. He thought the solution was not to be found in strikes or in the triumph of communistic ideas. He "would recommend such a union of labor and money in all associated enterprises as would secure the laborer a share of the surplus profits of such enterprises. The money of the capitalist secures a factory, machinery and stock; but without the laborer you can do nothing. Brain and muscle is his capital. Skill multiplies the worth of brains and muscles. The man who puts in his money is allowed to share in the profits of the enterprise. Now tell me by what law of justice or equity the man that puts in his brain and hand shall be excluded from a share of that surplus profits." The speaker thought the repeal of the foreign contract labor law was a step in the right direction. He would also have restrictions placed upon the further immigration of European laborers—would have the American laborer protected as well as the American manufacturer.

In nothing has republican mismanagement proved itself more conspicuous than in the contempt it has lavished for this country by foreign nations. We hail with satisfaction the restoration of the respect which democratic administrations have always enforced from foreign powers, as shown in the case of ex-Consul C. A. Van Bokkelen, who has just returned from Hayti to New York. The story of his outrageous treatment by the Haytien government is enough to arouse the indignation of every true citizen. At the end of his consulship he married a Haytien woman. For buying a piece of land at Port au Prince, contrary to the laws of Hayti, which restrict real property ownership to natives, he was imprisoned by President Salomon in a loathsome dungeon, eight feet by four, dripping with water and infested with vermin. The small prison was sometimes crowded with nearly three hundred convicts, most of them degraded negro murderers and desperadoes. Here he suffered from March, 1884, to June 27, 1885. His health, which was robust when he was first imprisoned, is now entirely broken down, and he has become a victim to both consumption and chronic catarrh, while his face is pale and haggard and gives every evidence of long suffering. Mr. Van Bokkelen says no attention was paid by President Salomon to letters from Secretary Frelinghuysen, and he was not released until Secretary Bayard wrote the Haytien president stating that if he was not released a United States man of war would be dispatched to Port au Prince with instructions to adopt severe measures if necessary. Good for Bayard and Democracy!—Detroit Democrat.

The People of Hudson Bay.

We come now to Lieutenant Gordon's observations upon the natural history of the country, and first of all as to its human inhabitants. These are very scanty, and with the exception of a few white men at the traders' posts, are solely Eskimos. On the north side of the strait they are quite familiar with the ways of white men, and seem to be highly pleased at the prospect of increased intercourse with them. Occasionally one is met with who has mastered the English tongue, but not often. Many others understand well enough what is said to them in that language, although they can not be persuaded to speak it. They are particularly fond of any article of civilized clothing, and the headman at North Bluff manifested no small pride at the possession of a standup linen collar, which he displayed to the utmost advantage. In character they are docile, amiable, and willing to work. When landing the stores and coal at North Bluff they worked all day along with the men, carrying heavy weights up over the rocks, and toiling away as cheerily and heartily as could be desired, asking no other remuneration than biscuits, of which commodity they are immoderately fond. These people have no farinaceous food of any kind, and, as a consequence, the children are not weaned until they reach the age of three or four years. The families are small, there rarely being more than two or three children, and, although early marriages are the rule, their numbers must be diminishing, because signs of their presence were not with everywhere, while the people themselves were found at only three places along the straits, and there are only some five or six families known to be between Cape Chudleigh and Nachvak. Along the Labrador coast the Eskimos gather in small settlements around the Moravian mission-stations. Nain is considered the largest settlement, and its Eskimo population does not exceed two hundred souls. Those at the stations are all educated, being able to read and write in their own language, and, according to the missionaries, are regular attendants at church, and very fond of music—two excellent and hopeful traits certainly.—J. Macdonald Oxley, in Popular Science Monthly for June.

The resignation of Miss Sweet, the pension agent at Chicago, was one of those alternatives which are offered delinquents very frequently. It was a case of "get out or be put out." Had with a very woman like air of smile she blandly announced her "victory" over the authorities. When her resignation was demanded, amid a storm of indignation from republicans and mugwumps Miss Sweet announced her refusal to leave until bounced! but as would secure the longest time it was convenient "better position" was offered her, and she gave up the ghost—Detroit Democrat.

☞ Now is the time your horses and cattle need attention. To prevent disease and tone up the system you will find Parmelee's Condition Powders unequalled. Full pounds 25 cts. Sold by Dr. G. W. Crosier, Charlevoix, and Crosier & Harris, Ironton. 32-y13

☞ The price of "BRICK" POMEROY'S DEMOCRAT is $2.00 a year. By an arrangement with the publisher we can furnish it with the JOURNAL for $2.65 per year, cash in advance.

MORTGAGE SALE.

WHEREAS, default has been made in the payment of the interest on the money secured by a mortgage dated the second day of August, 1887, made by Ira Bennett and Ella M. Bennett, his wife, of Charlevoix County, Mich., to Edward W. Edleston, of New York City, which said mortgage is recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds, of the County of Charlevoix, in Liber 2, of Mortgages, on page 505, on the 30th day of August, 1887, and the said mortgage has been foreclosed by reason of the whole amount of principal and interest due.

AND WHEREAS, the amount claimed to be due on said mortgage, at the date of this notice, is the sum of One Hundred Eighty (180) Dollars, of principal and interest, and no further suit or proceeding at law or equity having been instituted to recover the debt so secured, or any part thereof, whereby the power of sale contained in said mortgage has become operative.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given, that by virtue of the said power of sale, and in pursuance of the statutes in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises therein described, at public auction, to the highest bidder, at the front door, or entire entrance to Lowder's Hall, in the Village of Charlevoix, in said County, (the place of holding the Circuit Court for the County of East Jordan, Charlevoix County, Mich.) on the twenty-second day of December, 1888, at twelve o'clock noon of that day, which said premises are described in said mortgage as follows, viz: All that parcel of land below in the township of Charlevoix, County of Emmet, and State of Michigan, described as all of the north-west quarter, of section number thirteen (30), in township thirty-three (33) north, of range five (5) west, containing forty acres more or less.

Dated Sept. 21, 1888.

GEORGE W. BELL, Mortgagee.

FAULKNER & KITCHEN,
Attorneys for Mortgagee,
Petoskey, Mich. 127

FOR SALE.

The place known as

THE BEATTIE FARM

Near McGeagh's Mill.

For particulars inquire at the office of

J. MILO EATON.

Good Goods and Low Prices

ARE

BOUND TO WIN

If you don't believe it, come and see my SPRING STOCK You will see that I am up to the times in styles, and have as fine an assortment of MEN'S, YOUTH'S and CHILDREN'S SUITS, as you will find in any City I defy any House to show any nicer line of NECK WEAR and

Furnishing Goods

My aim is to HOLD THE CLOTHING TRADE by carrying a Large Stock so I can please you all. PRICES TALK Come and see my Large Spring Stock before buying elsewhere.

GEO. W. MILLER.

The Chicago Daily News

Has the Largest Daily Circulation in America.

Its issue for the year 1887 averaged 125,178 copies daily, and it is now regularly printing over 120,000 papers a day.

The magnitude of this unequaled circulation is best appreciated when it is said that it exceeds the circulations of all other Chicago dailies combined. Taking from the force standard newspaper directories—Ayer & Son's Annual, Rowell's Directory and Hubbard's Directory—the questions which most nearly represent the actual circulations of the Chicago papers, the following diagram correctly illustrates their relative positions as to extent of circulation.

From these figures it appears that the circulation of THE CHICAGO DAILY NEWS exceeds the combined circulations of all the other Chicago dailies by 19,878 copies daily. The reason for this phenomenal success are obvious.

THE CHICAGO DAILY NEWS is a complete newspaper in all that event implies the best types of American journalism.

It is a member of the Associated Press, and is the only 2-cent paper in the West that possesses this first essential in a complete news service. In addition, it has its own private wire (by lease from the Western Union Telegraph Co.) connecting its Chicago office with New York and Washington, at both of which points it has its own news bureaus. THE CHICAGO DAILY NEWS prints ALL the news.

It is an independent paper. It recognizes the utility of political parties as means for the accomplishment of proper ends, but it declines to regard any mere party as a fit subject for unquestioning adoration. It solicits the patronage of intelligent, thoughtful, honest people, who love a country more than a party.

THE CHICAGO DAILY NEWS is a "short and to the point" paper. It believes that nonsense readily is but an incident of the day, not its chief business. It accordingly leaves to the "blanket-sheets" the monopoly of diffuse and worthless amplification. It seeks to say all that the reader should care to read, and to say it in the shortest possible manner. It is a daily paper for busy people.

It is a clean paper, fit for the family circle. It is a cheap paper—2 cents per day, 12 cents per week, 50 cents per month, $6.00 per year. Sold by all news dealers throughout the Northwest. Mailed to any address, post paid, upon receipt of price.

Where the facilities of a daily mail are not enjoyed THE CHICAGO WEEKLY NEWS is recommended as "the next best." It is a large 8 page, 64 column paper, carefully made up to meet all the varying needs of the family circle. It is the largest "dollar weekly" in America. It is equal to the best.

The Grand Rapids

Daily Democrat,

The Leading Newspaper of Western Michigan.

ENLARGED AND IMPROVED.

Sent by mail at 50 cents per month.

GET THE BEST

If your neighbors want a clean, handsome, interesting, reliable paper, the latest and most complete news from all parts of the country, have them send 25 cents for this paper a month's trial, or four months, 75 cents for six months, $1.50 per year. Address

The Charlevoix Journal,
CHARLEVOIX, MICH.

Photographs!

I have bought my

New Photograph Gallery

OVER

UPRIGHT & EMREY'S & CO.'S STORE

And am prepared to do

All Kinds of Photographic Work,

From the

Miniature Picture to Life Size

—

Any Old Picture Copied and Enlarged.

Satisfaction Guaranteed.

DAVE BRADBEER,
Charlevoix, Mich.

WM. J. STEVENSON,

HORSE-SHOEING,

Wagon Shop,

BLACKSMITHING, ETC.

Heavy Wagons on hand and made to order. I guarantee my repairs equal to the best in market, and WARRANT ALL WORK. Call and examine before buying elsewhere.

SHOP ONE BLOCK WEST OF CARPENTER, BARTHOLOMEW & CO.'S STORE, CHARLEVOIX.

☞ The OSBORNE MOWING MACHINE is hard and for sale. tf

"Facts to be Remembered."

NIMROD PLUG TOBACCO

IS THE BEST CHEW, THE GREATEST SELLER, and increased than any other plug in the market. IT CONTAINS MORE TOBACCO, LASTS LONGER AND NEVER SMELLS. GIVES GOOD SATISFACTION, and is a fact of a thousand times over. NIMROD IS THE CHOICE OF THE CHEWER, never sticks on the dealer's hands. This cannot said of any other brand of tobacco. For sale by all jobbers and retailers.

S. W. VENABLE & CO.
Petersburg, Va.

$100 REWARD

FOR

Every Ounce of Adulteration

IN THE

U. G. Soap

The Great 5c Cake,

Made only by

GOWANS & STOVER,

BUFFALO, N. Y.

For Sale by all First-class Grocers.

CASH CLUB RATES.

Those of our readers who want a city paper for the coming year can be accommodated by the JOURNAL's club list. To get the benefit of these reduced rates, all arrears must be paid to date of subscription, and one year in advance in cash.

Price.	With the Journal.
$1 00 Detroit Weekly Free Press	$2 00
1 00 New York Weekly World	2 00
2 00 Pinnerty's Democrat	3 00
1 25 Detroit Echo, weekly	2 75
1 00 Chicago Weekly Herald	2 00
1 00 Chicago Weekly News	2 00
1 00 The Cottage Hearth (monthly)	2 00

Sample Copies furnished on application.

THIS PAPER may be found on file at Geo. P. Rowell & Co.'s Newspaper Advertising Bureau (10 Spruce St.), where advertisements may be made for it in New York.

THE JOURNAL

Charlevoix, Mich., September 21, 1888.

Provision Market.

Retail prices to consumers, corrected every Saturday evening, by Lemonier & Haynes, Butchers:

Beef—Steak, 8@12c; rib roasts, 8@10c; chuck roasts, 6@8c; boiled beef, 2@3c; unboiled beef.

Pork—Per lbs., 8@12c.

Mutton—Per lb., 6@8c.

Veal—Per lb., 6@8c.

Ham—Per lb., 12@14c.

Shoulders—Per lb., 8@10c.

Lard—Per lb., 8@10c.

Chickens—Per lb., 12@15c.

Turkeys—Per lb., 12@15c.

Butter—Per lb., 18@20c.

Eggs—Per doz., 18@20c.

Potatoes—Per bush., 25@30c.

Onions—Per bush., 40@50c.

Apples—Per bush., 25@30c.

Apples—Per bbl., $2 00@2 50.

Cabbages—Per doz., $1 00@1 50.

Turnips—Per bush., 15@20c.

Carrots—Per bush., 25@30c.

Beets—Per bush., 25@30c.

Parsnips—Per bush., 25@30c.

Hides—Per lb., 4@5c.

Calf Skins—Per lb., 6@8c.

Tallow—Per lb., 2@3c.

Pelts—Each, 25@50c.

Wool—Per lb., 25@28c.

Hay—Per ton, $8 00@9 00.

Wood—Per cord, $4 00@5 00.

Water—Lake White 20c; Lead Pipe.

Flour—Guaranteed good deserved.

Fresh and Cured Meats.

Fresh meats—Beef, veal, pork, etc. Sausage, etc. Cured meats—Hams, shoulders, lard, etc. Lake fish—Trout, whitefish, herring, etc.

☞ A handsome chromo given away with every purchase of Books or Shoes to the amount of five dollars, and a beautiful picture for three dollars. Cash and see the rare collections of E. D. Sherwood & Co.

☞ Now is the time to buy a hat. Upright & Emrey have five dozen left and are going to close out at 50 per cent discount.

☞ Just received, cottons, prints, suspenders, handkerchiefs, jerseys, hosiery, notions, etc., at Upright & Emrey.

E. F. Allen is building two new six-stall barbers, which will be for rent as soon as completed.

☞ Cedar and pine shingles for sale by Upright & Emrey.

☞ Kalamazoo cedery at Jefferies' Market.

☞ Best fresh butter at Jefferies' Market.

☞ Boneless Ham at Jefferies' Market.

Local Notes and News.

Isaac Mills is rebuilding the bridge over Inwood creek.

W. S. Johnson, of Sutton's Bay, was in town Saturday.

Preaching at Black's school house next Sabbath at 10 o'clock.

John Litzau has a card of interest to farmers and horsemen.

C. V. Cook has regraded the front yard on Newnum street.

W. H. Healey is finishing the brick for E. H. Green's new block.

G. H. Ward is building a two story house for himself on Upright avenue.

Traverse Journal: The steamer Fatos will probably tie up about the 25th.

The question has been asked, "what makes Will Covert seem so lonesome lately?"

A severe wind-storm on Tuesday practically closed up navigation for the day.

Harrison Bedford and wife returned home from Eaton Rapids on Tuesday.

Geo. Shear and F. W. Higby, of Charlotte, made us a brief call last Saturday.

Rev. James Inwood will preach in the M. E. church next Sunday morning at 10:30.

E. H. Green has paved the bottom of the cellar of his new block with stone stones.

Mrs. Sterling, sister of Mrs. C. Y. Cook, returned to her home in Ypsilanti this week.

Young people's meeting Sunday evening at 7 o'clock, at M. E. church, led by Jos. Goss.

Elmer Madge is building a house for E. B. Bennett on the lot adjoining G. W. Jefferies.

Rev. Son and wife will spend the winter in Philadelphia and other eastern and southern cities.

Miss Maggie O'Neil is teacher of one of the primary departments of the East Jordan school.

S. D. Bingham, ex postmaster of Lansing, took in the Boyne City excursion last Saturday.

Rev. C. E. Taggart will preach at the Congregational church next Sunday morning and evening.

W. F. Barnes has the contract for building the new South Arm town hall, for a little over $3,000.

The steam barge Mary Pringle, of Cleveland, and schooner Adventure, of Detroit, arrived on Wednesday.

Mutual improvement society of Marion meets Tuesday evening, Sept. 29, at Black's school house. All invited.

Geo. Miller and family are absent on a visit with friends in Cadillac, and in cities in the southern part of the state.

The schooner Sarpriso sprung a leak on her last visit, and sent for the tug D. P. Hall, of Frankfort, to take her to Milwaukee. While trying to make the channel, the low-line gave way in some manner, letting the schooner into one of John Nicholls' lumber piles, breaking the jib-boom of the vessel, and tearing down a lot of lumber.

W. N. Moore, of East Jordan rejoices over lively times in his law, real estate, and collection business. He has offices in the Stevens block,—he claims the best in town,—centrally located, and convenient. Having but recently located here, and already having so good a business, he is naturally enthusiastic in the future of the town.

The Wilson Hoop Co., off South Arm are finishing a solid foundation for their main building, which will be 78x100 feet in size. The building for the steam tanks will be 26x55. The foundations for machinery are constructed by driving piles as close together as possible, cutting them down to the water edge, and filling above with broken stone and cement. A large force of men are pushing the work rapidly. They expect the smokey chimney to arrive early next month.

The township library has been removed to rooms in the village hall, and will be open on Tuesday and Friday afternoons of each week. Harrison Berdan is librarian, and Miss Effie Bordan will have charge at present. The rules provide that no book shall be held longer than two weeks, and it is hoped that all books now out, which have been out two weeks or longer, will be returned at once. The rules provide a fine for failure to return books promptly, and we are requested to notify those interested that the rules will be enforced and fines collected of all delinquents.

A wealthy company of timbermen, with offices in Chicago, have purchased (the deeds are on record) a water front on South Arm, and another on Intermediate lake, and have secured the right of way for a railroad connecting the two; the evident intention being to build a saw mill on Intermediate lake, and ship by way of South Arm, where there is a channel to load during the entire season of navigation. The company pushing these preliminaries are close mouthed as to their intentions, but a gentleman who has had considerable deal with them, says they are not in the habit of paying out money for nothing, and in his opinion would not buy valuable mill sites and large tracts of hardwood timber unless they intended to convert it into lumber. The railroad is a necessary part of their business, to convey the lumber from the manufacturer and last point for shipment. This company owns several mills and railroads in Wisconsin, and their work here will be but a small item of their entire business.

Messers. Brown & Co. are to-day moving their banking business into the new building. An adequate notice of the work in this building was impossible during the progress of the builders. While the finishing touches were being applied, each day brought new surprises. The building is a two-story veneered brick, for banking rooms and residence, with basement only under the residence portion, for furnaces, fuel, etc. The off-set to the first floor is in the corner, into a hall. The business office is at the left of the hall, is 11x18 feet, and is a bright, pleasant place to do business. There is a private office, and a fine burglar proof vault, inside of which is a fire and burglar proof safe with a time lock. The residence may be reached through a door on Clinton street or through the banking office. The front parlor is 13x25 feet and is connected with the dining room (16x16 feet) by wide double doors. To the left of the dining room is a wash room, private stairway, china closet, and kitchen, with cellar stairs under the private stairway. The family sleeping room occupies the corner, east of the dining room. The kitchen is supplied with sink and pump connecting with stone cistern in the basement. The east end of the building will have a wide double veranda extending the entire width. The upper floor is reached through the hall in front, or through the private stairway from the dinning room. The two front rooms are finished for offices. The next rooms correspond in size and finish with the parlors below, and will be occupied W. A. Brown and wife until he builds his house on the north side. The balance of the second floor is fitted for sleeping rooms, the one in the northeast corner being fitted especially for W. F. Brown's father, Mr. P. K. Brown. The woodwork finish throughout the building is birch, oiled, except the doors, which are of pine with birch panels. The casings, brackets, ornaments, etc., are in Eastlake patterns. The selection of timber gives some very fine effects in natural-wood finish, many of the panels being especially rich. The building for permanence, Messrs. Brown & Co. have also built for comfort and pleasure, and the beauty of their surroundings must be seen to be fully appreciated.

Claremont Va. Sept. 14th, 1883.

MESS. L. W. SKINNER AND FAMILY,—Respected Friends: As secretary of the park commission, I beg to convey to you the sympathy of that body, in the loss of your husband and father, and our friend and fellow commissioner, L. W. Skinner, who departed this life, Sept. 10th inst., and lay before you the following resolutions which are ordered to be spread upon our minutes, and published in our paper, the Claremont Herald.

WHEREAS, it has pleased God to call our friend and fellow commissioner, L. W. Skinner, to higher duties,

Resolved, That we bow to the fate, but deplore the loss of a most useful citizen; that we tender our condolence to the family so sorely afflicted by this loss; that we bear witness to the universal esteem extended towards our deceased friend, by this community.

Respectfully,

GRANVILLE SMITH,
Secretary.

IRA ALDRICH,
CYRUS GREEN,
WM. DELLARD,
GRANVILLE SMITH,
Commissioners.

ALMOST MARVELOUS.

The way Parmelee's Blood Purifier works upon the human system. It is such a thorough Purifier, it strikes at the root of the disease and by its perfect workings effects a cure almost before the patient is aware. It seizes upon every particle of poisonous matter in the system, expels it and instills new health and vigor throughout the entire body. $1.00 per bottle

Sold by Dr. G. W. Crosier, Charlevoix, and Crosier & Harris, Ironton.

ALL PREPARED FOR THE FALL CAMPAIGN.

We have just placed upon our counters a choice assortment of

Dress Goods, Woollens, Suitings, Etc., Etc.,

For fall wear, at very tempting prices.

NEW DEPARTURE IN TEAS.

Spring Crop, from Japan.

Commencing Saturday, Aug. 29,

We will offer, FOR CASH ONLY, 25 Chests new sun-cured Japan at 35 Cents, by the pound or chest. We guarantee this to be equal if not superior to any fifty-cent Tea.

J. L. HURD & CO.

Successors to Amos Fox.

SCHOOL BOOK DEPOT.

School Bags, School Books, Slates, Pencils, Pens, Ink, Rulers, Blank Books, Teachers' Registers,

AND IN FACT

Every Article Used in the School Room.

F. G. HINES & CO.,

Druggists and Stationers.

---

meeting with stone cistern in the basement. The east end of the building will have a wide double veranda extending the entire width. The upper floor is reached through the hall in front, or through the private stairway from the dinning room. The two front rooms are finished for offices. The next rooms correspond in size and finish with the parlors below, and will be occupied W. A. Brown and wife until he builds his house on the north side. The balance of the second floor is fitted for sleeping rooms, the one in the northeast corner being fitted especially for W. F. Brown's father, Mr. P. K. Brown. The woodwork finish throughout the building is birch, oiled, except the doors, which are of pine with birch panels. The casings, brackets, ornaments, etc., are in Eastlake patterns. The selection of timber gives some very fine effects in natural-wood finish, many of the panels being especially rich. The building for permanence, Messrs. Brown & Co. have also built for comfort and pleasure, and the beauty of their surroundings must be seen to be fully appreciated.

Claremont Va. Sept. 14th, 1883.

MESS. L. W. SKINNER AND FAMILY,—Respected Friends: As secretary of the park commission, I beg to convey to you the sympathy of that body, in the loss of your husband and father, and our friend and fellow commissioner, L. W. Skinner, who departed this life, Sept. 10th inst., and lay before you the following resolutions which are ordered to be spread upon our minutes, and published in our paper, the Claremont Herald.

WHEREAS, it has pleased God to call our friend and fellow commissioner, L. W. Skinner, to higher duties,

Resolved, That we bow to the fate, but deplore the loss of a most useful citizen; that we tender our condolence to the family so sorely afflicted by this loss; that we bear witness to the universal esteem extended towards our deceased friend, by this community.

Respectfully,

GRANVILLE SMITH,
Secretary.

IRA ALDRICH,
CYRUS GREEN,
WM. DELLARD,
GRANVILLE SMITH,
Commissioners.

ALMOST MARVELOUS.

The way Parmelee's Blood Purifier works upon the human system. It is such a thorough Purifier, it strikes at the root of the disease and by its perfect workings effects a cure almost before the patient is aware. It seizes upon every particle of poisonous matter in the system, expels it and instills new health and vigor throughout the entire body. $1.00 per bottle

Sold by Dr. G. W. Crosier, Charlevoix, and Crosier & Harris, Ironton.

ONE OF THE INVALIDS.

E. M. PARMELEE, Dear Sir:—I have been taking your Dyspepsia, Diabetes, and Liver Cure for some time past and have received more benefit from it than from all of the $500 worth of Doctor's medicine that I have used in the last few years. Before taking the cure I was weak and tired all the time but now I can work all day with out fatigue. Would not be without it in the house. Believe it is one of the best medicines in the world.

YOURS, ROBERT A. LOTOSHSKYE, JR.,
Somers Lime, Pa.

Sold by Dr. G. W. Crosier, Charlevoix, and Crosier & Harris, Ironton.

MEDICINE FOR CHILDREN

Must not only be efficient but so compounded that no harm will result from the use. Such a preparation for worms (to which almost every child is subject) is Parmelee's Santonine Worm Candies, which are made from the best drugs, particularly adapted to this use. They work quickly, surely and harmlessly, passing off the worms after they are dissolved. Do not neglect the children even though they do appear to complain. Worms are almost always present. Price 25 cents per box.

Sold by Dr. G. W. Crosier, Charlevoix, and Crosier & Harris, Ironton.

QUICK RELIEF.

Hamilton's Jamaica Ginger Tonic and Pain Cure is not only a valuable internal remedy for all stomach and bowel difficulties such as Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Heartburn, Flatulence, Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Cramps and Colic, but cannot be excelled for an outward application in Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Sciatica, Sprains, Side and Backache and Strains in any part of the body. Used freely with warmth and rubbing it gives quick relief. Price 25 and 50 cents, per bottle.

Sold by Dr. G. W. Crosier, Charlevoix, and Crosier & Harris, Ironton.

Cure for Piles.

Piles are frequently preceded by a sense of weight in the back, loins and lower part of the abdomen, causing the patient to suppose he has some affection of the kidneys or neighboring organs. Often followed by constipation. Are present, frequency, uneasiness of the stomach, etc. A moisture, like perspiration, producing a very disagreeable itching, after getting warm, is a common attendant. Blind, Bleeding and Itching Piles are cured at once by the application of Dr. Bosanko's Pile Remedy, which acts directly upon the part affected, absorbing the tumors, allaying the intense itching, and effecting a permanent cure. Price 50 cents. Sold by Dr. W. Crosier. 129

Proper Treatment for Coughs.

That the reader may fully understand what consumption is, we will say that Lung Salve, we will say that for and What Lung Salve is the best remedies yet discovered. Coughs, Colds, Croup and Bronchial Affections, Incipient Consumption, with several illness equally as dangerous, succumb largely into Dr. Bosanko's Cough and Lung Syrup. Thus making it one of the most reliable now on the market. Price 50 cts. and $1.00. Samples free. Sold by Dr. W. Crosier. 2

Farmers and Mechanics.

Save money and doctor bills. Relieve your Mothers, Wives and Sisters. Dr. Bosanko's Pills of Dr. Bosanko's Cough and Lung Syrup, best known remedy for Coughs, Colds, Croup and Bronchial Affections, believes Children of Croup in one night, may save you hundreds of dollars. Price 25 cts. and $1.00. Samples free. Sold by G. W. Crosier. 2

☞ The Detroit Weekly Free Press four months on trial for 25 cts. Specimen copies free at this office.

NEW HARNESS SHOP.

John Litzau has opened a harness shop in the building formerly occupied by Chaloupka's ball alley north of the bridge. A stock of new goods on hand, and repairing of all kinds done on short notice. Come and see me, north of the bridge.

JOHN LITZAU.

HOMEOPATHIC BROTH.

Take a robin's leg,
Mind the drumstick merely;
Put it in a tub
Filled with water nearly;

Set it out of doors,
In a place that's shady;
Let it stand a week
Three days or a lady;

Dip a spoonful in
To a cow-pull kettle;
It should be of tin,
Or perhaps a li-medal;

Fill the kettle up,
Let it boil a-boiling;
Skim the froth off,
To prevent its oiling;

Far thickening and for salt,
Take of rice one lecent;
Use, to light the fire,
Any hot one parcel;

Let the thinner boil
Half an hour—no longer,
(If it's in a man,
You can make it stronger.)

Should you now desire,
Thus the soup to flavory,
Stir it once around
With a stick of savory.

If of thyme you choose,
Just to put a sample in,
'Twill be known at once
If it can dip your sample in.

When the broth is done,
Set it out and sell it;
Then, if you have a day,
Let the patient smell it.

If he chooses to die,
THY TWAS BORNE HIM IT;
But if he gets well
Give the broth the credit.
Written for an Alumnus.

GETTING IN AT NIGHT.

BY JIM JONES.

The door was locked when I got home, and how to get in without waking up "the governor" was the difficulty. I knew he'd give me "particular fits" if he knew I was out after ten, and the clock had just struck one. The back yard was an impossibility, and but one chance remained. There was a porch over the front door, the roof of which was but a few feet below two windows. One of them I knew was fastened down, and the other opened from a bedroom, which might or might not be occupied.

An old maiden sister of Tom's wife had arrived on the second day, and it was very probable that she was in that room; but I knew the bed was in the farthest corner from the window, and hoped I should be able to get in without waking her, and then I had comparatively an easy thing of it. So, getting a plank from a neighboring board-pile, I rested it against the eave of the shed, pulled off my shoes, put them in my pocket, and then crawled up.

All right so far, but I thought it necessary, in order not to arouse any suspicions in the morning, to remove the plank; so, dragging it up, I threw off the end, and down it went with an awful clatter on a stray dog who had followed me for two or three squares, who immediately set up the most awful howl a whipped hound ever gave tongue to. That started half a dozen other dogs in the neighborhood barking. A mocking-bird in the window above commenced singing as if he intended to split his throat at it, and an old woman, in her night clothes, with a candle in her hand, appeared at her window across the street. I knew I was safe as far as she was concerned, but if any one came to our windows the candle gave enough light to very probably discover me. Nobody did come, however, and the old lady, after peering up and down the street for a minute or more, popped her head in and retired. The mocking-bird kept up its eternal whistle, and I wearily half an hour before it and the dogs settled down and gave me a chance to move.

Creeping slowly along the wall till I reached the window, I put my hands on the sill, spring in, and, with my head and shoulders within, and my legs hanging out, I stopped to listen.

Yes, she was in that room, for I could hear her breathing. After waiting for a minute I cautiously drew up one leg, then the other, slewed them around, and putting them down to the floor, was just conscious that I had stepped on something soft and yielding, and was about withdrawing them when another yell broke out at my feet; the old maid jumped my way "Murder," and the dog and the mocking-bird started again.

I saw through it all; I had "put my foot in it," more ways than one. A little darky was lying on her back under the window, and I had stepped on her face, and of course, woke her up. I decided in a flash what to do. The house would be aroused, and I might, it is certainly, unless I could get to my room before the governor was up. But, I had not a moment to lose, for the little nigger was yelling, and the woman screaming, so I started for the door, made three steps, and struck a chair, limbed over, as, of course, one is the weakest racket you ever heard of in the "dead hour of night" in a peaceable house; the nigger and the old maid screamed louder than ever, the mocking-bird whistled like a steam engine, and the dogs fairly made a noise as loud as the Anvil Chorus.

I reached the door, however, swiftly, and quietly opened it, and not one cut in time to see the old gentleman open his door, with a candle in his hand, and come hurrying up the stairs. Not a moment was to be lost. There was a wardrobe near where I stood, and I sprang behind it. Up came the governor, reached the door, was in, and in the meantime there were all sorts of commotion and inquiry down stairs as to what was the matter. Nobody else came up, though, and from where I stood I heard every word of inquiry in the rooms. Of course they could not make much of it. The little nigger was too much frightened and too sound asleep at the time to understand the matter, and the upshot of the business was that they concluded she had been dreaming, and the governor, after giving her a sound spanking, and explaining the matter to the aroused neighbors, from the window, went down to his room again.

So far, so good. I now had to go down stairs, reach the back door, unbar it, get into the back yard, and make for my room, which was in the second story of a back building that stood unconnected with, and about a dozen yards from, the main one. After giving everybody another half-hour to settle down again, I started.

Boys, did you ever try to go up or down a pair of stairs at night without making a noise? You may try all sorts of ways, but every step will creak, each with a peculiar noise of its own, and loud enough, you are certain, to awaken everybody. I had gotten nearly to the bottom, when a little tiny dog came trotting along the entry toward me, barking furiously. A surprised "Tommy, nice boy, say yes, 'ssh,' silenced him, for he recognized me, but the noise started the mocking-bird, and the dogs in the neighborhood having learned to take the cue, of course all joined with him for the third time.

I ran along the passage, reached the door, and inclosed it, just as the governor, roused the second time, opened his door, and, seeing a man swaying from the banister to the back way, of course cried "Thieves! Thieves!" and made a rush after me. I was too quick, for him, though, opened the door, sprang out, and broke for the door which opened into the room below mine, and had just reached it when crack within a foot of my head went a brick, and another voice, that I knew belonged to next-door-neighbor Tompkins, joined the governor in the cry of "Thieves! Murder! Thieves!" I was safe enough, leaping up the stairs I shelled myself quicker than I ever did before or since, and was in bed and found asleep in less than half a minute. Wasn't there a row, though? I never heard so many dogs before; the one kang-bird, of course, outdoing all previous efforts; the chickens even began to crow. Tompkins, next door, was hallooing "Thieves!" and calling the governor. I could hear screams and all sorts of noises among the neighbors, until at length the old gentleman's voice was heard in the yard, calling "John! John!"

John was sound asleep—snoring.

"John!" cried the old man in a voice that would have roused a man from an epileptic fit.

I judged it prudent to wake then, and, jumping from my bed, raised my window, and, rubbing my eyes, and looking particularly frightened (which I was), asked:

"Why, father, what in the world is the matter?"

"There's thieves in the house," was the reply. "Get your gun and come down, and be quick. He's in the room below you, John!" hallooed Tompkins.

I'm certain of it. I saw him as he ran down, and threw a brick at him. I know he didn't pass that door, Mr. Jones."

I was directed to "look out for myself." The governor stood sentinel at the door below, and Tompkins, in a chair, tilted against the house, with a shotgun across his knees,

Around the County.

Business at East Jordan.

We give below a list of new buildings and improvements at East Jordan and South Arm during the past two years. The figures are perhaps as nearly correct as could be obtained in the time allowed for the canvass, not being able to make a personal canvass of the entire village:

FACTORIES, SHOPS, STORES, ETC.

Gleun & Porter, mill improvements	$3,000
Steele Lumber Co., mill improvements	1,000
Steele Lumber Co., boarding house	500
Empey & Gidley, store and residence	1,500
S. H. Rose, store and residence	700
B. C. Loveday, addition to store	300
B. C. Loveday & Co., improvements	500
Commercial House, improvements	1,200
Jos. Lisowski, store	2,000
W. A. Shaw, store improvements	500
W. A. Shaw, store	2,500
J. J. Wayne, store	700
W. L. Warne, improvement of store	500
W. F. Barnes, store	600
Webster Hive	1,000
A. J. Dennis, office	300
A. Hudson, improvement of store	400
H. W. King, addition to store	500
W. J. Werkle, saloon	300
J. C. Gleun, improvement of store	500
H. Mitchell, dock improvements	50
Gleun & Porter, dock improvements	300
Steele Bros., improvement of store	500
Tools hed	3,000
J. Rogers, store	300
B. C. Loveday, dock improvements	150
W. H. Healey, dock improvements	400
J. Maddock, dock improvements	50
Mary J. Stone, dock improvements	50
Steele Bros., dock improvements	50
F. Gaudick, shop	200
I. Votruba, store	1,000
C. C. Madison, store	500
A. E. Dickard, store	800
Trout Hotel, addition	800
H. Lisowski, shop and residence	1,000
Peter Lisowski, store	1,000
Catholic church	2,000
East Jordan Iron Works, shop, etc.	2,000
H. Mitchell, machine shop, etc.	2,000
Addition to schoolhouse	600

NEW RESIDENCES.

J. A. Stevens	$2,500
Joseph Lima Co.	700
A. Hudson	1,000
Geo. Jones	1,000
F. J. Wayne	1,000
A. C. Baldwin	1,500
E. F. Empey	2,500
G. W. East	1,000
H. C. Rogers	1,000
W. E. Malpass	800
J. Sinclair McAllister	500
A. Hudson	1,000
W. W. Allen	1,200
M. S. Mostitson	1,200
S. Hickerson	800
J. Quick	800
J. Crawford	800
J. W. Vencum	800
A. H. Van Dusen	700
J. Howard	700
A. Nathan	500
H. D. Vance	500
Edgerton	800
H. W. Willard	1,000
A. Campbell	800
W. Mc Leod	500
W. F. Palmatier	600
J. S. John	600
H. Crawford	600
S. Sullivan	800
H. A. Wilson	800
F. Culver	800

RESIDENCES IMPROVEMENTS.

A. W. Stone	$500
H. W. King	150
W. F. Barnes	400
W. Werkle	400
W. F. Porter	200
J. C. Gleun	250
W. H. Healey	250
W. Howard	200
J. Maddock	200
J. R. Pulsifer	300

BARNS.

W. F. Empey	500
W. H. Blair	200
E. C. Madison	300
Mary J. Stone	200
J. Malpass	150
J. Holtzog	150

SOUTH ARM—RESIDENCES.

Rev. J. Blake	$500
W. Barker	400
J. White	500
J. McKenzie	300
W. C. Cochrane	500
R. Murphy	500
W. Malpass	400
H. Pope	300
J. Light	500
C. St. John	300

SOUTH ARM—MISCELLANEOUS.

Wilson Bros., factory	$20,000
H. B. Severance, dwelling mill	4,000
H. C. Breck, mill improvements	1,000
E. L. Lansing, store and residence	1,000
J. A. Hayes, dock improvements	100
J. A. Hayes, other dock improvements	1,000
Mrs. J. Malpass, barn	150
A. Kent, dock improvements	200
P. L. Lansing, dock improvements	100
H. B. Stebbins, dock improvements	50
J. Munro, Jr., dock improvements	50
Total	$46,700

BARNS.

W. C. Rogers	250
W. H. Blair	200
M. M. Burnham	600
C. K. Winters	300
Don Gerrow	200
W. Gilbert	600
M. M. Wickerson	500
A. J. Preson	300
M. A. Stone	300
M. W. Bluthart	500
J. Malpass	300
Mrs. C. Lalond	800
E. Fuller	500
H. A. Benedict	300
H. Mitchell	1,000
S. J. Lyons	300
F. C. Moulton	250
E. Mc Donald	300
L. Anderson	250
J. J. Russell	250
J. Brown	400
N. Townsend	300
J. McGeough	300
M. C. Kibby	300
J. Malpass	300
G. Bellinger	300
P. Bonett (2)	600
A. F. Bull	400
J. Keller	500
A. Tuckhorn	300
J. Malpass	300
C. H. Mc Donald	300
H. A. Atkinson	300
E. Telford	300
T. Maddock	300
J. M. Keller	300

SHOPS.

A. Westgate	200
E. N. Cook	500
J. Sinclair	200
Van Salesburg	150
H. Pinney	200
E. Sweet	300
A. Greenwood	500
J. Miles	200
E. Putler	300
J. Jordan	300

SCHOOL HOUSE.

C. Rogers	250
M. M. Burnham	600
C. K. Winters	300
Don Gerrow	200
Jim Jerrow	250
A. Stevens	300
J. M. Keller	300

Farm for Sale or Exchange.

One hundred acres of the best farming land, 40 acres improved, over 30 apple trees bearing fruit, buildings, seven miles from Charlevoix, on Lake Michigan. Purchaser, or will exchange for other property. For further particulars inquire at this office. 1m17

Grand Rapids & Indiana R. R.

Time Table in effect June 21, 1885.

GOING NORTH.

STATIONS.	No. 1	No. 3	No. 5	No. 7
Cincinnati, Ly		7 40pm	7 00pm
Fort Wayne, ar	6 30pm	10 50pm	9 45pm	7 00am
Fort Wayne, lv		10 55pm	9 50pm	7 05am
Kalamazoo, ar	7 25am	2 50	3 00	12 25pm
Kalamazoo, lv	7 30am	2 55	3 05	12 30pm
G. Rapids, ar	9 30	4 58	5 00	1 10
G. Rapids, lv	9 40	5 05	5 20	1 20
G. Haven, ar	11 40	6 15	7 35	3 20
Howard City	12 25pm	7 23am	8 35	4 20
Big Rapids	1 42	8 14	9 40	5 11
Reed City, ar	2 32			6 12
Reed City, lv	2 42	8 44	10 11	7 15
Cadillac, ar	3 35	9 47	11 19	9 00pm
Cadillac, lv	3 45	9 52	11 24
Walton	4 56	10 49	12 53am
Kalkaska, lv	5 50	4 35	1 50
Mancelona	6 10	4 52	2 10
Bellaire	7 12	5 45	3 20
Petoskey, ar	7 35	6 05	3 50
Harbor Springs		6 25	4 10
Mackinaw City	9 00pm	7 40	4 15pm

GOING SOUTH.

STATIONS.	No. 2	No. 4	No. 6	No. 8
Mackinaw City	8 30pm	8 30am		1 00pm
Harbor Springs
Petoskey, lv	9 17	9 25		2 37
Bellaire, lv	10 20	10 35		3 37
Mancelona	11 20	11 41		4 34
Kalkaska	11 51	11 19		5 33
Walton	12 47am	12 15pm		6 34
Cadillac, ar	1 57	12 58		8 10
Cadillac, lv	1 56	1 02	4 20am	8 20
Reed City, ar	3 00	2 02	5 35	7 35
Reed City, lv	3 10	2 12	5 45	7 45
Big Rapids	3 36	2 39	6 12	8 11
Howard City	4 19	3 37	7 06	8 58
Fd G H & M ar	5 28	4 44	10 15	10 57
G Rapids, ar	5 45	5 05	10 50	10 50
G Rapids, lv	11 00am	5 30	11 45	2 00pm
Kalamazoo, ar	9 05	7 25	1 40pm	4 05
Kalamazoo, lv	9 15	7 35	1 50	4 15
Fort Wayne, ar	12 40pm	11 15	5 50	7 50
Fort Wayne, lv	12 50	12 10am	5 50am	7 50
Cincinnati, ar	7 00am	7 35am	9 30pm

C. L. LOCKWOOD, G. P. A., Grand Rapids, Mich.

Hannah, Lay & Co.'s Pleasure Steamers,

SEASON OF 1885.

CITY OF GRAND RAPIDS.

CAPT. O. E. WILDER.

Going North every morning—Leave Traverse City 7.00, Northport 8.20, Norwood 11.00, Charlevoix 11.45, Petoskey 1.30, arrive at Harbor Springs 1.45.

Going South every afternoon—Leave Harbor Springs 2.00, Petoskey 2.30, Charlevoix 4.40, Norwood 5.00, Northport 6.30, arrive at Traverse City 9.00.

T. S. FAXTON,

CAPT. A. G. ALDRICH.

Going South every morning—Leave Harbor Springs 7.00, Petoskey 8.00, Charlevoix 9.45, Torch Lake 12.00, arrive Traverse City 2.30.

Going North every afternoon—Leave Traverse City 3.00, Torch Lake 5.45, Charlevoix 7.45, Petoskey 9.15, arrive Harbor Springs 9.45.

GOOD CONNECTIONS will be made at Traverse City and Petoskey with R. L. Graves's trains on the G. R. & I. R. R. Also at Menominee with the C. & N. W. R. R. for Green Bay, Chicago and the CITY OF GRAND RAPIDS going north, and on Wednesday between both the T. S. FAXTON and CITY OF GRAND RAPIDS going south, and the CITY OF TRAVERSE for Chicago.

Harbor Springs, Petoskey, Charlevoix and East Jordan.

STEAMER THOMAS FRIANT.

CAPT. E. VANDENBURG.

Morning—Leave Harbor Springs 7.00, Petoskey 8.00, Charlevoix 9.30, arrive East Jordan 11.30.

Afternoon—Leave East Jordan 1.30, Charlevoix 4.00, Petoskey 5.30, arrive Harbor Springs 6.00.

Close connections at Petoskey with G. R. & I. R. R. trains, north and south.

Charlevoix and East Jordan.

Steamer GAZELLE—Capt. Jesse Parker.

Morning—Leave Charlevoix 6.30, arrive East Jordan 8.30, leave East Jordan 9.00, arrive Charlevoix 11.00. Afternoon—Leave Charlevoix 2.00, arrive East Jordan 4.00, leave East Jordan 4.30, arrive Charlevoix 6.30. Stopping at intermediate points.

A PRESENT.

Our readers for 12 months to produce stamps to pay for mailing and wrapping, and names of 10 new subscribers—Price Two Dollars. Elegant Parlor Engraving of all our Presidentials, including President-elect Cleveland, worth $1.00. Address Ledger Pub. Co., Chicago, Ill.

We cordially recommend Dodd's Liver and Kidney Pills to our friends and Consumers. We know solid comfort, long and well of them.

Alvord & Lisk, Hudson, N. Y.

Sold by Druggists. Price $1.00.

For Sale by F. G. HINES & CO., Charlevoix.

THE HOWE MACHINE CO.

AT THE FRONT.

OUR LATEST SUCCESS.

An Entirely New — High Arm.

Easy Running Sewing Machine

IT HAS

The Most Room under the Arm,
The Best Self-Setting Needle,
The Largest Bobbin,
The Easiest Shuttle to Thread,
The Most Perfect Tension,
The Most Reliable Feed,
The Most Perfect Take-up,
The Best Bobbin Winder.

IT IS

SIMPLE, STRONG, DURABLE & HANDSOME.

Runs Rapidly, Very Light, Very Still, and without Vibration.

Before you purchase, please examine the NEW HOWE at the office of

Mrs. M. Litney, Agt. Charlevoix

---

fowls. What may be said of state fairs as to their usefulness may be said of county fairs. At the former people from different parts of the state meet and exchange views, and exhibit their best horse or cow. In short any thing that may be reared on a farm. The same with a county fair. And no more can be said of the Centennial Exhibition as to its usefulness when the whole world was on show, than may be truly said of our newly organized agricultural society. To be sure the first was on a grander scale but they differ only in degree. The society has secured the rink as a suitable place for a floral hall and art exhibition. Sheds and pens will be erected in the near vicinity for live stock. The first, second, and third days of October have been selected as the time for the exhibition. The East Jordan cornet band will be present to enliven the scene with right good music and we are looking forward to a gay time, provided the generous citizens of Charlevoix county will turn out and help us to advance this good work.

Premiums to the amount of $500 will be distributed among the successful competitors. As this is the maiden round which in the future the whole people of the county will look with admiration. We invite one and all to bring their finest pictures, their most delicate flowers, and their prettiest babies to adorn floral hall, and we will venture to say that the first, second, and third days of October next will be held by them in pleasing remembrance ever after.

Yours truly,

C. W. DENHAM.

Clarion.

Fine fall weather.

Those that have threshed report a fair crop of wheat and oats.

Potatoes and corn look fine.

Mr. Raby, of Petoskey, has moved to Clarion. He is to be with us in Blood Bros. mill and handle factory.

Johnson & Mills shipped a carload of shingles last week.

The windmill is in operation and will grind feed, graham, etc.

The bowl factory is running at full capacity.

The total number of children, between the ages of five and twenty in Melrose township as returned by the directors of the several school districts, is 92.

Blood Bros. are turning a fine lot of broom handles.

Dan. Herrington is the happy father of a fine girl. He is now pushing his residence to completion. It will be a handsome one when finished.

John A. Hass has returned from Dakota. He thinks of moving there in the near future.

The taxes to be raised in Melrose township for school purposes for the ensuing year amount to $903 and the valuation of the school houses, $1175.

N. A Curd, a rising young democrat of Melrose, will teach the Norwood school this winter. He is a No 1 teacher.

Burgess.

Philip Howe has bought a lot in Charlevoix, and will build on it and move there.

The sick at Mr. Gibson's are convalescing.

The board of school inspectors were in session Monday and Tuesday of this week.

John Brown has threshed over 500 bushels of grain this fall.

The man that is famous for gastronomy, had a set back after visiting Charlevoix lately and hasn't felt well since.

Several threshing machines in town this week and good weather for threshing.

Heavy frost in some localities Tuesday evening.

Mr. Leeds is expected here soon, to return with with his family to Louisville, Ky.

The absolute monarchy has subsided to a limited; with few adherents. [Chap. five.]

Sometimes things get badly mixed in the mail,—here as well as elsewhere.

Eastport.

Warm weather.

News rather scarce.

No damaging frosts as yet.

D. D. Blakely is making improvements on his house, preparing for winter,—as many others ought.

We wish it distinctly understood that Eastport has had a law suit. And we didn't have to go out of our own town for attorneys either. The balance of this interesting story can not be given, page two of the letter having been, by some accident, omitted in sealing the envelope.]

J. MILO EATON,

DEALER IN

Real Estate

OF ALL KINDS.

Houses and Lots for sale in the most desirable parts of Charlevoix. Wild Lands and Improved Farms for sale in all parts of the county. Abstracts of Title furnished on short notice.

OFFICE ON BRIDGE STREET. ESTABLISHED IN 1875.

E. M. Clark

GENERAL MERCHANDISE.

PINE LAKE IRON COMPANY

Ironton, Mich.,

Are Full in all kinds of General Merchandise.

GARLAND STOVES & RANGES. KEEP YOUR ON THE Right Place

For Bargains in Hardware,

Iron, Cutlery, Tin ware, Stoves, Implements, Fixtures, Pumps, Grindstones, Wagons, Buggies, Carts, Wheelbarrows, Refrigerators, Doors, Sash.

PAINTS Oils, Varnishes, Putty, Glass, Fence wire, Farm bells, Carpenter's tools, Notions, Fishing tackle, Revolvers, Guns, Ammunition, Spoons, Forks, LAMPS, Baskets, Measures, Tubs, Washboards, Rope, Fishermen's Supplies, and Ship chandlery, Job and Tin work.

L. D. BARTHOLOMEW & CO.

I have purchased the Meat business of Armstrong & Co., and will continue at the old stand, with the freshest and best goods in the market.

T. E. CHAMBERLIN.

HEAR YE! HEAR YE!

I have purchased the Stock of

Drugs, Chemicals,

STATIONERY FISHING TACKLE, ETC.

Of O. B. WEED & CO., and will continue the business at the old stand. I shall aim to so conduct the business as to merit a share of your favors. When in need of anything in my line, call and examine my stock and ask my prices.

PERRY WEED, DRUGGIST,

Successor to O. B. Weed & Co.

OPERA BLOCK, CHARLEVOIX, MICH.

HENRY C. COOPER

Undertaker!

CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN.

Coffins, Caskets, and Trimmings Always in Stock.

Come and See my Stock of Furniture.

ALL ORDERS BY TELEPHONE RECEIVE PROMPT ATTENTION

THE CHARLEVOIX JOURNAL.

NUMBER 116. CHARLEVOIX, MICH.: THURSDAY, OCTOBER 1, 1885. $1.50 PER YEAR.

THE JOURNAL

Published every Thursday,

BY CHAS. J. STRANG.

Office on Bridge Street,

CHARLEVOIX, - - MICHIGAN

ENTERED AT THE POSTOFFICE AT CHARLEVOIX, MICH., AS SECOND-CLASS MATTER.

A FEW FACTS CONCERNING

Dr. CROUTER'S

BAKING POWDER

Or Quick Yeast.

If you use it you will never have yellow biscuit.

If you use it your biscuit will never taste of Soda.

It contains no alum, and is absolutely free from anything of a deleterious nature.

It is made from PURE GRAPE CREAM OF TARTAR and NOT from the Common Cream of Tartar of the shops.

It is always fresh and will never disappoint you.

Directions for using furnished with every package.

Price 40 Cents per Pound

Manufactured and Sold only by

Dr. GEO. W. CROUTER,

Chemist and Druggist,

BRIDGE STREET, CHARLEVOIX, MICH.

Come and See our Immense Stock of

BOOTS AND SHOES.

FOX & MILLER.

BUSINESS DIRECTORY.

ATTORNEYS.

ARTHUR E. MARTIN, Attorney at Law, Boyne City, Mich. Collections promptly attended to.

CROSSMAN & GRIER, Attorneys at Law and Proctors in Admiralty. Office in Mitchell Block, Charlevoix, Mich.

J. A. CROSSMAN. C. J. GRIER.

HART & CALL, Attorneys at Law, Real Estate and Loan Agents. Lake St., east of postoffice, Petoskey, Mich.

FRED W. MAYNE, Attorney and Counselor, Real Estate and Loan Agent, Petoskey, Mich. ADVICE TO LADIES.

H. JESSEY, Attorney and Counselor at Law. Office on Lake St., Boyne, Mich.

J. A. SCHUTEIS, Attorney at Law and Judge of Probate of Emmet Co., Petoskey, Mich.

J. MILO EATON, Attorney at Law, Charlevoix, Mich.

W. WEED, Attorney and Solicitor, East Jordan. Admiralty a Specialty.

N. GARRETT, Attorney at Law, Boyne City, Mich.

CHURCHES.

FIRST CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH.—Sunday services at 10.30 a. m. and 7.00 p. m. Sunday school at close of morning service. Prayer meeting every Thursday evening at 7.00 o'clock. A. T. VAN ALSTYNE, pastor.

METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH.—Sunday services at 10.30 a. m. and 7 p. m. Sunday school at close of morning service. Prayer and praise meeting Thursday evening at 7 o'clock. J. T. HOBBS, pastor.

HOMEOPATHIC PHARMACY.

H. SHEFFIELD, Homeopathic Medicines, Books, Domestic Cocoa, Charlevoix, Mich.

PHYSICIANS.

A. CHRISTIE, M. D.—Office at residence, west of new block.

L. DAVIS, M. D., Physician and Surgeon. Office in the Lewis block, Charlevoix, Mich.

W. H. PURDON, M. D., Surgeon and Homeopathic Physician, Charlevoix, Mich.

REAL ESTATE AGENTS.

HERMAN S. HASKELL, Notary Public, Real Estate, Loan, and Insurance Agt., Charlevoix.

SECRET SOCIETIES.

A. O. U. W.—Bound Lake Lodge No. 93 meets every Wednesday evening, in their hall.

K. O. T. M.—Charlevoix Tent, No. 52, meets every Thursday every month, at Odd Fellows' hall.

I. O. L.—True Blue No. 152, meet Saturday on or before Full Moon, in Leonard school house.

MASONIC.—Charlevoix Lodge No. 382, meets Tuesday on or before full moon. Hall over postoffice.

W. F. BROWN, Cashier. W. A. BROWN, Asst Cashier.

BROWN & CO.'S

BANK OF CHARLEVOIX,

Capital, $25,000.

With superior facilities, prompt attention to business, large and growing patronage. Drafts and Money Orders payable at any point in the United States. Interest allowed on time deposits. Special efforts to collect doubtful claims. Interest paid on time deposits. Loans on approved property. Good securities bought and sold. Money to loan from all points in Europe by Draft.

CORRESPONDENTS.

Chase National Bank, New York.
First National Bank, Chicago.
Merchants and Manufacturers' National Bank, Detroit.
Fourth National Bank, Grand Rapids.

The Charlevoix Improvement Association.

President—Byron Sisco.
Vice Pres'dent—W. A. Smith.
Second Vice President—Robert Miller.
Recording Secretary—Chas. J. Strang.
Financial Secretary—E. Saffold.
Treasurer—Albert Sherman.

STANDING COMMITTEES.

Executive Committee—Wm. Bates, A. H. Cunningham and L. Rice.
Corresponding Committee—H. Lee Iddings, W. Lancey, and J. Vasho.
Reception Committee—F. W. Mayne, L. D. Bartholomew, J. L. Swan, R. Cooper, Geo. W. Crouter, R. W. Miller, S. M. Sisco, W. C. Newman, J. A. Clark, H. Hodge.

OBJECTS.

To aid and encourage the establishment of manufacturing enterprises in Charlevoix, and to advance the material interests and prosperity of Charlevoix and vicinity.

MEETINGS.

At Charlevoix Village Hall on the Third Monday of each month, at 7.30 p. m.

CORRESPONDENCE SOLICITED.

JAMES HEMMINGS,

Upright & Burthat Addition, Charlevoix.

HOUSE PAINTER,

Calciminer,

Paper Hanger,

And Decorator.

PINE AND HARDWOOD FINISHING. GOOD WORK.

FRED SAUNDERS has now in operation a number of replicated the original repeating Shotguns of Henry Ballard, formerly of Ballard, which may be had at gunsmithers of the JOURNAL on application at prices low.

BUTTER AND EGGS wanted on subscription for the JOURNAL. Wood and produce of all kinds taken at market rates.

BRIDGE STREET HOUSE,

ROBERT MILLER, Proprietor.

Charlevoix, Michigan.

This house is centrally located, and its accommodations are ample. The table supplied with the best the market affords. Only sample room in Charlevoix.

COMMERCIAL HOUSE

D. B. JERRUE, Proprietor.

East Jordan, Michigan.

Entirely rebuilt and refurnished. First-class Sample Room for agents. Good Stable in Connection with the House.

FARMERS' HOTEL,

W. S. JOHNSON, Proprietor.

Antrim Street, near Village Hall, Charlevoix.

Location convenient for merchants working in any of the factories on Round Lake, and for farmers coming to town. Feed stable for teams will be provided.

FOUNTAIN CITY HOUSE,

RICHARD COOPER, Proprietor.

Charlevoix, - Michigan.

Finest location in town, giving good view of the town, lake and harbor. Express office, and local quarters for Petoskey and Elk Rapids Stages. Good sample room for commercial travelers adjoining hotel.

JORDAN RIVER HOUSE,

TWITCHER & BAIR, Proprietors.

East Jordan, - Michigan.

These having business at the county seat will find this the most convenient place to stop, and the proprietors will spare no pains to give the best satisfaction. TELEPHONE CONNECTIONS.

PINE LAKE HOUSE,

A. J. HALL, Proprietor.

Boyne City, Michigan.

This house is finely located on the Boyne river, at the head of Pine Lake. It is large and commodious, and is well adapted to the entertainment of the traveling public.

PIONEER HOUSE,

A. B. NOTES, Proprietor.

Ironton, - Michigan.

Every convenience for the traveling public.

Money to Loan

On sums of $400 and upwards, at reasonable rates of interest, on approved real estate security.

H. C. Miley,

6341 Boyne City.

Picture Frames

Made to Order.

A FINE ASSORTMENT OF MOULDINGS To Select From.

O. I. WHEAT,

Bridge Street, Charlevoix, Mich.

Well-Digging.

JOHN SHRIER

Charlevoix, Mich.,

Is prepared to do all work in the line of well-digging, curbing, stoning, pump repairing, well drilling, and similar work.

WOOD WANTED.

Two or three loads of good black wood wanted at this office immediately.

JOHN LITZAU:

NEW HARNESS SHOP.

John Litzau has opened a harness shop in the building formerly occupied by Chalmpion's ball alley north of the bridge. A stock of new goods on hand, and repairing of all kinds done on short notice. Come and see me, north of the bridge. 17m1

THE GREAT GRANT BOOK.

Life and Personal Memories of Gen. Grant in one volume only $1.75. One agent sold at least day, 10,000 sold first week. A $1 engraving 22x28 inches of all "Our Presidents" FREE to each subscriber. Think of this! Some persons made $50 in a day. Agents wanted everywhere (this territory) to take orders for our engraving for commissions. Address Elton Publishing Co., 301 Wabash Ave., Chicago, Ill. 1y28

MISS L. SPAULDING,

DEALER IN

MILLINERY

AND

Fancy Goods.

Dressmaking Done in the Latest Styles.

Special attention given to

CHILDREN'S GARMENTS.

We would call the attention of the Ladies to our CLOAKING DEPARTMENT.

☞ We endeavor to do our work well and at Reasonable Prices. Come and see for yourself.

McCABE'S

Livery and Hack Line

DRAYING TO ORDER.

Passengers, Baggage, etc., delivered to all Boats, Hotels, or any part of the City.

McCabe's Livery Barn,

CHARLEVOIX, MICH. 43

W. W. WAGAR. G. V. WAGAR.

Wagar Bros.

Wholesale and Retail dealers in Tobacco, Cigars and Smokers' Articles. Also a full line of Canned Meats, Fruits, and Vegetables. Fresh Bread Every Morning. Third door west of Bridge Street House, Charlevoix, Mich.

John Nicholls,

CHARLEVOIX, MICH.,

Manufacturer of and dealer in

HARDWOOD AND PINE

LUMBER!

ALSO

Dressed Lumber, Oar Blades,

WAGON TOUGHES, SHINGLES, LATH, ETC.

LUMBER SAWED AND BILLS FILLED TO ORDER.

Facts About the Sutler.

I sing the song of the sutler who fought in the battle of life,
The song of the pelm-pocket artist who never got into the strife;
Not the song of the soldier who never forgot to lay claim
To the greenbacks that stuck in the jack-pot when the game was all aflame;
But the song of the bearded sutler, who travelled in sunshine and rain
For the sake of the almighty dollar and whatever else he could gain.
And his youth bore no flower on his temples, but his age was a bright, sunny day,
For the sutler, he knew, was a fellow, respected as well as the rank that he carried always,
And the work that he did for the army in the rear of the soldiers was man.
Where he set up his crackers and herrings and the need of the footsore sandine,
That he sold to the boys on a credit or the shops, at a little advance on cost.
And six beans he gave for five dollars, while the rest brought a dollar apiece,
While the world at large such a bear to the hero who may be lacerd,
I drink to the grand army sutler, who never has spoken to her ill.
How he sold to the boys, and dissolved with the glut of the cash in his eyes,
And for this great cause lose he suffered—for the cash, not the country, he'd die.
Then rear to the sutler a temple of granite in the world I will say
Where the spirit of Shylock shall hover and chime the tune of the money,
That once paid a tribute in gentle wise a pal that no mortal could rile,
And a smile like a lightning-rod peddler and a check like the grand army money.

—Colonel John A. Joyce.

THE GEYSERS.

A Great Natural Curiosity Newly Visited—Scalding Water and Hot Mud Pots.

My first glimpse of a geyser in action was at the end of a long prospective of pine-bordered road, as we came down from the hill-tops toward the Fire Hole river. Jolting over deep ruts and projecting stumps of the newly-made road, suddenly, against a background of blue gray hill, arose a column of soft white steam. For a few moments it attained a lofty height, and then slowly dissolved into air. Involuntarily we had taken off our hats and made our bow. "It is the Great Fountain in the Lower Basin," said our communicative driver. The river bank presented an animated appearance as we reached the top of the overhanging ridge; wagons and tents dotted the level in all directions; campfires were being lighted, and all the busy preparations for approaching night were engaging the attention of the campers. But to us the pillars of steam rising on all sides and hovering overhead like a cloud were the first objects noticed, fronting.

The latest item of wonder was a new geyser that had broken out, and each morning played its waters in sight of the hotel. This early riser had been named the Cleveland by some of the officers of the then democratic nominee for president. The notice bearing its name had been removed, however, and one bearing the words "Officially named the Crevice" substituted in its place; but the first, like Banquo's ghost, would not down, and so the war waged.

In the morning the whole basin was filled with steam, condensed during the night. In the following description I intend only to speak of the geysers in a picturesque sense, not trying to make a theory in regard to their action; neither will I inflict a certain "national theory," being unable to accept it myself. We were not at the geysers under any remarkable circumstances, as is claimed by so many tourists; there was no special exhibition of water jets for us. The marvels of the Geyser basin are enough without extra sensations. Neither do I consider it a matter of impatience to tell those things which so soon pass from the mind—exact distances, heights, etc.

The three basins, Upper, Middle, and Lower, seem to me to have been about six miles in length by half a mile in width on the average. The Fire Hole river flows through each and drains the outpouring waters, and although this stream is of considerable width, depth, and swiftness, an eruption of the Giant is said to almost double its volume. We were not fortunate enough to see the monster in anger, but looked down his throat in repose. Even then his heated breath forbade a too close inspection—but I anticipate. The road follows along the river bank after leaving the first group of geysers, of which the Fountain is the most important, and shortly after passes by the Algeria springs, or Middle basin. Raised in a high terrace, they can not be seen from the road; only the water which comes trickling over the brink is visible. More of them anon.

Soon we reach the first installment of those beautiful springs or wells, which abound in such numbers that to count them would be a task. Nature has apparently used the arrangement of the solar spectrum in obtaining her effect, which is startling in its brilliancy. Imagine a deep, round pool, of vivid emerald, or sulphurous blue, and then surround it with cones of vermilion, crimson, chu, primrose, and deep yellow, on a white or gray mound, and you have a correct image of it yourself, remembering, all this, that they show all degrees of action, from perfect calm to a gentle simmer, on to bubble and gurgle, and finally to those which boil with passion and vehemence inescribable. That many of the springs should be named after the spirit vulgarly called the devil is natural. There are devil's wells, caldrons, and punch-bowls; why no one has thought to give him a kettle is a mystery to me. Once fairly among the famous geysers of the Upper basin, you hardly know which way to turn. Here are the large, spasmodic Grotto, the powerful Giant, the massive Castle, and last, but by no means least, majestic Old Faithful. We had not pitched our tent before it was time for that usually to give an exhibition, and, true to his reputation, it came to the minute; at first two or three preliminary jets, as though he were trying his strength, and then the waters shot to a height of over two hundred feet. It marks a period in one's life, the witnessing of that grand display. During our stay the Castle indulged in an eruption which lasted, with varying force, for several hours. Old Faithful joined it several times, his periods of action being fifty-five minutes apart, while those two were playing a third geyser followed their example and sent a rocket-like stream skyward. It was the Splendid, on the opposite side of the river; so the three played in sight at once.

On walking over to the Blue Crested spring, and viewing the Castle from that point, the outlines seemed familiar to me. I certainly had seen them elsewhere. It was in the Provo valley, of Utah, which undoubtedly at one time was the theater of exactly such performances as are now taking place in the Yellowstone. The big boiling pot and attendant spring must have been in their youth a counterpart of the Castle now before me. Moreover, Provo valley bears a strong resemblance to Fire Hole basin; a high conical hill, a striking object in the valley, has its duplicate in the basin. The Provo canyon also bears the same relative position as the canyon of the Madison. Apes-past, then, Provo valley was occupied by thermal springs and geysers, subject to the same laws as those in the park. Now, in their old age, their mounds are grass grown, and the tiller of the soil runs his plow to their very foot, and of their crumbling geyserite builds a wall around his field. When Provo valley was first discovered, other denizens than those held possession; the deadly rattlesnake, attracted by the lingering warmth in the old basins, had made there his home. Five hundred of these reptiles were destroyed in a single day by the invaders of their stringy haunts.

Some of the geysers in the park are facing both come and mount, and in a state of rest cannot be distinguished from the springs. The Fountain is of this description. Embows are the forms, material and texture of the crater rims, pitched, rough, flaky; some are named from their peculiarity in this respect, as the Sponge; some are surrounded with globes, and as cannon balls, and others are frosted as with hoar frost; the basins of many are scalloped and embroidered with delicate patterns; there are wedded and single geysers, and whole family groups.

Take my advice and indulge in the luxury of a solitary walk; it will repay you. Don't take a guide book; never mind the names; try to discover they have a name, and so experience some of the delight of the first holders. Such a luxury was ours after sundown, and many were the sights and marvels we seemingly discovered. The strangest of those was a round pool, tranquil at first. Without warning a mass of water was belched up from the center, and the whole pool in commotion. By the time it had subsided to quiet, another ejection took place, and so continued. In the lulls, threading between the fissures became a feat of some difficulty. The scalding water would spit vicinously and the hot mud pots were a constant trap. Both tent and supper were welcome.

Could we not rest contented with the sights of this day? Apparently not, for, after an hour's rest, a moonlight ramble was in order. A foot bridge crosses the river to where more of the heated and troubled waters gushed from the earth's depths; ghostly, indeed, were they then, the warm colors being dimmed, and the cold ones being brought out with more force by the cold gray light.

We have deferred our inspection of Hell's Half Acre until our return trip, and right glad am I that we did so. All other things would have paled after the unapproachable beauty of Yellowstone lake; at once so lovely and awful. Words can not tell of the shimmering, evanescent tints which played upon its surface, and few would believe the brightness of its zones. It occupies an immense mound of geyserite, probably of its own creating, and you approach it up a series of slightly raised terraces, splashing through the overflow. Nearer the river, on the same mound, is the Cliff Cauldron, showing attention with its rival. It is plainly of more recent origin, having broken through the old deposit which walls it around on three sides. These wells are of dazzling white and yellow, and are crumbling, tattering pieceneal into the indigo depths. The following information is from the Hayden reports: "Cliff Caldron was long thought to be simply a boiling spring; subsequently it has been proven to be a most formidable geyser, in fact the greatest and most powerful in the world. There seems to be no set period to its eruptions, which were they occur are of such force as to shake the surrounding earth."

There are other springs which elsewhere would be of interest, but in such company they receive but little attention.

Visit to the geysers.—*Salt Lake Her

THE JOURNAL

BY CHAS. J. STRANG.

CHARLEVOIX, — MICHIGAN.

NEWS CONDENSED.

Concise Record of the Week.

EASTERN.

In the annual regatta of the New York Yacht Club, the Genesta won the Bennington for cutters or sloops, and the Grayling the Bennett cup for schooners.

The English team was defeated in the international cricket match at Philadelphia.

The cotton mills at Lawrence, Mass., which have been closed for a year, are to resume at once, giving employment to nearly 7,000 operatives.

Seven hundred feet of an embankment thirty feet in height on the New York, Lake Shore and Buffalo Railway, near Glen Erie, has sunk suddenly, taking down the track. A new road will be built around the cavity.

The pier of the Royal Netherlands Steamship Company, in Jersey City, was partly destroyed by fire, involving a loss of $50,000. A large number of telegraph and telephone wires were burned.

Advices from Philadelphia are to the effect that coal of all kinds will be advanced at an early day in the future on account of the increasing demand for shipment.

An explosion of natural gas at Sharpsburg, Pa., fatally injured two persons. The concussion threw a passing street car from the track.

At Pittsburgh, Pa., the Coroner held an inquest on a piece of bone one inch long, all that remained of John Ostermeyer, a 14-pound boy, who met a sudden and terrible death by being ground to pieces in a rock-crusher. The unfortunate lad was engaged feeding rock to the crusher, and fell in, and before the engine could be stopped he was crushed to atoms, a small piece of bone being all that was left when his fellow-workmen went to look for him.

Thomas J. Curran, of New York, was elected President of the Intercollegiate Boiler-Makers' Brotherhood, in session at New York.

WESTERN.

A distemper among hogs in the district of Richland and Dockton, Ill., and Newark, Wis., has resulted in heavy losses to farmers. The disease swept away 2,000 hogs in the past two weeks.

Several lumber mills in Northern Michigan have been closed owing to the feeble demand for lumber, and many others have reduced hours and wages are proportionately lowered. At Manistee about 1,000 men are idle.

A Bismarck (Dak.) dispatch says: "The prairie fires continue in every direction, and unless rain intervenes the whole country will be burned over. Farmers who have escaped now have their grain well protected by plowed fire-breaks, and are busily hauling their hay to places of safety. At this time fires moving toward the woods in Washburn County and this county have run down their trees in the timber on the Missouri bottoms in Emmons County, south. Most of the low meadows have been burned over in this and Kidder County."

A dispatch from the West says that work has been resumed in the Rock Springs, Wyoming, coal mines, with a force of Chinese miners and a few white mechanics. The white miners refused to work, and were paid off. No violence was attempted, but the situation was threatening, and Gen. Morlock asked the President to declare martial law in Wyoming. It was believed that a general strike would be ordered along the line of the Union Pacific railroad by the Knights of Labor.

Hog cholera in a virulent form is prevalent in many portions of the West.

Wilcoxen's flouring mill, at Lewiston, Ill., was burned, entailing a loss of $75,000, with but $16,000 insurance.

Indianapolis telegram: "General reports from every county in this state of the yield of the cereal crops show that in the Northern Indiana counties the average yield per acre of wheat is fifteen bushels, central counties twelve bushels, and southern eight bushels. The average yield per acre for the whole State is eleven bushels. The extent acre of wheat harvested, according to the best attainable data, is 2,256,000 acres. This shows the production for the year to be 28,192,000 bushels."

A Lewiston (Idaho) dispatch gives the following account of the lynching of five Bonapartists: "Five Chinamen, implicated in the murder of Daniel Frazier and a robbery in Pierce City, were taken from jail by citizens last night and hanged to convenient trees. Mr. Frazier, who was one of the pioneers of Southern Idaho, was well known and respected. His arms in bed of his store were entered on the night of the 11th inst., and he was murdered and his body horribly mutilated. An attempt was then made to blow up the safe, which was unsuccessful. The tracks to the outside of the building showed that a Chinaman had done the deed. In the next five days 8 men Chinamen were arrested, and finally five confessed to the deed. These were taken out and summarily disposed of."

Disguised and armed men visited the black Diamond Mines, near Seattle, W. T., above the Chinese from their houses, and burned the premises.

A St. Louis policeman who had been whipped several times by people who objected to being arrested, killed himself while insane from injuries so inflicted.

A dispatch from Omaha says the Knights of Labor have served their ultimatum upon the Union Pacific Railroad Company, demanding, among other things the dismissal of R. O. Clark, Superintendent of the Coal Department, and the discharge of all Chinese employes. The dispatch states that the officials of the company do not believe that these demands will be pressed. Quiet prevails at Rock Springs, and the working force at the mines is increasing. The troops will not be withdrawn for the present.

SOUTHERN.

Miss Sallie McDonald, of Boyle County, Kentucky, claims to have been cured of an obstinate spinal complaint through the prayers and laying on of hands of a Cincinnati person.

A coal barge was wrecked near Galveston, Texas, two of the captain's crew and the crew of five on board the barge perishing.

Nicholas Snowden, a negro who recently contributed a little colored girl, was taken from jail in Elkton City, Maryland, and hanged, by a mob composed of members of his own race.

In a drunken quarrel near Stanford, Ky., William Hall, a well-known distiller, was shot and instantly killed by his son George.

At Johnston, S. C., an alleged murderer was taken from the Sheriff by a mob, shot several times, and left for dead. He subsequently revived, made a statement implicating several of the lynchers, and died.

Ten convicts escaped from a plantation near Huntsville, Texas, visited the latter town, and entering a hotel purloined the garments of the male members of a theatrical troupe, leaving their striped suits behind. A large posse started in pursuit, and reports have reached Huntsville that four of the crimes have been recaptured.

New Orleans finances are at a very low ebb, in consequence of wasteful expenditures. The city employes have not been paid since June and the teachers since April.

WASHINGTON.

The Treasury Department has issued orders for the inspection of all vessels coming from ports infected with smallpox.

A formal order has been made for the immediate removal of all of the Bureau fences on the public domain in the Western States and Territories.

The issue of standard silver dollars during the week was 401,441.

In the case of Paymaster General Smith, defendant's counsel have applied to the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia for an injunction restraining the Secretary of the Navy from further proceedings against their client, on the ground that the court-martial had no jurisdiction.

John W. Mackay is at Washington urging the allowance by the General Land Office of $250,000 to the Bank of Nevada for money advanced on surveying contracts. Commissioner Sparks refuses to pay the claim until a thorough investigation can be made into the matter.

POLITICAL.

Washington telegram: "Gen. Rosecrans, the Register of the Treasury, has thought the thing over, and has concluded that it would not be in consonance with the policy of the administration for him to accept the invitation to take part in the Chicago campaign, and has so informed the Democratic State Committee. It is understood that before coming to this conclusion he consulted with the President, who took very firm ground against officials leaving their desks to take part in political campaigns."

The Prohibitionists of Iowa met in State convention at Cedar Rapids and placed in the field the following ticket: For Governor, James Mickelwaite, of Mills; for Lieutenant Governor, W. H. Steer, of Cedar; for Supreme Judge, Lewis Rogers, of Polk; for Superintendent of Schools, William H. Tait, of Mills.

The letter of Mr. Dorman B. Eaton to the President, under date of July 28, tendering his resignation as a member of the civil-service commission, and the reply of Mr. Cleveland accepting the same, to take effect Nov. 1, were given to the press last week. The correspondence is quite lengthy, Mr. Eaton testifying in the strongest terms to the fidelity with which the President has executed the reform laws and the latter announcing his determination of adhering to the policy already adopted.

Col. Absalom Baird has been appointed Inspector General of the Army by the President.

Ex-Congressman S. M. Stockslager, of Indiana, has been appointed Assistant Commissioner of the General Land Office.

The New York Republican State Convention met at Saratoga on the 22d of September. Senator Warner Miller was made temporary, and James W. Husted permanent, Chairman. An informal ballot was taken for Governor, thirteen candidates being placed before the convention, with the following result: Davenport, 105; Cornell, 25; Morton, 62; Seward, 57; Swinburne, 37; Low, 16; Warren, 127; Frassel, 37; Miller, 53; Cornell, 4; Evarts, 1; Starin, 1; Charles Andrews, 1. The convention then adjourned until the following morning. Upon reassembling a second ballot was taken, Davenport receiving 215 and Curry 152. On the third ballot there was a landslide for Davenport, and his nomination was made unanimous amid great cheering. The conventions then yelled "Curry" for second place, General Curry was unanimously nominated for the Lieutenant Governorship by acclamation. The remainder of the ticket went through in a rush, and when it was completed stood as follows: For Governor, Congressman Ira Davenport of Steuben County; for Lieutenant-Governor, Maj. Gen. Joseph R. Carr of Genesee County and at present Secretary of State; for Secretary of State, Col. Alison S. Wood of Wayne County; for Comptroller, James W. Wadsworth of Livingston County; for Treasurer, Charles F. Union of New York County; for Attorney General, Senator Edward R. Thomas; for State Engineer and Surveyor, William V. Van Benschoter of Tioga County. The platform, which is very lengthy, discusses the strongholds and extension of the civil-service laws of the last four years and the rest is enforcement of their provisions; favors the repeal of the silver-purchase law; reiterates the protective tariff resolution adopted by the last Republican National Convention; an emphatic declaration by the Democratic party in pledging itself before election to civil-service reform, and after election demonstrating through its press and its leaders that civil-service reform is unknown and unpracticed in the national administration; renewed and faithful public services, and evidence thereof with persons whose only recommendation is service, and, in some instances, disreputable political work; declares it "the duty of the Republican minority of the Senate to oppose the confirmation of any person appointed in violation of the letter or spirit of the civil-service law"; insists that "the political suffrage must be maintained free and unhampered" in all of the States; and recommends the passage of a "comprehensive measure for the benefit of the laboring classes. The candidates for Governor, Lieutenant-Governor, will present a resolution, having been elected last fall. He has large business interests, and has proved to be a most successful President of the Board of Trustees of the Grand Army of the Republic Soldiers' Home in Washington, and has support Peoria Orphan Asylum. He has been a State Senator, and was State Comptroller in 1882 and 1883.

MISCELLANEOUS.

The Montreal committee acting in behalf of Ireland, the Canadian Parliament, has issued an appeal asking Premier Gladstone to release Mr. Parnell from the jail he now holds. Here's counsel has gone to England to intercede in his behalf.

Guiana, the Mexican Congressman who recently killed the American, Hurdle, will be tried for murder, it having been decided that he cannot claim immunity on account of his official position.

A freight train on the Lake Shore Road was thrown into the track at Fairview and completely wrecked. The engineer and fireman were thrown under the wreck, but managed to extricate themselves. The fireman, Michael Brown, of Collingwood, Ont., sustained a scalding, possibly fatal, and received in stopping it before it reached the wreck. The passenger messengers made up a purse of $200 for him.

Fire destroyed Ankarn & Co.'s skirt factory at Troy, N. Y., entailing a loss of $75,000; Jenks & Co.'s flouring mills at Sand Beach, Mich., loss $50,000.

Small-pox has broken out in a tenement in Grand street, New York, four cases having already developed. The source of the malady is unknown. During the week there were 216 deaths from smallpox in Montreal.

Small-pox has broken out in a tenement in Grand street, New York, four cases having already developed. The source of the malady is unknown. During the week there were 216 deaths from smallpox in Montreal.

The small-pox epidemic is unabated at Montreal, and the provincial authorities have ordered a general vaccination.

A wrecking crew of twenty men from St. Johns at work on a strand washed off the Dominion coast were drowned during a gale.

FOREIGN.

Disastrous rains and consequent floods are prevalent in southeastern Spain.

Eight persons were robbed and stripped at the great Scottish meeting in London Sunday have been found and scattered to their terms of imprisonment for contempt of court. William Morris, the poet, is under arrest for assaulting the police during the hearing of these cases.

Eastern dispatches report that Prince Alexander of Bulgaria has resigned his throne, impossible, and the long-rumored plot against his life, which he officially announced at Sunday, is thought to have had most to do with it. Efforts will be made to induce him to reconsider his action. A general levy has been ordered for Bulgaria, and it is rumored that the armies of Austria, Greece, and Servia are being mobilized. A revolt is imminent in Roumelia and Thessaly. Gen. Dragalski, commander of the Roumelian militia, is under a cloud. The Austrian Government denies the claims my intention of annexing Bosnia and Herzegovina. The signatory powers are in active correspondence regarding the existing complications. The English and continental stock markets are depressed and panic-stricken.

Mrs. Weldon, the English vocalist, has been released from prison, having served a six months' term for libeling a London theatrical manager. Her admirers celebrated the event by an enthusiastic demonstration in Trafalgar Square.

Since the outbreak of cholera in Spain there have been over 16,000 deaths from the disease.

Spain's apology for the insults to the German Embassy at Madrid has been accepted by Prince Bismarck.

A cable dispatch says that such immense crowds attended a concert given by Christine Nilsson at Stockholm, Sweden, that seventeen persons were crushed to death. The accident occurred after the concert and while Mme. Nilsson was singing from the balcony of the Grand Hotel. The fatality numbered 20,000 at the time of the accident.

Constantinople dispatches state that "Turkish troops have had a skirmish with the Roumelian forces on the Mustra River. The latter are reported to be massing on the frontier and fortifying the crossings. Prince Alexander has issued a proclamation, in a circular to the powers, in which he declares announces the union of Bulgaria and Roumelia. The czar has protested to the signatory powers of the treaty of Berlin against the union, and announced that it will take measures to enforce its rights. A demonstration against the annexation of Bosnia by Austria has been made by students at Belgrade. The situation is regarded as critical at all the European capitals.

Three Afghan regiments have left Cabul for Herat.

LATER NEWS ITEMS.

According to an enumeration just taken, the population of Des Moines, Iowa, is 42,183, an increase of 10,981 since 1885.

Strong opposition to the proposed sale to a syndicate known as the "Oklahoma and Cherokee strips" has developed among the southern Kansas Indian tribes.

Joseph Fisher and his three children were burned to death in their farm dwelling near Vandeca, Iowa. A dispatch from Anamosa, Iowa, gives the following particulars of the shocking affair:

Mrs. Adelaide M. Fisher was aroused by the crackling sound of fire of flames, which were then in the rear of her bedroom, and ran to the door to rouse her children, but found the door locked. The little child from his wife's arms, but was driven back by the intense heat and smoke. A second effort also failed, but he succeeded in opening a small corridor and enter the room where the children were sleeping. The little girl was found in the stairway with her face in the smoke, and fell in the floor with the child in her arms and utterly unconscious. His wife endeavored to wake him from this death-like sleep, but failed to rouse him. With the energy of despair she dragged him into the room where the children were, and, opening the door, dragged the little girl out upon the ground and drag the child out upon it. She was also overcome by the heat and smoke, and when her senses returned she found herself lying upon the ground near the house, and her husband and the three little girls and children. The burned remains of Mr. Fisher and the infant child were found in the house, and no traces of the bodies of the other two children have been discovered.

The President has appointed the following named Presidential Postmasters:

Thomas Hardeman at Macon, Ga., vice Wm. Lawton, resigned; Charles E. Harper at Hamilton, Ohio, vice Benjamin Parker, resigned; B. B. Rush at Kansas City, Mo., vice Thos. Rodgers; John A. Cornell at Fort Smith, Kansas, vice F. J. Reddy, resigned; T. S. Hale at Dublin, Ohio, vice T. B. Hayes, resigned; F. E. Horton at Batesville, Ark., vice Geo. Hill, resigned; Wm. H. Gillman at Mobile, Ala., vice Jas. L. Anderson, resigned; Adrian Loeb at Ashland, Ohio, vice Wm. Lynch, resigned; Wm. Fincher at Bakersfield, Cal., vice H. A. Wickersham, resigned; Oliver T. Hyde at Mechanicsville, Iowa, vice J. Hall, resigned; F. D. Stevens at Sacramento, Cal., vice Hubert Vandervoort, resigned.

An effort will be made at the approaching convention of the Irish National League of America to raise $250,000 to enable Mr. Parnell to guarantee ninety members of Parliament $1,000 each annually for five years.

In an address before a great crowd at London Mr. Chamberlain said he would never become a member of a cabinet which did not adopt a reform measure. Regarding Hall's complimentary reference to the royal family, he stopped forth a storm of deprecation, and quoted several schemes.

In the Dakota Constitutional Convention it was decided to let the best legislature arrange for submitting the question of woman suffrage to the people.

The President has appointed the following collectors of Customs: Charles C. Sweeney, for the District of Galveston, Texas; Jas. Herbert, for the District of Galveston, Tex.; J. G. Corbin, for the District of Lamoille, Pembina, Tex.

A rather curious letter was received by the President the other day. It calls upon him to resign his office, and is addressed, "Henry M. Rices, President-elect of the United States, Ont., Ia., M. D., professor of military and civil jurisprudence, National Military Home, Virginia. Headdresses the President as follows: "Grover Cleveland, acting President," and says: "Your time has come. Your resignation is hereby demanded you after Oct. 4 will be null and void." He attaches to the letters orders numbered from 2182 to 2230 to each of the cabinet officers, addressing each as "Acting Secretary." To Secretary Bayard the letter orders his thanks for the faithful performance of his duty, but cautions him not to "pay much attention to those exploding newspaper critics," and requests that the Secretary will have no direct diplomatic intercourse with any British subject, nor their Spanish or Russian allies. He calls upon Gen. Black to resign "Sept. 16," and closes with "Dies d'ira, d'ira."

Maj. Edward Brown, a prominent lawyer of Boston, who is charged with the embezzlements from clients, has disappeared from that city, and is supposed to have gone to Canada.

THE MARKETS

NEW YORK.
BEEVES	$4.00 @ 5.10
SHEEP	3.50 @ 4.60
WHEAT—No. 1 White	.91 @ .93
No. 2 Red	.84 @ .85
CORN—Ungraded	.46 @ .47
OATS—Mixed	.31 @ .32
PORK—New Mess	9.50 @ 9.75
CHICAGO.
BEEVES—Choice to Prime Steers	5.15 @ 5.35
Good Shippers	3.90 @ 4.70
SHEEP—Fair to Choice	3.00 @ 4.25
WHEAT—Spring No. 2	.78 @ .79
No. 2 Red	.81 @ .82
CORN—No. 2	.45 @ .45½
OATS—No. 2	.25 @ .25½
RYE—No. 1	.75 @ .76
BUTTER—Choice Creamery	.26 @ .27
Choice Dairy	.17 @ .18
CHEESE—Full Cream, new	.07½@ .08½
FLOUR—Winter Patents	4.25 @ 4.50
Spring Patents	4.25 @ 4.50
POTATOES—Per bu	.45 @ .50
PORK—Mess	8.50 @ 8.75
MILWAUKEE.
WHEAT—No. 1	.85 @ .86
No. 2	.83 @ .84
CORN—No. 3	.42 @ .42½
OATS—No. 2	.24 @ .24½
PORK—Mess	8.50 @ 8.60
TOLEDO.
WHEAT—No. 2 Red	.85 @ .86
CORN—No. 2	.44 @ .45
OATS—No. 2	.27 @ .28
ST. LOUIS.
WHEAT—No. 2 Red	.77½ @ .79½
CORN—No. 2	.41 @ .41½
OATS—No. 2	.24 @ .24½
PORK—Mess	9.00 @ 9.50
CINCINNATI.
WHEAT—No. 2 Red	.82 @ .83
CORN—No. 2	.45 @ .46
OATS—No. 2	.27 @ .28
RYE—No. 2	.76 @ .77
PORK—Mess	9.00 @ 9.50
DETROIT.
BEEF CATTLE	3.00 @ 4.25
SHEEP	3.50 @ 4.25
WHEAT—No. 1 White	.86 @ .87
No. 2 Red	.87 @ .88
OATS—No. 2 White	.29 @ .29½
INDIANAPOLIS.
WHEAT—No. 2 Red	.80 @ .81
CORN	.43 @ .44
OATS—No. 2	.24 @ .25
EAST LIBERTY.
CATTLE—Best	5.50 @ 5.60
Common	4.00 @ 4.50
HOGS	5.00 @ 5.25
SHEEP	3.50 @ 4.25
BUFFALO.
CATTLE—Choice	4.50 @ 4.75
HOGS	4.90 @ 5.25
SHEEP	3.50 @ 4.50

MICHIGAN AFFAIRS.

Hillsdale College has between 350 and 400 students.

The Pioneer says that work on new buildings is now in progress in all parts of Manistique.

From fifteen to twenty head of cattle die weekly in Detroit from what is known as Texas fever.

"Billy" Barnes, the notorious burglar, has been sentenced to Detroit to fifteen years in the penitentiary.

The final plat of How's village was recorded Nov. 16, 1885, and there is talk of celebrating the fifteen anniversary.

Latest Lumber market reports show that Michigan white wheat commands two cents a bushel more than other American winter wheat.

W. L. Hutchinson, of Rogersville, has 100 swarms of bees, and his product of honey this year will be 4,000 pounds, 1,000 pounds of which has already been sold at Chicago parties.

Michigan changes any railroad $100 which shall employ as engineer, dispatcher, fireman or brakeman a man who is not theoretically and actually a total abstainer from intoxicating liquors.

At Birch Run Saginaw County, the two-year-old son of Thomas Johnson, while playing with a revolver, discharged the weapon, the ball passing through the head and killing him instantly.

Robert Crawford, father of James Crawford of Alamada Township, died last week on the farm where he had lived over fifty years. Mr. Crawford is said to have reared 14 children, all of whom survived him.

Probably the largest sale of wool that has taken place in Southern Michigan for many years was consummated at Ann Arbor recently. A firm of that place sold in an Eastern party 320,000 pounds of wool in one lot, from which they realized $100,000. The wool, when loaded, will make a train of thirty-four cars.

The only change from last time is structural time is a slight change either in the mental habits or the actual habits of the people. There is no mystery about it. People in Detroit must either eat, sleep, or go about their business half an hour earlier as regards actual noon and midnight, or accustom themselves to doing those things at half hour previous to the former hour of doing them. In two weeks they will not be conscious of the change. It is of little importance either way.—Free Press.

James Farm, who lives at Greenwood, in the upper peninsula, wants the legislature to find him a wife. He was an early settler in that section, and has lived over forty years without a female companion. He says he is lonesome, and thinks that if he could have a wife to assist him in the work he could do more and better farming. He says he is able to support a wife in good style, and would make her happy if she would consent to come.

About one year ago the Pacific Express Company was robbed at Toledo, the express messenger being gagged and valises taken. A reward of $1,500 was offered for the arrest and conviction of the robbers. Detective Pat O'Neil, of Detroit, was employed on the case, and succeeded in bringing to justice one of the perpetrators, D. W. Downey, "Little Al," and Bert Lowe, the express messenger. Payment of the reward having been refused, E. P. Dailey of Detroit, brings suit against the Pacific Express Company for $2,000 damages, being the reward, with interest and expenses. The suit is a novel one, being probably the first of it kind.

—People who get their idea of the sawmill from the establishments outside of the lumber regions have little idea of the capacity of the mills in which lumber is manufactured. One of the great mills in the Michigan lumber district will handle from 1,000 to 1,500 logs every day. The mills will probably average 5,000 logs a week, or 20,000 logs a month. All the ingenuity and energy of the lumbermen has been directed to the quick handling of these logs of the rapid turning of the rough material into lumber. They have so far succeeded that such mill will turn out from 80,000 to 110,000 feet of lumber every day. Every contrivance that can aid the men in handling and turning the logs or in turning out lumber has been pushed to wonderful perfection.—Lake Crescent.

—Dr. George Whitfield Fish, ex-United States Consul to China and Tunis, and a well-known resident of Detroit, died at his home in that city, of pneumonia. He was 70 years old. Dr. Fish was a native of Kentright, Delaware County, N. Y., and came to Flint in 1859 after having obtained a medical education in Eastern schools. In 1860 he went to Panama as surgeon for the Panama Railroad, and in 1863 went to China, where he was appointed Consul at Ning-Po. In this connection he was present at the storming of Ning-Po by the Taipings. At the breaking out of the civil war he enlisted as surgeon in the Fourth Michigan Cavalry. He was taken prisoner by the Confederates at Stone River. Returning from the war, where he was one of the friends of President Lincoln, he started the Saginaw Daily Enterprise, and became successively Collector of Internal Revenue for the Sixth District of Michigan, State Senator, and Trustee of the Flint Hospital.

WOMAN GOSSIP.

Fidelity.

So long ago! It seems but yesterday
Since I shared the quivering space to part;
He loved me a man, my woman heart
Gave him back love for love. I was young,
Life was full of hopes, joy was in my way—
Yet I was true, for doubting doth impart
A pain more grievous than the passing away
Of separation." I am old and gray,
But still I wait and watch the days so short.
For I seem long, I have no value for power,
Wealth, position, fame, or aught else, for I
Long for and live for the days so short
And be at rest. And love will unite
Our separated souls, or here or elsewhere.

She Misunderstood Him.

He had an auburn-haired girl, and promised to take her out riding. She met him at the door, and he drove up and he exclaimed, "Hello, ready?" She misunderstood him, and thus don't speak now.—Norristown Herald.

Taking a Couple of Horses.

Smith purchased a "mailey" cow and drove her home yesterday evening. The animal took a curiosity to his children.

"Oh, what a cow!" exclaimed little three year old; "it did no horns."

"Hush Ben," said three-year old.

"Why, Ben, what a cow it is!"

"I don't know. I heard him say he had another cow, and I guess he took breakfast, and I guess they are inside of two hours. Mamma told him he would be back inside of three six weeks."—Newman Independent.

Women as Variables.

The cause of the difference between the sexes in Europe is found in the different positions of woman. The prince, dear to women as, as a rule, no encouragement to her intellectual development of a country. The core society is the principal exception to this rule. China is one of the least civilized of all the countries of the world. Turkey, with the possible exception of Italy and Egypt, is the oldest civilized country known. In that where degraded its women, and is the only great nation that multiplies them. The partial justice, the comfort, which women in Europe is traceable to Greek literature, to Roman law, and to the influence of the old Teutonic religions and customs. The worship of the Virgin was one of the strongest influences which elevated woman in Europe. This may one who looks into the history of the middle ages will see plainly enough.—John Swinton's Paper.

They Waited for the Bell.

"All women are alike in their fear of the cars," said an Illinois Central conductor. "They carry their caution to absurd extremes. I had occasion one day at a little stopping place in the upper part of the State, we have put up at a little station, and there is no regular signal, 'Look out for the cars when the train is coming.' Well, I was standing on the platform, when a lady and a little girl came out of the station and ran down the track a little way, and then stopped and looked and listened. Presently a train came in sight, and they ran off and stood on the other side of the track, and stood there, and when the train came walking down the track,

THE JOURNAL.

BY CHAS. J. STRANG.

CHARLEVOIX, - - MICHIGAN.

Notes and News.

The Bay View dock is to be rebuilt.

M. D. Eaton issued a three-column folio daily from the close of the Clare News-Argus during fair week.

Inland Marine, the sailors' paper, of Chicago, is to be changed from a weekly to a monthly, in magazine form.

W. F. Montgomery, of Manistique will issue next Sunday the first number of a paper to be called the Sunday Sun.

The schooner R. J. Skidmore which went ashore near Leland, is the third boat belonging R. J. Pauly, of Chicago, lost this season near Gill's Pier.

If you receive a circular from New York stating that "no organ is to be cent you in order to introduce it in our locality, but that 4 dollars must be sent to pay freight," don't send it. It is a ten cent month-organ.

On Sept. 26 the Chicago Herald issued a supplement, dated 1885, purporting to be a copy of the paper as it will appear one hundred years hence. It contains some wild imaginations,—a few of its features outrivalling Jules Verne's wildest stories.

On a recent Sunday, the New York World contained three pages of advertising matter for Frank Siddalls, the Philadelphia soap manufacturer, in payment of which Mr. Siddalls wrote his check for $1,606.27. Of that issue of the World over two hundred thousand copies were circulated.

During the recent storm, when Lake Michigan waves ran so high, Dave Bradbeer succeeded in making an excellent photograph, showing the north pier with waves running over it and an angry, foamy sea in the bay beyond. The scene contains many points of interest and instruction to amateur painters.

Milwaukee Wis., Sept. 24.—Private dispatches received here to-day reported that the schooner Onward, ashore at Gill's Pier, and the R. J. Skidmore, at Leland, had been stripped and abandoned as total losses. The Bay de Nequette Lumber Company's scow ashore here, was also abandoned to-day. She was valued at $2,500.

The Traverse Journal last week devoted over a column to Rev. W. R. Stinchcomb, exposing some real estate transactions which are very damning if true. The Michigan conference deemed the charges unworthy of consideration, and responded him presiding elder of this district. It is possible the Journal may have to prove its charges or pay for the "fun."

There is now a project on foot for opening a canal from Torch lake to Grand Traverse bay, and we have been informed by good authority that a company has been formed in Boston for that purpose with a capital of $100,000, and a charter applied for. Should this country be so fortunate as to get this much talked of canal, it would then be open for vast manufacturing enterprises, and all the great forests on the banks of the inland lakes and rivers of this country would be utilized, thereby giving employment to hundreds of men.—Herald.

The Detroit Free Press celebrated its 50th anniversary on Monday, Sept. 28th, by issuing a sixteen page sheet, and giving a history of its struggles and triumphs during the past half century. The Free Press has the honor of being a lineal descendant of the Detroit Gazette, the first paper printed in the territory, of having issued the first daily in the territory, of having used the first steam press, and the first perfecting press, and of using the first to adopt almost every important improvement in the art of printing. And to-day, it stands in the front as a complete and reliable newspaper.

Protection is a fascinating word; it sounds nice when applied properly in the interest of the weak. In its very nature it is a beneficence that pleases the mind and accords with the high moral sense of honor. Protection that shields the effeminate and weak, the oppressed and careworn, that takes care of the orphan and widow, the infirm and decrepit, is one of the noblest ideas of the age.

It is not so, however, with the protection asked by the monopolists of the country. This protection is for the strong and is against the weak. It puts money into the pockets of the rich and takes it out of the pockets of the poor. It is against the organic law of our country, and imposes burdens on the many for the benefit of the few. Its supremacy is oppression and slavery to the masses.—[Bellville (Ill.) Democrat.

Silver Hoards.

Washington Capital.

There is an argument in favor of the coinage of silver and the use of it as money which has been little considered in the discussion of the subject, and yet is one that will have no unimportant effect upon the welfare of the nation if the proper course is taken. Few appear to have noticed the effect produced upon the saving habits of a people by the kind of money in use among them. In our opinion, silver is the favorite money with the thrifty poor. It is well adapted to hoarding. Gold is too valuable; its coins are too small when reduced to the limits of the possible savings of the poor. The most attractive coin for the hoard is the silver dollar or its equivalent.

Paper money is unfit for the hoard because of its destructibility. Besides, paper money never appeals to the acquisitive and secretive sense as does the bright, hard, enduring coin. Many men, and many more women, will handle a silver dollar with a caress, where a paper dollar would fail to excite a feeling of regret at parting with it. The world's modern history is full of the bad effects produced upon nations by an influxion of the paper money, but no one ever heard of a people bewildered by an expansion of its gold and silver money.

A story has recently been printed which points this moral: A merchant's wife asked him for a check for a thousand dollars, with which to buy a lace shawl. He did not give her a check, but instead sent her a thousand silver dollars. She had never seen so much real money together in her life. She was shocked at the idea of giving all that silver for a filmy shawl that she did not need, and asked permission to invest it instead of spending it.

This is to the point. On a smaller scale a million of people would be affected in the same way. It would be worth fifty millions a year to the wealth of the nation if the bulk of the money that passes through the hands of the workers was in metal instead of paper. Two millions a month could easily be absorbed in hoards after the people had begun the process.

It is also a mistake to suppose that because the people in the cities prefer paper to coin that anything like a majority of the people of the country have a prejudice against coin. The weekly wages of the millions do not weigh them down. When bankers and brokers say that "the people do not want silver," they mean the people with whom they deal. They know nothing of the wishes of the real people—the producers, those who create the wealth, which makes it possible for bankers and brokers to exist.

At the close of the war of the rebellion millions of dollars in coin were discovered to exist in the south, which had resisted the terrible strain of four years of civil war before the hoards which had absorbed them could be broken up. Only the absolute destruction of the paper money known to the people brought out the coin savings. Nine-tenths of it was found in the possession of the freedmen. It was then calculated that twenty million in silver had thus been in the possession of slaves, representing their hoardings under most adverse circumstances.

It is undoubtedly true that the trading classes and the idlers of the United States prefer paper money. Those who live upon the earnings of others, those who live by managing the affairs of others, those who live upon the necessities of others, are amused by the weight of the "cart wheel dollar," but the man who tills the fields, who wields the hammer, who bends his back in the mine, does not feel the weight. Pay the laborer in silver and he will not object. He will spend the bulk of it because he must, but some of it will stick to his hand hand or to that of his thrifty wife. It will be put by for the rainy day, when the mere representative of money, the paper dollar, would slip through the fingers.

A Miniature Free Press.

One of the neatest pieces of advertising ever seen in Detroit is the miniature copy of the Free Press of August 9, the work of the Moss Engraving Company, of New York. By use of a magnifying glass the account of Grant's funeral can be read. His portrait is also faithfully produced in miniature. A page of "wants," containing over 10,000 words is reproduced in the space of thirty-five square inches. On the inside of the fine form go most is the schedule of advertising rates.—Detroit Free Press, Sept. 20, 1885.

It Won't Do, Gentlemen.

The quinine manufacturers of the east have combined, with the intention of forcing congress to restore the duty on that necessity to health and life, especially in a country in which the virgin soil healthy and stagnate unceasingly responds with those resources that both support and destroy human life.

When quinine was placed upon the free list there were but five firms in the country that manufactured the article, while they gave employment to but 500 men. It was predicted that the repeal of the duty on the drug would wipe them all out of existence. But it has not done so. It increasingly reduced their enormous profits. It was also predicted by the protection nets that the repeal would cause the price of the article in the United States to largely advance. The reason given was that the foreign, in the absence of home manufacturers, would have a monopoly of the trade, and consequently, supreme control of our market. This prediction has also been completely falsified. When quinine was placed on the free list the price was $3.40 per ounce, and at times higher. To-day the price ranges from 65 to 70 cents.

The fact is the culture of the cinchona bark has received of late years an extraordinary impulse in India, while we now get the benefit of its consequent low price in common with the states of western Europe. If, however, the Philadelphia and New York manufacturers of the drug succeed in debauching congress into passing their scheme of restored duties we shall be paying the old prices for quinine, while all the rest of the world would be enjoying the present, or perhaps lower, figures.

In the meantime the benefits that have resulted from placing quinine on the free list have become so apparent that at least one Philadelphia protectionist journal (the Telegraph) denounces the attempt of the manufacturers to reimpose a duty of 25 per cent on the imported article as a "bold-faced" imposition.—[Chicago News.

Favorable to the Democracy.

The Centre, Michigan organ of the prohibitionists says: "A prominent republican office-holder said last Monday: I have repeatedly stated during the past three months that President Cleveland is giving the country a better exposition of republican principles that is, the principles voiced by republican platforms), than the republicans have ever given during the entire twenty-four years they were in power. I refer especially to civil service reform, retrenchment in public expenses, and real honesty of administration. And then, as to the southern vote, I believe that within two years there will be a freer ballot in the south than there ever has been since the republicans began their work of reconstruction." In quoting this man's language we stop not to inquire whether he is right or wrong, just or unjust in his conclusions. We repeat his remarks simply in illustration of the wonderful disintegration of political thought now going on in our country."

The Port Huron Times says Cleveland's election was an accident. Hayes's selection was not—it was a crime. The success of Grant over Lee was incident of the war, and many other scenes might be attributed to circumstances; but all of them, like the election of Cleveland, were brought about in the right manner. The only accident about the latter was that the office was not stolen from him.

Detroit Evening Journal: Commissioner of Patents Montgomery is bringing his clerks to terms, and it is intimated that every subordinate is now earning his salary. Patent solicitors report that they have their papers attended to at the end of six weeks after submission, while heretofore it required 12 to 18 months.

☞ Now is the time your horses and cattle need attention. To prevent disease and loss up the system you will find Parmelee's Condition Powders unequalled. Full pounds 35 cts. Sold by Dr. G. W. Crosier, Charlevoix, and Crouter & Harris, Ironton. 22-43

☞ The price of "Bryce" Foxmon's Democrat is $2.00 a year. By an arrangement with the publisher we can furnish it with the JOURNAL for $2.65 per year, cash in advance.

The greatest successes are most often attained by men who are trying to do their best without thinking of its effect upon the public opinion.—[Detroit Free Press.

The high pressure under which professional and business life is conducted will soon undo old age a rare spectacle.—[Boston Herald.

The moderate drinker and the heavy drinker are alike in one thing, they both "get there" finally.—[Atlanta Constitution.

☞ The Detroit Weekly Free Press four months on trial for 25 cts. Specimen copies free at this office.

A boy who is not impulsive stands in many poor shoe of rising in the world.—[Peoria Journal.

Good Goods and Low Prices

ARE

BOUND TO WIN

If you don't believe it, come and see my SPRING STOCK You will see that I am up to the times in styles, and have as fine an assortment of MEN'S, YOUTH'S and CHILDREN'S SUITS, as you will find in any City I defy any House to show any nicer line of NECK WEAR and

Furnishing Goods

My aim is to HOLD THE CLOTHING TRADE, by carrying a Large Stock so I can please you all. PRICES TALK Come and see my Large Spring Stock before buying elsewhere.

GEO. W. MILLER.

Enterprising Grasshoppers.

"Grasshoppers!" exclaimed an old engineer, "did I ever see any grasshoppers? Should say I did. In 1874 I was running a locomotive on a passenger train out in Nebraska. One day we was comin' east, when we run into a swarm of hoppers. There wasn't a breath of air stirrin', and so they were all on the ground. There wasn't nothin' left standin' around there but the telegraph poles an' wires, an' the poles were beginnin' to wobble. The hoppers were so mad when they tackled the wires an' found they couldn't eat 'em that they gnashed their teeth and the wires was a continual streak of fire. Of course the track was covered with hoppers a foot thick, an' there wasn't no use trying to go ahead. We shoved into 'em several times with the throttle wide open, but we couldn't get more than a train length. Pretty soon I run out of water, an' we had to pull the fires from the box. There we was, stuck, fifteen miles from the nearest station, with a foot o' grasshoppers on the track an' a cold engine. Emmaragin', wasn't it? Why, we were afeard of our lives. If the 'hoppers had had to stay there twenty-four hours there wouldn't a been anything left o' that train but the iron work. Woodwork, upholsterin', passengers—everything would have disappeared. But in about an hour a gentle breeze struck up, and we saw a dark cloud comin' from the west. It was the 'hoppers sailin' with the wind. Then those rested an began to rise, an' we couldn't see the sun. Pretty soon it was as dark we couldn't see nuthin' and we lit the headlight. All of a sudden I discovered something. What d'ya suppose it was? Well, sir, we was a-nuvin'. Yes, we was a-goin' right along with the 'hoppers. They was pushin' the train. As far back as we could see there was a solid mass of 'hoppers all pushin' as if they were paid for it. In ten minutes we was makin' thirty miles an hour, and as our time card called for only twenty mile we finished our run on time without a bit of fire in the box or a drop o' water in the biler. This sounds kind o' strange, I know, but you must remember that them grasshoppers are mighty enterprisin' fellows when they git a-goin'."—Chicago Herald Train Talk.

Postal Changes After July 1.

On July 1 the following important changes will be made in the rates of postage.

1. Any article in a newspaper or other publication may be marked for observation, except by written or printed words, without increase of postage.

2. All newspapers sent from the office of publication, including sample copies, or when sent from a news agency to actual subscribers thereto, or to other news agents, shall be entitled to transmission at the rate of 1 cent per pound or fraction thereof, the postage to be prepaid.

3. The weight of all single-rate letters is increased from one-half of one ounce each or fraction thereof to one ounce. The same increase of weight is allowed for drop letters, whether mailed at stations where there is a free delivery or where carrier service is not established.

4. A special stamp of the value of 10 cents may be issued, which, when attached to a letter, in addition to the lawful postage thereon, shall entitle the letter to immediate delivery at any place containing 4,000 population or over according to the Federal census, or within one mile of the post office coming within the provisions of this law, which may in like manner be designated as a special delivery office; that such special stamped letters shall be delivered between 7 a. m. and midnight; that a book shall be provided in which the person to whom the letter is addressed shall acknowledge its receipt; that messengers for this special delivery are to receive 80 per cent of the face value of all the stamps received and recorded in a month, provided that the aggregate compensation paid to any one person for such service shall not exceed $30 per month, and provided further that the regulations for the delivery of these specially stamped letters shall in no way interfere with the prompt delivery of letters as provided by existing law or regulations.

Photographs!

I have added to my

New Photograph Gallery

OVER

UPRIGHT, & EMREY'S & CO. 'S STORE,

And am prepared to do

All Kinds of Photographic Work.

From the

Miniature Picture to Life Size

—

Any Old Picture Copied and Enlarged.

Satisfaction Guaranteed.

DAVE BRADBEER,
Charlevoix, Mich.

WM. J. STEVENSON,

HORSE-SHOEING,

Wagon Shop,

BLACKSMITHING, ETC.

Heavy Wagons on hand and made to order. I manufacture no cheap wagons, of the best material, and WARRANT ALL WORK. Call and examine before buying elsewhere.

SHOP ONE BLOCK WEST OF CARTWRIGHT, EASTPORT.

☞ & ☜ 3 STOP, EASTPORT.

☞ The OSBORNE MOWING MACHINE is stored and for sale.

"Facts to be Remembered."

NIMROD PLUG TOBACCO

Is the BEST CHEW, the GREATEST SELLER, and Everybody likes it. There is no Other Like It. It is always in good order. NEVER TOO RAW AND NEVER SWELLS, ALWAYS GOOD NAT'D. Ask your Dealer for it. Take no Other. NIMROD IS THE CHOICE OF THE CHEWERS, never sticks on the stomach or bowels. The greatest sold of any other brand of Tobacco. For sale by all jobbers and retailers.

S. W. VENABLE & CO.
Petersburg, Va.

$100 REWARD

FOR

Every Ounce of Adulteration

IN THE

U. G. Soap

The Great 5c Cake,

Made only by

GOWANS & STOVER,

BUFFALO, N. Y.

For Sale by all Wholesale Grocers.

CASH CLUB RATES

Those of our readers who want a city paper for the ensuing year can be accommodated by the JOURNAL'S club list. To get the benefit of these reduced rates, all persons must be paid in advance of subscription, and one year in advance in cash.

Price.	With JOURNAL
$1 00 Detroit Weekly Free Press	$2 50
1 00 New York Weekly World	2 50
2 00 Demorest's Monthly	3 50
75 Detroit Echo, weekly	2 50
1 00 Chicago Weekly Herald	2 50
1 50 The Cottage Hearth (monthly)	2 50

Sample Copies furnished on application.

THIS PAPER may be found on file at N. W. Ayer & Son's Advertising Bureau (10 Spruce St.), where advertising may be secured for it IN NEW YORK.

THE JOURNAL

Charlevoix, Mich., Oct. 1, 1885.

Provision Market.

Retail prices to consumers, corrected every Wednesday evening, by CROUTER & EMREY, general dealers.

Pork, per bbl, $8.50 $9.25, and $6.00.
Corn Meal, per cwt, bolted $2.50, unbolted $2.25.
Hay, per ton, $16.17.
Oats, per bu, 35c.
Potatoes, per bu, 25@30c.
Beans, per bu, $1.60@1.75.
Butter, per lb, 16@18c.
Eggs, per doz, 17c.
Lard, per lb, 12½c.
Hams, Cured, Smoked 9c.
Side Pork, 8c. Dry Salt Side, 8c.
Salt Beef, 5c.
Shoulders, 6c.
Cheese, per lb $2.25.
Kerosene oil—Water White 20c., Legal Test, 18c.

Farmers produce is taken in exchange.

Fresh and Cured Meats.

Beef Steak, 10@12c. Roast 10@12½c; Stew 6@8c.
Pork—Steak 10@12c. Roast 10c.
Mutton—Chops 10@12c.
Veal 7c.
Sausage 10c.
Tallow 2@3c.

☞ The pioneer meat market is again open, and the "staff" land of the region will be slaughtered to-day, and will be found on sale at McCabe's market, on the corner of State and Antrim streets. Good cuts for 8 to 10 cents. Call and see me. A. O. D. McCabe.

☞ Now is the time to buy a hat. Upright & Emrey have five dozen and more (or less), which they are closing out at 50 per cent discount.

☞ Five Mill scows and a span of good horses for sale cheap; one-half cash, balance on time. John R. Walker, South Arm.

☞ Just received,—cottons, prints, hoop-skirts, bustles, jerseys, hosiery, notions, etc, at Upright & Emrey.

L. E. Allen is building two new sixroom houses, which will be for rent as soon as completed.

☞ Cedar and pine shingles for sale by Upright & Emrey.

☞ Kalamazoo celery at Jefferies' Market.

☞ Best fresh butter at Jefferies' market.

☞ Boneless Ham at Jefferies' Market.

Local Notes and News.

G. W. Jefferies is building a two story barn.

Sandy Lyon is building a house on Lincoln avenue.

E. F. Parmelee and wife returned home on Tuesday.

Chas. Swallow is painting the roof of the village hall.

A barn 18x26 is being built for the Chicago resort this week

Troubling at Black's school house at 3 o'clock next Sunday.

C. J. Pailthorp, of Petoskey, made us a brief call on Tuesday.

Neil Gallagher is finishing his little hooker at Campbell's yard.

Hemmings & Orrell are painting the roof of the opera block.

The frame of E. H. Gowe's block was commenced last Friday.

From present indications the East Jordan fair will be a success.

John Barnes starts to-day for a visit with friends in St. Mary, Ont.

Young people's meeting at M. E. church at 6 o'clock next Sunday.

Winton Lamphear and Miss Kate Webster were married Sept. 26th.

El Aldrich has gone to Dixon, Ill., to accept an engagement in a hotel.

The schooner Mary Hattie is out for repairs at Washburn's ship yard.

An addition has been built to the Chicago resort boat house this week.

D. M. Frame, of Boyne City, has gone to California to spend the winter.

Workmen commenced to raise the frame of the mill last Thursday afternoon.

Alfred VanDeusen caught a fat young bear, alive, in a trap last Sunday night.

W. H. Healey has purchased a boiler and engine for his East Jordan brick yard.

C. R. Bellinger and family returned Monday from a visit with friends in Traverse City.

The Clare Belle will give an excursion to East Jordan on Friday evening, to accommodate those who desire to attend the ball at the Jordan River house. Round trip 40 cents

Several large buildings on Bridge street are being planned, to be built in the near future.

Dr. Carlstein has removed to his new residence on Main street, west of the See block.

The steamer Grand Rapids is laid up for the season, and the Faxton takes her place.

J. T. Kirkpatrick is building a large two story cottage for Mrs. L. W. Curtis, of Chicago.

Mr. W. Ripley, of Port Austin, the keeper of the pier light, has arrived with his family and goods.

Alick Rosenthal came over from Petoskey Monday morning,—his first appearance after five week's fever.

F. A. Cook, Com. U. S. N., inspector 11th district, was in port Thursday evening, on the U. S. steamer Dahlia

Al. Washburn is building a 1½ story cottage on Main street, the walls to be of white brick with red trimmings.

The pastor of the M. E. church has retested from conference, and will preach next Sunday, morning and evening.

Charlevoix attractions may cause Sherman Wilson's return in the near future, if he can secure permanent business here.

Rev. C. F. VanAnken went to Eaton county last week, to visit sick relatives. He expects, however, to be home again before Sunday.

M. S. Bowdish left a half bushel of potatoes at this office last Saturday, the three largest of which weighed four pounds and five ounces.

The Pringel and Ginelle will carry passengers to the East Jordan fair for one fare for the round trip,—Charlevoix 50 cents, Ironton 25 cents.

The boiler and engine for the new mill arrived on the Lawrence on Tuesday. They were made by the Atlas Iron Works, of Indianapolis, Ind.

C. R. Bellinger has a choice stock of new silverware, to which he invites the attention of our readers. Look for his new advertisement next week.

Rev. C. F. VanAnken expects to be home to occupy his pulpit next Sunday. At 3 o'clock in the afternoon he will give an address at Ironton for young men.

The ladies' aid society of the Baptist church will give a lunch party on Saturday afternoon and evening at the residence of Mrs. A. M. Parmenter. All invited.

Will Badour, formerly with J. E. Wood & Co., is now in the harness shop of John Kitzan, south of the bridge. He invites his old friends to call and see him.

The body of John Swails, lost from the schooner Ossian Swails about a month ago, has been recovered, having washed ashore three miles south of South Haven.

Thos. Smith left at this office yesterday a basket of Early Rose potatoes which average 1½ pounds each and the largest of which weighs three pounds and five ounces.

A letter from Fort Orange, Fla., informs M. J. Stockman that he can prepare himself to eat oranges of his own raising this winter, if nothing unusual occurs to knock them off.

Cheboygan Democrat: The vessel known as the apple boat from Charlevoix, brought in a large cargo of vegetables of all descriptions Friday last. They disposed of their truck and left Saturday.

It has been suggested that it will be in the future be much better for those who gather agates at Bargess to take their dinner with them instead of helping themselves muskeed to that of their friends.

J. Milo Eaton and Al. Washburn are building stone sustaining walls in front and between their lots on Main street, and the lots are to be graded, sodded, and other wise improved by the planting of shrubbery, etc.

Eaton Rapids Times: Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Bryant of Boyne City, are stopping with E. Cowles, Esq., in this city for the present. Mrs. B. will remain with her mother during her illness and Mr. B. will teach the Brick yard school.

R. W. Gen. W. Robertson, of Mt. Clemens, will conduct a Masonic school of instruction in Charlevoix, Oct. 9th. During the day the first and second degrees will be exemplified, and in the evening there will be work in the third degree.

The Historical Society meets next week at the parlors of Major Green. The committee appointed to revise the constitution and the committee on membership will be prepared to report that evening. Let every member be present.

J. T. Kirkpatrick is building a large two story cottage for Mrs. L. W. Curtis, of Chicago.

Mr. W. Ripley, of Port Austin, the keeper of the pier light, has arrived with his family and goods.

E. S. Hawkes arrived home from Virginia on Monday. When he started, he was hardly able to ride, but as he came north he rapidly gained in strength. His description of the chills and fever correspond closely with the old fashioned Michigan ague of thirty years ago.

The Charlevoix JOURNAL, in its last issue, gives a list of new buildings erected there during the past two years which aggregates the neat sum of $131,150. Charlevoix is a thriving town beautifully located, and the JOURNAL is a faithful exponent of its resources.—[Lake Sentinel.

Eaton Rapids Journal: Mr. Bedford, wife and mother, of Charlevoix, Mich., were the guests of Mr. "Bert" Ford last week. During their sojourn they made the Journal office a call in response to our call at their thriving little city during the editorial convention last summer. And, by the way, Mrs. Bedford's father [Richard Cooper, of the Fountain City House,] provided dinner on that occasion for as many of the excursionists as his house would hold, and of which ye humble editor was two. It was a "square meal" you bet.

If after reading your JOURNAL you would wump it up and mail it to some distant friend, you might possibly induce some one to come and locate in our fair county. We know from several years' residence that we have a good county, yet there are thousands who do not, and in order to reach and acquaint them with this fact it is necessary to put the truth before them. You can do this in no better way than to send your JOURNAL abroad after reading them. Try it, and thus show that you take a lively interests in trying to promote the interests of our county, by thus influencing and inducing others to come and settle amongst us and enjoy the fruit of the land.

A. D. Cruickshank has moved into his new house, though not yet fully completed. When finished, he will have a home for comfort. The location commands the outer harbor and most of the town, and from the tower can be seen most that is of interest in the inner harbor and business part of town. He has built to exclude the ravages of the chills and fever from Lake Michigan, on a foundation that will never trouble. The main building is two stories, with a tower in the southeast corner, and a one story wing on the west The arrangement is for convenience, and calculated to give plenty of sunlight to all parts of the house. The dining room, parlor, and parlor bedroom occupy the front of the lower story, with kitchen and wood house west of the dining room. A good stone cellar is under the kitchen, and a cistern is to be built at the northwest corner. The chamber is not yet finished. The wood-work finish will be birds-eye maple, and some of the pieces are very handsome. Mr. C. has given this work his personal superintendence from the beginning, and nothing has been omitted which could add to the comfort of the family.

NO SCROFULA

Can be so deep-seated, so malignant and stubborn, that Parmelee's Blood Purifier will not be found equal to the task. It will effect a cure, if cure be possible. And if you are troubled with Boils, Salt-Rheum, Pimples, Rough Skin, or any humor whatever, just give the Purifier a thorough trial and you cannot fail to receive benefit from it. Price $1 per bottle.

Sold by Dr. G. W. Crosier, Charlevoix, and Crouter & Harris, Ironton.

Cure for Piles.

Piles are frequently preceded by a sense of weight in the back, loins and lower part of the abdomen, causing the patient to suppose a severe attack of the kidneys or neighboring organs. At times symptoms of indigestion are present, flatulency, pressure of the stomach, nausea, heartburn, constipation, sometimes a very disagreeable discharge from the bowels, followed by intense itching, burning and stinging. Piles yield at once to the application of Dr. Benanko's Pile Remedy, which acts directly upon the parts affected, absorbing the tumors, allaying the intense itching, and effecting a permanent cure. Price 50 cents. Sold by Geo. W. Crosier. 1y

ALL PREPARED FOR

THE FALL CAMPAIGN.

We have just placed upon our counters a choice assortment of

Dress Goods, Woollens, Suitings, Etc., Etc.,

For full wear, at very tempting prices.

NEW DEPARTURE IN TEAS.

Spring Crop, from Japan.

Commencing Saturday, Aug. 29,

We will offer, FOR CASH ONLY, 25 Chests new sun-cured Japan at 35 Cents, by the pound or chest. We guarantee this to be equal if not superior to any fifty-cent Tea.

J. L. HURD & CO.

Successors to Amos Fox.

SCHOOL BOOK DEPOT.

School Bags, School Books, Slates, Pencils, Pens, Ink, Rulers, Blank Books, Teachers' Registers,

AND IN FACT

Every Article Used in the School Room.

F. G. HINES & CO.,

Druggists and Stationers.

M. E. Conference Appointments,
Grand Traverse District.

W. R. Stinchcomb, P. E.

Alnain and Inland—Supplied by L. Kinney.

Bear Lake—To be supplied.

Bellaire—R. M. Middleton.

Benzonia—Supplied by J. Glover.

Boyne—Supplied by A. L. Thurston.

Cadillac—A. J. Eldred.

Cadillac circuit—D. A. Green.

Cross Village—Supplied by E. Eagle.

Charlevoix—J. T. Hidings.

Elk Rapids—O. J. Golden.

Elmira—To be supplied by J. W. Wallace.

Fife Lake—S. P. Hewitt.

Frankfort—E. G. Stevens.

Harbor Springs—To be supplied.

Kalkaska—D. O. Ball.

Lake City—J. W. Smith.

Leroy—Supplied by J. F. McKenly.

Mancelona—J. C. Ambrose.

Manton—B. H. Whitman.

Monroe Center—A. R. Keillor.

Northport—Supplied by N. E. Cutler.

Oviatt—To be supplied.

Norwood—G. W. Howe.

Petoskey—G. W. Sherman.

Petoskey Circuit—Supplied by E. Wood.

Petoskey Indian Mission—J. B. Robinson.

Sherman—T. J. Freeman.

South Arm—To be supplied.

South Frankfort—R. W. Tindall.

Spencer—To be supplied by A. W. Busbee.

Traverse City—R. Short.

Traverse City circuit—Supplied by George Yonker.

Williamsburg—Willard Heath.

A. R. Boggs, missionary to Dakota.

RESTORED BY MAGIC.

Has the lake air and wind spoiled your complexion? Do you long for a preparation that will completely remove Moth, Tan and Pimples and leave the skin clear and soft? If so, you have but to buy a bottle of Hamilton's Oriental Balm, which is simply magical in the effect and perfectly harmless. It is used in all the best families and gives unbounded satisfaction. Price 50 cents per bottle.

Sold by the G. W. Crosier, Charlevoix, and Crouter & Harris, Ironton.

Hard Times.

While money is close, wages and prices low, Expenses should be cut down in every household, economy the watch word for thinkers, long off Doctors bills, by always keeping in the house, a bottle of Dr. Bonanko's Cough and Lung Syrup Stops a Cough instantly, relieves Consumption, Croup, Cramp and pain in the Chest in one night. It is just the remedy for hard times. Price 25 cts. and $1.00. Samples free. Sold by Geo. W. Crosier. 3

Wild Cherry and Tar

Every body knows the virtues of Wild Cherry and Tar as a relief and cure for any affections of the Throat and Lungs, combined with these two ingredients are a few simple healing remedies the compounding of Dr. Bonanko's Cough and Lung Syrup making it just the medicine you should always have in your house. Price 25 cts. and $1.00. Samples free. Sold by G. W. Crosier. 3

A FINE STOCK OF SILVERWARE

JUST RECEIVED.

C. R. BELLINGER.

FOR SALE.

The place known as

THE BEATTIE FARM

Near McGeogh's Mill.

For particulars inquire at the office of

J. MILO EATON.

MORTGAGE SALE.

WHEREAS, default has been made in the payment of the interest on the money secured by a mortgage, dated the second day of August, 1881, executed by Carlos H. Brooks and Sarah Brooks his wife, of Charlevoix County, Mich., to George W. Gibbs, of the same place, which said mortgage was recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds, of the county of Charlevoix, in Liber J, of Mortgages, on page 26, on the 8th day of August, 1881, and the said mortgagee has duly elected to consider the whole amount of principal and interest due.

Now, therefore, the amount claimed to be due on said mortgage, at the date of this notice, is the sum of one Hundred Eighty two dollars of principal and interest, and the further sum of Twenty five dollars as attorney fee, stipulated in said mortgage, and no suit or proceeding in any court having been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, and whereby the power of sale contained in said mortgage has become operative.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given, that by virtue of the said power of sale, and by pursuance of the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises mortgaged, viz: Lot 3, Block 1, Brooks's Addition to Charlevoix, according to the recorded plat thereof, and being the same place of business of said mortgagee, at Charlevoix, in said County, at the front door of the Court House in said County, in the village of Ironton, in said County, on the 12th day of December next, at the hour of two o'clock, P. M., at which time and place the said premises will be sold at public vendue, to satisfy said mortgage, as the same are described in said mortgage, as follows: All that parcel of land being in the township of Boyne County, of Charlevoix, Michigan, and described as all of the north west quarter of the north east quarter of section eleven, (11) in township thirty (30) north of range five (5) west, containing 10 acres more or less.

Dated Sept 29, 1885.

GEORGE W. GILBERTSON,
Mortgagee

FAIRTHORNE & CROUTER,
Attorneys for Mortgagee,
Petoskey, Mich. 8t

MORTGAGE SALE.

WHEREAS, default has been made in the payment of the interest on the money secured by a mortgage, dated the second day of August, 1881, executed by Carlos H. Brooks and Sarah Brooks his wife, of Charlevoix County, Mich., to George W. Gibbs, of the same place, which said mortgage was recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds, of the county of Charlevoix, in Liber J, of Mortgages, on page 26, on the 8th day of August, 1881, and the said mortgagee has duly elected to consider the whole amount of principal and interest due.

Now, therefore, the amount claimed to be due on said mortgage, at the date of this notice, is the sum of one Hundred Eighty two dollars of principal and interest, and the further sum of Twenty five dollars as attorney fee, stipulated in said mortgage, and no suit or proceeding in any court having been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, and whereby the power of sale contained in said mortgage has become operative.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given, that by virtue of the said power of sale, and by pursuance of the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises mortgaged, viz: Lot 3, Block 1, Brooks's Addition to Charlevoix, according to the recorded plat thereof, or other conveyance to Lovejoy's City that being the name of today, and being the count in Charlevoix County, in the village of Ironton, in said County, on the 12th day of December next at the hour of two o'clock, P. M., at which time and place the said premises will be sold at public vendue, to satisfy said mortgage, as the same are described in said mortgage, as follows: All that parcel of land being in the township of Boyne County, of Charlevoix, Michigan, and described as all of the north west quarter of the north east quarter of section eleven, (11) in township thirty (30) north of range five (5) west, containing 10 acres more or less.

Dated Sept 29, 1885.

GEORGE W. GILBERTSON,
Mortgagee

FAIRTHORNE & CROUTER,
Attorneys for Mortgagee,
Petoskey, Mich. 8t

AN IRISH SCENE.

BY S. MOORE.

One shield, thence Daly and Johnny Malone,
The Dwaiam, and Jack Tar and Mulroney,
Had down in a shady nook of their own,
In decent old Judy Mulroney's.

The cider was circed, the liquor brought in,
And the glasses arranged on the table;
"Here's your health, Barney Daly, we let us begin
And drink the good health while we're able."

"More power, Tim Deegan; come, give us your fistiv!
It's yourself that knows how to please
Your friends."
"Come, now, Mr. Daly, and just howld your whistle,
And give us no more of your blarney."

"A round more for me," cries out Johnny Malone,
Says Judy, "I'll make you a wager
That there's a shrine of the Virgin Mary
That can't wave the face of this liquor."

"Arrah, Judy," says Johnny, as slick as a mouse,
"I know you are religious and pious;
But the water was not very scarce in the house
On the day that you christened the goolness."

"Not a tether than that ever entered our door,
Nora drop that would wet the eye speaker,
So empty your glasses, and order in more,
And blame that you have the good liquor."

"Come, Ned, you and Tim haven't stood treat for awhile,
So call in a round and be decent,
And show that the Colonies can do what is right,"
Said Tim, with a look as complacent.

"Here, is with more liquor," replied Tim and Ned,
"For never a single the Crosses
Who can't be a man when they get into dread
Or scared out of Judy Mulroney's."

So the drinking went on, and the shouted and sang,
Attaching meanwhile the best smoking;
There were flashes of wit, and a good deal of slang,
And rather too much potated joking.

Arrah! Tim, do you mind of the last Lammas fair,
When you fought with young Mickey Mulhoron,
And shouted for help like a pig in despair?
Fair, I'm thinking he gave you your fairin."

Then Jemmy Mahoney he take a trumpy,
And shouted, "Hurroh for the Connemy!"
And then the whole party got up with a jump,
That might in just Judy Mulroney's.

And they rushed at each other with venomous
Shillalahs,
Which sounds worth hundreds and glasses,
And they worried each other like bears in a rage,
And shouted and roared like wild asses.

Tim tweaks Jim Johnny Malone on the nose,
And Johnny he gives Tim a knock
And death hits the Crosses a few scalpy blows
With a kettle like a thirty-two pounder.

They fought and they tumbled o'er tables and chairs,
And smashed jugs and jars and skillifalas,
For the Connemy worked some terrible scares in their heels
When carving the heads of the Dalys.

Some joined in the fray, but the cream of the jokes
(Tis a picture of taste that I'm writing)
Although they all nothing their wrath to provoke,
They fought for the fun of the fighting.

It happened, however, that no one was killed,
The cover upset then was well trampled,
And a great deal of blood in the parlors was spilled
And their clothing was dreadfully tattered

And these were all neighbors and intimate friends
Tho' drink came their reason to smother,
And remained friends in spite of blows to lows and to bruises,
To hate and destroy one another.

In vain the reformer may tell of his sermons,
And write short letter diagram;
His pions will be little and baseless as sermons,
Till drink is expelled from her borders.
Quebec.

UNCLE SI'S FAMILIAR EPISTLES TO THE YOUNG.

I.—"A Life On the Ocean Wave."

"DEAR UNCLE SI: Pa wants me to be a minister, but I want to be a sailor, and get to be a sea-capn, and sail all over the world. Would you be a sailor, if you was me?"

This is the beginning, and all that need be published, of a note received a few days since from a lad of 14, as he states; and to which I reply, as follows:

So you wish to be a sailor, my boy; become a sea-ranger, a Jack-Tar, an "old salt," a "shell-bark" of the vasty deep, eh, your father wishing to make a parson of you? You prefer to go down to the sea in ships and do business upon the great waters to going up into the pulpit and doing business as an exponder of theology, eh? Well, there is a great disparity in the wishes of your father and yourself, my lad. Many would look upon it as a step from the sublime to the ridiculous, in one who, rather than be a pulpiteer, would go forth to be a toiler of the troublous seas; but, under the circumstances—you desire to be a rover on the heaving billows—I don't look at it in that light, my boy, and for this reason: No one whose heart beats in unison with the tuneful pulsations of the vasty deep, can ever delve successfully in the sonder depths of theology. With your heart floating out in the surging sea, the rest of your corporeal parts would be as out of place in the pulpit as a bull in a china shop; therefore you had better leave the pulpit to him who feels he has a "call" in that direction, and go your way upon the raging main.

But, my boy, have you thought sufficiently of "a life on the ocean wave, and a home on the rolling deep?" or have you aught by the impinting sense of "A Life on the Ocean Wave"—which throws a glamour over the domain of the shark and the octopus, and diverse evil animals in couples, which glamour, when abroad on said domain, you will never discover in a century of Sundays, and you where you will or where you may?

It is all very well to sing of a life on the ocean wave, when comfortably fixed on terra firma—the song is a rousing one, and stirs the blood and fires the imagination; you can feel the spray as it comes swooping over the ship's bows and cools your fevered cheek; you can hear the patter of the reef points, the swash of the sea as it swirls under the counter, the clatter of the sheets and halyards, the groaning of the timbers, the creaking of the spars, the rattle of the chains, the shrieks of the gale, and a score of other sounds, a medley of melody in your surrounding appendages, when imagination is fired by the song—but it is shockets to shingles that it is never sung aboard ship by the old or young "salts" thereon. No, my boy, there know what "a life on the ocean wave" is; that the glamour of romance is not spread thereon like honey on a hackwheat; and if they ever sing, it is of something else—something they know nothing about, probably, when the romantic, and not the realistic, can get in its work, as in the case of "landlubbers" who sing of a "home on the rolling deep," of which they have no more conception than a soft shell crab has of a "hard-shell" baptistry.

You long and aspire to be a "sea capin," my lad. Good enough, my dear boy. To be a sea captain, understanding navigation, and able to sail a ship from one to any given other point on the face of the globe, is to be something greater than a captain of militia, albeit, the latter thinks himself of immensity, immense; but, my boy, remember this That long is the way and rough the road from the forecastle to the quarter deck, and that but few "get there" of the many who are called to the seat. However, there are more "first-class" sea captains, proportionately, at any time, than there are shining-light pulpiteers of the Breedlow Hades, say, and if you have sand in your craw, and are determined to "get there," the chances are in your favor, perhaps.

Sea captains, my dear boy, are not made as generals were in our late unpleasantness—as Gens. Butler, Banks, and others—by a sudden lift into the job but are forced to go through a very unsavory course of apprentice, in a majority of cases, and when they reach the quarter deck they generally make it out for those under their command as they found it themselves when subordinates, and thus they get revenge. I not on those who wrecked them about with belaying-pins and marline-spikes, nevertheless revenge, which, as said is be sweet, you know.

If you think "a life on the ocean wave" is a soft snap, my boy, and that there is no place like "a home on the rolling deep," erect such thoughts from tenancy in your mind at one fell swoop, as it were, and get right down to hard pan at once. Rub the glaze off the picture, which your imagination paints, and look at said picture in its true colors. Look at the "ha-ha sea" of your imagination with realistic eye, my lad, and you will learn that all that flashes—like "flashes" only at times, you know, having moods and spells, like a woman—will learn that all that flashes is not gold; that the deep hides hoes and iron strength; if a "sleeping beauty" to-day, a raging vixen to-night; that you can't place your shekels upon her with any confidence, she being as fickle as a "Boston Beauty," and quite as spiteful and merciless when in one of her "moods."

But now, my lad, let us get down to business. Let us suppose you have shipped as cabin-boy on board the good ship Sarawen. Well, you are cabin-boy; and what else, eh? Why, the slave of the captain and officers, the lete noire of the cook of the galbosse, the ship's cook, and the butt of an ungodly crew. If you from conviction, the crew of a ship being nothing if not an ungodly gang, swing, doldiboes, to their being widely astray from the teachings and influence of the "Salvation Army" seven-eighths of the time, and unable to "catch on" to any extent during the one-eighth they are ashore. Well, the time comes when you can be a cabin-boy no longer—cabin-ness are those who run their spars "before the mast"—and you mind give up the calico for the fo'c's'le or retire from the sea. Bound to blaze as a Jack Tar you skip "before the mast," when the manifest curriculum opens to you its widest doors. A green hand "before the mast," the well-seasoned old salts make it as interesting as possible—for themselves if not for you—and, until you become in a measure seasoned, you will find exhilaration in a sailor's life, if not content; pepper pot, if not peninsulas. The most uncomfortable bunk is allowed you. If there be any difference in the salt-horse, B. C. hardtack, tobacco, plunder, without the plums, be sure that the difference will be adjusted to your advantage, my lad. To make a pilaver, it need there be, let me say that if turkey (figuratively speaking) and crow come to the lecture board in the fo'c's'le, it will be turkey for them and crow for you every time, until the day, if ever it comes, when you can sullivan re your way to the turkey and other solid comforts to the fo'c's'le pabulum.

Time rolls on, months and years, and after dis-mest unsavory course of sprouts you are billeted as third mate of a merchantman. You are out of the "grug" now but are in for the second mate's civilities, generally tendered with a backstay rim and bass knuckles, the first mate and captain not disdaining to pay their respects to you frequently with a word and a blow, the blow generally a little ahead of the word, or coincident therewith, you being held responsible for all the shortcomings of the ungodly gang of the fo'c's'le, your superiors never, never failing to do their duty in the premises, vi et armis, as it were set forth, not so much on account of said shortcomings as to improve indelibly upon your understanding the fact that they are your superiors, and don't you forget it!

